CAROLS were sung every year in England from time immemorial until in 1525 the people were prohibited from singing on account of the serious illness of the king. For this reason the Christmas of 1525 is remembered as the "still Christmas." In 1562 Christmas carols of a more solemn nature were introduced. By the Puritan parliament Christmas was abolished altogether, as much for political reasons as for the hatred for the Roman Catholic church, but after the restoration, when the Stuarts again gained the throne, the Christmas carols exhibited a hearty, cheerful and even jovial character.

A writer in the Gentleman's Magazine, an English publication, in 1821 tells of the following experience on the North Riding of Yorkshire:

"About 6 o'clock (on Christmas morning) I was awakened by sweet singing under my window. Surprised at a visit so early and unexpected, I arose, and, looking out of my window, I beheld four young men and six young women welcoming with sweet tunsic the blessed morn."

This practice of greeting the neighbors on Christmas morning with songs is still maintained in several parts of England, and the singers are called "waits." The word, probably meaning "watchers," at first was applied to court pages, then to town musicians and has now become restricted to the singers of the carols on Christmas morning.

Subscribe for the Courier.

TO DISTRIBUTE GIFTS.

Place This Chimney on the Dinner Table.

An effective way to distribute gifts is to form a large chimney by joining pieces of red cardboard. With white paint line the exterior to imitate bricks and place snowlike asbestos on the top. Within the chimney stack the gifts and have some one costumed to represent jolly old St. Nick distribute them.

ST. NICK'S HIDING PLACE.

Cream of Lettuce Soup.

Wash and thoroughly cleanse the outer green leaves of the lettuce and simmer in salted water until tender; use just a hint of baking soda in the water. Press through a sieve and add to the puree hot new milk thickened with a little flour and butter, rubbed together.

See us for your Job Printing.

Christmas Limericks

Copyright, 1916, by American Press Association.

POOR JACK!

There once was a youngster named Horner
Ate a whole Christmas pie in a corner.
Then he cried out: "Oh, my!
'Twas a cooking school pie!"
And so poor Jack was a goner.

FOR A WELL FILLED STOCKING.

There was a young lady named Gertie,
Who said to her best friend: "Now, Bertie,
We'll be good all the year,
But I'll tell you, my dear,
At Christmas it pays to be flirty."
—Ethel Bostick Ritchey.

The Yule Festival.

The festival of Yule was held at the winter solstice in honor of the return of the sun. As the year drew to its close and the sun daily sank lower in the horizon the old time Anglo-Saxons regarded the phenomenon as a typification of the end of the world. As the sun began to regain its power and ascend the horizon once more, deciding that a restoration of light and a new lease of life was to be theirs, the ancients gave themselves over to wild enthusiastic celebration of their good luck. Eating, drinking, dancing, sacrifices and rites, more or less religious in character, were the great features of this Yule or "Noel" celebration.

Standard Time.

Standard time was established by agreement in 1883, primarily for the benefit of the railroads.

In the Christmas Shop

SHE was six if she was a day. She had a little fat back in a little black coat, and her wisps of red hair matched her red tam-o'-shanter. In her firm hand she held a struggling boy about a year younger, and they were getting into the elevator at a big department store and making for the toys.

The Woman Who Saw had a like destination, and when the floor was reached they got out together. Children are not allowed unaccompanied by guardians in most large shops, but such was her air of responsibility, of decorum, that it would have been a bold floorwalker who dared to question her.

Nor evidently was it her first visit. The boy, still held in leash, ran in front and made straight for the space devoted to Santa Claus, his reindeer and his sleigh piled with toys.

There was a background of fir and cedar and a huge Christmas tree, but the pair sat down before the fascinating old fellow in his red robe, his long white beard, holding his big whip, and from his face the small boy did not turn.

THEY SAT DOWN BEFORE THE FASCINATING OLD FELLOW.

Across the room was a creche; also a wonderful and beautiful thing—the infant Jesus in the manger, the mother in her blue robes, St. Joseph with his staff, the three kings resplendent.

The children had been perfectly still for fifteen minutes looking at Santa Claus when the little girl whispered to the boy. He squirmed, struggled, but she was too much for him. She dislodged him from his seat, dragged him to the creche and with motherly Irishpiety pressed him on his knees.

Reverently she described the holy group, then would incite devotion from a more human motive. "See the cow, Denny. You mind the cow we used to see last summer at the farm when we went on the fresh air? See the goat, Denny. You mind the gont in our alley? It's his pitcher." But Denny whined and pulled and pulled to be back again to his idol.

The little girl looked up and met the eyes of the Woman Who Saw. Her sigh was that given by every woman since the beginning, for every man for whose soul she holds herself responsible.

"I'm afraid," she said. "Denny likes Santa Claus better than he likes God."
—New York Evening Sun.

Healing Virtue In Christmas Coins.

In certain parts of Worcestershire and Staffordshire the idea prevails that a silver coin from the Christmas morning offertory is a sovereign remedy for any ill that human flesh is heir to. Accordingly any householder who happens to have an ailing child or other person in his house hies him to the clergyman of the parish on Christmas morning and asks as a favor a sacrament shilling, as the coin is called. The coin given in exchange has to be obtained by collecting a dozen pennies from as many different maidens and then changing the coppers for a silver shilling. For this coin the applicant receives the coveted sacrament shilling, which on being taken home is hung round the ailing one's neck and is popularly supposed to effect a rapid and complete cure of the complaint, no matter what it may be.

Various Trees For Christmas.

In the middle west nurserymen grow large quantities of Norway spruce for Christmas trees. But the tree most commonly used in the northern and central states is a short needle pine found in the woods of northern Michigan and Wisconsin. Early in September the Indians about the lumber camps in this territory are set to work cutting these trees for the market, and by early November a little fleet of vessels makes its way down Lake Michigan to Chicago, whence the trees are shipped to various cities all over the country.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

Ellsworth Section

Safe in Santa's Arms

The SOUTH'S CHRISTMAS AFTER the WAR

ON a typical plantation the first Christmas after the war came gloomily indeed, writes Mary E. Bryan in Uncle Remus' Magazine. A number of the negroes still inhabited the old "quarter," but they were too demoralized and unsettled in mind to work.

The cotton crop had been a failure, and old debts had swallowed up the proceeds. No boxes and barrels containing good things for Christmas had been rolled from the steamboats out upon the plantation landing, as in better times. But Christmas morning there was the old chorus, "Merry Chris'mus," under the window.

The master of the house flung open the window impatiently and called out, "There's no Christmas for you here; you will have to make your own Christmas now." An old patriarch of the tribe stepped forward and bared his gray head. "We's brought li'l' Chris'mus 'membrance for master and mistis, please, sah," he said. They went in then. Each had a gift and laid it on the table in silence.

One brought a dressed chicken, another a dozen eggs, and the patriarch brought a baked possum. A pair of home knit socks, a bag of hickory nuts and a basket of walnuts were among the offerings.

When their gifts had been deposited they started to file out, when the man of the house, affected almost to tears, called them back and thanked them.

The children poured out the contents of their Santa Claus stockings to share with the visitors, and the house mother brought out a jug of homemade wine.

There was a little Christmas cheer after all. The hard feeling melted away. Every heart responded to the prayer uttered by the negro leader when he was departing:

"De Lawd bless you and your family, master, and he'p us ter feel an' ack right towa'ds one anuder."

His Greatest Handicap.

First Golfer—What's your handicap? Second Golfer—Being obliged to work for a living.—Detroit Free Press.

THE CHRISTMAS DINING ROOM.

How to Decorate It So That the Family and Guests Alike Are Pleased.

It goes without saying that holly and mistletoe must enter into your scheme of Christmas decorations. A pretty idea is to hang the chandelier of the dining room with greens and holly and from that carry loosely long ropes of ground pine to each corner of the room, thus making a canopy for the table. A bit of mistletoe skillfully introduced where all will have to pass under it in leaving the room may add to the fun.

In the center of the table lay a reflector or burnished copper tray and on this a glass or copper bowl of holly, frosted, as though it had just come in from the wintry fields.

For the favors to be laid down by the place cards there are tiny earthen pots with miniature decorated Christmas trees or cute little snow boys, like the one in the illustration, that may be bought very reasonably. If candles are to light the table use red shades with a bit of holly gummed on each. Trim your plum pudding with holly, putting a sprig in the center. Just before bringing into the room pour a little brandy around the pudding and light at the moment of entering. Have the Christmas punch bowl wreathed with holly. The scarlet Christmas bells made of tissue paper add to the bright and cheery appearance of the room.

JOHNNY SNOW BOY.

One of the most decorative ways to finish a table is with ribbons strung from the chandelier in such a way as to reach the plates. To the end of each ribbon can be attached a gift, if it be no more than a rose.

When the company is seated—and in the seating there should be the same attention to couples as at an ordinary dinner—then comes the serving of the feast.

It is a time honored custom to place the turkey on the table before the guests come in or to set forth the ducks, the geese, the roast of beef or the loin of pork—whatever may be the Christmas bird.

But in these later and more pampered days the stomach rebels against the sudden plunge into the roast, and the palate demands a relish—oysters, soup, fish and goodness knows what all! The roast comes later, flanked with a green salad and with vegetables and with the mound of cranberries.

If the turkey must be present from the beginning to the end, it is a wise plan to place him upon a side table. Here he can be carved and distributed. Upon the table he is always in the way, and there is no room nor comfort for the carver. He, if he so please, can exhibit his skill from a side table, and the guests can be served by a serving maid, who will carry the plates around.

Every Christmas dinner must have its touch of holly.

Glacier Ice.

Glacier ice is not like the solid blue ice on the surface of the water, but consists of granules joined together by an intricate network of capillary water filled fissures. In exposed sections and upon the surface of the ice can be observed "veined" or "banded" structure veins of a denser blue color alternating with those of a lighter shade containing air bubbles. The cause of this peculiar structure has been the subject of much theorizing among investigators, but the greatest authorities consider that the explanation is yet wanting.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Christmas Cakes

English Plum Puddings and Yule Babies and Their Symbolism

THERE seems to be little doubt that porridge (and not pudding) was the older and more correct designation of this time honored delicacy. The word pudding was formerly used in the sense of stuffing (or forcemeat). Porridge, on the other hand, was used in the sense of our present day pudding. When Shakespeare speaks of "porridge after meat" he undoubtedly means "pudding after meat." And in Sheppard's "Epigrams" (published 1651) we read, "No matter for plomh porridge or shred pies." P. U. Ditchfield says: "The plum pudding is not older than the early years of the eighteenth century and appears to be a 'house of Hanover' or 'act of settlement' dish. The prerevolution or Stuart preparation of plums and other ingredients was a porridge or pottage and not a pudding and was made with very strong broth of shin of beef."

Christmas plum puddings have of late years become the toys of fashion. In the good old days, when the Yule log crackled in the spacious fire grate of the rich and poor and when snow actually fell at Christmas time, people were well content with plain homely plum puddings topped with dancing spitfire. But custom has changed with the times, and the present generation (or at any rate a part of it) requires its Christmas puddings enriched with jewelry or gold coins. This innovation commenced about 1895.

But of greater importance is what has been considered the theological reason for being of the plum pudding. The searchers after symbolical interpretations contend that on account of the very richness of its ingredients the plum pudding is emblematic of the costly gifts of the Magi.

About Yule babies. Yule doughs or pop (lollypop) ladies, a custom existed in some parts of giving sweetmeats of a special kind to children at Christmas. These tasty morsels in the shape of a doll—eyes, month and all—were made of dough and currants. They were flat cakes about the size of a hand, roughly shaped in the figure of a woman with the hands crossed over the breast, and in the crossed arms was a smaller figure, representing a child, the features being rudely suggested by means of currants. There can be no doubt that this sweetmeat—which was made and given to children only at Christmas—represented the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Holy Child, a practical and pleasing way of bringing home to the mind of the children the central facts and figures of Christmastide.

Happy Christmas

President Grant and His "Tribe" Enjoyed It In the White House

THE Christmas of 1869 found the happy, wide awake family of General Grant settled in the White House. It was just fourscore years on March 4 since Mrs. Washington was "executive mistress." During their eight years in the White House the Grants were counted an unusually happy home circle.

All their holidays were marked with simplest pleasures and unselfish charities. Mrs. Grant was very systematic in her charities. She made lists and distributed Christmas gifts with wisdom and good sense. There was no end of calls upon them soon after the war, and none went away empty.

In 1870 President Grant's father spent Christmas at the White House. The sons came home from college, and Nellie and her friends made the old house ring with good times. Mrs. Fremont gave them a dancing reception, and the sewing club of which Nellie was the president had a wonderful Christmas entertainment, furnished mostly from the White House.

General Grant, like General Sherman, had a great love for children and their pleasures. One Christmas the matinee was "The adventures and misadventures of Clown and Pantaloon in the wonderful pantomime of 'Jack and the Beanstalk,'" and the White House children were determined to go.

"Now, father, please," urged Nellie Grant, and "Yes, father, you promised us," said Jesse, and General Sherman said, "We'll go, all of us, and take the whole tribe."

And they did—uncles and cousins, several distinguished generals and the president. Officers of church and state were forgotten in the ridiculous pranks of "Jack and the Beanstalk." A great banquet was afterward served in the state dining room by the new steward, Melah. All the distinguished guests joined with the children in games and fun. There were music and promenades through the east room.

The sea elephant uses its trunk to seize its prey and to transfer food to its mouth just as it does its brother which roams the land.

— A Matter of Economy

It is more economical to appoint us as your Executor and Trustee. When an Individual buys and sells investments for an Estate he charges the Estate with broker's commissions. When you name us as Executor and Trustee you are charged with no commisions either for the purchase or sale of the securities the law requires the funds of your Estate to be invested in. May we talk this matter over with you?

Send for blank form of Will and booklet on Descent and Distribution of Property.

THE MICHIGAN TRUST COMPANY
Of Grand Rapids

Audits made of Books of Corporations, Firms and Individuals

'Twas the Night Before Christmas

No, not yet, but how many of you know that exactly 9 shopping days remain between today and Christmas eve? Hard to believe it's so close, isn't it? For this reason we want to call your attention that it is absolutely necessary for you to get busy at once and purchase what you need for this great event at the earliest possible moment. We also want you to remember that this store is the place to do your Christmas trading. Our lines are complete and ready for your inspection

Gift Suggestions

SUITS, OVERCOATS, MACKINAWS, HATS, CAPS, LADIES' SKIRTS, LADIES' COATS, PETTICOATS AND WAISTS, CHILDREN'S COATS AND DRESSES, MITTTENS AND GLOVES

We have hundreds of useful gifts for the boys and girls, and have not overlooked the little tots. Plenty of Toys and Games. Everything is ready for you upon your arrival. Shop early and get your pick of the goods on display.

Special for Holiday Week

With every $10.00 cash purchase we will give 15 pounds of Sugar for $1.00

Weiss Department Store

Ellsworth, Michigan

Merry Christmas.

Fountain Pens

Fancy Box Candy

Xmas Boxes of Cigars

50c Books

Children's Books

Cards Cases

Bill Folds Perfumes

Fancy Stationery

Correspondence Cards

The Best Christmas Service

Is yours to command—for we have left nothing undone to make Holiday Shopping the genuine pleasure it should be.

Our Christmas stocks are in splendid completeness--and you can shop here for each and every one on your list.

Ellsworth Drug Co.

Phone 20 Ellsworth Mich.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

MILES DISTRICT

Merritt Shaw was a Sunday visitor at William Walker's.

Miss Cora Stenke went to East Jordan on business Saturday.

John Sherman bought a pair of colts last week of Ben Schrader.

Henry Walker purchased some cattle of Charles Thomae, Saturday.

Misses Bessie and Kate LaLonde spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents.

Albert Miles and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Madill, of Ellsworth, Sunday.

Some of the farmers took advantage of the nice weather and did some of their fall plowing.

Miss Nellie Guild has returned home after a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. Lorence Isaman.

School Notes.

The children are busy selling Red Cross seals and all are anxious to win a Red Cross pin.

Seven scholars received certificates of award this month for being neither absent nor tardy.

Viola Thomas is the only pupil that has not been tardy or absent this year, but there are several who have not been absent.

The children are again engaged in their winter sport.

ANTRIM CITY

Mr. Rice and family were at the Brant home Sunday.

A number of people called on Mr. Rice, Wednesday evening.

The roads are drifted quite bad in places after our recent storm.

Miss C. Sweet, of Eastport, has been visiting with Mrs. F. Brooks for a few days.

Mr. Baumback took a hundred bushels of beans to Central Lake in one load. He went with his tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoel and Mr. Dr. Feyter called at the home of Mr. Brant, Saturday evening, and seemed to enjoy their walk in the snow.

Mrs. Montgomery and son, Herman, attended the Ladies' Aid society at the home of Mrs. Empey, Thursday. Mrs. Knight also went with them.

RANNEY DISTRICT

Miss Nona Stamper spent Sunday at home.

James Mice lost a valuable horse this week.

Rosco Smith made a business trip to Springvale last Tuesday.

Mrs. Thomas Moore visited her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Ranney, before she left for Springvale, where she will spend the winter.

ROCK ELM

Miss Amanda Duffey is home again from Breezy Point farm.

Ed Metz has returned home from his visit to his sister who lives near Traverse City.

Instead of having a Christmas tree the Sunday school is planning to give a holiday party some evening between Christmas and New Year's.

School Notes.

Thirty-two members of the Bird club met at the close of school Friday afternoon. The first business was the election of a secretary in Agness Lacroix's place, as she expects to be away from home several weeks. The ballot resulted in the choice of Kenneth Flagg. After this several very interesting bird stories were read.

Mrs. Canda visited school Monday afternoon.

"Rover" Shaw also visited school Monday and proved such an interesting playfellow that it would be hard to tell whether the visit was most enjoyed by the boys or the dog.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

The Watkins man passed through the neighborhood last Monday.

Miss Bessie Postmus is working at the Bergsma home at present.

Glen Smith, of Ellsworth, was at the Isa Alward home Monday cutting wood.

It will soon be Christmas and why not spell it with a Christ and never an X for there can never be a real Christmas without a Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bergsma and baby, Clara, are visiting relatives and friends at Grand Rapids and other points in southern Michigan.

Hubert Bearss went to Grand Rapids, Friday, to spend a couple of weeks visiting friends and relatives. He expects to stop at Shelby and Hart on his way home.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 13, 1916

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, red bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	5.50
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Garden varieties	5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.35
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted ... 9.00 to	10.00
Calves, dressed	11.00
Pork, dressed	10.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.30
Eggs, per doz.	.40
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.25
Salt	1.40

WILDWOOD

Miss Kate Wilson spent Thanksgiving with relatives at Wildwood.

Mrs. E. Emery has been under the weather lately. Heavy cold and neuralgia.

The Misses Ellen and Jane Crawford spent several days in Traverse City last week.

John Stevens loaded a car with produce for Mr. Rhodes, who lives in Obio, last week.

A. Miller has gone to the East Jordan Lumber company's camp 31 to work this winter.

James Wilson drove to Phelps last week with a load of apples which he had pressed into cider.

The "Watkins man" made his trip last week through rain and mud with a new Ford car he recently purchased.

Mrs. Lela McDonald left last week for Thomastown after spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens.

Miss Mack, of Charlevoix, has been visiting her friend, Miss Alice Hale, who has been stopping with her sister, Mrs. Charles Cornwell. They went to Charlevoix on Saturday.

John Crawford received a very beautiful penant about five feet in length bearing the inscription, "Mexican Border Service," also a miniature American and Mexican flag, sent by Corporal Duncan Crawford of Co., I, 33rd Infantry, M. N. G., who is in camp "De Mud" on the border at El Paso, Texas.

Disraeli's Gorgeous Costume.

When Disraeli was a young man he once went on a vacation trip to Corfu in this extraordinary costume: "A blood red shirt with silver buttons as big as shillings, an immense scarf for girdle, full of pistols and daggers; red cap, red slippers, broad blue striped jacket and trousers. His servant, engaged for the occasion, wore a Mameluke dress of crimson and gold, with a white turban thirty-yards long and a saber glittering like a rainbow."—London Spectator.

NOW COMES THE TIME FOR BUYING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

If you will realize that it is time now to do your Christmas shopping you will be considering that there are but 9 more shopping days before Christmas. Our store was never better equipped to fill your wants than at present time. You will find practical and useful gifts here as well as toys for the little ones. We will make your Xmas shopping a real pleasure if you come to our store.

DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT

Dress Goods, Pillow Tops, Center Pieces, Towels, Table Linens, India Linens for Fancy Aprons, Laces and Embroideries, Gloves, Ribbons.

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

Mackinaws, Caps, Ties, Shirts, Suspenders, Fancy Paris Garters, Dress and Work Pants, Gloves, splendid line of Underwear.

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

You can easily solve the vexing problem of what to have for your Christmas dinner in this department.

HARDWARE DEPARTMENT

Gifts that will give real pleasure to all members of the family such as Carving Sets, Silverware, Pocket Knives, Skates, Skis, Sleds and Coasters, Shot Guns, Flashlights, Safety Razors, Tools of all kinds.

SHOE DEPARTMENT

Shoes for father, mother, brother, sister and the little ones. The kind that give real wear and service. Slippers of all kinds—a gift that is always appreciated.

TOY DEPARTMENT

In this department we excel—the line is far ahead of anything we ever had. It will take but a minute to find what you want in this department.

MAKE YOUR SELECTIONS AT ONCE. PACKAGES WILL BE LAID AWAY AND CAREFULLY LOOKED AFTER UNTIL CALLED FOR.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

Santa Claus Headquarters — Ellsworth, Mich.

GIFTS

The Spirit of Christmas Prevades Our Store

Everything is ready to greet you. Our store is in full Christmas attire. Gift purchasing can be done now, before the real rush begins. Now while the stocks are complete. Articles laid away for Christmas delivery if desired.

For the Christmas Dinner

We have besides a complete stock of Groceries, Currants, Raisins, Cranberries, Oranges, Lemons, Fruits, etc., that all go to make the big dinner of the year a success.

For Practical Gifts

Visit our Dry Goods department. Here will be found nice Dress Patterns, Aprons, Doilies, Table Spreads, Napkin Sets, Ribbons for the girls, Skirts, Underwear, Sweaters, Warm Wool Stockings, etc. Any one of the articles will make a gift that will be appreciated.

Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rubbers and Shoes, Rain Coats—just what the men folks want.

Coupons given with every cash purchase of a dollar or more, good on a Fine Rocking Chair, a fine present to the person who gets it.

Ralph Davis

Phelps, Michigan

ATTRACTIVE CHRISTMAS GIFTS THAT YOU CAN AFFORD

These days one seldom hears much else than increased costs while making Christmas purchases. But that does not apply here. Our Christmas offerings are scarcely a bit more than we charged a year ago—and our display is as good as in former years. Almost anything any member of the family might desire can be found here. All lines are complete and the assortment will make selections for the person who is looking for useful gifts.

Shoe Department

Look over our line of Ball Brand Rubber Goods. Note the quality and then ask the price—then you will buy. We have also shoes for all members of the family both for work and dress.

Dry Goods Department

Useful gifts predominate here. What will make more acceptable gifts than a new Dress, Apron, pair of Gloves or Mittens, Toques for the little ones, Ties of all kinds, fancy Ribbon for the girls, Handkerchiefs of all kinds.

Grocery Department

In a few lines the high cost have advanced the price, but the greater majority of old prices prevail. You can save money by making your grocery purchases here.

Men's Furnishings

If you want a present for Him—one that he will appreciate, buy a good Mackinaw or a pair of heavy Mittens. They will give real enjoyment.

SPECIAL We have an abundance of Outing that we are selling at prices the goods sold for a year ago. Remember, this line been advanced in prices by practically every store in this section, but we are still selling at former prices. Ask to see the line—it means a big saving to you.

HENRY KLOOSTER

ATWOOD, MICHIGAN

Ellsworth Section

WESTERN MICH. APPLE SHOW

HELD IN LUDINGTON WEEK OF NOVEMBER 28

One of Finest Exhibits of Strictly Michigan Grown Apples Ever Held.

In the city of Ludington, November 28-30, was held the first Western Michigan apple show. Over $500 in prizes was distributed. Prominent growers from Michigan and outside remnrked that this was one of the finest exhibits of strictly Michigan grown apples ever got togetber. The show waa held at the same time and in connection with the second Northern Michigan Agricultural Congress.

The entry which probably attracted the most attention was composed of three flats each of ten varieties sent by the Fremont Co-operative Produce company of Newaygo county. The apples were nearly perfect in size, color and uniformity. This exhibit won a first prize of $50.00. The second prize of $40.00 waa won by an almost equally good entry from the Mason County Fruit and Produce Exchange.

The show also included many other entries of peck flats, besides bushel boxes and 5-apple plates. Not the least attractive part of the show was a fine banked exhibit of cnnned fruit. An apple pie contest was also a feature.

The prize money was contributed very largely by Ludington business men. The contest was open to all western Michigan apple growers and there were entries from nearly every county in the fruit belt, Mason, Newaygo, Manistee and Muskegon lending. It was a noticeable fact that these four counties, represented by the best exhibits, are those in which a county agricultural agent is employed. The county agents collected and prepared the exhibits and came with them to the show. These counties could hardly have found a better means of advertising their possibilities. It leads one to think that no county can expect to have its agricultural interests cared for to the best advantage without putting such responsibility in the hands of a person whose entire time can be given to the work.

Another striking lesson was this, that in a show of this sort the exhibits which are largeat and best and which do the most to advertise the agricultural advantages of the county are secured only by the cooperation of farmers tbrough agencies such as the produce and fruit exchanges which are spriaging up in the more progressive sections of the state.

Although the agricultural congress will go to another town aext year, Ludington business men have expressed a desire to make the apple show an annual affair. Aside from the value of the show in drawing trade to the town, the educational value is recognized as being very great, and this is bound to result in a marked improvement ia the production end of the fruit business.

The Broker's Christmas.

Brokerage houses have more beggars visit them than does any other class of business msa. At Christmas time they fairly swarm. Some are "down and outs" from unlucky speculation and the mixing of business and alcohol; others are simply the unfortunates who have kept from drink, but who have lost their nerve and money and are merely trying to live.

A story is told by a Chicago broker of how he fell a victim to one smooth stranger recently and how the smooth stranger thereupon fell a victim to him. The visitor came to his office with a more or less familiar hard luck story of his wife being sick, his rent overdue and himself out of work ever since the market went against him in the old days. "I'm just going to work tomorrow," he said, "and I want to borrow $20 for expenses."

The broker, impressed with the story, handed over the money. The man who had seen better days stood around a few minutes and then said, "Won't you have something with me?" "I don't mind," said the broker, with the fellow feeling of the market. "We went to a nearby barroom," he said afterward, "and the poor man ordered a bottle of wine and a bunch of twenty-five cent cigars. Next I saw the twenty dollar bill that I had lent him put down to pay for the drinks and cigars. When the change was brought I reached over and took it and said: 'This is my money. But the drinks are on me.'"

The man who had seen better days before the market went against him moved on to the next broker's office

AN OLD TIME DINNER.

Grapefruit and Maraschino Cherries Served in Glasses.
Cream of Tomato Soup.
(On each butter plate were two dinner biscuits and butter ball. On small glass dishes were black olives, cranberry mold and salted nuts.)
Roasted Goose.
Browned Sweet Potatoes. Mashed Irish Potatoes.
Creamed Onions. Stewed Corn.
Salad.
(Pineapple slices on lettuce leaves. Mayonnaise over the fruit and maraschino cherries on top of the mayonnaise. Cheese crackers are served with this.)
Mock Mince Pie. White Grapes.
Red and White Mints.
Black Coffee.

As the Christmas bird par excellence is the goose, suggestions for its selection and cooking are now in season. If fate be kind and you can get a "green goose" from three to four months old you may count yourself lucky, for it is considered a most delicate dish. It should hang up at least twenty-four hours before cooking.

A green goose should not be stuffed, but treated like a game bird. Simply season it inside and out. Singe and remove all the pinfeathers; then scrub the skin with warm soapsuds to open the pores, soften the fat and draw out the oil. Cold water would be useless in this case. Rinse in cold water, wipe dry, rinse out the inside quickly with clear water and drain. Season, inside and out, with salt and pepper, put half a white onion inside, dredge thickly on the outside with flour and roast in a quick oven for at least an hour and serve as you should serve geese of any age, with boiled onions and apple sauce.

A goose over a year old becomes strong and greasy and is only fit for boiling or steaming. In selecting a goose see that the fat is soft and white. The fat of an old bird is dark. The feet should be smooth and yellow, the wings supple and tender at the pinions and the end of the breastbone flexible. After four months of age a goose is usually stuffed with potatoes and sage, potatoes and chestnuts or white apples. In the latter case the apples are usually thrown away after the bird is roasted, their purpose being to absorb the strong flavor. This is especially advisable with an old goose.

A goose, of all birds, requires long, thorough cooking and frequent basting, basting and dredging every ten or fifteen minutes. To make the sauce for the goose turn all the fat from the roasting pan except two tablespoonfuls. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until frothy. Then pour in a pint of boiling water or stock. When the mixture boils up thoroughly season with salt and pepper, add a teaspoonful or two of kitchen bouquet and a little chopped parsley if liked. Garnish the goose with watercresses and serve with apple sauce.

Marshmallow Pudding.

For this Christmas dainty chop one-fourth of a cupful of candied cherries and soak for one hour in enough rum or sherry to cover. Mix with one-half cupful of nut meats and one heaping cupful of marshmallows which have been cut in bits. Whip one and one-fourth cupfuls of cream and sweeten with two and one-half tablespoonfuls of sugar. Cut in the fruit, nuts and marshmallows. Place in a mold and pack in salt and ice for one hour. Serve in parfait glasses or in glass sherbet cups.

A CHRISTMAS GOODY.

Uncle Sam's investments in forests are bringing direct returns, which are increasing every year.

One of the newer crops is automobile corn, characterized in brief as any field full of weeds that have grown up while the owner was dashing about in his new motorcar.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

John Bos, of Atwood, was in town Monday.

A. B. Sneller, of Atwood, was in town Monday.

H. Himebauch, of Phelps, was in town Monday.

Carlos Himebauch, of Phelps, was in town Monday.

E. R. Harris and Mrs. Harris went to Bellaire, Monday.

Charles Stevens, Jr., of Phelps, was in town Friday last.

E. Best and Marion Best went to East Jordan last Friday.

John Zylstra, of Phelps, was in town Monday on business.

Henry Dixon, of Phelps, was in town Monday on business.

C. C. Boggs, of Alden, was in town Saturday of last week.

John Wilson, of East Jordan, was in town Saturday of last week.

George Klooster left last week for Lansing with a carload of potatoes.

Stuart Baar was in the village Tuesday helping out at the local bank.

Albert Supernaw, of Traverse City, was in town Saturday of last week.

C. W. S. Campbell, owner of the park, is very ill at his home in this village.

Quite a large number from here attended the sale of Art Barnes last Tuesday.

M. Struik left Monday for Pittsburg with a carload of potatoes for the Ellsworth Produce company.

Rev. Posthumus and wife have returned from southern points, where they spent a two weeks' vacation.

Several from here attended the funeral of the late Charles Stevens at Phelps, Sunday. Mr. Stevens was well and favorably known in this village for many years.

We are informed through a reliable source that the local plant of the William Bros. company has been sold to the Libby, McNeil and Libby company as have all other salting stations of the Williams company in this state.

Merry Christmas.

Another year has passed and gone and at this time we wish to thank you all for your favor and patronage of the year.

We also wish you

A Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year

and hope that our dealings with you in the past has been as pleasing to you as it has been to us.

We want you to keep in mind that we buy all kinds of Farm Produce and pay the highest Cash Market Price.

WE RETAIL
CORN, OATS, BRAN, MIDDLINGS, COTTON SEED AND OIL MEALS, PULP PLASTER CEMENT, SOFT COAL

A close comparison will convincingly reveal to you that our prices are us low as the lowest on these products.

We extend you a cordial invitation to make our place your headquarters while in town. Again wishing you the compliments of the season, we remain— Very Respectfully

The Ellsworth Produce Company

M. K. NELSON, Manager

WE WRAP SATISFACTION INTO EVERY CHRISTMAS PACKAGE

USEFUL GIFTS

Practical Christmas Gifts give more real satisfaction and pleasure to everybody and there is nothing so acceptable as a piece of Aluminum or Granite Ware, a set of Silver Knives and Forks, Spoons, etc. Christmas shoppers are buying practical gifts this year and this store has a wonderful line to select from.

ASK TO SEE OUR NEW LINE OF SILVERWARE

ALUMINUM WEAR

It will be a Merry Christmas if you treat your home to a complete set of Aluminum Utensils. We have a full line consisting of

KETTLES of all sizes — OAT MEAL COOKERS
STEWING DISHES — PIE TINS
CUPS — COMPLETE TABLE SETS

FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS

The delight the boys and girls will take in the line of gifts we have in stock for them will more than repay the cost of giving.

BARNEY & BERRY SKATES
COASTERS of all kinds
SLEDS for the little tots as well as the older ones
SKIS that are record breakers

GRANITE WARE

You cannot make a more suitable gift to the good house-wife than a nice kitchen outfit of Granite Cooking Utensils. A happy home will be the result, and it will lighten her work a great deal, too. We have them in

KETTLES — STEWING DISHES — PANS
PIE TINS — OAT MEAL COOKERS — PAILS
DIPPERS, Etc., AT ALL PRICES

FOR THE MEN AND BOYS

It will take but a moment to select your Christmas gift for the Men and Boys. Our assortment of gifts are the kind that they will take pleasure in 365 days in the year.

JACK KNIVES of all kinds
SHOT GUNS, both single and double barrel
EVER-READY and PENN SAFETY RAZORS

For comfort of the entire family buy one of our famous Foot Warmers, Soap Stones or a Clarke Heater. The ride to town or on your weekly visit will then be a pleasure.

W. A. BOSS

Telephone 21 — The Store of Practical Gifts — Ellsworth, Mich.

Ellsworth Section

Some Christmas Novelties

A barber shop that hasn't got a cigar box with a sign on it, "Remember the Porter."

A hoshand and father who is agreeahly surprised with what hs finds in his sock.

A piece of gilt fancy work that isn't a dust catcher.

A woman who doesn't want to know what the other woman received.

A person who doesn't suddenly realize that he overlooked some one whn wss expecting to be remembered.

An office boy who hasn't his "mitt ont."

A miss who studiously sidesteps the mistletoe.

A minister who doesn't get at least one pair nf slippers.

A cigar desler who doesn't pst himself on tha hack because women will huy their husbands cigars.

A hoy of six who doesn't break one of his new toys before the day is over.

A grown person who doesn't protest that he naver used to get half whst his children do.

A boy who doesn't wish it would snow.

A young man who doesn't receive a silk muffler.

A man with children who doesn't have to get up four hours sooner then he wants to on Christmas morning.

A pocketbook thet has anything left in it.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

* PHELPS CHURCH NOTES *

Apostnlic Hnliness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m., preaching.

7:45 p. m., Tuesday, prayer meeting.

MUCH GOOD IN CHRISTMAS DINNER

BEFORE sitting down to your Christmas dinner you should read this through. Then you will be able to eat the roast beef or turkey and plum pudding without suy misgivings as to the consequeuces. The Christmas diuner, according to a well known medical authority, is, after all, a simple affair, and its ingredients are in general of the most wholesome kind. Rosst beef or turkey and plum pudding represent in plain terms the constituents of whst is from a physiological point of view a complete diet, presenting all classes of reprsrative material demanded by the great processes of nutrition. It contains a halance of proteiu, fats, carbohydrates and mineral salts which go tn mske up healthy tissue.

The plum pudding in particular is a complete food in itself, and the only risk of the Christmas mesl is taking an excess of the good things which it provides. Fortunately people nowadays do not need to be told to guard against excess.

The gospel of temperance in regard to both eating and drinking has been preached most effectively by the medical profession, and laymen are numerous enough who possess a sensible acquaintance with simple physiological facts to guide them. This knowledge, however, is not a fetter to their liberties, nor does it diminish their joy.

Indigestible dishes are not, as a rule, the feature of the Christmas dinner table. It is difficult to select snything more digestible than turkey, roast heef or Christmas pudding esten in balanced quentities. There are plenty of other meats and sweets which are far more trying to the digestive apparatus than these. During tho Christmes festivity, having regard even to the finest requiremeuts of the functions, it is possible to he merry and wise together, a line of conduct which is in complete allegiance to physiological orders.

The Child Immortal.

On Mary's arm soft slept the child
And dreaming still caressed
The pillow of her snowy breast,
And as he slept he smiled.

He slept and dreamed—he dreamed and smiled—
The centuries come and go,
But still that bit of heaven we know—
The mother and the child.
—Martha Summerfield Shuey.

* ELLSWORTH CHURCHES *

M. E. Church

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, Superintendent nf Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, President. Everynne Invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m., Evangellstic service.

7:45 p. m., Thursday, prayer meeting.

ROCK ELM

Mr. Melvin Donaldson went to Ironton, Monday, on business.

Miss Agnes Lacroix has gone to Springvale to visit her aunt for a few weeks.

Mrs. Boyd visited her mother at Central Lake last week and found her able to be about the house again though she has not fully recovered from her recent illness.

The stork paid our neighborhood another visit early in the morning of December 1st. This time he entered the home of Charles Donaldson and left in their keeping a nine pound daughter, who will be known in future ss Miss Edna May. Mother snd bnbe nre both doing well.

Pen snd Sword.

"Do you believe the pen is mightier than the sword?"

"Of course it is. Who ever had to pay $25,000 damages in a hreach of promise case on account of the sword he carried?"—Chicago Herald.

See us for your Job Printing.

* GRANGE COLUMN *

Ellsworth Grange, No 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—D. E. Carpenter.

Lecturer—D. Patterson.

Secretary—Ava L. Bearss.

Citizens Bank of Ellsworth

McPhail and Richardson Bankers

RESPONSIBILITY OVER $300,000.00

To all our Customers and Friends

A Merry Christmas and A Happy and Prosperous New Year

4 per cent on Savings Deposits if left for 3 Months

"Merry Christmas Everywhere; Merrily Ringeth on the Air"

Christmas is in everybody's thought. Shopping has begun earlier than ever before. Perhaps because people are more prosperous. More likely because the spirit of "Good Will Toward Men" is abroad. Those who shop now meet good natured clerks. They find fresher Merchandise. They shop at greater leisure. They find the Christmas spirit abroad. And they find many, many low prices.

Presents for Father, Mother, Daughter, Son

Gifts For Everybody

SLEDS, CHINAWARE, NECKTIES, CANDIES AND NUTS OF ALL KINDS, COASTERS, DOLLS, HANDKERCHIEFS, LADIES' CAPS, LAMPS, SWEATERS, LADIES' HANDBAGS, BED BLANKETS, CLOCKS, COATS, SCARFS, DOILIES, SILVERWARE, PILLOW TOPS, DOLL BEDS FOR THE LITTLE GIRLS, PICTURES, GLASSWARE, TABLE SCARFS, RIBBONS

GIFTS OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS ARE HERE BY THE HUNDREDS. PRACTICAL GIFTS—THOSE THAT WILL COME INTO USE PRACTICALLY EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR ARE HERE IN ABUNDANCE.
LET US HELP YOU MAKE YOUR CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS.

George Klooster & Son

Ellsworth, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34, NO. 51 — 10 PAGES — CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1916 — PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

PEOPLE SHOULD BE WIDE AWAKE

URGED TO TAKE INTEREST IN LOCAL LEGISLATION

Contract Involving $15,000 a Year Soon to Be Closed—What Are We Getting.

Our prevailing system of local municipal government, sanctioned (or perhaps sanctified would be the better word) by its almost universal adoption over a long period of years and throughout a territory bounded only by the confines of the nation, has become a habit with us. We are inclined to look upon those uncomfortable people who sometimes dare to throw the monkey wrench of criticism into our pet political machinery as heretics, pervertive of the public peace. We have built the thing, set it up and started it to going, and now we wnnt to sit back in peaceful content and "let George do it," "George" being in this case a collective term for the particular gentlemen whom we, in our sometimes faulty human judgment and poorer civic interest, elect to municipal office. "George" gets along all right for a time and then some cold, gray morning we get down to the shop and find that he took a cat nap last night, or forgot to oil the bearings and our beautiful machine is either a hopeless wreck or a helpless cripple.

It is in an honest endeavor to prevent a catastrophe which will cripple the town in its progress for the next ten years, that the Courier urges Charlevoix people to pay some attention to what their council is doing or will do with the proposed contract for light and power with the Elk Rapids Iron company, succesaors to Henry Richardi.

Under the terms of this contract, which involves the expenditure by the city of approximately $15,000 per year or $150,000 to $200,00 over the 10 year period during which it is in force, the Elk Rapids company is to receive the unreasonable, flat pric of three and a half cents per kilowatt. The city of Charlevoix, acting ns middleman or intermediary between the producer of electric current and the consumer, adds a cent and a half for profit and holds up the prospective as well as present power current user with a five cent rate.

Now, if the cent and a half which the city is to chnrge the power conaumer over and above what the juice costs it, under this arrangement, actually represented a profit to the city, there would be at least a faint element of expediency in the proposed contract. But we have to consider two very important facts; first, that the line loss and cost of maintenance of our present auxilliary unit, together with the expense of reading meters and collections, will amount to very much more than one and a half cents per kilowatt, and, secondly, that a charge of five cents to power users, when compared with the two and two and a half cents which the consumer pays in Alpena, for instance, and various other points outside the big centers, puts the city of Charlevoix at a tremendously crippling disadvantage in competition with neighboring towns for new business.

Alternatives, you say? What is the matter with offering a franchise on attractive terms to some strong, well-financed lighting company, which will enable them to build a modern and economical plant at Charlevoix and furnish direct to the consumer, which they can do at a good profit to themselves and at a much cheaper rate to the consumer than through the intermediary of the city ns middleman?

At the same time, while offering a real inducement in the shape of a free site and favorable terms to the power producer, surround such a franchise with conditions favorable to our citizens, such as free light to the city, perfect service without interruption nnd a maximum charge to the consumer, based on as much less than the city's present rate as the cost of the intermediate handling now amounts to.

If the city can buy electricity from the producer nnd redistribute it to the consumer at ten cents per kilowntt for lighting purposes, then the producer should deliver to the consumer, say, at seven and a half or eight cents for such purpose (assuming that the city's cost of maintenance and supervision is two to two and a half cents) at the same time giving us a power rate which will be attractive and feasible to the permanent industries which we already have and those that we hope to have.

In any event, don't let us heedlessly nppronch a condition where a contract with the city of Charlevoix at a good round price may be used for speculative purposes.

WEDDED MONDAY

Young Couple to Reside in Petoskey Home of Groom.

Friends of Miss Merle Felts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Felts, were pleasantly surprised to learn of her marriage last Monday afternoon, December 18th, at the Congregational parsonage in this city to Mr. Don M. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. King, of Petoskey, Rev. C. E. Taggart officiatiag.

Miss Felts has grown up in the town and needs no introduction to Charlevoix people. Mr. King is manager of the shoe department of S. Rosenthal & Sons department store in Petoskey, in which city the young couple will reside. They have our best wishes for a long and happy married life.

Sequel to Diamond From Sky.

Manager Miles of the Majestic makes the announcement that the sequel to the "Diamond from the Sky" will be shown at this popular play house on Tuesday evening, January 2, 1917. It will be remembered the picture had a $10,000 offer for the sequel and the name of the author will be announced with the picture. The winner was picked from a selection of 31,000 stories submitted.

RELIEF COMMITTEE HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Will Take Care of Poor During Winter—Help Solicited.

A committee has been organized to take care of the distribution of food, clothing, fuel and other donations intended for the poor and needy families of the town. The members of this committee are Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall, Mrs. William S. Kibbe, Mrs. Lyman Benton, Mrs. Henry C. Cooper and Mrs. Knight. This committee will meet at the Boy Scout club rooms each Wednesday and Friday afternoon during the winter months for the purpose of sewing on garments for those who need, but through poverty are not able to obtain them. Any of the ladies of the town who desire to participate in this work are cordially invited to become associated with this committee.

Assistance in any of the above enumerated forms will be promptly and faithfully administered where it will do the most good. The supplies may be sent to the club rooms at any time during the week and will be properly taken care of.

During the past week the committee has cared for the family mentioned in the columns of our last issue.

Our readers have responded generously with gifts of food and clothing and work has been found for the father of the family. Five other families in almost destitute condition have been taken care of and there are yet others. About 16 little ones have been clothed and the committee has a list of 13 other children to sew for. Sewing machines have been provided. Those who cannot come Wednesday come Friday, or vice versa. Come, anyway.

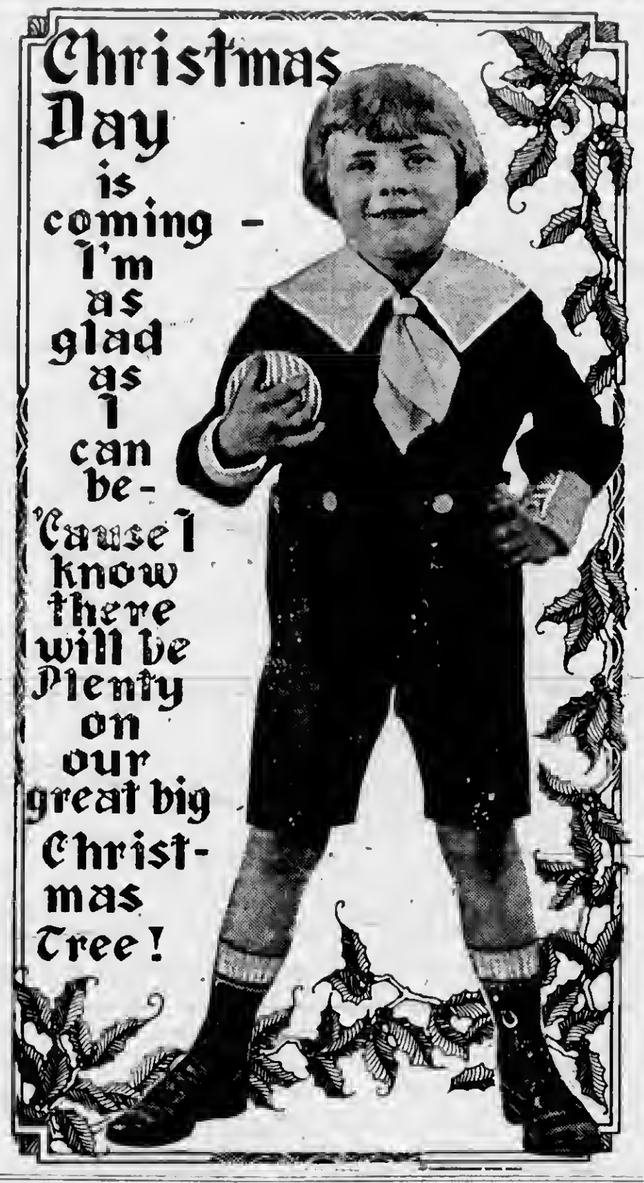
PINE LAKE LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS

Make Selections for the Following Year—Public Installation.

The following officers were elected to fill the various stations for the following year at the regular session of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythins, last Thursday evening:

C. C.—Lee R. Smith.
V. C.—Harold Bedford.
Prelate—Leon F. Brower.
M. of W.—A. L. Fitch.
K. of R. S.—S. B. Caroy.
M. of E.—C. L. Gonser.
M. of F.—E. J. Hiller.
M. at A.—Joseph Courier.
I. G.—R. C. Korth.
O. G.—Frank Biossat.
Trustee, three years—L. E. Smith.
Representative—E. J. Hiller.
Alternate—Richard Lewis.
Fraternal corr.—W. E. Hampton.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.



ALMA QUARTETTE COMING HERE

WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28

Under Auspices of Junior Class—At Methodist Church 7:30 p. m.

The Alma quartette is composed of four young college men filled with the spirit of American college "pep." Their purpose is in the main two-fold (1) they try to give their audiences an evening of fun and frolic and (2) concealed in their humor is a thought which no one can fail to detect. There are songs for all sorts of people—classical, funny, war, and some of our latest popular songs. There are solos for the lonely, old songs for the young, and readings for those who don't sing. If you are a pessimist come to hear this representation of one of the best colleges in our state, and we will guarantee that you will be entirely cured from thoughts that trouble you. If you are an optimist come so that you can become more optimistic than ever.

These young men have been greeted with great favor in other cities in which they have given their program, because of the pleasing variety of subjects in which they deal.

Later in the week the city will be canvassed by the members of the Junior class of the high school who have secured this attraction for Charlevoix, with tickets which will only cost the people 25 cents. Any person attending this concert is sure to get four times that much enjoyment out of it. Therefore when a member of the class asks you to purchase a ticket do not refuse him but get one and go and we are sure that you will pass the most enjoynble two hours that you ever had.

The date of this great attraction is December 28, 1916, at the Methodist church, at 7:30 p. m.

R. M. McKeel, an old resident of this town, who has been at the point of death for a long time, passed away last Monday noon at 2:30 o'clock. His funeral will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m., from his home. Further details are not at this time available.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

DEALERS FROM ALL LOCALITIES

VISIT BIG WILLYS-OVERLAND PLANT AT TOLEDO

Friday Was Michigan Day and Hundreds Get In Line—Outline of Trip.

Benjamin Brown, Willys-Overland dealer in this city, with A. J. Brown and the editor of the Courier, who were among the 5,000 dealers visiting the great Toledo plant in connection with the immense convention now in progress, recount their experiences in the following manner:

Some action!

Nothing was ever so impressive as our tour of the great plant that turns out Willys-Overland cars.

Our Pullmans all parked in the company yards. There was room enough, for there are seven and three-quarter miles of track within the plant.

Each man got a card containing a picture of Mr. Willys and an autographed message of welcome from him. Next thing we knew we were lined up on the steps of the stunning new administration building getting photographed.

Elevators shot us to the company's own restaurant on the sixth floor. There we had a corking breakfast. At each plate was a copy of the live new Willys-Overland house organ, "The Starter." It mapped our day's program.

Then started our tour of the plant.

Our guides were carefully picked men. They knew the plant from end to end, and the parties were small so that each member of the party could have his questions answered.

Nobody ought to try to sell Willys-Overland product without knowing this plant. You can't grip the immensity of the proposition till you do.

It is no piker business.

$25,000,000 are tied up in land, buildings and machinery, not to say a word about the stock of parts and raw material.

From the roof of the wonderful administration building, which stands out like a state capital, you get a great panorama of the plant. You can then readily believe that it occupies 103 acres, with 4,486,680 square feet of floor space in daily use and a production capacity of 1,000 cars per day.

You can appreciate the growth from 250 employes in 1908 to 17,300 in 1916.

1,000 persons, more than the entire manufacturing force of many a company, work in the administration building alone. This structure, 375 feet long, has every facility for rapid work, including dictaphones, its own telegraph and telephone system and a mail handling department that does about everything but write the letters.

388 persons can be fed in the restaurant at one time.

But this is nothing to what hits when you cross into the shops. It is a whirl of action, yet all is system.

Parts by the untold thousands are here, with a value into the millions of dollars. There are lines of motors. We never saw so many crank shafts together. Our guide said 6,000—we'd have believed 60,000.

There is stock in bins, stock in yards, stock along the walls, connecting rods, frames, fenders, mudguards, hoods, rims, springs, axles, torsion tubes, transmission gears shafts, brake parts, steering rods, pedals—it is an unending procession.

Every 30 days sees an average of 1,000 tons of steel come in. It is handled by a magnetic crane that enables two men to do a work that formerly required 30.

There are amazing machines.

The toggle press, for example, held us all. This monster, with its pressure of 1,000 tons, shapes cold steel like cardboard. A piece of metal fed to it comes out as a side frame. It can make 2,000 of these in an eight hour day.

(Continued on page four.)

FIRE SATURDAY HAD GOOD START

Barn Owned By A. E. Mason Gutted In Hot Blaze.

The fire bell on the water tower rang Saturday afternoon at 1:35 and the department responding promptly found the barn, owned by A. E. Mason, on Hurlbut avenue, near Bridge street, burning fiercely. Huge clouds of smoke were rolling from the roof and through the cracks in the closed door the interior could be seen in a mass of flame.

Fire Chief Marshall got his lines attached and the water turned on before he permitted the door to be opened. When he finally swung it back the rush of smoke and flames nearly knocked the men holding nozzle on their backs. The first smashing blow of the powerful stream checked the fire which had got an excellent start in the hay with which the barn was almost filled and the rest of the work consisted in thoroughly soaking the interior and subduing the more stubborn portions of the blazing contents.

How the fire started is not known. Several horses were lead out before the fire rendered saving anything impossible. The loss has not as yet been ascertained.

SANTA CLAUS ALWAYS COMES TO HER

Little Girl Wants Him to Call On Bohemian Children.

The following letter greeted the editor when opening his mail last Saturday evening, and the contents which we publish below is but a twinkling into the lives of the lucky children whom know only the joys of Christmas that Santa Claus has left, and none of the heart breaking agonies that follow the morning when good old Santa failed to lavish his blessing on the poverty stricken family or orphan child: The letter follows:

"Dear Santa Claus:

"I was so sorry for those little Bohemian children when papa read about them and said Santa Claus would not come and see them.

"So I am sending you all the money I have got, so you will go and see them. I am a little girl, seven years old. I know there is a Santa Claus, for you come every Christmas."

Enclosed in the letter was a one dollar bill and the editor will see that Santa Claus gets the money and carries out the instructions of the little girl, whose thoughts are for those children in distress. She knows the joys that follow a visit of Santa and wants others to have the same enjoyment.

Christmas Savings Club open for enrollment at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Join now. Adv. 51tl

GIVING THE BOY A CHANCE

A PLACE TO SPEND LEISURE TIME OFF THE STREET

Home Should Be the First Place. But Will He Always Stay There.

We are fervently told sometimes by well-meaning persons, who are fond of rolling respectable truisms off their tongues without inquiring too deeply into their real significance or the logical conclusions to which they lead, that the place, the proper place and the only place for the growing boy or girl is in the home. Here should be the seat of all their activities, say these good people, here the field of their amusements and recreations.

While we are sometimes tempted to class this dogmatic pronouncement with that threadbare anachronism, "Woman's place is in the home," yet for the nonce we will concede its truth, but with this important reservation in the back of our head that the "home" referred to shall be a true home. And by this we mean a home that really contributes by its constant influence to the formation of a character in the child that will make of it finally a man or a woman in the fullest and best sense of the term. In short, such a home as we have come to style in our easy-going and rather meaningless everyday vocabulary, a "home of refinement."

Furthermore, if keeping the boy or girl in the home were a matter of locks and bolts, then indeed were the problem so unconditionally thrust upon us by our good friends easy of solution. But we think that even the most rabid of these domestic advocates, if we may call them such, will agree on both of two propositions. First, that no boy or girl should be forced to remain in a home that is not only not a good home, but a decidedly bad one and second, that without resorting to cruel and unusual methods it is impossible to keep them there—provided that their environment has not wholly contaminated their nature nor stifled their reason.

Now, granted that they will not remain in a home such as we have just spoken of, they will perforce go somewhere, won't they? Right here is where we jump square into the nub of our discourse with both feet, as it were.

We had occasion, on a certain cold and blustering Saturday morning of this winter, to drop into the Boy Scout club rooms. There were nine boys there, of ages ranging from 8 to 14, under the supervision of the scoutmaster; all evidently enjoying themselves to the limit. Four of the boys were playing a game of carroms (which, for the benefit of the uninitiated, let us explain, is something like billiards, played with cues and small wooden rings) at two tables in the center of the room. Three of the boys were reading the magazines piled upon a nearby table—Leslie's, The Independent, The Outlook, the Scouting Magazine, and a school text book on geography, as we discovered upon closer inspection. One boy was playing the Victrola at the far end of the room (church chimes in the strains of a familiar hymn, if we remember correctly.) Another boy, from far out in the country, was looking on at the carrom game. All were quiet and orderly, even at their games and there was no loud talking or boisterous behavior—at least, while we were present. No fashionable city club could have boasted a more decorous attitude on the part of its members and (as we have some slight bowing acquaintance with city clubs) we think few could have shown as good.

We took a turn about the rooms, which were comfortably warm, despite the wild weather outside. There were plenty of easy chairs, tables piled with magazines of late date and high repute, a handsome Victrola, bookcases filled with standard works and comfortable corners in which to enjoy them and a large, generous davenport for whoever might wish to rest his weary limbs, good pictures and Christian mottoes upon the walls and, last but not least, a collection of truly wonderful sketches and crayon copies of famous cartoons; the work of a talented member of the Scout organization, whom, we predict, will surely some day stand at the top of the

(Continued on page ten.)

CORRESPONDENCE

EAST CHANDLER

Miss Jennie Moshimer visited our school on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. M. Snyder visited at the Carl Clark home on Tuesday.

Dr. Giffen, of Wolverenc, was a business caller here on Thursday.

Mr. Jacob Sayder made a business trip to Boyne Falls on Friday.

Harry Smithengill returned home from his work at Gaylord on Wednesday.

That was some snow storm which visited this locality on Wednesday night.

Miss Della and Margaret Clark are visiting friends near Gaylord this week.

Mrs. W. H. Clark and son and Ivah Crego drove to Springvale on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. M. Snyder, E. E. Walton and Carl Clark attended Johnson's auction sale at Clarion on Tuesday.

The Christmas tree and program will be given the evening of December 22nd at 8 o'clock at the school house.

Mrs. Noah Howard and son, Johnnie, returned from Gaylord on Tuesday. They were accompanied home by the former's daughter who will spend the Xmas holidays here.

Mrs. "Betty" Standard, who has been ill for several months, passed away Monday morning at 4 o'clock. The funeral was held on Tuesday in the church at Vanderbilt and she was laid to rest in the Vanderbilt cemetery. She leavcs two sons and one daughter to mourn her loss, all of whom were with her when she passed away.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be at the Charlevoix County bank December 30 and January 6, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. to receive taxes. At home Fridays.

WALTER RODGER,
Treasurer Charlevoix Township.
Adv. 51t2

HAYES

Snow! Snow!

Maple Grove school will have Xmas entertainment Friday evening.

Mrs. Whightman and her friend joined the crowd at Mrs. Bird's last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hana at Bay Shore.

Undine school will have a Christmas entertainment Friday afternoon. All are invited.

Clyde Trafford is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane. Came last Monday.

Hayes farmers visited Charlevoix, Saturday, in large numbers, going to tha sale at Hooker's garage.

Jones' Lewis received a telegram Saturday that his brother, Levi, of Tacoma, Washington, was dead.

Dee Sneathen is the one in this district to keep the road open for travel and for the mail carrier.

Mrs. Stroud, Mrs. Bartholomew, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Pant went with Mrs. Webster in the jitney to Mrs. Bird's last Monday afternoon to tie off the quilt which was won by Floyd Bartholomew.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be in Charlevoix, December 30, at the State Savings baak to collect taxes, also at Norwood store January 5, 1917.

ORTON VAN DUSEN,
51t1 Norwood Treasurer.

BAYSHORE

Mrs. Embody purchased a driving team of H. H. Starmer.

Mr. Bailey has reated the Kahler farm and will move thare this week.

Mrs. Nelson Hall returned Saturday from a visit with relatives at Muskegon.

There will be a Christmas program at tha Presbyterian church Sunday avening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pricbie spaat Sunday at tha home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sanmby.

The North Bay school will have a Christmas entertainment at the school house Friday evening.

The Carpenter school will have a Christmas program and Christmas trea at tha school house Friday afternoon.

B. B. Jones left for Detroit, where ba will join Mrs. Jones and children and spend some tima visiting relatives there.

Mrs. William Drumm left for Detroit, Tbursday, whero sho will spend tbe bolidays with her son, William Drumm and wife.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred.
Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

WILDWOOD, B. I.

One week vacation. Wishing all a Merry Xmas.

Bertram McDinna visited our school on Monday.

Joe Boyle spent Monday here looking after cattle.

Anthony Green was n colier on Sunday at Wildwood.

Francy Green was a cailer at Wildwood on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delphis Peltier Sundayed at A. Brow's.

A. Bron was at St. James on business on Wednesday.

Charles Amesburg spent the week-end with his aunt, Rosa Green.

Garrett Cole was in St. James on business a couple of days last week.

Willie Richter spent Sunday at G. Cole's returning home on Monday morning.

Be the first to get your pick of my line of Sweaters which I am closing out at less than cost. Benj. Brown, Adv. 49tf

EVELINE

Louis Peterson has commenced buzzing wood.

Many farmers are hauling stones for road building.

The little baby of Ola Nelson's is sick again. Dr. Armstrong was out last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larsen, of Boyne City, visited at the latter's home, coming Tuesday and returning Friday.

Mac McDonald has resigned as supervisor to commence his dutics at the court house as register of deeds. Daniel Payton is appointed to complete the work for this term.

A crowd of youngsters enjoyed themselves immensely at the home of Will Johnson last Saturday evening. Reported, the groom looked happy considering, and treated liberally.

Cash paid for old books and magazines. 1c for rags, ½c for magazines and books. See "Happy," 107 Belvedere avenue. Adv. 48tf

PLEASANT HILL

Our warm weather has caught a severe cold.

Frank Davie has moved into the house on Harry Davie's farm for the winter.

This district needs a Mothers' club to look after school affairs. Some one get busy and start one.

Frank Davic has a new buzz saw and engine and has been using his engine on a bean huller to thresh H. H. Fales and Smith Rogers beans.

Mrs. John Felestra and Mrs. Henry Patterson visited the school Thursday afternoon. It would be a good idea if more of the parents would do the same.

I can save you money on Men's Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Coats, Socks, Mittens, etc. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

JOHNSON SCHOOL DISTRICT

We are all deeply interested in "The Bird's Christmas Carol," which our teacher has been reading to us.

The bad roads have kept a number of the little folks at home during the past week. We always miss the little people.

We bave an addition to our sixth grade. Frank Nowland, from the Nowland district, is the new member. His parents are now living on what is known as the D. M. Gregory place.

We are to have a set of Elson Runkle Supplementary readers to begin the new year with. This is just the Christmas present we have needed for a long time.

Our spelling books for this month are made in the shape of Christmas bells and we are all trying to have every page decorated with a red 100.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Charlevoix People Have Found This to be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather?
Does every cold settle on your kidneys?
Does your back ache and become weak?
Are uriaary passages irregular nnd distressing?
These symptoms are cause to suspect kidney weakness.
Weakened kidnays need quick help.
Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for weakened kidneys.
Charlevoix people recommend them.

Mrs. Albert Lemieur, 704 State St., Charlevoix, says: "A heavy cold settled on my kidneys, causing mo much suffering. My back got so sore that I could hardly get around. Spots appeared before my eyes, blurring my sight. I can never forget how badly I felt. I had dizzy spells also. Mornings I felt more tired than upon retiring. On tha advice of a druggist I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and three boxes removed the troubla."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lemieur had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

We are not going to have the regular Christmas program this year, but we are going to have a little Christmas party, the principal feature, of course, being a tree. We are seeing how beautiful we can make it with the expenditure of little money. It is the real Christmas spirit that we are trying to find, and our capital is labor and happiness. Each grade is contributing its share toward the decorations.

Miss Maddeugh leaves Saturday for her home in East Jordan to spend the holidays. Owing to the fact that the teachers' institute is to be held at that place January 9 and 10 she will not return until after this, making a three weeks vacation this year instead of the usual two weeks.

Every one of us wish every one of you the very merriest possible Christmastide.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be at the Tillotson store, Bay Shore, on Friday, December 29, and at the Charlevoix County bank, Charlevoix, on Saturday, December 30, for the accommodation of those who wish to pay taxes.

PLATT WEBSTER,
Adv. 50t2 Treasurer of Hayes Twp.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Merry Christmas to everybody. Happy New Year too. No notes next week nor the week after that.

There were 22 favorable responses for organizing a Normal extension class in this county. Ten of these want the class in Boyne City, five in East Jordan, three in Charlevoix and two in Boyne Falls, one unsigned and place not signified. We shall try to get a class in East Jordan and Boyne City if the authorities in Mount Pleasant will consent to a division of our forces. If we fail in getting a class certainly we can not blame the spirit of our teachers since the responses were more numerous than in many of the larger counties but in order to overcome our geographical condition and our transportation question we need to have three times the spirit and three times the coin needed in other counties differently located. We may be able to have the class though. It is up to the Central State Normal and decision will soon be made.

The Afton teacher, Miss Ethel Crowell, reports 21 not absent or tardy for the year so far out of 26 belonging. She asks if any school has a better record to date. If so, teachers please send your figures in.

Mr. Earnest Peaslee, of Hopyard, reports nine students who have earned the full year diplomas for home work out of an enrollment of 19 pupils. This is the best yet on the homa work.

Will any school gain results, will any boys and girls be supernatural enough to try if the teacher doesn't care? Will any class get to the front if just the ordinary tasks are a big effort to their teacher?

The only rural school in Charlevoix county using a sanitary chemical dusting cloth—Hopyard.

The first school in Charlevoix county to provide a sweeping compound for the janitor—Walloon Lake. The second—Hopyard.

On the Tbursday before Christmas the Chaddock and Mountain schools have their Christmas trees, on Friday afternoon the Knop school, Friday evening Alton, Deer Lake and Star school, on Christmas eve the Hopyard school. A number of others have written about their programs but the dates are not known in this office. Suffice it to say that nearly all the teachers are heart and soul in the Christmas work and there is Christmas spirit everywhere.

Do you suppose if your boys and girls asked Santa for a standard school for a Christmas present that Santa could bring one in his pack?

Miss Schneider reports 12 of her pupils out of 23 who have finished the 1,000 credits for home work. After all this is better than tha above mentioned record, isn't it, and carries off the honors for the county.

Home work diplomas are ready to send out to those sending in tha number of pupils aarolled in the first four grades and those above tha fourth grada with tha yenr's estimate of the number needed.

Test questions sent out on the 15th to all parts of the county.

After your splendid vacation, don't forget the teachers' institute in East Jordan, Jaauary 9-10th. Announcements aro found with test questions aad in paper only.

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because —its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;

—it can't bite your tongue;
—it can't parch your throat;
—you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read:

"PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30TH, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

Copyright 1916 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on tap no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors and the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in each bang-up trim all-the-time!

in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tidy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message to you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

YOUR FRIENDS
—ARE—
JOINING

We invite you to join our Christmas Savings Club and be one of the happy throng who will receive checks for next Christmas.

ENROLL NOW

Don't put it off—and off—until it is too late. Start right now while it it on your mind. Just make the first deposit and you are a full-fledged member. When the checks are distributed you will be delighted and will enjoy

A VERY MERRY XMAS

Because you will have money to make your self and friends happy. Make a small deposit weekly and you will be surprised how fast and how easy the account will grow.

Next year you can have enough for Christmas, taxes and fuel, and be relieved of that worry when the time comes if you join.

THE CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB NOW

THE CHARLEVOIX STATE SAVINGS BANK

J. L. Crane, President.

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

Horton Bay is preparing a little play called "Fun with Santa Claus." Mr. Erfourth feels that he is really having fnn with Santa Claus.

CLARKE SCHOOL NOTES

Claude Mitchell visited school last Friday afternoon.

Beatrice Brown returned home from East Jordan, Wednesday, where she has been visiting relatives.

Eben Joliffe spalled the school down Friday afternoon.

Ethan Jolliffe went to East Jordan, Tuesday, and retnrned Saturday.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grade laaguage lessons for the past week have been based on, "Christmas in Other Lands."

Onr director called on us' this week and put in two new window lights and also gave us a talk on "The Value of a Good Education."

Hiram Brock was chairman at our class meating this week. Farn Sheldon was elected editor-in-chief, Floyd Parsons and Stella Brown assistant editors.

Attention K. of P.'s
Lodge every Thursday night.

Special for Saturday

In our Meat Department we will offer the following low prices on meats for this date only:

Rib Stews, pound 7c
Roast Beef, pound 9c
3 pounds for 25c
Beef Steak, any cut, pound 12c
Legs of Lamb, pound 15c
Lamb Stew, pound 13c
2 pounds for 25c
Lamb Chops 18c
Pork Sausage, 2 pounds for 25c
Hamburger, 2 pounds for 25c
Liver Sausage, pound 10c
3 pounds for 25c
Chickens, pound 18c
Turkeys, pound 27c
Ducks, pound 20c
Geese, pound 25c

Don't forget that we will have a fine line of Christmas Vegetables, such as Canned Goods, Lettuce, Celery, Radishes, Beets, Carrots, also Nuts, Fruits, Candies, etc.

Edward Klooster

Successor to H. R. Fowler

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

GRANGE COLUMN

Maple Grove Grange.

Maple Grove Grange met at their hall Tuesday, December 5, initiated one member in the third degree and had election of officers for the ensuing yesr as follows:

Master—Floyd Bartholmew.
Overseer—Frank Bird.
Lecturer—Olive Webster.
Steward—Otto Kane.
Chaplain—Ella Kane.
Assistant steward—Wilbur Lewis.
Tressurer—Platt Webster.
Secretary—Naomi Pant.
Gate keeper—Leo Pant.
Lady assistant steward—Anna Stroud.
Ceres—Mary Bird.
Pomona—Lilliam Bartholmew.
Flora—Rose Whigbtman.

Oscar Tillitson, Sr., insurance director.

After election the supper committee served oysters. Visitors always welcome.

Our Grange ordered over fifty-eight ($58) dollars worth of seed, 80 pounds coffee, 40 pounds tea and about 700 pounds twine the past year. Hope to do better in 1917.

I will pay the highest cash market prices for green hides. See me before selling. Martin Block.
Adv. 50t2

Ironton Grange.

At the regular annual meeting of the Ironton Grange the following officers were elected. Frank Hammond presided in the absence of Master Grant Hammond, who, with his wife, are attending the sessions of the state Grange at Lansing:

Master—H. L. Barnum.
Overseer—Albert Carlson.
Lecturer—Goldie Schneider.
Steward—Oral Lewis.
Assistant stewsrd—Elwin Johnson.
L. A. S.—Mrs. Eugene Lewis.
Chaplain—Mrs. Grant Hammond.
Treasurer—Grant Hammond.
Secretary—Mrs. Alfred Williams.
G. K.—Ross Alexsnder.
Ceres—Ines Hammond.
Flora—Lulu Hammond.
Pomona—Mrs. Jerry Saunders.

The next mesting will be Tuesday evening, December 26.

There will be another dance at the Ironton Grange hall on the evening of Friday, December 29. All are invited.
Adv. 50t2

The Price of Love.

Says an advertisement in the London Express: "Mary—Waited three hours at appointed spot until questioned by suspicious policeman. If this is the price of love it is too heavy a one for me to pay. Farewell. Potts."

See us for your Job Printing.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 108 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

CROP REPORT FOR DECEMBER

From August to December 4,250,000 Bushels Marketed.

The condition of wheat as compared with an average per cent. is 86 in the state, 84 in the southern counties, 89 in the central counties, 92 in the northern counties and 85 in the upper peninsula. One year ago the per cent. was 85 in the state, 83 in the southern counties, 84 in the central counties, 91 in the northern counties and 96 in the upper peninsula.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in November at 75 flouring mills is 110,814 and at 77 elevatora snd to grain dealera 109,692 or a total of 220,506 bushels. Of this smount 169,341 bushels were marketed in the southern four tiers of counties, 38,196 in the central counties snd 12,969 in the northern countles and upper peninsuls.

The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in the four months August-November is 4,250,000. Forty-eight mills, elevators and grain dealera report no wheat marketed in November.

Rye.—The condition of rye as compared with an average per cent. is 89 in the state, 88 in the southern counties, 91 in the centrsl counties and 93 in the northern countles and upper peninsula. One yesr sgo the per cent. was 90 in the state, 86 in the southern counties, 98 in the central counties, 93 in the nortbern counties and 99 in the upper peninsula.

Fall Pasture.—The condition of fall pasture as compared with sn average per cent. is 83 in the state and central counties, 85 in the southern counties, 89 in the northern counties and 93 in the upper peninsula.

Live Stock.—The condition of live stock throughout the state is 96 for horses and sheep, 95 for cattle and 94 for swine.

CHRISTMAS NUMBERS IN THIS WEEK'S MAIL

The many exchanges that come to our desk this week have shown the active Christmas spirit among the local advertisers of the various cities. Each of the papers have put out an added number of pages to their regular editions.

The East Jordan Herald comes out with 12 pages and with a colored first and last page. The advertising is well handled.

The Boyne City Bee comes forth with a ten page issue filled with advertisements and good reading matter.

The Presque Isle County Advance comes to us filled with advertisements and in 18 pages with a colored first page. The composition of the paper is a credit to its publisher.

The Mancelons Herald issued a 16 page illustrated number and the Central Lake Torch a 10 pager.

The Alma Record put out s 24 page number that is a credit to its owner and carries more advertising than any two numbers that have been received by us.

The Gratiot County Herald, the largest county weekly in that territory, sends out a 32 page Christmas number, well supplied with Christmss advertising and holidsy features. This paper is always a banner issue and presents about the neatest appearance of any weekly in the state. The editors and working force dwell on plain and effective display and feature only matter that is deserving of such action.

The Boyne Citizen issued a 24 page paper that is the best Christmas number from that city. The paper is run in the color schemes of green and red.

The holiday numbers are proving attractive advertising mediums for the merchants nnd are good shopping guides for the prospective purchaser. Keep it up brothers and newspaper advertising will become more popular.

MARINE NEWS

The steamer, Charles Horn, passed the channel at 1:30 a. m. Sunday on her last trip. The Venezuela waited too long at East Jordan and was unable to leave the arm on account of the ice. She will be forced to lie up there until spring.

The barge, Maggie Marshall, of Manistee, on her way to that city to put up for the winter, came in Saturday morning to wait for better weather and went out again Saturday night.

The last heard from Captain Ava Smith was from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where he had put in Monday with the City of Boyne, on his way up the west shore from Chicago, where the Boyne had delivered a load of fish from the Beavers.

COUNTY NORMAL NOTES

Miss Ella Smith, supervisor of county normals of the state, visited us last week.

Florence Holland and Adrian Bellinger won the penmanship honors in the training room last week.

The Normal class enjoyed their trip to the "Hop Yard" school the day they received their standard plate. Mr. Peasley very kindly explained the "jacketed stove" system of heating and ventilating. The yells given by the children, led by their teacher after the presentation of the plate, were especially clever.

The class prepared the story of "The Other Wise Man," by Henry VanDyke, and told it in the various grades.

The teachers of the central building very kindly permitted the members of the class to pass through their rooms Tuesday morning to get Xmas suggestions. After we returned to our room each wrote down the snggestions she had observed. Some time was then taken in making patterns for hsnd work for their school next year.

The training room invited us to their Xmas program and tree.

The Misses Liskum and Kenny will spend their vacation at their homes at East Jordan, Miss Palmer at Central Lake, and Misses Huntoon and Bayes at their bome at Pontiac, and Bryan, Ohio, respectively.

Christmas is a time of surprises and we were certainly surprised at our practical arithmetic lesson Tuesday morning. The subject of the lesson was "promissory notes," and Miss Bayes gave us each a note ssying we might probsbly be sble to use them next year. The notes were dated December 19, and were due 30 days after date. The principle, "VanDyke's," "The Other Wise Man," with interest at 100 per cent. This is a gift whicb we all sppreciate as the story has grown very dear to us during the past week.

Notice to Taxpayers.

I will be at Charlevoix State bank next Saturday, December 16th, and every Saturday thereafter, during the month, to receive taxes for Marion township.

BEN NOWLAND,
50t2 Township Treasurer.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Mary Dunlop is home from Mt. Pleasant for the holidays.

The school and Sunday school Christmas tree will be held Friday evening. Everybody come and help make Christmas merry.

Little Vera Stanley has been absent from school for a few days on account of illness.

The children are very much interested in making a Santa Claus and reindeer border for Christmas decorations.

Catherine LaLonde spent the week-end at her home in East Jordan.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service, 7:15 p. m.
Service Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject—"Christ Jesus."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.
Services nt Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, nt 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess School house every Sunday evening at 7:30.

Catholic Church.
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

M. E. Church.
A. m.—"Deciding Destiny."
P. m.—"The Supreme Gift."

Congregational Church.
Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.
Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

Charlevoix County Bank

NICHOLLS, BUTTARS and BRIDGE, Bankers

To All! Greetings!

With a full appreciation of the Yuletide spirit which makes all humanity kin,

TO OLD FRIENDS
TO NEW FRIENDS
TO FRIENDS WE HOPE TO CLAIM

the Officers of this Institution of service for all and to all extend friendly greetings for a Merry Christmas and best wishes for the New Year.

A. F. BRIDGE, CASHIER

Protection

Every woman who is not insured should make her family a Christmas Gift of Life Protection with THE LADIES OF THE MACCABEES, the Oldest, Safest, Largest Woman's Fraternal Beneficiary Order in Michigan, (its native state.) Organized 1886. Founded by Women, for the Benefit of Women; conducted by Women. Every phase of life safeguarded. Maternity, Old Age, Death and Disability Benefits. Free (endowed) Hospital Beds for Women and Children. Relief Fund, Discontinuance Plan, Social and Fraternal advantages. Adequate rates, based on National Fraternal Congress tables of Mortality. Certificates issued from $250.00 to $2,000.00. SAFE! SURE! SATISFACTORY!

ORIGINAL ORDER—Six times larger in Michigan than any other.

LADIES OF THE MACCABEES, headquarters at Port Huron, Mich.

Frances E. Burns, St. Louis, Mich., Great Commander. Emma E. Bower, M. D., Port Huron, Mich., Great Record Keeper.

Ella E. Tillotson, Charlevoix, Deputy.

INWOOD

Frank Hartwell is back from Detroit where he visited friends and relatives.

Harry Pasco will return home on Saturdny night, December 23, from Buffalo, where he has been sailing on the lakes.

There will he a Xmas program at the Hilton school Friday night of this week. There will also he a Xmas program at the Epworth church Saturday night of this week and everybody is invited.

Mrs. John Wells and Wilber Wells start for Traverse City, Wednesday of this week, and from there she is going to Saginaw to visit her son and daughter, Mr. Jesse Tenney and Mrs. George Clark.

Gave Miss Hanshew a Shower.

Mrs. Charles Emrey, at her home, 403 Dixon avenue, gave a shower last Monday night for Miss Florence Hanshew, who is to be married shortly. The affair was well attended and a delightful evening experienced. All her many friends wish Miss Hanshew much joy and happiness as the result of her spproaching marriage, of which more will be announced at a later date.

Snbscribe for the Courier.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Takes pleasure in announcing that it is prepared to take care of all kinds of welding, brazing and cutting. All metal jointa can be successfully welded by the Oxy-Acetylene process.

Engine parts, such as cracked water jackets, piping, cylinder heads, flywheels, crank shafts, can be successfully repaired at a fraction of the cost of a new part. All kinds of metals in any kind of service can be repaired on short notice. Bring in your work and let us figure on your job.

PRICES REASONABLE. SERVICE RIGHT. WORK GUARANTEED.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence Withers, Prop.
Or Inquire at Erickson & Fowler's Garage.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

A complete report of the work done by the state board of health tuberculosis survey up to October 1, 1916, will be submitted to the Michigan legislature when it meets in January. The report which is in process of preparation now will give the details of the surveys conducted in 38 counties of the state, the number of examinations in each number of cases found, etc. Moreover, it will give the results of the work as well as many valuable facts about health conditions that have been discovered in Michigan in the course of the survey.

Just as the strength of a chain is determined by its weakest link so the strength of a nation is determined by the makeup of the majority of its people. If that majority consists of shallow, nerveless men all the efforts of its faithful citizens are in vain. That is true of every nation, but especially of a nation like ours where the people are supposed to govern.

Oftentimes the romance of an elopement soon disappears when the bride's father refuses to come over with the hard cash. Quite often it does not do to take things for granted.

Do you know what sphere of life you can make a grand success of because you would have a very little competition? Try minding your own business and see for yourself.

When a man finds that he cannot beat another man at his own game, he is quite apt to spring a get-rich-quick scheme on him.

Many people are so taken up with this world that they never take into account that the next world has a beginning.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want ads.

DEALERS FROM ALL LOCALITIES

(Continued from page one.)

Other mighty machines stomp out radiator shells, fenders, cowl dashes and doors.

You take off your hat to the drop forging machines. Down comes the hammer and the fiery piece of iron is beaten into shape. The complete drop forging of the front axle can be accomplished with one heat.

Every kind of part requiring strength was drop forged while we looked on, axles, crank shafts, brake assembly rods, brake and control rods, spring shackles, gear blanks and brake rod sectors.

We saw the company's accurate system of die making. It calls for a special workman on each detail. One works on the shaper, another on the planer and a third on die sinking.

The multiple spindle drill in one operation drills all the holes in the front axle. This is a guarantee that each will be in right relation to the other.

It was hard to drag us away from the automatic turret lathe that surfaces and finishes fly wheels. It works as though somewhere within its metal vitals a brain was concealed. The workman has only to put on the rough fly wheel, adjust the first set of tools, push the lever, and let the machine do the rest.

The cast iron is peeled off as readily as wax. Sometimes four or five operations are performed at once. When one set of cuttings is done, the machine stops automatically, and the next set of tools comes automatically into place. Twenty operations are performed in 14 minutes. Twenty-six pounds of metal are removed from the wheel. One man can watch three of these machines.

The vertical cutter of gears on fly wheels almost matches the turret lathe in interest.

Moving up and down, the cutter at the same time slowly revolves, the fly wheel turning in the opposite direction. By the time a complete revolution of the fly wheel has been accomplished, all the gears are cut.

We all fell for the aluminum foundry and for the machines that finish the aluminum parts.

The multiple spindle drill bores 81 holes in the crank case in one operation. This is a proof of the superiority of machine processes, for the holes must be in the right relation to each other.

Another machine smooths the surfaces of the crank cases, finishing seven in nine minutes.

Diamonds, real diamonds, are consumed with apparently reckless indifference in the wet grind room. Placed in small tools they are used to true the emery wheels on which are ground the bearing surfaces of the crank shafts.

They are bought in $15,000 lots.

We looked on while whole forests of lumber were being turned into bodies in the wood work department. This lumber comes in by carloads. As 214 feet of wood is required on a small touring car, we could readily see why so much was required.

You make this round and you can understand this company's immense consumption of material—18,000,000 pounds of solder annually, 2,500,000 pounds of tin and lead for smoldering, 10,000,000 pounds of brass and copper, 12,000,000 feet of steel tubing and 125,000 tons of steel.

But what impressed us more than all was the department in which materials are tested. They have to know a thing is right before it goes into a Willys-Overland car. That's how they safe-guard the public.

Tests in the physical and chemical laboratories are made in two ways. Completed steel parts are subjected to terrific tests. Axles are twisted like rolls of taffy candy. Small bits of steel, six inches long, cut from completed axles, are attached at both ends, and literally pulled apart. The registering machine shows 200,000 pounds to the square inch necessary to accomplish this, whereas a resistance up to 125,000 pounds would be proof of ample tensile strength. Springs are tried for their resistance.

Steel articles are also put through both heat and chemical tests. The former determines the amount of carbon, an important factor; the other determines the chemical composition of the steel.

Naturally every operation in all the plants tends finally toward the assembly conveyor tracks. There are four of them, each 645 feet long.

We followed the whole operation. We began at one end where the frames and rear systems are put in place. By the time the other end of the conveyor is reached the frame has grown into the finished car.

From overhead parts are lowered by chains. Along the way men are attaching the parts. The frame is not in motion all the time, but can be instantly connected with the links of an endless chain and sent on its way whenever desired.

Lines of motors, already tested, wait on both sides of the conveyor. These are put into place, cantilever springs are put on, steering mechanism and lighting and starting systems are adjusted. Gradually the car takes form.

Instead of painting the chassis with a brush a sprayer is used. It does the work more rapidly, more uniformly and at a lower cost.

The tracks of the assembly lead directly through ovens in which the paint is baked. Fenders and running boards come into their places.

Wheels with the tires on are brought along on a runway. First comes a front wheel, then a rear wheel. You ought to see them put on the tires. It is lightning. By a special device, invented by one of the men in the department, the tire can be put on a wheel in three seconds.

From overhead bodies are dropped down on to the chassis and soon made fast.

The car is now ready for its tests. Rapidly revolving wheels in the floor engage the wheels of the car and send them at high speed to make sure that they are operating freely. This is not a test under the power of the car.

Gasoline and water are then put into the car. It is pushed off the track into another room, till its wheels are in contact with wheels in the floor.

With the use of the self starter, the machine gets its first chance to prove the success of its construction. It surprised us the way the motors started. They were off with a rush. There was no hitch or delay. All the work had been done right. In a few minutes the motor was working apparently almost as smoothly as if it had been a year on the road.

We saw how the cars were shipped. The export department has the big feature in this line. The finished car undergoes preparation by having its wheels taken off and fastened on the under side of the frame which forms the top covering for the car.

The top is covered with tar paper as a protection against the elements and all is securely boxed.

Along comes a big crane running in an overhead groove a quarter of a mile long. The operator sits in a small cab not unlike that of a railroad engineer. Chains grab the box containing the car, and within 45 seconds have carried it outside the building and place it on the flat freight car.

It is processes like these, all that has been described, that explain why every car in the Willys-Overland line is what it is at so low a cost. Making so many is the answer, making them to go all over the world and having profited by the experiences of users everywhere.

We saw the line—17 different bodies. It is quality from the lowest priced to the headliner. It will be the marvel of the automobile shows.

This sightseeing tour was only one angle of this convention.

The two days' program includes a rollicking beefsteak dinner, a more formal banquet, a minstrel show, a concert by the famous Overland band and a concert by the Glee club.

Finally there was a speech by the moving genius of it all, Mr. Willys himself.

While we were there, in one day, 13,700 cars, involving the vast sum of $11,000,000, were contracted for by two dealers. During the past two weeks 153,308 cars have been contracted for.

You will agree with us that this is some project to have been put over all within one plant and by the people of the organization.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Start the New Year Right by Trading at

LEVINSON'S

Dry Goods Clothing

Let us convince you that your resolution is for your Best interest

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

A Christmas Present For You

December 21-22-23 we will sell our one-fourth barrel sack of Sweet Loaf for

$2.25

Only One Sack to Each Person

ARGO MILLING CO.

NOTICE

Charles H. Hansen, Architect

has permanently located offices in Charlevoix, on VanPelt Court, and will be here Wednesday and Friday of each week. He will be glad to take up your building matters and furnish approximate estimate on anything along this line.

We wish you

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year

and many Returns of them

Following are Cash Bargains till Christmas

25 lbs. Puritan Flour	$1.25
24½ lbs. Commercial Flour	$1.20
25 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$2.00
1 lb. Oleomargarine	25c
2 lbs. Blue Ribbon Raisins	25c
1 pckg. Silver Bar Raisins	10c
Plymouth Rock Salmon	19c
1 lb. Citron Peel	20c
1 lb. Lemon Peel	20c
1 lb. Orange Peel	20c

A. E. MASON

WANTED

20 Kiln Wood Cutters

75c per Cord

Will Cut 3,000 Cords

See C. BEERS

Orchard Bay Farm

CHAPTER XIII.

A Girl Like Her.

IT was dark, the night of that second day, when Stephen O'Mara came quietly up to the open door of his own lighted shack and stopped for a moment to gaze in at the two men, whose faces were touched by the glow of the lamp on the table. There had been more than one moment in those forty-eight hours which had elapsed since he had lifted that black robed, inert figure from the floor in which Steve had wondered whether Garry Devereau would even await his return to Thirty Mile.

Save for a short and casual "See you in the morning," Stephen O'Mara turned without a word that night to leave the improvised sleeping quarters in the storehouse shack.

He looked at Garry nodding drowsily on a bunk and then at Fat Joe seated near him. Their eyes held for a moment before Steve turned again toward the door. And perhaps his manner was a little too unconcerned that evening, a little too carefully careless, for almost before he had lifted the latch Fat Joe stepped forward one quick, protesting step and then stopped on second thought.

"You ain't goin'"— he began, and suffered that spoken protest also to remain uncompleted.

"It's not late." Steve's voice was thoughtful. "It's not late, but it's surely very quiet." He stood gazing out into the gloom. "Maybe I'd best run down and see what ails our visitor of the other night. Somehow the more I've thought about it the more I've come to fear that he is temperamental, Joe, too temperamental for such a wearing proposition as this one is likely to be. And you haven't slept much since I've been gone. Oh, that was easy, just from your eyes! So you'd better turn in. I'll just stroll down and let them know that I'm back home."

It is odd how much of finality there can be in the quietest of statements. Eyes narrowed, Joe stood in the middle of the floor and watched him depart without further objection. But the moment the blackness had swallowed him up he backed to the bunk, fumbled for a gun which Steve had tossed upon the blankets and followed out into the dark.

Stephen O'Mara stood a long time outside the door of the workmen's bunkhouse that night, fingers upon the latch, before he made any move to enter. But neither a wish to eavesdrop nor a desire to frame experimentally the words he meant to speak was the reason behind that pause. It was in itself a new thing to find the long, low building lighted at that hour, even though, as he had himself put it to Joe an instant before, it was hours from being late. That night the almost absolute silence beyond the closed door was an even more unusual state of affairs. The voice of one man only was audible, the words he spoke indistinguishable altogether. But sudden bursts of laughter, punctuating the recital which he could not clearly follow, were indication enough to the man outside of what manner of tale was holding the ears of that roomful of rivermen. Stephen O'Mara, who had long ceased to wonder at the discovery in them of new and impulsive fineneses which bordered close upon inherent nobility, knew fully as well how utterably and unspeakably gross could be the premeditated coarseness of those same men.

There was no movement to mark his entrance when he finally pressed the latch and swung the door open, not so much as a single glance to indicate that his presence was noted. Under the yellow light of flickering oil lamps the eyes of all those scores of gaudy shirted figures lounging against the walls were fixed eagerly upon the face of him who held the middle of their stage—him who talked from where he half lay, propped on one elbow, in his bunk at the end of the room. Harrigan, red shirted, red headed, was lounging at ease, waiting for the last gurgle of appreciation to subside before he gave them the close of the story, the last titbit, the savor of which already had set him noisily to licking his lips. And in the doorway Steve, rigid of a sudden, sensed what that climax was to be.

"Her f-aa-ay inside"—the drooling, indistinguishable words were very plain now—"her f-un-ny inside, consoomed with pride and anticipation, tellin' all who had come to dance that she had pr-romised to be his for-river more. And her at that same minute outside with him, and both av thim"—

Harrigan did not hurry it in the telling. And if his portrayal of Archibald Wickersham was—unmistakably deliberate, neither did he fail for want of sufficient detail to make the other picture clear. Vilely he gave them the complete imagery of his vile brain.

A shout went up, a louder, hoarser outcry of applause which rocked the room. And then that rigid figure in the doorway had started forward. Between those lanes of suddenly silent men Steve passed in silence, to stand before him who had achieved his climax a breath before. And at his coming Harrigan slid from the bunk, started to reach within the blanket pack at the head of what had been his bed and then thought better of such impulse. Bravado intermingled with blank surprise, he came haltingly to his feet. The voices of few men have been as unhurriedly deadly as was that of him who faced Harrigan that night.

"That was wise, Harrigan," Steve told him slowly—far too gently. "That was wise to let your knife lie safe within your pack, for if you'd touched it I'd have killed you, as I ought to kill you now. But you're drunk, Harrigan. You were drunk a minute ago when you lied your lie. You're sober-er now. You're sober enough to start again and tell me you're a liar."

They waited—the roomful of rivermen. Nothing stirred save the clouds of filmy blue smoke floating against the rafters—that and a hulky blot of shadow outside which shifted a little, noiselessly, just be[illegible]d the patch of light that streamed through the door. They waited, heavy breathed, while Harrigan began to recover from the disconcertment into which O'Mara's coming had flung him. Slowly the former's lips twisted into a mocking leer; mockery rose and swam with the hatred in his inflamed eyes. He would have spoken, sparring for time, when Steve's hand leaped in and made of the joking effort only a rattle in his throat. Beneath the stiff red stubble the flesh was livid where those fingers had been when he was able to draw breath again.

"'Twas only a bit av a joke," he gasped and gulped and swallowed hard. "'Twas only a bit av a joke I was tellin' the b'hoys about seein' you an'"— Steve's voice bit in and cut him short.

"Your turkey's ready, Harrigan!" He pointed at the pack toward which the other had groped and then thought better of the impulse. "You were going of your own accord, I see. Well, I'm telling you to go now! The door's open. I left it so for you when I came in. And I'm telling you, too, before you leave that you'll do well not to come back. There's not room for both of us on this river any more, Harrigan!"

"There's not room for both of us on this river."

The riverman's eyes shifted. Furtively they flitted from face to face in those rows of faces at the walls. But whatever he thought or hoped to find—fleeting flash of support or encouragement—was hidden behind a common mask of astonishment as blank as had been his own. They were waiting for his answer. He knew they were waiting for that as he crossed to the door. And when he paused there, to turn in sudden savagery, he realized that his tardiness had robbed him of his chance. It was too late to talk back then.

"You're tellin' me," he rasped out, "and I was goin'—sur-re! But things ar-re not yet finished between you and me, for I'm pr-romisin' you that I'll be back. I'm pr-romisin' you I'll be wid ye again. I'll be wid ye again, come spring!"

He disappeared. And hard upon his going Steve wheeled and fronted those scores of silent men. His eyes leaped from point to point, as Harrigan's had craftily flitted. Briefly, crisply, he accompanied the sweeping survey with a voice that was loud enough for all of them to hear.

"Big Louie! Fallon! Shayac! This is your chance to say so if you're going to be lonesome, now that your song bird has flown. Speak up! I came down tonight just to hear you talk."

Nothing but an indistinguishable murmur answered him, a low growl that was neither argument nor evasion. Rebellion was still a long way ahead for most of them. They had not yet had time to talk themselves to the pitch of open revolt. They had merely begun to listen to Harrigan, whose disciples in dissatisfaction they were. And now in his absence they stirred uncomfortably under the gaze of him who remained. They dropped their heads and searched for matches. But Steve felt the weight of unspoken thoughts when he, too, faced back in the doorway. This time there was no naming of names. He embraced the whole room when he spoke.

"They tell me," Steve continued, "that there's talk among you of no more work on the river when we've put this railroad through. I've heard it said that some of you think you are cutting the ground out from under your feet with every shovelful of earth you lift. You ought to know better than that. You ought to know for yourselves that there'll be need for more men in these woods than there has ever been before. But if you don't, if you can't see it that way, why not come around and let me have a fair chance to talk things over with you myself before you decide to turn on this job? I want you to remember that a man who is a liar in one thing is mighty likely to talk loose tongued, no matter what he preaches."

And there, without lifting his eyes from the floor, Big Louie cleared his throat and made answer.

"Maybe," he retorted—"maybe, and maybe not so sure either! I have listened to big words before now, me, that have put no food under my belt, no coat to my back."

"If it's only food and shelter and clothes for your back, Big Louie, you'll not have to worry. But I'm not promising either, mind, that there'll be easy money to blow on white whisky. Were you expecting any?"

That brain which could cope with but one idea at a time was fertile ground for seed which such a one as Harrigan might sow. Big Louie failed to reply. He sat quiet, deep in thought, when Stephen O'Mara closed the door noiselessly behind him.

* * * * * * * *

It was minutes after Steve had gone back up the hill before Garry Devereau reached out a hand in the darkness and touched; experimentally, what had seemed to be only a shapeless black blotch at the edge of light, a rod or two from the door. And instantly at his touch the shadow was galvanized into life. It reared and pinaged and enveloped the slighter man in a crushing embrace and bore him over backward. With the muzzle of a revolver chafing his ear Garry managed to worry his head high enough to free his mouth and nostrils from dirt.

"Get off me! Get off me, you fat romancer, you!" he whispered fiercely.

An explosive grunt of dismay answered him before Fat Joe let him rise. In a thin and profane tenor he was bidden to explain his presence there.

"I couldn't sleep," Garry replied, his voice still peevish, "so I came out for a breath of air. I saw him start this way—saw you following him with that gun in your hand. I just slipped over, too, in case there might be doings. What's the row, Joe?"

Joe took him ungently by the elbow, turned him about and started him up the rise.

"An old grudge," he deigned an ungracious explanation. "It's years and years old. Steve licked him once. Once when they were boys the folks that live down next to Allison's dressed Steve up like a picture book, the nearest I can make out, and sent him to town a-shoppin'. Harrigan, he"—

"I know! I remember!" Garry's eager whisper interrupted. "That is, I didn't know that Harrigan was one of the mob Steve whipped that day. But that wasn't what I meant. Who was the—the girl Harrigan was talking about when Steve—when Steve"—

Joe's fingers tightened a little as the other evinced a tendency to lag.

"Hurry a bit, will you?" he urged complainingly. "Show a little speed! I'm supposed to be up there asleep." And then, gruffly, "It was the Allison girl, of course."

In spite of the hand upon his elbow Garrett Devereau stopped short in his tracks.

"Barbara!" he stammered. "Barbara Allison? Joe, was that the girl he meant tonight when he said he was going to 'marry one of those women himself?'"

Joe peered at him, trying to make out the expression upon his face.

"Why not?" he wanted to know. "Why not? Ain't he good enough for her?"

There came a pause; then Garry's stunned rejoinder.

"Good enough!" he repeated senselessly. "Good enough?" He laughed half wildly, as though he had suddenly hit upon a very funny thought indeed. "That man in love with a girl like her—good Lord!"

And Fat Joe, who had failed to understand, swore again beneath his breath because there was no time left in which to argue the matter. His face was still very red from his struggle for self restraint and his whole mental balance so disturbed that he forget entirely to conceal the blued revolver dangling in one hand when he re-entered the cabin a moment later.

For Father and Son

360 PICTURES
360 ARTICLES
EACH MONTH
ON ALL NEWS STANDS

15 Cents

POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

WRITTEN SO YOU CAN UNDERSTAND IT

All the Great Events in Mechanics, Engineering and Invention throughout the World, are described in an interesting manner, as they occur. 3,000,000 readers each month.

Shop Notes 20 pages each issue tells easy and better ways to do things in the shop, and how to make repairs at home.

Amateur Mechanics 16 pages of original indoor and outdoor sports and play. Largely constructive; tells how to build boats, motorcycles, wireless, etc.

FOR SALE BY 35,000 NEWS DEALERS

Ask your dealer to show you a copy; if not convenient to news stand, send $1.50 for a year's subscription, or fifteen cents for current issue to the publishers. Catalogue of Mechanical Books free on request.

POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE
6 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago

Popular Mechanics offers no premiums; does not join in "clubbing offers," and employs no solicitors to secure subscriptions

The latter object ruined the effect of his insouciant rendition of "Home, Sweet Home."

"Thought you were going to retire, Joe?"

Steve was already undressed and crawling into bed. His question was slow worded and a trifle stilted.

"I was," Joe assured him hastily. "I was. I just stepped out to see that everything was tight and tidy for the night; that's all."

Quizzical eyes contemplated the revolver now.

"Taken to carrying a weapon, after all, eh? Well, perhaps that's wisest. And blow out the light, will you, Joe? I'm tired. You'll have to undress in the dark."

Then Steve buried his face in his pillow. But sundry sounds, escaping, were unmistakably hysterical. Joe's mouth opened and closed, fishlike. He stood and stared down at his side in beautifully eloquent profanity, if a stare can be both eloquent and profane.

"You need a nurse," he stated sulkily at last. He finished the light with a vicious blast. "You need a chaperon!"

But once again, just before he slept, Steve heard him mutter to himself less injuredly as he heaved over in his bunk.

"This has been a very busy evening," he opined.

(To be continued next week.)

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 49t4

I will pay the highest cash market prices for green hides. See me before selling. Mortin Block.
Adv. 50t2

Sale at the Christmas Seals.

More than 80,000,000 Christmas seals, approximating in value $800,000, were sold in 1915, according to O. M. De Forest, chief field agent of the National Association For the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. This was an increase of 25,000,000 over the sales of 1914, which than set the record.

The sales in New York state were more than 17,000,000, in Missouri 3,000,000 and in Iowa 2,000,000. Large increases also were made in Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, Florida and Virginia.

Approximately $800,000 was thus raised in the past season to aid in the fight to minimize the white plague. This brings the total sales of seals since the idea was started up to $3,295,000, including $4,500 raised in 1907, the initial year, when the experiment was confined to Delaware.

This plan was nationalized in 1908, when $138,244 was realized. The totals since then have been: 1909, $237,152; 1910, $304,320; 1911, $389,656; 1912; $384,999; 1913, $486,814; 1914, $550,000.

See us for your Job Printing.

GLASSES FITTED

CONSULT

J. LEAHY

Optometrist

Expert on Eye Strain

Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, and all other symptoms of Eye Strain cured.

Crossed Eyes Straightened Without an Operation.

Fitting Children's Eyes a Specialty.

Difficult Cases Solicited.

Glasses Guaranteed to Fit.
Office at Hotel Charlevoix.
Date Thursday, December 28.
Will remain one day.
Home Office Petoskey, Mich.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Get Ready for Winter Quick

IT IS ALMOST HERE

Fuel this winter is going to be very high. You can not afford to waste it, which you will do, if your heating plant is not in first-class condition. If you feel that your Coal Bills are too high, let me look over the heating plant with you---it will not cost you a cent and I may be able to suggest something that will save you some money. Phone 208 or drop me a card.

Yours truly,

ALONZO POWERS

Plumbing and Heating Engineer

Phone 208 :-: :-: VanPelt Place

WOMEN'S NERVES

Women, more than men, have excitable nerves, because tiring work and physical strain tax their more delicate nervous systems and bring premature age and chronic weakness—unless treated intelligently.

Drug-laden pills and alcoholic concoctions cannot build up a woman's strength, but the concentrated medicinal food properties in build strength from its very source and are helping thousands of women to gain control of their nerve power—overcome tiredness, nervousness, impatience and irritabilily.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

SCOTT'S is a liquid-food—free from alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 19-16

Confiscate Illegal Fish.

While operating in Lake Michigan near the Manitou Islands, last week, Deputy Charles Smith in charge of patrol No. 4, observed a fish net buoy. The nets were raised by Deputy Smith and about 1,500 pounds of illegally caught whitefish were secured. At the time a heavy sea was running, and after taking the fish on board, which filled the carrying capacity of the boat, it was found necessary to cut loose the buoy with part of the nets attached.

The illegal fish were taken to Charlevoix, declared confiscated and sold as provided by law. The nets secured were dried and are now in the custody of the department. It is very doubtful if the owner will put in an appearance and claim them, as he would find a warm reception awaiting him. So far the identity of the owner is not definitely known.

Deputy Smith has kept patrol No. 4 in commission in spite of the storms when larger boats have gone into winter quarters, and illegal commercial fishermen are very wury about violuting, owing to the fact that their actions ure always under the close scrutiny of the deputies.

Sewer Methods Before Voters.

An important matter that will probably be brought before the voters of Petoskey next April is the question af the disposal of the sewerage. The state department is pressing the city council for some immediate action in the matter and the only way out of it seems to be to submit the question of bonding to comply with the demands of the department. In due time this matter will also be placed in proper shape for discussion by the voters before its final disposition by them at the spring election.

Recruits Coming In.

The recruiting station at Boyne City is now doing fine business. Several prominent young men have registered and are waiting to become accepted.

Last week Captain Elmore, of Grand Rapids, made a trip to Boyne and accepted two young boys, Edward Gunderson and George Bigelow af that place. They left last Tuesday morning with Captain Elmore who accompanied them to Grand Rapids. From there they went to the Barracks at Columbus, Ohio.

Clyde W. Congdon left this morning for the same place. At first he was rejected as not being heavy enough but word came from Washington accepting him.

Several others are waiting for examination and to be accepted. Captain Willinmson expressed his satisfuction as to the present results. Recruiting stations all over are gaining better results.

City Charter for Petoskey.

At the spring election to be held in April next year it is the intention of the Petoskey city council to place before the voters some changes in the present city charter. By bringing these proposed changes before the voters at this election the expense connected with special elections will be done away with.

After working with the new charter for practically a year the members af the council are now in a position to recommend any needed changes, and these will he placed before the voters very soon in order that all may be familiar with them. It was assumed that after working under the new charter for a time it might be necessary to make some changes and this assumption has proven correct. There is no record of a charter having ever been made which entirely satisfied the needs of the city for which it was made. It has always been found necesary to make some few corrections and this city is no exception.

Mill Making Pulp.

Pulp manufacturing operations were resumed Monday morning at the paper mill with the usual number of men employed. So far only unbleached pulp is being manufactured but within ten days or two weeks bleached pulp will be produced.

The Wheat Paper company, operntors of the Petoskey factory, are shipping the pulp to their paper mills at Elkhart, Indiana, and other places.

The output of the Petoskey plant will be increased as soon as additional machinery can be installed and more men will then be employed. That this plant has resumed operations is certainly welcome news to Petoskey.

VAN PELT'S TOURING DIARY

Charlevoix County's Opportunity.

Fallurs to act now in securing aur proportion of the funds set aside by the United States government for the purpose of building good roads will ha a positively suicidal paliey.

This money (seventy-five millions) has already been appropriated and there should be some few men in Charlevoix county who will go after it and get it, as well as the thirty-five hundred promised by the state. This, in addition to the part given by the government, will give aur portion of the national highway, known as the West Michigan Pike and Dixis Highway, such a boost that we ourselves will have put little to pay.

Now, fellow citizens of the greatest county in the state, is the greatest opportunity of the age. Do it now. If you find yourself going to sleep in a business way, wake up sufficiently to buy a small stock of dynamite (just enough to blow you up nicely) sit down on it, light it and while you are up in the air get your second wind and begin life anew. There will be no doubt that during your flight you will form a solemn resolve—something like this. "If I ever live to get on earth again, I'll work for the general good of Charlevoix county and for the building of roads with a permanence. I will save both myself and my heirs from an everlastingly big sum to help keep up gravel or macadam roads."

VAN PELT.

Try a Bar.

Bobbis Burns White Laundry Soap is a pure vegetable oil soap. Best for much soiled garments. Best for sensitive hands. Your grocer has it or can get it. Adv. 48t4

BOARD OF EDUCATION

December 5, 1916.

Regular meeting of the board was called to order by Vice President Bridge.

Trustees present: Bridge, Glassford and Hiller.

Absent: Hampton and Nordrum.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $708.67.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Fund.

961	Blanchard Hdw. Co., supplies	$ 2.40
962	Adams Express, express	2.20
963	McKinley Pub. Co., maps	3.32
964	D. C. Heath & Co., ref.	1.11
965	MacMillan Co., ref.	2.66
966	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
967	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	22.50
968	Mrs. A. O. Allison, janitor	7.50
969	Mrs. Staley	.60
970	Mich. State Tel. Co., rentals	4.75
971	H. Niedecken Co., supplies	3.10
972	Blanchard Hdw. Co., supplies	.10
973	Charlevoix Courier	9.00
974	Seeley Pierce, mopping	1.50
975	Odellion Weed, mopping	1.50
976	Theodore Kibbe, services	3.00
978	Harrison Trimble, wood	20.00
979	P. R. Ross, freight and drayage	32.99
980	Alonzo Powers, plumbing	14.40

Library.

304	Anna Bon, librarian	$ 30.00
305	Gaylord Bros., supplies	25.99
306	A. C. McClurg & Co., ref.	14.71
307	Wesley Staley, janitor	7.50
308	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
309	Mich. State Tel. Co., rent	1.50

Teachers' Pay Roll.

7 Oluf Nordrum $841.83

Moved and supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective bill.

Motion carried.

Moved and supported that the treasurer be authorized to borrow $1,000 for 30 days on the best terms obtainable.

Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on motion the board adjourned.

E. J. HILLER, Secretary.

To Whom It May Concern.

You are hereby notified that my wife, Arrah E. Sneathen, has left my home and that I will not be responsible for any debts, accounts or obligations made by her from this date.

Dated November 21st, 1916.

4716—pd. EARL SNEATHEN.

THEATRICAL

At the Majestic.

Thursday, December 21—"The Grouch," three reel feature, and "A Tank Towne Troupe," comedy.

Friday, December 22—"The Ballet Girl," featuring Alice Brady. A five reel World feature.

Saturday, December 23—"Ashes," a three reel drama, and "What'll You Have," a one reel comedy.

Monday, Xmas Day—Special, "The Black Crook," a five reel feature.

Tuesday, December 26—"The Private Banker," two reel drama; "She Won the Prize," and "The Peach Pickers," two one-reel comedies.

Wednesday, December 27—"The Wheel of the Law," a five reel Metro drama, featuring Emely Stephens.

Program subject to change.

"The Black Crook" boasts a record of over 2,000 performances on the stage—a mark unequalled in American theatrical history. Now, for the first time an opportunity is given lovers of the screen to see this famous success of two generations. The motion picture production is announced only after the expenditure of over a year in preparation and many months and thousands of dollars in actual work af staging the attractions. Amazingly spectacular, yet with an intensely dramatic story, "The Black Crook" on the screen surpasses the splendor of the past. At Majestic, Christmas day, December 25.

"The Ballet Girl." Who is she? What is she? What is the life of these dainty darlings of the stage when they doff their little flaring skirts and tights and pass through the stage door into the every day world?

Always a fascinating subject, life behind the scenes is revealed in a more absorbing manner in this great picture than ever before. The story deals with the life of one of those who must, to the public, ever wear the mask of gayety and vivacity no matter if the heart is breaking.

The story tells how Jennie, the daughter of a once famous dancer, turns to the stage impelled by the instincts of inheritance; how she finds false love and true; how she meets and conquers the temptations of those who prey upon the weak and defenceless and how, after knowing great sorrow and sufferings she comes at last into her own share of life's happiness.

It is a sympathetic and powerfully appealing picture, beautifully played by two noted stars, Alice Brady and Holbrook Blinn, and a large cast of film favorites. Friday, December 22.

CHRISTMAS ON THE FARM

(By Vivinn Ball—English II.)

On the day before Christmas, with a delightful feeling of excitement, we crowd into the great sleigh for our yearly visit to the old homestead. We nestle gratefully under the comforting warmth of our furs—for Christmas in the north is always sharp and cold. Over hills and down into deep wooded ravins, where we breath deeply of the spicy scent of balsam and wintergreen, and then out again on wide, blue-shadowed stretches we go merrily to the swinging music of our bells.

At sun down we come to the rambling old farm house and there is grandmother with a cherry smile of welcome on her dear old face. There is a fire in the fireplace and many good things to eat on the heavy old table. It is a welcome indeed, a welcome to cheer the heart, and we wade into our Christmas festivities with joyful anticipation.

In the evening we trim the tree with wonderful, glittering things brought from the city, and then comes the story telling. We gather the children around the great fireplace, there are many of them for ours is a large family, and lead them from one realm of delight into another.

But bedtime is greeted with apprehension. There is no steam heat at the farm and the bedrooms are cold! Cold! Our breath stands out in vapory white clouds and the chimney on the lamp is frosted with the cold and splutters miserably. But under a host of old piece work quilts we at last find comfort.

In the morning we hear in the great hall the patter of small feet and the high shrill voices of the children. This is the children's day and they cannot be resisted, so we climb fearfully out of our warm beds onto the chilly floors. A chattering, shivering group, we meet in the hall for the unloading of the tree. There are gifts for everyone, gifts in plenty. And the children are everywhere. They swarm around the breakfast table but will not eat because of increasing excitement.

Then follows a grand scramble for we must get ready to attend the quaint Christmas service in the old fashioned church. Again we are bundled into the great sleigh, this time for our journey to the church. We are very happy at the little church and everybody sings the hymns if they can sing or not, until the windows rattle with the volume of song and the organ.

The old fashioned dinner which follows is the crowning point of delight. It is also the cause af much unhappiness on the part of some injudicious one. And so with the dinner and a party in the evening to which nearly all the country-side is invited, we have a very good time indeed, and the next morning we are rushed again through the fragrant forests and the snow-carpeted fields toward our home and our Christmas in the country is over!

Now is the time to buy your Christmas presents. I am closing out my line of Sweaters and will save you dollars. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

French Nougat For Christmas.

A homemade French nougat has a very professional look if you but follow the rule carefully. Put one-half pound confectioner's (not powdered) sugar in a saucepan, place on range and stir constantly until melted; then add one-fourth pound of Jordan almonds, blanched and finely chopped. As mixture spreads fold toward center, using a broad bladed knife, keeping mixture constantly in motion. Divide in four parts, and as soon as cool enough to handle shape in long rolls, about one-third inch in diameter, keeping well in motion until almost cold. When cold snap in pieces one and one-half inches long. This is accomplished by holding roll at point to be snapped over the sharp edge of a broad bladed knife and snapping. Melt confectioner's dipping chocolate in a small saucepan placed in a larger saucepan containing boiling water and beat with a fork two minutes. Dip pieces separately in chocolate.

A VEGETARIAN CHRISTMAS MENU.

Cream of Tomato Soup.
Toasted Croutons.
Mock Whitefish, Parsley Sauce.
Creamed Potatoes. Walnut Roast.
Cauliflower au Gratin.
Celery. Olives. Salted Nuts.
Currant Jelly.
Pulled Bread. Hot Biscuits.
Salad Unique. Wafers and Cheese.
Plum Pudding. Brandy Sauce.
Fruits. Bonbons. Coffee.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

LEGAL NOTICES

Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 11th day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of William J. Robinson, deceased, the National Surety Co., of New York, having filed in said court a final administration account, and a petition praying for the allowance thereof and for their discharge as surety on the bond of Phillip B. Wachtel as administrator, de bonis non of said estate.

It is Ordered, That the 28th day of December, A. D., 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of heuring, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
5013 Judge of Probate.

Determination of Heirs.

The Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 8th day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge af probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph H. Blackwood, deceased, Howard M. Blackwood having filed in said court his petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of his death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 29th day af December, A. D., 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
5013 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Adolph B. Major and Ida Major, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Union Trust & Savings bank of Flint, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd day of June, 1911, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due upon the principal and interest computed to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and the further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars taxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein described, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, at one o'clock in the afternoon, we shall sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per cent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dollars covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as being situate in the Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), town thirty-three (33) north of range four (4) west; and the southeast quarter (¼) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less

Dated, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
44t13 Mortgagee.

BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Flint, Michigan.

FLORIDA SEASON 1916-'17

STEEL SLEEPING CARS
MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS
FROM GRAND RAPIDS

VIA

THE SOUTHLAND
G. R. & I.-L & N.

Lv. Petoskey	1:05 p. m.
Lv. Grand Rapids	8:40 p. m.
Ar. Cincinnati	7:28 a. m.
Ar. Knoxville	4:32 p. m.
Ar. Atlanta	9:55 p. m.
Ar. Jacksonville	8:30 a. m.

Reservations, tickets, illustrative and descriptive matter of Florida Winter Resorts and full information at Ticket Office, Petoskey. Q. D. Phelps, Ticket Agent.

RESERVATIONS NOW BEING MADE

Returning cars leave Jacksonville 8:20 p. m., Mondays and Thursdays.

WE WANT

BALED HAY AND STRAW

Highest Market Price

..... Chatterton & Son .....

CHARLEVOIX

A Matter of Economy

It is more economical to appoint us as your Executor and Trustee. When an Individual buys and sells investments for an Estate he charges the Estate with broker's commissions. When you name us as Executor and Trustee you are charged with no commisions either for the purchase or sale of the securities the law requires the funds of your Estate to be invested in. May we talk this matter over with you?

Send for blank form of Will and booklet on Descent and Distribution of Property.

THE MICHIGAN TRUST COMPANY
Of Grand Rapids

Audits made of Books of Corporations, Firms and Individuals

GIVE USEFUL

GIFTS

The lasting pleasure of giving Practieal Gifts is to be had if you buy herc. Our stock consists of many items which will make accoptable gifts for any of your friends. As they arc all useful they will he apprcciated the most. It is not too late yct to find gifts in our stock that will make acceptable Christmas Prcsents, call at our store we will be glad to help you solve your problems.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on page 10

Ray Knight is home for the holidsys.

Lou Shapton returned from Detroit, Saturday.

Glenn Beers, of the Soo, was in the city Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cook returned from Florida, Sunday evening.

Miss Ella Meggison is here for the holidsys. She has been sttending school at Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Eliza Alverson of Bay City, is the guest of D. J. Eckinger and family for the holidays.

Miss Helen Herrick, of Bay City, will visit for a few months at the home of D. J. Eckinger.

Mrs. William Straw, Sr., returned Saturday from a two months' visit with relatives st Detroit.

O. E. Wilbur left Tuesdsy morning for Chicago to visit his son and daughter over the holidays.

The Misses Maribel Hare and Annis Drigget returned from Ypsilanti, Saturdsy, to spend the holidays.

Miss Hazel Pearl was a member of the clsss which recently graduated from the Ypsi State Normal.

Mrs. Lucy Fuller, of this city, left Saturday for Chestonia, Michigan, where she will reside for the winter.

An exchange reports that a prominent citizen, who has been seriously ill for some time, is now able to sit on his veranda.

Miss Caroline Ross, who bas been attending the Ypsilsnti State Normal this winter, will spend the holidays in Ohio with her sister.

The Congregational Sunday school will have a White Gifts Christmas this year and appropriste exercises will be held in the church at 5 o'clock on Christmas eve. (next Sunday.)

Miss Ruby Hooker returned Saturdsy from Ypsilsnti, where she recently graduated from the State Normal, to spend tbe holidaya with her parents.

Miss Mary H. Gibson stopped at the Hotel Charlevoix, Saturday night and Sunday on her way to her bome on Beaver Island, where she will spend the holidays.

Mrs. G. W. Crouter, who has been visiting her sister at Buffalo, N. Y., returned from there to East Jordan last Thursday and is guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smatts.

Mrs. H. L. Winters, of East Jordan left that place last Saturday to join her husbsnd at El Paso, Texas. Captain Winters is the csptain of Co. I, the members of whom are on border duty at Mexico.

Regulsr meeting of the A. T. Hoxie Camp No. 770 at I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening, December 22. Election of officers. All members are desired to be present. Oyster supper. By order of commander.

Frank Frederick, a brother of the proprietor of the Frederick shoe store in Traverse City, and who, himself, traveled in this territory for the Mayer people of Milwaukee for several years, died lsst week at his Traverse home. He wns well known to Charlevoix merchants.

Alvah D. Crimmins arrived in Charlevoix, Sunday, and may be seen at the State bank "learning the ropes" before taking Mr. Rschow's seat behind the rsil, which he will do on Jsnuary 1st. We are glad to welcome him to our city.

James Donlevy and dsughter, Rsc, returned to their home in St. James, Monday morning, the great improvement in Mr. Donlevy's condition rendering unnecessary their projected trip to Chicsgo. Charlevoix the Beautiful is still the best little place on earth to recover your health even in the winter time. We don't know, however, whether it is the extreme quiet or the rigorous atmosphere that accomplishes such beneficial results.

The Harbor Springs Republican will raise its subscription price to $1.50 after Jsnuary 1, 1917. The Pellston Journal hss also decided to make the same rsise in price. Thoy give as the reason the big increase of print and other materials.

The Charlevoix merchsnts are displaying some unusually good stocks for their holiday trade. The stores and windows are bedecked with trees and special Yuletide trimmings, which add to the united Christmas spirit sentiments of the entire community.

Many compliments are heard from the business men and clerks for the work done early in the mornings after a snow fall. They certainly appreciate not having to wade through the deep and drifted snow. It is hoped that the good work will he kept up during the winter.

The Methodist Sunday school will celebrate Christmas on Monday evening, December 25th. An excellent program will be rendered with special music by the choir. One of the features of the evening will be a special paper by Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson entitled "Christmas In Many Lands." Everyone is cordially invited to share with us in our Christmas joys. Both services next Sunday will be of special interest.

Mrs. Frank E. Bearss will be prepared to do dressmaking at her home, 704 Grant street, sfter January 1, 1917. Adv. 51t2

CHARLEVOIX WON

Defeat Boyne City Boy Scouts by Score of 26 to 22.

A brisk game of bsket ball took plsce Saturdsy evening, December 16th, at the Charlevoix rink, between the Boy Scouts of Chsrlevoix and the Boyne City organization, which resulted in the latter's defeat by a score of 26 to 22.

Boyne City plsyed a fine defensive game, but failed to score much until the lsst half. Charlevoix outgeneraled their opponents in team work and skill in passing the ball.

The first half was played by Weed, Byers, Bsrnhart, Driggett and Pierce. During the second hslf, Bedwin played, thus putting Barnhart out.

Scores were msde by Byers, 12; Bsrnhart, 1; Pierce, 13.

All of the team are very enthusiastic and solicit the support of the townspeople for a supper which they are planning to hsve in the near future.

Attantion K. of P.'s
Lodga avery Thursday night.

Christmas Announcement.

Sunday a. m.—The program of the Sundsy school will take the time of the morning service and a specisl gift service will folow at which time any gift to the church or to Charlevoix needy poor will be received.

Sunday afternoon—Junior Union at 3. The pastor will be present and all children are urged to come.

Sunday evening at 6—The greatest B. Y. P. U. meeting in the history of the church. Come. Miss Jessie M. DeWitt, leader.

Sunday evening 7:30—The Christmas sermon. Subject, "Our Watch Word—Service." This sermon will be followed by an altar consecration service. Give your heart to God for a Christmas present. The evening will close with a drama of motion pictures.

Monday evening 7 o'clock—Christmas tree exercises and program of motion pictures.

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock—Motion pictures, the life of Christ from the msnger to the throne will be given with fine orchestra accompaniment.

The same program will also be given on Wednesday evening. Come you are welcome.

Baptist Minister.

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

HOWE-JOHNSON

Married Saturday Noon, December 16, at Ironton.

At 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, December 16, Philip Howe and Neta Johnson were married at the bome of the bride's father, William Johnson, near Ironton, Rev. C. E. Taggart officiating.

Mr. Howe is an industrious young Englishman of excellent habits, who came to this country just before the breaking out of the European war. Mrs. Howe is the only daughter of a well known Eveline township farmer. They will make their home on one of Mr. Johnson's farms and Mr. Howe will assist in the farming operations. They have the good wishes of all their acquaintances.

MARTIN FURST DEAD

Died at Traverse City Last Saturday Night.

Martin Furst, No. 1 surfman at the South Manitou Coast Guard station and a brother of Dave Furst of the Charlevoix station, died at tha General hospital in Traverse City last Saturday night from complications attending an operation for appendicitis.

The body was brought to this city Tuesday, the funeral being held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the Congregational church.

For the Christmas Supper.

Nnt Brown Bread Sandwiches.—Pine nuts, black walnuts, almonds and pecans may be put through a meat chopper, mixed; a little salt added and spread on thin, buttered slices of brown bread. Chopped or minced pennts may be used if preferred.

Alligator Pear Salad.—Peel the pear, qoarter and core it, and if large divide each quarter into fourths. Place on a bed made of hearts of lettuce and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

CHARLEVOIX GIRL'S MAKE GOOD

Word From Ypsilanti Normal Gives Students High Credit.

Miss Kathryn LaPeer was chosen honor tescher in the sixth grade of the Michigan State Normal training room. This honor is given to the student teacher who has shown herself most efficient from the standpoint of scholarship and teaching sbility.

Miss LaPeer is also the assistant in the penmanship department, having received the appointment last year by the state bosrd of education.

Two other studenta distinguished themselves at the state normal and both girls have received life certificates. The lucky ones are Miss Ruby A. Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hooker and Miss Hazel Pesrl, a well known young lady of this city.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

GOOD BOAR for service, $1.00 cash. Joseph Sprik, R. F. D. No. 4. 51tf

WANTED—Second hand cutter or light Klondyke. Inquire this office. 50t2—pd

FOR RENT—Rooms for light housekeeping. Inquire 219 Antrim street. 45tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

LOST—Pair silver bracelets. Finder leave at Crandell's store, Antrim street. 49tf

LOST—Pair of nose spectacles with chain nnd esr clasp. Finder return to Courier office. 51t1—pd

WANTED AT ONCE—Number of wood cutters. Phone William Williams, 117f2, Charlevoix. 50t2

WANTED—20 kiln wood cutters, 75 cents per cord. Will cut 3,000 cords. See C. Beers, Orchard Bay Farm. 51t2

FOR SALE—Bull molly, part Holstein, 19 months old. Inquire of Frank Klusak, R. F. D. No. 4, next to Hilton school. 51t1—pd

FOR SALE CHEAP—2½ h. p. new Gasoline Engine, guaranteed by the makers for 5 years. One year's time given on it with acct. interest. No note, no mortgsge, only freight charges down. Call any time December 22 and 23 at 203 Alice street and we will show you how it runs. M. C. Woodgate. 51t1

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to ba correct at tba timo obtalned, but ara subject to changa from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 20, 1916

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.40
Red wheat, per bu.	1.45
Beans, per bu.	5.50
Red kidney beans, per bu.	5.25
Oats	.54
Barley, per cwt.	.78
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.20
Shelled corn	.95
Drassed Maats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Beef, dressed	8.00 to 10.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	.13
Turkeys	.18
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.37
New potatoes, per bu	1.20
Honay par lb.	15
Salt	1.45

J. L. Crane

TO THE GIFT BUYER

To you who are late in quest of the Christmas Gifts, we still have a good assortment for you to choose from. Here are a few Special Values:

Mexican Drawn Work Table Covers at	$1.00
Circular Table Covers, Lace Trimmed at	50c
Women's Initial Handkerchiefs, 3 in box, per box	25c
Silk Boudoir Caps, All Colors at	25c, 50c
Angora Cap and Scarf Sets at	$1.00
Extra Wide Plain Hair Bow Ribbons per yard	25c
Wide Moire Hair Bow Ribbons per yard	15c
Fancy Lace Trimmed Tea Aprons at	25c
Men's Ties in Christmas Boxes at	25c, 50c
Men's Suspenders in Christmas Boxes, at	25c, 50c

FURS TABLE DAMASKS
SILK WAISTS FANCY TOWELS
SILK PETTICOATS GLOVES

Women's Linen Handerchiefs with hand Embroidered corners 25c

The Store of Quality and Good Service

We wish you A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR and hope that we will be able to serve your wants in the Groeery and Meat lines during the coming year as we have during the season just passed.

We will have everything in the line of

FANCY AND STAPLE GROCERIES, FRUITS, NUTS, CANDIES, CELERY, LETTUCE, RADISHES

Do not buy elsewhere until you have seen our display.

IN OUR MEAT DEPARTMENT

We have plenty of Dressed Fowl, Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens; all our own dressing. Fresh Pork and Beef.

Christmas Candies for the Kiddies, per pound 15c

Choiced Mixed Nuts, Cranberries, Oranges

Again we wish to thank you for your patronage and past courtesies and wish you the Season's Greetings.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64. Store closes at noon Xmas day.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Helpful Last Minute Christmas Suggestions

To the purchaser who buys at the last minute we offer a variety of beautiful selections in all lines of Dry Goods and Hosiery. You will find shopping a pleasure here right up to the last minute. There are many lines we wish to close out and at the prices we sell will do it.

A new line of Changeable Silk Petticoats Special Value $3.75

Fancy Aprons and Boudoir Caps	25c and 50c
Cap and Scarf sets from	$1.00 to $2.75
Fancy Bath Towels	50c and $1.00
Handkerchiefs for men, women and children	10c, 15c, 25c and 35c
Kid Gloves in all colors	$1.00 to $3.50

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

The Majestic

Friday, December 22

ALICE BRADY IN

"THE BALLET GIRL"

World Film Corporation Feature Picture

The Majestic

Monday, December 25

SPECTACULAR MOTION PICTURE

"THE BLACK CROOK"

Kalem Five Act Feature

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Miss Helen H. Boss spent a day at home last week.

The Piano club gave a dancing party last Friday evening.

Guy Woodward is working at the livery barn for the winter.

G. C. Townsend made a business trip to Central Lake, Tuesday.

George Hunter made a business trip to Traverse City, Monday.

E. R. Harris made his usual business trip to Bellaire, Monday.

Mr. Walker, of Minnesota, was in the village Tuesday on business.

William Kenny, of East Jordan, substituted in the local drug store Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Himebauch spent Sunday at the home of E. Best and family.

Miss Gertrude Pahl, who is teaching at Bellaire, visited Miss Elizabeth Strehl, Friday and Saturday.

W. S. Richardson, of Central Lake, was a caller in the village Friday of last week.

The Needle club met with the Misses Larsen at the home of Mrs. Pickard, Saturday evening.

M. R. Nelson leaves today for St. Paul, Minnesota, called there by the serious illness of his oldest son.

Miss Gertrude Pahl and Miss Elizabeth Strehl went to Petoskey on a shopping tour last Saturday.

George Klooster returned last week from a business trip to South Bend, Indiana, and other southern points.

The Thimble club met with Miss Mable Madill Saturday evening, December 9.

D. E. Clow is expected home for Christmas. Del is reported gaining steadily after his recent operation in Rochester, Minnesota.

The M. E. Sunday school will hold a Christmas program and tree next Saturday evening at the church. A large crowd is expected.

Word has been passed around that Charles S. Campbell, for a long time a resident of Ellsworth, died this morning at his home in the Park.

Word from the boys at the border state that they would like to be home for Chriatmas. Prospects are not very bright for an early return home, however.

Benj. Madill and Miss Mable Madill left last week for southern points. They will stop at Wajamega to visit Herb, from where they go to Detroit to see Mrs. Madill, where Mr. Madill will apend the winter. Miss Mable goea on to Bicknell, Indiana, where she will visit her sisters, Mrs. H. H. Kliddey and Bessie Madill.

Last Friday evening the members of the Apostolic Holiness church gave a farewell reception to the retiring pastor, Rev. B. O. Shattuck and Mrs. Shattuck at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Skow. Rev. Shattuck has accepted a call from a city church in Baltimore, Md., and leaves Tuesday for his new location. He will be greatly missed by all people of Ellsworth as well as the members of his church. The best wishes of the people go with him.

ATWOOD

To all a Merry Christmas.

Plenty of snow just now.

Don't borrow trouble—you can't pay it back.

Will Knight went to East Jordan, Saturday, on business.

The Clark school will hold appropriate Christmas exercises.

Mrs. Henry Klooster left on Friday last to visit friends and relatives at Holland.

Miss Gertrude Visser, of Grand Rapids, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. James Heeres.

Probably no better Christmas program will be given in this community than the one to be rendered next Friday evening at the town hall. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus will be present.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

Henry Myers is working in East Jordan.

Edrie Myers left school last Thursday.

Isa Alward butchered three hogs last Monday.

F. A. Wright went to Petoskey on business Monday.

Miss Bessie Postmus returned to her home last Wednesday.

William Myers expects to move to East Jordan in the near future.

Melvin and Oscar Smith, of Boyne City, were at Isa Alward's, Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas DeMoulpied visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. Wright, Monday afternoon.

Miss Margie DeMoulpied is expected home for the Christmas vacation Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Isa Alward and daughters, Ethel and Bertha, spent Saturday evening at the Wright residence.

We are getting plenty of snow these days. Our mail carrier was unable to make his rounds Thursday.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

NEW RULES FOR IMPORTED HIDES

REGULATIONS EFFECTIVE JAN. 1 GOVERNING DISINFECTION

Most Stringent Requirements Are for Exclusion of Anthrax.

New and simplified regulations governing the disinfection and importation of hides, based on investigations in recent years, have been promulgated by joint action of the United States treasury department and the department of agriculture, to become effective January 1, 1917. Under these regulations the most stringent requirements are those for the exclusion of anthrax. The other diseases against which safeguards are established are foot-and-mouth disease and rinderpest.

Principal Changes.

The principal changes in the regulations are:

Regulations are printed for the first time governing disinfection and admission of hair, wool, bones, horns and hoofs.

Hides from countries not shown by United States consular agents or official veterinary or sanitary inspectors of the countries to be free from anthrax, if such hides are to be admitted on certificate, must be certified to have been immersed in a 1 to 1,000 bichlorid of mercury solution for 24 hours instead of 30 minutes, as under present regulations.

Hides in bales unaccompanied by certificate of freedom from anthrax, rinderpest, or foot-and-mouth disease, or by certificate of disinfection, will be admitted if such bales have been whitewashed under United States consular supervision and the importer agrees to ship them in customs-sealed cars to a tannery provided with adequate facilities for disinfection, and to disinfect them in accordance with requirements of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States department of agriculture under supervision of an agent of that bureau.

Sun-dried hides from countries certified to be free from anthrax will be admitted without disinfection.

Greetings Friends, Greetings

Perfumes and Toilet Arcticles, Fancy Stationery, Box Candies

Are among the Christmas suggestions we have to offer. A Flash Light will make the boy or father happy when he has to go out at night.

Don't forget our drug line. We are here to fill your wants. Filling perscriptions is our hobby.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Elleworth, Michigan

Merry Christmas

This Bank will be closed all day

Monday, December 25th
Christmas Day

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $250,000.00
C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Merry Christmas to you---Everybody

With just three more shopping days before Christmas we must unload this large line of Christmas toys and novelties. We do not want to carry anything over until next year and to clean up on what we have in stock we will give a cash discount of 10 per cent on all Christmas Toys

All Day Friday and Until Saturday Noon

From Saturday Noon Until Ten O'clock
We Will Give 25 per cent Discount
On All Toys

Make Christmas Joys complete for the little ones by getting them playthings. Again we call your attention to the many useful holiday goods for the older members of the family. Come in and see our line.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

CHRISTMAS OFFERINGS

"Merry Christmas Everywhere; Merrily Ringeth on the Air"

Christmas is in everybody's thought. Shopping has begun earlier than ever before. Perhaps because people are more prosperous. More likely because the spirit of "Good Will Toward Men" is abroad. Those who shop now meet good natured clerks. They find fresher merchandise. They shop at greater leisure. They find the Christmas spirit abroad. And they find many, many low prices.

Presents for Father, Mother, Daughter, Son

Gifts For Everybody

SLEDS	COASTERS	LAMPS	CLOCKS	SILVERWARE	GLASSWARE
CHINAWARE	DOLLS	SWEATERS	COATS	PILLOW TOPS	TABLE SCARFS
NECKTIES	HANDKERCHIEFS	LADIES' HANDBAGS	SCARFS	DOILIES	BED BLANKETS
CANDIES AND NUTS OF ALL KINDS		LADIES' CAPS	PICTURES	DOLL BEDS FOR THE LITTLE GIRLS	RIBBONS

GIFTS OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS ARE HERE BY THE HUNDREDS. PRACTICAL GIFTS—THOSE THAT WILL COME INTO USE PRACTICALLY EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR ARE HERE IN ABUNDANCE.
LET US HELP YOU MAKE YOUR CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS.

George Klooster & Son

Ellsworth, Michigan

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

ROCK ELM

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Donaldson went to Boyne City, Saturday.

Charles Donaldson's mother, who has heen staying with them for a few weeks helping to care for her new granddaughter, rcturned to her own home last week.

One of the ladies of this community recently visited the dentist and had her jaws made ready for a set of "store teeth." Not liking her own looks very well sho determined not to let any one know of her adventure or see her, and as is apt to be the case she was feeling somewhat hlue when two of her neighhors found out ahout it and determined on a plan for cheering her up. Invitations were immediately phoned to all the ladies of the district who have false teeth to visit their sister in distress, hut leave their teeth at home. Eight responded to the invitation. Everyone looked funny and talked funnier hut all had a most enjoyahle time. A supper of soft foods was served and the guests went home feeling that the afternoon had heen well spent.

ANTRIM CITY

Mr. Montgomery is buzzing wood.

Mrs. Rice called on Mrs. Brooks, Saturday.

Mrs. Brooks has heen quite sick with a cold.

Mr. Stoel purchased a pair of sleighs last week.

Mr. Brant and tnez were at Mr. Rice's, Sunday.

John Simon and Rilley Rice were in Central Lake, Saturdny.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery and son were in Norwood, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartness and Mr. Martin, of Pellston, called at Mr. Brant's, Monday.

Everyone is welcome Thursday evening to the Christmas exercises at the school housc.

Mr. Flanagin, an old resident of Antrim, is very sick. The doctor helieves he hss a cancer in his mouth.

There is so much excitement in the city that some folks have to go to the neighhors to find ont what day of the week it is.

WILDWOOD

Not much news this week.

Several farmers are ready for a "huzz man" just now.

Muggie Postmus has gone to Bay Shore to work for a while.

Now is the time of year to put out food and boxes for the birds.

Mrs. Cross returned to her home in Central Lake on Friday of last week.

ECHO, DISTRICT NO. 4

(Too late for last week.)

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McMillan called at the home of Ernest Vance, Sunday.

Messrs. M. H. Dingman and Clarence Murray have the job of cutting logs on section 9.

Mrs. George E. Murray made a business trip to Charlevoix, Friday, returning Saturday.

Messrs. N. Liskum and Ira Olney have opened camp 5 and will take out logs on hoth sections 5 and 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Carpenter spent Sunday nfternoon at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lewis Bolser.

Messrs. George E. and Clarence Murray cut buzz poles on the latter's farm near Isaman's corners last week.

School Notes.

We are practicing daily on our Christmas program which will he given Friday evening, Decemher 22, at 8 o'clock p. m.

The third grade are rapidly mastering the multiplication tahles.

Ethel Pickering was absent from school last Friday.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No 1198
Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.
Attendance of visiting members requested.
Master—D. E. Carpenter.
Lecturer—D. Patterson.
Secretary—Ava L. Bearss.

DON'T FORGET US

We have one of the best lincs of Holiday Groceries and ift GStocks in the County. You should not fail to come to this store when in need of anything in the Dry Goods or Clothing Linc. We have reliable merchandisc and guarantee satisfaction on every article you purchase from us.

WE WISH YOU THE SEASON'S JOYS AND HOPE TO ENJOY YOUR TRADE THE COMING YEAR.

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

FOR CHRISTMAS DINNER

We bave besides a complete stock of—

GROCERIES, CURRANTS, CRANBERRIES, RAISINS, ORANGES, LEMONS, FRUITS, ETC.

that all go to make the big dinner of the year a success

For Practical Gifts

Visit our Dry Goods Department. Here will be found nice Dress Patterns, Aprons, Dollies, Table Spreads, Napkin Sets, Ribbons, Skirts, Underwear, in fact anything in the line of Clothing and Undergarments that you may wish to buy.

For the Men and Boys we havc a line of Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rubbers, and Shoes; Rain Coats—Just what every man wants.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-che-ster s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished hy different dealers of the different products. All quotations are helieved to he correct at the time ohtained, but are snbject to change from day to day with market finctuations.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 20, 1916

Grain
White wheat, per hu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, ped hu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	5.50
Red kidney heans, per hu.	6.00
Garden varieties	5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.35
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	11.00
Pork, dressed	10.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lh.	.30
Eggs, per doz.	.40
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per hu.	1.25
Salt	1.40

Sleighing Supplies

With the heavy snow fall of the past week, sleighing is getting better every day. Every man needs Sleighs, Blankets, Robes, Bells, etc., to complete his outfit. We handle

Traverse City Sleighs, 2 1-2 inch runner
The Best Wool Blankets on the Market
Robes of all sizes
Sleigh Bells of loud tones

For the youth we have Sleds, Skates and Skis, suitable Christmas gifts for any child.

We have an oxcellent line of Wash Boilers that are being sold cheap, in fact so cheap that the cost of a new stock would amount to more than our selling price.

To those who cut wood we wish to emphasize our line of saws. We are headquarters for Hand Saws, Buck Saws, Cross Cut Saws and Axes. See our line of Moat Saws.

We Sincerely Wish You the Season's Joys

W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

Merry Christmas.

Another year has passed and gone and at this time we wish to thank you all for your favors and patronage of the year.

We also wish you

A Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year

and hope that our dealings with you in the past has been as pleasing to you as it has been to us.

We want you to keep in mind that we buy all kinds of Farm Produce and pay the highest Cash Market Price.

WE RETAIL
CORN, OATS, BRAN, MIDDLINGS, COTTON SEED AND OIL MEALS, PULP PLASTER
CEMENT, SOFT COAL

A close comparison will convincingly reveal to you that our prices are as low as the lowest on these products.

We extend you a cordial invitation to make our place your headquarters while in town. Again wishing you the compliments of the season, we remain— Very Respectfully

The Ellsworth Produce Company
M. K. NELSON, Manager

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, Superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, Presidnt. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m., Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m., Thursday, prayer meeting.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m., preaching.

7:45 p. m., Tuesday, prayer meeting.

MILES SCHOOL NOTES

Elmer Jensen was a guest of Mr. Thomns, Sunday.

Miss Bessie Stenke is visiting at East Jordan this week.

Clarence DuPraw spent a few days with Frank Lalonde last week.

The Christmas program at Miles school will he given Friday night. The little children are anxiously looking forward to see what Santa Clans will hring them.

A numher of tha school children spent Friday evening at Lorence Isaman's. The first part of the evening was spent in popping corn and stringing it for the Christmas tree. Then games were played which were enjoyod hy all.

The roads were well hroken Saturday as many of the farmers went to town to do their Christmas shopping.

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction book, free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffao, N.Y.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

This store wishes to greet you with the glad tidings of this great holiday season and at the same time thank you for the many courtesies during the past year.

Special Holiday Stocks

We loaded up with many special holiday goods, including Toys and various articles for the holiday trade. These we wish to dispose of at once. Our line is completo and you can make no better seleetions than right here, for the Toyland we have is big, full of variety and moderate in price.

Christmas Candies

We have a large amount of Christmas candies on hand and wish to let every family have their portion. Come in and see this line, note the prices and you are sure to buy.

D. E. CLOW & CO.
Exclusive Distributors of Round Oak Stoves and Ranges
Ellsworth, Michigan

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Tracy Oldham is in town for the holidays.

H. A. Craig left this morning for the Soo to spend the holidays with relatives.

W. E. Dodd announces that he will engage in general contracting and construction work.

Mrs. George King left Wednesday morning for Muskegon, where she will spend the winter.

Remember the date of the coming of the Alma quartette December 28, 1916. Secure your seats early.

Mrs. P. C. Bye, of Sault Ste. Marie, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Raber, during the holidays.

Mrs. Andrew McCall, Sr., leaves Friday morning for Detroit to visit her daughters, Mrs. James Tree and Mrs. George Coffey.

Mrs. Flora Papineau, who has been visiting in Central Lake for several weeks, returned to her home in this city last week.

George Papineau, who has been oiling on the steamer Cuyler Adams, is expected home Saturday from Port MeMichael, Canada.

John Papineau, who has been working at Holland for the Holland-St. Louis Sugar company, returned last week to spend the holidays.

Clarence Withers has opened up a new business industry in Charlevoix known as the Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works. See advertisement on another page.

Harvey E. Webster, of Warren, Ohio, arrived in Charlevoix, Sunday morning, for a flying visit to his brothers, Amos and Platt Webster, and his father, I. S. Webster.

The contribution which was begun in the Congregational church a short time ago for the relief of the victims of the European war, will be completed next Sunday. Members of the congregation are requested to take note of this.

The collection which was taken at the Thanksgiving service at the Congregational church for the starving children of the countries devastated by the war amounted to $9.70. The amount has been forwarded to the proper agency, and its receipt acknowledged.

M. A. McDonald, of Eveline township, has resigned the office of supervisor of that township and D. S. Payton has been appointed by the Eveline board to fill that vacancy. Mr. Payton served in the capacity about 12 years ago, before being elected to county office.

There will be seven eclipses next year, four of the sun and three of the moon. Of this number, however, only two will be visible in this country and both of these will be eclipses of the moon. On the night of Sunday, January 7, will be a total eclipse of the moon, and the last month of the year, three days after Christmas, December 28th, there will be another eclipse of the moon.

Christmas Savings Club open for enrollment at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Join now. Adv. 51tf

SPECIAL NOTICE

To Press and Courier Readers

The Grand Rapids Press, January 20, 1917, will increase their subscription rates on the R. F. D. from $2.00 per year to $3.00 per year.

The Courier's Agreement With the Press Will Save You $1.00.

The old price for both papers for one year, $3.50, will be good until January 20—not later. Don't wait—Don't delay—we positively can not accept orders after that date at the old price. If your subscription expires in December or January, get in under the wire at once.

Good on R. F. D. only.

THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER.

P. S.—The Press, Courier and Michigan Farmer all for one year $3.75 till January 20. After that date the price will be $4.75.

HARVEY CAMPBELL ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Will Move His Family to Ottawa, Ohio, First of Year.

J. Harvey Campbell, a son of the late P. D. Campbell of this city, who has been chief engineer of the S. S. Senoma, of the Tomlinson line, for several years past, has accepted the all-year-around position of chief engineer of the sugar plant at Ottawa, Ohio, now owned by the Ohio Sugar company, a Michigan corporation. He is expected here this week from Buffalo, where he left his boat.

Mr. Campbell, who has long been a resident of Charlevoix, goes to his new position on the first of the year. Mrs. Campbell and the two children will of course accompany him. They will be greatly missed by their many Charlevoix friends.

The Ottawa Sugar company was taken over several months ago by the Ohio company. F. H. Hubbard, formerly connected with the old West Michigan plant at Charlevoix, and who has been for sometime the general manager of the Holland-St. Louis company's branch at Decatur, Indiana, has been selected to take charge of the plant at Ottawa.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

(This column is open to all for the discussion of various topics. If there are public improvements which in your estimation should be made, this column is open to you to view your ideas. If you desire to comment on the action of the city, county or state government, or have any suggestions to make regarding it, it is your opportunity to do so through this column. No article exceeding 300 words in length, unless of unusual importance, can be accepted for the Pulse column. The Courier can pay no attention to communications not accompanied by the name of the author as a guarantee fo good faith, though this need not be printed.—Editor.)

To the Courier: The person that wrote that article in last week's Courier entitled, "Shut Out of Christmas Joys," would have done far better had he inveatigated more thoroughly and found out the real truth of the matter. In the first place this article says that the man claims he was "lured" here by the promise of work in the beet fields the year round. That man knows, as everyone else does, that no person works in the beets the year round, but he had plenty of work as long as there was any beet work to do, in fact the farmers could not get help enough, and at other times he worked on the road, in the corn and silo filling, etc., with good wages as any big, strong man like he could get.

There were many reports seemingly very authentic that he was very brutal to the daughter, beating her until compelled by other to stop. And now as to the want and suffering, the supervisor and his wife went there to investigate, after having been called up by phone, several times in a short period, and told what a terrible "slam" the people in the vicinity were getting in the Courier, the very first word they had heard of any suffering. And they found that the family had plenty of provisions for a month or more and a large pile of wood.

"Don't you think you could find families in Charlevoix now that have less?" There were three beds with feather beds on and small piles that looked like dirty clothing lying around. The mother was patching and they undoubtedly need more clothing as many other poor people do. The daughter was dressed in some dirty underwear, a skirt and an old black coat and she told them it was all she had, but they learned in a few hours that the short time she had been in school she had worn at least three different very decent dresses, and that the lunch she carried seemed as good as the other children had. So much for their truthfulness. The neighbors and teacher found books for them and I hear that the people they worked for gave them things and were very good to them.

And now about the people in the vicinity. I don't believe that any of them knew of any real need even in a vague way. They had certainly felt pity for the wife and children but because of his reported brutality.

(Commenting on the above, the Courier would express its surprise that our pathetic little story should have been taken so much to heart by many good people who seem to look upon it as a personal rebuke. We certainly intended to distribute the weight of our remarks as evenly over the entire community, not only the specified locality, but all adjacent territory, that the individual burden should be light, indeed.

We would like to point out that in the matter of food supply, we did not say that the family in question had no food whatever, but that they had but little. In the matter of clothing, investigation seems to show that we were correct in our assertion. In the case of the father's alleged brutality, which our remonstrants admit they were cognizant of, we do not see that this fact in any way absolves the public officers or the immediate community, which in the last analysis must stand behind such officers, from their responsibility. Other points mentioned above have little or no bearing on the case. Our readers will admit, we think, taking all the facts into consideration, that the matter deserved some little local attention, at least.—Ed.)

New Demurrage Rates.

The new demurrage rates went into effect on the railroads December 15, by order of the Interstate commerce commission, and apply to all carload shipments from one state to another, and all classes of freight except commodities shipped in refrigerator cars. The object of the new schedule is to hasten the unloading of cars and thus relieve the car shortage. After the regulation 48 hour free time limit expires the rates will be as follows: $1.00 for the first day, $2.00 for the second day, $3.00 for the third day, $5.00 for the fourth and each succeeding day until the car is released.

Subscribe for the Courier.

GIVING THE BOY A CHANCE

(Continued from page 1)

ladder climbed by our aspiring American artists.

Everything that could be done seemed to have been accomplished in those rooms for the comfort, the pleasure and the edueation of the boys, though, from what we were told, much still remains to be done to bring the local troop "up to snuff."

In the course of our conversation the scoutmaster informed us that of the nine boys in the room, one, only, came from a home that was fully worthy of the name and a fit cradle for budding virtue. Of the others, he said, one was an orphan from a home of abject poverty, several from homes of the poorest description, in fact, and in specific instances which he named (and which in some cases we were able to verify by evidence previously gleaned from other sources) drunkeness, marital infidelity and separation of parents, sickness accentuating extreme poverty and atheism coupled with shiftlessness created an atmosphere in those particular "homes" unfit, or decidedly unattractive for a child.

If these boys had not been in the club rooms, engaged in harmless recreation or instructive reading, where would they have been? Doesn't this matter of the boy problem, in the final analysis, resolve itself into this? If we want the boy (or girl) to stay at home, we must make the home what it should be. Making the present home what it should be in all cases is a well nigh hopeless proposition, isn't it, by reason of the difficulty in persuading or even compelling the average hardened adult to change his or her ways? The boys and girls of today will take care of the homes of the future. All right, then, we must take care of our boys and girls, especially those who don't want to stay in bad homes and the few who, strange as it may seem, don't care to stay in good ones—all the time.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY FARMERS' INSTITUTES

Dates and Places of the One-Day Institutes.

The one-day farmers' institutes for Charlevoix county will be held during the first week in January. Mr. R. D. Bailey, of Gaylord, will be the state speaker. Among other things Mr. Bailey will discuss soil problems, farm fertilizers, alfalfa, bacterial life in the soil, potato culture, dairying, farm accounts, farm management and the application of science in modern forming. Mr. Bailey is a very pleasing speaker and all who attend the meetings will enjoy his practical and interesting talks.

The local managers at the various places are planning for some small but interesting exhibits of farm produce. It is expected that these exhibits will serve to start discussions and give the institutes a more practical turn. Farmers are invited to bring small samples of corn, potatoes, grain, etc.

The dates, places of meeting and local managers follow:

January 2—Barnard Grange hall, James Willis.

January 3—Horton Bay, I. O. O. F. hall, Conrad Schneider.

January 4—Clarion, K. O. T. M. hall, Clyde Kent.

January 5—Springvale, James Milford.

January 6—Boyne Falls, Frank House.

January 8—South Arm Grange hall, Nathan Liskum.

The county round-up institute will be held at Deer Lake Grange hall, but the date has not been announced.

H. L. BARNUM,
County Secretary.

Church at Ironton.

The Ironton People's church is established for the winter in the Grange hall, by the courtesy of the members of the Grange. Every Sunday afternoon the Sunday school meets at 1:30 o'clock, standard time, preaching at 2:30. The adult Bible class will be reorganized under a competent teacher, and all the older people of the community are cordially invited to join it. Christmas exercises will be held at the Ironton church next Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, standard time.

I will pay the highest cash market prices for green hides. See me before selling. Martin Block.
—Adv. 50t2

MILLIONS will enjoy the Exceptional Christmas Baking produced by Majestic Ranges everywhere.

ARE YOU ONE IN A MILLION?

A truly Wonderful Christmas Gift is this Great Majestic Range—

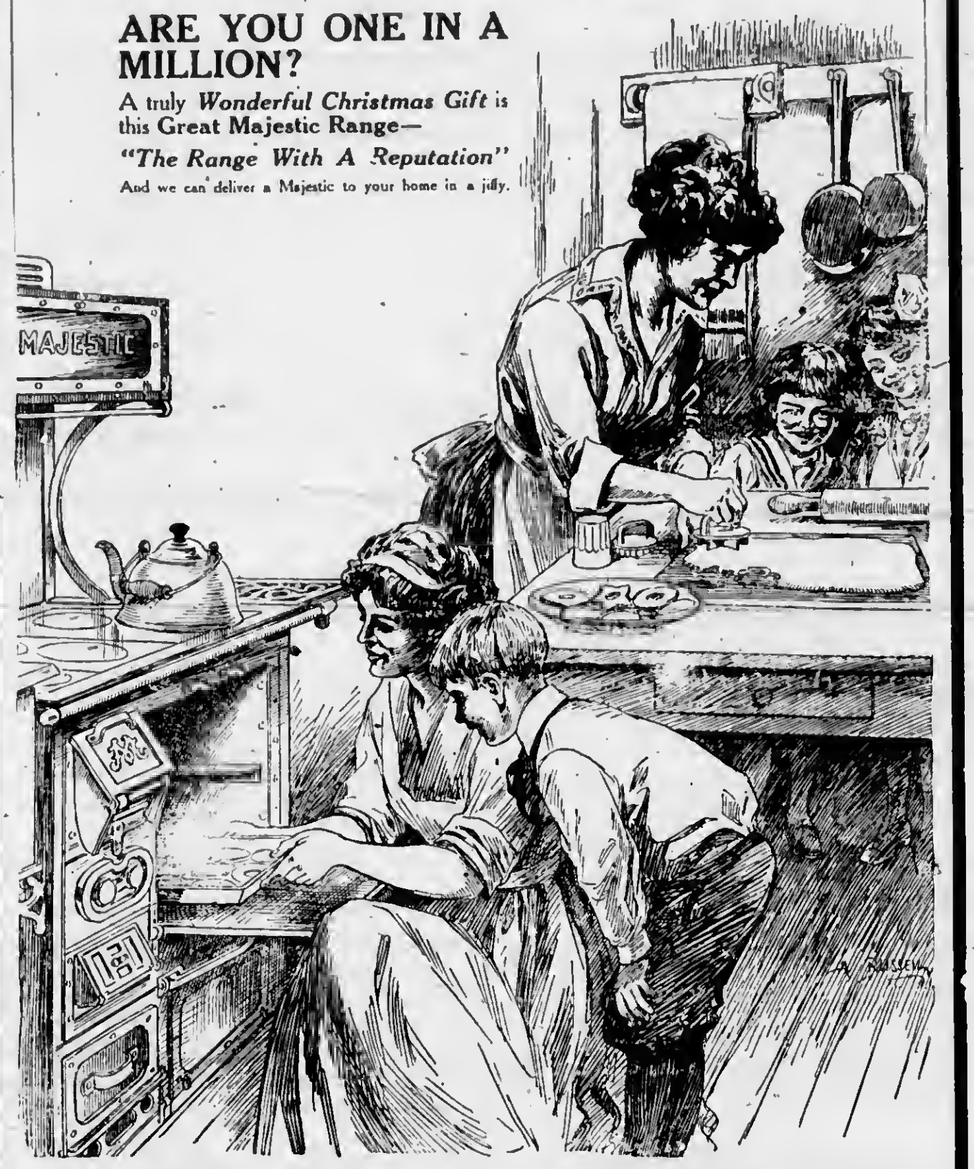
"The Range With A Reputation"

And we can deliver a Majestic to your home in a jiffy.



BLANCHARD HARDWARE CO.

Best Bargains for HOLIDAY PURSES

Yes, There's a Way You Can

Be Sure His Christmas Gift Is Right!

He has fully made up his mind what he wants—that the assortment is here—and that any gift that comes from this store is correct as to quality and make. If you want him to have the "very best there is," make your purchases from our line of suitable Christmas gifts, such as

Mackinaws, Fur Coats, Fur and Wool Gloves Rain Coats, Mittens, Sock, Auto Gloves, Fur and Cloth Caps, Suit Cases and Leather Traveling Bags

For the Christmas trade we will make a special run on our line of Sweaters as we intend to close out our entire stock. To do this we will sell

Sweaters at Cost Prices

There is not a line in the county that are better than we have in stock, and this opportunity to buy at cost prices means a substantial saving to you. Shop early—buy before the line is broken.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34, NO. 52 | 8 PAGES | CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1916 | PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

POLICE GATHER IN A DERELICT

QUEER OLD NUT PICKED UP ON BRIDGE STREET

Claims to Be "Fiftee-two-o, Fiftee-t'ree Year Old" and Walked All Way from "Italee."

Chief of Police Howard picked up a funny old character on Bridge street last Thursday afternoon, one of the many bits of human flotsam and jetsam that drift up tbis way occasionally, and never more often than in these day of Democratic prosperity.

Efforts had been made by persons at Phelps that morning to reach Sheriff Nnvak and apprise him of the approach of this strange visitor, who, it seems, had burned a handcar shanty at that place; bad made his escape before it was discovered, and was, when last seen by the Phelps people, hobbling down the P. M. tracks towards Charlevoix.

But the sheriff could not be located by phone and at about two or three o'clock Howard picked up the old derelict on Bridge street, and despite his unintelligible protests, ran him in. According to Howard, the old man, who was evidently an Italian, looked far more like some strange species of bear than he did like a man. His bushy whiskers, hunched back and shambling gait heightened the illusion and in fact, it was the way people whom he passed shied off at him, as though he had been some dangerous animal, that attracted the policeman's attention to him in the first plaee. Closer inspection, showing the dirt encrusting his face and hands like the scales of a fish, left no room for wonderment at the passer-by's desire to keep his distance.

Not much could be gntten out of the old fellow at the jail during the first few days of his confinement, although he displayed a skill and willingness to split wood that was amazing. In broken English, he informed his eaptors, when questioned, that his age was "Fiftee-one, fiftee-two-o, fiftee-t'ree—oh, alla right, alla rigbt," and that he had walked "alla way from Italee."

Tnesday morning, the sheriff managed to seeure an interpreter, and the old man, having had several good feeds and a bath which had at least removed the outer layer of filth from his person, was ready enough to talk. It seemed that he really bad walked all the way from the Atlantic coast, sleeping wherever was handiest and conking his slender meals in some old pots and dishes which he carried in a pack slung over his shoulder. He nlso had an old pair of shears with whieh he had kept his hair trimmed (and in fact he could do a very creditable tonsorial job.)

When he was first brought to the jail, attempts were mude to shave him, whieh were not very successful, owing to the wiry condition of the "alfalfn," but though each stroke of tbe razor drew blood, the old man nppeared no less anxious to submit to the ordeal and when the barber, who was merely an amateur and not steeled to the horrors of the profession, drew back ahudderingly from the sanguinary effeets of his labors, the heroic old sufferer plucked at his sleeve and motioned him earnestly to get on the job again.

About tbis time, reports tame in from trainmen of the P. M., who said they had come up with the old fellow, during his laborious progress along the trneks and had been forced to stop and get him off the right of way before they could proceed without his being carved up under the wheels.

It is thought likely that he had not deliberately intended to burn the handcar shanty, but that it hnd caught fire through his earelessness while he was cooking a meal under its shelter. One of the local physicians, who made an examination of the old man, gave it as his opinion that he had escaped from soma ana of the state asylums and had dropped completely out of sight until located here. He will be held for inveatigatioa.

SLIPPED AND FELL ON ICY STEPS

Mrs. S. M. See Sustains Serious Injuries In Accident.

Christmas joys were sadly alloyed with pain for Mrs. S. M. See, by reason of the serious accident sustained by her last Wednesday, when, in attempting to descend the back steps of her home on Dixon avenue, unassisted, she slipped and fell on their icy surface, fracturing her hip.

While the unfortunate victim of this painful and ill-timed accident, who is in her 81st year, has a chance for recovery, her advanced age, of course, so complicates the situation that it is impossible at this time to confidently predict the outcome. She is, however, enjoying the best of care and may pull through. She has the earnest prayers and wishes of her many friends for a speedy recovery.

BARNARD ONE DAY INSTITUTE

GAYLORD MAN WILL BE STATE SPEAKER

Topics of Great Value to Agriculturists to Be Discussed—Evening Session.

A meeting of tbe Charlevoix county Farmers' Institute will be held at the Barnard Grange hall on Tuesday, January 2, 1917. D. E. Ingalls, president, will preside, assisted by H. L. Barnum, seeretary, and James Willis, local manager. R. D. Bailey, of Gaylord, will be the atate speaker.

The program for the forenoon will be opening remarks by the local manager at 9:45, followed at 10:30 by paper, "Applications in Farm Management," by R. D. Bailey; 11:30, "Profitable Dairy Farming," Ed. Shapton. Then comes the noon reeess, followed by the question box at 1:30, und at 2:00 p. m., "Soil and Its Problems," by R. D. Bailey; "Diseussion of Alfalfa," by Will Burns, of Barnard; 3:00, "Application of Science In Modern Farming," by H. L. Barnum.

The evening session will include music and readings and an address hy R. D. Bailey, "The New Boy."

Everybody is requested to bring a basket of good things. Potluek dinner and supper. General good time.

WILL TALK ON NEED OF GOOD ROADS

Prominent Chicago Enthusiasts to Be Here Next Week.

Robert F. Hall, of Chicago, one nf Illinois' ablest speakers on the good roads circuit, accompanied by George H. Vun Pelt, will speak nt the Charlevoix eourt house on Thursday afternoon, January 4th, regarding the matter of federal and state aid for the building of a national highway through Charlevoix county.

This is a very important matter to the citizens nf the county and the Charlevoix Commercial assoeiation would request a large attendance at this meeting.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

DISCOVERS FIRE IN COAL BIN

LEADING BUSINESS HOUSE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Manager's Entrance In Blanchard Hardware Company's Store Averts Disastrous Fire.

H. K. Allen, of the Blanchard Hardware Co., discovered the begianings of what might have proved oaa of the most stubborn and destructives fires in the city's history, last Friday evening.

He had descended into the cellar of the store at closing time to see that the fires were properly banked and just as be was about to leave, thought he smelled gas. He dug down into the pile in the big bin witb his hand and experiencing an alarming sensation of warmth, picked up a shovel and dug down a foot or two, at which smoke began to arise from the opening.

He went out immediately, saying notbing to give the general alarm, and summoned one or two members of the fire department, who returned with him to the building and the party set themselves to moving tbe 20 tons of run of mine Pocohontas, with which the big concrete bin was filled. They worked until one o'clock in the morning to uncover the fire and found a mass of red hot coals nt the bottom of the bin, which had evidently been eating their way into the pile for hours. This they wet down thoroughly and finally succeeded in checking the last vestige of the slumbering fire.

It is not known how the fire started but all indications seem to show that spontaneous combustion was the cause. Much credit is due Mr. Allen for the masterly way in which he handled a critical situation.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB POPULAR

State Savings Baok Reports Wonderful Increase in Membership

Tbe Christmas Savings club at the Charlevoix State Savings bank, which was so popular last year and to which the bank has just distributed about $4,000, promises to far exceed this amount next year.

The officers of the bank estimated a 50 per eent increase for this next year over last year and secured enrollment eards and supplies aecordingly. On the 18th, the first day there were 125 members enrolled and many have enrolled each day since, and nt the elose of last week's business the supply of enrollment cards was exhausted. The bank telegraphed an order for additional eards whieh should be received by the latter part of this week which will aecommodate the many still desiring to join and who have been asked to wait uotil receipt of additionnl supplies.

In view of this the time for joining the eluh hus been extended until January 5th, 1917, thus giving all an opportunity to join the thrifty Christmas Savings club and receive eheeks for next year.

Worth Looking Into.

Many merchnnts have been surprised to learn the provisions of the cigarette law. They have thought the nge at which they could be purchased was 18 years instead of 21. The faet that it is also a crime for unyone under 21 years of age to smoke them in any public place or on the streets and alleys, is also surprising to many, as well as the section which makes the party liable who allows a minor to use cigarettes on his premises.

Attention K. of P.'s

Lodge every Thursday night.

HUNTERS OPPOSE ONE BUCK LAW

PROTESTS VOICED FROM ALL PARTS OF STATE

Law, If Enacted, Will Not Produce Results Claimed By Its Sponsers.

Strong opposition has developed in various parts of the state, and especially among the hunters of the upper peninsula, to the passage of the so-called "one buck law," which is sponsored by Game Warden Oates, and urged for the two-fold purpose of preserving the deer, and cutting down the alleged slaughter of that species, and also as a "safety-first" measure which would protect the hunters, and save human life now sacrificed in the woods.

Chief among the opponents of this proposed legislation, which will be considered in tbe coming aession of the atate legislature, is Dr. Karl Christofferson, of Sault Ste. Marie, who has prepared a petition protesting against the passage of any such measure, which petition is to be presented to Senator James C. Wood. Already several score of experienced hunters and woodsmen have signed it, and many more will do so before it is presented to the senator.

Following is the petition:

Petitioo to Senator.

"To Hon, James C. Wood, Senator 30th Senatorial District, Manistique, Mich.

"We, the undersigned, being bonafide residents of the 30th senatorial district of the state of Michigan, and as such, being interested in the prevention of accidents during the hunting season and the protection of all kinds of wild life, and the passage of valid lawa by the legislature of the state of Michigan that in any wise tend to nccomplish or further sueh purposes, do hereby protest against the passage by tbe legislature of said atate of the proposed "buck-law" so-called, for the reason that it is our unreserved opinion, based upon actual experience as hunters and true sportsmen, that sueh a law, if enacted, would not tend in any wise to lessen the number of accidents during the hunting season; that such a law would not, and could not, have any effeet whatever in tending to lessen the number of huntiag accidents during the deer season for the reason that the only aceidents recorded during that period, which are comparatively rare, are caused by a very small number of persons in the handling of firearms which no law could make them handle safely.

As Many Accidents.

"And as a further evidence of this it will he noted that there are just as many accidents in the hunting of small game as there are deer; on the other hand, such a law would only mean the increased killing of deer, due to the fact that "deer without horns" would continuc to be killed, and, after being so killed left in the woods, and such a practiee could nnly tend to create disrespect for the game laws of the state.

"In addressing this eommunication to you as our representative in the senate, we do as true sportsmen and experienced hunters, vitally interested in the enactment of any lawa thnt would tend in any way to promote the safety nf human life in the woods during the hunting season, and also foster and protect the wild life of this state, and as members of your eonstituency we, therefore, respectfully ask that you use your influence and office to defent the passage in the legislature of the so-called "buck-law," as its effect could be no other than harmful."

The nbove voicea the sentiment of a majority of hunters in Charlevoix and vieinity, and similar action will soon be taken here. The "one buck" law is a hobby nf State Game Warden Oates, as ia also tha proposed angler'a license, nlong same lines as the hunter'a license. Tbe real intent of the praposed law is, in our opinion, aimed at lnwer peninsular hunters who are unwelcome visitors to the upper peninsula huating grounds. It is hoped that every effort will be made to defeat the proposed measure.

CRAM-HANSHEW NUPTIALS TUESDAY

Well Known Charlevoix Youog People Surprise Friends.

Miss Florence Hanshew, the popular young bookkeeper at the County bank, and Mr. Verl Cram, of Flint, were married Tuesday morning at 6:45 at the home of the bride on Antrim street, Rev. C. E. Taggart officiating.

The young couple left immediately on the morning train for Flint, where the groom is employed in the Buick auto works and where they will make their home. While their engagement has been known for some time, the exact date of their marriage was not announced and now comes as a surprise to their many friends. Tbey have our congratulations and best wishes.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA

Well Known Charlevoix Residents Resume Former Occupation.

The following letter will be of considerable interest to the friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burdick, who left Charlevoix some two years ago to locate in the west:

Oakland, California,
December 8, 1916.

Dear Courier:—Kindly renew my subscription to the Courier, as we anxiously look for its appearance eaeh week. We are in the grocery business again, nnd are nicely located. Have a good business and pleasant people to deal with. I assist Mr. Burdick in the store and we keep one clerk.

We still have our little chicken ranch and are improving it all of the time, planting more trees, ete. We expeet to go back there and live again when we get tired of business.

We go out often, sometimes with the maehine. It is a beautiful drive of about 20 miles. We are also able to go out on the electric cars, which pass our plaee and atop at our door.

With the season's greeting to yourself and family and all friends in Charlevoix, we remain,

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burdick.

CELEBRATED HIS 82ND BIRTHDAY

Event Fittingly Observed Christmas at Home of Robert Matchett, Sr.

A eombinntinn birthday and Christmas party wns held at the farm home of Robert Matchett in Marion township on Christmas day, in honor nf Mr. Matchett, just turned 82.

Three married sons with their wives were present, including the oldest boy from Colorado, and three daughters and their husbands, making with the host and his wife, eight couples in all, with their children. A huge eake, bearing 82 candles, was but one of the party's interesting fentures.

Let us hnve more of these octogenarian and nonogenarian birtbday eelebrations. They give the lie direct to the cynic who ever nnd nnon crops up with the statement thnt we are a decadent race.

Mrs. Frank E. Bearss will be prepared to do dressmaking at her home, 704 Grant street, after January 1, 1917. Adv. 51t2

CAMP LIFE IS GROWING TEDIOUS

LITTLE DOING DOWN ON THE TEXAS BORDER

Soldier Boys Dream of Home and Yuletide Joys—Writer Confined In Hospital.

(BY HAROLD W. USHER.)

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 17.—Camp life in El Paso is dropping back into the old monotony experienced in Grayling. We all look forward with regret nt a Christmas away from home. No snow nor Christmas trees will be here to make things natural and homelike. The people of El Paso are planning on making a present of pies, cakes and candy to the soldiers, which will be received with joy. At present a carnival in honor of the soldiers is being held, which is attended daily by thousands of people. It brings back to me the days of the county fair.

The folks at home may think we are contented in every respect, but let them take a tent and go out into the woods for six months and althnugh enjoying themselves, they will find something in their every day life is sadly missing.

An epidemic of spinal memingitis is going through the camps but as yet no cases has been reported in the 33rd. Scveral in other camps have died.

Two new members, Sheephead and Voiles, have joined Co. I during the past few days. We wish them no bad luck, but you remember the new saying, "safety first."

Corporal Joe Wedderburn was found the other day sitting on his bunk with a letter in his hand, shedding tears of joy. The postmark was Charlevoix. (Ah, fair damsel, be careful of our little corporal.) No wonder he wants to get back home.

Sergeant Dit Patterson has thrown caution as to safety and sanitation to the wind and moved his belongings and person to the sergeant's tent. Wish you back, Dit.

I missed the high school notes in the last Courier, as I greatly enjoy reading them. Haven't heard as yat who is doing the writing, but the vernaeular sounds familiar.

(Word received Christmas day states that the writer has been confined in Fort Bliss hospital for the past six days, but that he was on the road to speedy recovery and is probably on duty again by the present time.)

WAS AN OLD RESIDENT OF CITY

Death of R. M. McKeel Reduces Number of Old Settlers.

R. M. McKeel, whose deatb, which occurred on Monday, December 18th, we mentioned in last week's issue, was one of Charlevoix's old residents, having followed the painting trade in this city for upwards of 20 years.

He had been in poor health for many months, and had suffered three strokes of paralyais, the last one coming upon him last July. About a month later, he fell and broke his hip, which seriously aggravated a conditinn that led up to his death last week.

The surviving relatives are his wife and daughter, Lillian, of this city, another daughter, Mrs. William Warner, of Savaanah, New York; a son, Walker McKeel, of Aurora, New York, and a brother, George, who lives in California.

The funeral waa held Thursday af last week from the home on Mason street.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION

School closed Friday for a two weeks' vacation.

Dr. John Reycraft, of Petoskey, was in town on Saturday.

A fine program was given at the M. E. church on Friday evening.

Orlando Johnson and Wallace Padgett left last week for Pontiac.

E. D. Collar returned to his home at Grand Rapids on Saturday evening.

There will be a Farmers' institute held at the K. O. T. M. ball on January 4th, 1917.

Paul Colden returned Thursday morning from Ann Arbor for the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. D. H. Geyer and daughter, Pearl, returned Thursday for a visit with relatives at Eaton, Indiana.

Little Geneva Geyer has been very sick for several days and was taken to Boyne Falls on Monday for treatment.

Elmer Hagar and wife are spending the Christmas week with Mrs. Hagar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mel. Gokee.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Moreau and Miss Adah Colden came down from Petoskey on Tuesday for a week's visit with their parents.

Mrs. M. S. Wheeler and two children and Mrs. W. J. Wheeler, of Deming, New Mexico, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Colden and family.

The funeral services for Mrs. T. L. Belding, of Walloon Lake, who died at the home of her son at Bellaire, was held at the M. E. church on Sunday afternoon, Rev. E. L. Shepard in charge. Mrs. Belding had for many years been a resident of Clarion and later of Walloon Lake, and her death came as a shock to her many friends here.

To Whom It May Concern.

You are hereby notified that my wife, Arrah E. Sneathen, has left my home and that I will not be responsible for any debts, accounts or obligations made by her from this date.

Dated November 21st, 1916.
47t6—pd. EARL SNEATHEN.

HAYES

Mrs. Clare Trafford is visiting her parents.

Lila Howe is spending her vacation at home.

Dulcie Howe is home for a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Ferris is hauling logs to Cooper's mill to get cut into lumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane arrived home from state Grange last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsac arrived at the home of Mr. Brayton Whightman last Thursday for Xmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Stroud and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster and brother, Harvey, visited at Moses Cooper's home last Wednesday.

Mrs. Pant and Stephane Kalrecki were callers at the homes of Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Myers last Thursday.

Moving picture entertainment Saturday evening showing Christ from Birth to death. Everybody invited.

The Maple Grove school entertainment was a success. Too much praise cannot be given the teacher and pupils.

Mrs. Webster, Harold, Harry Howe, Wilbur Lewis and Leo and Mrs. Pant went to the Hopyard Xmas entertainment Sunday evening.

Miss Milton, Maple Grove teacher, went home Friday evening to spend the holidays. Mr. Milton, brother of the teacher, and his cousin, came from Walloon Lake to the school entertainment last Friday evening.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be at the Charlevoix County bank December 30 and January 6, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. to receive taxes. At home Fridays.

WALTER RODGER,
Treasurer Charlevoix Township.
Adv. 51t2

EAST CHANDLER

Carl Clark was in Clarion on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Walton were Boyne Falls visitors Thursday.

F. H. Hahn and Arthur Crego were Vanderbilt callers on Thursday.

A sleigh load from here attended the Xmas exercises given at the West Chandler school house.

The Xmas exercises and tree held at the East Chandler school house Friday evening was much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Minn Walton and her sister arrived here Friday to spend Christmas with the former's daughter, Mrs. Bernie Adams.

School has closed here for a week's vacation and Miss Mabel Dunlop returned to her home near Boyne City to spend her vacation.

Be the first to get your pick of my line of Sweaters which I am closing out at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

BARNARD

George Ager, who has been working at Lansing, is home for the holidays.

Henry Walker has been in Boyne City the past week where he has procured employment.

Will Trimble, from near Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, is here on a visit to his old home.

Leslie Shapton, who is attending the University of Michigan, is home for a couple of weeks vacation.

Louis Shapton, who has been in Detroit for some months past, is home again and expects to remain indefinitely.

John Beattie arrived home from Detroit, Monday, to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beattie.

Our teacher, Mrs. T. J. Scroggie, is spending her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Howe, in Hayes.

Howard Gornell and family spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. Gornell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clarke in Charlevoix.

The Misses Jennie and Isabel Smith are spending the holidays at the homes of their sister, Mrs. Cleo Amer and Mrs. Blanche Behrent in Detroit.

Miss Maud Shapton, who is attending Albion college, came home Saturday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shapton, at Glenwood farm.

The Barnard M. E. Sunday school rendered their Christmas program Saturday evening, which was as usual greatly enjoyed by the large crowd who were in attendance.

The Misses Mamie and Beth Bennett, of Charlevoix, attended the program and remained over until Sunday evening visiting among friends and relatives.

John Holiday, of Van, Michigan, has recently purchased what is known as the Webster Helms farm and also that portion of the William Monty farm which lies on the eastern side of the state road, and expects to move his family, household goods, farm implements and stock here as soon as the conditions of the weather will permit.

I can save you money on Men's Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Coats, Socks, Mittens, etc. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Winifred Jardine is home from Lansing for the holidays.

The Xmas tree and program held at the school last Friday evening was well attended. Everyone went home with their arms full of presents and Christmas cheer in their hearts.

Vacation time now, but school will begin again on January 3 of the New Year.

Jack Jardine arrived home Friday evening from Big Rapids, where he has been attending school. He will return to his work after the holidays.

Miss LaLonde will spend her vacation at her home in East Jordan.

F. LaLonde and daughter, Bessie, of East Jordan, attended our Xmas program.

Our paints arrived last week and our first lesson was the making of Japanese lanterns, which we used for decorations. These paints were bought with the proceeds of our social on Hallowe'en night.

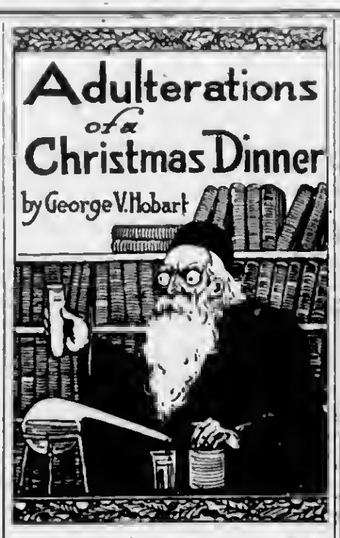
Try a Bar.

Bobbie Burns White Laundry Soap is a pure vegetable oil soap. Best for much soiled garments. Best for sensitive hands. Your grocer has it or can get it. Adv. 48t4

Another Spud Story.

C. W. Hastings was down from Central Lake the other day, and was telling a good potato story. "Curl" and another fellow had gone in "snucks" on 12 acres of potatoes near Central Lake, and invested about $260 in it in the way of seed, labor, etc. Along about August, during the dry spell, and notwithstanding the extreme hot weather, the other fellow got cold feet and wanted to dispose of his interest in the patch for what it had actually cost him. "Curl" obligingly helped him out and recently harvested over 2,000 bushels from the 12 acres.—Elk Rapids News.

Cash paid for old books and magazines. 1c for rags, ½c for magazines and books. See "Happy," 107 Belvedere avenue. Adv. 48tf



SAY! did you ever get reckless and give a Christmas dinner to an assorted collection of petrified relations?

Take it from me, dodging benzine buggies on the boulevard is sleepy work in comparison.

Friend wife concluded it was up to us to squeeze a few uncles and aunts into our 4 by 4 dining room and throw turkey wings at them, so I coaxed my nervous system to behave and told Peaches to cut loose.

She sat down and invited Uncle Peter Grant and Aunt Martha, Uncle Gregory Smith and Aunt Bessie. Then she went in, took another look at the dining room and stopped.

I invited Bud Hawley, his wife Sybil, and Hep Hardy, and explained to them that we would all have to sit edge-on at the table and get our meat cut in the kitchen, so as to avoid hitting each other on the funny bone, and it was so ordered.

Hep arrived early. He always does. He generally breezes in with the information that four pages of tango music are waiting for him in some hoof palace, and he has to hurry away, but on this occasion he concluded to see the fight to a finish.

Then the other members of our dinner party began arriving and the mad revel was on.

Uncle Peter brought a friend—the famous food expert, Doctor Smotherjoy.

The doctor is a high card with Uncle Peter.

He is one of those old ginks with bendy eyes and a license to hunt for germs, and everything he eats has first to give the countersign and then go through a written examination.

Uncle Peter believes every word that leaves Doc Smotherjoy's face, but for my part I think he's an old Camembert.

At any rate, no sooner were we seated at the table than Doc parted his whiskers carefully, coughed to attract attention, then picked up a little-neck clam on the end of his fork and proceeded to give it the third degree.

"The adulterstion of foodstuffs these days is being carried on to an extent worse than criminal," the old bluff began solemnly. "Ah, even here I see traces of sally-sillic acid with borax-phosphos even here on this clam."

"Put a little tabascos on it and cut loose," suggested Bud Hawley.

"Have a lemon," said Hep. "Squeeze it over the clams and make a wish."

Uncle Peter listened with marked attention, while Uncle Gregory glanced at his clams and shuddered.

The doctor ate his unconcernedly.

When the soup came on the Doc lifted a spoonful thoughtfully, then sloshed it slowly back into his plate, while the two uncles eyed him nervously.

"It's bullyon," whispered Uncle Peter, anxious to prove the soup's innocence.

"Here," said the doctor, examining his spoonful critically, "here are traces of hydrophosphates and about ten per cent philharmonic acid."

"I never eat soup," gurgled Uncle Greg, "because it's a waste of good space."

The doctor said nothing more, but quietly surrounded his soup.

When the fish was served the doctor danced over his plate with his fork and said, "Hydrostatic acid with here and there symptoms of manganese germs and a few sulphide microbes."

Uncle Gregory pushed his plate back with a sigh that was pitiful to hear.

Peaches was now so nervous that her hands were doing a shaker dust, and there was a big pink spot on each cheek.

The others at the table, with the exception of nervous old Uncle Gregory, paid not the slightest attention to Doctor Busyface.

Even Uncle Peter threw away his germ fear after the clam episode, and took a long chance with everything from soup to nuts.

Next we had some turkey with mashed potatoes, green peas and asparagus tips.

When Uncle Gregory saw all this his face broke out in a smile, and we could see his appetite roll up its sleeves.

"In this," the doctor began again, holding up a turkey wing on his fork, "in this we have a cold-storage turkey which has been treated with oxalic acid and chloride of potassium to keep it in a shivering state."

"Pardon me, doctor," exclaimed Peaches indignantly, "but it isn't a cold-storage turkey, because it was sent me as a present by some friends on Long Island only this morning."

"Possibly," went on Caterpillar Charlie, "possibly my hurried diagnosis was at fault, but we can never be sure about these things, because here, on the elbow of the wing, I find traces of calisthenic acid over the membranes."

"No, thank you," said Uncle Gregory, "I never eat turkey, it gives me the heartburn." And the poor old guy struck such a note of hunger that I wanted to throw that doctor out of the window.

By this time several others at the table were becoming more of less impressed, and the dinner party was beginning to assume the cheerful aspect of a meeting of martyrs an hour before the arena opened.

"Please pass me some mashed potatoes," whispered Uncle Gregory after the pangs of hunger had beaten him to the ropes.

"Here we find," croaked the doctor, raising a forkful of mashed potatoes, "here we find one of the most evil effects of food adulteration. This potato was grown in the fall of the year 1889, but it has been washed in alum water to give it the appearance of being modern, while its eyes have been treated with belladonna to make them bright and snappy."

Uncle Gregory groaned pathetically, and the rest of us, out of politeness, tried to look interested, but only succeeded in looking seasick.

When the ice cream and cake were brought on Doctor Smotherjoy drove his spoon down deep into the chocolate and vanilla mixed and said, "Here is a pitiful illustration of what dishonest tradesmen will do for money. Here we find that some of this ice cream was pale originally,

(Continued on page seven.)

YOUR FRIENDS
—ARE—
JOINING

We invite you to join our Christmas Savings Club and be one of the happy throng who will receive checks for next Christmas.

ENROLL NOW

Don't put it off—and off—until it is too late. Start right now while it it on your mind. Just make the first deposit and you are a full-fledged member. When the checks are distributed you will be delighted and will enjoy

A VERY MERRY XMAS

Because you will have money to make your self and friends happy. Make a small deposit weekly and you will be surprised how fast and how easy the account will grow.

Next year you can have enough for Christmas, taxes and fuel, and be relieved of that worry when the time comes if you join.

THE CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB
NOW

THE CHARLEVOIX STATE SAVINGS BANK

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

Protection

Every woman who is not insured should make her family a Christmas Gift of Life Protection with THE LADIES OF THE MACCABEES, the Oldest, Safest, Largest Woman's Fraternal Beneficiary Order in Michigan, (its native state.) Organized 1886. Founded by Women, for the Benefit of Women; conducted by Women. Every phase of life safeguarded. Maternity, Old Age, Death and Disability Benefits. Free (endowed) Hospital Beds for Women and Children. Relief Fund, Discontinuanee Plan, Social and Fraternal advantages. Adequate rates, based on National Fraternal Congress tables of Mortality. Certificates issued from $250.00 to $2,000.00. SAFE! SURE! SATISFACTORY!

ORIGINAL ORDER—Six times larger in Michigan than any other.

LADIES OF THE MACCABEES, headquarters at Port Huron, Mich.

Francea E. Burns, St. Louis, Mich., Great Commander. Emma E. Bower, M. D., Port Huron, Mich., Great Record Keeper.

Ella E. Tillotson, Charlevoix, Deputy.

"The Next Time You Give a Dinner Party Cut Out That Bug Doctor."

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Takes pleasure in announcing that it is prepared to take care of all kinds of welding, brazing and cutting. All metal joints can be successfully welded by the Oxy-Acetylene process.

Engine parts, such as cracked water jackets, piping, cylinder heads, flywheels, crank shafts, can be successfully repaired at a fraction of the cost of a new part. All kinds of metals in any kind of service can be repaired on short notice. Bring in your work and let us figure on your job.

PRICES REASONABLE. SERVICE RIGHT. WORK GUARANTEED.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence Withers, Prop.
Or Inquire at Erickson & Fowler's Garage.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

CHAPTER XIV.

Law and Lumber.

RAIN fell the following fortnight in a steady downpour that did not cease, even for an hour. Ragged, smokelike clouds hung over the valley at Thirty Mile, dragged so low by their own weight that they not only hid the upper peaks, but shrouded the lower ridges as well. They drove by in interminable files of gray, making sluiceways of every cut and drenching continually the men of the construction gang, who, in spite of the chill of that downfall, still sweated at their labor. But both Steve and Fat Joe, for all that they caught each day a deeper note in the hoarse complaints of those same men—a note no less ominous than was that newer, hoarser one of the swollen river—nevertheless were duly thankful that the leaden sky had at least a tinsel lining. It might have snowed.

A month earlier it had been Steve's plan to span that mile or so of swamp and bridge the river before the cold weather set in. Nor was his altered order of campaign due in any way to the storm which had raised the river and made of the alder dotted stretch of flat bog meadow an oozing, quaking morass. It no longer represented merely a positive not too alluring problem in engineering—that strip of swamp and open water. It had taken on a newer, strategic importance. And the change in Steve's plans, so far as the work at Thirty Mile was concerned, was as much due to the news which Fat Joe brought home with him one night toward the end of the next week as it was the result of the interview which he had held with Hardwick Elliott himself.

Joe had been a whole day absent on the north end of the line. Alone he had been over every foot of that all but completed stretch which ended at the border of swampland, there at headquarters, troubling himself not at all over the unevenness of the roadbed, satisfied entirely with the surety he gained with every inspected mile that a trainload of logs or a dozen trainloads would stay on the rails when the rails were laid and the day came to set wheels rolling. But the further report he brought back with him was far less reassuring.

"I wonder," Joe mused aloud that night—"I wonder, now, why any man who knows anything about handlin' timber should go to work botherin' himself with skidways leadin' down to the river when he knows, as well as Harrigan should know, that it ain't comin' out that way? It don't seem good sense nor logic to me, unless"—

He stopped there and left his own opinion unfinished. Since the evening Harrigan had stepped out of the main bunk house and disappeared, black rage in his face and a promise to return upon his lips, that lumberman's red head had been conspicuous only because it was absent from the landscape. So far Harrigan had failed to reappear, and Fat Joe's method of apprising his chief of his return to the Reserve company's payroll was distinctly characteristic. But Steve's reception of the news was little more than listless. He seemed to change the subject entirely.

"I don't see why it wouldn't be just as easy or easier," Steve replied, "to cross here on pilings practically the whole distance as it would be to fill and bridge too. And, if we were to look at it in that light, then why wouldn't it be still easier to drive those piles, say, next February or March, while the swamp is still crusted over and hard? It would afford us some sort of footing to work on then other than black ooze and hummocks. Wouldn't it seem so to you?"

"We'd still have that track north of here to lay," Fat Joe advised "when we work in from the south with steel."

"Surely," Steve admitted. "Of course. But wouldn't that be a better bet than to stand to see our embankment and bridge"—

He broke off there, just as Joe had hesitated a moment before. The undercurrent of meaning for which the latter's ears were waiting came to the surface, however, when Steve began again.

"Suppose, Joe," he pursued lazily—"suppose you had contracted with a railroad—an infant road too young even to be named—to move for you more timber than either of us will ever own, contracted in apparent good faith, when all along in your heart you were certain that the railroad itself would never be able to fulfill its half of the bargain. Granting such a state of affairs, Joe, what do you suppose you would do?"

"Maybe I'd hire me a red headed river dog," came Joe's answer, pat. "Maybe I'd hire me a bully boy boss of white water to build me some skidways to the nearest flood water, so's I could teach the infant railroad you mention that business was business, contract or no contract."

"Of course you would!" Steve agreed instantly, and he might have been complimenting a first primer favorite so pleased was his tone. "Of course you would. I'm afraid that was too easy for you, wasn't it, Joe? But now suppose you were bent on proving to everybody, and particularly to those who had fathered it, what an unfortunate weakling this immature, unnamed child of constructive silence really was. In that event how do you figure you'd conduct yourself?"

Joe smiled oddly, a little balefully. It was magic quick, that change in his expression, as swift as was the thought behind it.

"I'd have my logs all cut and ready to haul as an excuse, wouldn't I?" he inquired, with simulated anxiety. "Could I tell folks, through the newspapers, for instance, that I wasn't strong for letting my timber lie for the grubs to lunch on if I had to square myself?"

"Quite naturally." Until then Steve's face had kept its preternatural gravity. He grinned ever so faintly now. "Very naturally you'd want to save your winter cut."

"Then I'd like to have 'em build a bridge somewheres along the river I aimed to drive—a bridge and a nice dirt embankment, all dressed up with rails and ties and things on top. I'm allowed to suppose I've got an awful long standin' score, ain't I, along with all this timber? Well, that's what I'd like to have 'em do, then. And when I opened her up a few miles up river and she began to roar, when that first head of water bit the bridge and the sticks begun to grind, I suppose I'd take up my position on the bank where I could watch real well. I'd light me a long, black cigar and murmur sort of languid and sympathetic, 'There goes your railroad, gents!'"

"Such a move in itself would be outside the letter of the contract," Steve expostulated. "Why, they wouldn't dare do anything. They wouldn't dare to begin driving the river before your time was up, much less do damage to your completed work. What excuse—what legal excuse—could they give, even though they were morally certain that you were bound to fail?"

Very slowly, almost pityingly, Joe turned toward him.

"Legal!" he droned. "Moral?" And then he laughed his clear tenor outburst which barely escaped being a giggle. "Dear child, judiciously speaking, law and lumber and morals and mill feet don't mix. They don't mix at all in this section of the country. If they wanted to bother their heads with an alibi they could say it was top of flood and they weren't eager to be hung up just because a brass buttoned conductor promised 'em a through express in the morning. They could say— But what good would explanations do us, huh, if they sent a half million logs sky hootin' into our bridge? It wouldn't save our construction, would it?"

He wheeled back to Steve, his manner brisk.

"Do we leave that stretch open?" he asked. "Is that the way you have it figured?"

"I'm afraid we'd better," Steve said.

That was as close as they came to anything resembling a discussion of the change which was growing more and more noticeable in the bearing of the men at Thirty Mile. As far as all outward evidence was concerned, Steve seemed to ignore it utterly, to retreat oftener and oftener behind his habit of silence which even Fat Joe, after several unsuccessful garrulous attempts, gave over trying to penetrate.

It was not the hunger of his own heart; it was neither intolerance of restraint nor mental rebellion against the duties which were holding him so close upriver that had caused the chief engineer of the East Coast work to withdraw so completely within himself, although many times each day his eyes did wander toward the south and Morrison. During that bleak period Steve's thoughts were often of Barbara, but they were not somber thoughts. The very hardness of his life schooling had taught him too well how little of wisdom there is in fretting against the day of action when that day cannot be hurried nor controlled. Steadfastly he refused to let himself brood. If he could not go to her he would not, nevertheless, allow himself to dwell upon that impossibility. Instead his spirit ranged ahead to a hopeful, more or less indefinite and not too distant date when his absence might not seem to threaten too great a cost to those whose matters lay in his trust.

Steve had had little chance for conversation in those days with Garry, now an employee of the company as an assistant to Fat Joe, except for a word or two over a hastily snatched breakfast or perhaps at supper at night, and at night he was usually too tired to talk. But the other's growing restlessness had not escaped his notice. For awhile Garry had seemed to accept his continuance there at camp as a matter of course, and for that very reason neither Fat Joe nor Steve had dignified the thought of his possible departure by so much as a single spoken word. Garry's own actions first began to indicate how incessantly he was debating that question within his own brain. And one night toward the end of the week he finally reached the point of voicing a decision which was old in anticipation to Steve and Joe. They were on the point of going to bed. Garry had risen and then paused. He hesitated and crooked his arms and yawned a trifle too carelessly that evening.

"Well, this finishes another day," he remarked, nor did he realize how soulful were the words. "And I cleaned up the last of the stockroom today, Joe. A swift but accurate workman, eh? I'll leave behind a record unblemished by oversight or sloth. And now—now it's about time, I suppose, I was going back to town."

It was out, nor could the yawn conceal his eagerness. His back was turned, but Steve knew what light was in his eyes. Steve's carelessness was a far better thing than Garry's bad been.

"What's your hurry?" he inquired easily. "Why rush away? And if you think your industry has betrayed you into idleness you're reasoning poorly tonight. Want another job?"

Bantering indifference was the keynote of that reply. Mutually they had adopted it from the very first. It smacked of the freemasonry which always marked Steve's conversations with Fat Joe were they earnest or frivolous beneath the surface. It is always recognizable in the speech of friends such as they, differentiated from actual indifference by an intimacy of inference between the lines which makes such discourse almost foreign to uninitiated ears. But Garry's answer was not in kind. Steve was caught so far off his guard by the question which came flinging back at him that he was glad Garry had not turned.

"What else is there I could do?"

No man save one who was very, very tired could have spoken in such a tone; no man except one who has tried himself in the highest of courts—his own opinion of himself—could have put such a degree of contempt into so simple a query.

"Why—why"— Steve faltered, and then he took command of his own wits again. "There's work enough, don't doubt that," he exclaimed, and laughed a little. "Joe here will be another week or ten days finishing with the fill up yonder. He'll do well if he manages it by then and that, too, with every available hand we have. I don't want to rob him of a single man if I can help it, but I've got to go ahead with the line to the south. To put it concretely, I'm in need of a rodman. Do you think you'd care to oblige?"

Again the hint of banter persisted, but Garry's jaw was tight when he faced suddenly around.

"I will!" he flashed back hoarsely. "I will if it's a man's job. But I'm done with filling a dinky pad with rows of figures all day long. I'm finished with this dry tallying of cans of beans and soap and yards of rope. Do you understand? What work would I have to do?"

Out of the corners of his eyes Steve saw consternation overspread Fat Joe's face. His own was only amused.

"You'll have to swing an ax," he enumerated slowly, "and you'll have to lug a rod and tripod. You'll wade through bog and fight your way through underbrush. And then, for variety, swing an ax some more. If you've never learned yet what it is to be really tired, Garry; if you've never known what it is to go to bed wishing morning would never come, you'll find out what that's like too."

As soon as it was spoken Steve recognized the slip. Watching Garry's eyes widen, he knew that Garry had caught it also. For a moment a torrent of words trembled on the latter's lips, and then he swallowed and nodded shortly. The vague dreariness of his acceptance was fully as electrical as the threatened outburst might have been.

"Let it stand, Joe," he directed.

"I'll try it," Garry said very simply. "I'll have a try at it tomorrow."

And he pivoted on his heel and passed out.

Some minutes after he had gone Fat Joe, still a little dazed, rose softly and unostentatiously, crossed to a shelf shoulder high on the wall and reached to remove a quart bottle of brandy which Steve, returning home soaked through and through, had brought out and left standing there. But Steve checked him in the very middle of that act.

"Let it stand, Joe," he directed. "Leave it where it is."

As slowly as he had reached for it Joe started to put the bottle back. The very briefness of that order should have been warning enough, but Joe found it impossible to keep to himself his disapproval.

"All right," he acquiesced, "only I can't help remindin' you just the same that when a horse is runnin' his heart ain't it's kind of superfluous to lay on the whip."

And then the whole accumulation of those days of silent perplexity, of indecision and fruitless mental forays spilled over upon Fat Joe's entirely innocent head. Steve shot around and leveled a peremptory finger.

"Whip—be hanged!" he barked. "Put that bottle back!"

Joe's fingers came away as though the glass had blistered them.

"Land's sakes!" he exclaimed, and in a voice that was chastened and meek when he had caught his breath. "Please and it's back!"

Chronic ill temper could hardly have persisted in the face of that reply, and Steve's had been but a mood. His first chuckle was in itself a plea for pardon. He supplemented it aloud.

"I'm sorry, Joe—I'm worried. I've got a job on my hands that bothers me. It appears to be simple enough until I get to planning how to tackle it, and then I can't make any headway at all. But there isn't anything to be gained in hiding that stuff; that's one of the things I need to know. It's better where it is."

Joe waved a hand in bland dismissal of the apology

"My mistake," he averred, "though your harsh words have hurt me sore. I don't quite savvy it yet, but it's your affair, not mine. You're dealin' and bankin' the chips. And before now I've seen lots of well meanin' bystanders get all mussed up from tryin' to horn into another man's pastime. I'd ought to have knowed better."

(To be continued next week.)

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 49t4

Now is the time to buy your Christmas presents. I am closing out my line of Sweaters and will save you dollars. Banj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

Determination of Heirs.

The Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 8th day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph H. Blackwood, deceased, Howard M. Blackwood having filed in said court his petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of his death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 29th day of December, A. D., 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.
50t3

WANTED

20 Kiln Wood Cutters

75c per Cord

Will Cut 3,000 Cords

See C. BEERS

Orchard Bay Farm

NOTICE

Charles H. Hansen, Architect

has permantely located offices in Charlevoix, on VanPelt Court, and will be here Wednesday and Friday of each week. He will be glad to take up your building matters and furnish approximate estimate on anything along this line.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Get Ready for Winter Quick

IT IS ALMOST HERE

Fuel this winter is going to be very high. You can not afford to waste it, which you will do, if your heating plant is not in first-class condition. If you feel that your Coal Bills are too high, let me look over the heating plant with you---it will not cost you a cent and I may be able to suggest something that will save you some money. Phone 208 or drop me a card.

Yours truly,

ALONZO POWERS

Plumbing and Heating Engineer

Phone 208 :-: :-: VanPelt Place

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

TARIFF TRUTHS FROM SUGAR

We have raised very little sugar beet seed in this country. We have relied mainly on Germany for the supply. It has been suggested that it would be advisable to place a protective tariff on this seed in order to encourage its production here. Colorado is raising some and experiments of the department of agriculture have convinced our government scientists that it can be grown elsewhere in this country. But, inasmuch as we import practically all we require for the propagation of the sugar beet, and its metamorphosis into beet sugar, it follows that the amount of our importation of beet seed is a first class indication of the state of the beet sugar industry here.

For example: The Democratic party made a 25 per cent reduction in the duty on sugar when they passed the present law, and all the duty was to be taken off beginning with May 1, 1916. This was for the benefit of the seaboard sugar refiners, who wanted to get their Cuban raws in at less cost and be in better shape to drive the western beet sugar men out of the eastern market, and as the refining trusts was a large contributor to the Democratic campaign fund the Democrats were "practical men."

But the effect of this reduction, together with the prospect ultimately of free sugar, was disastrous to the beet sugar industry. Hence we find that while during the first nine months of 1913, before a sugar duty reduction was dreamt of—for we had the president's word for it that no such thing would happen—we imported over 12,000,000 pounds of sugar beet seed, while for the first nine months of 1914, after the beet sugar men had found out what was in store for them, and when the business was in a state of depression, we imported but 4,900,000 pounds of the seed, and in 1915, with the prospect of free sugar still staring them in the face, our best sugar growers imported but 3,000,000 pounds of the seed during the first nine months of that year.

The following year the Democrats got cold feet. Their tariff bill was a failure as a revenue producer and the revenue to be derived from sugar was very considerable. So they struck out the provision stating it for the free list on May 1 of that year. With the assurance of at least a little protection on their product, and with a colossal war order business to engross their attention, the effect on the beet sugar producers was magical, and we find that for the first nine months of the current year our imports of sugar beet seed jumped to 18,500,000 pounds most of it now coming from the Russians. And then the great beet sugar states, Colorado and Utah, who had apoplexy because of Mr. Wilson's treatment of them in the latter part of 1913, turned around and voted him into power again in 1916, while the price of sugar has gone so high that the consuming public has to use "long sweetenin'."

THE PUBLIC AND ADVERTISING

Among the objections to advertising entertained by certain merchants the following was encountered the other day. One man said he had no question that advertising was read. He thought that even if the most attractive bargains are announced by a home merchant his own townspeople would not credit it. Distant things looked so much better for their time and trouble.

This point of view struck us as rather unusual, and indicated a good deal of pessimism about human nature. Are people quite so foolish as that?

It seems incredible, in these days of high prices, that people can for any length of time be cajoled or fooled into neglecting their interests. If a home store really has the goods, at right prices, and will tell the public about them, it should get plenty of business. People are not anxious to pay express charges or railroad fare and walk long distances for nothing.

The trouble is that the local merchant too often thinks that the public knows all about what he has without being told. But if people get out of the habit of trading at a certain place, they really know very little of what a merchant has.

He may be a very good buyer, he may be an excellent judge of values, able to land goods in his home town and place them on his counters at rates way below the big city store which has heavy overhead charges to pay. But the public is from Missouri. It wants to be "shown." If it is not "shown," it goes to some quarter where there is a disposition to get after business and give information about stock.

READY FOR BOND ISSUE

Maintaining troops along the Mexican border at a cost of $20,000,000 a month, foreseeing a deficit of nearly $200,000,000 at the end of the next fiscal year, contemplating an issue of bonds to meet this expense, the leaders of the Democratic party at the capital are arguing that "all nations, including the United States, have always paid for wars and warlike operations by means of bond issues." Evidently "he kept us out of war," only until the election was over.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred.
Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

BOYS MUST STAY OUT OF POOL ROOMS

Charlevoix Chief of Police Will Rigidly Enforce New Order.

By a recent order of the chief of police no boy of school age is to be permitted in or around any pool room in the city, at any time during the day, for the remainder of the school year.

Proprietors have been warned regarding this regulation, which will be rigidly enforced. We consider the idea a good one, and the people should stand behind their officer and report promptly any and all violations.

LOSS OF ONE DAY CRIPPLES WORK

Courier Prints But Eight Pages On Account of Holiday.

Owing to a day having been nipped off our usual quota for getting out the paper and devoted to Santa Claus and his annual work of rejuvenating a hard-hearted world, the Courier will appear with only eight pages this week instead of the usual ten.

While we had to reduce in point of quantity, we have tried to put a little extra ginger of quality into the contents so that it might not fall below the standard which we have endeavored to maintain in the past and towards which our face will be steadfastly set during the coming year.

Five Courses Offered.

To accommodate students who may enter the Mt. Pleasant Normal, January 2, five courses are offered in the following lines of work: Arithmetic, algebra, agriculture, botany, bookkeeping, drawing, English, literature, grammar, geometry, history, hygiene, manual arts, music, physical training, physics, physiology, pedagogy, psychology, penmanship, reading, rhetoric and rural sociology.

January 2, 1917, will be a good time to enter the Central State Normal school at Mt. Pleasant, Michigan.

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a number of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv, 52tf

Watchnight Meeting.

The Methodist church will hold a watchnight service next Sunday night. The Epworth League will begin promptly at 7:30 in the church auditorium. The meeting will continue until we watch the old year out and the new one in. Bring your Bibles and come in the spirit of prayer and praise. God has been good and we will give Him the glory.

QUINTON WALKER,
Pastor.

Pays Annual Dividend.

The Charlevoix State Savings bank will pay its stockholders the usual 7 per cent annual dividend on January 2nd, 1917, to stock of record December 27, 1916. The stockholders, officers and directors are all much pleased with the greatly increased business this bank has enjoyed the past year and will continue to give its customers the usual good service in the new year.

Don't forget the Alma Quartette at Methodist church Thursday evening. Adv, 52tf

The Beautiful Adventure

by Izola Forrester

(Copyright.)

IT was a supreme test of friendship, visiting the Delmars on New Year's. Wrapped to her ears in fur, with a cap meeting her collar, Winifred stood on the bleak little platform at Byers' Corners and looked through the snowfall for anything that seemed to be a conveyance.

She had left Boston at 5:45—plenty of time to reach Windyheath in good time, Anne had written her.

"It's just a nice little run over from Providence on the Providence and Willamantic line. We'll meet you at Byers' Corners. The trains only stop there on signal or to let off visitors, and the only visitors that ever come are ours. If Rolf or I can't come over I'll send a wonderful substitute."

Evidently Rolf, Anne and the substitute had been overcome by the storm. Trains had been delayed from Boston to Providence and on the little local line they had waited again and again along the way. There had been no real need of any signal to let her off when Byers' Corners came in view. The drifts were so high that it took the train 20 minutes to get out of Byers' Corners, let alone getting in.

But again Anne had written:

"Don't feel discouraged getting to us. We live in the quaintest little village perched on the top of a hill, but it is wonderful when you get here, and we're piling on big logs for you and the latchstring dangles, so be sure and come. Also, I have your—roommate! He has come true, Win, at last, and he's all that anyone who loves you could wish for you."

Stood on the Bleak Little Platform.

It certainly was stimulating, if nothing else, both the lure of the letter and the trip itself. Winifred went around the other side of the tiny station and heard voices. A man was arguing about some way of reaching the Delmars, and the stocky driver of a two-horse sleigh demurred evasively.

"It's nine miles ordinarily up there and we'd have to go roundabout by Butts' bridge tonight 'cause the roads ain't been broke through t'other way, and then like enough we'd never make it. It's worth five dollars to drive over there, every cent of it."

"I'll pay you five," said the stranger. "Hurry up."

"I can't guarantee to get you there, but I'll do my best. This here's the only team in town you could get tonight. There's a dance over at Pomfredt Green and everybody's gone. I meant to go, but I had to take some folks down to this train, so I don't mind making a little going since I had to earn some coming."

"Oh, could I go with you, please?" Winifred broke in. "I'd pay half, don't you know, and there's plenty of room. I'm going to the Delmars, too."

It seemed too good to be true when she found herself safely tucked away on the back seat, with buffalo robes around her and the two horses taking up the road splendidly, their hoofs throwing back a spray of light snow.

He was Gregory Ramsdell, he told her, writer and globe trotter. He had just got back from a year at the front in Europe and he said Connecticut hills looked better to him than all the old world put together. Even in the darkness the pine trees stood out, their branches heavy with snow, and before them here and there in the fields were clumps of white birch and red oak, with dry leaves still clinging to their boughs. The stars shone ruthlessly up in the winter sky.

Gregory half turned in his seat and talked. They had many friends in common. He had known Rolf since they were boys back in Denver. Neither of them noticed after five miles had been covered that the horses were walking, breasting the drifts and literally wading through, until they came to a dead halt and the driver jumped out. They couldn't go on, he said. The snow was up to the top of the fences as far as one could see. He could turn around and get them up to the old Annabelle Smith place, where there was a telephone, and they could call up Windyheath.

"It's only nine-thirty," Gregory said reassuringly. "And we don't get an adventure every day. Let's go."

The Smith place was dark when they reached it, but the driver knocked lustily and finally there was a faint, frightened voice from the inner side of the front door asking who it was at that time of night. Gregory explained, with the driver's help, and they were admitted.

"But you can't get word through tonight. The wires don't work. They never do after a big storm on these here party lines," said Miss Smith, holding up a big oil lamp. "Just step right out into the kitchen and you stir up the fire, Ira. Make yourselves to home, folkses. Ira can drive back and maybe telephone from the village up there."

Winifred never forgot that New Year's eve. After Ira had gone, they sat out in the cheery old kitchen, drinking tea, eating nuts and apples and mince pie, and getting fearfully well acquainted, as Miss Smith put it laughingly. Gregory carried in wood and split kindlings for morning, and locked up for the night. While Miss Smith went up to look after her old bedridden father, they sat together by the fire, and somehow talk died away. The old clock up on the chimney mantel softly struck twelve in the silence. Winifred looked up and smiled, her head leaning back on the cushioned top of the old black rocker.

"Happy New Year!" she said. "Isn't it the queerest thing, our being way up here miles from everyone we know, and not knowing each other even, and starting off the new year together?"

"It's great." Gregory clasped his hands around one knee, seated on the woodbox under the big Dutch oven. "I'm not superstitious, but after rambling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he's telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Windyheath. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes, with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been 'phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it couldn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything, Anna. We've been right out into the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Start the New Year Right by Trading at

LEVINSON'S

Dry Goods Clothing

Let us convince you that your resolution is for your Best interest

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

We Are just Finishing a Year

In which we have already sold more goods than during any previous year in our history. The largest increase has come in the sale of

IRON DUKE FLOUR

Yet we are not satisfied. We want both mills running all the time on this Flour.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE PRESENT DEPRESSION IN PRICES AND TRY A SACK.

—For Sale Everywhere—

Argo Milling Co.
Manufacturers

We wish you
A Happy New Year
and many Returns of them

Following are Cash Bargains till New Years

25 lbs. Puritan Flour	$1.25
24½ lbs. Commereial Flour	$1.20
25 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$2.00
1 lb. Oleomargarine	25c
2 lbs. Blue Ribbon Raisins	25c
1 pekg. Silver Bar Raisins	10c
Plymouth Rock Salmon	19c
1 lb. Citron Peel	20c
1 lb. Lemon Peel	20c
1 lb. Orange Peel	20c

A. E. MASON

Start the New Year Right
by making our store
Your Daily Trading Place
We have the goods, give the service, as hundreds will tell you

Edward Klooster
Phone 53 113 Bridge Street
Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

No use delaying! Dont let the next cold snap catch you unprepared. The sooner you get a Florence Hot Blast Heater, the quicker comfort will come. They are, wonders in economy, requiring the minimum supply of fuel. They will save you from 1-3 to 1-2 on your coal bill.

GET FULL VALUE OUT OF YOUR DOLLAR, REMEMBER THE FLORENCE BURNS WHAT OTHER HEATERS WASTE

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Old Father Time

By HARRY IRVING GREENE

Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.

I came with Space, and hand in hand,
We two sat here alone,
As two twin Kings of equal might
Sit side by side athrone.
While eons came, and eons went,
In ceaseless passing flight,
And all was still as dungeons deep,
And black as moonless night.

Then age by age—a million years
We watched the Sun take form,
While through the void in endless count,
The Stars were being born.
And then from out unfathomed Space,
We saw the world appear.
I shook my glass—and from it fell,
A Sand of Time—the first New Year.

The Years! I watched them come and go,
'Till I could count no more,
The Old—the New—like falling rain,
Or sands upon a shore.
Through age of Mist, and age of storm,
And age of sweeping Flame,
'Till last Man came with gift of speech,
And gave to me my Name.

Old Father Time, he calls me now,
As close I glean my tithe.
I walk the Earth with silent thread,
Yet ever sweep my Scythe.
Forever old, yet doomed to live,
I'd rest—but none is here.
Again I raise my Glass and pour
Another Sand—a new, New Year.

ADOPT EARLY CLOSING HOURS

Charlevoix Barbers Follow Example Set By Merchants.

A new set of rules have been adopted by Charlevoix barbers to take effect immediately.

The shops will be apen in the morning at eight sharp and closed promptly at 6:30 p. m., except Saturdnys, when they will remain open until ten o'clock.

No person will be admitted, under any circumstanees, after the closing hour.

This is done in order to give the operatives a chance to become acquainted with their families during the winter months.

Marion Center Auxiliary.

The ladies af Marion Center Grange auxillary will meet with Mrs. Rhoda Wooley on Thursday, January 4, in an all day session. All members are requested to be present.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished hy different dealers ot the different products. All quotations are believed to he correct at the time ohtalned, hut are subject to ehange from day to day with market fluetuations.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, 1916

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.25
Red wheat, per hu.	1.30
Beans, per bu.	5.25
Red kidney beans, per hu.	5.75
Oats	.54
Barley, per ewt.	.78
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.10
Shelled corn	.85
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Beef, dressed	8.00 to 10.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	.13
Turkeys	.18
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lh.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.37
New potatoes, per hu.	1.35
Honey per lh.	15
Salt	1.45

See us for your Job Printing.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on Page 8

Hugo Hampton is home for the holidays.

Will Finucan is here from Chehoygan to spend Christmas.

William Crosby, of East Jordan, visited in Charlevoix, Friday.

C. Gallagher, of St. James, was a visitor to the city Thursday.

Homer D. Zipp, of Petoskey, spent Christmas day at the Hotel Charlevoix.

Mrs. Frank Coatta and son left Friday morning on a visit to Detrait.

Mrs. Charles Ilyers is visiting her mather-in-law in Hayes township this week.

A. P. McDonough, of St. James, was a guest of the Hotel Charlevoix, Saturday.

J. Leslie Crane and wife arrived in this city Friday to spend the holidays.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raber last Sunday morning.

Miss Marion Parsons is spending Christmas holidays with her parents in this city.

Capt. Sam Rose got back Friday with a load of spawn for the local fish hatchery.

A. D. Crimmins left Friday morning to spend the holidays at his home in Copemish.

Cleo Crampton returned Monday from Detroit to spend the holidays with his family.

Earl Preston, of Petoskey, spent Christmas day at the home of R. A. Emrey of this city.

Ed. Weaver, of Petoskey, spent Christmas day at the home of Leon F. Brower in this city.

Percy Crane arrived home Saturday night from Chicago to spend Christmas with his parents.

Mrs. Frank Kephart, of Traverse City, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Art Bergeon.

Miss Helen Parsons returned last week from Almn college to spend the holidnys with her parents.

John Harsha, wife and child, of Detroit, are visiting tbeir parents in this city, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harsha.

Arthur Edwnrds returned last week from Ferris Institute, where he has been taking a course in telegraphy, to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. nnd Mrs. Albert Edwards.

E. J. Hiller, who left last Friday for Grand Rapids to spend Christmas with friends, returned Tuesday morning.

Miss Helen Armstrong arrived home Sunday afternoon from Chicago, having driven over hy car from Petoskey.

Mrs. L. Crighton and her father arrived in Charlevoix, Saturday, to spend Christmas at their home on the north side.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller and family, of Petoskey, spent Christmas in this city at the home of W. Herschel Miller.

Tom Nowland, of Antrim street, returned home Friday night from Ellsworth, where he has been making a short visit.

Peter McCafferty, Jr., made a flying visit to this city Friday night, returning to Cleveland, Saturday, for the holidays.

Miss Mary Clarke left Tuesday for Ludington to spend her two weeks vacation with Rev. Holden A. Putnam and family.

The steamer, City of Boyne, arrived in this port Snturday night. The report that she had sunk was entirely unfounded.

Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, of Atwood, is at the Ed Coberly home, taking care of Mrs. Coberly and the newly horn twins.

Mrs. William Seroggie, who has been seriously ill nt the Harper hospital in Detroit, following an opernion, is reported better.

Leo Powers and wife arrived in Charlevoix, Saturday, to spend the holiday week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Powers.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coberly, Fridny morning, December 15th, a twin boy and girl, Edward Willinm and Ruth Elizheth. Wow!

The Missea Clare Finucan nnd Jnne Mitchell arrived in Chnrlevoix, Saturday, from Detroit to spend the holidays with their respective families.

Mrs. P. L. Anderson spent Christmas day in Charlevoix nt the homes of her daughters, Mrs. Mont Withers and Mrs. Leon F. Brower on Clinton street.

Miss Lillian Emrey returned Sundny from Detroit, where she has been spending a two weeks' vneation from her duties in the register of deeds' office.

Greetings to Our Customers

This department extends its sincerest wish to all friends

For a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

GOOD BOAR for service, $1.00 cnsh. Joseph Sprik, R. F. D. No. 4. 51tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good bnse burner wood stove. Inquire nt this office. 50tf

WANTED—20 kiln wood cutters, 75 cents per cord. Will cut 3,000 cords. See C. Beers, Orchard Bay Farm. 51t2

WANTED—Men who desire to earn over $125.00 per month write us today for position as salesman; every opportunity for advancement. CENTRAL PETROLEUM CO., CLEVELAND, OHIO. 52tI—pd

WANTED—Ambitious men desiring to earn $35.00 or more per week. Every salesman given special training. Unlimited opportunities. Write immediately. POWER LUBRICATING CO., DETROIT, MICH. 52tI—pd

Unpalatable.

The Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon was fond of a joke, and his keen wit was, moreover, based on sterling common sense. One day he remarked to one of his sons:

"Can you tell me the reason why the lions didn't eat Daniel?"

"No, sir. Why was it?"

"Because the most of him was backbone and the rest was grit."

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

The Thumb.

Thumbs have been appreciated ever since the world began. The ancients osed to call the thumb the other haad. Barbarous kings ased to swear and make compacts by their thumbs. In Rome it wss a sign of favor to wring and kiss the thumb and of disfavor or disgrace to lift it up or tura it outward. A maa who was burt in his thambs was excused from servlag in tbo Romnn wars. Some of the scoundrelly citizens used to cut off their thumbs so as to remain at home aod get rich.

A King's Retort.

Hume in his "History of England" after describing the reign of Charles II. says, "It has been remarked of Charles that he oever said a foolish thing nnd never did a wise one—a censure which, though too far carried, seems to have some foundation in his character nnd deportment."

When the king was informed of this saying he observed that the matter was easily accounted for, for his discoarse was his owa, hut his actioas were tho ministry's.

J. L. Crane

CLEARING SALE LADIES' WAISTS

Washable, Heavy Weight, Medium Weight and Sheer Materials

SIZES 36 to 46

WORTH $1.00 AND MORE

THIS SALE 69 cents

SATURDAY—40, 50, 60 White and Black Thread, per Spool 3c

The Store of Quality and Good Service

We Wish You a Happy and Prosperous New Year and hope that we will be able to serve your wants in the Grocery and Meat lines during the coming year as we have during the season just passed.

We will have everything in the line of

FANCY AND STAPLE GROCERIES, FRUITS, NUTS, CANDIES, CELERY, LETTUCE, RADISHES

Choiced Mixed Nuts, Cranberries, Oranges

Do not buy elsewhere until you have seen our display.

IN OUR MEAT DEPARTMENT

We have plenty of Dressed Fowl, Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens; all our own dressing. Fresh Pork and Beef.

Again we wish to thank you for your patronage and past courtesies and wish you the Season's Greetings.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64. Store closes at noon Xmas day.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

THE SEQUEL TO

"The Diamond From the Sky"

Tuesday, January 2nd

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 108 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

LEGAL NOTICES

Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 11th day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of William J. Robinson, deceased, the National Surety Co., of New York, having filed in said court a final administration account, and a petition praying for the allowance thereof and for their discharge as surety on the bond of Phillip B. Wachtel as administrator, de bonis non of said estate.

It is Ordered, That the 28th day of December, A. D., 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
5013 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Adolph B. Mujor and Ida Major, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Unlnn Trust & Savings bank of Fliat, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd dny of June, 1911, and recorded in the office of the register nf deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due upon the principal and interest computed to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and the further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars tnxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein deserized, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or nny part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, nt nne o'clock in the nfternoon, we shall sell, at public auction, to the highest hidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevnix county, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per cent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dnllnrs covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as being situate in tbe Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), town thirty-tbree (33) north of range four (4) west; and the southeast quarter (¼) of tha southeast quarter (¼) of section nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less

Dated, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
44t13 Mortgagee.
BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Flint, Michigan.

Performance of Land Contract.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased, Gilbert Ferris having filed in said court bis petition praying that tho administratrix of said estate be authorized and directed to convey certain real estate in pursuance of a certain contract made by said deceased in his lifetime.

It is Ordered, That the 11th day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
6213 Judge of Probate.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

December 19, 1916.

Regular meeting of the bonrd was called to order by President Hampton.

Trustees present: Hampton, Bridge, Nordrum and Hiller.

Absent: Glassford.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $591.61.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Orders December 19, 1916.

981	Nesotyle Co., supplies	$ 15.25
982	Ellis Pub. Co.	3.32
983	Independent Pub. Co., magazines	.60
984	Charles Howard, truant work	6.40
985	H. A. Craig, stamps	3.00
986	T. Kibbe, services	1.50
987	W. Staley, janitor	22.50
988	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	22.50
989	Mrs. A. Allison, janitor	7.50
990	Mrs. Wesley Staley, cleaning	2.00
991	Wood Bros.	59.76
992	E. P. Dutton Co., supplies	3.48
993	Theo. Robertson Co., supplies	48.80
994	J. L. Crane, domestic science	.50
995	Odillion Weed, office	1.50
996	City treasurer, light	64.70

Library Orders.

310	Anna Bon, librarian	30.00
311	Anna Bon	2:34
312	A. C. McClurg & Co., ref.	11.07
313	A. Flanagan Co., supplies	6.51
314	Wesley Stoley, janitor	7.50
315	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00

Moved nnd supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders for the various funds for the amount of each respective bill.

Motion carried.

Moved and supported that the matter of additional radiation for a number of rooms at the central and high school buildings be referred to the committee on buildings with power to act.

Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on motion the board adjourned.

E. J. HILLER, Secretary.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service, 7:15 p. m.
Service Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.
Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services nt Burgess School house every Sunday evening at 7:30.

Catholic Church.
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 n.'m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

M. E. Church.
A. m.—"Alpha and Omega."
P. m.—Watchnight service.

Congregational Church.
Public worship nt 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meetiag at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.
Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

The largest Spanish chestnut tree in the world grows on the slopes of Mount Etna. It is said that 100 soldiers and their horses once found shelter beneath it from rain.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

OF NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

usually stops a stubborn cough or chest cold when ordinary specifics fail.

It helps strengthen the lungs and throat—adds energy to the blood—and gives the system the force to help resist disease.

Use SCOTT'S
Refuse Substitutes

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-6

VAN PELT'S TOURING DIARY

Van Pelt sends us the following clipping from the Chicago Tribune, showing plainly that his plan for Charlevoix county, using our own share of the $75,000,000 appropriated by congress for building good roads throughout the United States, is the right and proper thing to do, instead of going ahead and spending it without utilizing our part of the appropriation.

"A rosy future for good roads throughout the United States as a result of the passage of the federal land aid bill was predicted at Hotel Sherman yesterday by speakers who addressed the third annual session of the northwestern road congress. 'The new law brings the building of stote trunk lines to a point that meets the wants of state traffic,' said F. A. Cannon, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Good Roads association. 'Its whole spirit will result in each state planning a comprehensive highway system, built and operated under state supervision and constructed with federal funds.'

"Joe L. Long, of Moline, Illinois, secretary of the congress, told his hearers the hardest job he knew of was convincing city dwellers that good roads are as vital a matter to them as to the farmers. "Automobilists want good roads, of course,' he said, 'but that phase of the question is the merest trifle. As a matter of fact, the Chicago laboring man is the highest toxed person in Illinois, simply because bad roads make his food products cost more.

"'Eight times more tonnage is supposed to go over our roads than over the railroads. When bad roads handicap the farmer and make him pay railroad fare, prices go up.'

"Much of the interest at the evening session centered in an illustrated description of the work of a manufacturing concern which makes a specialty of 'good roads trucks' and their operation in road building."

Surely, some one in Charlevoix county ought to be sufficiently interested in saving themselves some mnney and, especially so, when we all know that our present system is simply a very foolish expenditure of money and the upkeep of these roads means a lot of money out of every taxpayers pocket.

Why not now get together and build a good cement road on our West Michigan Pike and the Dixie Highway from Antrim county to Emmett county—the entire length? This is the time to do it before the portion nssigned the state of Michigan by the United States government is all gone. Somebody is surely going to get it and it is up to you workers to get it now.

VAN PELT.

Charlevoix County Needs Our Undivided Loyalty.

Loyalty to one's country is a natural inborn duty. That should need no defence. We have three cities in our county, each one governed by u mayor and councilmen, who all have civic pride, civic duty and civic patriotism. At least, unless such be the case, they should not represent the people. The man who looks upon our cities and county as simply u phlee in which to live and to make money is not worthy the name of citizen, unless he is willing to spend a portion of his gains for the betterment and enrichment of the county. Every man in our county should not only be a real citizen, but he, too, should be an asset. The future reputation of our county depends entirely upon the loyalty and the course which we adopt, as citizens, in our business towards each other and to tourists.

We want n Charlevoix county spirit. We grow good fruit. Stamp the boxes the fruit is packed in "Grown in Charlevoix county," and then see that every apple is worthy the wrapper (bearing the same stamp.)

We have great possibilities in Charlevoix county. New bills are to be introduced in the legislature this winter in order to distribute the federal roads money. Under this plan, the federal government will pay 50 per cent, the state 15 per cent and the county 35 per cent of the total cost of construction, which may be called national value. This means the West Michigan Pike from Miami, Florida, to Mackinac City, nnd if the state pays the sum of $3,500 nddditional on this road, which it is safe to say it will, just see what a very small sum it would cost our county to build this 16 foot concrete road. It can be built a good deal cheaper—no, I mean it will cost the county a good deal less for this road than a gravel road has cost and it will draw thousands of people to our beautiful county. Just think of it. A good concrete road from the north side of Antrim county to the south side of Emmett county.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

POTATO GROWERS SHOULD ORGANIZE

SCHEME TO IMPROVE INDUSTRY IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Constitution and By-Laws Which Are Used by Similar Organizations.

Charlevoix county haa the right soil and climate conditions for successful potato production. This section of Michigan is also better located with respect to markets than the famous potato growjag regions of Maine and Colorado. With our good soil, favorable climate and easy marketing advantages there is needed only united effort on the part of the growers to put Charlevoix county in the same class with Aroostook county, Maine, known the world over for its potato crop. An organization of growers would also pave the way for a marketing company or produce exchange, and thus with the production and marketing of the crop handled according to the best known methods, the growers of our county would prosper whether the crop was big or small or the price high or low.

The following outline is the form of constitution for growers' associations which has been worked out by the secretary of the state potato growers' association. The six objects of the association as set forth in the constitution are well worth careful consideration. This proposition ought to appeal strongly to all potato growers. To make sure, however, that there is sufficient interest to warrant calling a meeting for the purpose of organization and the election of officers, every person who will agree to take part in such a movement is requested to send a post card before January 1 to H. L. Barnum, Ironton, who will set a data and place of meeting, also arrange to have the secretary of the state association present to assist in the organization.

CONSTITUTION

Article 1—Name.

The name of the organization shall be the Charlevoix County Potato association.

Article II—Object.

It shall be the object of the association:

Sec. 1—To promote the community plan of advancing the potato industry in Charlevoix county.

Sec. 2—To encourage the raising of pure varieties and the elimination of undesirable types for commercial purposes.

Sec. 3—To give special attention to seed improvement and dissemination.

Sec. 4—To encourage correct cultural methods.

Sec. 5—To assist in guarding against the introduction and dissemination of serious potato diseases.

Sec. 6—To promote better sorting and grading.

Article III—Membership.

Any resident of Charlevoix county who is interested in the advancement of the potato industry is eligible to membership in the association.

Article IV—Officers.

The officers of tbe association shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Article V—Duties of Officers.

The duties of the officers shall be such as usually devolve upon the respective offices.

By-Laws.

Sec. 1—The nnnual meeting shall

(Continued on page seven)

THIS IS CERTAIN

The Proof That Charlevoix Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. W. L. Cowan, 210 Antrim St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered from a severe backache and pains across my kidneys. The action of my kidneys was irregular also. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug Store, brought me much relief."

Mrs. Cowan gave the above statement on October 25, 1911, and on October 4, 1916, she added: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble, I have recommended them to many people. Doan's Kidney Pills certainly are worthy of endorsement."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cowan has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

May All Join in Making the Year 1917 Both Joyous and Prosperous

Upon the New Year's threshold, with Yuletide happiness so fresh in the memory, how clearly we see opportunity for progress and improvement that might at other times pass unnoticed.

The time is ripe for directing our steps in paths that lead to safety and profit in financial matters throughout the coming year.

With the Season's Greetings, our Officers also extend to the members of this community a cordial invitation to view this Institution in the light of a financial home where the spirit of good-will and helpful ser ice is at all times predominant.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

A Matter of Economy

It is more economical to appoint us as your Executor and Trustee. When an Individual buys and sells investments for an Estate he charges the Estate with broker's commissions. When you name us as Executor and Trustee you are charged with no commisions either for the purchase or sale of the securities the law requires the funds of your Estate to be invested in. May we talk this matter over with you?

Send for blank form of Will and booklet on Descent and Distribution of Property.

THE MICHIGAN TRUST COMPANY
Of Grand Rapids

Audits made of Books of Corporations, Firms and Individuals

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Dress Caught Fire.

Last week Thursday, Arlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gee, of East Jordan, while alone in the kitchen for a few minutes her mother having stepped outside for feeding their chickens, in some manner caught her dress on fire from the stnve, and before the flames were extinguished the little one, who was in her fifth year, was so badly burned that she died during the afternoon. The parents have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Want More License Money.

The state game warden's department boasts of being "self-sustoining" but it is noted that the thousands of dollars the department use in salaries nnd expenses is all paid by the people—a tax in form of licenses and fines. When the people of a township, district or a lodge decide to hold a hunting contest, they are met with demnnd for a hunting license tax, and closed season laws. At the present time the men who nre running thia department probably want either a boost in salary or more men to draw salary—or both, as they are now plugging for a law to require every one who goes fishing to take out license. A better measure will be to abolish the entire game warden department.—Enterprise.

Record Bean Crop.

One of the most remarkable bean crops which has yet come to the notice of the Courier is the crop raised this yeur by Arthur Sneathen, of Hayes township.

Mr. Sneathen planted 16 acres of beans last spring nnd after a hard summer's work and not over promising weather he harvested sufficient beans that when they were marketed he was nble to buy a 40 nere farm, all improved, with fences all built, an 11 room house, a barn 40x60 and a stable attached with the proceeds.

If this is not a remarkable ensc of good crop the Courier is at a loss to know where to find one.

Just imagine, does any man ever start in business with nothing practically and at the end of the year have a complete stock of merchandise, a building in which to house his stock and all in good shape, with all bills paid and money left? not on your tintype. He struggles along from year to year, scarcely making a living and meanwhile becomes an artful dodger, especially when bill collectors come around.

But this man in Hayes township comes very near to shattering all precedents when he accomplished the foregoing and had money left.

To attempt to figure the percentage made on the investment would drive to desperation the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer and then some.

And then some people say that farming does not pay.

Cheboygan Girl Disappears.

Two weeks ago Miss Edna Sailler, a Cheboygan county girl attending the Cheboygan high school, disappeared from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnich, of Cheboygan, where she was boarding two weeks ago and so far no trace has been found of her.

She told Mrs. Barnich she had been summoned to Mackinaw City by the illness of her sister, Miss Grace Sailler, but when it was learned she had not visited her sister her parents and friends became worried.

It is now thought she went south on the D. & M. railroad the morning of December 7. Friends believe tha girl has been lured away to some city.

When she left Cheboygan she wore a blue sailor suit, loose fitting brown coat, and black hat with a red feather in it. She carried a suitcase. She was 17 years of age, five feet six inches tall, weight 140 pounds, hns brown eyes and hair.

The police in Charlevoix as well as other cities have been notified.

Aged Lady Lost In Woods.

Mrs. Miles, of Atlanta, Michigan, n woman over 70 years of age, has been lost in the woods since a week ago Saturday.

Mrs. Miles is a widow, lived on her farm about one nnd one-half miles south of Atlanta. On Saturday she left her home about 3 o'clock p. m. for town. She did her shopping and with her parcels started for home about 5 o'clock p. m., but never reached there.

Mrs. Kincaid, who had been staying with her did not think anything wrong when she failed to come home that night as she was in the habit of staying at some of the neighbors, but when she failed to arrive home even Monday night suspicion was aroused and a search made Tuesday morning. The news spread rapidly and soon 75 to 100 men were scouring the country in every direction, and about the same number continued to search Wednesday. Some tracks were found in the woods west of her home, back of the old Joseph Currier farm, but no other traces.

Practically every foot of tha county for miles around has been covered without success.

The weather conditions have been such that unless she found shelter somewhere she could not survive this length of time, and is no doubt frozen to death or, as there are some lakes in that vicinity may have ventured on thin ice and drowned.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Joseph McElroy and family spent Christmas with F. Best.

Miss Tracy Gias arrived home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Emily Pickard dined at the Patterson home Christmas.

Leonard Hillman went to Lansing, Saturday, to spend Christmas.

M. R. Nelson has returned home from a trip to St. Paul, Minnesota.

Mrs. Lucia Holliday went to East Jordan, Friday, to spend Christmas.

William Patterson has returned home from Flint to spend the holidays.

Miss Elizabeth Strehl left for Mancelona, Friday, to spend her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Liberty left Saturday for Chicago for an extended visit.

Wesley Veenstra left for Grand Rapids, Tuesday afternoon to spend the winter.

Mr. Brower, of the Courier staff, made the weekly trip to Ellsworth last Friday.

Miss Ruth Carpenter is spending her week's vacation at the home of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Brail left Friday for Carson City to spend the Christmas vacation.

Marion Best had the misfortune to cut his leg quite badly while in the woods last week.

Miss Maude Struik arrived home Saturday to spend Christmas with her parents and family.

John Mollard and family, of East Jordan, took Christmas dinner with D. Patterson and family.

Miss Ruth Chellis is home for a two weeks' vacation from her school duties in the Miles district.

D. E. Clow returned home from Rochester, Minnesota, last week greatly improved in health.

The exercises at the M. E. church were attended by a large crowd and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Best went to Bellaire, Wednesday of last week, Mrs. Best having dental work done.

Mrs. A. L. Fly went to Traverse City, Saturday, to spend Christmas with her parents at that place. Art followed Monday.

Miss Isabel Knight, who is teaching at Flushing, arrived Saturday to spend the Christmas vacation with her parents west of town.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harris, Miss Margaret Harris and Mrs. M. M. Wilson visited at the home of N. Shores in Charlevoix, Christmas. Mrs. Wilson and Miss Margaret will stay for a visit.

Mrs. C. S. Campbell accompanied the remains of C. S. Campbell to Rochester, New York, Thursday of last week for burial. Mr. Campbell, many years ago, was a prominent attorney of that city and had many relatives and friends at that place.

CORRESPONDENCE

WILDWOOD

Very stormy.

Happy New Year to all.

Bad roads but still the postman makes his daily trips.

The usual feasts, joy and gifts were indulged in here for Christmas. Everybody thankful for peace and plenty.

Mrs. Cross and daughter, Katie Wilson, spent Christmas at the Wilson home and will leave this week for Detroit to visit relatives.

MAPLEVILLE

Ethel Smith, of Central Lake, is home for two weeks.

The Christmas entertainment was held Christmas afternoon at the church.

Julius Elzinga, who is attending school at Mt. Pleasant, is spending his vacation at home.

School has been closed one week for Christmas vacation. It will start again January second.

Mr. Goeman died last Tuesday. The funeral was held from the Dutch Reform church last Thursday afternoon.

PLEASANT HILL

Happy New Year to all.

James DeYounge is building a fine new hen house.

Miss Akins is spending the holidays with her parents south of Central Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Gennet, of Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Patterson spent Sunday with H. H. Fales.

A number of families from this district attended the program at the M. E. church in Ellsworth, Saturday evening.

The Pleasant Hill school had a fine program and tree on Friday night and the children are having a week's vacation.

H. H. Fales and H. F. Patterson buzzed a large pile of wood last week, which they are putting in at the school house.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

School closed Friday for a two weeks' vacation.

F. A. Wright spent Sunday at C. Blanchard's, of Rock Elm.

Miss Margie DeMoulpied came home Thursday for a week's visit.

Miss Eva Wrisley, of Ellsworth, spent Sunday with Miss Margie DeMoulpied.

C. Feltenbarger and family spent Christmas at the home of I. Feltenbarger, near Phelps.

Miss Lottie Wright spent Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Wrisley, in Ellsworth.

Otto Feltenbarger spent Sunday with his cousins, Charles and George Wrisley, of Ellsworth.

Hubert Bearss came home last Saturday from a two weeks' visit in southern Michigan.

Rubin Burdick, of Central Lake, was at the Thomas DeMoulpied home one day last week.

A number from here attended the Christmas exercises at the M. E. church in Ellsworth, Saturday evening.

Albert Parsons and family, also Sam Alward, of Norwood, spent Christmas at the Isa Alward home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bearss and son, Howard, spent Christmas in Ellsworth the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Eastcott.

Mrs. A. W. DeMoulpied and little son, of Elk Rapids, have been visiting at the Thomas DeMoulpied home during the past week.

The Christmas exercises which were held at the school house Friday afternoon were well attended. Outside visitors were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Chellis and son, John, the Misses Grace and Nellie Johnson, Guy Woodard and Alvie Feltenbarger.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, Superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, President. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m., Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m., Thursday, prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—D. E. Carpenter.

Lecturer—D. Patterson.

Secretary—Ava L. Bearss.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m., preaching.

7:45 p. m., Tuesday, prayer meeting.

400 TYPEWRITERS

REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12

Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, 1916

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.40
Red wheat, per bu.	1.45
Beans, per bu.	5.55
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Garden vnrieties	5.75
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.35
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00 to 13.00
Pork, dressed	11.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.34
Eggs, per doz.	.38
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.25
Salt	1.40

POTATO GROWERS SHOULD ORGANIZE

(Continued from page six)

be held in January at the call of the president.

Sec. 2—The election of officers shall be held at the annual meeting.

Sec. 3—Seven members shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 4—The dues of the association shall be 50 cents per annum, 25 cents of which shall be for the purpose of affiliating with the Michigan State Potato association.

Sec. 5—The constitution or by-laws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the annual meeting.

Notice to Tax Payers of Banks Township.

I will be at the Citizens bank in Ellsworth on December 30, January 3, 6 and 10, and at the Essex store, January 9, and at home on Fridays to receive taxes.

ALBERT HARWOOD,
Township Treasurer.

Adv. 52t2

ADULTERATIONS OF A CHRISTMAS DINNER

(Continued from page two.)

but it was treated with aniline dye to give it this chocolate effect, and then baked in the sun to deceive the eye. On the other hand, we find this vanilla was originally dark and forbidding, but it has been treated with peroxide of hydrogen to make it more of a blonde."

"Pardon me, doctor,' snapped Peaches, her teeth chattering with nervousness, "but this ice cream was made in our kitchen by our own cook with first-class cream, and we never have any but homemade ice cream, so there!"

"Ah," said the doctor, "then in that case it must be traces of thanatopsis which I see, and the evidence is conclusive that a great deal of artificial frappe has been used, nevertheless."

"No, thank you," said Uncle Gregory, "I never eat ice cream because it goes to my head and makes me cold to my friends."

"Take this coffee, for instance," chortled the doctor, juggling a spoonful with the left hand and four lumps of sugar with the right. "Herein you will find copper salts, iodide of chicory, a four per cent solution of gladiolus, together with about a sixteenth of a grain of mocha to the cupful."

"No, thank you," gasped Uncle Gregory; "I never drink coffee; it gives me the hiccups."

After the dinner was over, Uncle Gregory took me outside and whispered: "John, for the love of a blissful heaven, the next time you give a dinner party cut out that bug doctor, or let me wear ear muffs!"

Peaches hasn't spoken a sensible word since that bitter evening.

Can you blame her?

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.

Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Clearing Prices Until January 1

At the close of the holiday season of purchasing we find that it is necessary to unload the large stock of merchandise left over. You know what my goods are and what the prices have been. We now wish to close out the surplus and in order to do so have cut the prices from

15 per Cent to 25 per Cent

Men's 50c Woolen Socks Until January 1, at 39c

$1.00 Caps at 85c

Men's and Boys' Suits at Until January 1 25% off

We still have Holiday Goods to Close Out. You, friends, who wish to remember the unexpected gift-giver, can buy now and make a New Year's gift. All holiday goods sold at a 25 per cent discount

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

Don't forget our drug line. We are here to fill your wants. Filling perscriptions is our hobby.

℞ A Severe Cold Often Results in a bad Case of Pneumonia.

We recommend our line of cough medicines—Foley's, for instance—or we might sell you the many ingredients for those home remedies. At any rate we can supply your needs in the drug line. We are here to please you.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO
Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

New Year's Greetings

Friends, old and new Customers:—It is with the pleasure that we greet you at the beginning of a new era, and hope that the coming year will be as prosperous to all as it has during the past year. May we greet you often during the next year both in business and friendly relations.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.
FEED GROUND EVERY DAY
Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

We Wish You a

Happy New Year

This Bank will be closed all day

Monday, January 1, 1917

New Years Day

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $250,000.00
C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

DON'T FORGET US

We have one of the best lines of Fancy and Staple Grocery Stocks in the County. You should not fail to come to this store when in need of anything in the Dry Goods or Clothing Line. We have reliable merchandise and guarantee satisfaction on every article you purchase from us.

WE WISH YOU THE SEASON'S JOYS AND HOPE TO ENJOY YOUR TRADE THE COMING YEAR.

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

FOR SUNDAY DINNER

We have besides a complete stock of—

GROCERIES, CURRANTS, CRANBERRIES, RAISINS, ORANGES, LEMONS, FRUITS, ETC.

that all go to make the big dinner of the week a success

For Practical Everyday Use

Visit our Dry Goods Department. Here will be found nice Dress Patterns, Aprons, Dollies, Table Spreads, Napkin Sets, Ribbons, Skirts, Underwear, in fact anything in the line of Clothing and Undergarments that you may wish to buy.

For the Men and Boys we have a line of Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rubbers, and Shoes; Rain Coats—Just what every man wants.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Sleighing Supplies

With the heavy snow fall of the past week, sleighing is getting better every day. Every man needs Sleighs, Blankets, Robes, Bells, etc., to complete his outfit. We handle

Traverse City Sleighs, 2 1-2 inch runner

The Best Wool Blankets on the Market

Robes of all sizes

Sleigh Bells of loud tones

For the youth we have Sleds, Skates and Skis, suitable Christmas gifts for any child.

We have an excellent line of Wash Boilers that are being sold cheap, in fact so cheap that the cost of a new stock would amount to more than our selling price.

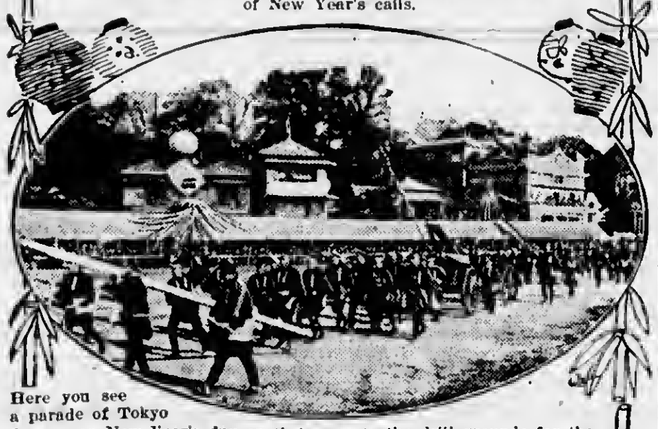
To those who cut wood we wish to emphasize our line of saws. We are headquarters for Hand Saws, Buck Saws, Cross Cut Saws and Axes. See our line of Meat Saws.

We Sincerely Wish You the Season's Joys

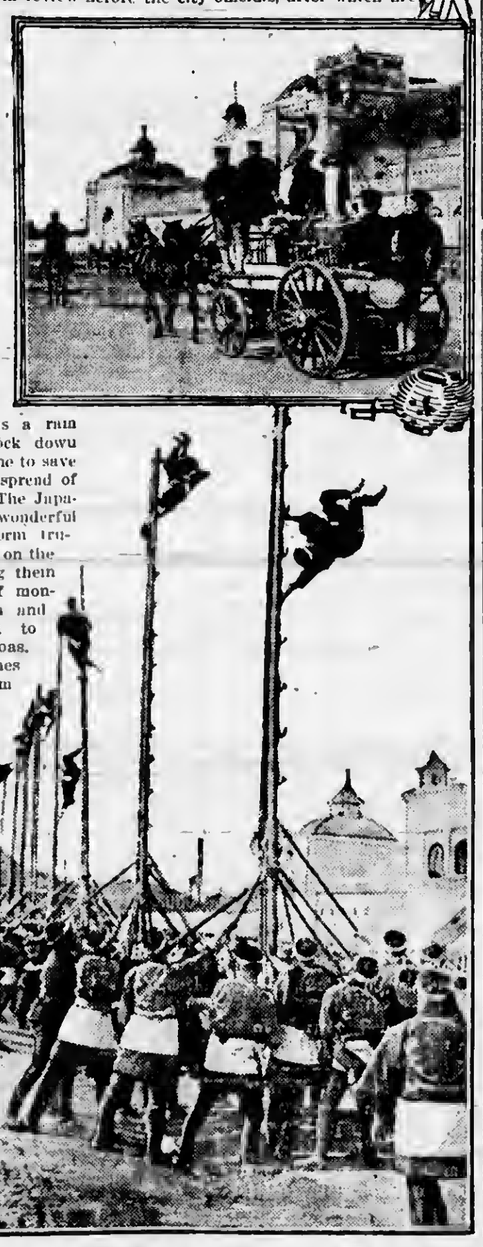
W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

NEW YEAR'S DAY IN JAPAN

New Year's day has come to rank as one of the most popular of the Flowery Kingdom's holidays. As in America it is a day of feasting and good cheer, though oddly tempered by religious observances. The above picture shows three Japanese belles on their way to the temple for prayers before starting on a round of New Year's calls.



Here you see a parade of Tokyo firemen on New Year's day on their way to the drill grounds for the annual inspection, one of the big features in the way of celebrating the first day of the year in every Japanese city of any size. Fire engines and equipment pass in review before the city officials, after which fire drills are performed and the firemen take part in contests of various kinds. The fire engine has only recently been introduced into the Island Kingdom and the modern auto-truck is not yet known there. In the lower picture are shown the firemen with their bamboo sculing ladders which are used not only for life-saving and as an elevation from which to direct the water from the hose nozzle, but as a ram with which to knock down buildings too far gone to save and so prevent the spread of the conflagration. The Japanese firemen are wonderful acrobats and perform truly remarkable feats on the tall ladders, scaling them with the agility of monkeys. Men, women and children turn out to watch the exhibitions. Note the odd costumes of this brigade from Tokyo.



ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Roy Swinton is home from Detroit.

Lawrence Ackert is in town this week visiting his family.

Joe Sanford came home from Notre Dame last week.

Ainslee Mayne expects to return to Detroit by the last of the week.

James Sanford, Jr., of Detroit, is visiting his parents over the holidays.

Emory Pierce, from the Soo, is visiting at the home of John O'Neill.

Miss Margaret Foote, of Alma, is the guest of J. L. Crane and family this week.

Stanley Widdifield is here for a week's vacation from the Ferris Institute at Big Rapids.

Miss Dorothy Armstrong is spending the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong.

Lance Neff left Wednesday morning for Winter Park, Florida, where he will work for R. P. Foley during the winter months. While he is away Mrs. Neff, with the children, will stay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Nelson, in Mancelona.

PERSONAL BONDS THING OF PAST

SO SAY ALL BANKS IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Officers Requiring Bond Protection Must Secure Surety Bond—All Banks United In Move.

No more personal bonds to treasurers of villages, cities, townships, schools or any other purpose will be signed by any stockholder, director or officer of any bank in Charlevoix county after January 1, 1917. Such is the edict passed down by the bankers of the county at a recent meeting. Following is the bankers' agreement, with the signatures of each cashier attached:

Whereas the banks of the county of Charlevoix, parties to this agreement, in considering between themselves, safe and good banking business, have agreed that from and after January 1st, 1917, that the bunks, as well as their directors, stock holders and partners, should refrain from executing all officinl, judicial, probate, private and other bonds, for municipalities or individuals of this state; Therefore.

It is agreed by and between the First National bank of Boyne City, a corporation; the People's bank, a private bank of Boyne City, Michigan; the Charlevoix State Savings bank, a corporation; Charlevoix County bank, a private bank of Charlevoix, Michigan; the Peoples' State Savings bank, a corporation of East Jordan, Michigan; the State bank of East Jordan, a corporation, and the Farmers and Merchants hank, a private bank of Boyne Falls, Michigan.

That from and after January 1st, 1917, said banks agree to and with each and every of the others, that they will not furnish, sign or execute a bond of any kind, judicial, official, probate or personal, to any person or persons whomsoever, in whatsoever capacity, and further that we will not permit the directors, stock holders, or partners of our banks to become surety on any of said bonds of any person so long as said persons are stock holders, officials or partners of any of the aforesaid banks, parties hereto.

It is further agreed that the individual banks, parties hereto, will at once notify their respective stock holders, officials and partners of this agreement and ask their co-operation in carrying out the purposes thereof.

As a further inducement for the making of this agreement it is understood that by the laws of this state, treasurers of all municipalities have a right to procure surety company bonds, and charge the premiums to their respective municipalities, and for that reason among others, it is not good business to longer carry this liability in our institutions.

In witness whereof, we have caused these presents to be subscribed by the cashiers of each of the subscribing banks this 23rd day of December, 1916.

This agreement to continue until disolved by mutual consent.

State Bank of East Jordan,
HELEN J. STROEBEL,
Cashier.

Peoples' State Savings Bank,
East Jordan, Mich
R. O. BISBEE,
Cashier.

First National Bank of Boyne City, Mich.
S. SMITH,
Cashier.

The Peoples' Bank,
Boyne City, Mich.
SABIN HOOPER,
Cashier.

Charlevoix County Bank,
Charlevoix, Mich.
A. F. BRIDGE,
Cashier.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank,
W. J. RACHOW,
Cashier.

Farmers and Merchants Bank, Boyne Falls, Mich., of Moyer, Stroebel & Porter,
J. H. PORTER,
Cashier.

Any candidate or person having aspirations of running for treasurer of any township, school district, village or city in Charlevoix county, after the first of the year, will in all probability be obliged to secure a surety bond as the law permits and the premium paid by the township, city or village or otherwise. This is a matter that has been under advisement and discussion for years and in fact, all banks all over the country are getting away from having their officers and directors burdened with signing numerous bonds.

Don't forget the masquerade ball in the Norwood town hall, Friday evening, December 29. A good time is promised to those who attend.

Marion Center Grange No. 956.

Instead of meeting on their regular meeting night, Friday, December 29, members of Marion Center Grange will postpone the meeting until New Year's day, when they will install officers. Remember—no Grange on Friday evening, but all members make it a point to meet at the hall on New Year's day.

Miller's Specials.

4 pckgs. Corn Flakes.....25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps.....25c
3 pckgs. Macaroni.....25c
4 lbs. Head Rice.....25c
Adv. 52t1 B. W. MILLER.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Frank P. Geiken and wife of Pellston are home for the holidays visiting their parents.

Regular communication of Charlevoix lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, January 2. By order of W. M.

Little Helen, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coberly, has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but at this writing is reported as much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood returned Tuesday morning from Boyne City, where they have been spending Christmas with Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tooley.

Word was received from Flint, Michigan, Wednesday morning that Mrs. Roy Babcock, nee Miss Jean McColl, a former teacher in our schools, was very sick at her home at that place.

Mrs. M. M. Eldred, of Jackson, visited her daughter, Mrs. Otto Hines over Christmas day, returning to her home Tuesday morning. Mrs. Hines also entertained her aunt, Mrs. G. Moss, of Harbor Springs, who also returned home Tuesday.

10% Discount For Cash on All STOVES

Until February 1

—AT—

Blanchard Hardware Co.

Now is Your Chance

We are going to close out our entire line of

Sweaters, Mackinaws, Rain Coats
Sheep-lined Coats, Work Pants
Blanket-lined Coats, Work Shirts, etc.

Regardless of price. The store is about to be remodeled and the room now occupied by these lines will be utilized for other goods.

You will Save Dollars

by taking advantage of this closing out sale. Prices have advanced, in some instances nearly 40 per cent, on woolen goods, but we will close out our present stock regardless of this. Make your selections now, while your size is in stock.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

BROAD GUAGE BANKING SERVICE

COUNTY BANK DISTRIBUTES UNIQUE LITERATURE

First of Series Already Mailed and Others Will Follow at Intervals.

Friends of the Charlevoix County bank are receiving a series of interestingly prepared treatises giving valuable data upon the leading vocations available in the United States. The first of these series was mailed by the bank on December 15th and additional numbers treating different vocations will be mailed each month.

The importance of conveniently compiled statistics of a reliable character, dealing with the various fields of endeavor, has long been recognized. The series of illustrated folders which the above institution will distribute with its compliments represents the result of exhaustive investigations into various vocational fields. Drawing as it does upon the United States government for broad sources of information and embodying official statistics in a serviceable compilation never before assembled, this series is attracting the attention of educators throughout the United States.

The officers of the Charlevoix County bank have provided for the distribution of this valuable and authentic material in this vicinity in accordance with the bank's established policy of rendering the broadest possible service and in the hope that by making this valuable information available to interested men and women the bank may be of assistance in directing the life work of as many as possible into the most productive channels.

The influence of this movement cannot be over-estimated. It not only affects the life and happiness of the individual, but is a strong influence in furthering community progress and general efficiency. Undoubtedly this movement will serve to lighten the work as well as make more profitable the effort of those progressive residents who carefully preserve and utilize the valuable data obtained. A splendid opportunity is presented to choose intelligently a life-work for which one is not only well fitted, but a developing field of endeavor that holds forth maximum opportunity for advancement.

To secure the greatest possible benefit, it is important that all to whom these treatises are sent not only give them careful attention at the time received; but, in every case where further information may be required, call at the bank where more complete details will be available at any time. The bank's object is to enable adults and young folks alike to determine for their own guidance certain necessary facts heretofore unobtainable, relating to the various vocations. As a result of this public-spirited action, it will now be possible to determine how many persons there are in a vocation; is the field developing or overcrowded; what are the requirements; the hours of labor, and what is the proper procedure to secure the right start.

Those not at present receiving these treatises but who are interested may send their names and addresses to the above institution and have the series mailed to them as issued.

Don't forget the Alma Quartette at Methodist church Thursday evening. Adv. 52t1

Allan Shapton is home from Detroit to spend the holidays with his mother.

The coal situation is getting serious and is furnishing the advocates of government ownership of public utilities with keen edged weapons of argument. Peace has its battles no less than war and the tortures of blood stained Europe find their counterpart in the agonies of our own economic struggles.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith and daughter, of Charlevoix, and Mr. and Mrs. Lacey W. Oldham, of Hibbing, Minnesota, spent Christmas day at the home of John Oldham, in Petoskey. Mr. Oldham is a special United States deputy in the Indian department of northern Minnesota, and they will visit Saginaw, Detroit and Chicago before returning home.

Card of Thanks.

We want to thank the friends and neighbors for their kind assistance and sympathy in our recent bereavement, and to assure them of our grateful appreciation. Mrs. R. M. McKeel, Miss Lillian McKeel.
Adv. 52t1—pd

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv., 49tf

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 1 · 8 PAGES · CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1917 · PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

BORDER FIASCO ANGERS GUARDS

SOLDIERS BITTERLY DEDUCE TEXAS TRIP AS FAILURE

Say It Has Gained Nothing, But Branded Militia as Incompetent.

El Paso, Dec. 31.—Now that the Thirty-first Michigan infantry has been ordered home, the Thirty-second is soon to follow. The remainder of the troops has tentative promises it will not be retained later than early spring. The question arises: What has been gained by the border service of the Michigan troops? The same question may be applied to the service of guardmen from other states.

There are other questions which may also be asked and which are possibly harder to answer than the first. One of these is as to the reason for any troop movement, in view of the admitted fact, from Washington on down the line, that conditions in the republic to the south of us are in more chaotic condition than in July last, when most of the militiamen were shipped south.

Men Better Physically.

What have the Michigan troops gained? It is admitted most of the men have gained in health; they have hardened and know considerable more about military affairs than when they left home, they have all had a trip to Texas, which may have some educational value. But will these things offset the monetary and mental losses the men have undergone?

Judging from the remarks of the men, the loss has been greater than the gain. If they could have gone into Mexico, as they expected to do when they left home, most of them would have felt they accomplished something. But to go home with the knowledge they have been doing police duty for $15 a month and board has no inspiring effect on even the most sentimental. In fact, they rather dread facing their friends and telling them about it, for they feel they have been bilked.

Conditions Worse Than in June.

If the trouble with Mexico could have been settled even without going into Mexico, if their mere presence on the border has been the means of arriving at a satisfactory arrangement with their Indian brothers, there would have been some consolation. But going home, as they are, with a knowledge that conditions are worse than they were in June, is galling.

Since that time there have been months of dickering with Carranza, with naught accomplished. Villa has come to life, while the head of the de facto government has grown weaker. The man whose head the Pershing outfit went to gather, has come again into control of northern Mexico, has been himself within the past 30 days 50 miles from Pershing's base, his men, who are now called rebels instead of bandits, have passed through the Pershing lines, the Pershing troops remain inactive, the president still attempts to befuddle the public mind, and the troops are going home, empty of honor.

Laugh at Another Call.

Prophesies the troops will be called back inside of six months are laughed to scorn by a great many of the men, who, disgusted with the present campaign, intimate they will be hard to find when the next call comes. If they can't go in and settle the question now, when every schoolboy realizes it is an eventuality, they are not inclined to again disrupt their business and family relations to come back.

In the minds of some there is a question as to the purpose of the guard mobilization on the border, could it have been a move on the part of regular army officers to discredit the guard; put it out of business, and institute in its place universal military service? There can be no question the regulars have no use for the militia. They have publicly held to scorn in the halls of congress the men who left their all and came at the president's bequest; who have been faithful in the interim.

Logic in Killing Guard.

The attempts of the army to recruit its ragged ranks have failed; they have even attempted to beguile large numbers of unpopular guardsman into enlisting with them; in this they have failed. It seems impossible under the present system to secure an army, therefore there is good logic, from the standpoint of the regulars, in killing of the guard system.

In doing this they will have little argument with the militiamen. The latter do not like the damning they have received at the hands of army officers, but most of them admit the weaknesses of the present system and a large majority favor universal service. The thousand and more men in the Thirty-first believe their equally able brothers in the state should have shared with them in the losses of the last six months.

"Played Horse" Six Months.

So, with the knowledge facing them that the Mexican situation is worse than ever, that it must eventually be settled, that Europe will do it if the United States doesn't, that they have been "playing horse" for six months to the detriment of their business, the men are coming home to tell their friends and relatives what they think of their treatment. They are not of the opinion they are better for the experience, and they, with thousands from other states, will have a telling effect in molding new laws which will obviate a repetition of the past experience.

HAPPILY WED SATURDAY EVE.

BOTH CONTRACTING PARTIES WELL KNOWN IN CITY

Knot Tied at Home of Bride's Parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell.

Let no one imagine that because icy winds howl, white flakes swirl through the chill air and the unwary pedestrian, now and then, loses his understanding on the slippery pave, that little Dan Cupid is off the job. No, indeed. Attired in goloshes and a fur overcoat, he is still able to keep up his average of punctured hearts. He successfully consummated one of his delightful schemes on Antrim street last Saturday evening when Miss Jane Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, became the bride of Mr. Roy Stanley Swinton.

The ceremony was performed promptly at six p. m., in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends and opened with a brilliant piano introduction (D'Hoffman's Barcarolle) played by Mrs. A. A. Swinton. As the strains of the stately Lohengrin wedding march followed the music of the introduction, doors opened on opposite sides of the room and the bridal party entered, the groom and his best man, Dr. W. W. Mitchell, a brother of the bride, coming forward from one side as the bride, attended by her father, the bridesmaid, Miss Ione Swinton and ring bearer, little Mary Swinton, came in through the other door and the entire party met under an archway of palms, where the Rev. C. E. Taggart waited to receive them.

The bride was costumed in white taffeta silk with a white tulle veil surmounted by a wreath of smilax, and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Her bridesmaid, Miss Swinton, was charmingly gowned in pale blue crepe de chene and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, in rooms beautifully decorated with palms, evergreen and holly, as befitting the season, the guests seated themselves to enjoy the dainty luncheon served by the little Misses Jean and Margie Swinton.

Under a terrific fire of good wishes and congratulations, the happy pair managed to escape soon after the luncheon and took their departure for Ann Arbor, their future home, where Mr. Swinton is teaching in the engineering department of the U. of M. The Courier wishes them a hearty bon voyage.

EMPLOYES GIVEN TEN PER CENT RAISE

Argo Milling Company Also Gives Employes Fat Bonus.

Each of the boys at the Argo Milling Co. found a nice, fat bonus of $25.00 in his stocking Christmas morning. New Year's day, another pleasant shock awaited them in the shape of a ten per cent increase in salary. Setting a rather difficult example for the great majority of local concerns whose breath of life is the resort trade, aren't they?

What's the Matter With Charlevoix?

"What's the matter with Charlevoix?" That is a question which many loyal citizens, sincerely concerned for the welfare of the city, frequently ask themselves and others. The writer has discussed the question with many thoughtful men, and in attempting to present an answer to the question we shall boil down the ideas which have been expressed to us and which have come to us. What we are going to say is not intended as a criticism, but rather an analysis of a condition which must be corrected if Charlevoix is to come into her own. And we want the analysis to be helpful and suggestive, and if we express ourself crudely we want the reader to overlook the crudeness and to get the message.

Every little while we hear of some industry contemplating locating at Traverse City, Boyne City, East Jordan or some other northern Michigan city. For some reason or other they all seem to pass Charlevoix, despite the activeness of our Commercial association. When we hear of the locating of these industries in other cities the question forces itself, "What is the matter with Charlevoix?" Our city is the gateway to the upper lake region; it has natural resources and advantages which are unequalled by many of the neighboring cities, it has abundant water supply, splendid sites, both water and railway shipping facilities, and we all acknowledge we want the industries. Why don't we get them?

The Courier will give an answer in a single sentence: The average business man in Charlevoix is so engrossed in his own business affairs that he will not give anything of himself and his time for the public welfare; he is gunshy when asked to donate a dollar and so afraid that he will lose a dollar's worth of business that he will not take an intelligent and active part in municipal affairs, and the result is that the administering of the city's affairs is left in the hands of those, who no matter how honest and sincere they may be, are not all active business men.

Now, dear reader, please don't attach any political significance to this analysis of "What ails Charlevoix." It isn't any deep laid plot leading up to the city election next April. It is just a little heart to heart talk which, if it reaches your heart, may have some influence in shaping our city politics. We tell you frankly that this is the purpose. If the Courier could have its way, as a first step towards curing the ills from which Charlevoix is suffering, there would not be any nasty factional political scrap in the city election next spring. There would be only one ticket in the field, and that would be headed by some such business man as J. L. Crane, A. A. Swinton, Louie Orlowski, Benj. Brown, or some other keen, level-headed business man who would lift the city out of the slough of petty, mean politics, and thus make us respect ourselves and the city more than we do. (Please do not think we are throwing bricks at our present city officials, for we are not.) Then for aldermen we would have men from the several wards who would be chosen because of their fitness, not because of their religion or political affiliations.

Charlevoix must get down to the first principles of efficient, business-like administration of public affairs, and the sooner the better. The handling of our yearly increasing city affairs demands intelligent, business-like and patriotic service on the part of the city officials to an unusual degree.

Eliminate entirely bitter factional fights at city elections so frequently an occurrence in past years, with the result that the very men qualified and fitted to fill office have refused, emphatically, to take an active part. They fully realize the city's need of their services but will have nothing to do with them. Even the suggestion made at last Wednesday evening's mass meeting to have a committee, composed of and named by citizens and business men, to investigate the pending need of suitable electric service, was received by some with resentment.

Surely there must be some Moses to lead the people of Charlevoix out of this bondage to political or class prejudice.

Capital seeking investment is keen to nose out all these pestilential ills that gnaw at the vitals of any community. And capital keeps away from such communities.

Again we ask: Isn't it possible for Charlevoix to get out of this old rut? Can't we have as the new slogan, and put it into effect right now, with the beginning of the new year—and let that slogan mean that, after giving your own affairs proper attention, you will take an honest, earnest, intelligent, patriotic interest in all that concerns the city as a whole; that you will forget your narrow prejudices and overlook the faults, or what you may think the faults of others, and that you shall be willing to give something of yourself for others.

"CHARLEVOIX FIRST"

With that spirit dominating and actuating you individually, that slogan, "CHARLEVOIX FIRST," shall be made to mean something.

And then we shall see some of that investment-seeking capital striking Charlevoix, instead of striking on all sides of us.

Now, fellow citizens, we have tried to say these things kindly, and not critically. Not one statement is intended to apply to any particular individual. If you fit the coat, you do it yourself. We are just handing out the talk generally, and we want you to know and remember that it is straight, honest and sincere talk, and that it is talk that is inspired by the desire to see Charlevoix come into its own.

PURCHASES INTEREST OF HIS PARTNER

E. L. Dawson Severs Connection With Firm of Jacobs & Dawson.

Rumor has had it that a change would take place in one of our well established business houses along about the first of the year, but nothing definite could be ascertained until Tuesday, when H. B. Jacobs, of the firm of Jacobs & Dawson announced that he had purchased E. L. Dawson's interests and that hereafter the store would be conducted under the name of H. B. Jacobs.

Messrs. Jacobs and Dawson entered into their business career in this city on November 20, 1915. Since this time they have done a prosperous business, their trade increasing steadily. Mr. Jacobs states that the business will be conducted along the same lines in the future as in the past, and extends a cordial invitation to old as well as new customers to make his store their trading place.

While as yet not fully decided, it is quite probable that Mr. Dawson will enter the employ of a chemical manufacturing plant at Manistique.

BRUTE ASSAULTS LITTLE GIRL

REVOLTING CRIME COMMITTED NEAR UNDINE SCHOOL HOUSE

Inhuman Beast Pries Open Window of Child's Home With Hatchet.

Lynn Willis, a fellow about 28 years old, whose home is in Chicago, was taken into custody this week by local authorities, charged with mistreating a little eight year old girl, a member of the Lake family, residing near the Undine school house, on New Year's day. He has confessed his guilt and is now awaiting trial.

According to his confession and the statements made by the child, Willis, taking advantage of the absence of the members of his own family and knowing that the little Lake girl and her brother, several years younger, had been left alone in the house by their elders, pried open the window with a hatchet and entered. He got the boy to stay downstairs and induced the girl, on some pretext, to go upstairs with him, where he abused her shamefully.

The sheriff recently made a trip to Newberry and brought back Del Hull, of Boyne City, on a charge of bastardy, who also plead guilty. Hull is a married man.

Cases of this general nature are becoming all to frequent in this county and the utmost severity should be used in all such instances, we think, in an effort to stamp out these heart breaking evils.

NEXT PUBLIC AUCTION JANUARY 20

People Urged to List Goods for Sale at Early Date.

The next public auction sale given under the auspices of the Charlevoix Commercial association, will be held at the Hooker barn on Saturday, January 20.

The last sale was a great success and many articles listed were disposed of. Mr. Byers, the auctioneer, requests all who have goods for sale to list them with him not later than Saturday, January 13. This will allow the list to be prepared and publicity given.

Farmers and towns people are urged to give these sales their close attention and if you have goods for sale, list them. The selling cost is but a trifle, while the accommodation is worth a great deal.

Gave Birthday Party.

Little Miss Laura Dorrance entertained 14 of her little friends Thursday afternoon, December 28th, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Nowland, on Antrim street, the occasion being the little lady's seventh birthday. At four o'clock a dainty luncheon was served, after which the little folks left, wishing the little hostess many happy birthdays.

CITIZENS HOLD MASS MEETING

PENDING ELECTRIC LIGHTING CONTRACT UNDER FIRE

Committee of Three Citizens Appointed to Investigate Condition and Report Findings

The mass meeting of citizens held at the council rooms Wednesday night for the purpose of deliberating on the local light and power situation, resulted in the appointment of a committee of three citizens to make a thorough study of conditions affecting this momentous question and report their findings to the council at the earliest possible moment. The three committeemen chosen by popular vote at the meeting were A. J. Usher, who will act as chairman; Capt. William J. Finncan and Louis Orlowski. These gentlemen will be expected to dig up data and statistics, at first hand and otherwise, which will serve as a guide to the council in their final disposition of the contract now pending with Henry Richardi. No action will be taken on this contract until the committee's report is in.

It does not seem reasonable that contracting parties, after having mutually violated the terms of their agreement, should deliberately enter into another contract of like nature, especially when the party making the initial move has had so much occasion for dissatisfaction with the performance of the other as in the city's last experience with Mr. Richardi. Neither, does it seem in conformity with good business principle to enter into a contract covering a period of years and involving the expenditure by the city of $200,000, without requiring surety of any kind or description whatsoever from the party contracting to deliver the goods that his part of the agreement will be well and faithfully kept. To require a sewer contractor to give bonds in a matter involving a few hundreds and then let a contract of the size of the one before us go through without any bond at all is not only straining at the proverbial gnat and letting the camel go down in one gulp, but should, we think, be recommended to the comic experts of the Sunday papers as food for their fantastic efforts.

Yet this is exactly what certain members of the council are figuring on, as the only alternative to a reign of darkness and drought. In the opinion of these good gentlemen, we are nearing a return to the tallow dip and the flickering oil flame. And why this alarm, you ask. Coal shortage, we are told. Great scott, this is sure some economic principle. At the approach of industrial depression, drop in the market or fluctuation in value, cancel contracts, abandon reason, wave the white flag and surrender to the enemy on any old terms. And then throughout long years of reflection and repentance, comfort ourselves with the consoling thought that at least the bogie man didn't get us. Great stuff. How many business concerns would survive this truly Wilsonic management?

Far better would it be to form a bucket brigade and keep the Rock Product plant going with the meagre scrapings from our own private hins than to deliver ourselves over to the bondage of a three and one-half cent power rate for ten more long, lean years. At this time we are disposed to echo the ringing sentiments of that sturdy, uncompromising patriot who said, "Million for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Meets January 5 With Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong.

The regular meeting of the Charlevoix Historical society will be held January 5 with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong. Following is the program:

Instrumental duet—Bruce and Phila Armstrong.

Paper—"Missions and Education," Mrs. C. E. Taggart.

Vocal solo—Miss Irene Finucan.

Reading—Mrs. Henry Cooper.

Violin solo—Mr. Robert Bridge.

Pushing Maxwell Cars.

On page two of this issue will be found the advertisement of Erickson & Fowler, the hustling agents for the Maxwell car in this territory. Mr. Fowler states that they have already made four sales, with many prospects in view.

"This is the best Bread you ever made"

"Best, because lightest and whitest, smoothest and sweetest."

"I just added a teaspoonful of HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER to the water in which the yeast was dissolved."

Bread set in the morning with HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER is out of the oven by noon. HO-MAYDE is a wholesome product that accelerates the yeast action. Guaranteed absolutely pure, nutritious and dependable. It complies with the pure food laws.

No sour or chilled bread—no failures—more loaves from the same materials. If your grocer cannot supply you, send 15c for a large package, sufficient for 100 loaves. Write for free sample.

HO-MAYDE PRODUCTS CO., Detroit, Mich.

SAFETY DEMANDS FEDERAL CONTROL OF THE RAILROADS

Only Way to Meet Emergencies of Nation, Says A. P. Thom.

STATES' RIGHTS PRESERVED

Principles Which Railways Hold Should Govern Regulatory System In Interests of Public and the Roads—Compulsory System of Federal Incorporation Favored.

Washington, Dec. 4.—That the interests of national defense require that control of railway lines should rest with the federal government and not with the states was the claim advanced by Alfred P. Thom, counsel to the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, in concluding his preliminary statement of the case for the railways before the Newlands Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce.

"We must be efficient as a nation if we are to deal successfully with our national emergencies," said Mr. Thom, "and we must appreciate that efficient transportation is an essential condition of national efficiency. If we are to halt and weaken our transportation systems by state lines, by the permanent imposition of burdens by unwise regulation, we will make national efficiency impossible."

States' Rights Would Not Suffer.

Mr. Thom cited many instances in which shippers in one state were injuriously affected by selfish regulations imposed on the railroads by neighboring states. He pointed out that federal regulation would be no invasion of the rights of the states but would be the means of preserving the rights which they acquired when they entered the Union, one of which was the right to the free movement of their products across state boundaries.

What the Railroads Advocate.

The principles which the railroads believe should be incorporated in any just system of regulation were summarized by Mr. Thom as follows:

1. The entire power and duty of regulation should be in the hands of the national government, except as to matters so essentially local and incidental that they cannot be used to interfere with the efficiency of the service or the just rights of the carriers.

2. As one of the means of accomplishing this, a system of compulsory federal incorporation should be adopted, into which should be brought all railroad corporations engaged in interstate or foreign commerce.

3. The Interstate Commerce Commission under existing laws has too much to do and is charged with conflicting functions, including the investigation, prosecution and decision of cases. The latter duties should be placed in the hands of a new body which might be called the Federal Railroad Commission. Regional Commissions should be established in different parts of the country to assist the Interstate Commerce Commission by handling local cases.

4. The power of the Commission should be extended to enable it to prescribe minimum rates and not merely maximum rates as at present. This would increase their power to prevent unjust discriminations.

Justice to Public and Roads.

5. It should be made the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the exercise of its powers to fix reasonable rates, to so adjust these rates that they shall be just at once to the public and to the carriers. To this end the Commission, in determining rates, should consider the necessity of maintaining efficient transportation and extensions of facilities, the relation of expenses to rates and the rights of shippers, stockholders and creditors of the roads.

6. The Interstate Commerce Commission should be invested with the power to fix the rates for carrying mails.

7. The federal government should have exclusive power to supervise the issue of stocks and bonds by railroad carriers engaged in interstate and foreign commerce.

8. The law should recognize the essential difference between things which restrain trade in the case of ordinary mercantile concerns and those which restrain trade in the case of common carriers. The question of competition is not the only fair criterion.

9. The law should expressly provide for the meeting and agreement of traffic or other officers of railroads in respect of rates or practices. This should, however, be safeguarded by requiring the agreements to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and to be subject to be disapproved by it.

"My legal proposition," Mr. Thom said, "is that the Constitution as it now is gives full authority to Congress to regulate the instrumentalities of interstate commerce in all their parts. If the power of regulation is to reach the public requirements, it must be coextensive with the instrumentalities of commerce."

Mr. Thom explained that the roads are not asking either of the Committee or of Congress any increase in revenues, but that they are merely asking the perfection of a system which will be responsible to any need that may arise.

YOUR FRIENDS
—ARE—
JOINING

We invite you to join our Christmas Savings Club and be one of the happy throng who will receive checks for next Christmas.

ENROLL NOW

Don't put it off—and off—until it is too late. Start right now while it it on your mind. Just make the first deposit and you are a full-fledged member. When the checks are distributed you will be delighted and will enjoy

A VERY MERRY XMAS

Because you will have money to make your self and friends happy. Make a small deposit weekly and you will be surprised how fast and how easy the account will grow.

Next year you can have enough for Christmas, taxes and fuel, and be relieved of that worry when the time comes if you join.

THE CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB
NOW

THE CHARLEVOIX STATE SAVINGS BANK

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. J. L. Crane, President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

CORRESPONDENCE

HAYES

Frank Sneathen is sick with a cold at this writing.

Leslie Howe is driving team for Gilbert Ferris, hauling wood.

Mrs. Lewis spent Friday with Mrs. Floyd Bartholomew and mother.

Maple Grove school started Monday after one week's vacation.

Art Sneathen threshed 150 bushels of beans from his 16 acres.

Bert Jones and family visited at the home of U. S. Gregory, Sunday.

Leo Allard and wife are spending a few days at the home of George Howe.

Artbur Worden and family spent New Year's at the E. E. Stroud home.

Mary Belle Hair returned to the Normal college at Ypsilanti, Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster spent the afternoon of January 1 with Mr. and Mrs. Stroud.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson was called to see Pete Scott and Earl Sneathen last Saturday.

Irena Gregory returned to the State Normal school at Kalamazoo, Monday morning.

The moving picture show at Burgess last Saturday night was a success. Over 100 present.

A jolly good time was had at the home of Frank Bird, New Year's night. There were 18 present besides the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Brayton Wightman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Marsac and Miss Stepane Karueki, of Chicago, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jericho.

Mr. and Mrs. Brayton Wightman's home, on Xmas day, was a place which will not be forgotten for years to come. The turkey had traveled too far away to return, so sent the faithful chickens instead, which was roasted just to perfection. Also a feast of goody, goodies. The table was decorated with carnations and holly and a beautiful birthday cake with its 24 candles in place in honor of Mrs. Mamie O'Brien. The table also was set for about 30. After dinner the children recited some of their Xmas pieces and sang their Xmas song. Little Vera Webster spoke a little piece, then all adjourned to be entertained by Santa, who forgot his cap and mustache and entered in real person. All received gifts from the hostess and the little ones were well remembered with candy and nuts, and talk about your fun, we surely enjoyed a good laugh when the last gift was delivered.

BARNARD

Mrs. Annie E. Bowdish, of Charlevoix, spent the latter part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Beattie.

A happy, happy New Year to all.

Born, Sunday evening, December 31, a fine baby boy, to Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Lewis. Name Robert Stewart.

Miss Georgie Seroggie, one of our former teachers, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beattie during a part of Monday and Tuesday.

The I. T. class of the Barnard Sunday school held a pancake supper in the church basement Monday evening. The boys were to fry the cakes but we haven't heard as yet how the turned out.

TIRED, WORN-OUT AND MISERABLE

Many Charlevoix People in This Condition.

There is little rest for many a kidney sufferer.

The kidneys feel congested, sore and painful.

Urinary passages are often irregular and distressing.

The sufferer, tired, worn out; depressed.

Weak kidneys need quick help—

Need a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Have proven their merit to thousands of kidney sufferers.

Can any Charlevoix reader doubt this evidence?

Mrs. Wesley Staley, 211 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a fine kidney medicine. My back was lame and I felt tired and languid. My kidneys troubled me. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Hines & Co.'s Drug Store, completely removed the trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Staley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

OBSTACLES.

"I have aimed at health and happiness. When confronted with a formidable obstacle," said Sir George Reid on his seventieth birthday, "I have always first tried to knock it over. Failing in this, I tried to get around it; failing that, to get over it or under it. If I did not then succeed I have been content to lie down in its grateful shade, praising the obstacle as a blessing in disguise."

HER NEW YEAR RESOLVE

MAKE THESE RESOLUTIONS.

I will take good care of my body.

I will have house cleaning in the house I live in.

I will not procrastinate in instituting preparedness against disease.

I will keep clean inside and out.

I will avoid dirt.

I will cultivate good cheer.

I will avoid anger, hate and unrighteousness.

Reverie of the Old Year.

But listen! The old year is speaking. "How strange a thing is the ingratitude of man," he says in slow, faltering accents. "Man is not satisfied with all the benefits the year has bestowed upon him, but must scoff at winter and regard him as a mortal foe.

'Thus winter falls
A heavy gloom oppressive o'er the world,
Through Nature shedding influence malign.'

"Pray, what would these creatures have—summer the year round? Is there no one who will say a good word for winter?"—Countryside Magazine.

Scouts to Clean Up.

Boy Scouts and junior civic organizations in 1917 will maintain inspection of sanitary conditions in every ward of the city as a result of a mass meeting of members of those organizations in the Board of Commerce building Wednesday night. Clean-up campaigns have been conducted on a small scale in congested portions of the city for the last few years, but next spring the scope of the work will be made city wide.—Detroit Journal, Thursday, December 28.

Be the first to get your pick of my line of Sweaters which I am closing out at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

EVELINE

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Schaffer went to Atwood on Christmas day to eat dinner with her two daughters and grand children at the Albert Harwood home.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

Notice of Teachers' Institute.

A state teachers' institute for Charlevoix county was appointed by State Superintendent Fred L. Keeler to be held in East Jordan, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 9th-10th. For teachers closing down their schools for this purpose salaries will continue during attendance at institute. Prof. C. O. Hoyt, of Ypsilanti, was appointed conductor; Miss Schreiber, of Boston, instructor, and Miss Wiggins, of Mount Pleasant, assistant instructor. This is the one big social and professional gathering of the school year and an unusually large enrollment is expected. Teachers may secure lists of rooming places from Superintendent Holliday at high school building. Everybody welcome. Be sure to come.

Cordially yours,
COM'R. MAY L. STEWART,
Adv. 1t1 Local Committee.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

FLORIDA SEASON 1916-'17

STEEL SLEEPING CARS
MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS
FROM GRAND RAPIDS

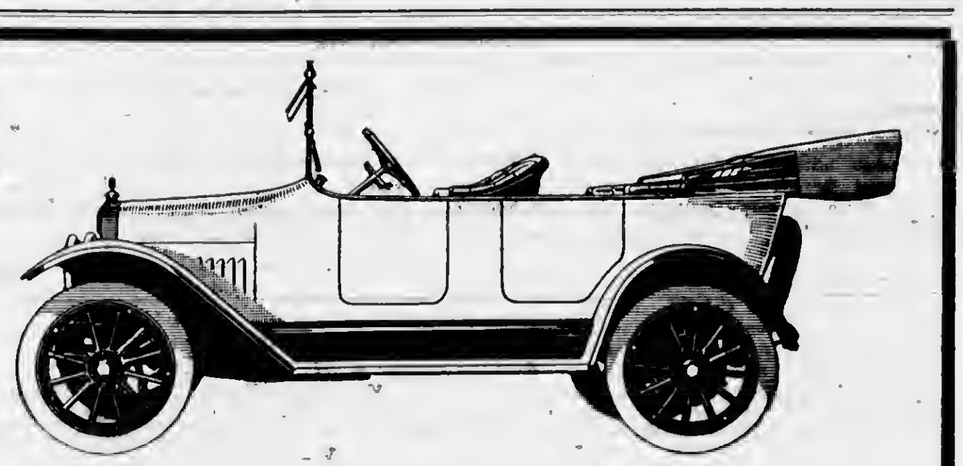
VIA
THE SOUTHLAND
G. R. & I.-L & N.

Lv. Petoskey	1:05 p. m.
Lv. Grand Rapids	8:40 p. m.
Ar. Cincinnati	6:55 a. m.
Ar. Knoxville	4:32 p. m.
Ar. Atlanta	9:55 p. m.
Ar. Jacksonville	8:30 a. m.

Reservations, tickets, illustrative and descriptive matter of Florida Winter Resorts and full information at Ticket Office, Petoskey. Q. D. Phelps, Ticket Agent.

RESERVATIONS NOW BEING MADE

Returning cars leave Jacksonville 8:20 p. m., Mondays and Thursdays.



Pay As You Ride!

Pay for your Maxwell as you enjoy it. Unusually easy time payment plan. Also a Savings Plan. You've been thinking about a Maxwell—now you CAN own one. Ask us for details of these plans. The Maxwell is complete, electric starter, etc.—a real family car.

Maxwell $635 f. o. b. Detroit

We have several good second hand cars for sale call and see us about them.

Bring your storage batteries to be charged and repaired. WE make a speciality of Automobile Repairing, Machine Shop Work and Welding.

ERICKSON & FOWLER
THE CENTRAL GARAGE
103-105 ANTRIM ST. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Talephone No.255 Cbarlevoix, Mlch.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Talephones—
Office, 66 2r Rasidance, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mlch.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phona 16-2 House Pbone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telepbone No.108 Cbarlavoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Pbone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Cbarlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Cbarlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Bnilding, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

LE[illegible]CES

Mortgage Sale.

Defnult having been made in the conditiona of a certain mortgage executed by Adolph B. Major and Ida Mnjor, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Union Trust & Savinga bank of Flint, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd day of June, 1911, and recorded in the offiee of the register of deeda for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is elaimed to be due upon the prineipal and interest compnted to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and tho further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars taxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein descrized, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or nny part thereof;

Therefore, hy virtue of the power of sale contained in aaid mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given tbat on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, at one o'clock in the afternoon, we ahall sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the plaee where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or ao mueh thereof aa may be necessary to pay the amount due on aaid mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per eent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dollara covenanted for therein, the premiscs being deserihed in said mortgage as being situate in the Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of aection twenty-nine (29), town thirty-three (33) north of range four (4) weat; and the southeast quarter (¼) of the southeast quarter (¼)of aection nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less Dnted, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
44t13 Mortgagee.
BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgnagee.
Bnsiness Address: Flint, Michigan.

Performance of Land Contract.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session nf said court, held at the probate offiee in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of December, A. D., 1916.

Preaent, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased, Gilbert Ferris having filed in said eourt his petition praying that the administratrix of said estate be authorized and directed to convey certain real estate in pursuanee of a certain contract made by said deceased in his lifetime.

It is Ordered, That the 11th day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of u copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said duy of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed nnd circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
52t3 Judge of Probate.

Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 30th dny of December, A. D. 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased, Isaiah Wasaqunm having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitnble person,

It is Ordered, That the 23rd day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Furtber Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Adv. 1t3 Judge of Probate.

VAN PELT'S TOURING DIARY

October 14, 1916.

My Dear Courier:

This week has past and gone and with it nothing particular to report except that we have (we includes my daughter this time) been indnlging in sight seeing. Thursdny, we were invited to dine with one of my old traveling men friends, of years ago, at his home in Scituate, Mnssachusetts, and from this house we could see our large battleships patroling the bny, looking for the submarines that sunk nine ships the week previous.

This part of Massachusetts is very remarkable for its being the plnce of so many bnttles and various transactions at the birtb of the nation, such as the Boston tea party, and Paul Revere's wonderful ride, and where the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth (Scituate is only five milea from Plymouth) in 1620 and the Van Pelts in 1630. You see, the "whole blank famliy" was always behind, because of this unfortunate landing—and that, I nm not personally to blame for being in the same location as the tail of the cow and consequently should be excused for my many short-comings. Yet, it is not as worse as it might be, for I know a whole lot of people who know more than I do and few who know less (may the Lord have mercy on them!)

I am not bothering myself much about roads, although I am free to admit that, next to the few remaining members of my family, the good roads problem is my dearest, my most earnest and the sincerest object and desire of my life and if I can, in any way, however, humble, be the means of adding influence towards the building of a Good Concrete Road all around Pine lake and on the west shore of Charlevoix county, I will surely be more than delighted and well satisfied and abundantly paid for the time, money and work I have put into the game, and close the deal with saying, "It was well worth it all."

You will notiee that I emphasize the word good, when I say "good concrete roads," and I will add that "good" concrete cement cannot be made by amateurs or inexperienced concrete men and that a poor concrete road will be and is worse than a poor macadam, or any other a-dam poor road. Consequently, they must be built right, with good and proper drainage, good deep foundations, well and solidly rolled and the proper top dressings also well rolled. More depends upon drainage and rolling than any other two things—except, of course, the best cement, and the best gravel, well mixed.

Why, do you know, if I could have my nnme stamped on our roads, the same as Lee Howland's is, I'd consider it a greater honor than the highest monument that could be built for any of our big prominent men. In fact, such a road as is purposed to build all around Pine lake and the Dixie Highway and the West Michigan Pike, would make a monument nbout 70 miles high, if set up on end and some day we will have it and don't lets forget it and when we get it built we'll set it up on end. Won't we? Sloan says, "You bet." I heard him say it.

VAN PELT.

Card of Thanks.

We wish, through the Courier, to thank the kind friends who assisted us at the time of the death nnd funeral of our husband, son and brother; also for the beautiful flowers. Mrs. Martin Furst, Mr. and Mrs. Oswnld Furst, David A. Furst.
Adv. 1t1—pd

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

BRYAN AGAINST OWNERSHIP BY THE GOVERNMENT

Gives Newlands Committee His Views on Railroad Control.

COMPETITION PREFERABLE.

Federal Regulation Should Not Be Allowed to Exclude Exercise of State Authority, He Contends—Thinks Railroad Stocks Should Represent Actual Value and Be Stable as Government Bonds.

Washington, Dec. 11.—William J. Bryan, who startled the country ten years ago by advocating government ownership of railroads, appeared before the Newlands Joint Committee on Interstnia Commerce last week in support of the claim that the states should be allowed to retain authority over the regulation of all transportation lines withiu their borders. Mr. Bryan explained that he had long regarded government ownership as inevitable, but only because of railroad opposition to effective regulation.

Against Government Ownership.

"Personnlly I cannot say that I desire government ownership" he explained, "because I lean to the individual idea rather than to the collective idea; that is, I believe that government ownership is desirnble only where competition is impossible."

Alfred P. Thom, counsel to the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, previously hnd presented before the members of the Newlands Committee as one of his reasons for urging a better balanced and more systematic regulation of railroads the argument that this is the only alternative to government ownership. Calling attention to ths restrictions imposed upon the transportation lines hy conflicting state laws and regulations, to the practical cessation of new construction and to the impossibility under existing conditions of securing the new capital needed for extensions and betterments of railway facilities, he warned the Congressmen that unless they provided a fair and reasouable system of regulation that would enable the railroads to meet the growing needs of the country'a business the national government would be compelled to take over the ownership of the lines with all the evils attendant upon such a system.

Preservation of Compatition.

Mr. Bryan, on the other hand, holds that the further extension of federal authority over the railronds would be a step in the direction of government ownership. He advanced the view that the centralizntion of control in the hands of the national government would impose too great a burden upon the regulating body, would offer strong temptatiou to railroads to interfere in politics and would encourage the general movemeat toward centralization of power in the federal government at the expense of the states. He said that he did not object to consolidations of railroad lines so long as they did not destroy competition, that he knew of no complaint against great railway systems because of their size and that he believed that the preservatioa of competition was the teat to be applied to all consolidations.

Regulation of Securities.

Mr. Bryan declared himself in favor of national regulation of railway stock and bond issues, but added that he saw no reason why that should exclude the states from acting on the samo subject as to state corporations. "I would like to aee the stock of a railroad, as long as it is in private hands, made as substantial and as unvarying as the value of a goverament bond," he asserted.

He suggested that railroad capitalization be readjusted to equalize it with actual valuntion of the property represented, making due allowance for equities, and that when this was done the roads should be allowed to earn sufficient income to keep their atock at par and to create a surplus. The latter, he tentntively proposed, might be nllowed to amount ta 25 per eent of the capital.

Railway Earnings Low.

This subject of railroad capitalization and the amount of railroad earnings received further attention from the committee during its recent sessions. In answer to questions hy Senator Cummins, Mr. Thom submitted figures showing the net earnings of the roads in recent years. These figures show that during the five years from 1905 to 1910 the averago net earnings were 5.25 per cent of the net capitalization, while for the five years from 1910 to 1915 the nverage was only 4.56 per cent. The total earnings on the stock, computed by adding to the net operating income the income from the securities owned and deducting bond interest, were for 1910, 7.09 per cent; for 1911, 6.17 per cent; for 1912, 4.97 per cent; for 1913, 5.94 per cent; for 1914, 4.06 per cent; for 1915, 3.44 per cent, thus showing an almost continuous decrease throughout this six year period. It was announced that Halford Erickson, formerly chairman of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission, would submit more complete information on this snbject to the Committee at a later dnie.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

FACTS ABOUT INCOME TAX

WILL CONCERN FEW IN CHARLEVOIX

Those Having Annual Net Income Over $3,000 Are Required to Prepare Statement.

The time has arrived when persons who have an annual net income of $3,000 or more should prepare a statement and report to the collector at Grand Rapids. Thia is required under the federal income tax law, and should be reported on nr before March 1 to nvoid penalties and additional tax.

Tha impression prevalls that it is unnecessary to report unless the income exeeeds $4,000. This is wrong. The law requires a report if the net income amounts to $3,000, but a married man has no tax to pay unless his income exeeeds $4,000. A single person's exemption is $3,000.

Generally speaking income consists of salary, profit or gain from professions, trade or partnerships, rents, interest, dividends, royalties, and profits from real estate or other dealing of any sort.

There are certain nllowable deductions conaisting of interest and taxes actually paid, losses, worthless debts, depletions and depreciations.

As a general rule professional men such as doctors, dentists and lawyers should report.

Every individual, firm or corporation paying salaries, rents or interest to nny person in exeess of $3,000 should withhold the income tax therein unless the person receiving same files an exemption claim in writing on a form prescribed by the department. A report on all such transactions should be made to the collector on or before March 1. This ineludes all persons doing business for another in the capacity of trustee, exeeutor or adminiatrstor.

All corporations having a legal existenee, ineluding those inactive, must report regardless of profits made or lossea sustained. The trustee of a bankrupt corporation is required to filo a report.

Blnnks for all purposes under the income tax law and furnished upon application to Emnnuel J. Doyle, collector of internal revenue, Grand Rapids, Michigan, who will be glad to anawer any questions or furnish nny informntion desired concerning the income tax law.

Notice.

I will open my feed mill at Ironton ready for grinding after Jan. 17th. Corn Meal, Graham and Buckwheat Flour a specialty. Priees reasonable and good work guaranteed. Will Tumath. Adv. 1t2

Obituary.

Martin C. Furst was born on South Manitou Island, August 15, 1881, and departed this life December 16, 1916, in the general hospital nt Traverse City, where he had undergone an operation for appendicitis on December 13.

He wasda member of the United Statea coast guard aervice, first enlisting at Charlevoix in 1903.

In 1904 he was transferred to South Manitou station, where he served up to the time of his last illness.

In 1905 he was united in marriage to Miss Zella Mabie. To this union were born three children, Ethel, aged ten; Norman, eight, and Glen, three, all of whom are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband nnd fnther. Besides the immediate family he also leaves the aged parents and one brother, David Furst, of this place.

Martin was a young man of upright character and was loved and respected by nll who knew him.

He was conscious until the end nnd very plainly expressed his willingness to meet his Maker and a request for the remaining ones to meet him in the heavenly home.

The remains were brought to Charlevoix, where the funeral wns held, December 20 at the Congregational church. The body was placed in the city vault, until further arrangements could be made.—Contributed.

Church of God.

Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.

Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.

Prenching at 11:00 a. m.

Services ovor Taylor'a Grocary, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.

Serviees nt Burgess School house every Sunday evening at 7:30.

I enn save you money on Men's Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Coats, Socks, Mittens, etc. Benj. Brown.
Adv. 49tf

Subscribe for the Courier.

AFTER ANY SICKNESS

your nervous system is shattered; your strength is wasted; your digestion weakened, your blood impoverished.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is the rich tonic-food to nourish your nerve-centers, repair the wasted tissue, improve your blood-power, sharpen your appetite and gradually re-establish your strength.

Get SCOTT'S for yourself, or remind some ailing friend that SCOTT'S has proven these words for thousands of others. Look for this Trade-Mark.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 12-6

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

No Poultry Show This Season.

The Petoskey and Emmet County Paultry nssociation will not have a poultry show thia year. This was decided upon some little time ago by the various members who in years past have been actively interested.

The inability to secure a suitable building last year caused some little dissatisfaction among both members and the public, and the sama trouble would have been experienced ngain this year had a show been attempted.

It is likely that the members will be busy during the coming year and that a big poultry show will be given here in the 1917-1918 season.

Richardi Loses Farm Residence.

The fine residence of Henry Richnrdi, Bellaire, was totally destroyed by fire one night last week. This was probably the only fully equipped residence for electrical work in Michigan, as we understand it was not only lighted and warmed by electricity but had motors for the housework. Cooking was done by electric current. As there were no fires in the house the blaze must have started from the electric wires. The loss is placed at $10,000.

Babe Dies On Train.

A Christmas visit, with all its joy and happiness, was turned into a day of sorrow by the visitation nf the dark angel. The 18 month old daughter of Mrs. Harry Snyder was coming with her mother to grandpa's home, in Boyne City, when she was suddenly stricken with acute indigestion and passed away before reaching the city.

The mother and children were on their way from Rexton when the child became ill at Mackinaw. Its condition grew steadily worse and after changing cars at Boyne Falls, before the outskirts of Boyne City were reached a paroxysm of pain snuffed the life light out.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

AUTO NEWS

The big Overland dealers' convention at Toledo proved the biggest convention ever held. The entire 1917 line of Overland and Willys-Knight cars was contracted for by the Overland dealers and distributors during this meeting.

Besides its business aspects a number of features that were unequaled in the annals of motor history contributed to the entertainment of 9,000 delegates.

Almost every group of dealers boro some insignia or brought along a mascot.

The Texas, Montanans and Dakotans came as cowboys and rangers, nearly all costumed in cowboy outfits and carrying huge Colt 44's. Tho Oklahoma delegation brougbt genuine Cheyenne Indians from Uncle Sam's reservation at Watonga.

Arkansas dealers had a black razorback hog which they carried about in a Pullman hammock.

The Texas contingent presented Mr. John N. Willys, president of The Willys-Overland company, with a chair made out of Texas steer horns; a cotton automobile and a live coyote.

A number of the Texans had never been out of their own state until this visit, the snowfall which greeted them upon their arrival in Toledo being a distinct novelty. Seventy-four per cent of the southerners had never been north of the Mason Dixon line before; 77 per cent of the Pacific coast men had never been east of the Rockies, while more than half of the New England delegation had never been further west than New York city.

All the visitors were housed in Pullmans in the extensive Overland yards—as many as 75 to 80 cars being taken care of in one day; the visitors were fed in the dining rooms and entertained in the immense auditorium of the new administration building.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

VanPelt Hall.

Wednesday serviee, 7:15 p. m.

Service Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "God."

Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Catholic Church.

Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.

High Masa at 10:00 a. m.

Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.

Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.

Other aervices during the week as announced Sunday previous.

M. E. Church.

A. m.—"A Ready Critic."

P. m.—"Hell."

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.

Sunday school at 12:00 m.

Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.

Preaching at 2:30 atandard time.

May All Join in Making the Year 1917 Both Joyous and Prosperous

Upon the New Year's threshold, with Yuletide happiness so fresh in the memory, how clearly we see opportunity for progress and improvement that might at other times pass unnoticed.

The time is ripe for directing our steps in paths that lead to safety and profit in financial matters throughout the coming year.

With the Season's Greetings, our Officers also extend to the members of this community a cordial invitation to view this Institution in the light of a financial home where the spirit of good-will and helpful service is at all times predominant.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Butlers and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

WHO "LEAKED" INFORMATION

President Wilson's note to the European belligerents was sent to the newspapers at eight o'clock in the evening on Wednesday, December 20. It was not to be released for publication until after midnight. Yet at about two o'clock on that day a news ticker in Wall street carried a report that the president was about to dispatch a note urging the warring nations to work out the terms of peace.

These statements were printed in the New York Times of Thursday, December 21, in the course of an article dealing with the crisis in the stock market; and there is a natural inquiry here as to who "leaked" the information.

The president's note was dated Monday, December 18—two days before it was given to the press; it was prepared, all reports agree, several days before that. Consequently, its contents must have been known to a fairly numerous group. Washington gossip has been busy trying to identify the men who could have had knowledge of the president's purpose—and there are sinister rumors to the effect that some people who were "in the know" did not let the opportunity pass to pick up some easy profits in the stock market when securities went tumbling, as they were bound to, as soon as the president's note became public property.

The incident serves to emphasize the power which an administration holds upon values in this country. What the president's note did upon a large scale which affected every industry whose securities are dealt in on the market, can be done to a lesser degree with individual securities by any one of a group of officials whose duties bring them into contact with the industrial life of the nation. This power, it is to the credit of American public life to record, has rarely, if ever, been abused—and it is significant that it is only within the past few years that anyone has ever seriously surmised that personal gain or any other private motive lay behind any course of action on the government's part. That such surmises are now rife is due in part to the system which clothes officials with such enormous power and in part to the acquiescence with which conservative-minded people have come to regard much of the activity in some circles of the present administration.

The remedy is partly legislative—by limiting the power of administrative officers—and partly political, by seeing to it that the government is lodged in the hands of men and of parties immune to sinister influence. The country, however, has just voted; and it is a trite observation that a nation receives that sort of government which it deserves.

CAN'T WE TAKE A JOKE?

We begin to fear for the American sense of humor. Was it, after all, an illusion of self-flattery and not a possession? Do we never laugh? Are we sad faced in the presence of the comic, the grotesque and the farcical?

Villa is at large in northern Mexico with a numerous following. He looted Chihuahua City recently. He serves notice that he is of a mind to return on Christmas day and get some Christmas presents.

Pershing, sent into Mexico to get Villa, is "interned" by Carranza. Villa is cutting figure eights all around the punitive expedition sent to get him.

And yet no one in the United States has laughed himself to death. We fear it is a nation with no sense of humor.

Or has it lost all sense of shame? —Chicago Tribune.

Many instances resulting in great hardship and financial loss have been attributed to the alleged coal shortage, but it was convincingly demonstrated at the mass meeting last Wednesday night that this fact was not sufficient to scare our citizens into tying up their hands and resources by signing up a 10-year electric contract with Mr. Richardi of Bellaire. Who's "fine Italian hand" is dabbling in this business, anyhow?

Strange, wasn't it, that the promoters of the Richardi contract were unable to satisfactorily explain the few points queries put to them during Wednesday evening's session.

"And then God said, let there be light and there was light." The council is now expecting a reversal of the Creation.

"Let the court settle it," (Alderman Geiken.) We believe it is the only satisfactory way.

Only three days before darkness. Better buy your candle supply early.

FIRST DEATH IN COMPANY I

ALKALI PNEUMONIA TAKES CORPORAL JOE WEDDERBURN

Remains Given Due Military Honors Before Leaving El Paso—Body to Arrive Friday.

The first death in Company I, Thirty-third Michigan infantry, occurred Sunday, December 31st, when Corporal Joseph Wedderburn passed away at the hospital in El Paso, Texas, after a three days' illness—an attack of alkali pneumonia.

Joe was the son of Harry Wedderburn, of Norwood, and a boy greatly respected and liked by all who knew him. He was one of the original members of the separate company as it existed under Captain Winters' command, before the troops were called to the border and the company was mustered in as a part of the Thirty-third. He was barely of enlisting age, his 18th birthday coming on the 28th of July last.

The body, which was accorded military honors by the regiment, is expected here next Friday afternoon, in the care of Corporal B. Beuker of Company I. Interment will be at Norwood. How many more needless and bitter sacrifices will the miserable Mexican fiasco demand of us?

BASKET BALL NOTES

The Charlevoix high school basket ball team will play the second game of the season here Friday night, January 5th.

Central Lake is the visiting team and a strong quintet is looked for. Although the home team was defeated by Pellston by the score of 24 to 19, they say they'll win this game and start the new year out right. Come and see this resolution carried out. If you come and see us win this time we know you will come again.

Don't forget the date, January 5.

Special Service.

Next Sunday night at the Methodist church Rev. Quinton Walker will preach on the subject, "Hell." Where is it, what is it, who will go there, and when.

This will be a frank and full treatment as to what the Methodist church believes in regard to future punishment. Everyone is cordially invited.

STATE TEACHERS INSTITUTE

TWO DAY SESSION IN EAST JORDAN NEXT WEEK

County School Commissioner Issues Call for Annual Event—Good Attendance Expected.

On January 9 and 10 East Jordan will be the mecca of all teachers in the county, the occasion being the annual state teachers institute. Teachers from all parts of the county are expected to be present and under the state laws have the opportunity of closing their school during the time of the institute.

The program for the two days will be of unusual interest. Prof. C. O. Hoyt, of Ypsilanti, has been appointed conductor; Miss Schreiber, of Boston, instructor, and Miss Wiggins, of Mt. Pleasant, as assistant instructor. Following is the program in detail:

Tuesday, January 9.

9:30 a. m.—High school orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. Robert Sidebotham.
Solo—Prof. Brownell.
Brief business meeting of Charlevoix County Teachers' association.
"Education as World Building"—Prof. C. O. Hoyt.
Recess.
"The Problem in Rural Education"—Miss Wiggins.
Rural problems—Miss Stewart.
1:30 p. m.—Girls' Glee club.
Solo—Miss Leanore Keaney.
"Making the History Lesson Real"—Miss Wiggins.
Reading—Miss Annette Lardie.
"Lessons from the Great Educators"—Prof. C. O. Hoyt.
Recess.
"Spelling"—Miss Wiggins.
5:30—Teachers' supper at Methodist church, 50 cents per plate.

Superintendent McIntosh has planned a royal good time for the occasion. Special objects of his fun are Superintendent Craig and Superintendent Holliday. Lawyer Fitch is preparing a few slams, one on you and one on me.

8:30—"The Funny Man," Byron King, impersonator, at the Temple theatre.

Wednesday, January 10.

9:00 a. m.—Orchestra.
Vocal selections.
"What is the Matter with English?"—Miss Schreiber.
"The Artist Teacher"—Prof. Hoyt.
Recess—Song by association.
"Formation of Good Habits in English"—Miss Schreiber.
Brief business session of association.
1:00 p. m.—Music.
"The Morning Exercise"—Prof. C. O. Hoyt.
"The Best Book"—Miss Schreiber.
Music.
Question box conducted by Dr. Hoyt.

New Supplies Have Arrived.

We are advised by the Charlevoix State Savings bank that they have just received a fresh supply of enrollment cards for the Christmas Savings club and will keep their records open for further enrollment to and including January 10th.

We wish you
A Happy New Year
and many Returns of them

Following are Cash Bargains till New Years

25 lbs. Puritan Flour	$1.25
24½ lbs. Commercial Flour	$1.20
25 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$2.00
1 lb. Oleomargarine	25c
2 lbs. Blue Ribbon Raisins	25c
1 pckg. Silver Bar Raisins	10c
Plymouth Rock Salmon	19c
1 lb. Citron Peel	20c
1 lb. Lemon Peel	20c
1 lb. Orange Peel	20c

A. E. MASON

Gossard Corsets at the Old Prices
BIG SAVINGS

Even though practically all merchandise has been increased in price the past year, Gossard Corsets have remained the same to you. It is only the determination of the H. W. Gossard Co. to maintain the quality of Gossard Corsets which forces them and us to make slight increases in their price beginning January 15th.

We are going to let our customers share with us in the savings: Purchase your Corsets NOW before January 15th. And remember our allotment, while large, will be sold quickly

Below we quote the "new prices" and the "now prices." Gossard style—Gossard quality—Gossard workmanship—Gossard comfort and front lacing are in each model and the savings are large enough to warrant your buying more than one corset at this time.

Gossard models that will be sold at $2.50 . . Now $2.00
Gossards that you have worn which will retail at $3 Now $2.50
Gossards in many models---yours probably, soon $4.25 . . Now $3.50

Gossards that have been great sellers soon $5.00 Now $4

Gossards in standard models that will be $6.50
Now $5.00

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

NEEDY POOR HELPED DURING HOLIDAYS

Generous Response Given to Appeal for Aid to Poor.

Forty-six children so far have been furnished clothing.

Twenty or more homes had fine Christmas dinners.

Groceries, etc., have been sent more than a dozen families.

Coal or wood has been put into coal bins and the public conscience has been stirred to a sense of action exceptionally well.

We are remembering as perhaps not so well e'er this that we are, or at least ought to be, "Our Brother's Keeper."

Many things have been done by individuals, churches, lodges, societies, etc., which are indeed commendable.

We take this means of thanking all the churched and unchurched for their co-operation with us in this non-sectarian work in our common cause for humanity.

Mr. Cooper, our commissioner for the poor, is certainly to be commended for his careful unceasing efforts to help when and where deserving, and yet protect the public from "waste of money."

If, as good citizens, we would stop to look into the work of our public servants, we would have much more to commend than to condemn. The average public servant does the best he can.

God bless all and give to each of you a Happy New Year. We need much more money, clothing and food for relief work. Send it any time to the Boy Scout club rooms.

Sincerely,
LLOYD C. VINYARD.

Has Finger Amputated.

John Timmer, who has been carrying his right arm in a sling for several months past, the result of an infected wound received last summer, had his finger removed Saturday morning by Dr. Armstrong. The operation, which was necessary in order to save the arm, was entirely successful and Mr. Timmer is doing nicely.

Now is the time to buy your Christmas presents. I am closing out my line of Sweaters and will save you dollars. Benj. Brown.
Adv. 49tf

Announcement

I wish to inform the trading public of Charlevoix and vicinity that I have purchased the interest heretofore held by Mr. E. L. Dawson, in the store formerly conducted under the name of Jacobs & Dawson, and will continue to conduct the store on the same principals in the future as in the past. I solicit the patronage of new customers as well as those who have favored us since the time we started in business. Good goods, lowest living prices, and the best of service to all will be my aim.

H. B. Jacobs
Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

PETOSKEY F. & A. M. INSTALL OFFICERS

Hon. A. Buttars of Charlevoix Gave Address of Evening.

On Wednesday evening, December 27th, the F. & A. M. lodge, of Petoskey, installed their officers for the ensuing year and were served a banquet by the O. E. S. at the social rooms in the Methodist Episcopal church in that city. Covers were laid for 100 and at 6:30 the banquet was served. Following the banquet, they adjourned to the Masonic hall, where they at once proceeded to install the officers.

This was followed by a splendid address, given by A. Buttars, of Charlevoix, who told in a very interesting manner of the early pioneer days of 60 years ago in northern Michigan and of the help and benefit he had derived from the Masonic fraternity. At the close of the address, Victrola music was enjoyed by all.—Petoskey Evening News, Thursday, December 28, 1916.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.25
Red wheat, per bu.	1.30
Beans, per bu.	5.25
Red kidney beans, per bu.	5.75
Oats	.54
Barley, per cwt.	.78
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.10
Shelled corn	.85
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Beef, dressed	8.00 to 10.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	12 to 14c
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.40
New potatoes, per bu.	1.25
Honey per lb.	15
Salt	1.45

Get the habit—Read the Courier

-USE-
CARBONOID

A Magic Soot Destroyer and Chimney-Sweep

Positively guaranteed to do the work if directions are followed

—FOR SALE BY—

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on Page 8

J. Leahy, of Petoskey, was in tbe city Tbursday.

D. S. Payton wae ia town Monday of this week.

Miss Ione Catton, of Benzonia, is ia town this week.

Clark C. ("Red") Coulter left for Cbicago, Monday afternoon.

Hugo Hampton returned to his law practice in Detroit, Monday.

F. R. Williams and J. B. Griffin, of Elk Rapids, were bere Thursday.

D. E. Clow, of Ellswortb, wae a business caller in the city on Friday last.

Benj. Brown reports the sale of a Ford delivery car to Art VanAllsburg.

Mrs. Gleaa Ellis, of Petoskey, visited her father, Heary Jacobs, last week.

Tbe Misses Helea Parsone and Rath Mitchell returned to Alma, Tuesday.

Leo Powers, of Harbor Springs, spent Sunday witb bis family in Charlevoix.

Miss Horatia Iddings returned to her school ia Grand Rapids, Tuesday morning.

J. Harvey Campbell and family left Tuesday for their aew home in Ottawa, Ohio.

H. A. Craig, who has been visiting his home in the Soo, returned to this city Monday last.

G. C. Townsend and wife, of Ellsworth, spent New Year's day in the city with friends.

Mrs. D. F. Wood and dnughter, Henrietta, are visiting Mrs. Wood's mother at Cheboygan.

Mrs. James Sanford was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital for treatment last Monday morning.

Glenn See and Frank McFarland went to Traverse City, Tuesday morning oa a visit to friende.

King Saunders and Walker Miles are camping out near the Nicholls Lumber Camp at Twin Lakes.

Clifford Taylor, of Grand Rapids, spent Christmss day in the city with his mother, Mrs. A. M. Paulson.

Miss Lillian Emrey spent New Year's day in Petoskey visiting friends. She returned Tuesday.

Miss Marion Parsons went back to Coleman, Monday, after spending the holidays witb ber parents.

The Misses Pauline Markbam and Edna Ward left Monday for Alma, where they will resume their studies.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Watson, who arrived last week from Georgetown, Kentucky, returned New Year's day.

Mrs. Chester Denton ie spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Martindale, at Harbor Springs.

Miss Ida Dix, of Petoskey, is spending several days at the home of O. D. Hammond on Antrim street.

Mrs. Frank Geiken, of Pellston, is spending a few days at the bome of Capt. and Mrs. Geiken in tbis city.

Harold Kenyon, of Mackinaw Island, accompanied his father, Frank Kenyon, on a visit to tbis city Monday.

Dr. Roundsville left for Chicago, Tueeday, after spending the holidays in this city with hie dsughter, Mrs. L. Crigbton.

Vern Hewitt returned to Bellaire Tuesday morning after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hewitt.

Miss Helen Armstrong returned to Chicago, Tucsday afternoon, after spending the holidays with ber parents in Charlevoix.

Miss Margaret Foote, who has been spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crane, returned Tuesday morning to Alma.

John McCall, wife and children, left Monday morning for Detroit, where they will visit for a few weeks with relativee and friends.

Stanley Finucan, who has been spending the holidays with his parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Finucan, returned to Big Rapids, Tuesday.

Jnmes Sanford, Jr., returned to his work in Detroit, Monday, after epending the holidaye with his parents, Captain and Mrs. James Sanford.

U. J. McCana, Miss Mary Gibsoa, Miss Winifred Lafrenier aad Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradley, of the Beavers, were at the Hotel Cbarlevoix, Friday.

Dr. Andrew L. Swinton left Monday for his home in Ontonagon, after attending the wedding of his brother, Roy L. Swinton to Miss Jane Mitchell.

The Misses Isabelle Mitchell and Clara Finucan left Tuesday morning for Detroit, where they will resume their duties, after spending the boliday8 in this city.

A carload of Ford cars direct from the factory are expected to arrive in the city some time during the week. They will be taken care of by the local agent, Benj. Brown.

Paul Hnrsha, Dorothy Armstrong, Mnrion Ssunders, Leslie Shapton and Perry Mason returned to Ann Arbor, Wednesday morning to resume their studies at tbe U. of M.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell returned last week from Holland, where Mr. Campbell bas been bolping to finish up the season's run of beets at the Holland-St. Louis plant.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rachow left Saturday morning for their new home in Saginaw, where Mr. Rachow will take up bis duties as secretary of the new Saginaw Valley Trust company.

Frank Bearss and family are back from Flint and occupying their house on the south side. Frank will return shortly to Flint to work until spring, while Mrs. Bearss and the children will remain here.

Mrs. Martin Furst, wbo was called to Charlevoix by the death and burial of her late husbaad, Martin Furst, returned to South Maaitou Island, Tuesday morning, to attend to business matters. She left ber children with her eleter, Mrs. Albert Harwood of near Atwood, and expects to return within the aext week or so.

Wanted

Two Dining Room Girls

Hotel Charlevoix

REMNANT SALE

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ONLY

All Short Lengths of Dress Goods

$1.00 Dress Goods, short lengths at 69c
50c Dress Goods, short lengths at 35c
$2.00 Skating Sets at $1.69
$1.50 Skating Sets at $1.25
$1.00 Skating Sets at 59c
50c Children's Sets at 35c

Special values in fancy ribbons and Art goods

Ladies' and Children's Wool gloves and mittens 1-4 OFF

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

Miller's Specials.

4 pckgs. Corn Flakes.....25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps.....25c
3 pckgs. Macaroni.....25c
4 lbs. Head Rice.....25c
Adv. 1tt B. W. MILLER.

OIL STOVE CAUSE OF SLIGHT BLAZE

Small Damage by Fire Saturday in K. of P. Hall.

Last Saturday morning, Mrs. Loper, who was doing some cleaning in the K. P. hall, over the Van Pelt block, rnn down into the street and gave the alarm of fire. A few bystanders quickly responded and formed a bucket brigade, using the water tap in the Courier offiee.

One or two pails of water served to extinguish the fire and left aothing for the fire department to do except examine the premisee. Mrs. Loper had lit tbe oil etove in the K. P. kitchen, which is surrounded by a thin partition of pine boards, and the stove, getting overheated, tbis partition caught fire while ebe was out of the room and was in a mass of flamea when she returned a few minutes later. The damage was slight.

The best of all New Year resolutions—keep your property well insured from all fire loss. See Myrtie Young & Son about it at once. Adv. 1tt

Baptist Church.

A. m.—"The Future Chureb."

P. m.—The new Testament on Water Baptism. How, Why, Wbere, When, By Whom to Whom. Several person will be baptized.

Bible scbool at 12 m.

Blue Birds meet at 3 p. m.

B. Y. P. U. at 6 p. m. Miss DeWitt, leader. 106 presoat last Sunday.

Service at Marion 3 p. m. Subjeet, "The Future Church."

Prayer meeting Thursday night. Subject, "My Bible for 1917."

Attention K. of P.'s

Lodge every Thursday nigbt.

Water Causes Damage.

Seldom in the history of Charlevoix has more trouble been had witb ice on roofs of residences and etore buildings. Hundreds of homes in this city are today being practically ruined as far as interior decorations are concerned for the water, freezing along the edgee of the roofs, is backing up under the shingles and running down the inside walls. Hardly a bit of tbe heavy fall of snow bas been blown off the roofs and the only way it can get off is to melt off.

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs n number of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

GOOD BOAR for eervice, $1.00 cash. Joseph Sprik, R. F. D. No. 4. 5ttf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

FOR SALE—Pair light sleighs. R. C. Korth. Phone 144. 1tf

WANTED—Good man to go to the Northwest to work by the year if satisfactory. Must he good with stock. No others wanted. Apply William Trimble, Charlevoix. tt2—pd

STOLE HORSE AND DOUBLE SLEIGH

BOYS STEAL FARM RIG AND GO FOR JOY RIDE

Drive Horse Into Snow Drift and Scatter When Chased by Police.

A bunch of young roisterers stole the horse and double sleigh belonging to the Martha Wilson farm from wbere the rig was hitcbed in front of the Metbodist ebureb last Sunday evening aear the baur of midnigbt.

Alex. Sauers, wbo had driven several members of Joe Edwards' family down from tbe farm, left the church at a quarter to eleven and found tbe rig gone. Thinking tbat whoever had taken the outfit would return before long, be went back into the eburcb, bat when he came oat again at eleven-thirty and found it still missing, he became alarmed and looked up Officer Howard, who was just starting for the north side to make his regular 12 o'clock punch at the watchman'e station. Howard told Ssuers to go back to the church and keep on the lockout, while he proceeded on over tbe bridge. He had just reached the north end of the structure whea the missing rig hove in sight along the road in front of the Fountain City House, crowded with boys and driven at the fierceet pace of which the old farm Dobbin was capable.

Howard etarted to run and tbe boys, wbo saw him about the same time, began to encoursge tbe horse. Tbey turned the corner on ons runner and started up the hill. Howard, despite his heavy overcoat, was steadily gaining, and near the top af the hill, in froat of tbe Baker cottage the marauders headed the rig into a snow drift and then jumped out and scattered in all directions. Howard secured the horse and sleigh, but did not get close enough to identify any of the boys.

Suspicions attach, however, to a gang of boys who have been pulling off just such stunts as this from time to time, and tbey will be carefully watched from now on. It will be a short shrift for the fellow that gets caugbt.

NEIGHBORS HELP WATCH OLD YEAR OUT

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Moyer of Hayes Surprised by Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Moyer, of Hayes, were agreeably surprised on New Year'e eve. when about 35 of their friends and neighbors walked in to belp them watch tbe old year out.

The evening was epent in playing gamcs and mueic and after the New Year arrived a pot luck supper was served by the ladies.

The guests left in the wee small bours of the morning hoping to spend many more New Year eves witb their boet.

Notes From Baptist Holiday Gift Services.

Forty-three persons gave themselvee to Cbrist.

Fifty-one persons rededicated themselves for eervice.

Twenty-nine persons joined the Tithers League and hereafter will give one-tenth of all their lacome to the church treasury.

Many baskets were sent to the Boy Scouts for dietribution to the needy poor.

Home missions was the leading theme throughout.

Praise God from Wbom all blessings flow.

Baptist Minister.

Pants, Mncklnaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

J. L. Crane

January Clearing Sale
Coats and Skirts

Misses' and Children's Coats included in this Sale

$10.00 9.00 8.00 } Coats at $5.95

$7.00 $6.00 $5.00 } Coats at $3.95

$4.90 $4.50 $4.00 } Coats at $2.95

SKIRTS--All new stock at extraordinary clearing sale prices:

$10.00 Skirts at $7.50
$8.00 Skirts at $5.50
$6.00 Skirts at $3.95

$4.75 $4.50 $3.75 } SKIRTS AT $2.95

Away back in 1709 a man named Sam. Johnson wrote these words:

"If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repairs."

We knew this before we read these words, and have been making new acquaintances and holding the old ones for years. That is why we have today the largest flour sales in the county.

There is no reason why we should not continue to grow. The county and surrounding territory is prosperous. Our IRON DUKE flour is the best we can make. Where tried it gives more than satisfaction.

You have an interest in common with us. You want flour. We want to sell you flour. It is only necessary for us to prove to you that we can supply the grade of flour you want. Will you give us the opportunity?

The flour is for sale everywhere. Ask for

IRON DUKE FLOUR

Argo Milling Co.
Manufacturers

Saturday Special

FINE, FANCY ORANGES per dozen ..... 19c and 24c

Remember us with your next grocery or meal order We guarantee you first-class goods and quick service

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

FRIDAY January 5, 1917
CAL CARTER
World Film Co.

TUESDAY January 9, 1917
2nd Episode of
THE SEQUEL TO THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY

WEDNESDAY January 10, 1917
THE IRON WOMAN
Featuring Nance O'Neill
Metro

CHAPTER XV.

Honey.

GARRY entered upon his new duties the following morning in a spirit anything but reassuring to his companion. Up to that time he had made his own industry the butt of much good natured ridicule, viewing it apparently as a sort of vacation novelty amusing enough while the novelty lasted. But he went from task to task that next day in a methodical, dogged fashion that was farthest of all from amiability. Two or three times Steve, trying to spare him needless effort, attempting to show him how to favor blistered hands and aching back, met with rebuffs so curt that he learned to keep his advice to himself. He knew what end Garry was working to achieve. He would have allowed himself to smile over the thought that the other man would be tired enough before night came without trying to make that work any harder, only he did not dare feature that smile.

"You've been trying to help me," Garry said to Steve. "You've been trying to throw me a line. And for a time I tried to catch it, Steve. But it isn't in me to try that hard any more. Some men do things for what there is in it—the pecuniary reward, I mean. Some men—you, for instance—because their self respect won't let them atop, win or lose. But now and then there happens one who keeps on trying only because there is one other person at least who may be the gladder for his success. I don't expect you to understand. I know it will sound small and cowardly to you. It's too lonesome living, Steve, when there's no one who cares whether you live or not!"

"Miriam Burrell!" he breathed.

"That does not fit your case," Steve objected instantly, "when your danger or your safety keeps a woman watching white faced with terror through the night for your return."

Garry propped himself upon one elbow, the better to see the speaker's countenance.

"My safety?" he repeated blankly. "My return?" And then, wanly grateful, "You are not the sort of man who lies convincingly, Steve."

And then Stephen O'Mara let him have it—all the story which had lain so many days in his heart. There were times when Garry went even paler during the short recital, times when everything else was submerged by the incredulity that flooded his face. But before Steve had finished the last trace of doubt was gone. Before the end came Garry had bowed his head, this time in flushed, self conscious wonder which transfigured him.

"Miriam Burrell!" he breathed. "Proud, intolerant"—

His head came up. The next instant he voiced the words which Steve most wanted to hear.

"You shouldn't have told me this," said he. "You had no right, unless"—

Steve laughed at him.

"God bless you, boy," he exclaimed. "I asked her if I might. Why, don't you understand that she meant to herself if I didn't? You see, she is—far, far braver than you are, Garry."

Garry lifted his hands and hid his face.

So quietly that his exit made no sound Steve slipped to his feet and passed outside. It had stopped raining. The hardwood ridges, touched by frost, were flaming streaks of color against the rainwashed evergreens when he picked his way down to the river and found a dry stone for a seat. An hour and more he sat there while his thoughts went back over the trail of the years, the trail which had led him from that cabin to a pair of violet eyes and lips that arched like a bow's.

Steve let his mind turn again unreservedly to his own problem that morning. He tried to face sure eyed the road which still stretched ahead. He did not know that Garrett Devereau, the debonaire, the cynical, the world weary and world wise, had broken down and was sobbing noiselessly, as men sob, in the room which he had left, shaking with deep and terrible gasps that racked his very soul. But it was already daybreak; it was trail's end now for Garry. It does make a difference if one cares.

Upon their return to Thirty Mile two nights later Joe's attitude of criticism was the first thing which piqued Steve's interest. There was something ludicrous in the former's voice as he sat and anathematized the food which the cook boy brought to the table, even though he devoured hungrily all that his plate would hold. And because Joe was so obviously primed for a sensation that evening out of sheer perversity Steve struggled to draw him into a discussion of a topic which, just as obviously, had no appeal just then.

"What I hope to do," he confided gravely to Garry, "is to finish up at Morrison and make possible the transfer of some of those men up here. We are working only one shift now. With two I figure we could sail along a-fogging. How does that strike you, Joe?"

That was only one of his many attempts, but all of them, save for the inner laughter which they afforded, were totally without result. Joe's answers were monosyllabic, his attention wandering at best. To that particular question he nodded his head spiritlessly.

"This butter ain't none too fresh," he growled acurly, "and I wonder if that cook boy thinks we dote on ham every meal? I don't for one. It may be all right if a man's plumb starving to death, but it don't lend no real elegance to a repast."

That gloomy complaint brought little more than a sparkle to Steve's eyes, but it made Garry lean forward in his place. Throughout the meal while the other two fenced in just such fashion he forgot his own food to listen, delighted anticipation in every feature. And when they had finished supper and pushed back their chairs he stood grinning a little, watching Joe survey that littered room which served as office and sleeping quarters for the chief engineer of the East Coast company. Fat Joe's gaze swung from wall to wall, from littered corner to heaped up chair. Then he shook his head in despair.

"It looks to me, Steve," he grunted, "as though you ain't never had no real training in tidiness, have you? There don't seem to be no system at all in the way you leave your things around. There's one boot over in that corner; it's got a mate, I know, because I saw you take them off last night. I wouldn't be certain otherwise. And it's the same way with all your things. Just look at this room! A nice place to receive callers in, now ain't it?"

That was the first lead he tendered them, but Steve, rather than gratify him with a direct question, chose to go forward in the dark. He leaned over and followed his usual custom when he wanted to think. He tapped out his pipe.

"But I can always find everything," he defended—"that is, unless you have taken the trouble to put things away. Then it's a toss up that something or other will never be found until it turns up of its own accord. It's not so bad, Joe." He, too, swung to survey the room. "Not so bad! Just a little unsettled, that's all. Are we likely to have any callers, do you think, who would object to this layout?"

Joe snorted, but his eyes were mournful. He knew that there was nothing else to do but yield a part at least.

"We ain't likely to," he murmured. "We're just naturally bound to have 'em. They're comin' in tomorrow, and I ask you again, ain't this a pleasing prospect to greet 'em?"

For all that he seemed to be staring ruefully down the room, he was watching for the surprise that darted across Steve's face. Momentarily the latter had forgotten his assumed air of placidity.

"Tomorrow? Who?" And then Steve laughed. "Go ahead and tell us, Joe. I'm beat! I'll admit that I'm panting with curiosity."

Joe pulled up a chair and dropped into it. It appealed to him, this method, whenever he had the time to spare. His pink face was still innocent of guile.

"I don't mind the men folks," he resumed. "That fat party, I mean, who wears the plaid suits, nor Caleb Hunter, either. Both of them are used to such truck as this. And I reckon it'll tickle the ladies too. But I can see Honey sticking his nose in the air and sniffin' superciliously like the first minute he gets his nose in the door. He ain't going to approve at all, at all—not any way you look at it."

"Honey?"

Both Steve and Garry ignored the rest of Joe's explanation to grasp that single word in concert.

"Who in the world do you mean by 'Honey?'"

"Who could I mean?" Joe demanded collectedly. "I didn't give him the name, did I? I mean that chap Wickersham, who owns the timber north of us. Foreign, ain't he? Sure, I thought so? Well, every time I run across that man's path my heart swells with patriotism. I guess I'm just as glad to be born plain United States."

The first part of that statement was listened to closely enough by both men; the last sentence or two, for all that it was heartfelt and sincere, was lost upon them both. And Steve's mirth was even more hysterical than was that of Garry Devereau.

"Honey!" he panted. "Now, isn't that a wonder? Joe, you're too good! You are altogether too good to be wasted on these timbered solitudes. Men pay $2 a seat, Joe, to hear performers work who are rank amateurs in comparison with you."

The riverman's eyes grew belligerent.

"Funny, is it? So awful funny! Well, perhaps you think I can't read plain print yet, never havin' enjoyed a liberal education. But take a look for yourself."

He pulled up a pile of newspapers which had come in since their absence, sorted out one that was creased open and handed it to Steve. It was an announcement of Barbara Allison's engagement to the Hon. Archibald Wickersham—that column to which Fat Joe had folded the sheet—a many days old announcement now. But the smile did not even stiffen upon Steve's lips. The picture which accompanied it was a poor one, heavy shadowed and smeared and lacking in detail, yet Barbara's face was unmistakable. The room became quiet. In that hush Garry realized that Joe's mistaken translation of the title had not been, as Joe had himself suggested, due to lack of knowledge, but to a desire to apprise his employer delicately of that which he believed was still news to him. And yet, from the easy way in which he read it, word for word, Garry was positive that all this which the New York daily blazoned forth with its customary mixture of snobbishness and vulgarity was no longer news to Steve. The latter's eyes lifted and dwelt long upon fat Joe's face.

"Just a friendly hand or two, I suppose," he suggested.

"So that's where you got it, was it, Joe?" he asked evenly. "You make it 'Honey,' do you? And when do they come in, Joe?"

"Tomorrow night. One of the teamsters brought word this afternoon, just before you got back. Honey is going to have a look at his trees and things, the way I understand it. And the rest of them, I take it, want to look us over in our wild state. Where are we going to put them girls?"

Steve's answer was long in coming.

"Miss—Allison?" he wanted to know.

"And that tall, red headed one, Joe corrected promptly. I don't remember her name, but she's coming too."

As studiously as he had done a moment before, Garry again avoided Steve's eyes.

"Miriam Burrell," the latter supplied the omission. "And that's fine, isn't it? How long are they going to stay, Joe?"

But Joe had finished with trifling.

"Where are we going to put them?" he insisted doggedly.

"Why, we have a couple of shelter tents somewhere in the duffle, haven't we? We might pitch those if"—he looked about ruminatively—"if you think this is too squalid."

Joe turned appealingly to Garry, only to meet eyes daring with deviltry.

"If you think that I'm going to give up my quarters for a troup of curious sightseers you're mistaken. If that's what you turned toward me for don't allow yourself to dwell upon it another minute. I'm a laboring man, and I have to have decent rest at nights. Do you suppose Cecile, the maid, would really mind a tent?"

And then Joe's face went red.

"Now ain't you the pair of rough jokers?" he whined. "Ain't you, though? But what's it going to be—this room or Garry's? The way I look at it we're elected to camp out ourselves. We're hardened sons of the wilderness, you know. That's what they always call us in print. But how am I going to get this place cleaned up?"

For another hour Joe argued it and at last settled upon the storehouse building as the likeliest for sleeping quarters for the feminine portion of the visitors.

"We have to eat in here, anyhow," he argued, "so I guess it's the best arrangement we can hit on. Honey won't be here much to meals either. That'll be one nice thing about it. He'll be going north directly. And now—now I guess I'll go out and have a look at the pantry, even if it does make me feel sort of faint every time I think of the grub we've got on hand. Canned beans and boiled potatoes and ham and bacon to round out a banquet. Why couldn't a couple of mighty hunters like you bring home more than one little haunch of venison? Bacon and beans! Steve, you sure have been living mighty low down on this job."

He went out with a great show of haste, but returned almost immediately, forgot the urgency of matters in general in finding Garry idly shuffling a deck of cards. Throughout the evening Joe had exhibited an unwillingness to meet the third man's glances directly, but it was impossible for him to remain oblivious to the clicking of the chips. He balanced first on one foot and then on the other for a moment, then diffidently drew up a chair.

"Just a friendly hand or two, I suppose," he suggested when the other made no move to begin. "Low limit and wide open, eh?"

Garry still toyed with the cards.

"I don't suppose you've ever forgotten the first game in which we indulged, have you, Joe?" he asked at length.

Joe was not comfortable.

"Scarcely," he admitted, "scarcely."

"Nor the—stakes?" pursued Garry.

"I—I seem to recall 'em faintly."

Garry's peal of amusement was as rollicking as a boy's.

"So do I," he exclaimed. "And if I remember rightly you stated on that occasion that cash was no consideration with you. Does that still hold good?"

It was the first good look Joe had had at the other's face. The change he found in it seemed to perplex him more than a little.

"I take it that it does." Garry did not wait for his reply. And now—what do you say to that same full bottle against a—a ninety-nine year blanket restriction, with me at the wrong end of the odds?"

Joe slitted his eyes.

(To be continued next week.)

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE
Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 1t5

That Old Search.

"Are you still looking for that honest man?" asked the stranger.

"I am," replied Diogenes. "Can you help me find him?"

"No, I can't do that, but I can quote you a very low price on oil for your lantern, provided you buy it in large quantities. You will probably need at least ten barrels."—New York World.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Takes pleasure in announcing that it is prepared to take care of all kinds of welding, brazing and cutting. All metal joints can be successfully welded by the Oxy-Acetylene process.

Engine parts, such as cracked water jackets, piping, cylinder heads, flywheels, crank shafts, can be successfully repaired at a fraction of the cost of a new part. All kinds of metals in any kind of service can be repaired on short notice. Bring in your work and let us figure on your job.

PRICES REASONABLE. SERVICE RIGHT. WORK GUARANTEED.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence Withers, Prop.
Or Inquire at Erickson & Fowler's Garage.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Special Notice

To Press and Courier READERS

The Grand Rapids Press, January 20, 1917, will increase their subscription rates on the R. F. D. from $2 00 per year to $3.00 per year.

The Courier's Agreement with the Press Will Save You
$1.00

The old price for both papers for one year, $3.50, will be good until January 20---not later. Don't wait---Don't delay---we positively can not accept orders after that date at the old price. If your subscription expires in January get in under the wire at once.

Good on R. F. D. Only.

The Charlevoix Courier

P. S.---The Press, Courier and Michigan Farmer all for one year $3.75 till January 20. After that date the price will be $4.75.

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

John Bos, of Atwood, was in town Tuesday.

M. Richardson, of Norwood, was ia the village Tuesday.

Rev. Pickaart, of Atwood, is quite seriously ill with the grippe.

Dr. C. C. Vardon was in the village Saturday on professional business.

Maude Struik returned to her work at Copemish, Tuesday morning.

Henry Klooster, of Atwood, passed through town Tuesday on his way to Boyne City.

Many from Ellsworth attended the faneral of ths late Henry Elzinga at Atwood, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Townsend spent New Year's at the home of C. L. Gonser in Charlevoix.

Miss Maude Best returned to her school work Monday, after spending her Christmas vacation at her home in Alden.

Township Treasurer Hsrwood received taxes at the bank last Saturday and will he there again Wednesday and Saturday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Brail returned Tuesday from thsir home in Carson City to take np school work again after the Christmas vacation.

Word received from the border reported the death of Jos Wedderbnrn, of Norwood, from pnenmonia. He was a member of Co. I, 33rd Michigan Infantry.

Notice to Tax Payers of Banks Township.

I will be at the Citizens bank in Ellsworth on December 30, Jannary 2, 6 aad 10, and at the Essex store, Jannary 9, and at home on Fridays to receive taxes.

ALBERT HARWOOD,
Adv. 52t2 Township Treasnrer.

CORRESPONDENCE

ROCK ELM

(To late for last week.)

School closed Friday for one week's vacation.

The Misses Jessie aad Sadie Motz are home from Ferris Institute for a short vacation.

Mr. Charles Donaldson's family spent Christmas with Mrs. Donaldson's parents in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson and daughter, Martha, also Mrs. Lawton and family spent Christmas with the Charles Thomas family. All had a very enjoyable visit.

ANTRIM CITY

(To lato for last week.)

Wish you a Happy New Year.

Mrs. Theodore Guyer called on Mrs. Brooks, Friday.

Jack Smith is hauling wood from his farm near Eastport.

Alford and Lester Brooks drove to Central Lake, Saturday.

Mrs. Brooks and family ate Xmas dinner with Mr. snd Mrs. Stoel and family.

Miss Inez Brant has gone to the northern part of the state for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight entertained Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery and son and Mr. Brant, Xmas.

The Antrim City school gave an excellent Xmas program Thursday eve at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoel and sons, Mrs. Brooks and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Simon nnd son called at the Rice home Christmas.

ANTRIM CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Will Knight entertained a company of friends and relatives Christmas day.

Miss Inez Brant has gone to Levering to see her grandfather, Charles Flannigan, who is very ill.

Miss Isabel Knight has returned to her position in Flushing after spending the holidays at her home here.

Captain Brant narrowly escaped serioua injury the other day. He left the trap door of the cellar open and then forgetting it wnlked into the opening and fell to the cellar floor. His shoulder was lamed and a gash cnt in his head.

PLEASANT HILL

Everybody is having severe colds.

It isn't hard to boycott a dollar when you only have forty cents.

Ray Bearss, of East Jordan, spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bearss.

Miss Akins, who spent her vacation with her parents, is back to take up school duties for the halance of the school year.

Floyd Hodson, employed as an inspector by the Henry Ford compaay, of Detroit, called on his consias, H. H. Fales and C. W. Fales, last Friday.

Smith Rogers and H. H. Fales each spent one day last week peddling beef at the Porter camps. They report a small city in the wooda and every one there seems to have lots of money.

RANNEY DISTRICT

The Xmas exercises were well attended.

Miss Caroline Hillaman left Saturday for Belding, where she has a good position.

Miss Ursula Crawford came home from Belding to spend the holidays with her parents.

Miss Eunice Liskum has baen home from Charlevoix Normal to spend the vacation.

Charlie Carson has been substitnte on route 3 for Mr. Ribble this week, Mr. Ribble being on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ranney, of Charlevoix, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raaney and Mrs. J. J. Ranney spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Harison Ranney in East Jordan.

Erven Crawford and Kenneth Isaman left on Wednesday to draw logs at camp 5 for the East Jordan Lumber company.

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD

1017.

My, but isn't it cold.

Try and do better this year.

Alice Bos has gone to Grand Rapids for the winter.

Martin Elzinga and family spent Thursday at the John Bos home.

Burton Blow, of Chicago, was here last week visiting friends.

Mrs. Pikaart has retnrned from Grand Rapids, where she has been visiting.

We notice lots of nice Christmas presents, especially of the diamond variety.

Mrs. Bert Wieten has returned from Kalamazoo, where her hnsband is employed.

George Parson went to Charlevoix with a load of pork last Friday. Got 12 cents per pound.

Meetings at the M. E. church every Sunday at 10:30 n. m. instead of 11:00 a. m. as heretofore.

The la grippe seems to be doing its usual work. Mrs. Calvin Snpernaw is reported one of its victims.

Andrew Essenhurg, who has been working in Grand Rapids for several months, spent the holidays at homs.

Henry Elzinga, Sr., passed away at his home here Friday morning. Funeral will be held Monday morning.

Albert Harwood, our township treasurer, was paid over $2,700 in taxes on Saturday last. Going some.

Several of our farmers havs contracted to grow radish seed next season. Price to be 12 cents per pound.

Mrs. Henry Klooster is homs after spending two weeks in Holland. Andrew Essenhurg is back and thinks Atwood is best after all.

Mrs. Albert Sneller has been taken to Lockwood hospital, Petoskey, for an operation for appendicitis. Her sister Jennie is staying there with her.

James Heeres wrote to old Santa Claus for a Christmas present. He states that Santa got ths mail all mixed up and left them a nice 8 pound baby boy instead of a baby girl. It's a long road that don't have a turn, Jim. Congratnlations.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, Superintendent of Sunday achool.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, Presidsnt. Everyone Invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m., Evangelistic services.

7:45 p. m., Thursday, prayer meeting.

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction book. free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffao, N.Y.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations ars furnished hy different dealers of ths different products. All quotations are ballaved to be correct at ths time obtainad, hut are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1917

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.30
Red wheat, per bu.	1.35
Beans, per hu.	5.25
Red kidney beans, per bu.	5.75
Garden varieties	5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattlo, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00 to 13.00
Pork, dressed	11.00
Produca, Vagatables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.32
Eggs, per doz.	.38
Honey, per lb.	17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.25
Salt	1.40

DEATH CALLS HENRY ELZINGA

AFTER CRITICAL ILLNESS OF TWO WEEKS

Funeral Services Held Monday From Christian Church—Will Be Greatly Missed.

Henry Elzinga, Sr., who has been critically ill for the past two weeks, died Friday, December 29, at 4:00 a. m. Funeral servicea were held Monday from the Christian church, of which he was a member, conducted by the Rev. Pickaart, pastor, and Rev. William Smith, of the M. E. church. We take this way of extending our sympathy to all of the bereaved ones.

Henry Elzinga was born Februsry 18, 1844, in the Netherlands. He was married to Janet Annawa in 1869, and came to America the same year, making their home in sonthern Michigan for 27 years. In 1896 they came to Atwood. To this union were born eight chlldrea, Mrs. R. Steffens, Mrs. H. VanEenenaan, Mrs. VanDyke, of Zeeland, Michigan; Mrs. B. W. Jackson, of Portland, Michigan; Martin Elzinga, Atwood (deceased); James Elzinga, of Ellsworth, and Albert and Henry, of Atwood, with whom hs made his home since the death of his wife five years ago.

"Few days passed bnt fond memories hover
Around yond vacant chair, dear Father;
And in this sphere of trial and ill,
Your guiding hand is with us still.
Fond recollectioas with us dwell,
Oft they find face we love so well,
And though from grief we canst refrain,
We trust to meet in Heaven again."

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rsv. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellis Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m., preachiag.

7:45 p. m., Tuesday, prayer meeting.

Card of Thaoks.

We wish to thank the friends nnd neighbors for their assistance and sympathy during our recent hereavement, and to assure them of our grateful appreciation. Albert and Henry Elzinga and snrviving children.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No 1198

Mests svery two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—D. E. Carpenter.
Lecturer—D. Patterson.
Secretary—Ava L. Bearss.

Get ths habit—Read the Conrier want advs.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIA-MOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

A Few Clearing Prices

We still have quite a surplus of the following lines and will continue the special prices to unload them quickly at discounts of from

15 per cent to 25 per cent

Men's 50c Woolen Socks - - 39c
$1.00 Caps at 89c
Men's and Boys' Suits at 25 per cent off

There are some holiday goods that we will sell at a discount of 25 per cent and more

Men's and Boys' Socks and Rubbers

A complete new stock of these goods has just arrived and we are offering some attractive prices on these goods.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

TAKE OUR ADVICE
—Have your prescriptions filled here.—

When you need drugs, you want them accurately compounded. We are here for that purpose. Drugs are advancing yet we are filling perscriptions at the lowest margin of prices. Now that winter chills bring on many ills we call your attention to the home needs in emergency cases.

Hot Water Bottles, Atomizers, Salves, A. D. S. Remedies
Chest Protectors, Sponges, Asorbent Cotton, Linement
Bandages, Tonics, Blood Purifier, Cathartics, Etc.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO
Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Elleworth, Michigan

Profit by Example

Do successful men hide tbeir money in tin cans or under the bed-tick?
Do they carry large sums of money, running the risk of loosing it by being robbed or murdered?
The rich men—successful men—deposit their funds in the bank.
Then why not profit by their example?
You can opén an account no matter bow small and it will receive our careful attention.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $250,000.00
C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

When in need of
Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.
Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.
FEED GROUND EVERY DAY
Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

You Are Invited

To make this store your trading place and we know you will be delighted with the satisfactory merchandise that will be found here. We do not specialize in one line of goods, but we handle a large stock of all kinds merchandise including a complete Grocery, Dry Goods, Clothing Department and several other departments to fill the need of the entire community. Come in and see what we have and talk over tbe needs you contemplate buying.

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

FOR SUNDAY DINNER

We have besides a complete stock of—
GROCERIES, CURRANTS, CRANBERRIES,
RAISINS, ORANGES, LEMONS,
FRUITS, ETC.
that all gn to make the big dinner of ihe week a success

For Practical Everyday Use

Visit our Dry Goods Department. Here will be found nice Dress Patterns, Aprnns, Dollies, Table Spreads, Napkin Sets, Rihbons, Skirts, Underwear, in fact anything in the line of Clothing and Undergarments thal you may wish tn buy.

For the Men and Boys we have a line of Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rubbers, and Shnes; Rain Coats—Just what every man wants.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Sleighs, Robes, Blankets

This is the time of the year when sleighing is the main question, Sleighs have to be purchased or perhaps, broken parts replaced with new ones. You'll need heavy blankets for the team, while they stand in the road or shed and even when in the stall. See us for that new Robe—they are of good quality and heavy too.

Cross Cut Saws and Axes
Sledges and Wedges

Woodmen—if your going to cut wood, split logs, hew out timbers or roadways, come to us for supplies. We carry a large supply of these goods and at present can sell cheaper than any other place in the county.

W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

YOUNG LAD BREAKS THROUGH ICE IN ROUND LAKE

Clings to Spiling Witb One Hand Until Rescued From Parilous Position.

Last Tuesday morning, about ten o'clock, Pearl Johnson, who was doing aome painting in the Hotel Charlevoix, stepped to the back door of the botel to watcb the boys and msw fishiog through the ice. They had brought up several good ones and Pearl wos just getting interested when onc of the boys in the crowd ahouted "kid fell in the water."

Johnson leoped down the steps as though shot from a gun and when Manager Biossat of the hotel, who witnessed the rescue, got to the door, he was going down the hill by Priest's studio at a 40 mile clip. Without the slightest hesitation Johnson made his way out onto the rottea ice, followed closely by J. E. Loomis, of the high school teaching staff, who happened to he neur at hand. The boy could be seen struggling in the water under the dock near tbo creamery, striving to keep his precarious hold on the spiling with one hand, in the other grasping his sled, which even his danger could not induce him to let go of.

Johnson made several ineffectual attempts to reach the boy, but, barred by the treacherous ice, sought the aid of Loomis, wbo had caught up with him. Peorl finolly dropped on his stomacb and with Loomis holding firmly by the logs, wriggled his way over the interveaing space ood fioally managed to get the balfdrowned, shivering victim on to the ice and to the shorc. The boy, who proved to be the son of George Baeot, was oa white os a sheet from fright and cold. We hope that he turned black and blue soon after reoching home, as certainly, stringent meosures, even though painful, should be taken to keep boys and children generally off the ice of Round lake, which is treacherous, even at its hest.

RINGING OF BELLS EXCITES CITIZEN

Rushes Up and Down Street Asking Cause of Commotion.

The M. E. Epworth league met at the home of Mrs. Struik at Ellsworth last Sunday evening. It being the last service of new year, after the regular service the meeting was turned into a watch party.

At 12 o'clock bells were rung in the churches and school house. One of the citizens ran down and said, "Where is it, fellows? Where is it?" not noticing, in his excitemeot, that he was addressing a party composed almost entirely of the gentler sex.

One of the girls said, "Hoppy New Year," and this worthy citizen answered, "Golly, I never tbougbt of tbat." Later he turned around and said, "You did not get me up, anyway."

We wonder who he was sitting out the old year with, as he is a married man.

Why Sheep Have Wool.

If you want to ask a sheep where he got his wool and why take a dog into a mountalo pasture band and if the sheep are afraid of the dog they will invariably run uphill rather than down. You have your answer. The ancestors of the domestic sheep, like wild sheep of the present day, lived among high mountains and needed their woolly coverlag to protect them agalust the coostant cold of high atmospheres.

They chose the high and inhospitable region to live in because they found the fierce flesh eating animals of the plains too strong for them. A proof of these facts is that the wool grows on a sheep the year round.—Chicago News.

Peculiarities of Czech.

The Czech language is the richest and most developed, but at the same time the harshest and strongest (owing to its abounding in consonants) of the Slavonic tongues. It differs from most European languages in the use of quantity instead of accent in its poetry, as in Greek and Latin, and hence it can copy accurately the different meters of those tongues. Indeed, it is doubtful if there is another modern language into which the ancient classics can be so faithfully and forcibly translated. Unfortunately its grammar is complicated and consequently exceedingly difficult to master.—London Chronicle.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want ads.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

E. N. Clink was a business visitor to the city Tuesday.

E. V. Madison weot to Lansing last week on business.

H. J. Roe, of Harbor Springs, was a visitor to the city Tuesday.

Benjamin Brown sold a Ford last week to Mrs. Cora Loper of State street.

B. H. Halstead, of Petoskey, was here Tuesday, stopping at the Charlevoix.

Herbert Taggort left Wednesday morning to resume his studies at the U. of M.

E. J. Hiller made a business trip to Edmore last week, returning Tuesday morning.

Commissioner May L. Stewart is in the city this week stopping at the Hotel Charlevoix.

E. D. Lorch and E. W. Abbot, of Boyne City, were business visitors to the city Tuesday.

Joe Sanford returns to Notre Dame, Thursday, after spending the holidays in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Comfort left Wednesday for Milwaukee, where they will spend the winter.

Ernest Kibbe is here from Sleeping Bear Point, where he has been serving in the coast guard.

Mrs. Ray Dorrance and children spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Fred Lanway at East Jordan.

Myer Levinson's little son, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is reported better at this writing.

Colin McKenzie is able to be about town again after a severe tussle with asthma and bronchitis.

William Croshy, of East Jordan, and his daughter, Mrs. Lehmann, were visitors in the city Tuesdoy.

Ingall Van Alsburg, who, with his mother, visited last week in Grand Rapids, has returned to this city.

Frank M. House, of Boyne Falls, and H. B. Hipp, of East Jordan, arrived in Charlevoix, Tuesday, on a business visit.

H. L. Oldham and family have removed from their home on Park avenue, to the Hotel Charlevoix for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slagbt returned last Monday night from an extended holiday trip to Lansing, Clevelund and Rochester.

George Hamlin and family from Traverse City, who have been visiting at the Ed O'Neill home, returned to Traverse, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Nowland and family spent Christmas ot the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fred Lanway at East Jordan.

Dan Potter, who has heen working on the railroad bridge, which closed Tuesday for the winter, left Wednesduy to join his father at Leland.

Albert Howard and family left for Muskegon, Monday morning, to be gone until the reopening of the Charlevoix coast guard station in the spring.

Jack Adams and Emerson Hull nre expected home from their southern tour, glad to return from the sunny south to the wilds of northern Michigan.

Miss Marion Saunders, wbo has been spending the bolidays with her parents in this city, returned Tuesday morning to Ann Arbor to resume her college work.

Miss Sophie Manson has returned to resume her activities as teacher in the north ward school, after a leave of absence since last September occasioned by serious illness.

Dwight L. Wilson, a former teacher in Charlevoix public schools, now an attorney of East Jordan, is the proud ond happy fatber of a boy, born Christmas day in the morning.

Mrs. Louie E. See, who has been spending the past six weoks with relatives in Chicago, returned to Charlevoix last Saturday, accompanied by her sister, Miss Ruby Moline.

Mrs. Heleo M. King, accompanied by her son, Donald, returned from Muskegon last Monday for a few days stay. They will leavo for Cadillac, Thursday, for an extended visit.

The supervisors meet this week. The new members are D. S. Payton from Eveline, Will Mayne from Norwood, Jim Newsom from Boyoe Valley and Charles Murphy from South Arm.

R. D. Bailey, of Gaylord, and H. L. Barnum, of Ironton, are registered nt the Hotel Charlevoix this week. "Barnum & Bailey" ought to make o winning combination in ony enterprise.

The alumni (class of 1916) of Charlevoix high school held a class reunion and hanquet in the home training room at the high school building Thursday evening, December 28th. The affair was well attended and much enjoyed by all present.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want odvs.

NARROW GAUGE ROADS.

An Engineering Fallacy That Has Cost Untold Millions.

Available statistics show that there are in the entire world nearly 165,000 miles of narrow gauge railway lines. The great bulk of this mileage must eventually be converted to standard gauge, as the narrow gauge railway lines of the United States have been, says the Engineering News. The cost of this alteration, enormous as it is, is but a small fraction of the financial loss which the world has suffered throogh its belief in this economic and engineering fallacy. A comparison of the freight rates per ton mile on United States railways and on the narrow gauge railway systems of other countries is most instructive as showing the inefficiency of the narrow gauge system as a transportatiou machine.

If a fair estimate were ioads of the cost to the world resulting from the narrow gauge fallacy, the total would probably reach several billions of dollars. The cost in Japan alone of changing 5,000 miles of narrow gauge railway to standard gauge is estimated at $150,000,000. In Argentina tho net earnings of the narrow gauge railways are only nbout half as much oo the capital lovested as the net earnings of the standard gauge lines, and this notwithstandiog the fact the the capitalizatiou per mile of the standard gauge lines is much heavier.

PREVENTS AUTO THEFTS.

Combination Lock Breaks Connection Between Batteries and Motor.

A "cut out" that works on the principle of the combinatioo lock and is designed to prevent the theft or unauthorized use of an autoolobile has recently beeo invented. This apparatus makes and breaks the connectioo between the batteries and the motor. The circuit is brokeu by pressing a dummy key and can only be restored by pressing a succession of keys in a definite order.

COMBINATION MOTOR IONITION LOCK.

The combination can be made as simple or as complicated as desired. The keys return to their original position immediately when released, so that no clew is left as to which keys have been used.

Chalk Briquettes as Fuel.

The Leeds briquette works at Huntet has recently been making experiments to determine the possibility of the use of chalk briquettes for fuel, says Power. It is said that the company is able to obtain its chalk in the south of England at a cost of from 14 to 25 cents per ton and that it is proposed to sell it in briquette form at from $3.75 to $5 per ton. The briquettes are five inches long, four inches wide and two and a half inches thick. It is claimed that they burn with little or no smudge, with an exceedingly small amount of ash and that they give off from 40 to 50 per cent less smoke than coal. If the idea should prove as successful as seems possible from the foregoing it will be a large step toward the solution of the smoke problem.

Aluminium From Clay.

Though new bauxite deposits are being found from time to time, there is considerable interest in the preparatioo of pure alumina from clay or other silicate minerals. As soon as a process for the extractioo of alumina from clay is put on a commercial basis large quantities of low grade bauxite containing considerable admixtures of clay will become available as aluminium producers. According to the United States geological survey, there is a large tonnage of such material associated with most of the southern Appalachian bauxite.

The "Wireless" Mine.

The Fife Coal company has introduced "wireless" telephony into its Lindsay colliery, at Kelty, in the county of Fife, Scotland. The current is carried through the rails in the gangways. Only four receivers have been installed, one in the hoist room, another at the foot of the shaft, a third at 2,850 and a fourth 4,950 feet, respectively, from that point. The receivers weigh about fifty pounds. Each instrument has a battery of four cells, any of which will produce a current at fifteen volts pressure.—Coal Age.

A Furniture Polish.

A homemade furniture polish that will compare with any known polish is composed of the following chemicals and oils: Mix three ounces of turpentine very gradually with six ounces of linseed oil; then add three ounces of grain alcohol, three ounces of 5-per cent acetic acid and one-half ounce of butter of antimony. Apply with a cloth and use a good friction. As the substance might prove harmful to children if taken internally, see that it is kept out of their reach.

Sealing Leaky Joints.

When a small pipe connection or a petcock becomes so worn or loose that it leaks never try to remedy it by soldering the joint, but tin the entire length of the threads, and the wear will be taken up.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

SUPERVISORS ARE NOW IN SESSION

WILL APPROVE BONDS OF COUNTY OFFICERS

Four New Faces Appear in Personnel of Board—Burnett Named as Chairman.

Charlevoix county board of supervisors met in their regular session on Tuesday of this week. One of the first acts of the board was to choose a chairman, made necessary by the resignation of former supervisor, J. E. Chew, of South Arm township. Frank C. Burnett, of Hayes township, one of the most familiar figures on the board, was the choice for this responsible position.

Among the new faces appearing on the board are former Supervisor W. H. Mayne, who is named to fill the unexpired office of Whitfield Totten, of Norwood township; D. S. Payton to fill the unexpired term of Register of Deeds Malcolm A. McDonald; James K. Newson, who takes the place of Frank M. House, recently elected as county road commissioner, and Charles Murphy, who fills the place of Representative J. E. Chew of South Arm.

A committee of four was chosen to attend the meeting of the Michigan State Tax association to be held at Battle Creek, February 1-2.

Committee work is being done at the present time, and considerable other business will be transacted before the board adjourned.

GOES TO NEW TERRITORY

William Vandermade Transferred to Northern Ohio.

William Vandermade, Armour & Company's representative in this territory, reports that next week will be his last trip and that from then on he will travel in the territory adjacent to Tiffin, Ohio. The salesman who formerly took care of the Northport and Horn territory trade, will make Charlevoix and surrounding points.

A number of his good friends in Charlevoix will be sorry to lose Mr. Vandermade, and wish him every success in his new field.

Hotel Doing Good Business.

The management of the Hotel Charlevoix reports that business for 1917 is starting in with a rush and it looks like a grand, good year with another bumper resort season ahead of us and should we be favored by providence with the good, old-fashioned Charlevoix brand of weather, we can all shout "Hooray."

Ses us for your Job Printing.

10% Discount For Cash on All HEATING STOVES Until February 1 —AT— Blanchard Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

To Our Customers

We look back upon the business of 1916 with a great deal of satisfaction. New customers were added every week, and during the year 1917 we expect to add many more. People recognize the fact that we mean business, have the goods, and deal fair with all. We want your business and will do all we can to take care of your trade.

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY

Extra large juicy Oranges per dozen - - - - - - - - 25c

Meat Department

We always make it a point to have just what you want in this department. Below are quoted prices that will be a blow to the much spoken of phrase, "high cost of living:"

Veal Stew, lb.	13c	Tomato Sausage, lb.	15c
Veal Chops, lb.	16c to 18c	Home Cured Hams and Bacon, lb.	20c
Veal Roast, lb.	16c to 18c	Picnic Hams, lb.	15c
Pork Roast, lb.	14c	Boiling Beef, lb.	10c and 12c
Pork Steak, lb.	15c	Steak, lb.	12c and 14c
Pork Spareribs, lb.	13c	Fresh Lamb Stew, lb.	15c
Hamburger Steak, lb.	14c	Leg of Lamb, lb.	20c
Pork Sausage, lb.	15c

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Now is Your Chance

We are going to close out our entire line of

Sweaters, Mackinaws, Rain Coats
Sheep-lined Coats, Work Pants
Blanket-lined Coats, Work Shirts, etc.

Regardless of price. The store is about to be remodeled and the room now occupied by these lines will be utilized for other goods.

You will Save Dollars

by taking advantage of this closing out sale. Prices have advanced, in some instances nearly 40 per cent, on woolen goods, but we will close out our present stock regardless of this. Make your selections now, while your size is in stock.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 2 | 10 PAGES | CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1917 | PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CORRELL MAKES YEARLY REPORT

OF WORK IN PROBATE OFFICE FOR YEAR OF 1916

Statement Covers All Matters Coming Under His Supervision and Money Involved.

Judge of Probate S. A. Correll, in a report published below, gives in detail the work accomplisbed in the probate office during the past year, all expeases incurred in bandling the different branches of business, aad the disposition of the many cases handled. Tbe judge believes the peoplo of the couaty are entitled to know what is done in the probate offiee, money expeaded, cases handled and disposed of, etc. We beartily agreo witb him in this respect, and congratulate him on the excellent report made. It is but a part of the services rendered, however, for in the opinion of a majority of people of the county, no mistake was made when he was elected to this important office. The real fact is that during the past four years, an efficient man bas been on the job six days in the week, appointments have been kept, and the first real service experience for many years. Judge Correll is deserving of much praise for the faithful services he bas performed. Following is his report for the year 1916:

Probation was begun ln 30 intestate estates and 11 testate, estates in other words, 11 wills were filed for probate in this court during tbe year 1916.

Thirteen proceedings have been had for legal determination of heirs. Investigations of insnnity 15.

Four proceedings uader Act Na. 274, Public Acta 1913, to commit children to the University hospltal at Ann Arbor for treatment and commitment in each case to said hospital.

Fifteen proceedings for appointing guardians for the management of the estates of minors.

Five children have been adopted into homes in Charlevoix county. One adult person committed to University at Ann Arbor for treatment under Act No. 267, Public Acts of 1915.

One child sent to Michigaa Home for Feeble Minded at Lapeer, Michigan.

During the year inheritance tax has been determined in four estates. The total amount of snid tax being $12,555.64.

In the juvenile division of said court 33 children have been brought before said court during the year with the following results: Three boys have been committed to the Industrial school at Lansing, one girl sent to the Industrial School for Girls at Adrian, and one to the House of the Good Shepherds at Grand Rapids.

Total amount of money damages paid property owners by boys durlng the year as required by the court, $48.75. In the other cases the boys were placed on probation or ln some instances returned to their parents with the ndmonition of the court.

The total amount of money paid out of the county treasury on orders drawn by judge of probate during the year, $438.52.

The county was reimbursed to the extent of $65.00 by Calhoun county as one of the investigations of insanity was in regard to a person that was a legal resident of Calhoun county, and the expense was chargeable to that county.

The expenses paid from the county treasury on probate orders are as follows:

For 14 investigations as to insanity	$337.74
Expenses for the four children and one adult person committing to University hospital	28.02
Expenses paid L. C. Madison, county ngent for board of juvenile delinquents	7.00
Total	$373.76

The average expense to the county in insane investigations is $24.12 this year. The statute requires examination and certificate of two legally qualified physicians and fixes a minimum fee of $5.00 for each physician. The remainder of the expense is the cost of transportation to hospital and board of patient, cost of attendant, etc. If the patient is a female the court must assign a female attendant to accompany the sheriff unless accompanied by her father, brother or husband.

In the probate court there were 111 hearings, and la the juvenile divlsion 23 hearings, making a total of 134 hearings during the year.

Respectfully submitted to the electors and residents of Charlevoix county,

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

REMEMBERS POOR BY LIBERAL DONATION

Courier's Appeal for Aid to Poor Responded to From Distant City

The Courier's recent appeal for financial aid to the poor and aeedy of Charlevoix had a far-reaching effect. Not only have the people of the city liberally responded, but donations of various amoants have been received from distant points. The latest to respond is Mrs. J. M. Clark, a well known nurse of this city, now located at St. Louis, Missouri. We publish her letter in full, whicb fully explains the manner in which the situation appealed to her:

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 1.

Editor Courier—I am very much in sympathy with the good people of our little city, "Charlevoix the Beautiful," for the steps they have taken to relieve and look after tbe poor and needy families. Was glad when the Courier eame last week to see that there had been a committee appointed for that purpose. Our people always do tho right thing. You will find enclosed $5.00 to help the good work along. Will you please see that it goes to the proper committee.

Yours very truly,
MRS. J. M. CLARK.

SMOKING STOVE CAUSED ALARM

FIRE DEPARTMENT MAKES RUN TO HURLBURT STREET

Loss Mainly Caused From Smoke—Family Cat Undergoes Sudden Change.

Last Friday evening at about eight o'clock the fire alarm rang and the department, with its usual attendant throng of curiosity seekers, swarmed up Antrim street to the T. R. Powell home at 406 Hulbert avenue, where they found a smoking oil stove, a badly scared family and a coal black cat that had been snow white just a few minutes before.

Mrs. Powell had left the cat aforementioned shut in one of the upstairs rooms with an oil stove, which after the manner of most of its kind, started to smoke most villanously. When the atmosphere got too thick, pussy complained loudly, attracting Mrs. Powell's attention. That lady, when she opened the door to let kitty out, was met with a rush nf black smoke and soot that would have done credit to a "four alarm" fire. Without stopping to investigate the cause of the smoke, she ran down stairs and gave the alarm. However, no harm was done outside of damage to nerves and wall paper and causing the cat to work over time to get back its original state of purity.

As for the folks who followed the fire fighters, the night was clear and fine and they didn't mind the walk in the least.

HELPED CELEBRATE 38TH BIRTHDAY

Forty-one People Present at Event Friday Evening.

Last Friday night, at the bome of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kendell on West Upright street, Mrs. Garsythe gave a very plensant surprise party for Mrs. Pearl Johnson, in honor of her 38th birthday, at which 41 people were present.

Everybody brought something to eat and there was a fine four layer cake with 38 candles. Games were played and everyhody had a royal good time. Rev. Mr. Vinyard was present and opened the festivities with a word of prayer. The party broke up at a late hour and everybody went home, declaring that they had had some time.

Now the Board of Supervisors Go on a Rampage

"When is a door not a door?" We are all quite familiar with this hoary and bewhiskered conundrum, but believe us it is nothing to the one the county solons over at the court house have been springing on each other lately, "when is a legal meeting not a legal meeting?"

We don't like to criticise somebody for doing or not doing something in every issue of the Courier, but we simply can't keep our fingers out of the mess the board of supervisors got themselves into at their recent meeting. But when we come to think the matter over, there is nothing strange about it, just a bum steer—that's all. So don't place the entire blame on the board.

Getting right down to brass tacks, here are the real facts. When the board adjourned at its recent October session, they adjourned sine die, whicb means in plain English, "without date." The custom is, however, for the board to meet the first week in January, every two years, to pass upon the legality of the bonds of all incoming officers and transact such other business as may come before it. This custom was rigidly lived up to this year by 22 members of the board; the other three not being able to be present for various reasons. Right here the board tripped up on the unfamiliar "sine die" and came a cropper.

Instead of waiting to be legally called together, they took it for granted that such was the case. What should have been done was this. First, a legal call should have been issued. Instead of receiving this, they were warned through the mails by County Clerk Lewis, who had taken the matter up with Prosecuting Attorney Lewis, the county's legal advisor, "not to forget the January session of the board." Under the terms of their adjournment, a call should have been issued, signed by at least nine members of the board. Now, here is where the shoe pinches. They came, they met, conferred together for five days, drew their pay and went home, all wondering how it happened.

Here is just what happened. They elected a chairman, named committees, talked good roads, passed a number of bills and did their business up to the Queen's taste, and now are in fear and trembling that their acts will not stand the acid test of the law. Willing to resort to almost any methods to make good their error, they go into a committee of the whole, dig up the October record, change the phraseology, "sine die" to "until January 2, 1917." Their dilemma was terrible and they eagerly grasped a solution of the matter presented to them by a local attorney, present at their meeting in the interest of the good roads issue. Then they got busy and made the change with the above result.

Of the board's antics, we mention but a few of the thrillers. Don't let's miss the action of the board in allowing a certain bill for $28.00, which had been presented at a former session of the board and disallowed. In fact, they passed the bill at a former session of the board on one day and could hardly wait for the following morning to rescind their action. We wish to explain here that once a bill is presented and rejected, it becomes, as we are informed, an illegal bill, and the board cannot reconsider it at another session. If the claimnant is not satisfied with the action of the board, he has the right of appeal, and, if it is not taken within the statutory time, his right of action is lost, and the board has no authority to pay it.

This fact, however, did not deter the present board, nor in any manner dampen the prevailing spirit of generosity with which they had assembled, and the bill slipped through the barriers wbich the law had placed around it, like a greased pig through the bars of a fence. And still, taking all that had happened in the past into consideration, the greed of this claimant is not as yet satisfied, for we have been informed through reliable sources that he has laid his plans and begun pulling wires in an effort to become the guardian of the county's wealth.

Can it be possible that such blunders as this will happen when a bunch of experienced and presumably intelligent county officials get together? Mr. Taxpayer, do you realize the amount of your shares in dollars and cents of tbis fiasco? Here are the figures:

Seventeen men for five days at $4.00 per day	$340.00
Five men for six days at $4.00 per day	120.00
Estimated mileage	44.00
Estimated cost of printing proceedings	40.00
Total	$544.00

Five hundred and forty-four dollars of the people's money, every cent of which was illegally spent and the wear and tear on members of the board and county officials not taken into consideration.

As stated above, 17 of these men put in time for five days, and five men for six days. Four of these five men lived in remote townships in the eastern part of the county and were entitled, under ordinary circumstances, to receive pay for all time put in. The fifth man lives but eleven miles from Charlevoix.

In a manner, we feel disposed to be rather lenient with some of the new members of the board, as we believe they acted in all sincerity and good faith, but for the older members, men who have been on the board for years, we can find no excuse. The matter is as shameful as it is ludicrous, and plainly shows that we have not yet reached that high plane of citizenship where the public official considers his office as a sacred trust.

Gentlemen of the Board, if you were afraid of the legality of the bonding issue you refrained from passing, what can be your opinion as to the legality of the bills you did pass? Do you know where you are at? You cannot hide your actions behind the fact that it was necessary for you to meet to pass upon the legality of the bonds of the incoming county officials, for, if you had not met, this matter would have been taken care of by the circuit judge, as prescribed in Section 2648 of the Compiled Laws of 1897.

When you discovered that any action you might take would be liable to impeachment, would it not have been better to have gone home and not have remained to expose yourselves to the unsavory public criticism that you might have expected?

We enjoyed your company, but you were an expensive proposition.

LODGES INSTALL OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Ritualistic Ceremonies Duly Performed By Installing Officers.

Baxter Relief Corps, No. 173, installed the following offieers Thursday evening, January 4, Mrs. May Bugbee actlng as installing officer:

Pres.—Adaline Belbinger.
S. V. Pres.—Martha Dutton.
J. V. Pres.—Jennie Newberry.
Secy.—Rose Kibbie.
Treas.—May Bugbee.
Chap.—Amanda Moore.
Cond.—Mary Swartz.
Ass't Cond.—Kathrine Himebaugh.
Guard—Eliza Hodge.
Ass't Guard—Ellen Yemmans.
P. Ins.—Mary Blissett.
C. B. No. 1—Prudence Yemmans.
C. B. No. 2—Mary Provost.
C. B. No. 3—Jennie Parish.
C. B. No. 4—Mary Allison.

On Tuesday evening, January 2, Charlevoix Rebekah Lodge, Na. 293, installed the following officers:

P. N. G.—Fannie Siminaw.
N. G.—Irma Cowan.
V. G.—Florence Fox.
Rec. Secy.—May Bugbee.
Fin. Secy.—Jennie Black.
Treas.—Catbrine Himbauch.
Chap.—Lucina Withers.
War.—Mary Cowan.
Cond.—Harritte Taylor.
R. S. N. G.—Wm. Higman.
L. S. N. G.—Robert Withers.
R. S. V. G.—Grace Myers.
L. S. V. G.—Syble Bingman.

TURKEY AND ALKALI DUST

ELEMENTS PLAY HAVOC CHRISTMAS AT EL PASO

Soldier Boys Enjoy Christmas Dinner Despite Discomforts—Some Hot Shots.

(By HAROLD W. USHER.)

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 3.—Christmas day proved a success with Company I as far as the situation and elements would permit. The morning was spent swinging a hammer, putting the finishing touches to our new quarters.

At last mess call brought us from our duties and we proceeded to the mess hall with visions of meals we used to get at home or (possibly Adam Pfister's) before our eyes. The meal prepared for us was the very best obtainable—turkey, cranberries—oh, you know the line they generally hand out on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

But due to the high wind and abundance of sand everywhere, both proved the undoing of everything. Shut your eyes and imagine setting your teeth into a savory mouthful of turkey and Texas alkali dust, or perhaps finding several adobe huts in your mince pie. Our beautiful chocolate cake greatly resembled the slopes of Mt. Franklin, except the absence of burros running about. But in spite of all these discomforts the meal was greatly enjoyed and the cooks and mess sergeant should be commended for their good work.

The Christmas week was free from all drill and was supposed to be a vacation. New Year's eve, 1917, was welcomed by the soldiers of El Paso by volleys of shots lasting about half an hour. If Villa had been anywhere near El Paso, you may be assured that he is now well on his way to other parts.

The 31st regiment of Michigan and brigade headquarters left for home Sunday. The 33rd leaves soon. For our part, we can only hope.

Hot Shots From the Border.

Guard, Bob Jones—"Halt, who goes there?"

Reply—"Chaplain."

Bob—"Advance, Charlie, all is well."

Captain Winters—"Well, Sergeant Patterson, did you get the orders from the colonel?"

Pat—"N-no" (knees shaking.)

Cap—"The next time I send a fool after orders I'll go myself."

Owners of fish shanties are making them ready for the expected drop in temperature which they hope will bring solid ice before the present good fishing gives out.

BOAT LINE CHANGES HANDS

IMPORTANT BUSINESS DEAL CLOSED MONDAY

H. L. Oldham Purchases Beaver Island Transportation Route Including Mail Contract.

An important business transaction was completed this week which will be of great benefit and interest to the city of Charlevoix.

Harry L. Oldham has purchased from the Roe Brothers, of Harbor Springs, the steamer Columbia and the Beaver Island transportation route, which also includes the government mail contract, the transaction involving several thousands of dollars.

Mr. Oldham has engaged the services of Captain Ava Smith as master of the Columbia and has assured the writer that every effort will be made to give the people the best of service, and especially to accommodate the shippers and people residing at the Beavers.

Mr. Oldham desires to have established between the two points a closer and more harmonious business relation by giving to the people of the two points an opportunity of visiting the city and transacting their business without being obliged to stay several days. This will require the changing of the schedule, which will at all times be arranged to give the shippers and people of both places the best accommodation.

Charlevoix is indeed fortunate in having such men as Mr. Oldham make their permanent homes here and take an interest in the affairs of the city. Through his efforts many of our summer visitors have purchased homes on Park avenue, until this avenue has become one of the beautiful streets in the city.

Mr. Oldham stands for progress and is always interested in all matters of civic importance whether they be for the beautifying of the city, the improving of health conditions or increasing of the trade and summer tourists business. We only hope that more people will join with Mr. Oldham in increasing the advantage of Charlevoix.

REMOVES LEG ABOVE THE KNEE

Ravages of Gangrene Compel Physicians to Operate.

Dr. L. B. Bartlett, who has beea suffering for a long time with gangrene of the feet and limbs, as the effect of diabetes, was operated on at his home on Park avenue last Thursday morning, his left leg being removed just above the knee. The operation, which was necessary in order to save his life, wns performed by Dr. Armstrong, assisted by Drs. Wilkinson and Swinton and has proven entirely successful.

It is the opinion of his physician that there is no reason why he should not now completely recover. Although the shock of the operation to his nerves was severe, he is now resting quietly, we have lt from last reports, and is doing as well as can be expected.

DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP

Christmas Savings Club Growing Popular With Citizens.

As we go to press the Charlevoix State Savings bank reports, on this, their last enrollment day for the season, a membership of 300 jn tbeir Christmas Savings club. This is a little better than double their membership last year. The popularity of this novel scheme for putting by the loose penny and nickle in the flush season of tbe year against the unusual heavy drain of Xmas gift buylng, is growing very fast and blds fair to be one of our permaneat institutions. This saving for a specific purpose educates in general habits of thrift and especially is this true in the case of the young people. The Courier knows of no better or more beneficent principle to inculcate in their growing minds in this spend thrift day nnd age.

Ted Pearl, Mr. Raney, George Holecheck, Allen Campbell, Mrs. Cowen and Mrs. Bugbee drove to Norwood, Sunday, to attend the funeral of Joseph Wederburn.

NEW TONIC GIVES STOMACH CHANCE

Michigan Man Dreaded Meals Till Tanlac Came.

NOW CAN EAT ANYTHING

Chester J. Wheeler, Conklin, Mich., R. F. D. No. 2, no longer dreads meal time.

Yet it hasn't been long since he did. Mr. Wheeler told the Tanlac Man of his worries and how he drove them away. He said:

"My chief worry was nausea after meals. It was a battle for me to keep the food down after I had swallowed it. I felt tired out and nervous most of the time. I had a hard time getting to sleep at night, too.

Cut Down Meals.

"I reduced my meals in size and ate regularly. I chewed my food well and I found all this helped me a little, but it was Tanlac that toned up my whole system and really enabled me to get back to a natural condition again. A friend of mine advised me to try this tonic and I'm mighty thankful I did. I'm glad to recommend Tanlac when it did so much for me."

Mr. Wheeler now welcomes the dinner-bell.

The Tanlac Man estimated ninety-five out of one hundred persons who feel "half-sick" are suffering from stomach worries.

Give Stomach Chance.

"If they would only give their stomachs a chance, eat regularly and take plenty of exercise, they would be better off," he said. "Nature will take care of herself unless she is abused. Then she needs an aid which will build up the system to what it used to be. Tanlac supplies this aid."

Tanlac can be obtained here only at the store of B. A. Herman.

Tanlac can also be obtained at the following stores:

Boyne City, W. A. Hyslop.
Central Lake, F. J. Fessender.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

All preparations made for a big teachers' institute.

Farmers' institutes all taken in last week in a complete tour of the county. A joyous time at all, plenty to eat, many things to learn and plenty of boosting listened to and attempted.

The farmers found considerable interest manifested in the county agent for agricultural interests. A few of the formerly disinterested discovered new phases that had not before occurred to them.

Good news from the front in school activities:

Barnard plans on adding a fresh air supply to the furnace system this week. That, with the foul air flue, would complete the circuit.

A number of schools closed to allow the teacher and pupils to attend the local farmers' institute.

Hayes No. 4, or Maple Grove school board has ordered two indoor sanitary toilets and has already engaged the carpenter so as to be sure of securing a workman when school closes next spring.

Both Maple Grove and Burgess are actively interested in the standard school movement.

Walloon Lake has substituted a hot air ventilating system in place of a hot air basement furnace. They still have the same furnace, but it is differently installed. They also have new maps for both rooms and have applied for a standard plate to be presented to their district.

Miss Vivia Keller is now teaching in the Cramer school adjoining the district where she taught her fall term. There were but two changes in the county this year at Christmas tide compared to seven last year.

By mistake in getting out the directory two names were omitted from the list of qualified teachers. They were Miss Mary Weldy, second grade, expires in 1918, and Miss Esther Benson, County Normal transfer.

Are you a leader in some good movement? What are you doing right where you are?

Copies of the new pension law free on request. List of other pamphlets will be published soon.

Farmers driving west from East Jordan will see a bank of windows for left one side lighting recently added in the West Side school of the city system.

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a number of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Charlevoix Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Charlevoix adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

Charles Hebert, 405 May St., Charlevoix, says: "My back and kidneys gave out on me, causing me much suffering. My back was so sore and lame I could hardly go about my work. My kidneys were out of order which caused me a lot of annoyance. Dizzy spells bothered me when specks floated before my eyes, blurring my sight. I was in bad shape when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills but they soon had me feeling fine and three boxes cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mr. Hebert. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

When you order your baking supplies dont forget

HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER

The price of baker's bread is high, and every careful housewife welcomes HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER. It enables you to make larger loaves of whiter, smoother and sweeter bread for less cost.

"HO-MAYDE BREAD" is deliciously appetizing. A teaspoonful of HO-MAYDE added to the water in which the yeast is dissolved, accelerates the yeast. Bread set in the morning is out of the oven by noon.

HO-MAYDE is a wholesome product that complies with pure food laws. No sour or chilled bread—no failures—more loaves from the same materials. If your grocer can't supply you, send 15c. Write for free sample.

HO-MAYDE PRODUCTS CO., Detroit, Mich.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Pickle Salting Station Sold.

The five pickle salting stations in Emmet county formerly owned by the Williams Brothers company, of Detroit, recently changed hands and are now the property of Libby, McNeill & Libby, of Chicago.

The new owners have engaged Lynn E. Wagely, of Brutus, as their representative in that vicinity and will have contracts out and circulated within a week.

Prices will be substantially better than heretofore, and with the well known financial standing this new firm has the future of the pickle industry in Emmet county is in good hands.

V. H. Carpenter Postmaster.

President Woodrow Wilson sent to the senate last week Tuesday the nomination of Verd H. Carpenter to be postmaster at Central Lake.

As is always the case, there is a lot of red tape to be gone through, and Verd is not sure just when he will assume the duties of the position, but it will undoubtedly be within a few weeks at the longest. —Central Lake Torch.

Hurt While Coasting.

Richard Owen, a ten year old boy who lives in Central Lake, met with a serious and painful accident late Tuesday of last week while coasting down the hill.

The path was icy where he was sliding, and his sled slipped out of the track. Before he could guide it back again, it had run into a feace post, throwing him off. Richard struck the post with terrific force, breaking his collar bone and cutting a bad gash in his forehead.

Claims They Saw Robin.

On Friday of last week C. H. Tooley, of Boyne City, called our attention to the fact that a red breasted robin was with us. Inviting other witnesses that our veracity might not be disputed, we ventured forth into the cold air and were amazed to hear the merry songster chirping blithely away from a perch in the apple trees adjoining the Kozeny lot on Water street.

We hesitated to mention this last week but have since learned that several others are willing to testify to the fact that Mr. Robin did pay this city a visit on December 29.—Boyne Citizen.

County Treasurer Missing.

Charles E. Mahan, treasurer of Kalkaska county for four years, and who was elected to the office of register of deeds of that county at the November election and was to have taken over that office January 1 of this year, is missing together with about $4,500. of the county's money.

A warrant has been sworn out against him charging embezzlement and he is now being sought by officers all over the country. The new Kalkaska prosecutor, Floyd Phinney, is directing the search.

Mahan, who is married, left Kalkaska two weeks ago, saying he was going to Grand Rapids for medical treatment. During the first week Mrs. Mahan received four letters from her husband. Then he stopped writing and the wife became worried. She sent a letter to him in care of the Grand Rapids physicians. The letter was returned. Mrs. Mahan then telegraphed and found her husband had not been to see the physicians in Grand Rapids.

She notified County Clerk William C. Hewitt and that official checked over the books and the shortage was discovered. He was also found to have withdrawn his own private bank account. His wife, who had but $700, has turned this sum over to the county officials to help make up the shortage.

Mahan's second term as county treasurer ended January 1. He had been elected last fall to the position of county register of deeds and would have entered upon his new duties this week. He has been prominent in Kalkaska politics and was popular.

Killed Big Wildcat.

Fred Greiner, well known Brutus man, shot a large wildcat near Brutus last week, the animal being the first one seen here in a long time.

The bounty for wildcats is only $3 but as there are so few of these animals in Michigan this amount has seemed sufficient to induce men to keep a close watch for them. This has kept their number from increasing. The pelts are not considered valuable.

Be the first to get your pick of my line of Sweaters which I am closing out at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

Dear Editor:

The price of concentrated feeds are away above prices that has been customary to the farmer and dairyman, and as we have been obliged to buy grain feeds for our cows, naturally we are interested.

People are everlastingly talking about high cost of living and newspapers are likewise full of material on the same subject.

Now I would like to see a little about what it costs to produce a few of life's necessities in the line of foodstuffs that the average Charlevoix county farmer is producing during the winter months.

For instance, the products of the dairy cow. Can some one state in the Public Pulse column how many pounds of 3.5 per cent milk a cow would be obliged to produce in a milking period of nine months, to break even on board bill alone, not to allow anything for labor connected with the feeding, milking, etc.? with bran $1.70 per cwt., oil meal $2.50 and cotton seed meal $2.30. These prices may vary but those are approximately correct.

We keep 10 to 12 cows and find plenty of work connected with them and find absolutely no profit during winter months with nearly half of them producing milk. Now we may be vain, but we consider them as good as the average herd of cows in the neighborhood. Can we sell our butter fat cheaper? If so what means would the consumer recommend.

Yours for a reply,
AVERAGE FARMER.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

every Sunday evening at 7:30.

CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

School started last Wednesday after the holidays. No more 12:00 till 12:00 sleeps and lots (?) more 8:00 till 2:00 studies. School has its drawbacks but then again its pleasures. Think of the enjoyment of being able to sleep in English and doze in German and talk to girls all day.

Beatrice Harrington rejoiced greatly for the last two weeks. Herb Taggart was home for the holidays. I suppose a real man looks better to her than letters of love and faith.

"Doc" Auld started school Wednesday. It sure seems like old times to have him here. If Rump and Brann were back we would no doubt have a real lively school again.

Fat Supernaw has worn a white collar to school two days in succession. Who is she, Jack?

Reviews have started again. Its just too lovely for anything. Twenty-five to thirty-five page lessons look pretty large to yours truly and I guess the rest agree with me.

We are awfully sorry we dissappointed the public by letting Pellston beat us, but I guess we got even. We turned Bob Merriam loose on them for a few days at Christmas. He reports a "horribly beautiful" time.

John Hallet is at school, the better off for his vacation by about 20 pounds. He hopes to weigh 250 by this time next year.

The senior class are planning an old fashioned candy pull. I don't believe in being pessimistic, but I do say to the boys, eat before you come or come and take the consequences.

The entire student body and also the faculty join in letting the public know and recognize what a hero Mr. Loomis is. Alone and unaided (with the help of Pearl Johnson) he rescued from the icy grip of the cold and hungry waves last Tuesday morning thereby soiling with snow his hands and overcoat and inconveniencing himself to a great extent, young Pete Bacot. Gosh, I had to stop to draw my breath.

Mr. Aseltine reports a fine vacation. He says he did less work than ever before when on a vacation. No wonder he had a good time. Who couldn't when they had no work to do?

The pencil sharpeners at school need sharpening. It's amusing to watch somebody put a "bran" new pencil in one and grind until they have about three inches of pencil left. I reckon I could have got a bunch of good pointers if I had listened to Frank Weaver grinding yesterday.

Some childish students have revived the ancient and ansportly game, paper wad shooting. It's real funny to see a person rnise clear out of their seat, bat when yon stop one about twice as big it grows much less amusing.

We learn of a teachers convention next week. Horrors, two days more vacation. Methinks we can't live through it.

We have started in fine this year. Six late already and only the second day of school.

The juniors came to life with a penant or rather a loud and gaudy horse blanket. They are a noisy bunch, anyway, so you could expect their penant to be nothing less than themselves.

I can save you money on Men's Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Coats, Socks, Mittens, etc. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

BOARD OF EDUCATION

January 2, 1917.

Regular meeting of the board was called to order by President Hampton.

Trustees present: Hampton, Bridge, Nordrum and Hiller.

Absent: Glassford.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $370.82.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Fund.

988	To Charlevoix Lum-Co., supplies	$148.91
999	West Disinfecting Co., disinfecting	32.60
1000	Alonzo Powers, plumbing and supplies	50.10
1001	Theodore Kibbe, cleaning	13.50
1002	Roscoe Smith, cleaning	13.50
1003	Mrs. Wesley Staley, cleaning and washing	12.70
1004	Seeley Pierce, cleaning	6.00
1005	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
1006	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	7.50
1007	Mrs. A. Allison, cleaning	7.50
1008	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	15.00

Library Fund.

316	To Wesley Staley, janitor	$ 7.50
317	To A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
318	Miss Annie Bon, librarian's salary	30.00

Teachers Fund.

8	Oluf Nordrum, pay roll	$844.94

Moved and supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective. Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on motion the board adjourned.

E. J. HILLER, Secretary.

Report of the Condition of

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Charlevoix, Michigan,

at the close of business Dec. 27, 1916, as rendered to the Commissioner of the State Banking Department.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts		$108,287.85
Bonds and Mortgages		83,768.00
Overdrafts		324.40
Banking House and Fixtures		14,600.00
Cash on hand in vault	$23,895.02
Cash in Reserve Banks	35,079.08	58,974.10
Total		$265,954.35

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock Paid in		$ 25,000.00
Surplus Fund		3,700.00
Undivided Profit Net		5,056.55
Commercial Deposits	$ 79,772.95
Savings Deposits	152,424.85	232,197.80
Total		$265,954.35

4% Interest Paid on Savings Deposits

In calling your attention to the above report, we respectfully solicit your banking business. Unusual facilities for efficient service.

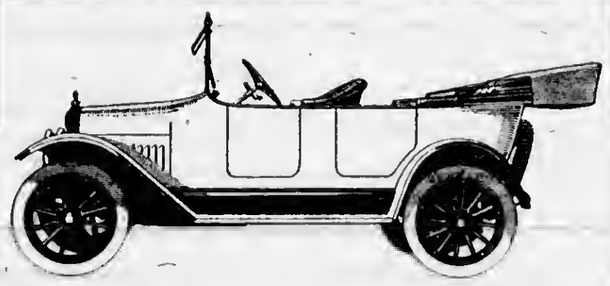
J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Hareha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers



Pay As You Ride!

Pay for your Maxwell as you enjoy it. Unusually easy time payment plan. Also a Savings plan. You've been thinking about a Maxwell—now you CAN own one. Ask us for details of these plans. The Maxwell is complete, electric starter, etc.—a real family car.

Maxwell $635 f. o. b. Detroit

We have several good second hand cars for sale call and see us about them.

Bring your storage batteries to be charged and repaired. WE make a specialty of automobile repairing, machine shop work and welding.

ERICKSON & FOWLER

THE CENTRAL GARAGE

103-105 ANTRIM ST. CHARLEVOIX, MICH

CLARKE SCHOOL NOTES

We are beginning the New Year by having examinations.

All spare time is used in coasting down hill.

Mrs. Clark presented our school with a very beautiful calendar from the Charlevoix State Savings bank.

Mr. Clark left Friday for a short visit with his brother at Brookston, Indiana.

Our school closed early Tuesday afternoon that we might attend the Farmers' Institute at Barnard Grange Hall.

J. L. CRANE

In Our January Sales

We give you Lower Prices, not higher

JANUARY 11th TO JANUARY 27th

We are offering you an opportunity in our January Sales to purchase your supply of

COTTON MATERIALS

At a great saving in price. We purchased a large stock of Cottons many months ago for delivery in January 1917. THEY ARE NOW HERE and we are giving you the benefit of prices on Cottons of many months ago. We would recommend the purchasing of your needs in these lines for months to come.

Bleached Sheetings, Brown Sheeting, Cambrics, Long Cloths and Nainsooks

500 yards Dependon Fine Bleached Sheeting, 36 inches wide. Value today 13c, our January price

10c PER YARD

500 yards Dependon Fine Unbleached Sheeting, 36 inches wide. Today's value 12½c, our price

9¾c PER YARD

500 yards Green Ticket Heavy Bleached Sheeting, 36 inches wide. A splendid quality. Value today 14c, our January price

12½c PER YARD

250 yards Berkley Fine Long Clotb. A standard grade of extra soft finish. Value today 20c, our January price

17c PER YARD

700 yards Columbus L L Fine Unbleached Sheeting, full yard wide. Value today 11½c, our price only

9½c PER YARD

400 yards Dunmore Fine Cambric Muslin, 36 inches, extra soft finish. Today's value 15c yard, our January price

13c PER YARD

350 yards Berkley No. 60 Cambric, yard wide; very fine and soft. Value today 20c yard, our January price

17c PER YARD

450 yards Sea Island Extra Fine Uunbleached Cotton, 36 inches. Today's value 12½c yard, our January price

9¾c PER YARD

Pillow Tubings and Wide Sheetings

45-inch Dwight Pillow Tubing. Value today 26c. Full bleached. Our January price

23c PER YARD

42-inch Dwight Pillow Tubing. Value today 25c. Full bleached. Our January price

22c PER YARD

45-incb Pepperall Pillow Tubing. Value today 23c. Full bleached. Our January price

19½c PER YARD

42-inch Pepperall Pillow Tubing. Value today 22c. Full bleached. Our January price

18½c PER YARD

7-4 Bleached Sheeting, extra quality. Value today 30c yard, our January price

26½c PER YARD

8-4 Extra Grade Bleached Sheeting. Value today 33c yard, our January price.

29½c PER YARD

9-4 Bleached Sheeting, extra heavy. Value today 35c yard. Our January price

31c PER YARD

Lockport Mills Cotton Batting

10c, 12½c, 15c, 18c, 20c, 25c

On today's market these are worth 20 per cent more at least. Buy them now if you need them.

Red Seal Ginghams Everett Ginghams

1 lot double fold, light and dark patterns. Value today 15c, our January price

12½c PER YARD

Serpentine Crepes

1 lot, light and dark patterns. Value today 20c yard, our January price

12½c PER YARD

Special Values from our Various Departments

Boys' and Men's Winter Caps. Heavy Caps suitable for winter weather

CAPS 19c

Women's Embroidered Front Brassiers, sizes 34 to 44

BRASSIERS 10c

Boys' Jersey Sweaters, fine for school wear. Color grey. Only

JERSEY SWEATERS 50c

Men's, Women's, Misses' and Boys' Sweaters. New line of Shawl Collars, colors grey. Only

SWEATERS $1.00

Embroidered Top and Lace Top Corsets, good drill cover and splendid lines. Sizes 24 to 30

CORSETS 50c

Women's Coats and Skirts at January Clearing Prices

Misses' and Children's Coats at January Clearing Prices

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks. 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES

School began last Wednesday morning after our boliday vacation.

The first thing that met us in the New Year was exams.

A number of people from this district enjoyed a sleigh ride up to the Seiler home last Thursday evening, where they were entertained. The time passed in playing games, and music. Everyone who attended reported having an interesting and enjoyable time.

Miss Goss, who has just arrived from her home in Grand Rapids, where she spent her vacation, was visiting at the Flora home Sunday.

Miss Blanche Flora returned home Sunday from visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Murphy, near East Jordan.

The third and fourth grades are making a study of the "Seven Little Sisters" in connection with their geography work.

No school Tuesday and Wednesday, 9 und 10, as Miss LaLonde will attend the teachers' institute at East Jordan.

Mrs. Jardine and little daughter, Anne, and Miss LaLonde, were visitors at the Sanford home Sunday afternoon.

There is good coasting these moon light nights. One would think so judging from the crowd on the hill every evening.

W. Scott has gone to southern Michigan for n few weeks, visiting his mother.

The Sunday school is indeed lucky. Miss Seiler, who is home from her duties as missienary to India, was present at Sunday school Sunday. Miss Seiler has consented to be with us every Sunday. She will also take charge of a singing school. The first meeting will be held at the school Friday evening, January 12. Everybody welcome.

Notice.

I will open my feed mill at Ironton ready for grinding after Jan. 17th. Corn Meal, Graham and Buckwheat Flour a specialty. Prices reasonable and good work guaranteed. Will Tumath. Adv. 1t2

HEART LAKE SCHOOL

Hudson township, district No. 4, Ethel Sanford, teacher.

After a week's vacation school began January 2, 1917.

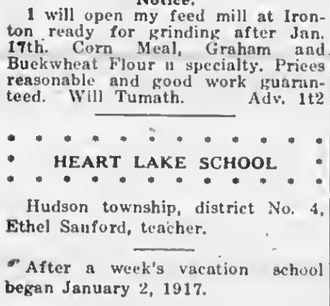
During the holiday vacation the seats were changed about so that they faced the east side of the room, making our school room much more convenient.

Our school made some very nice calendars for the year 1917.

January 2 a contest was begun by the grades in spelling. Roy Scott and Cora Townsend were chosen captains and red and green are the colors.

The fourth and fifth grades of our school have been doing some very nice work in story telling this week.

The seventh grade has just started the six per cent method in interest in their arithmetic.



THURSDAY WAS GOOD ROADS DAY

AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION STARTED

County May Bond to Build Concrete Roads—Outside Speakers Present.

Thursday last was Good Roads Day in Charlevoix. The meeting held that afternoon at the court house, at which the public and the board of supervisors were addressed by O. O. Stone, of Detroit, and George H. VanPelt, of "Everywhere," laid the foundation for an active and aggressive campaign of education as to the good roads proposition in general and particularly in its relation to the matter of federal and state aid. From now on it is the purpose of the Charlevoix Commercial association and this paper to keep the local public fully advised of the progress of this vital movement and to put before them facts, figures and the experience of other communities with the concrete road which will enable them, through their representatives, to deal with the matter intelligently.

Mr. Stone, who is a member of the Detroit Board of Commerce—successful business man and farmer and naturally a good roads booster, gave a very interesting talk of an hour's durution on the value of good roads in a community and how to get them. He also pointed out the fact that bad roads constitute our grentest draw-back to internal improvement and material progress.

The matter of bonding the county was brought before the supervisors, but for various reasons (among which the board's painful dilemma, mentioned elsewhere in these columns, was not the least influential) the resolution presented was laid on the table for consideration at the board's next legal meeting in October.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the provisions of the Federal Good Roads Aid bill, we will state that the government offers a bonus of 50 per cent of the total amount to be expended, with the proviso that the style of construction contemplated shall be of a permanent character. A supplementary bill, designed to carry into effect the federal measures within the state, is now before the Michigan legislature and sentiment in that body seems favorable to its speedy passage. This bill provides for subsidizing each county taking advantage of the federal offer to the extent of 15 per cent of the amount necessary for the successful completion of permanent road construction, thus leaving 35 per cent of the amount to be raised within the county. The resolution tabled by the board of supervisors called for the issue of bonds to the amount of $300,000, covers the necessary proportion which the county must raise in order to take advantage of the federal aid offer, this amount to be expended at the rate of $100,000 a year for general road purposes.

While indications are favorable for Charlevoix county getting their proportion of the government and state bonus, our citizens must remember that it is conditioned upon the county doing its part and adopting the only permanent method of construction which is recognized as such by federal and state authorities and which is possible to our pockets—concrete. To insure favorable action in this matter, the people of the county should take an active and enthusiastic interest in good roads and give their hearty encouragement to their public officials and their keenest scrutiny to the why, the how and the when of it—especially, the how.

Below we give in full the speech of George H. VanPelt which he delivered on Wednesday afternoon.

"In appearing before you today I hope I may be able to leave an impression with you such as I have, which has been formed, by the many interviews that I have had since leaving here last September on my tour through the east. I also wish to impress upon you the fact that it is the love of the work and devotion that I have for this county which prompted me to do the work I have done in the past, and which I hope to continue until our county is made the banner county of all counties in the state of Michigan and excelled by no other in the United States.

"I attended a meeting in Danville, Illinois, about two weeks ago as a delegate from the Chicago Association of Commerce, the good roads committee of Cook county, where we built some 40 miles of concrete road during the past year, connecting our city with the county roads coming in from all directions. This was the meeting of the Illinois State Highway association, and after nearly two days of speaking in which many people gave their opinions both pro and con, it was decided that the proper thing for the state of Illinois to do at the present time was to take advantage of the large sum contributed by our government for state road aid.

"The government, as you all know who have read the papers, gave $75,000,000 as a beginning for this ob-

(Continued on page six.)

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Adolph B. Major and Ida Major, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Union Trust & Savings bank of Flint, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd day of June, 1911, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due upon the principal and interest computed to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and the further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars taxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein described, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, at one o'clock in the afternoon, we shall sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per cent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dollars covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as being situate in the Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), town thirty-three (33) north of range four (4) west; and the southeast quarter (¼) of the southenst quarter (¼)of section nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less Dated, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
44t13 Mortgagee.
BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Flint, Michigan.

Performance of Land Contract.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of December, A. D., 1916.

Present, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased, Gilbert Ferris having filed in said court his petition praying that the administratrix of said estate be authorized and directed to convey certain real estate in pursuance of a certain contract made by said deceased in his lifetime.

It is Ordered, That the 11th day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
52t3 Judge of Probate.

Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 30th day of December, A. D. 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased, Isaiah Wasaquam having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitable person,

It is Ordered, That the 23rd day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Adv. 1t3 Judge of Probate.

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.

Sunday school at 12:00 m.

Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.

Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

Special for Saturday, Jan. 13th

Ladies' House Dresses

$1.50 values at

98 cents

For this Saturday Only

We have been very fortunate in this purchase as these dresses were bought some time ago. We cannot duplicate them again at the same price. These dresses come in high and low neck, all sizes, colors and styles.

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

DAMAGED BY SMOKE AND WATER

DEFECTIVE WIRING THOUGHT CAUSE OF BLAZE

Central Drug Store Has a Narrow Escape From a Heavy Fire Loss.

Again the loud clangor of the fire alarm. A defective wire in the basement of Herman's Central Drug store called out the department last Tuesday night at about a quarter to seven. It is thought that the girders under the middle of the store floor caught from a bare wire and the fire spread for a considerable space under the flooring, damaging a large quantity of wall paper in rolls, piled high enough on the cellar bottom to touch the girders above and which was a total loss. The smoke in the store was so thick in a few minutes that you could not see across the room. In fact, most of the damage, outside of the wall paper, was caused by smoke and water and is estimated at somewhat over a thousand dollars.

The show cases were moved out on to the sidewalk by the crowd of willing helpers that quickly assembled, with but little damage from the moving. The blaze was first discovered by Douglas Nettleton, who was sitting in the back part of the store and noticed smoke rolling up from a hole in the floor near the front window.

The firemen finally managed to smother the flames and the excitement was over in about 15 or 20 minutes. Only the fact that the fire started in the ceiling of the basement, instead of in boxes and barrels of stuff on the floor, much of it highly inflammable, saved the building from destruction. A barrel of rosin and some turpentine and oils were stored in the basement and had these caught, the result would have been serious in the extreme.

DAN CUPID OPENS UP NEW YEAR RIGHT

Activities Result In Marriage of Well Known People.

White-Swanson.

On Wednesday evening, January 3, at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Quinton Walker united in marriage Fred H. White and Miss Alice Swanson.

Miss Swanson is a member of the Methodist church and is well known by a host of friends in the city. Mr. White is well known and highly respected. He was a candidate for representative at the fall election.

Their many friends wish them a long happy and prosperous life. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside on their farm on the Ironton road.

Pearl-Stevens.

A quiet wedding occurred at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, of Marion, on Thursday evening, January 4, when their daughter, Miss Bernice, was united in marriage to James R. Pearl, the Rev. Quinton Walker officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Palmer, of Petoskey, and Mr. A. Allard acted as best man.

A bountiful wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Pearl will be at home to their friends in Charlevoix after January 10th.

Get the habit—Read the Courier

Every $1.14 worth of rubber footwear cost last year $1.00, an advance in one day of 14c. At that rate next winter but few of us will be able to buy any. But if rubber footwear advances at same rate as other merchandise every $1.00 now will be $2.00 next winter. If you want to save money for this or next winter buy now, and buy all you can get. If you don't want to wear them buy and sell them next winter. You can't make money faster. We are offering bargains in Arctics from January 11 to January 18. Terms strictly cash. We can make more money by holding them, but if you want an 85c child's one buckle Arctic for 59c you can have it, or a

$1.15 Woman's One Buckle Arctic for.....89c
$1.30 Child's Two Buckle Arctic.....89c
$1.40 Misses' Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Woman's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Youth's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$2.00 Boy's Two Buckle Arctic.....$1.19

Large 40c Oranges.....30c
30c Oranges.....19c

A. E. MASON

SAVE THE EASY WAY

THE SAVINGS CLUB

Offers you the opportunity to prepare for any future obligations by making small weekly or monthly deposits on which we pay you 4 per cent interest

Join the club now and start on the road that leads to success

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK
Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan
We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

Saturday Special

FINE, FANCY ORANGES per dozen..... 19c and 24c

Remember us with your next grocery or meat order We guarantee you first-class goods and quick service

Edward Klooster
Phone 53 113 Bridge Street
Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

Mrs. Frank Biossat accompanied her sister, Mrs. Vilas Lant, and little daughter to Chicago, Saturday, where Mrs. Lant took train for her home at Hoquiam, Washington, after spending nearly a year at the Hotel Charlevoix, recovering from the effects of an operation. Mrs. Biossat returned Tuesday by way of Detroit, where she made a short visit to her daughter, Mrs. Edna Watson.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service, 7:15 p. m.
Service Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject—"Sacrament."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harsha returned Tuesday morning from Traverse City, where they have been visiting for the past ten days.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Game of Cards.

"WHEN they tuck a ninety-nine year clause into a franchise they mean it's forever, don't they?" Joe wanted to know.

"Forever, to all intents and purposes!" said Garry.

Joe's chest sank and rose in a long, long breath.

"It's no word to trifle with," he cautioned at last. "If you lose it'll be a considerable dreath."

"Cut!" invited Garry, and they started to play.

That other night Gerry's stack of chips had lasted far longer than they did on this second occasion. A half hour later, when he rose to go to bed, his ninety-nine year promise of abstinence was piled symmetrically before Fat Joe. But his good night was gay. For a time after his departure Joe eyed Steve sidewise.

"Hum-m-m," he cleared his throat. "Hum-m-m! And I was expectin' you to turn up any hour of the last twenty-four with a request that I come and help bring home the remains. You must be quite a silver tongued exhorter, aren't you, Steve?"

Stephen O'Mara was silent over the paper which Joe had handed him earlier in the evening, and the lack of any offer on his part to go into details did not trouble his questioner. Fat Joe sat and bobbed his head over what would never cease to be a miracle in his eyes.

"And he'll stick this time," he vented his wonder aloud. "He's surely going to stick!" Then he smiled widely. "And I reckon you'll have to admit that I handled the small part that came my way with ease and dispatch when I tell you that he didn't catch so much as one lonesome pair all the time I was dealing. I'm ashamed of myself. I haven't seen such a mean, crooked game of stud dealt since I came east!"

Garry was very quiet the next morning when he and Steve went back to their work; before noon came his uneasiness had become very apparent to the man he was assisting. But neither his silence nor his nervousness any longer worried Steve. Instead the latter let himself smile over both those outward evidences of inward panic, whenever his thoughts were on Garry at all. For the latter's diffidence as the day aged became a flushed and warm cheeked thing, until at 4 in the afternoon Steve could no longer withhold the suggestion for which, wordlessly, Garry was asking.

"Joe was more than half right," he remarked, one eye to his level, "in spite of the fact that we refused to take him seriously. We can't let those people come in and find everything too hopelessly uncomfortable, so perhaps you'd better run ahead now, Garry, and see what he has accomplished. I don't want to leave this spot myself until I have some figures upon which I know I can rely. But you might run ahead, if you will. I'll be along later."

It was couched in the form of a request, but Garry's face flamed. He went, albeit a bit reluctantly. And he stopped more than a few times in his climb from the edge of the timber to the door of Steve's shack. But once he had passed over the threshold to find that unrecognizably trim room empty, his face grew heavy with disappointment. He was on the point of going back outside to scan the bowl of the valley when a tall, short skirted figure, enveloped in a voluminous apron which Fat Joe in a moment of mistaken zeal had once provided for the cook boy, flashed through the passageway from the kitchen annex and barely missed catapulting into his arms. Miriam Burrell, pink faced from the heat of the roaring wood stove and smudged with flour on forehead and cheek, lifted her apron and swung it like a flag of victory.

"I've found it," she sang triumphantly. "I've found out what was the matter! I'd just forgotten the baking powder, that was all! Next time"—

Then she recognized him. With outstretched hands still clutching the edge of her apron, she stood, almond eyes widening, and scanned him from head to foot. Even Steve, who had been with him every moment, had noticed the hour to hour change that had been taking place in Garry's appearance. To the girl who had not seen him for weeks, that flushed, self conscious man was a different Garry than she had never known before. Hungrily her gaze went from open shirt to caked boots, from steady hands to clear eyes which made her own eyes shy. And then Miriam Burrell, cool and poised Miriam, did what many another maid in a checkered apron has done in similar situations. She lifted that stiff gingham to hide her unutterable happiness. But before he could speak she found her voice, nor was it very steady at that.

"I thought you were that party of idlers come back," she hesitated. "How—how tanned you are becoming, Garry! I thought they—oh, I can't tell you how glad I am to see you so—so well. I'm making biscuits for supper—that is, I've just been practicing until now. It seemed as though I'd forgotten something that was necessary to the recipe, because they were flatter after they were cooked than when I put them in the oven. And most marvelously heavy too! But it was just the baking powder, that was all. Do you—do you think you'd care to help?"

Steve was very late in returning to camp that night. Throughout the rest of the afternoon he set himself a pace knee deep in slushy mud which Garry could not have maintained. But when he paused there in the dark where he always stopped for a moment and a tumult of voices swept down to meet him he forgot his fatigue. He had lifted his battered hat from his head, striving to distinguish a single note in all that treble of girlish laughter, when, framed suddenly against the background of light within, he saw a slender silhouette take up its station in the door frame. Barbara was still peering out across the darkness when he came up to her.

"We've been waiting dinner for you for almost an hour," she rebuked him in place of what might have been a commonplace greeting. "We've been waiting in the face of Mr. Morgan's insistence that it was practically useless. He has been telling us that when a man here in the hills fails to turn up for a meal you never bother to look for him. You know that the worst has happened."

Over her head the first eyes that Steve encountered that evening were those of Archibald Wickersham. While shaking hands with the girl he bowed in grave welcome to the tall figure in

"Oh, I can't tell you how glad I am to see you!"

leather puttees and whipcord riding breeches, and Wickersham from the far side of the room bowed back in equal gravity. Then Caleb Hunter grasped Steve's elbow and spun him around toward the light and peered at him accusingly. Barbara had not noticed until then how tired Steve looked.

"Before the others get to talking," said Caleb, "before the tide grows too strong for my weak voice, young man, I want to deliver a message. Miss Sarah wants it explicitly understood that unless you stop in to say hello on your next trip down she herself will take the trail up here. And lest that ultimatum sound too little threatening I might add that when Miss Sarah takes the trail she never travels with less than six trunks."

Caleb clung so tightly to his arm that it brought a tinge of color to Steve's cheeks. It was minutes before he could get away to change his wet clothes, and in that minute or two he could not help but contrast, grimly, his own mud bespattered attire with that of Archie Wickersham. The tired blue circles beneath his eyes were even more noticeable when he returned, to be ushered with much ceremony by Fat Joe to the head of the table.

It was an utterly irresponsible gathering that leaned over the red tablecloth that night—an oddly assorted group which from the very first Joe realized was not at all to Wickersham's liking. Dexter Allison himself, fairly radiating good will, sat at the foot of the table, with his son-in-law to be on one side and Barbara's little maid, Cecile, on the other. And between Cecile and Barbara, who sat opposite Garry and Miriam, Fat Joe leaned both elbows upon the table edge and monopolized the conversation. The seating arrangement was Joe's; it was his party. And the absolute inattention to detail, the large indifference to vernality which his discourse disclosed before that noisy supper was over, grew to be an astonishing thing. His flights of fancy left Steve aghast in more than one instance; they even forced a stiff smile to Wickersham's lips, and that is saying much for Joe's success as an entertainer, for in the hearing of those two men toward each other there had been evident from the first a chill antipathy which amounted actually to armed truce. And the color in Miriam's cheeks, whenever his gaze strayed to that side of the table, helped Steve to forget, temporarily, much that he found not pleasant to recall at all.

For Miriam's tongue was no less irresponsible than was Joe's. Her mood was so mercurial that she drew time and again the eyes of all at the table. She chattered with an abandon that scandalized Barbara; broke in and interrupted every argument with boydenish trivialities, in one breath, to appeal to Garry the next for refutation. And Garry, the light tongued and quick witted, sat almost dumb of lip before her happy garrulity. But his eyes never left her; they spoke his thoughts aloud. The quick lift and droop of her eyelids, the brilliancy of her lips, made Miriam's face a living thing of happiness—made Barbara's silence seem even more profound. For the latter's withdrawal from the hilarity, dominated half the time by her father's booming bass, was nearly as complete as that of Wickersham himself.

Just once, shortly before they withdrew for the night, Steve caught a gleam of mischief in the dark eyes she turned toward him. She rose the next moment and started slowly around the room, poking demurely into corners and closeted nooks. Every eye was following her when she finally found the thing for which she was searching. She drew a red felt, yellow mottoed cushion from beneath the deer hide covering a chair and held it up so that all might read. "What Is Home Without a Father?" It ran, and when the joy that stormed through the room made it sure that the exhibition needed no interpreter Fat Joe turned and hid his face. Miriam rose inquisitively and joined the other girl in an examination of his handiwork. Smooth face tinted by the firelight, copper hair almost dishevelled in its disarray, she was an exquisitely lovely thing. In her alto voice she expressed her opinion.

"It's an entirely new stitch to me, Bobs," she averred. "I don't think I have ever before seen just this method employed." And she turned to Stephen O'Mara. "Do you suppose, Mr. O'Mara," she asked, "that I might learn it from the one who did this work for you? It's rather"—and her head tilted to one side—"it's rather a pretty thing."

Again they succumbed to mirth, and then Joe rose, bristling, and went forward much as a gamecock might step out to do battle. He took the cushion from the hands of the girls, who no longer had strength enough even to hold it.

"If you are aiming to do any sewing around this camp," he stated, "you can start in sewing on buttons. This kind of work is entirely too nerve wearing for amateurs."

He carried the cushion across the room and placed it not where it had been hidden by the deer hide, but in colorful prominence against the back of the chair. Long after he had crossed with Steve and Garry to their tents he continued to explode with soft chuckles.

"I never did say," he defended himself, "that that sentiment was strictly appropriate. I always stated that it was the best I could. And as for my technique—well, either of you guys try it some time. You just take a needleful of that yellow worsted and start tracking across a couple of yards of red and pathless desert and see where you come out. I know, because I've done it. I'm a pioneer. But if I ever tackle another job like that it's going to be a crazy quilt."

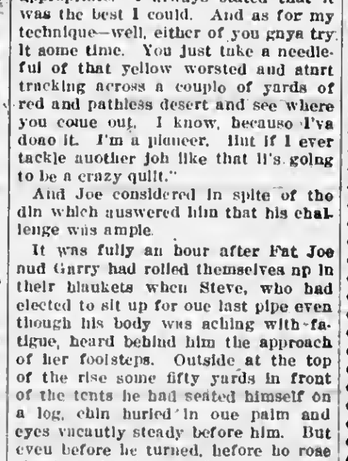
And Joe considered in spite of the din which answered him that his challenge was ample.

It was fully an hour after Fat Joe and Garry had rolled themselves up in their blankets when Steve, who had elected to sit up for one last pipe even though his body was aching with fatigue, heard behind him the approach of her footsteps. Outside at the top of the rise some fifty yards in front of the tents he had seated himself on a log, chin hurled in one palm and eyes vacantly steady before him. But even before he turned, before he rose slowly to his feet, he knew who was coming, knew and realized that she should not have come. Wrapped in a long heavy coat, face half hidden by the upturned collar, bare of head, Barbara came quietly down to where he waited. And without word of greeting on the part of either of them they sat down together, facing the silvered bowl of the valley.

Time passed before Barbara opened her lips for a long, quivering intake of breath.

"I never dreamed it could be so big," she murmured in awe. "And then to think that some day—within a few months in reality—engines will go screeching their signals across this very place. It doesn't seem possible; it seems almost a shame to spoil it too."

"I've felt that way about it often," Steve answered, almost dully. "I like it better myself as it is. It does appear to be a long way ahead, doesn't it—that day of completion which you



"I never dreamed it could be so big."

cover in the screech of the whistles? Only today when we were scrambling about down there in the alders it took nearly all the imagination I possessed to see two streaks of steel where there is nothing but thicket now. But as for the bigness of it"—he laughed deprecatingly—"it isn't so very big, you know. It's just a—a mean sort of proposition."

"To me," Barbara said—"to me it is colossal! Why, I thought the work at Morrison seemed complicated and tangled enough, but there—there isn't even a beginning or an ending here. There's nothing but woods and water."

She pointed out across the valley toward a moundlike outline yellow under the moon; pointed into the north and asked another question.

"Is that part of the embankment?" she wanted to know. "Is that the direction in which Mr. Wickersham's timber lies?"

The man nodded.

"Just a few miles up through that notch," he told her. "That's the end of the rail bed which we have been building along the river edge."

Her next words made him start and then try to cover that moment with a readjustment of his long body.

"I'm going up there tomorrow. Mr. Wickersham has asked me to ride with him in the morning." She waited a moment or two. "That—that's why I came out here tonight. We'll be going back to town the next day or two, and I wanted to have a chance to bid you goodby before I left Morrison for the winter."

He had known that she would not be likely to remain in the hills much longer. He had realized that each day which he checked off, always hopeful that the next might open the way for him to see her again, was steadily bringing nearer the date of her departure. But he had not let himself think that it would come so soon. There was no doubt this time about the heaviness of his voice.

"I see," he said. "I see."

There came a long silence. Rising out of it, Barbara's voice sounded very, very little.

"I've never known a sky in which the stars were so thick. They're—they're like a field of buttercups. And

(Continued on page six.)

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE
Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 1t5

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Takes pleasure in announcing that it is prepared to take care of all kinds of welding, brazing and cutting. All metal joints can be successfully welded by the Oxy-Acetylene process.

Engine parts, such as cracked water jackets, piping, cylindor heads, flywheels, crank shafts, can be successfully repaired at a fraction of the cost of a new part. All kinds of metals in any kind of service can be repaired on short notice. Bring in your work and let us figure on your job.

PRICES REASONABLE. SERVICE RIGHT. WORK GUARANTEED.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence Withers, Prop.
Or Inquire at Erickson & Fowler's Garage.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Special Notice

To Press and Courier
READERS

The Grand Rapids Press, January 20, 1917, will increase their subscription rates on the R. F. D. from $2.00 per year to $3.00 per year.

The Courier's Agreement with the Press Will Save You

$1.00

The old price for both papers for one year, $3.50, will be good until January 20---not later. Don't wait—Don't delay---we positively can not accept orders after that date at the old price. If your subscription expires in January get in under the wire at once.

Good on R. F. D. Only.

The Charlevoix Courier

P. S.---The Press, Courier and Michigan Farmer all for one year $3.75 till January 20. After that date the price will be $4.75.

Then I'll Come Back to You

By LARRY EVANS

Author of "Once to Every Man"

Copyright, 1915, by the W. K. Fly Company

(Continued from page 5)

have you ever seen such an irrepressibly happy creature as Miriam was tonight? She was radiant, positively shameless. Did you know that Garry knows'—.

"I told him myself," said Steve simply.

The girl faced around in her surprise.

"You?"

"Most certainly. Why not?" His voice was not quite so unenthusiastic now. "It's one of the few unmistakable opportunities I've ever had to make two people permanently as happy as Miriam was tonight. I'd feel guilty all my life if I didn't help all I could, knowing how happy I am going to be myself."

Thus did he work around, quite without abruptness, to a renewal of that discussion which she had thought to close weeks before.

"Are you trying to infer that I am to be a part of that happiness?" she asked none too promisingly.

"You ought to know. I said 'all my life.'"

And there suddenly Barbara laughed.

"I suppose now they'll marry and live happily ever after!" she exclaimed, with an attempt at airiness.

"Most certainly," asserted Steve, although her mirth puzzled him. "Why is it funny to you?"

"It isn't, but—yes, it is too, now that it's no longer a thing one need worry about. That's always the trouble with emotions which are too intense. They're either very sad to contemplate or very, very absurd. And they will persist in exchanging faces, to the confusion of the onlookers. Garry was so dangerously in love with Mary Graves, you see."

"He was in love with an idea," the man contradicted flatly. "He was in love with just that. And it is not safe for any man to live alone with an abstract conception of anything. He's bound sooner or later to lose his grip on tangible things if he does. He's likely to start destroying property to further the cause of labor or liable to turn to shooting men who were born to jobs I'm certain some of them never wanted—kings and that sort, I mean—figuring on solving the social problems of men and women who must solve that problem themselves. Perfection is a fine thing to anticipate; expectations of it are dangerous. And women aren't made that way."

"No?" Her voice slid coolly upward.

"No," he told her and smiled with that serenity she had come to know so well. "Not even you, though I suppose I'd about annihilate any one else if he ever hinted at it." He chose to be didactic in tone. "No, you're not perfect. You've too much intelligence for that. Why, right now you're fighting with your brain against the dictates of your heart, and if you were above mortal error in judgment you'd know that you are wasting your time."

"Your opinion has the merit of sincerity," she said, "although, looking back upon a—a certain day, I can't help but wonder whether you haven't been guilty of mouthing pretty nothings for my poor ears."

"That proves my point right now." He was imperturbable. "You're begging the question to gain"—

"You said"— she dashed and then grew red.

"I said I'd let you ask no pardon of me. I said I'd let myself find no flaw in you. But how does that embarrass my present argument? Flawless perfection would be a mighty difficult thing to live with day in and day out. Living with a woman who never made a mistake could have no appeal for me. She'd always be emphasizing my own shortcomings. You become consistent and you'll catch me yawning some day; grow logical and you'll almost scare me off! Why, you're a girl!"

Her laughter was like a bell on the still air.

"And you—you still sit there and insist that perfection has no attraction for you? When you've just described without knowing it the—the sort of a girl you think is perfect."

His lips curled in a way to quicken any woman's pulse.

"You have me beaten," he laughed. His eyes, dark as was the shadow upon his face, made her breath unsteady. "I would like to watch you play poker with Fat Joe. Your game would puzzle him more than a little. Yes, you've surely left me without a leg on which to hobble off, because it would be small spirited in me, wouldn't it, if I were to tell you that you are the exception that makes my general rule hold sound? I wouldn't, however, prescribe such a degree of perfection for any other man's daily diet. It would prove its destruction."

"Your own superiority, of course, rendering you immune?"

"Maybe." At least, whether she knew it or not, she loved his serenity. "Maybe—and maybe I'm an exception too."

He sat very still. She had turned away once more.

"You'll be back again in the spring?" be asked with that gentleness he saved for her alone.

"I hope—I think so." The smallness of her voice angered her. She feigned a short, carefree laugh. "Unless I am too busy. Getting married seems to become a more and more complicated problem of proper costuming, doesn't it, with every passing season?"

She couldn't have told why she said it. She was trying to think of something else to say which would be kinder by far. And then, half lifting her, he had swung her around to him. For a moment he held her, face close to that small, frightened face buried in its deep collar, while she struggled uselessly against those hard arms, which tried not to hurt her. Her lips continued to rebel long after her eyes had closed—long after body and brain were quiescent.

"You mustn't!" she gasped. "Oh, I can't let you—the moon—we—we're sure to be seen!"

His lips on hers silenced that last incoherent resistance. She sat, wavy brown head bowed, when he had set her free.

"I was going to ask you not to forget!" There was no weariness now in his voice. "I had planned to ask you just that a little ago, and it would have been a weak and useless request, wouldn't it? Any man who has to beg to be remembered is not the sort to remain long in any woman's brain. So I have taught you to remember instead. You aren't going to forget ever now! You're coming back in the spring, and you're coming to stay! And now I'm telling you goodby. It's time you were asleep."

He helped her to her feet. Together they turned—and Archibald Wickersham, tall to gauntness in the moonlight, was coming across toward them from the direction of the cabin. The girl's slim body stiffened, but Steve saw her chin come up. His own body grew lazier still it seemed in length and limb.

Wickersham's approaching steps were crisply precise. He stopped an arm's length in front of them, and his words were an echo of that last sentence of Steve's.

"It's time you retired," he said, ignoring the other man's presence entirely. "It's cold, and you have a long, hard ride ahead of you tomorrow."

For a barely perceptible moment, with the eyes of both men upon her, Barbara kept her place. Neither of them saw that her teeth were tightly closed over one full lip; neither knew that she had closed her eyes dizzily for an instant. And then without a word she put her hand upon the arm which Wickersham offered her. But Steve, on the other side, walked with her that night as far as the door of the storehouse shack. Miriam herself opened the door and snatched Barbara within and then laughed with her consummate impudence into both men's faces.

"G'lang wid ye's now," she flung at them, "an' quit disturbin' dacint folks that likes to sleep o' nights!"

She slammed the door upon them.

They stood there a second or two, Wickersham an inch or more taller and inches narrower in shoulder and girth of chest. Perfunctorily they nodded each to the other and wheeled silently upon their heels.

It was the next evening when Barbara re-entered the house beyond the hedge. There was a streak of light running out across the floor of the dim

"You mustn't!" she gasped. "Oh, I can't let you—the moon—we—we're sure to be seen!"

hall from within, and the girl lingered on her hurried way to her own room to bid her father good night. But she found Wickersham alone when she pushed wider the door. The light was behind him, and she could not see how distorted was his face, yet as she paused on the threshold and a thin and pungent odor crinkled her nostrils she sensed somehow that he had not been long alone.

"Father gone to bed?" she called. "Well, that's wise. You'd better come, too; it's time you were asleep."

She did not remember just then that other night when he had addressed those same words to her. She only knew that his features became suffused with purple even before she had finished. And then she realized quickly that it was alcohol she smelled, knew, too, that it was not Wickersham who had been drinking, even though Wickersham had trouble with his tongue. And while she waited, puzzled and frowning, the man gave up an attempt at his usual nicety of phrase and blurted out all that which had been many days hidden behind his impassivity.

"We haven't yet set a certain date for our marriage, Barbara." His voice was strained. "Don't you think it is high time we did?"

The girl colored. It was, at least, very unexpected.

"Why, no, we haven't," she admitted. "But we can if you wish it. Have you thought of a day you'd prefer?"

"I have," he stated. "Would the first day of May be too early for you?"

Often afterward she wondered at her humility of that night, for whatever the quick thought might have been which made her reach out one hand to touch the door frame beside her her words were merely mild.

"It is, rather. But I think I can manage it if it will please you."

Wickersham had come to his feet, but he would not turn so that she might see his face. He spoke with eyes averted.

"It would," he answered with an effort, "and—and in the interim I am going to be very sure now that no thoughtlessness of yours will be derogatory either to my profound respect for you or your own respect for yourself."

She Understood at Last How Much Wickersham Had Seen.

The small hand closed then until it was clutching whitely the woodwork beneath it. She understood at last how much Wickersham had seen; she was never to understand entirely her mood of that moment, for had she waited she would have left him with finger ringless. Instead, she wheeled without a word and climbed, white lipped, upstairs.

(To be continued next week.)

THURSDAY WAS GOOD ROADS DAY

(Continued from page four.)

ject. Our allotment for the state of Michigan was in round numbers $2,500,000, which is to go to the building of what they call national roads, such as the West Michigan Pike, East Michigan Pike, Dixie Highway, Mackinac Trail, Chicago and Detroit Highway association, etc.

"Some time last summer the state gave us to understand that they would give $3,400 per mile for a 16 foot concrete road, according to their specifications. The estimates that I received at our Illinois meeting was that a road of this kind would cost from $10,000 to $12,000 per mile. This being true, and I believe it is, the $3,500 added to the $6,000 makes $9,500, leaving the county $2,500 to pay for the West Michigan Pike and Mackinac Trail roads. Of course, when we come to build the same kind of a road, which we will be compelled to do in the near future around Pine Lake, because it has been demonstrated that we cannot afford to build such roads as we have been building, for the up-keep and rebuilding will be decidedly more than the concrete.

"I was asked at Danville what my business was. I said, 'I have no business, but I am intensely interested in good roads.' 'Well are you a road builder?' 'No, I am not.' 'Why? if you are not in the business.' 'Frankly I will tell you why. I do not know enough to build a good road. I do not know how. It requires a man of a lot of experience,' and who knows more than I do, how to build a road.' I learned this also during the trip down east. I talked with many road builders along the line of my trip and found that almost invariably, without exception, they all felt that the building of dirt or macadam roads was throwing away just so much money. They all said that there were only two roads to be built that would be permanent, one was brick and the other concrete. These two roads are the roads that will be built in all communities after they have learned their lesson on gravel or macadam.

"This word expense reminds me of something I should have said in the beginning, as another reason why I am so interested in permanent roads. In round numbers, the Van-Pelt family pays $1,000 tax per year, and in order to reduce this tax, it makes the building of good roads a personal issue with me, because I know that my taxes will be less in years to come (and a good deal less) by building concrete roads now than they will be if we continue to build gravel or macadam roads.

"Another thing that we must take into consideration, is that the foundation that we are now building can never be used successfully nor economically for concrete roads in later years. This I learned as a positive fact. A concrete road to be lasting, (I might add everlasting) should be built on well rolled ground. The crown of the road should be eight inches thick and six inches at the outer edge. Drainage will also be a very important part in building these roads; also that it is not necessary to build these roads with either lateral or cross expansion joints. These joints are supposed to prevent cracking. At the end of the day's work, in order to hold the concrete in place, it may be necessary to make expansion joints. The fact is, if the concrete roads does crack, it does not injure it a particle providing proper attention is paid to same soon after the cracks appear. All one has to do is to take a broom and brush out the dirt and fill the cracks with asphalt. In other words, fill up the cracks so that water cannot drain through, and you have proof of this right here in this city, on Dixon avenue, where the expansion joints years ago were filled and many of these fillings are just as good as they were the day they were put in. There are some hard looking cracks there now that should have been filled last year, and I trust that early in the spring attention will be given to them. This repairing can be done for approximately $10.00 per mile.

Regarding Norwood Roads.

"I have been told by those who who have driven over the Norwood road that they have never seen the time when it was as bad as it was this last fall. Therefore, I would recommend to our township that they do not vote the usual $1,000 this year, but to leave it as it is, a little draining may do on the sides of the road. And here is another object lesson, why dirt roads will not last.

"During the 34 years I have lived in this county, I think I am safe in saying that there has been an average of $1,000 per year paid for this road work. This should be good proof that we do not want to spend any more money on dirt roads.

"The Pere Marquette Railroad company added 'The Beautiful,' to the name of Charlevoix, calling it, 'Charlevoix the Beautiful.' Now that is all right for Charlevoix, but I want to say, 'Charlevoix County the Beautiful,' the grand, the prosperous and coming county, and right here I want to ask you not to forget a row of apple trees on either side of the road. I saw the advantage of this at various places along my tour. A good plan is to form 'Chuck Hole' clubs also. Every one agreeing to fill in one hole every time they take a drive. It will help amazingly.

Getting Back to Our Motoring.

"It is a question now of repenting for mistakes made in the past, for we have already seen the evil effects of building gravel roads, even for our light machines. As you people here probably know better than I do, because I get away before the fall rains come and while they were fairly passable while I was here, common sense teaches me that there must have been a good many hard places in the road later.

"In building our roads now, it is absolutely necessary that we build for the future, because auto trucks are here to stay, just as much as the touring cars were ten years ago, and why should they not, when a man can haul three tons to a load on an auto truck just as easy as they can haul one ton on little small trucks.

"Last summer I was talking with one of our Norwood farmers, and explained to him that Bert Carey left Charlevoix on a rush trip to get a lot of freight that I wished shipped that day by express, fearing that the railroad strike would occur the following Monday. This trip was made over the road in the conditions as they have been, he bringing back 900 pounds of freight, which he delivered at the depot, doing it all in two hours and twenty minutes. This same farmer would have gotten up at five o'clock in the morning, and spent the entire day with a fine team of horses which he owns, doing the same thing. But had that farmer a truck, he could have made this same trip and also put in nearly a full day's work with his team besides. Let me ask you, is it worth while to have good roads?

"Another thing, we are fast becoming a fruit country, and good roads will add very materially to our profits, because of being able to deliver the fruit to the boat or the depot without it having been bruised while being transported. I saw trucks in New York state going 18 or 20 miles per hour loaded with from 125 to 160 bushel boxes of apples. The farmers there take advantage of the use of their telephones in calling up the different villages to see who will pay the most for whatever they may have to offer. One man told me how he had made $6.00 the day before, on something he had to sell by so doing.

"At our meeting in Danville, Illinois, where they voted to bond the state $60,000,000 and build 4,000 miles of concrete road, the farmers were the strongest supporters to the project, and so you will be, when you look into this proposition and understand it thoroughly. One farmer said, when asked to speak, 'I did not come here to talk. I came to listen, but this I know, before we had good roads, many times all I could haul was 500 pounds and it was hard work to do that. In fact, sometimes we could only go on horseback, but now, since we have brick roads, I can haul two tons; and that shows what the advantage is of having good roads.' Really this was one of the most convincing arguments made at the meeting.

"A word of advise and in giving it, I want you to understand thoroughly, that I am not doing it with any idea that I am smarter than you are, because I know that I am not, and I know also, that there are many men in this room that are much smarter than I am, but in your endeavors to get a knowledge of what is the best thing to do, it will be wise to go to the people that you know who ought to know something about the subject in question. I have heard many men talk very strongly either for or against a proposition, who simply talked with prejudiced minds, knowing at the time, that he did not know a single thing about the subject he was talking about, but it was because it was a personal matter with him and he either wanted it or didn't want it.

"What I think we want to do is to keep our road building out of politics. To form clubs in each one of our three cities, as well as our different townships, and thus form a good organization under one head, 'Get Together Often.' I suggest that we form a Charlevoix County Association for Good Roads. As much good comes from general and free talks, and you want to get men who will stand for the right thing every time. Be like the man from Missouri, 'You have got to show me.' Remember if good governs, right will prevail.

"This road subject is the most important thing we have before us at the present time. The results do not depend upon what you say or what I say, but upon the understanding we all get and what we all say. It is worthy of earnest sober thought.

"If we had a concrete road running all around Pine lake from Boyne City to Boyne Falls and from Boyne City to East Jordan, about the same distance from East Jordan into the eastern part of the county and from East Jordan to Charlevoix, the addition to the increase of property in Charlevoix county would more than pay the entire expense of the road. And you will live to see it, and so will I, and it will bring more men into this country like Mr. Waller, Mr. Taft, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Dickerson and others.

"I want to read you a letter that I received from a man in Shermanville, Illinois: 'Dear Sir: Relative to our talk on road building and the increased values of farm lands. In my own township where concrete roads have been constructed, there has been a large appreciation in prices for lands adjoining. In fact it would be hard to buy at $400 per acre lands which formerly sold at $200 to $250. Under the Illinois state aid, it surely is a liberal proposition for the farmer to have permanent roads constructed. I was very glad to make your acquaintance at Danville and hope we may meet again.

'Yours very respectfully,

'E. D. LANDWEHR.'

"A party who was here last summer and to whom I was talking with regarding the buying of property, made this pertinent remark: 'He would not buy land in any county where they would fool away as much money in nine foot roads as we have been doing here, and where it was out of commission the year after the roads were built.' Here is another thing to remember. The people of the United States prior to the war, spent in going abroad over $200,000,000 each year, and had been doing it for several years. These same people, or same kind of people, are still in the United States and they are spending their money at home and the greater inducement that any place makes for those people to visit the greater proportion will be what they will receive. And remember its their money we want, and we also must of necessity give them value received in order to hold them here.

"I saw this so plainly illustrated every day where I stopped for dinner and every place where I stayed over night. And it is up to us to make our county as attractive as we know how, and it will only take a little while for it to become widely known, and we can not help deriving grand results from same. In fact it will be as easy for us to do it as it was for Schlitz to advertise his beer as having made Milwaukee famous, and we have better beer here than Schlitz ever thought of making, and we can get it out of any of our brooks that run into Pine lake, or Pine lake itself.

"Speaking of Pine lake, you people who have always lived in this vicinity of Pine lake probably think that all of the world is just like it. Now let me tell you, it is not. Pine lake is one of the most beautiful that the sun shines on, and there are thousands of beautiful building places along its shores, and if we have good roads, you will live to see many beautiful cottages or residences erected thereon.

"I was supposed, at the meeting in Danville, to represent the Chicago Association of Commerce, as well as Cook county, and when called upon for a few remarks, I did not make a single reference to either Chicago or Cook county, but immediately branched off into good old Charlevoix county, and told them what we had to offer and what we were trying to do, for which I was strongly reprimanded by our eloquent and able chairman, and then some of those standing by, asked what we raised up in this beautiful country of ours. My reply was everything that we raise down here, just as good, and in many things just as much, and we do it on land that can be purchased from $25 to $50 per acre instead of $250 to $400 as you get here.

"And kind friends, this what I am doing every day of my life wherever I am. It is a great satisfaction for me to talk Charlevoix county. I have talked it for 34 years and I expect to continue to talk it for 34 years longer until we all wake up to the fact that there is not anything that can be done to make our county attractive that we won't try to do.

"I wrote Mr. Crane, president of the Business Men's association, some time ago that I was getting discouraged because I had received no encouragement in regard to the work which I was doing, and that after January first my efforts would cease in this direction, and I would devote the same time and efforts to Chicago and Cook county, as both places pay me the same. I also wrote that I had learned there were a good many other places besides Charlevoix where I could go and get just as good hotels and have fine roads running in all directions. Now mind you, I said this to Mr. Crane, I do not say it to anyone when I am outside of Charlevoix county, and unless you go to the bad here a good deal worse than I expect, I shall continue to stay here and help boost the county.

"Our government recognizes the necessity of having good roads in order to get our crops to market, thereby reducing the cost of same. I have forgotten just what the statistics on transportation are but I think what cost the averaged farmer 26 cents per ton for moving it, the same distance costs the railroad companies one-half a cent. This gift of $75,000,000 from our government is simply a drop in the bucket to what they will give.

"I hope in the deliberations of our good hard headed, honest, conscientious supervisors, that you will do your duty fairly and well and I have every reason to believe that you will. This is a proposition in which you can not all expect to derive the same benefit at the same time, but by working for the general good this can be accomplished. I am not here to tell you what to do, but I have tried to show to you what I have gained from observation by coming in contact with many hundreds of men who are engaged in this good work and am simply giving you the concensus of their opinions. And I know that I have gleaned a good deal more by coming in contact with this class of people than I would have done had I remained in Norwood the past 34 years and not going outside of the state.

"In conclusion, I would like to impress upon you the fact that opportunity does not occur every day in the year, and that when it does occur, that it is wise to embrace it and not to allow it to pass by. An object lesson I have in mind is the sugar factory we had here a few years ago. If we had had at that time roads which would have enabled the farmers to have hauled good big loads of sugar beets to the sugar mill, we would have had a sugar factory here now, and it undoubtedly would be double the capacity. The losing of this factory to Charlevoix has been so great that no one can compute the amount, and roads have had more to do with it than any other cause, or all other causes combined.

"There is only one thing that I want to ask, if you conclude to build these roads, say in round numbers 75 miles, to once in awhile in some obscure place, mark in the concrete road 'VanPelt.' That will be a monument higher than the statue of Liberty in New York harbor, and fully as lasting."

Flour is high and constantly going higher. Now is the time that you can't afford to add 37c freight and a dray bill to the cost of each barrel of Flour.

THEREFORE, BUY

Iron Duke or White Rose

made at home and no freight or dray bill added.

For Sale Everywhere

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

SATURDAY SPECIAL

Bon Ton Bread 8c

Per loaf . . . . . .

Two Loaves to a Customer

H. B. Jacobs

Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on page 10

A. D. Supernaw, of Traverse City, was in town Friday.

Robert L. Wolf, of Petoskey, was in the city Thursday.

William C. Ziem, of Alpena, was in town Friday on business.

S. C. Smith, of Boyne City, was in town Thursday on business.

Miss Dora Stevenson returned Monday morning to East Lansing, where sho is attending school.

Mrs. Rollie L. Lewis, who was very ill last week, is improving.

Mrs. H. L. Iddings and Mrs. Constance Iddings Gaskin with little John, are spending tbe winter at the Hotel Charlevoix.

C. Danto and wife and Miss Elizabeth Levinson have gone to tbe Hotel Charlevoix to spend tbe remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Harry Widdifield and son, Kenneth, were in Petoskey, Saturday.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson left Thursday to visit her sister, Mrs. E. A. Nordrum at Detroit.

Frank Poole went to Racine, Wisconsin, last week, whore he expects to work for some time.

Mrs. John Cook, motbor of Mrs. E. L. Dawson, of tbis city, is in Mancelona this week on a visit.

Mrs. T. George Finucan and Miss Marjorie Weaver made a trip to Petoskey, Saturday, on business.

Arthur Edwards returned last week to Big Rapids, wbere be will resume his telegraphy course at Ferris Institute.

Work is progressing briskly on tho Benj. Brown garage. The roof is all on and the second floor is now being laid.

Captain Patsy Flannigan returned from Chicago, Saturday, whero bo has been spending the holidays with his niece, Miss May Dowling.

Messrs. Beard and Beckingham, members of the plumbing concern in the Soo, were guests at the Charlevoix over Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Annie M. Mstcalf returned to her school near Vanderbilt last Friday after spending her Christmas vacation with ber sisters in this city.

Emory Pierce returned to his home in the Soo, Saturday last, after spending the past two weeks at the 'bomo of John O'Neill in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hime Pearl have returned to Charlevoix after having spent the last two weeks at the bome of Mrs. Pearl's parents at Snowflake.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bettes, Mrs. Cruikshank, Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, Mrs. Cornelia Bailey and Mrs. Walter Ball were also visitors to Petoskey, Saturday.

The home of Sid Henry on East Upright avenue was the scene of a delightful little pot-luck entertainment last Monday night. A party of 12 were present, enjoying a good supper, games and music until a late hour.

Rev. W. P. Mosher, of Pellston, will preach both morning and evening at the Metbodist church in the absence of Rev. Walker, who is assisting in revival services at Pellston. Mr. Mosher is a strong and forceful speaker. Come and hear him.

Miss Ione Swinton gave a pot-luck supper to the Powasu Campfire Girls on Friday evening last at her home on Dixon avenue, it being the first anniversary of the organization of the local camp. Music and games caused the time to pass all too quickly, as judging from the reports of the girls they had a glorious time.

Miller's Specials.

4 Corn Flakes	25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps	25c
Oranges, doz.	20c
Quart can Olives	25c

Adv. 2t1 B. W. MILLER.

"HERKS" TO PLAY PETOSKEY TEAM

FIRST BIG BASKET BALL GAME OF SEASON

Boys Anxious to Show Ability to Play and Deserve a Packed House.

Tho first independent basket ball game of tho season will be staged next Friday evening in the rink. It will follow the preliminary between tho high school teams of Charlevoix and Petoskey. Both of our teams have new suits, and you should come out and see them. The independent game will be between the Charlevoix "Herks" and the Petoskey Independents. The cash demanded for this double header is 25 cents straight. At present the management is running a little bebind on expenses duo to the lack of crowds. The weather bids fair to stay warm, and there are two large stoves in the rink.

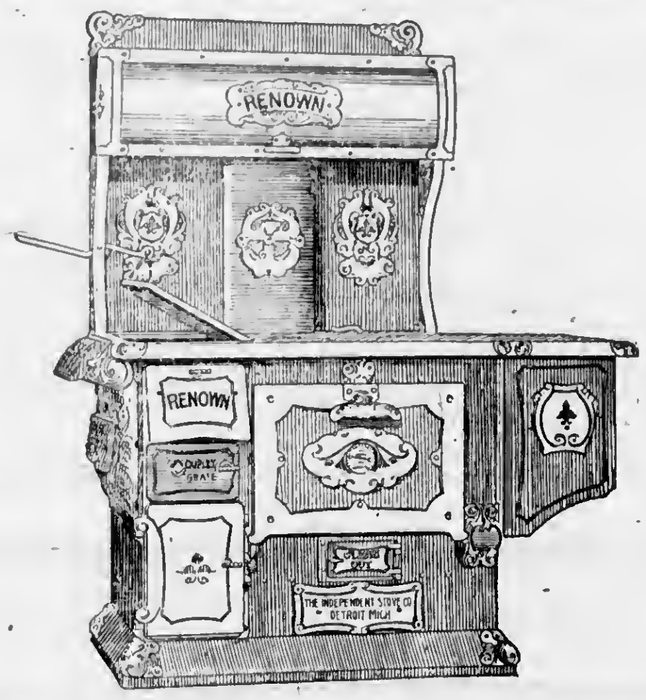
There are several good teams desirous of getting games with the "Herks," among which are ths Traverse City Olympics, Zeeland Independents, and Chicago "Flies." The last is an especially good Chicago team, which plays all its games away from home. These teams demand larger guarantees than we can afford to give unless we are certain of the enthusiastic support of tho fans.

The high school game will be one of the season's best, as by comparntivo scores, Petoskey and Charlevoix are of practically the same caliber. At present our boys have won one and lost one, with the totals 59-34 in our favor. Wo hope to increase the majority this week.

Both games will be good. Show the boys that you belisvo in good clean athletics. The boys are very much appreciative of the new suits and want a chance to show you what they can do in them. The attendanco at this game will determine whether we get some of the big teams or not.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank tbose who proffered their sympathy, assistance and beautiful floral gifts on the occasion of our recent bereavement—the Ladies' Aid society, the Young People, the People and Relief Corps of Charlevoix, the Parents at Ellsworth who have boys in service on the Mexican border, Company I, formerly its Guards, of East Jordan, and all the other friends and neighbors, and to assure them of our heartfelt appreciation of their kindness. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wederburn, Dorothy Wederburn, Magdalene Wederburn, Mrs. Cyrus Long. Adv. 2t1



This Elegant $50.00 Modern Renown Range Goes to the Highest Bidder

It's a new deal in the stove line—something that you have never before had an opportunity taking advantage of. Here is the plan: Make a bid on the stove, sign your name to it, and leave it at the store. Bid as much as you like or as little. Your bid will not be opened until

Saturday, March 17, '17

All bids will be placed in a securely locked box and kept until the above date. On Saturday, March 17, at 4:00 in the afternoon, all bids will be opened by three competent men, acting as judges, and the stove will be awarded to the person making the highest bid. There are no strings tied to this deal. It is open to all—you don't even have to make a purchase at the store to get in a bid on the stove. Everyone has an even chance and you can make as many bids as you want to.

"Modern" Renown Steel Range

This is one of the highest grade and most substantial Steel Ranges on tbe market at anywhere near the price.

BODY—Best grade of Wellsville Bluo Polished Steel.

NICKLE—Perfectly plain and smooth. Easily kept clean as there are no bigbly ornamented castings to catch dust and grease.

FIREBOX—Extra large, with heavy linings.

GRATES—Duplex and removable. Can bo reversed for burning wood.

RESERVOIR—Cast iron encased reservoir with enameled tank. These tanks can be taken out for cleaning.

RAISED PAN TOP—Most ingenious device on the market and fully covered by patents. Very convenient for replenishing fuel, also for broiling or toasting.

OVEN TOP—Complotoly covered by cast iron plate.

DAMPER—Direct draft damper rod mounted on outside of Range. Does not come in contact with fire and cannot warp or burn out.

CONTROLLER DAMPER IN PIPE—Saves one-third on your fuel bill.

THERMOMETER—Very reliable.

ASBESTOS—Lined with asbestos mill board throughout.

RANGE TOP—Ground, polished and buffed. Never requires blacking.

OVEN MEASUREMENTS—18x20x13 inches.

SHIPPING WEIGHT—520 pounds.

BID ON MODERN RENOWN RANGE

Name .....

Address .....

City or R. F. D. .....

Date .....

Amount Bid .....$.....

Courier.

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Phone No. 1 Charlevoix, Michigan

Special for Friday and Saturday

Embroideries and Laces

50 cent Embroidery Corset-cover width at

39c per yard

35 and 30 cent Embroidery Flouncing at

23c per yard

20 cent Embroidery Flouncing at

16c per yard

10 cent Laces at

7c per yard

7 and 8 cent Laces at

5c per yard

5 cent Laces at

3½c per yard

Odd Insertings at

2c per yard

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Pair light sleighs. R. C. Korth. Phone 144. 1tf

GOOD BOAR for service, $1.00 cash. Joseph Sprik, R. F. D. No. 4. 51tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

FOR SALE—Bull molly, part Holstein, 19 months old. Inquire of Frnnk Klusak, R. F. D. No. 4, next to Hilton school 2t2—pd

WANTED—Good man to go to the Northwest to work by the year if satisfactory. Must be good with stock. No others wanted. Apply William Trimble, Charlevoix. 1t2—pd

CUCUMBER CONTRACTS—I am now ready to write contracts for pickles. Price this year will be two dollars per hundred for vat run. C. B. SHELDON, local agent. 2t3—pd

400 TYPEWRITERS

REMINGTONS $12 SMITH PREMIER $12 Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book, free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

Notice.

Rev. George R. Catton, of Benzonia, who was announced to preach at the Congregational church a few weeks ago, but was unable to meet the appointment, will occupy the pulpit of that church next Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Catton is an interesting and helpful speaker. The public is cordially invited.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE

Seventy-five Slide Feature at M. E. Church, January 17.

There will be a stereopticon lecture at the M. E. church, of this city, under the auspices of its Woman's Foreign Missionary society, entitled "The Heritage of Half a Century," Wednesday evening, January 17th, at 7:30 o'clock. The lecture contains 75 slides and promises to be very entertaining and instructive.

There will be no admission charged but a silver offering will be taken.

Ironton Gleaners.

The Ironton Arbor of Gleaners will meet on Thursday evening, January 18, at the regular meeting place. Warm biscuits and honey will be served the members and their families. All are requested to be present.

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

FRIDAY January 12, 1917 — 'THE IMPOSTER' — World Film

TUESDAY January 16, 1917 — The Sequel to the Diamond from the Sky

WEDNESDAY January 17, 1917 — METRO FEATURE

Delicious!

Sounds good, doesn't it?
Especially to a hungry person.
It conveys the impression that somebody has tasted something that hit the spot.
The flavor was just right. It had to be to bring forth the expression —Delicious!
Well, the flavor was just right, and the color, texture and volume too.
We recently asked a young woman who had bought her first sack of

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use."

how she liked "Lily White" bread.
Delicious! was her reply, and she meant every word of it.
The first sack converted her as it has converted thousands of others.
Delicious! is a common expression among "Lily White" cooks.
Delicious Lily White is a correct description of the flour "the best cooks use."
Ask any Lily White user, and then ask your dealer to send up a sack.
Your verdict will also be—Delicious!

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

CORRESPONDENCE

WRIGHT DISTRICT

Miss Ruth Chellis returned to her school duties here Monday.

Miss Lottie Wright spent Thursday evening at the Alward home.

Mrs. Isa Alward visited Mrs. Jacob Bergsma, Thursday afternoon.

School closes Thursday and Friday for the teachers institute at Bellaire.

Isa Alward and family spent Wednesday at Norwood visiting William Alward and wife.

C. Feltenharger and family spent Saturday evening at the Henry Reamsma home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eastcott, of Ellsworth, were Sunday guests of C. E. Bearss and family.

Miss Eva Wrisley, of Ellsworth, spent New Year's at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. A. Wright.

C. Feltenhnrger and family spent New Year's at the home of Chester Donaldson and family in the Miles District.

Isa Alward and family spent New Year's day in Ellsworth at the home of Mrs. Alward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Mrs. William Myers and children went to Traverse City, Wednesday, where they will spend the winter at the home of her brother. Mr. Myers and Henry are to "hatch it" this winter and Henry is chief cook.

Get the habit—Read the Conrier want advs.

WILDWOOD

Bert Sinclair buzzed wood for John Crawford on Monday.

John Stevens took a load of farm produce to Saginaw this week.

Mrs. E. Emery returned Tuesday from a week's visit in Traverse City.

The Messrs. Ellen and Jane Crawford drove to Ellsworth the first of the week.

Clarence Fales dressed a beef for Mrs. Hammond, of Cherlevoix, one day last week.

What good resolutions did you make on New Year's day and how many are broken all to smash?

Mrs. Harry Davy and small son returned from Charlevoix one day last week. The baby has been very sick since.

Maggie Postmus and brother, Sammy, spent several days with friends on this side of the lake last week.

Henry Hammond, of Traverse City, who has been spending a part of his holiday vacation with the Crawford's, has returned home.

A few of the scribe's resolutions follow: To keep as sweet tempered as possible consistant with the many duties involved during '17, to use our best doughnut and pumpkin pie recipe and note the effect on the disposition of the head of the house, and to stick said scribe's nose (knows) into all the neighbors business and promptly send report of same to the Courier.

(Here's hoping that many more will make the same resolution.—Courier editor.)

ROCK ELM

(To late for last week.)

Agness Lacroix returned from Springvale, Tuesday.

The Missee Jessie and Sadie Metz returned to Big Rapids, Tuesday, to continue their studies in Ferris' Institute.

Miss Cora Metz has gone to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Cox, who lives about ten miles from Thompsonville.

About two o'clock Monday afternoon the usual holiday quiet of the school grounds was broken by the arrival of a lively company, each of whom tried to be first to wish the rest a Happy New Year. There were 34 present including the teacher of our school. A short program consisting of some of the old songs that everyone could sing, and a few recitations and select reading was rendered, after which apples, popcorn and home made candy were passed. The occasion was enjoyed by all who were present.

MILES DISTRICT

Joe Walker's fish shanty burned down Sunday.

School again in session. Five months seigo this time.

January calendars were made in our drawing class Friday.

John Sherman and family visited Mr. Loaper, of Central Lake, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorence Isaman spent Sunday with Miss Purvis, who is very sick.

Great was the excitement at Miles school one day last week when we heard the story of the kidnappers.

Miss Blanch Flora, from East Jordan, returned to her home Sunday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Charles Murphy.

During vacation Mr. Mouse and family made a visit to our school. They were very busy with our busy work. A case of "unwelcome visitors making themselves at home." The report later proved to be false.

The Miles school enjoyed the visit of Mrs. J. Sherman, Mrs. Charles Murphy and Miss Flora last Monday. We all hope others will follow their example.

Ellsworth Section

PLEASANT HILL

Lots of winter.

Children are certainly enjoying the good coasting.

How many New Year resolutions are there still unbroken?

Alex. Sinclair started to go to school in Ellsworth, Monday.

Ray Bearss, who is working in East Jordan, is reported very ill with pneumonia at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Barkley, of that place. His mother, Mrs. Jeff Bearss, is there taking care of him. Dr. Dickens is the attending physician. Hope Ray will soon be well again.

MAPLEVILLE

School started Tuesday after a week's vacation.

Luella Rogers has been visiting at the home of Will Smith.

Ethel Smith returned to school at Central Lake last Saturday after a two weeks vacation.

Rev. WestenBerg, from Grand Rapids, preached in the Dutch Reform church Sunday last.

Guy Empey and Jake Youngadike have returned to Detroit after spending Christmas and New Year's at home.

ANTRIM

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Simon are breaking a fine span of well matched colts.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Rice entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Stoel and sons at dinner Sunday.

Will Knight and Frank Mason effected some much-needed repairs on the school premises this week.

ESSEX SCHOOL NOTES

The second and third grade are dramatizing "The Fox and the Crane."

Jennie Hoogewerf visited school Friday morning.

The school was cleaned during the holidays which adds much to its appearance.

Miss Ruth Chellis visited school Thursday afternoon.

The seventh grade have started their review in physiology and geography.

Beatrice Wieland has been neither tardy nor absent since the beginning of the school term.

Gertrude and Lucie Vantill visited school Friday afternoon.

George Dekkinga acted as Santa Claus at the Xmas program, but Mr. Dekkinga wished that he could of taken his place.

There will be no school Thursday or Friday on account of teachers' institute at Bellaire.

Essex Notes.

George Drenth has also bought a silo.

Mrs. VanBeek is slowly improving.

Mick Dekkenga is agency for the Saginaw silo.

How's coasting Russel? Did you hurt your heel bad?

Henry Black buzzed wood for P. Wieland last Friday.

Mr. Tillotson has bought a new silo from G. Bradford.

William Drenth is having some trouble with his engine.

John Hennip went to Chicago, Tuesday for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Bowman were in East Jordan, Wednesday.

Miss Ruth Chellis will commence her school duties again Monday.

Mrs. G. Nicklos and family visited at the Dekkenga home Thursday.

Coasting is good ont this way. John Wieland has his hobs ont every evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean attended an all day Grange meeting at Ellsworth Saturday.

Miss Emily Wieland and Miss Beth Sterhl spent Sunday night at the Chellis home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Cooper and daughter, Bertha, visited at the home of John Glas, Friday.

Mrs. J. Fulstra, Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. Ed Tillotson and son, Edward, spent Wednesday afternoon at Dekkenga's.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Alex SinClair entered the eighth grade on Monday of last week.

The primary room has learned two new winter songs.

The second grade is making winter booklets.

Gerrit Drenth is in school again after a long absence, caused by a broken arm.

Mrs. Joe McElroy and Mrs. Eugene Best visited the intermediate room Friday.

The intermediate room have begun the semester examinations.

Those neither absent nor tardy in the intermediate room for the month ending December 22 were: Ida Reamsma, Howard Griffin, Llewellyn Struik, Jennie Baar, Evelyn Ruls, Lois Davey, John Chellis and Roy Martin. Those neither absent nor tardy this year are: Lois Davey, Jennie Baar and Ida Reamsma.

We are now going to have courses in "manual training" and "domestic science." The classes will be held on each Friday afternoon. We are in need of tools and any one who would be kind enough to lend to us or donate to us would receive the utmost gratitude of the scholars.

Parents, just because your boy or girl has passed the age of 16, don't become so uncivilized as to take them a way from school. You do not have to live their lives, but it is your place as a parent to see that you make their lives better. Think this over and you will certainly agree.

ANY CHEST COLD MAY BRING Bronchitis or Tonsilitis

The irritating, tickling cough affects the lung tissue and wears down nature's power to resist disease germs.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

suppresses the cold, allays the inflammation, steadily removes the irritation and rebuilds the resistive power to prevent lung trouble.

SCOTT'S has done more for bronchial troubles than any other one medicine. It contains no alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 2s-16

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

BERKSHIRE BOAR for services. John Glas, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 4. 2tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Hercules Stump Puller, good as new, price $65. Also good work horse for $40. Godfrey Simon, 3 miles south of Norwood. 2t3

BAND MEMBERS TO HAVE BANQUET

Decide to Discontinue Weekly Practice Until in April.

At a meeting of the band held Monday, January 8, it was voted to discontinue regular practice for the balance of the winter but to be on the job again about April 2.

Before adjourning it was decided to have a banquet for the members and their families, the date being set for Tuesday evening, January 16, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Ely, Feiner and Struik were appointed to arrange for the same.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church

Rev. Eldred, pastor.
Sunday school 1:30 p. m.
E. J. Chellis, Superintendent of Sunday school.
2:30 p. m.—Preaching.
Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, President. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.
Services:—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.
7:30 p. m., Evangelletic service.
7:45 p. m., Thursday, prayer meeting.

All Stoves To Be Closed Out Regardless of Price

We want to close out our line of stoves, both Ranges and Heating Stoves. To do this we will sell all in stock at prices that will be an object for you to buy now. Note the list below:

Round Oak. double burner, either wood or coal, the best heater on earth today, regular price $36 50, sale price -	$22.00
Darling No. 8 Range, regular price $45.00 sale price - - - - - - -	$32.00
Remo Heater, regular price $14.00 sale price - - - - - - -	$11.00
Hibbard Heater, regular price $12.00 sale price - - - - - - -	$8.50
Sheet Iron Heaters, regular price $3.50 sale price - - - - - -	$2.50
Sheet Iron Heaters, regular price $3.00 sale price - - - - - -	$2.25
Rev-O-Noc Cook Stove, regular price $20.00 sale price - - - - - -	$14.50
Two Advance Cook Stoves, regular price $15.00 sale price - - - - - -	$10.00

If you need any kind of a stove, now is the time to get one of the best on the market at almost your own price.

D. E. Clow & Co.

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

When in need of

Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.

Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

FEED GROUND EVERY DAY

Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

Winter Footwear at a Big Discount

We still have a good stock of Winter Footwear that we will sacrifice a little profit on and make you exceptionally Low Prices. This store has always enjoyed the satisfaction of having a goodly list of pleased customers who return for the same class of footwear.

JUST ARRIVED

We have just received a new stock of Ladies' and Gent's WOOL UNDERWEAR. We would like to show them to you and prove their excellent value.

COFFEE THAT'S COFFEE

A NEW LINE OF COFFEE just placed in our stock. Ye Coffee Drinkers, who enjoy the best in this beverage, need look no farther. We have found just what you want, the coffee that hits the spot. WE WANT YOU TO TRY IT.

FREE—Coupons on Rocker for Cash Trade

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Ellsworth Section

NO MORE KICKING THIS DOG AROUND

Ellsworth Canine Grows Tired of Life's Trials and Tribulations.

Considerable excitement was caused in the village last Friday when a large animal of the "houn' dawg" variety ambled slowly up Centre street and after carefullly selecting a soft spot on the sidewalk at the corner of Main and Centre streets, laid down, curled up around himself and died.

A hurry up call was sent in for Dr. Nelson, but as he was busy at the time giving Pete Wieland the famous "Nelson hot air treatment," and was unable to respond.

Coroner George Hunter was notified and after viewing the remains decided that death was caused by acute erestified extigetus. Undertaker VanSkiver arrived shortly afterward with his outfit, but left for a moment to phone Norm Griffin and Sandy Martin for a permit to place the body in their private equine cemetery, but on his return found that during his absence Edd Boss and Jake Klooster had drank all the embalming fluid, under the impression that it was mail order tanglefoot.

Of course nothing remained but to proceed with the burial, which was promptly done, Bill Slongh concluding the services at the grave with a few of the well chosen remarks for which the Rev. is justly celebrated.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Bamnbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

Ellsworth Grange.

The last meeting of the Ellsworth Grange was held on Saturday, January 6, 1917. After participating in a bounteous dinner the Grange was called to order and the following officers were installed for the ensuing year:

Master—William Eastcott.
Overseer—L. R. Clark.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Steward—Hubert Bearss.
Assistant steward—Peter Wieland.
Chaplain—Mrs. Weis.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.
Treasurer—Donald Patterson, Sr.
Ceres—Mrs. Carpenter.
Flora—Mrs. Ford.
Pomona—Mrs. Eastcott.
Lady assistant steward—Mrs. Wieland.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson, from Central Lake, conducted the installation.

The stereopticon lecture on "Home Canning by the Cold Pack Method," by Max A. Brail, was immensely enjoyed by all. The new stereopticon lantern, which the Grange has recently purchased, is proving very satisfactory and much good is gained from the slides and lectures.

The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, January 24. The subject for the stereopticon lecture will be "Live Stock Farming Means Permanent Agriculture." This is a vital problem in American farm practice. How the growing of live stock has its advantages over grain farming will be shown. Live stock farming maintains soil fertility, points to diversification of crops, conserves waste and means greater profits. These slides are compiled from actual experiments with crops and animals under ordinary conditions.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1917

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Garden varieties	5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	12.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.30
Eggs, per doz.	.35
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.40
Salt	1.40

BOYS NOW IN WINTER QUARTERS

INTERESTING LETTER TELLS OF DAILY CAMP LIFE

Tents Equipped With Board Walls and Floors and Bunks Are Comfortable.

El Paso, Texas,
December 31, 1916.

Friend Townsend—Received your letter today and will answer before I have a chance to neglect the same.

This is Sunday evening and four of us fellows just got back from one of the large M. E. churches down town, where we have a chance to hear one of the best ministers possible. He certainly is fine. Generally more than half of the audience are soldiers.

Your letter came this forenoon while we were sitting here having a sociable game of euchre. However, while we were handling the cards we were not much interested, as this morning while seven of us sat around the stove waiting for breakfast call, our top sergeant came in breaking the news that our eighth man, Corporal Joe Wederhurn, was dead.

He was taken to the hospital a week ago Wednesday. As we were coming in from drill we passed the wagon containing him and several others all sitting erect. He moved his hand with a smile on his face. He had the measles. We expected him back yesterday, Saturday, but Friday, I think two days ago, we heard he had pneumonia.

Eighty-five per cent of pneumonia cases are fatal here on account of the lack of oxygen in the air. We have another man in the hospital with acute pneumonia, besides five or six others with some trouble.

You probably know of Joe's death by now as they got the telegram today and have answered.

Well, the old world moves on, does it not?

Yes, this trip surely is educational and when we get through it, will never be sorry.

As I sit here writing I can hear a squad in Co. M on one side "chewing the rag," and a squad in Co. G on the other side singing, while I can also hear (all over the city) the old year being blowed out and the new one in.

We have floors and walls for our tents now, which makes it real comfortable. Have bunks made double so have lots of room. Coming in at night seeing us gathered around the table and stacked and guns all around the wall, with a faint candle light, you could easily imagine it a robber's den. We are going to have electric lights in two or three days.

The 31st are pulling out today. Can hear one section making plenty of noise now as they are passing within a block or so.

We (33rd team) lost our chance for the "cup" of the Army Foot Ball league and also a trip to Los Angeles, California, when the 32nd Mich. trimmed us in a hard fought game. I played "sub" end. We should worry, as they never beat us before in a single kind of sport.

We had a good coach out with us for only 10 days against their two months. For individual stars the 33rd led.

The championship game is played tomorrow in front of the high school stadium between the 32nd and 18th U. S. Field Artillery. Hurrah for Michigan!

It is now 11:30, nearly 1917. Wishing you and Hazel a bright New Year, good night,

RUELL CHELLIS.

BODY BROUGHT HOME FOR INTERMENT

Death of Former Resident Took Place at Detroit.

The body of Fred Brown, a former resident of this vicinity, was brought home for burial Saturday from Detroit, where he has been employed by the Detroit Steel & Iron Works. Mr. Brown was a married man, 24 years of age, and was a favorite with all who knew him. Besides his father, mother and several brothers and sisters he leaves a wife and several children and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Russell Alward, of Norwood, was in town Saturday.

C. E. Bearss was a business caller in Charlevoix, Monday.

H. J. Timmer lost a valuable cow Saturday of last week.

L. Ardema and wife, of Phelps, were in town Saturday.

Jack Smith, of near Atwood, was in town Friday on business.

George Bradford and wife spent one day last week in Traverse City.

Harry Feiner purchased several fox skins of Isa Alward last Saturday.

Phil Perkins, of Aldeu, was in town on business Friday of last week.

George Hunter and Miss Lillian Patterson spent Sunday at East Jordan.

E. R. Harris was in Charlevoix, Thursday, attending the good roads meeting.

Messrs. Fagan and See, of Charlevoix, were in town on business Saturday.

Mrs. Calvin Supernaw, who has been quite ill, is reported better at this writing.

Miss Edna Joliffe, of Atwood, spent Friday and Saturday with the Misses Larsen.

E. H. Boss has a gang of men cutting wood on the Charles Cornwell farm at present.

Prospects are looking good for Ellsworth to be lit by electricity in the near future.

J. H. Elzinga spent from Monday until Wednesday in Cheboygan on automobile business.

H. H. Dipenhorst, of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. J. C. Weatrate.

George Klooster and Harry Feiner were business callers in Boyne City one day last week.

Guy Empey, Christ Empey and Andrew Winesma left for Detroit, Friday, to resume work.

The Ladies' Aid society, of the M. E. church, will meet Thursday of this week with Mrs. Struik.

The Rev. Kridler, of Traverse City, conducted the services at the Holiness church Sunday evening.

Bert Martin returned from Boyne City, Saturday, where he has been hauling logs for the past two weeks.

George Klooster has been carrying one hand in a sling, the result of coming in contact with a rusty nail.

A letter received from Mrs. Charles Campbell states that she is ill at a hotel in Rochester, New York.

A good many of the young people are taking advantage of the excellent skating these beautiful moon light evenings.

Mr. Hawley, of Elk Rapids, has been stopping the last few days at the New Orient while buying logs in the vicinity.

Marion Best is able to be out again after being confined to the house two or three weeks with a badly cut foot.

Miss Tracey Glass returned to Petoskey, Saturday, after a two weeks visit with her parents, John Glass and wife.

The Epworth league will meet at the home of M. Struik, Sunday, January 14th. Marion Best, leader. All are invited.

Supervisor H. S. Peebles returned from Bellaire, Friday, where he has been attending a meeting of the board of supervisors.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Pangborn, of Mecosta, are spending a few days with Mrs. Pangborn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Nelson.

Mrs. Lamerson and children, of Grand Rapids, arrived Saturday to spend the winter with the former's husband at the camp on section 31.

Farmers are smiling again, the cause is the rise in the price of beans and potatoes. Ladies, now is the accepted time, hit the boss for that new car.

Mrs. Thomas Emery and sons, of Traverse City, returned home Wednesday after a few days visit with Mrs. Emery's mother, Mrs. A. E. Pickard.

Plans are being made for the organizing of a Rod and Gun club at this place. We think this would be an excellent proposition and hope to see the club formed.

The Piano club held another of their popular Victrola parties at the Blue hall Friday evening. About fourteen couples attended and all reported the usual good time.

Clinton Bushey, who has been visiting the past few weeks at the home of P. H. Skow, has returned to Upland, Indiana, where he is a student in the college of that place.

Glen C. Townsend has been laid up a few days with what he says is rheumatism, but it is the general opinion that Glen sprung a "Charlie horse" racing to the fire New Year's eve.

D. E. Clow was a Charlevoix visitor Tuesday.

H. A. Cramer, of Detroit, was in Ellsworth, Tuesday p. m.

Sheriff William Kettle, of Bellaire, was in town on business Tuesday of this week.

Miss Helen Boss left for Petoskey, Tuesday, having been called on a case at the Petoskey hospital.

Edd Boss had the misfortune to loose his valuable brood mare last Monday, her death being presumably caused by indigestion.

John Briggers Cowan, a student at Hope college, has been spending his vacation at Ellsworth and Barnard. He addressed a good sized crowd at the Congregational church at Ellsworth, Saturday evening.

Word received from points in the southern part of the state announce the temperature for the last week as ranging from ten above to eight below zero. Perhaps those people will learn after a while to come north in the winter if they wish to escape the cold weather.

Sergeant B. J. Benker, of Co. I, 33rd Michigan infantry, arrived home Friday from El Paso, Texas, on a 15 day furlough. Dr. acted as an escort to the body of Corporal Joe Wedderhurn, of Co. I, who died at El Paso. He is suffering from a bad cold at present, but aside from that says he is feeling fine and certainly doing O. K.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

BOARD OF TRADE ELECTS OFFICERS

L. VanSkiver Again Heads Organization—Two New Members.

At the board of trade meeting held Wednesday evening, January 3, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

L. VanSkiver—President.
G. C. Townsend—Secretary.
W. P. Smith—Vice president.
J. H. Elzinga—Treasurer.

Smith and Townsend are the new officials. The year 1917 looks like a banner year for Ellsworth and vicinity and with the usual "pull-together" spirit always manifested by the people of this community we hope to see several good things accomplished by this excellent organization.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services:—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m., preaching.

7:45 p. m., Tuesday, prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wielaud.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

A Few Clearing Prices

We still have quite a surplus of the following lines and will continue the special prices to unload them quickly at discounts of from

15 per cent to 25 per cent

Men's 50c Woolen Socks - - 39c
$1.00 Caps at 89c
Men's and Boys' Suits at 25 per cent off

There are some holiday goods that we will sell at a discount of 25 per cent and more

Men's and Boys' Socks and Rubbers

A complete new stock of these goods has just arrived and we are offering some attractive prices on these goods.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

TAKE OUR ADVICE
—Have your prescriptions filled here.—

When you need drugs, you want them accurately compounded. We are here for that purpose. Drugs are advancing yet we are filling perscriptions at the lowest margin of prices. Now that winter chills bring on many ills we call your attention to the home needs in emergency cases.

Hot Water Bottles, Atomizers, Salves, A. D. S. Remedies Chest Protectors, Sponges, Asorbent Cotton, Linement Bandages, Tonics, Blood Purifier, Catharties, Etc.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO
Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

Profit by Example

Do successful men hide their money in tin cans or under the bed-tick?
Do they carry large sums of money, running the risk of loosing it by being robbed or murdered?
The rich men—successful men—deposit their funds in the bank.
Then why not profit by their example?
You can open an account no matter how small and it will receive our careful attention.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $250,000.00
C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Rubbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you need Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

Sleighs, Robes, Blankets

This is the time of the year when sleighing is the main question, Sleighs have to be purchased or perhaps, broken parts replaced with new ones. You'll need heavy blankets for the team, while they stand in the road or shed and even when in the stall. See us for that new Robe—they are of good quality and heavy too.

Cross Cut Saws and Axes
Sledges and Wedges

Woodmen—if your going to cut wood, split logs, hew out timbers or roadways, come to us for supplies. We carry a large supply of these goods and at present can sell cheaper than any other place in the county.

W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

LIKE LOSING ONE OF OWN KIN

FINE TRIBUTE PAID TO CORPORAL WEDERBURN

Members of Co. I Write In Expressions of Sympathy to Parents of Deceasad Comrade.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 3.—Sunday morning the members of Co. I were startled by the news that Joe Wederburn had died at Fort Bliss bospital, as until this time no serious illness had been reported.

Joe died from an attack of pneumonia, following measles, the complaation proving more than he could stand. Up to this time, be had always been in the best of health.

Joe was 18 years of age and one of the youngest corporals in the regiment. As he was always interested in his work, his promotion came rapidly. He was one of the most respected men in the company and those who have been in an organization like this will readily agree that it is just like losing one of your own kin when a comrade such as Joe was is lost. And the fact that be gave his life in trying to help his country should always be remembered.

The funeral was held according to military regulations, Tuesday, at Peak's undertaking rooms, Chaplain Swan officiating, and all honors due a soldier were given.

The body, escorted by the Third Battallon, moved to the El Paso union depot. Their taps were sounded for Joe, as be started for his last camping ground.

The members of Co. I send heartfelt sympathies to the family of the deceased and stand willing to assist them in any way possible.

Members of Company I, Thirty-third Regt., Michigan National Guard.

WOMAN OF STERLING CHARACTER

DEATH CALLS ANOTHER OF OUR EARLY PIONEERS

Mrs. John Jolliffe Had Lived In This Section Since 1864—Funeral Tuesday.

Mrs. John Jolliffe, one of the early settlers in this county, died at her home, 704 South Bridge street, last Saturday at the age of 78 years and three months. She had long been a sufferer from chronic bronchitis and this hastened her end.

Mrs. Jolliffe was born in Cornwall, England, October 14, 1838. She came to America in 1852, at the age of 14, was married on November 23, 1858, in Wisconsin and came to Michigan in 1864, settling in Banks township. She has resided in Charlevoix for about 20 years.

The deceased leaves four sons, Ethan, of Charlevoix; John, who lives at Aberdeen, Washingtoa; Cyrus, of Painesville, Ohio, and Sidney, at Portland, Oregon. She had a daughter, Lorn, who died some 17 years ago, and another daughter, Bertha, resides in this city, the wife of Robert Stafford.

Mrs. Jolliffe was a woman of sterling character and an energetic church worker who will be greatly missed. Her funeral, held from her home on Tuesday last at 2:30 p. m., by the Rev. Quinton Walker, marks the passing of another of our pioneers of whom we have just reason to be proud.

DATE IS JANUARY 27

Courier Makes Correction in Date of Public Auction Sale.

The Courier misunderstood in regard to the date of the next public auction, and in last week's article stated it would take place January 20. The proper date is January 27. The sales, under the auspices of the Charlevoix Commercial association, are open to all. Bring in what you have to sell, and list them not later than Saturday of this week with the auctioneer, Mr. Byers.

Catholic Church.

Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

See us for your Job Printing.

CORRESPONDENCE

EVELINE

John Knudsen delivered beef to East Jordan last week.

Mrs. Joseph Wilbelm, of Ironton, is ill and under the doctor's care.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Orvis, of Lansing, spent Xmas at the home of his mother.

Oscar Teboe lost one of his horses some time ago, this being his second loss within a year.

Claud Bowen and Will Lynn have been hauling hay from East Jordan for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and family have moved into their home for the winter months.

Sam Alexander had a new furnace installed last week by the Wallace Brothers, of Charlevoix.

Lillian Flanders spent her vacation at her parents home, returning to her Charlevoix school on Tuesday.

Mrs. Louis Westfall has moved to East Jordan for the wintor, where her son, Louis, will attend high school.

Bessie Allen returned to her school at Springvale last Monday after one week's vacation with her parents.

Amos Nasson returned to Montana last week, after a two months visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nasson.

Lila Lynn was at home with her parents during holiday vacation, returning to her school at Rapid City, December 30.

The Lady Maccabees held their meeting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams. They all reported an "awful" good time.

School commenced last Tuesday in the Walker school, while Ironton school will commence on Thursday of this week. The extended holiday vacation is due to the teachers institute at East Jordan this week.

Cattle buyers were through this section last week and bought over 30 head which were delivered on Wednesday. This certain man gives the farmers a fair price for stock every year in the month of January.

A party of young folks gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Courier on the Saturday evening prior to their return to school and found them unprepared for the event. Generally they know beforehand but this was a genuine surprise.

Messrs. Ingalls, Bailey and Barnum returned from Boyne Falls, Saturday evening to the Breezy Point farm, and left for South Arm on Monday to hold one day institutes at the Grange hall at that place. Then follows the "round up" which will occur at Peninsula Grange hall at a later date.

James Courier and friend visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Courier, during holiday vacation. James is taking a course in telegraphy at the Ferris Institute. Frank accompanied the boys as far south as Big Rapids and then went on to Lansing where he expects to spend the remainder of the winter.

SPRINGVALE

School started Tuesday after a week's vacation.

Dr. Hicks, of Allegan, was here a few days last week.

W. R. Allen is slowly recovering from his recent illness.

Leo LaCroix is working in the Cobbs & Mitchell store.

The New Year's dance given by the Gleaners was well attended.

C. E. Brooks, of Cadillac, was in Springvale on business last week.

J. H. Milford is substitute bookkeeper during Mr. Allen's illness.

Mrs. T. J. Modie and daughter were called here by the illness of Mrs. Modie's father.

Helen Milford and Agnes LaCroix have returned to East Jordan to resume school duties there.

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

EAST CHANDLER

Carl Clark was in Springvale on Thursday.

Johnnie Howard has been ill the past week.

Very pleasant winter weather we are having this week.

Clarence Smithengill is helping Carl Clark this week.

Alfred Eastwood has been sick the past week with lagrippe.

"Jack" Hitchcock, of Boyne Falls, is hauling logs for Noah Howard.

Cecil Hughes has been absent from school this week. He is hauling logs.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hughes were business callers in Boyne Falls on Thursday.

The young people of the neighborhood enjoyed a coasting party, Thursday evening.

Frank Gilbert, of Boyne Falls, called at the home of Arthur Crego on business one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hahn and family left for Sherman for a few weeks visit. They expect to drive the entire distance.

HAYES

Leslie Howe sold his team last Saturday.

Mrs. Yemans, of Charlevoix, is visiting with Mrs. Frank Kane.

Mrs. Fred Willis was a caller at the home of Frank Sneathens, Sunday.

Dulcie Howe returned to her school last week Tuesday at Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud.

Mr. Pomeroy, of Boyne City, was called by Jones Lewis, Monday, to care for a sick cow.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis spent last Tuesday with their nephew, John Dake, of Boyne City.

Leo Allard, Walter Howe and Leo Pant started to cut wood for Mr. Ferris, Monday morning.

Mrs. Paat and children spent Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam Brown, of Charlevoix.

Fred Locke, of Beldlag, and his aunt, Mrs. Hill, of Boyne City, were callers at the Jones Lewis home Monday.

Mr. Madison, of East Jordan, was a caller at the home of B. Whightman and Dee Sneathen last week Wednesday.

Miss Milton, of Maple Grove school, went to East Jordan, Monday afternoon to attend the state teachers institute.

Mrs. Jones Lewis and Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith and mother attended the farmers institute at Horton Bay last Wednesday. Perhaps there were others from Hayes who attended, but we have not learned their names as yet. They report the institute the best yet. The day was fine and a large attendance was there we understand.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

BARNARD

Mrs. Joseph Clarke left Friday for Detroit on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Ronald Reed.

Mrs. Thomas Meggison, of Central Lake, visited her aunt, Mrs. Robert Trimble last week.

Clyde Smith made a business trip to Boyne City, Saturday, and stayed over Sunday to visit friends and relatives.

Ralph Klooster moved onto the James Block farm, or what is more generally known as the old Shawley farm on Monday.

A. B. Clarke left Friday for Brookston, Indiana, to visit his brother, Rev. Adam Clarke, who is in very poor health.

On account of the funeral services of Joe Wederburn at Norwood on Sunday, Rev. William Smith was unable to preach here on Sunday, but the pulpit was most ably filled by Mr. Brugger, a Holland student of Hope college, Holland, Michigan.

The Barnard Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. W. T. Burns last Wednesday. After a bounteous dinner served by the hostess, the regular business meeting was held at which the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Mrs. George Ager; vice president, Mrs. Sims Baker; secretary, Mrs. Howard Gornell, and treasurer, Mrs. James Block.

A large crowd attended the farmers institute last Tuesday. The beautiful day, the bountiful dinner and supper provided by the ladies and, last but not least, the pleasing and beneficial speeches by the institute workers, made it a most enjoyable day. The president, Mr. D. E. Ingalls, in opening the meeting said, "We have the whole circus here today, Barnum and Bailey and the elephant." The last meaning himself, as we took it. James Willis, the local manager, in his speech of welcome, compared the day's program as a Christmas gathering with a Christmas tree on which was a present for all. Mr. Bailey's talk on "Farm Management," "The Soil and its Problems" and "The New Farm Boy," were very much enjoyed as well as being full of beneficial ideas for the progressive farmer of today. Mr. Barnum spoke on "Science Applied to Agriculture," which was also full of up-to-date points for our benefit. We also had the pleasure of hearing our school commissioner, Miss Stewart, speak on several subjects relating to farm and school life. William Burns, in his short but sweet speech, convinced us all that we should grow alfalfa, but not for table use as greens. Several informal talks, discussions and a question box filled in the rest of the day making it full of good things indeed.

Boats Leave Harbor.

The steamer Columbia left the harbor this morning with the steamer City of Boyne in tow, bound for Harbor Springs, where the City of Boyne will lay up for the winter. The Columbia is now owned by H. L. Oldham, who has recently purchased all rights and interests in the Beaver Island transportation route to which the latter vessel belongs.

INWOOD

Nice weather for this time of year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Waffle spent Sunday in Atwood.

There will be no school till Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Mary Hilton has been very ill but is getting better now.

The young folks have great times sliding down hill this weather.

Mrs. John Wells and Wilber Wells have returned home from Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Wells called on Mr. and Mrs. Bert Helmes, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pasco and daughter, Wenona, called on Mrs. John Wells, Sunday.

Miss Geneva Rogers spent Sunday and Monday visiting her uncles, John and Norman Wells.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 108 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

10% Discount
For Cash on All
HEATING STOVES
Until February 1
—AT—
Blanchard Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

To Our Customers

We look back upon the business of 1916 with a great deal of satisfaction. New customers were added every week, and during the year 1917 we expect to add many more. People recognize the fact that we mean business, have the goods, and deal fair with all. We want your business and will do all we can to take care of your trade.

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY
Extra large juicy Oranges - - - 25c per dozen - - - - - - - -

Meat Department

We always make it a point to have just what you want in this department.

—WE HAVE A GOOD LINE OF—
BEEF, PORK, VEAL, LAMB, FRESH DRESSED CHICKENS, LINK AND BULK SAUSAGE

C. DANTO & SON
Telephones 12 and 64.
We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

TAKING INVENTORY

And what will follow will interest you. Our entire stock is being rearranged and special bargain counters are appearing throughout the store. We must unload this large stock of Gent's Wearing Apparel to enable us to remodel our present quarters in connection with the new additional floor space being added.

Bargains in Every Line

In every branch of our merchandise sales-room will be found a bargain for you. The prices are lowest in figure of any store handling these lines of goods and when we say bargains our stocks go at Discounts worth while. This clearing sale will be continued until our floor space is free for such future disposal as we see fit. All lines of goods must be reduced in quantity or entirely sold out, hence our prices will be lowered to move each article in stock at once.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR GOOD FIRST-CLASS MERCHANDISE AT THE LOWEST OF PRICES SEE US AT ONCE.

BENJ. BROWN
Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes
Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 3 | 10 PAGES | CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1917 | PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

MAKE REPAIRS ON SWING BRIDGE

WORK TO BE RUSHED WITH ALL SPEED

Coocrete Uuder Central Piar Gives Way Aftar Many Years of Constant Service.

People about town bave noticed from tima to time that the swing bridge over the channel on Bridge street was receiving attention in its "innards" and their curiosity may have been aroused by the fact that it has swung open at time when no craft awaited its turning. We are now in position to satisfy that curiosity.

Plans O. K.'d by the staff of U. S. engineers, stationed at Grand Rapids, have been filed with the war department at Washington, D. C., for the purpose of securing permission to close nnvigation until certain needed repairs can be made in the foundation and mechanism of the bridge. This bridge haa been in constant use for 15 years and expert opinion givea it another ten year lease of life, provided the necessary repairs are made without delay.

To make these repairs, the steel cassion must be removed from the central pier. Then all that portion of the concrete that will not stand a satisfactory compression test will be taken out and replaced with reinforced concrete. Some changes nnd improvements will be made in the bearing aurfaces on which the bridge turns and when these are completed it will be possible to swing the atructure with much less power and much more safety. As this point is the only crossing for 18 miles, it is absolutely vital that the work be done without interruption of traffic, and the work haa been planned to that end. In fact, at least one-half of the width of the bridge will be open to traffic continually while the work is in progress.

As soon as the material for construction is on the ground the work will be begun and rushed with all possible speed, so as to have the bridge ready to take care of navigation when it opens in the spring.

HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN DEFEATED

PETOSKEY H. S. PROVES TOO MUCH FOR LOCAL BOYS

Game Classed as the Best So Far Played This Season— Score 33 to 22.

The Charlevoix high school basket ball team played the Petoskey team at the rink Friday night and although the game resulted in a defeat for the home team by a score of 33-22, we believe the spectators will agree that the game was a good one.

Charlevoix did not play up to form in the first half and the passing was poor. Weaver was not up to his usual form and threw only 12 out of 22 fouls, compared with five out of the first seven in the Central Lake game. Butler, although getting all but two or three of the tip offs, did not play up to the mark he made for himself in the Central Lake game.

In the second half the team work was much better and the passing stronger, showing that the team certainly has the power of a "come back." Hallet probably played the best game for the locals, while Benyns was undoubtedly the star of the Petoskey team.

The lineup was as follows:

Petoskey—Benyns, left forward; Mudgett, right forward; Lawton, center; Bard, left guard; Sickles, right guard.

Charlevoix—Weaver, left forward; Cartier, right forward; Butler, center; Hallet, left guard; Durance, right guard.

Referee, Craig; time keepers, Aseltine and Smith.

Time of halves, 20 minutes.

Weaver, 12 out of 22 fouls; Benyas, 9 out of 11 fouls.

F. V. Tyler and family have removed from Antrim street to the Edwards farm on May street for a few weeks.

COAL SHORTAGE CRIPPLES P. M. FREIGHT SERVICE

Local Freight Servica Cut to Thraa Fraights a Week.

The shortage of coal has hit the Pere Marquette railroad and especially tha Petoskay division, causing the cancellation of one-half of the local freight service.

Superintendent E. E. Caln of tbe Petoskey division wired Agent F. V. Alexander, of Charlevoix, last Thursday forenoon as follows.

"Aceount shortage of coal we will reduce our local service at once running the train north Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and south the following days. The coal situation is very serious and I would be glad to have you see that the business men of your community understand the situation."

This means that Charlevoix will receive local freight for the Pere Marquette but three days out of the week and that the local freight to Traverse City will only be operated every other day.

The supply of coal on tha Pere Marquette is nearly depleted and until more coal can be secured tha service will necessarily have to ba cut down.

RENO CLASSED AS A WIZARD

WORLD'S GREATEST MAGICIAN HERE JANUARY 18

Tricks Are New and Up-to-date and Program One of Best Given On Stage.

Rapid fire magic, presented by the expert illusionist, Edward Reno.

Edward Reno is given the title of the world's greatest magician. His tricks are modern, marvelous, mystical. This is one of the best programs of this nature that is on the lecture platform today.

The tricks are new and up-to-date. Few sciences have progressed as fast as the art of magic. Mr. Reno is the leader of his profession. He is the originator of many of his tricks and show his talent in magic art. Besides he has traveled extensively and learned much from imitation.

In presenting this number the lecture committee feel sure that all patrons will enjoy a rare treat. This is a number that will be especially interesting to the children. To make it possible for practically all children to attend the price for children in the second row of the balcony and the gallery will be only 15 cents. The price for all adults will be as usual.

The reserve seat sale will be Wednesday night at the Central Drug store. Remember the date Thursday night, January 18, 1917, opera house.

PLACE FIELD WORKER IN HOME TERRITORY

Effort to Be Made to Double Sunday Schools of State.

The Michigan Sunday School association has placed one of its ablest field workers, J. William Eldredge, at Traverse City, to take care of the association's work in the Grand Traverse region.

This organization is absolutely undenominational and invites the cooperation of all religious bodies. Its extension work includes house to house visitation, home department, cradle roll organization, statistics, conventions and the organization of Bible classes and Sunday schools. Along educational lines the association provides for institutes, rally day, teacher training, workers' meetings, the establishment of circulating libraries, the standardization of grading in Sunday school classes, Evangelization, Missions, "Decision Day," Temperance and Purity work, rural work and summer schools.

Their aim for the next five years is to double the enrollment in the Sunday schools of the state and to finally see every Sunday school with organized, enrolled Bible classes, a cradle roll, a temperance department, a home department, teacher training and definite missionary work.

WILL ADD FINE NEW POWER BOAT

TO CHARLEVOIX'S SPLENDID BUNCH OF SPEED LAUNCHES

Logan Thomson, of Hamilton, Ohio, Now Building a Record-Breaking Craft.

Charlevoix is to see a new power boat next summer—a real 1917 sensation.

We reprint the following from "Motor Boat" for January 10, 1917:

"Logan Thomson, of the Champion Coated Paper company, of Hamilton, Ohio, is a speed enthusiast and has been for a good many years. Mr. Thomson bought one of the first eight cylinder marine motors ever built and installed it in a 35-foot runnabout and had one of the fastest displacement boats in the country. He ran this outfit until it practically disintegrated; then last season he and his brother built a big express cruiser with a pair of eight cylinder 5½x6¾-inch motors. This outfit, however, did not go fast enough for Mr. Logan; furthermore, a boat like that had a crew on board and he didn't have the free hand to fuss with the motors as he used to have in the old days of the original eight, so he decided to get for himself another runabout. Consultation with the Great Lakes Building Corporation, of Milwaukee, resulted in placing a contract for a 48-foot wave-collecting type Sedan to be powered with an eight cylinder. Dusenberg 6¾x7¾-inch motor developing 400 h. p. at 1,500 revolutions per minute, and it is fully expected that a speed of 38 to 42 miles an hour will be obtained. This will make Mr. Thomson's boat a 1917 sensation.

The arrangement plan of this rather remarkable boat call for cockpits forward and aft of the motor compartment, the former to be protected by a melon or Cape Cod hood and the latter by a permanent Sedan type cabin with windows which drop down into pockets. The boat will be constructed of double planked mahogany with white enamel decks. The Great Lakes Boat Building Corporation designed this boat in its department of special designs, and she will be built in that part of the shop devoted to special designs, for nothing is allowed to interfere with that part of the shop that builds the standardized military type express cruisers, a large number of which are now under construction."

Logan Thomson, his brother, Peter, and their father spend their summers on the Belvedere resort. Mr. Thomson is the owner of the "Mary Lee," which is the 35 foot runabout referred to in the article reprinted above. The length given is presumably an error, as the "Mary Lee" is a 40 footer. Charlevoix motor boat enthusiasts will remember the eight cylinder "express" cruiser which Mr. Thomson tried out here last summer. Peculiar interest to our older residents is attached to the fact that the designer of the new fast boat is Walter Beauvais, a former Charlevoix boat builder, who had a factory here some 12 or 15 years ago, and who is now a designer in the employ of the Great Lakes Boat Building Corporation. The record breaking craft will be finished similar to the "Mink," now owned by John Wilson of the Chicago resort.

K. OF P.'S GAVE ROAST PIG SUPPER

Over a Hundred Sit at Banquet Table Thursday Night.

Last Thursday night the K. P.'s gave a roast pig party in their hall over the VanPelt block to which a hundred hungry mouths sat down, promptly at seven o'clock. The pig, however, was but one of the many delightful features of the evening.

Dancing and a general good time followed the meal and everybody enjoyed the affair except the dishwashers, whom we heard growling around the following afternoon because somebody had replaced the partition around the kitchen, charred by the recent fire and scattered a liberal supply of soot over the results of their painful labors. We should worry.

Ironton Grange will hold another of their popular dances at the hall on Friday evening, January 26. You are cordially invited. Adv. 3t1

SHOWS UP THE ONE BUCK LAW

CHEBOYGAN EDITOR GIVES HIS VIEWS

Says Law Would Not Lessan Hunting Accidents for Preserving the Deer.

The following article from the pen of Al. H. Weber, of Cheboygan Democrat, handles the so-called "buck law" just right and shows himself familiar with the subject.

"The amateur hunter who is unable to distinguish a man from a deer, surely will not be able to tell a deer with horns from one without borns. The passage of a 'buck law' will only result in more violations of the law, and an increased number of deer left in the woods.

"Unquestionably the present legislature will be asked to pass a 'one buck law,' and a great deal has already been said and written with regard to the subject. The game warden department under Mr. Oates, wants a 'one buck law,' many of the metropolitan papers and not a few of the state papers are urging a 'one buck law,' and the upper peninsula of Michigan wants a 'one buck law.'

"The subject may have merit. It might prolong for a short while the deer hunting in Northern Michigan, and it might bring about other conditions sought by the sportsmen, but the chief argument for a 'one buck law' is the one of safeguarding the lives of the hunters after deer. If the 'one buck law' is secured on the claim now being chiefly urged for it, it would be nothing short of forcing the passage of an act under false pretenses. The 'one buck law' is never mentioned unless a comparison of Michigan's large number of hunting fatalities is drawn, and a disposition on the part of all newspaper writers, would-be game preservers, men who never go into the big woods but seek to regulate the habits of the sportsmen and others, and that class of selfish landowners who would discourage hunting of any kind, is to lay the blame for Michigan's hunting fatalities onto the deer hunters, and use that as a leverage to bring about legislation that will further discourage men from going into the woods.

"Now, when we say if the 'one buck law' is secured on the pretext that it will cut down the mortality in the woods, that act is secured through misrepresentation, we would further prove our assertion by the reports gathered by the big news gathering agencies and the state game warden department.

"In the hunting season of 1916 there were 25 killed and 15 injured in Michigan, so reported. Four-fifths of the people of Michigan have been led to believe, and do believe this slaughter chargeable directly to deer hunting, as they have simply taken the reports in the press of the country that began to make the most of this ruthless killing right in the deer season, when all kinds of hunting is at its height.

"Carefully going over the list of killed and injured as reported by the state game warden department we find that only five of the men killed were shot by men who mistook them for deer, and one of these was shot

(Continued on page 2)

STATE PRIMARY MARCH THE SEVENTH

Office of Circuit Judge Expires January 1, 1918, In All Districts.

Coonty Clerk Richard Lewis is in receipt of a notice from the secretary of state at Lansing, to the effect that a general primary election will be held in the several judicial circuits of the state on Wednesday, the 7th day of March, 1917, for all political parties, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of circuit judge.

This includes the 13th district comprising the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse and Leelanau.

The term of all circuit judges in the state expire on January 1, 1918.

Miller's Specials.

Oleomargarine, lb.	25c
4 pckgs Corn Flakes	25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps	25c
4 lbs. Head Rice	25c

Adv. 3t1 MRS. B. W. MILLER.

WANTED FOR FORGING BANK CHECK

Smooth Canadian Gets Away With Seven Thousand Dollars.

A description has been recently received by the local police from the chief of Provincial Police at Winnipeg, Manitoba, of one Frank Burgess, who is wanted by the Canadian authorities for forging the endorsement to a bank check for about $7,000, while employed by the Canadian Government Elevators as manager of their Winnipeg branch. Burgess is about 40 years old and probably received a high salary. He is stated in the description as being fond of speculation and gambling.

Neither high wages nor sense of responsibility prevail against this insiduous mania for taking a chance. The case of this man should be carefully pondered in these days of get-rich-quick-over-night deals and fabulous stock exchange profits.

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH THE STATE

H. O. MOHRMANN RECEIVES DESERVED ADVANCEMENT

Popular Assistant Cashier of County Bank Goes With State Banking Department.

Harry O. Mohrmann, assistant cashier of the Charlevoix County bank, has accepted a position with the state banking department that will necessitate his taking up a permanent residence at Lansing in the very near future.

The thoroughly modern banking policy maintained at the Charlevoix County bank of which Mr. Mohrmann has been assistant cashier for the past three years, affords a most desirable training for such a position as he is about to fill. Competent and courteous in his every relation with patrons of the bank during the past three years, Mr. Mohrmann has won many friends and is well known throughout this vicinity.

It is gratifying to know that an officer of our well known local bank has been selected to fill the position of responsibility to which Mr. Mohrmann is about to go and his many friends throughout this vicinity, as well as every member of the organization, extend him their well wishes.

The vacancy at the bank will be filled by Robert Bridge, who, for the the past three years, has been a member of the organization and who is fully capable of meeting every requirement of the position in a manner thoroughly acceptable, both to the institution and to its patrons.

FORM LEAGUE TO ENFORCE LAWS

May Bacoma Leading Factor In Directing Public Santiment.

Representative men from Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix met last Saturday at East Jordan and perfected a temporary organization of "The Voter's League," with W. H. White, of Boyne City, as president and Dr. A. M. Wilkinson as secretary.

The object of the league is to give moral and political support to the officers in the enforcement of liquor laws and the suppression of gambling and every form of vice in the county. The league will reach every township in the county, and will be a factor in creating and directing public sentiment.

The county dry committee met in the Russell House on the same day and closed up the business of the campaign. They passed resolutions commending the efficient work of the manager, Rev. Quinton Walker, and sent $250 to the state committee at Lansing. A resolution was adopted condemning the outrage at Beaver Island and insisting that the guilty parties be punished. The rights of free speech and public assembly, guaranteed by the constitution, should be sacredly guarded.

Erickson & Fowler have just received a consignment of a carlond of Maxwells for the spring and summer trade.

ANOTHER PAY DAY ON THE BOROER

33RD REGIMENT RECEIVE THEIR MONTHLY PITTANCE

Soldier Boys Claim El Paso to Be the Easiest City In the World to Go Broke In.

(BY HAROLD W. USHER)

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 8.—Last Tuesday was pay day for the 33rd regiment and we all received our week's pay for a month's work. It was, however, very welcome, due to the fact that El Paso is the easiest city in the United States to go broke in.

According to our ideas the merchants hire special clerks to stand at the doors to see when the soldiers are coming. Everything here has two prices, one for civilians and the other for the soldiers.

Company I got another chance at border duty this week. Nothing exciting occurred. The dangers were not so great from Mexican bullets as from freezing to death or contracting a case of appendicitis from eating our own cooking. This job of protecting the people on the border from Mexican dangers is certainly exciting. It reminds one of a ladies' pink tea club or the prevailing atmosphere of a W. C. T. U. meeting, with the exception of course, of cases where Carrie Nation and her hatchet appeared on the scene.

Orvis Carpenter, of the Ellsworth squad, received his discharge some days ago on account of physical disability, and started for home the happiest fellow in El Paso. Sergeant B. J. Beuker will also enjoy a little of the home comforts, having been granted a furlough until the 23rd of January.

The 32nd regiment expects to leave El Paso as soon as the 31st leave Fort Wayne. Troops are now leaving here almost every day, but no definite orders for the departure of the 33rd have been received as yet. We still cling to the hope that we will celebrate Christmas, 1920, at home. Being used as a plaything by the government certainly grows tiresome. We advise someone to send Uncle Sam a set of tin soldiers or a rag doll to amuse him, as in our opinion they would prove sufficient to quell these terrible Mexicans you read about. The only thing we have found very savage about Mexico are her fleas and we venture to say if the Kaiser would import a few he would soon put the Allies to rout.

As it is, we can only wait until orders send us home, and then our motto thereafter will be "never again."

Hot Shots From the Border

Civilian—"They say the wild men of Africa can go six months without eating."

Soldier—"Just the men to recruit the U. S. army with—maybe they could stand it."

Recruiting Agent—"Have you had any military experience?"

Recruit—"No, but I'm a born murderer."

Capt. Winters—"Our surgery is free in the army."

Lieut. Spring—"I'm so glad. Now I can afford to have appendicitis."

Captain—"Now then, Sergeant Nachazel, why aren't you holding your rifle in the proper hand?"

Sergt. Nachazel—"Sure, I've got a splinter in me hand."

Capt. Winters—"Been scratching your head again, I suppose?"

Patterson—"Jack Mahan certainly makes a good soldier."

Jones—"How's that?"

Patterson—"Oh, you can treat him, but he won't retreat."

Auction Sales.

Two auction sales appear in this issue, one on page 9 and and the other on page 6. Watch the Courier from now on for all spring auctions.

Saturday, January 27.

On this date will occur the third sale under the auspices of the Charlevoix Commercial association. Read the advertisement on page 6.

Tuesday, January 30.

Frank Larsen will have a public sale at his farm 3 1-2 miles southeast of Ellsworth or 1-2 mile south of the Dufore bridge, commencing at 10:00 a. m. Free lunch at noon. W. E. Byers, auctioneer. See advertisement on page 9.

DO YOU DREAD WINTER?

If every man, woman and child in this vicinity would only take one spoonful of

SCOTT'S EMULSION

after meals for one month, it would put vigor in their blood to withstand the rigors of winter weather and help prevent colds, grippe and winter sickness.

SCOTT'S is a fortifying medicinal-food of particular benefit in changing seasons, and every drop yields direct returns in richer blood, stronger lungs, and greater resistive power. No alcohol in SCOTT'S.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-11

CORRESPONDENCE

EAST CHANDLER

Miss Margaret Clark visited Elsie Davis on Wednesday evening.

Miss Gertrude Hughes has been quite ill the past few days.

Albert Beckness returned to his work in Grayling on Sunday evening.

Carl Clark made a business trip to Clarion and Petoskey on Thursday and Friday.

Real cold weather this week. Thermometer registered 22 below zero Thursday morning.

E. Jewell and daugbter, Mrs. G. Segtnan, of Thumb Lake, attended church services here Sunday evening.

Mr. Morse, who has been lumbering for W. H. Hughes, left yesterday for Boyne Falls, expecting to go to Cadillac.

Miss Jennie Moshimer spent a few days visiting in this neighborhood the past week, returning to Wolverine on Tuesday.

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

CLARION

W. G. Jacobs left last week for Martin, Mich.

Asa Greeahoe is loading a car of wood this week.

Mrs. M. S. Collins returned Monday from Petoskey hospital.

Gordan Standish, of Harbor Springs, was in town Friday.

Miss Everts, of Phelps, visited her brother, Ernest R. Everts, on Sunday.

Mrs. S. E. Hass and son, Charles, were in Boyne Falls one day last week.

Mrs. W. J. Wheeler, of Deming, New Mexico, visited relatives and friends in Petoskey last week.

Miss Mary Boice, who has been visiting her parents at East Jordan, is again teaching school east of Clarion.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

HAYES

Mrs. Loren Hamlin is reported on the gain.

Mrs. Celestia Hamlin visited at the Peter Kane home one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamlin moved into the Blanchard house at Burgess last week.

Mrs. Emma Petoskey is visiting at the home of Loren Hamlin, helping care for Mrs. Hamlin.

Mrs. Edd Njock, of Detroit, is here taking care of her mother, Grandma Jerieliow, who is very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gondor returned to Grand Rapids, Friday, after spending two weeks with Peter Kane.

Edna Kane and Frank Trombly, who were absent from school last week on account of the Grippe, were able to go again Monday.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

BAY SHORE

Bayshore school commenced last week after a vacation of two weeks.

Floyd Kernkle is home after spending a couple of years in the Canadian northwest.

Mrs. Mark Saumsby will be able to return to her home from Petoskey hospital this week.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fox entertained them at a dancing party at the Bathka farm and presented them with a chair.

Arleen Brecheisen entertained a few of her friends at a birthday party Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanDermark are here visiting for the first time since they moved from their farm in Resort township to New York, about 20 years ago, and purchased a farm 70 miles from New York city. Their many friends have beea enjoying their stay in this vicinity.

EVELINE

Remember that dance at Ironton on January 26.

Pomona Grange meets at Ironton on February 3. Big crowd expected.

Mrs. John Paulson, of Charlevoix, spent the end of the week visiting friends in Eveline.

H. L. Barnum returned to his home last Saturday after attending Farmers' Institute meetings for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hammond and Miss Pansy have returned to their home in Ironton after three weeks visit with relatives in Detroit.

Pine lake is frozen over and ice boating and skating has been enjoyed by many, with the exception of those suffering with the chicken pox.

Last Saturday night a party of 20 Boyne City people enjoyed a pleasant sleigh ride which ended at the home of W. F. Johnson. After the usual good time and refreshments the party returned to their homes with keen anticipations of more such pleasant trips.

HAYES

Blizzard Sunday.

George Howe went to Boyne City, Saturday.

Jones Lewis went to Boyne City, Tuesday with beef.

Dee Sneathen took 46 bales of straw to Boyne City last Thursday.

Miss Milton spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Jones Lewis and family.

Frank and Fay Kane helped Mr. Lewis butcher a large beef Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, of East Jordan, are visiting a few days at the Henry Willis home.

Lester Fox, of Horton Bay, is handing out the cigars and candy. "A married man now."

GOOD BACKS FOR BAD

Charlevoix Residents Are Learning How To Exchange the Old Back For a Stronger One.

Does your back ache, feel weak and painful?

Do you suffer headaches, languor and depression?

Is the urine discolored, passages irregular?

The kidneys may be calling for help.

Weak kidneys cannot do their work.

Give them the help they need.

To cure a kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Use a tested and proven kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Convincing proof of merit in Charlevoix endorsement:

Mrs. Roine Pappin, 117 E. Garfield St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered from my back and kidneys. My back seemed to never stop aching. Every time I tried to bend or stoop, sharp, knife-like pains caught me in my back and I could hardly straighten up. I felt badly all over. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the trouble in a short time."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Pappin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Good Cook

always welcomes new and dependable methods for improving her table and shortening her hours of labor.

A teaspoonful of famous HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER added to the water in which the yeast is dissolved or diluted is positive assurance against Bake Day failures.

Besides, HO-MAYDE produces larger, whiter, smoother and sweeter loaves from the same materials. It shortens the time of bread making to about four hours.

HO-MAYDE not only makes possible more bread, but assures wonderfully good results when the cheaper grades of flour are used. Thus the cost of living is reduced.

HO-MAYDE is guaranteed to be absolutely pure, wholesome and dependable, and complies with the pure food laws.

If your grocer cannot supply you, we will send you a large package sufficient for 100 loaves for 15c. Write for free sample.

HO-MAYDE PRODUCTS CO., Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Jones Lewis, Mrs. Pant and Leo spent Monday afternoon and evening at the E. E. Stroud home.

Oyster supper Friday evening at the home of W. S. Gregory. Benefit of the Baptist society. Everyhudy welcome.

There will be an oyster supper at the home of William Gregory, of Burgess, Friday evening, January 19. Everyone is invited.

We wonder who left the kitten out in the cold last Saturday morning? Does this not come under the act of cruelty to animals? Better kill it next time.

SHOWS UP THE ONE BUCK LAW

(Continued from page 1)

while he was 'shining' deer at night. The light on his head being mistaken for deer eyes. Five were killed while duck hunting. Would a 'one buck law' have saved them?

"Four were killed while hunting Michigan's ferocious rabbits.

"Two were killed while hunting partridges. Would these fatalities have happened had it only been lawful to kill partridges with horns.

"One dropped dead while hunting, another was burned to death in his hunting lodge, and another killed himself because he was caught illegally hunting. One died of heart disease supposedly when a buck with big horns jumped up in front of him, another dropped dead in his hunting camp, one was killed while another's gun exploded near him. One was killed when the trigger of his gun caught on the bushes, another was killed when a rag his brother was cleaning his gun with caught in the trigger discharging the gun. One was killed while hunting and another was killed when removing the shells from his gun.

"Then in the long list of bodily injured but three of them were shot by hunters who mistook them for deer.

"Now, with these facts before us, why seek to lay the blame of all hunting accidents onto the deer hunter? Why seek to pass laws upon such baseless claims? It is unfair and unprincipled and those who would mislead the public in order to gain their point could hardly be expected to have sincere motives.

"If the 'one buck law' is secured we hope to see some reasonable argument presented in its favor. The fact that it has reached its present stage of publicity and encouragement through misrepresentation and falsehood ought to cause our legislature to look upon it with suspicion.

Republican State Convention.

Official call of the Republic state convention, to be held at Detroit, Tuesday, February 20, 1917.

To the Republican electors of the state of Michigan:

A state convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory, in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, February 20, 1917, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for state offices, for the election of a Republican state central committee and a chairman thereof, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

In accordance with the action of the Republican state central committee, each county will be entitled to the number of delegates specified in the accompanying list showing the proper apportionment of delegates to the several counties, being one delegate for each 250 votes cast at the election of 1916 for the Republican candidate for secretary of state.

Under the resolution of 1858 no delegate will be entitled to a seat in the state convention who does not reside in the county he proposes to represent.

The delegates from the various counties in each congressional district are requested to meet in district caucus at 9:30 o'clock a. m. on the day of the state convention and select officers as follows to be presented to said convention for confirmation:

(1) One vice president.
(2) One assistant secretary.
(3) One member of the committee on credentials.
(4) One member of the committee on permanent organization and order of business.
(5) One member of the committee on resolutions.
(6) Two members of the Republican state central committee.

The chairman and secretary of each Republican county committee are requested to send to the secretary of the Republican state central committee at Lansing, by first mail after the county convention is held, a certified list of the delegates chosen by said convention to the Republican state convention hereby called, giving the post office address of each delegate so that the temporary roll of the convention may be prepared.

By order of the Republican state central committee.

JOHN D. MANGUM, Chairman.
D. E. ALWARD, Secretary.

Dated at Lansing, January 2, 1917.

Apportionment of Delegates.

	Total Vote	One Del. for each 250
Alpena	2,113	8
Antrim	1,438	6
Charlevoix	1,981	8
Cheboygan	1,625	6
Grand Traverse	2,102	8
Kalkaska	778	3
Mackinac	1,110	4

Your Reputation

as a cook is no better than your cooking.
Your cooking will be no better than the materials used.
Expert workmen select the very best tools to insure perfect work.
And to maintain their reputation as good workmen.
The reputation of

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

is built on a sure and safe foundation—Quality—Not hearsay nor guesswork.

Lily White is made to make good. It fulfills its purpose and has developed a wonderful reputation.

In fact, Lily White Flour bakes perfectly delicious Bread, Rolls, Biscuits and Pastries. It meets every requirement of home baking in the most pleasing manner.

That is why the reputation of Lily White is so good, and why the best cooks in the land use Lily White Flour.

Besides they value their reputations as good cooks.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Robyn Merriam is sick in bed with the mumps. Nuff sed, Bob, our sympathies are with you.

The other day Jack Supernaw received, through the mail, a free sample of Horlick's Malted Milk. Jack says that Mellen's Food doesn't agree with him so he has decided to change his diet.

"Skinnay" Crandell has also made a great decision concerning her own personal welfare. She has answered an advertisement which guarantees to produce a perfect figure within 30 days.

One bright student refers to exam. week as the last vacation until spring. So help me, Hanner. We only wish it were true.

It has been said by one of our instructors that reviews bring to light some things that were not made clear during the first studying. No doubt you will agree that the "some" needs emphasis.

Odillion Weed, our office boy, has a large and severe scratch on his right cheek. Poor boy, some human cat must have been trying her skill.

Walker Miles has had a hair cut. It's some improvement but the barber removed a little too much hair.

Miss Cole has taken the job of coaching the girls in basket ball. She says that she has some fine material ranging all the way from the seventh to the Normal.

Just think of it, the following note was prepared by a Freshman:

"Monday evening, January 8, the Freshmen class were entertained at the home of Irwin VanDusen. During the entertainment the Sophomores, with their leader, tried to escape with the refreshments, but did not succeed owing to the fact that the Freshies were on guard. We wish to thank Merle Bush for his efforts to entertain the class and also his management of the team."

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES

School was in session on Saturday as we had one day to make up.

Miss Seiler began her singing school last Friday evening. Quite a number attended and everyone certainly enjoyed the first lesson. Much excitement has been caused by the learning of a French song. The school will continue meeting once each week but the time has been changed to Saturday night. Everyone come and help make this a success.

Our examinations were finished last week and everyone is anxiously waiting the results.

Miss Seiler and brother, John, visited at the Jardine home last Sunday.

A. Bradford was in Charlevoix on business one day last week.

Glen Hewitt, one of our pupils who is in the 6th grade, has moved to Charlevoix. We are very sorry to lose Glenn as it will mean one less in our little group.

Report of the Condition of

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Charlevoix, Michigan,

at the close of business Dec. 27, 1916, as rendered to the Commissioner of the State Banking Department.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts		$108,287.85
Bonds and Mortgages		83,768.00
Overdrafts		324.40
Banking House and Fixtures		14,600.00
Cash on hand in vault	$23,895.02
Cash in Reserve Banks	35,079.08	58,974.10
Total		$265,954.35

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock Paid in		$ 25,000.00
Surplus Fund		3,700.00
Undivided Profit Net		5,056.55
Commereial Deposits	$ 79,772.95
Savings Deposits	152,424.85	232,197.80
Total		$265,954.35

4% Interest Paid on Savings Deposits

In calling your attention to the above report, we respectfully solicit your banking business. Unusual facilities for efficient service.

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

REDUCE
YOUR TABLE EXPENSE

All you have to do is to buy your groceries and cured meats at this store.

Quality, price and cash will do the rest for you, as it is doing for hundreds of others.

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

RULES STOMACH AFTER 40 YEARS

Man Had Health Worries Till He Heard of Tanlac.

NOW WEARS "TANLAC SMILE"

A forty years' fight with his unruly stomach was brought to a successful end by the aid of Tanlac, Stephen Davis, R. F. D. No. 10, Grand Rapids told the Tanlac Man.

"I've had just about everything wrong with my stomach and theu some,' Mr. Davis said. "For 40 years I've had gas on my stomach most of the time. It certainly made me nervous too. I couldn't sleep well at night and I'd wake up often.

Headaches Came Often.

"It was mighty seldom I cared whether or not I ate my next meal. I felt tired out. I had many headaches.

"Tanlac made me feel better from the first. After a week of treatments the gas hardly bothered me at all. I could sleep better. I'm full of energy now. My appetite has come back. I feel good all over. I'm glad to recommend Tanlac."

The Tanlac Man calls attention to the number of men and women who struggle against the handicaps of weak digestive organs.

Give Stomach Aid.

"If these people would only give their stomachs a little help," he says, "Nature would respond. Then few would complain of dizziness, headaches, gas, bloating, that tired feeling and other worries."

Tanlac can be obtained here only at the store of B. A. Herman.

Tanlac can also be obtained at the following stores:

Boyne City, W. A. Hyslop.
Central Lake, F. J. Fessender.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.

Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.

Congregational Church.

Public worsbip at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

Methodist Church.

A. m.—Sermon by Rev. W. P. Mosber.
P. m.—Sermon by Rev. W. P. Mosher.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject—"Life."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturdny, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.

Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school bouse.

Baptist Church.

A. m.—The pastor will preach to the Sunday school.
P. m.—Special sermon to women and girls—men and boys are welcome.
12 m.—Sunday school—we are atriving to make ours a standard school—come and help.
3 p. m.—Bluebird society meeting.
The special communion service at Burgess church. Fellowship will be given new members.
Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock—W. C. T. U. prayer service at church.
Thursday evening—Midweek prayer meeting.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to the people who so kindly and tenderly assisted us in our affliction and bereavement. Words fail to express the deep gratitude that I owe to you all for your visitations and the many benefits that were brought to our home and in the sick room. John Joliffe Adv. 3t1

VILLA HAS COST U. S. $49,000,000

THAT MUCH SPENT IN 1916 MEXICAN MOVE

Pancho Is Yet Uncaptured but Is Staying Away From U. S. Border.

It is estimated today that Uncle Sam has spent more than $49,000,000 trying to catch Pancho Villa and the Mexican bandit is still at lnrge. He rccently captured several Mexican cities.

The wnr department has not yet issued an official report on the cost of the trying to catch the $49,000,000 bandit.

Last year the cost of feeding tbe regular army was 27 ccnts a mnn per day. Food price increases have placed the cost at 30 cents. Uncle Sam has spent about $8,120,996 feeding the 140,259 men for 193 days spent on the border.

Tbe pay bill for officers and men is put at $22,489,089.

The cavalry and field artillery of the state militia were practically horseless when they went to tbe border. The 6,315 cavalrymen had 1,824 horses, the 9,524 field artillery 912 horses. It cost $1,943,890 to buy borses and mules.

From tbs time Pershing went into Mexico to June 30, 1916, there were bought for the exclusive use of the expedition 588 motor trucks, 57 motor tank trucks, ten motor machine sbop trucks, six motor wrecking trucks, 75 automobilcs, 61 motorcycles and eight tractors for repairing roads. This cost is placed at $2,175,670.

The $49,000,000 estimate does not cover wearing out of tentage and supplies of all kinds nor cost of maintenance of roads and supply trains.

With Villa at large and the cost to Uncle Sam going on the total figure when the Villa matter is finally ended will be all the more astounding.

What It Costs.

Subsistence of National Guardsmen in federal service.	$ 8,120,996.10
Pay of officers and enlisted men of the National Guard in federal service ...	22,489,089.54
Transportation of regulars and National Guard to border	5,756,770.00
Transportation of food to border....	290,770.00
Transportation of freigbt, baggage and impediments to border	2,025,000.00
Special motor transportation equipment purchased specially for use on tbe border and in Mexico	2,174,670.00
Payments of federal government to dependent families of enlisted men	2,000,000.00
Payments by Red Cross and charities to dependent families	100,000.00
Clothing equipment issued to the Nntionnl Guard and worn out	4,121,533.61
Purchasc of horses for National Gnard	1,943,800.00
Total	$49,022,984.91

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL SESSION

Young People Entertain Guests at Hotel Charlevoix.

Last Thursday evening a party of young people of the Hotel Charlevoix and their friends gathered in the lobby of the hotel for a social session. Music and gnmes were the amusement of the evening, after which light refreshments were served. The out of town guests were Mr. J. Schleinger, of Detroit, and R. L. Ross, of Chicago.

A very enjoyahle evening was reported by everyone present.

W. C. T. U. Day of Prayer.

Next Thursday will he observed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union all over our land as a day of prayer for national constitutional prohibition.

The good people of Charlevoix are cordially invited to join with the local union in a service of thanksgiving and prayer at the Baptist church at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Missionary Meeting.

Every Congregational woman in Charlevoix is urged to be present at the Missionary meeting to be held at the parsonage next Friday afternoon at 2:30. Topic, "Our Golden Jubilee." Leader, Mrs. Saltonstall.

WE CAN'T

have our representatives call on everyone in Western Michigan to personally explain about Hackett Motor stock

BUT-WE CAN AND DO

ask you to read this announcement and decide for yourself whether or not to act before January 20.

FIRST---READ THIS TELEGRAM

Western Union Telegram

NEWCOMB CARLTON, President

Send the following telegram, subject to the terms on back hereof, which are hereby agreed to

4 16DECD 39 3 EXA NL

JACKSON MICH JANY 11-1917

MOTOR SECY CO

533 MICH TRUST BLDG GRAND RAPIDS MICH

ALLOTMENT OF HACKETT STOCK AT PAR PRACTICALLY CLOSED PRICE OF HACKETT STOCK AFTER JANY TWENTIETH TWELVE FIFTY PER SHARE KINDLY NOTIFY ANY STOCKHOLDERS IN YOUR DISTRICT AS POSITIVELY NO APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED AFTER THAT DATE AT PAR.

J. L. DORNBOS

TREASURER HACKETT MOTOR

650 PM

THE HACKETT MOTOR CAR COMPANY

announces this increase as a result of the completion of their export contracts, larger earnings from their increased production and new additions to their dealers' organization.

This acheived success of the Hackett Motor Co. is the result of its thorough efficiency in every department.

Western Michigan business men and bankers, with years of successful business experience, are directing its affairs. Men who are of the highest standing and integrity whom many of you know personally. The Production Department is headed by men whose reputation for efficiency has been gained through experience dating from the beginning of the motor industry.

We advise you to secure your stock reservation now. Write or better telephone for full information and we will mail it to you by special delivery. That will just give you time to make two dollars and fifty cents per share before the increase takes effect.

$10 per share now, $12.50 per share January 20

THINK, DECIDE, ACT

MICHIGAN MOTOR SECURITIES COMPANY

533-536 Michigan Trust Co. Building

Citizens 4283
Bell Main 2442

Grand Rapids, Mich.

Flour Special, January 19 and 20

24 1 2 lbs. Commercial Flour special price $1.13

49 lbs. Commercial Flour special price $2.25

49 pounds only to one customer

One Barrel . . . $9.25

TERMS CASH NO CREDIT

Mason's Grocery Department

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks. 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

OATES IN WRONG

Lansing reports indicate that the legislature will change the law giving the Public Domain commission the appointment of the state game warden and restoring the appointive power to the governor, where it belongs.

Should this be done, it is reported as unlikely that Governor Sleeper would again appoint William R. Oates, the present game warden.

The reasons given are Mr. Oates' undue and expensive activity during the last primary campaign, when he should have been attending to the duties of his office. That his efforts were against Mr. Sleeper is unimportant (as were the results thereof) because the protests against such activity by a state official went to the Domain commission from friends of all the candidates in the August gubernatorial race.

That Mr. Oates knows he was wrong seems to be proved by the alleged failure on his part to file any expense account for last August. He drew his salary, but, for the first time, it is said, he filed no expense account, although that he was traveling around the state no one denied.

Mr. Oates is face to face with the serious question of whose business he was working on during those August trips. If on the state's business why did he not file an expense account as for other months? If he were engaged on private political business why did he draw his salary during the period of such engagement?

The primary law is full of emptiness at best, but some provision should of a surety be made against salaried state officials using either their time or the state's expense money on behalf of candidates for any political office.

Michigan can find a better game warden than Mr. Oates and undoubtedly he can secure some more congenial employment. — Menominee Herald-Leader.

Last week the Courier received a letter containing an attempted answer to our recent query—"What's the matter with Charlevoix?" with the request that same be published in our Public Pulse column. We would like very much to comply with the request and would have done so had the writer confined himself to an answer to our query instead of indulging in bitter reflections on our home merchants and the business men in general. Charlevoix has its advantages and also its disadvantages we admit, but we must ask contributors of articles to confine themselves to real facts, not a general broadside of villification and abuse that would reflect not only on the city, its business men, but the writer himself. You cannot use the columns of the Courier to grind your own axe. Hence, we not only refrain from publishing this article over your signature, but have consigned it to the waste paper basket. In the future confine yourself to facts and we will gladly give you space.

Speaking about Clean-Up-Day, what is the matter with removing the decorations from the city's phone poles throughout the city and replacing their lengends of touching appeal and warning to sufferers from various ills, with "Post No Bills" in nice, fresh black paint and then let the local authorities see to it (and the plain citizens as well) that this prohibition does not degenerate into a joke. This won't hurt the town's business and it will help to take part of the curse off from our little city which our happy-go-lucky methods have placed upon it.

In case of impeachment proceedings, we can't help but wonder what the answer of any member of the board of supervisors would be when asked concerning the adjournment date of the recent October session—sine die or January 2, 1917?

The rural legislator may not trim his whiskers with the regularity and style of the city Adonises, but he sometimes astonishes his colleagues by reading over a bill before voting for it.

An observer notes that "the public evidently does not care for things that are educational." He's right, but let something salacious come along.

We wonder if the local option question had anything to do with the adjournment of the board of supervisors at their October session.

When people criticise you justly, mend your ways; when they do so unjustly, it is not a bad idea to mend your ways a little aayway.

However, something has been accomplished when even two out of six councilmen agree to a plan.

Once in a while you meet a man who thinks original thoughts and is not afraid to express them.

INSTITUTE WAS GREAT SUCCESS

SCHOOL MA'MS PUT IN TWO VERY BUSY DAYS

Supt. H. A. Craig of Charlevoix Elected President—Other Officers Chosen.

Two busy days of the taking in process with very little of the giving out activities were ended on Wednesday afternoon, at East Jordan, when a joyous crowd of good looking school ma'ams once again donned their best coats, picked up their satchels, and hiked homeward. They looked happy, other people who looked at them became happy, and they take happiness back with them. Every institute worker remarked on the fact that they are alert, intelligent and quick to respond.

To begin the story at the first: Tuesday morning the program opened with a number of selections from the high school orchestra. Right here let us give a lot of credit for the success of this institute to the East Jordon high school orchestra for morning exercise is notably important, music talks, and the orchestra set the key note for the two days right there. Then Miss Wiggins, from the Central Normal training school discussed the "Problem in Education" until the conductor of the institute arrived on the 10:30 train. Then the conductor, Dr. C. O. Hoyt, who is chairman of the appointment committee and, head of the department of education in Michigan State Normal college, took entire charge of the remainder of the institute. His first address of an inspirational character was "Education a World Building." It was then necessary to make a mad rush for dinner, for dining places of a public character are few and far between in the city of East Jordan and this crowd was in a burry.

The afternoon found Charlevoix and Boyne City teachers present to hear the musical selections from the orchestra and to be favored by a beautiful solo and encore from Prof. C. Ross Brownell. Miss Wiggins' first topic for the afternoon was "Making the History Lesson Real," and we claim she made it real. Everyone regrets that Miss Lardie was not able to take the trip and that the institute had to lose one of her splendid readings. Prof. Hoyt's address, "The Artist Teacher," revealed and gave to others the inspiration which a great teacher feels in the magic touch of his work. A brief recess was declared, songs sung, committees appointed by the association, and work again taken up. Spelling, just plain spelling, was gone after good and hard. It is a big problem in a busy age but rejoice ye that a solution is attempted.

The evening brought merriment and rest. One hundred and eleven were seated in the dining hall of the Methodist church for the teachers' supper. Tables, decorations and favors, carried out the state department colors of blue and white. A four course supper was served to the assembled and appreciative guests. It was banquet in style, but the teachers ate a little more than at a stiff society function and had been indepeadent enough to come simply dressed and ready for anything. Supt. McIntosh gave them nearly everything and was vociferously declared a capital entertainer. Toasts were responded to by Supt. Holliday, Supt. Craig, Commissioner Stewart, Miss Wiggins and Dr. Hoyt. Mr. Fitch toasted the teachers well in telling them just what was expected of them but "Oh, dear!" "Echoes from the school room" from 20 odd teachers from all over the county brought as many ripples of laughter from every part of the room. Through the kind arrangement of Mr. Holliday, the banqueters were favored with orchestra music at the banquet. The boys had a busy day of it for they appeared again for a half hour's concert before Byron King began his cannonade of jokes at the theatre. Those who were not tired from laughing before, laughed until they couldn't stop, then to their surprise found that they were rested, instead of aching in mind and body. And the morning, afternoon and evening were the first day.

Miss Schreiber came from Boston, having a six weeks' contract in this state. It was the fact that we could have her at no other date that fixed the date of the institute in January. She was good. She tore to pieces every bit of English instruction she had ever heard. She criticized it. We took it. She told us we knew better. We believed it. Then like the kind fairy she showed a solution to the problem, no half way solution, or wobbly theory but a thing which has been done and can be done again. We liked her.

The County Teachers' association accepted the work of the constitution committee without amendment. There was but one article which brought forth any comment, but all comment was favorable. This article provides that in all future institutes in this county the officers of the County Teachers' association cooperating with the committee in charge, shall provide for at least a part of a day to be given over to group sections and round table discussions. Hereafter this will be a distinguishing feature of the Charlevoix county institute solving its own problems in its own round tables, and every teacher will want to be present at her own section to thresh out her own problem which is probably common to all in that section.

Supt. H. A. Craig was elected president of the association, Miss Ethel Sanford, vice president, and Miss Grace Howard, secretary. Resolutions were adopted showing appreciation of the hospitality extended by Supt. Holliday, the orchestra and other musicians, the Boy Scouts and residents of East Jordan who opened their homes for the occasion. Resolutions were also adopted favoring the proposed bill granting state aid to schools maintaining a full course in agriculture, favoring the securing of a county agent in this county, and strongly opposing the unprofessional habit among teachers of underbidding each other in securing contracts. Through these resolutions also the teachers expressed strong disapproval of the new teachers' pension law and recommended that teachers in signing their contracts figure the assessment according to the time they have taught and see that the same is clearly stated and allowed for in the new contract.

The department have sent to the county a strong corps of instructors, they worked in harmony in similar lines, were definite in their criticisms, and definite in their solutions. Scientific teaching has definitely taken the place of the old time rod. The public has made way for the now school teacher and definite hearty appreciation of the services of the leaders in normal school work was cordially expressed to each speaker separately and to all publicly by resolution of the association.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

Special Treat.

Rev. W. P. Mosher, of Pellston, will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Mosher is a fine preacher with a wide experience.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want ads.

Closing Out Prices

In order to close out the balance of Ladies' Coats we have in stock we offer them at

One-half Off

$20.00 coats	- -	$10.00
15.00 coats	- -	7.50
12.00 coats	- -	6.00
10.00 coats	- -	5.00

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

KISSES FATHER WHO NEVER AWAKENED

Pathetic Story Regarding Death of Former Resident.

The following article, taken from a Washington daily paper, gives information of the death of Levi A. Lewis, a former and well known resident of Charlevoix county:

"When school was out yesterday afternoon little Esther Lewis, age 13, hurried home to awaken her father, Levi A. Lewis, aged 58, employed as night watch at the plant of the St. Paul, Tacoma Lumber company. Esther is motherless, her mother having died when she was three years old. She has no sisters and her only brother, Loyse, age 19, is now in Kentucky. Her entire life was centered in her father, who for the last seven years has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Foys, 6810 South Yakima avenue, Washington. Every afternoon when Esther returned from school she bustled into her father's bedroom, awakened him with a kiss, and entertained him with chatter of her day in school, during the brief time before he had to get ready to go to work. Yesterday she tiptoed into the room, glanced at her father and seeing he was not awake, searched in his pockets, until she found a penny, then with a joyful bound, she flung herself on the bed, kissed the face of the sleeper and prepared to ask him if she could have the penny. He did not awaken. In vain the little girl shook him, again she kissed him and discovered his cheeks were cold. The child, stricken as she realized her father would never awaken, fled from the scene and spread the alarm. Mrs. Foye said last night that the little girl would remain with them for the time being. Mr. Lewis felt as well as usual when he returned from work yesterday morning. His death was due to heart trouble.

His body was removed to Buckey King Co., pending arrangements for the funeral, which will be made when a niece, who is now hastening from California, arrives.

Appointed On Three Committees.

Jacob E. Chew, representative of Charlevoix county at Lansing, has been appointed on the following committees by Speaker Rice: Fish and Fisheries, Local Taxation, Michigan Reformatory, Public Lands and Forestry Interests.

Subscribe for the Courier.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by differeat dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.45
Red wheat, per bu.	1.50
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Oats	.60
Barley, per cwt.	.78
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	.85
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Pork, dressed	12.50
Beef, dressed	9.00 to 10.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	12 to 14c
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.35
New potatoes, per bu.	1.40
Honey per lb.	15
Salt	1.45

Every $1.14 worth of rubber footwear cost last year $1.00, an advance in one day of 14c. At that rate next winter but few of us will be able to buy any. But if rubber footwear advances at same rate as other merchandise every $1.00 now will be $2.00 next winter. If you want to save money for this or next winter buy now, and buy all you can get. If you don't want to wear them buy and sell them next winter. You can't make money faster. We are offering bargains in Arctics from January 11 to January 18. Terms strictly cash. We can make more money by holding them, but if you want an 85c child's one buckle Arctic for 59c you can have it, or a

$1.15 Woman's One Buckle Arctic for.....89c
$1.30 Child's Two Buckle Arctic.....89c
$1.40 Misses' Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Woman's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Youth's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$2.00 Boy's Two Buckle Arctic.....$1.19

Large 40c Oranges.....30c
30c Oranges.....19c

A. E. MASON

SAVE THE EASY WAY

THE SAVINGS CLUB

Offers you the opportunity to prepare for any future obligations by making small weekly or monthly deposits on which we pay you 4 per cent interest

Join the club now and start on the road that leads to success

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

W. C. T. U. CAFETERIA

Saturday, January 29

Beginning at 10:00 a. m.

Cut down the high cost of living, Eat at the W. C. T. U. Cafeteria adjoining Sugar Bowl and opposite Postoffice.

MENU

Soup	5c
Boston Baked Beans	5c
2 Sandwiches	5c
2 Doughnuts	5c
Pie	5c
Coffee	5c

Also a Fancy Work and Apron Bazaar will be held at the same time.

Aprons for the short,
Aprons for the large
And Aprons for the small.

EVERYBODY COME

CHAPTER XVII.

Some Letters and a Reply.

HER letter came to him a week later, though she had posted it the morning she took the train from Morrison. It had lain for days in the postoffice box of the East Coast company, waiting the day when one of the teamsters should call and carry it in overland. Steve had never before seen her handwriting. It was his first letter from her, yet he recognized it the instant Big Louie put it in his hand. And he was glad that night that both Fat Joe and Garry were absent from the up river camp—glad that he was to have the next hour alone. But when he broke the flap of it Big Louie, who lingered uneasily in the open doorway—even Big Louie, whose wits were not particularly keen—knew from the expression which passed over his superior's face that this heavy envelope which he had brought had not contained good news. The quick contraction of muscles which tightened his jaw was too much like a spasm of pain. For her first letter, so the sentence ran, was to be her last. She wrote "less kindly than she would have wished to write" that she and Mr. Wickersham had decided upon the 1st of May, and after the silence had become a throbbing thing Big Louie decided instinctively that he would let go until later the demand which he had planned to make for a raise to meet that raise which, so he had heard it gossiped in town, was being paid the men in the northern lumber camps. He stumbled going out and lost his balance, so that the door crashed to behind him violently. But Steve stood as he had stood when his eyes sought the first line of her note, nor did the crash penetrate his ears.

Repeatedly in the interval which had elapsed since she had bidden him goodby the latter had told himself that she would not write, but the repetition had been unconvincing. He knew that now.

Barbara did not write again, and in this at least the man who loved her anticipated her correctly. The letters, however, which Garrett Devereau received each day from Miriam—bulky, extra postage epistles—brought often news of her. And these fragments Garry, knowing without being told for whom they were meant, duly delivered to Steve, in weekly or fortnightly installments, whenever the latter's duties brought him to Morrison, for Garry and Fat Joe, who had been transferred to the lower end of the work, along with the bulk of the up river force, had noticed that difference too.

"Miriam says for me to keep my feet dry this cold weather," he'd tell the other man laughingly, "and Barbara sends her regards to all of us and hopes that we are making splendid headway." Or again: "Barbara's looking a little pale, Miriam writes. She says she's—er—trying to do altogether too much for her endurance."

Whatever the bit of news was Garry passed it on religiously, a little guiltily sometimes, because of his own great happiness. Once he had failed signally to read behind his friend's moody silences. His surmise concerning the reason for Steve's changed bearing was not so wide of the mark this time. Often within himself Garry's wrath seethed hot, but he was no longer as ready as he had once been with verbal, cynical criticism. Only to Fat Joe did he dare pour out his soul with that vivid incisiveness which always held Joe spellbound.

"He's eating his heart out over her," he'd explode, "over a girl who is proving every day that she isn't worth a minute's heartache of a man like him! I used to think she had brains if any of them did. I used to think that Barbara Allison was something besides a fluffy little fool! Why can't he see for himself that she's just as worthless as most of the rest of them?"

And from there, without knowing how truly funny such argument sounded coming from his lips, he would soar to wonderful heights of profanity. But save for the pleasure which he took in the pyrotechnics his outbursts made little impression upon Fat Joe. The latter maintained a sort of placid superiority, perhaps because he had learned early that this attitude aggravated Garry's rages, perhaps because he was so very certain of his man.

"I wouldn't go to getting all stirred up like this so early in the game," he'd reply with unvaried calm. "Shucks, it's too early to begin counting either man's pile of chips"—either man to both minds meaning Steve and Wickersham without the naming of names. "You are too liable to premature enthusiasms or discouragements, Garry. That's why I mostly manage to beat you as easy as he beats me whenever we throw a hand or two. Ain't you never going to learn that a man must gamble a bit on the cards still waiting to be dealt?"

And again, confidently:

"He's worried—of course he is! He ain't enjoyin' his meditations a little bit these days, but he's enjoyin' 'em more all by himself that he would be if we were up there with him, forcin' him to look everlastingly like four aces when it's deuces at present he's holding. He's worried, and that's why I don't grow nervous myself, because it is only the man who is too sure who is awful likely to finish broke. Don't you waste any pity on him yet, and I wouldn't let him hear me passing uncomplimentary words concerning his girl either if I was you. Lightning ain't particular where it strikes when it's been a long time cooped up. Every man to his own taste in such matters, says I. And shucks, man, can't you tell just from seein' 'em together that they was made for each other? If a man quit every time a woman began to put him over the jumps we'd have a dangerous decrease in marriage licenses staring us in the face. He's just learning to care more for her, that's all, and caring a lot about anybody never was a comfortable state to be in. It's entirely too uncertain and unsettling. But you wouldn't enjoy not caring about anybody at all yourself, would you?"

Garry admitted that he wouldn't.

"Well, then, don't waste your time pitying him." A cold gleam flickered in those bleached blue eyes. "Don't you suppose I'd have taken apart long ago this animated ice chest who is making all the trouble just to see what makes him so cold if I didn't know I'd be spoiling the big show? Couldn't you see without my tellin' you that I'd rise up some day and leave him looking like an premature blast after all I've learned he's plannin' to slip us if I wasn't sure that he's going to get it, worse than I could ever give it to him, from that girl herself? Well, I would. He makes me shiver, that man; makes me crawl and itch to take his head in one hand and his throat in the other and exert a little strength in opposite directions. Give our entry time! The game is running dead against him at present, I'll admit, but he's husbanding his chips. He ain't drawing wild and squandering his chances. And he's only begun to play."

Before snow came that fall Steve had recovered his outward confidence at least. He had begun to hope again while he waited and labored prodigiously against the coming of spring. But in his heart he was no longer sure. He could not summon back that serene self surety which toward the end had shaken even the girl's certainty in herself. He could no longer argue convincingly with a vision of her, as he had often argued with Barbara herself, that his way would be her way in the end, for he had begun to realize the width of that gulf which he knew must seem to exist between them, if not to her then to the eyes of others of her world.

It was his memories which gave him consolation those long nights, but they also gave him doubt. Remembering the daintiness of her as she had come to him the night of her party, recalling the things to which she had been accustomed since she had opened her eyes on the first light of day, he began to ask himself, as every man like him had asked who ever loved a woman, how in any fairness he could expect her to accept the little which he could offer in return. To Steve and Fat Joe, to the men of his gang, his confidence was that of the old, old Steve who ten years before had cocked his head at one of Allison's switch engines and promised gravely, "I'll hev to be gittin' one of them for myself some day." But his heart ached, and when that ache became so leaden that he couldn't endure it any longer in silence he carried it to the one person in his life who was best calculated to understand. Diffidently he broached the subject with Miss Sarah, approaching it in a roundabout fashion least likely to deceive that bright eyed little lady.

"Garry is saving his money against the fatal day," he laughed one night. "He has become a rank miser! Joe says he goes for days at a time borrowing his tobacco, and he won't play anything but penny ante now when he can be coaxed to play at all!"

Miss Sarah was too kind to look at him directly that evening.

"The regeneration of Garry is one of the things which had made my life most happy," she answered. And then, paving the way for what she knew was on his mind: "I suppose you will be surprising as yourself one of these days. And no doubt you'll be just as happily positive as Garry is that your choice is the only one in the world."

They were alone in the big living room. Caleb was still in town gossiping with Hardwick Elliott. And Steve's bruised smile clutched at Miss Sarah's heart.

"I!" he overdid his amusement. "I have lived too much alone, I'm afraid, ever to prove very attractive to any woman's fancy. Bachelors are not always born; they are sometimes the habits of loneliness."

"Stuff and nonsense!" the good woman ridiculed him. "Why—why, if it weren't for a suspicion that you might have your eye on some small person or other I'd drop everything and hunt one up for you myself. Why, Stephen, what a remark for me to hear from you!"

Both were silent for a moment.

"Marriage is a mighty expensive proposition," he commented at length profoundly.

"Is Garry such a plutocrat any more?"

"That is not a fair illustration for us to employ," he countered, and Barbara Allison was not the only woman who loved his lazily final statements. "Both Garry and Miriam have been taught that there are worse things than the hardship of making last year's limousine do for another season."

Miss Sarah laughed at this drollery. She was a better antagonist than most. She had practiced on Caleb.

"Can't one girl learn what another has been taught?" she wanted to know. "Stephen, do you mean to sit there and infer that you could continue to care for a girl who could not care for you just for yourself?"

His reply told her how tired he had become in trying to stem the tide of doubt alone. It warned her, too, that she had gone too close, for he veered off sharply. Steve persisted in generalities, but he wanted to talk.

"I have been wondering if that is not an old fashioned attitude," he said. "Women, they tell us, have broadened since they usurped many places in the business world once held by men. They are looking mighty keen eyed toward the vote now and a share in the legislation of their growing affairs, or at least so they explain. You have heard many men say 'business is business.' Maybe you have watched

"I could care for such a girl—yes."

quite a few charming brides walk to the altar and wondered if that wasn't their sentiment too."

She chose to be suddenly vexed with him.

"I do not like such humor, and of course you are joking. I have heard Garrett Devereau talk in just such a strain too often to be amused by it. And if you mean"—

"If I meant it I was crying the baby," stated the man coldly, and Miss Sarah knew that he was rebuking himself. "I could care for such a girl—yes. But I doubt if I would marry a woman who had even the smallest doubt. There are too many sharp places to be smoothed over without chancing that tragedy of discontent. It's merely habit that's to blame again, that's all." He cast about for a parallel. "One does not miss sugar so very much from a meal until he knows he can't have it. And then—well, Miss Sarah, I have many times talked peevishly, for a man, because there was none to be had."

"We are talking of women. What about salt?" she inquired quickly.

"That is very indispensable, too, but"—

"Of the two which do you always take care shall not be missing from your pack whenever you turn into the woods?"

"I see where you are heading, but"—

"I do not like dissemblance, Stephen," she warned. "You know without the salt of love the sugar of life can grow sickeningly cloying."

He did not win his argument, but defeat gave him far more happiness than could have come from victory. Leaving her that night, he closed his hand over her delicate fingers in a clasp which left her smiling in wonder after he had gone. She watched horse and rider disappear into the whiteness of the new winter till both were lost to her sight.

"Bless the boy!" she murmured then. "Bless the boy!" And to Caleb, her brother, when he came stamping in: "I surely must take a hand with these children. They have been left to their own devices long enough."

Caleb had recovered his good natured view of the whole affair; he was given to grinning those days at her flutterings. On more than one occasion he told her none too flatteringly that she made him think of an officious hen with a brood which a high rate of mortality and prowling night raiders had left bereft of all save two of her hatch. But this particular witticism did not bother her in the least, perhaps because she realized how pat the comparison was. Instead of silencing him she showed him the letter which she constructed some days later—constructed most painstakingly the second week in December. She deigned to read it aloud to him before she dispatched it on its journey.

"Barbara, dear child," she wrote, "this is the appeal of a lonesome spinster lady who finds that winter, still only a misty infant here, is the season for younger, warmer pulses. I am very tired of Caleb's continued company—that is, with nothing to leaven it. The keenest of epigrammarians, my dear, becomes very commonplace, you know, to ears too long tuned to one voice. So I am writing you in dignified desperation to come to me this holiday season. Caleb is not always as epigrammatic as I could wish. I am going to be positive that you will come unless you have already made other plans. And, on second thought, if you have already done so I am going to fall back upon the privileged tyranny of one who once carried you in her arms. You must come to me this Christmas!"

There was another whole paragraph of rambling, repeated arguments and then a full page devoted to the beauties of the hills and season.

"The days are diamond brilliant," she wrote, "and the nights as dryly cold and crisp as Caleb's few last cherished bottles of champagne. We have a foot of snow, two feet in the ell of the house where the mint bed lies, and that has afforded Caleb much peace of mind too. The roots will live nicely under their warm blanket, you see—all of which must read frivolously to you, coming from staid Miss Sarah. I can only plead that already I must be less lonely for anticipation of your arrival. Are you well? You will find new roses for your cheeks in this climate. And you may telegraph your acceptance this once if you are too busy to write, although you know I deplore the lack of those punctilios which once made of all custom and etiquette a most charming thing."

It was signed "Yours, my dear, Sarah Hunter."

There was a quaint twist to the letter "S;" sharp angles in the chirography which a newer decade of femininity might have found sadly lacking in a largeness of loops now indispensable as indication of "character." And there was a postscript, of course.

"Stephen O'Mara has been several times to dinner since your departure. He is working very hard, but most successfully, I am sure, for he appears to be very happy. He is thinner than he was, but who could have guessed that the boy he was would grow to be such a handsome man! Men with eyes like his and such voices used to break the hearts of susceptible maids when I was sixteen. Do come! S. H."

She read it aloud from beginning to

(Continued on page six.)

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE
Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 1t5

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Takes pleasure in announcing that it is prepared to take care of all kinds of welding, brazing and cutting. All metal joints can be successfully welded by the Oxy-Acetylene process.

Engine parts, such as cracked water jackets, piping, cylinder heads, flywheels, crank shafts, can be successfully repaired at a fraction of the cost of a new part. All kinds of metals in any kind of service can be repaired on short notice. Bring in your work and let us figure on your job.

PRICES REASONABLE. SERVICE RIGHT. WORK GUARANTEED.

The Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence Withers, Prop.
Or Inquire at Erickson & Fowler's Garage.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Special Notice

To Press and Courier
READERS

The Grand Rapids Press, January 20, 1917, will increase their subscription rates on the R. F. D. from $2.00 per year to $3.00 per year.

The Courier's Agreement with the Press Will Save You
$1.00

The old price for both papers for one year, $3.50, will be good until January 20---not later. Don't wait---Don't delay---we positively can not accept orders after that date at the old price. If your subscription expires in January get in under the wire at once.

Good on R. F. D. Only.

The Charlevoix Courier

P. S.---The Press, Courier and Michigan Farmer all for one year $3.75 till January 20. After that date the price will be $4.75.

Then I'll Come Back to You

By LARRY EVANS

Author of "Once to Every Man"

Copyright, 1915, by the M. K. Fly Company

(Cuntinued from page 5)

end, nor did she falter much when Caleb greeted the postscript with n ahout of joy. Caleh was most high spirited those days, for the lloe lu regard to the progress of Steve's work was 'in truth an uaderstatement if anything, even thougb the assuraace of his happiness raight have been called a misconstruaace of facts.

"What do you think of it?" his sister aaked pleasantly, when she had fiuish-ed reading. "Will it—do?"

"If you mean will it fetch her, I cau oaly say heaven knows!" Indeed, he was enjoying himself. "You feel positive that she cares for him, you say? But I thought you were always inclined to believe Steve rather easy to look at, even as a boy?"

"I was," maintained Miss Sarah. Her volce grew girlish. "Do you remember the night you gave him my old hunting coat, Cal, and he went to sleep with it ta his arms?"

Some of the teasing note left her brother'a voice.

"Then why do you tell Barbara—why do you seem to infer"— He floundered hopelessly.

"Stupid!" said Miss Sarah. "Will she come?"

"She won't!" he stated solidly.

When he spoke in that tone Miss Sarah always chose to believe the contrary, nnd events in this instance proved her right. Barbara did not wire. She wrote a long letter full of little twists and turns which led at last to the subject which Miss Sarah had mentioned so parenthetically.

"I'm delighted at the prospect of getting away from town for a week," she closed as she had opened her reply—"delighted at Mr. O'Mara's splendid success. Last night I overheard father telling some business associates that he would one day be the biggest power in the north country unless something happened to check him soon. That was very flattering, wasn't it? It will make you very proud, I know. Tell Mr. O'Mara I wished to be recalled to him. As I have already warned you in this letter, father insists on coming with me. I think he must be a little tired of the city himself, for he is very restless. And remind Uncle Cal that I am to have the wishbone or I will not come at all!"

This reply Miss Sarah also read aloud to her brother in a voice that was not quite Christian, however, for it was gloating in tone.

"There!" she breathed. "And, Cal, aren't you ashamed sometimes to have your judgment so often refuted by a mere woman?"

"She fails to mention whether she ever noticed the color of his eyes"—Caleb choked a little—"or—or the heartbreaking quality of his voice. Maybe she hasn't noticed 'em yet herself, eh?"

Miss Sarah went upstairs to her desk, and she wrote two letters that night before she retired. One went to Barbara. The other had not so far to travel, but it was longer in reaching its destination.

(To be continued next week.)

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a number of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an exeellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

NORTHERN MICHIGAN NOTES

Completely Covers His Tracks.

With two weeks time in which to cover his trail, Charles E. Mahan, former treasurer of Kalkaska county, who is alleged to have fled from the office with approximately $1,500 of the county's funds, has left Kalkaska authorities who are searching for him on embezzlement charges with only theories as to his whereabouts.

Mason Odell, the treasurer-elect, has finally accepted his trust, the books for the past year being in the hands of County Clerk William C. Hewitt and a committee from the board of supervisors. Odell at first refused to take the office until the tangle was cleared up.

Mahan is now known to have invested heavily in timber for the making of railroad ties. It is presumed he overestimated the demand for this product and lost heavily. He is thought to have used county funds to meet these obligations, evidently believing his financial affairs would take a turn for the better on each successive deal. Finally he realized his mistake and fled rather than face exposure, in the opinion of the county's officials.

Several days ago Mahan was one of the most popular men in his county. He was respected and honored. Today the people have largely turned against him and are indignant over the alleged thefts.

Officers have so far been able tu find no trace of Mahan, for whom a warrant has been issued.

Too Much Civilization.

Last week a Polander, recently arrived from the old country, Joe Bowelski, was brought before Justice Hammund, of Boyne City, on a charge of disorderly conduct. He attended a dance at a private home at which were many of his compatriots, and being incensed over something, began to publicly berate a married lady. The language he used was vile in the extreme and the justice assessed him $20 and costs.

Having a mistaken idea of "American freedom," some of our newly arrived foreign citizens consider liberty is license and believe they are monarchs of their own lives. It is sometimes accessary to impress the error upon their minds with a fine but Bowelski persists in making more trouble and his appealed the case.

Rough language in public is a violation of the law which should be rigidly enforced, because of its frequent occurence.

Mercury Takes Big Drop.

The mercury hit the toboggan Wednesday night and hasn't recovered as yet. The first drop of any consequence this winter began late Wednesday afternoon and by early morning 16 below had been registered. The reports from various parts of the city differed widely, ranging from 10 to 16 below.

With the first real cold snap comes records remembered by the "old timers" and the unchallanged feat of the mercury some 20 winters ago, has been recalled many times within the past two days. At that time the temperature did not raise above 28 below for two weeks, and the coldest is said to have been 36 below.—Boyne Citizen.

Working An Old Game.

The Levering Local prints the following account of the operations of two confidence men near that place:

"The following story may be bistory to some, hut is news to many, as the facts have only just come to light. Two rnther smooth-appearing men, samples of fine cloth, an unsuspicious farmer and a promissory note play the leading parts. About six weeks ago two affable strangers registered at n local hotel under the names of F. Dubbs nnd C. A. Griffin. They apparently made no secret of their business, that of taking orders for clothing, they, however, not attempting to do nny business in Levering. Securing a driver, daily trips were made into the surrounding country, and for about two weeks business wns fine and victims many.

"Their method was neither crude nor clever, as witness: They did not travel together, one man following on the heels of the first. No. 1 makes a call, engages the nttention of the family in his line of samples, finally securing one or more orders, for which a cash deposit could be made or in lieu of cash, a note for the full amount of order was given in payment. The cloth was left with the purchaser, value received. No. 2 appears the following day or so, takes measurements, shows linings, styles, etc., and departs, and with him goes the cloth to be made up and suit shipped in a few days to purchaser.

"The next chapter in this story is the appearanee of the note for collection, it having of course been immediately disposed of by stranger No. 1, the cash being more preferable. The giver of the note begins about this time to see a great white light, and to realize that the clever strangers had 'put one over' on him, in the case of the first man as he "There seems to be little recourse gives 'value received' when he leaves the cloth, but the second fellow obtains it under false pretenses and would be subject to prosecutiun if caught. It is said several hundred dollars departed with them, even the driver mourns the loss of bis hire, as a request to 'call tomorrow' found the strangers gone."

Counsel perhaps is useless, but to avoid recurrance of such things, do your buying of reliable merchants Instead of from peddlers.

This same game was worked in Hayes township some four years ago. A number of our prominent farmers were stung for vnrious amounts. Better keep on the look out for the swindlers and hand them a jolt they will not soon forget.

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certnin mortgage executed by Adolph B. Major and Ida Major, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Chnrlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Union Trust & Savings bank of Flint, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd day of June, 1911, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due upon the principal and interest computed to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and the further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars taxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein descrized, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, hy virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such ense made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, at one o'clock in the afternoon, we shall sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per cent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dollars covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as being situate in the Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), town thirty-three (33) north of range four (4) west; and the southeast quarter (¼) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less Dated, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
44t13 Mortgagee.
BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Flint, Michigan.

Performance of Land Contract. Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 30th day of December, A. D. 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased, Isaiah Wasaquam having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitable person,

It is Ordered, That the 23rd day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Adv. 1t3 Judge of Probate.

Notice of Final Administration.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charevoix, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D., 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Hartwell, deceased, Charles J. Zeitler, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is ordered, That the 7th day of February, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
3t3 Judge of Probate.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No.255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residenee, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No.108 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

FLORIDA SEASON 1916-'17

STEEL SLEEPING CARS
MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS
FROM GRAND RAPIDS

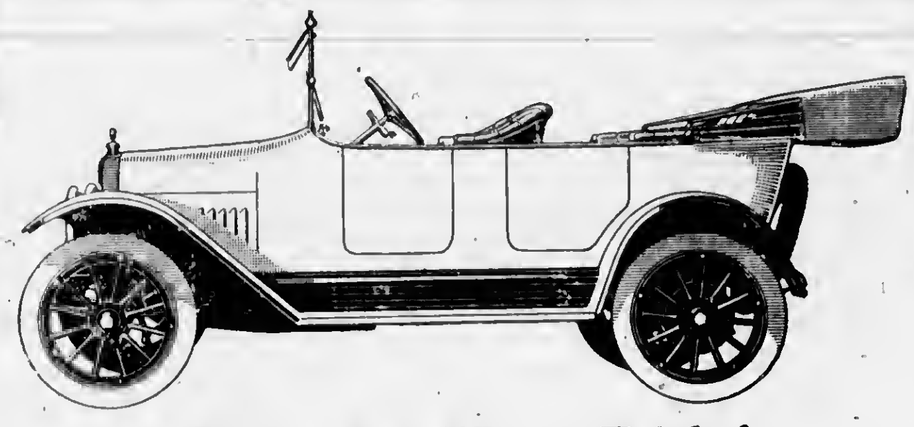
VIA
THE SOUTHLAND
G. R. & I.-L & N.

Lv. Petoskey .....1:05 p. m.
Lv. Grand Rapids ...8:40 p. m.
Ar. Cincinnati .....6:55 a. m.
Ar. Knoxville .....4:32 p. m.
Ar. Atlanta .....9:55 p. m.
Ar. Jacksonville ....8:30 a. m.

Reservntions, tickets, illustrative and descriptive matter of Florida Winter Resorts and full information at Ticket Office, Petoskey. Q. D. Phelps, Ticket Agent.

RESERVATIONS NOW BEING MADE

Returning cars leave Jacksonville 8:20 p. m., Mondays and Thuradays.



Pay As You Ride!

Pay for your Maxwell as you enjoy it. Unusually easy time payment plan. Also a Savings Plan. You've been thinking about a Maxwell—now you CAN own one. Ask us for details of these plans. The Maxwell is complete, electric starter, etc.—a real family car.

Maxwell $635 f. o. b. Detroit

We have several good second hand cars for sale call and see us about them.

Bring your storage batteries to be charged and repaired. WE make a speciality of Automobile Repairing, Machine Shop Work and Welding.

ERICKSON & FOWLER
THE CENTRAL GARAGE
103-105 ANTRIM ST. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

PUBLIC AUCTION SALE

The third of a series of Public Auction Sales promoted by the Cearlevoix Commereial Association and open to the public, espeeially to the farmers, for the sale of their Produee and Live Stock and also anything they might wish to turn into money, such as Farm Maehinery, Household Goods, etc., will be held in Charlevoix, on

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27

At Hooker's Garage

Commeneing at one o'eloek and lasting until four o'eloek or until everything is sold. The promotors of these sales prefer that artieles for sale be listed as early as possible but this is not neeessary so bring in anything you wish to sell and it will be taken eare of. A partial list of artieles for sale is listed below:

Mare, 10 years old, wt. 1050.
Mare, 10 years old, wt. 1200.
Bay Mare, 12 years, wt. 1200, in foal.
Horse, coming 4 years old, wt. 1200.
Red Cow, fresh 23rd of January.
Cow, 6 years old.
Red Cow, 6 years old, fresh in April.
17 Chickens.
Domo Cream Separator, 450 lb. capacity, new.
Pair Cutter Bobs.
New Pair 2-inch Sleighs.
Pair 1½-inch Sleighs.
Pair Cutter Bobs with auto body.
5 bushel Winter Apples.
Lady's Brocaded Plush Coat with green silk lining and fur collar; a dandy coat.
Iron Bed Stead, oak finish; set of Springs, extra fine Felt Mattress. Thia bed eomplete is worth $25.00.
1 3-4-inch Iron Bed with Mattress.
Extra set of Springs.
Good Lounge.
Commode.
2 Library Tables.
3 Stands.
Shelves for books.
9 Dining Chairs.
2 Rockers.
Morris Chair.
2 Stools.
Auto Seat. 2 Poreh Curtains.
White Frost Refrigerator.
3-burner Oil Stove.
25 gallon Crock.
2 good Wood Burner Stoves.
Good Mattress.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, ten months time on good approved bankabl pape r bearing 7 per eent interest.

For further information or to list articles for sale call phone 45 or Mr. Byers, auctioneer. Date of sale, Saturday, January 27, 1917.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer L. E. SMITH, Clerk

A Steaming Hot Cup of Coffee

—IS—

What the Universal Vacuum Bottle

Can give you every noon.

"Keeps liquids Hot twenty-four hours or Cold seventy-two hours." Patented Shock Absorber protects Filler against breakage. No felt or cork pads or paper fillings. This is the most Sanitary Vacuum Bottle made.

—FOR SALE BY—

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on page 10

George Papineau got back off the lakes last week.

E. S. Stacks was a business visitor to the city Monday and Tuesday.

Earl Young went to Grand Rapids, Thursday, of last week on business.

W. J. Rachow, "of Saginsw," spent Sunday at the Hotel Charlevoix.

J. Leahy, the optometrist, will soon be here again. See date next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gonser left Saturday for Grand Rapids for a few days stay.

Hollis Caryle, of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday in this city visiting friends.

John Thackeray was in town Wednesday on business and to visit with friends.

Mrs. Leo Carey gave a potluck supper to a few of her friends Tuesday evening.

O. D. Hammond and wife spent Sunday in Petoskey, visiting at the home of Otto Gix.

Charles See left for Grand Rapids, Monday afternoon to take in the furniture exhibit in that city.

R. A. Emrey leaves Thursday for Grand Rapids, Detroit and other southern Michigan points on business.

Mrs. Charles Magee, of Detroit, with her little nephew, is stopping at the home of James McGeagh in this city.

Mrs. H. Bedford returned from Grand Rapids, Tuesday afternoon, where she has been visiting since Christmas.

H. W. Alexander is here from Alberta, Canada, to spend the winter with his son, F. V. Alexander, on Mason street.

P. E. Vandermade and wife left Tuesday afternoon for Grand Rapids, where they will attend the furniture exhibit.

Roy Stafford, who has been visiting his parents the past week, left for Detroit, Monday, accompanied by his brother, Bob.

Will Trimble left for Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, Tuesday morning, after a visit of several weeks in this city with relatives.

Don't forget the W. C. T. U. cafeteria and apron bazaar on Saturday January 27, across from the post office. See advertisement on page four.

Willism Meyers and wife, of Chicago, are here to spend the winter months with Mrs. Meyers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brady on the south side.

The south bound train, due in Charlevoix at 8:20 a. m. Wednesday, was several hours late, due to heavy drifts in a cut just the other side of Bay Shore.

W. E. Hampton, wife and son, Will, and Mrs. Hampton's mother, Mrs. Joseph Reed, have put up at the Hotel Charlevoix for the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Warren left Tuesday morning for Petoskey where they will spend the remainder of the week with Mr. Warren's parents, returning Saturday.

Mrs. Chester Denton, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Martindale, in Harbor Springs, returned to Charlevoix, Friday. She will spend a week here and then returns to Hnrbor Springs for the balnnce of the season.

Mrs. Sarah Emrey left Monday morning for Daytona, Florida, where she will spend the remainder of the winter. Mrs. Tom LaLonde accompanies her as far as Cincinnati, where the latter will make a two weeks' visit.

The Charlevoix County bank has mailed out the second letter of their vocational series. This letter is on agriculture and should be of great interest to the people of this community, in which this vocation plays such an important part.

Mrs. C. H. Crighton and daughter, Betty, together with Mrs. Crigbton's mother, Mrs. C. F. Rounesville and Mrs. Rounesville's mother, Mrs. L. A. Fox, are stopping at the Hotel Charlevoix for the winter months. This makes four generations.

Mrs. Clinton Cooper left Monday morning for Saginaw, where she will spend a week with her parents. Mr. Cooper will leave for Saginaw, Saturday, to join his wife and from there they will go on to Grand Rapids to attend the furniture exhibit.

The "wreckers" have been busy on Ben Brown's store front this week getting ready to replace the old wooden construction with nice new brick. Ben will certainly have some "front" when it is finished, and, as we all know, "putting up a front" is half the battle in this world.

Henry Bogart, a brother of Jim and Will Bogart, of this city, who has been working at Mill B of the Argo Milling company, in East Jordan, was recently transfered to Central Lake, to manage the A. F. Walbrecht mill, which the Argo company has leased for a term of years.

Special for Friday and Saturday

Ladies' wool Vests and Pants Worth $1.25, now	89c
Ladies' heavy fleeced Vests and PANTS, worth 65c, now	39c
Ladies' fleeced Vests and Pants Worth 35c, now	21c
Children's wool Vests and Pants Worth 45c, now	35c
Chil lren's wool Vests and Pants Worth 55c, now	44c
Children's wool Vests and Pants Worth 65c, now	53c
Children's wool Vests and Pants Worth 75c, now	62c
Children's cotton Vests and Pants For these two days	21c

All Women's and Children's Cap and Scarf Sets 1-4 Off

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

HOLD FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

LARGE NUMBER OF MEMBERS IN ATTENDANCE

Plans Completed for "Parcel Post Sale"—Program Greatly Enjoyed.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met for its first meeting in the new year on Friday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards. The gallant host gathered up the most of those present for the meeting, and a goodly number there who availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the meeting and incidentally the potluck supper which followed the interesting program.

Mrs. P. J. Howard, of Petoskey, district president of the W. C. T. U., was present, and added much to the interest and pleasure of those present, over 30 in all.

The committee on the proposed "Parcel Post Sale" reported the time for sale to be January 27th, the sale to be held in the Crouter building, commencing at 10 a. m., and to hold till seven p. m. or till parcels are sold. One hundred and fifty printed cards were given out to those present and more to be printed. Those taking the cards are to send them to friends, giving name and address, so the parcels asked for may be sent them in time for the sale. Aprons are alao to be on sale.

It was moved that January 18th be observed as a day of prayer for national prohibition, and the union will meet in the Baptist church at 2:30 p. m. The 18th comes on the evening for the regulsr weekly prayer service, so it is to be boped all those interested will not forget this one important thing.

Mrs. Howard gave a little talk at this time, as also at the opening of the meeting when leading the devotional exercises.

The department demonstration by members of the union was well carried out, those representing the different departments having left the room to get ready for the demonstration came in, each wearing a white sash and caps. On the cap front were the initials of the department represented, each one reading of the work their department stands for. The departments represented were the Sunday school, social meetings and red letter days, medal contests, flower mission and relief work, Christian citizenship, press, mothers meetings and white ribbon recruits, the Bible in the public school, prison reform, scientific temperance instruction and literature. It certainly was fine. Mrs. Howard said she wanted the demonstration to be given at the next district meeting, whcih she hoped would be in Petoskey. Readings by Mrs. Weikel and Mrs. McPherson and singing by Mrs. Correll, the chorus of which was "We Want a Temperance U. S. A.," all joining in the chorus.

It was decided to place the Union Signal in the library, also to have sent to the pastors of the churches the campaign number of the Union Signal once a month.

Mrs. Howard urged standing for the Bible in the public schools and also to look after the moving pictures. The program closed with a solo by Miss Audrey Correll, "My Shadow."

The potluck was greatly enjoyed by all and a good time. Mr. Edwards must have worked over time before he got the ladies all home, as a second trip was necessary, but he seemed to enjoy it. Three cheers was given and a vote of thanks is due our good host and hostess.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Meet January 19 With Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Shanahan.

Following is the program of the Charlevoix Historical society at its regular meeting January 19:

Music—Instrumental duet, Margaret and King Saunders.

Paper—"Cities and Towns," Mrs. H. S. Harsha.

Music—Vocal solo, Mrs. Archie Livingston.

Current events, Mr. J. L. Crane.

At Mother's Knee.

The home, the primitive and primary institution for the education of children, is still the most important agency for education for life—mental, moral, physical, industrial, economic, social, civic. The school is still only supplementary. Any agency therefore that would promote right education most effectually must find some means of co-operating with the home and of helping parents, who are the most constant and should be the most effective teachers of their children.—Philander P. Claxton in New York Independent

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

THE PUBLIC PULSE
Open Forum for Our Readers

Dear Editor of the Courier:

Mr. Average Farmer, aa he signs himself, would like to know how much milk a cow testing 3.5 per cent fat per 100 pounds of milk will have to produce to pay her board.

He gives a few of the current prices, or a little lower than current, oa concentrates but does not give any prices on rough feeds. I will presume though that he means current pricea for both his rough feed and also his butterfat or cream and on that basis submit these figures:

Corn silage, according to reliable authority, is worth $5.00 per ton. Good hay at present is worth $10.00 per ton and oilmeal at Mr. A. F.'s price $50.00 per ton.

Feeding 40 lbs. of corn silage at $5.00 per ton	$ .10
Feeding 5 lbs. of oilmesl at $50.00 per ton	.12½
Feeding 15 lbs. of hay at $10.00 per ton	.07½
Total	$ .30

It would cost 30 cents per day for you to feed your cow. This you will notice is not a balsnced ration but the average farmer does not feed a balanced ration. To pay for this with 3.5 per cent milk at 35 cents per pound for fat she would have to give 25 pounds of milk per day. When pasture season arrives, however, she can be fed for one-half as much, 15c per day, or $4.50 per month. In some localities probably quite a little less. Figuring four months in the pasture at 15c per day and five months in the barn at 30c per day, she would have to give 5,250 pounds of 3.5 per cent milk or average 19 1-2 pounds a day at 35 cents per pound for butter fat.

Now as to your last question I will say you cannot afford to sell your butterfat cheaper. Our rule, however, is take what you can get. The consumer is entirely satisfied with this arrangement which to them means get it for what you can or in other words the market price.

In conclusion Mr. A. F. I will say this, we do not believe in milking 3.5 per cent cows and advise against anyone doing so if you sell cream or butterfat. Neither do we believe in feeding $50.00 or $52.00 oilmeal. If you are interested in what our herd is doing at present and how we feed them let us know through this column or get our address through this office and we will be glad to let you know.

NOT "AVERAGE FARMER."

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Pair light sleighs. R. C. Korth. Phone 144. 1tf

GOOD BOAR for service, $1.00 cash. Joseph Sprik, R. F. D. No. 4. 51tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

WANTED—Wood cutters. Phone Frank Matchett 209-21. Tom Matchett. 3t1—pd

WANTED—Wood cutters at Shore Acres Farm. Phone 78f3, or inquire of Frank L. Bird. 3t2

FOR SALE—Bull molly, part Holstein, 19 months old. Inquire of Frank Klusak, R. F. D. No. 4, next to Hilton school 2t2—pd

CUCUMBER CONTRACTS—I am now ready to write contracts for pickles. Price this year will be two dollars per hundred for vat run. C. B. SHELDON, local agent. 2t3—pd

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book, free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffao, N.Y.

J. L. Crane

New Wirthmor Waists for a brighter New Year

WE know that in this message there's much good cheer—"We will be able to sell throughout the year—these splendid Wirthmor Waists at one dollar."

New Styles---pretty styles and seasonable styles are always assured in the Wirthmor.

Sold under a contractural arrangement by just one good store in every city—and sold here exclusively.

The Styles Illustrated Have Just Arrived

Center Counter Main Floor

Flour is high and constantly going higher. Now is the time that you can't afford to add 37c freight and a dray bill to the cost of each barrel of Flour.

THEREFORE, BUY

Iron Duke or White Rose

made at home and no freight or dray bill added.

For Sale Everywhere

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

SATURDAY SPECIALS

Another Blow at High Prices

2 cans 15c Corn for	24c
2 cans 15c Peas for	24c
2 cans 15c Tomatoes for	24c
2 packages 15c Corn Puffs for	24c

MR. FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

H. B. Jacobs

Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

SATURDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY
January 20, 1917	January 23, 1917	January 24, 1917
LIBERTY	The Sequel to the Diamond from the Sky Third Episode	The Brand of Cowardice Lionel Barrymore

LADIES ALSO HAVE BANQUET

PESKY MEN HAVE NO CORNER ON BANQUET BUSINESS

Strict Ceosorship Placed Over All Stunts Pulled Off—What Became of Henry?

Jnst to show those pesky men tbey did not have a corner on the banquet business about 20 ladies of the village gathered at the besutiful home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Struik on Wednesday evening, January 10, and held a banquet of their very own.

Evidently the first thing on the program was to establish a strict censorshlp, as reports from the front are both meagre and unreliable. We have learned, however, that Miss Emily Wleland, In the capacity of toast master, or rather toast mistress, had the endeavors of C. E. Bearss, who officiated at the men's banquet backed into tbe primary class.

Reports of what took place are vague and conflicting, but It is enough to know the affair was in full swing when the men returned bome at midnight.

It is stated on good authority that on the arrival of the male portion of the household, one young lady at once signified her lntention of starting for her home on Harris street, and Henry, in a spirit of chivalry, kindly volunteered to escort her to that place, promising, however, to return In a few minutes aad do a like service for some others. It seems, however, that in some way he was detained, and after waiting nearly an hour the entire party broke up and went to their homes, voting Mrs. Struik as an entertainer to be without an equal.

WILDWOOD

Dr. Varden, of East Jordsn, drove through this neighborhood one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornwell attended the Hubert Klaus' wedding in Charlevoix last week.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

Winter Footwear at a Big Discount

We still lnave a good stoek of Winter Footwear that we will sacrifiee a little profit on and make you exeeptionally Low Priees. This storc has always enjoyed the satisfaetion of having a goodly list of pleased eustomers who return for the same elass of footwear.

JUST ARRIVED

We have just rceeived a new stoek of Ladies' and Gent's WOOL UNDERWEAR. We would like to show them to you and prove their exeellent value.

COFFEE THAT'S COFFEE

A NEW LINE OF COFFEE just placed in our stoek. Yc Coffee Drinkers, who enjoy the best in this beverage, need look no farther. We have found just what you want, the coffee that hits the spot. WE WANT YOU TO TRY IT.

FREE—Coupons on Roeker for Cash Trade

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Profit by Example

Do successful men hide their money in tin cans or under the bed-tick?

Do they carry large sums of moncy, running the risk of loosing it by being robbed or murdered?

The rich men—successful men—deposit their funds in the bank.

Then why not profit by their example?

You can open an aecount no matter how small and it will reccive our careful attention.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responslbility, $250,000.00

C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Message for You!

The eold winter weather demands warm elothing. To the people of this vieinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stoeks of heavy Shoes, Soeks and Rubbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you ueed Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Priees are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

Special

Skates for Everybody at 1-3 Off the rest of the winter

D. E. CLOW & CO.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL HOUSE

BUILDING AND CONTENTS ARE A TOTAL LOSS

Second Structure to Be Destroyed By Flames Duriog Past Six Years—Partially Insured.

A fire, probably starting in the basement and spresding so rapidly that when help arrived it could not be cheeked, completely destroyed the practically new Ellsworth school house Tuesday afternoon.

Everything was all right whon the building was closed at five o'clock, but when about an hour later fire wsa discovered, it had gained such headwsy that nothing could be saved. Wednesday morning it is simply a great heap of smouldering ruins, even the walls having fallen in.

This is the second school house destroyed by fire in the village during the last six years. The building was of brick, housing about 115 scholars and employing three teachers. It was erected in 1912 at a eost of about $5,000.

It is still too early to state just what action the school board will take for a continuance of school work, but probably rooms will be secured somewhere in town and the usual routine work continued as aoon as the books, which were completely destroyed, can be replaced.

This disasterous fire will be a severe blow to the members of this school district, as the already heavy tax the district having bonded for the building just destroyed, and still paying these bonds, will be made still heavier by having to build again, especially as the school house was only partially insured.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

H. P. Wolaver, of Owosso, was in town on business last Friday.

L. VanSkiver made a business trip to Charlevoix on Saturday last.

Ray Thacker, of Traverse City, was in town on business Tuesday.

John Stevens started for Saginaw with a earload of potatoes last Friday.

Dick Dicken and Basil Cummins, of East Jordan, were in town Saturday.

Ben Boes left Saturday for a week's visit at his old home in Reeman.

Henry Black has been cutting wood in thia neighborhood the past week.

Frank Cromp, of Central Lake, was an Ellsworth visitor Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Townsend visited Mr. and Mrs. R. Speyer one day last week.

Miss Violette Rogers is boarding at the home of Mr. Weiss while attending school.

Township Treasurer Albert Harwood was at the Citizens bank collecting taxes Saturday.

Miss Barbara Groenick, of New Era, camo home Thursday for a few days visit with her parents.

The friends of Mrs. Calvin Supernaw will be pleased to learn that ahe is steadily improving in health.

Rena, the little daughter of Mr. nnd Mrs. John Glass, is rapidly improving after her recent illness.

The Ellsworth Produce Co. shipped four carloads of potatoes to Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday of last week.

Mr. Hughes, of Eastport, has been visiting the last few days at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eugene Best.

M. Struik and Peter Baar started for Cleveland last Saturday, having charge of several carloads of potatoes.

John Parsons, Sr., returned from Charlevoix, Thursday morning, where he went to attend the funernl of Mrs. John Joliffe.

H. H. Dipenhorst left for Traverse City last Friday where he will stop for a few days before returning to his home in Grand Rapids.

In a letter to G. C. Townsend, of this place, Mrs. Charles Campbell states that she has arrived at Saginaw, where she is again ill.

Miss Maud Best returned from Alden, Saturday, where she went to visit her parents after attending the teachers' institute on Friday.

About 15 young ladies, all members of the local Lace Makers Union, met with Miss Blanche Boss at her home last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn have returned to their home in Mecosta, after a few days visit with Mrs. Pangborn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Nelson.

Edd Boss wishes to correct the statement made in last week's Courier regarding his loosing a horse. Edd says he did not lose a horse. He says he buried her himself and consequently he knows right where she is.

Prof. Brail, of the Ellsworth schools, went to Alden, Wednesday night, to officiate at the Elk Rapids-Alden basket ball game held at that place. He returned to Bellaire Thursday morning to attend teachers' institute.

Mrs. M. R. Nelson returned from Lansing, Monday afternoon, bringing ber little grandson, who will make his bome for a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson. It is no wonder Grandpa Nelson is wearing that happy smile.

Mrs. A. B. Sneller, of Atwood, has so far recovered from the operation for appendicitis which she underwent at the Lockwood hospital in Petoskey a few weeks ago that she was able to return home with her husband last Friday.

The Misses Maud Best and Lillian Patterson, teachers of the Ellsworth school, Miss Beth Strehl of the Essex school, and Miss Ruth Chellis, teacher at the Wright school, attended teachers' institute at the county seat Thursday and Friday of last week.

The Rev. Brower, of Grand Rapids, will preach at the Congregational church at this place Sunday evening, January 28. Those who have heard Mr. Brower claim he is one of the best speakers in the state. All should make it a point to be present on that occasion.

A deal was closed last week between Peter Wieland, of Ellsworth, and John Cameron, of Central Lake, whereby Mr. Wieland became the owner of the 120 acres of land formerly owned by Ben Defries. This land, adjoining as it does, the 80 acres already owned by Mr. Wieland will make one of the most valuable 200 acre farms in Banks township.

The following were among the out of town guests at the board of trade banquet last Wednesday: Dr. W. H. Parks, John Kinney, C. J. McNamara and Jack Hart, all of East Jordan; H. H. Deipenhorst, of Grand Rapids; Rev. E. C. Eldred and William Hicken, of Central Lake, and A. J. Usher and James Bogart, of Charlevoix. All report a good time.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holloess Churcb.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

(This column is open to all for the discussion of various topics. If there are public improvemants which in your estimation should be made, this column is open to you to view your ideas. If you desire to eomment on the action of the city, county or state government, or have any suggestions to make regarding it, it is your opportunity to do so through this column. No article exceeding 300 words in length, unless of unusual importance, can be accepted for the Pulse column. The Courier can pay no attention to communications not accompanied by the name of the author as a guarantee fo good faith, though this need not be printed.—Editor.)

One More Requisite?

Being greatly interested in the young American and the public school for the same, the following are a few thoughts that have often come to the writer's mind.

While mueh has been written, said and done, to obtain and provide brass plated, up to date, thorough schools of late, with regard to and for the benefit of the eyesight of children attending our public schools, domestic science has been coming rapidly forward as a subject requiring standings by girls, and agriculture for some time heing an essential for all our high school students to master, we have seldom heard the subject of the school child's teeth discussed with reference to any care for them.

It is very noticeable, by any one with ordinary observation, the apalling need generally of attention to the teeth of the average child of school age, and how very often do we hear of this or that child stopping at home with toothache? The consequence is the child falls this day back in the grade, causing anxiety on the part of the teacher to keep the work required up; the child is then overworked to "make up" the missed lessons, to say nothing of the pain suffered that day at home—all taken for granted said child really had toothache and did not play truant, and in the majority of cases add to this the kicking done by the head of the house about the poor work done that year in school, and concluding the teacher was "no

(Continued on page ten.)

Ellsworth Section

WRIGHT DISTRICT

F. A. Wright made a business trip to East Jordan, Friday.

A few attended the board of trade banquet at Ellsworth, Wednesday evening.

Thomas DeMoulpied has rented Mrs. Donaldson's farm in Rock Elm neigbborhood.

Samuel Alward, of Norwood, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of his brother, Issish Alward.

Mrs. John Visher and little son visited at the Jacob Bergsms home Wednesdsy afternoon of last week.

John Visher, C. Feltenbarger and Thomas DeMoulpied helped Wright Brothers buzz wood Wednesday and Thursday.

School Notes.

We were very glad to find that our school house had been cleaned during the teachers' institute.

Coasting seems to be the most exciting sport just now as the sleds and boba are kept busy except during school hours.

The pupils who have been neither tardy nor absent during the year are Walter McElroy, Bertha Alward, Ida Bergsma and Otto Feltenbarger. Those neither tardy nor absent during the month of December were Ralph, John and Ida Bergsma, Bertha, Manard and Charley Alward and Walter and Bruce McElroy.

PLEASANT HILL

This weather is hard on the wood pile.

Mrs. H. H. Fales is on the sick list.

No school for Thursday and Friday of last week as teacher was to the teachers' institute at Bellaire.

Ray Bearss, who is ill with pneumonia in East Jordan, is reported as some better. His mother, Mrs. Jeff Bearss, who has been there with bim, has returned home. But it will be some time before Ray will be able to come home.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TERS DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

BERKSHIRE BOAR for services. John Glas, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 4. 2tf

WANTED—Good four to six year old mare. About 1,400 lbs. Black preferred. Peter Wieland, Ellsworth. 3t2

FOR SALE CHEAP—Hercules Stump Puller, good as new, price $65. Also good work horse for $40. Godfrey Simon, 3 miles south of Norwood. 2t3

ESSEX SCHOOL NOTES

Gracie Bronkema was absent from school Tuesday on account of a cold.

Beatrice Wieland is out of scheol with a bad eough.

Miss Beth Strehl reports having a good time at the institute and gained many new ideas.

The fourth graders are filling out out-line maps of North America.

The girls are starting the new year with new ideas in crocheting.

The boys at school miss John Wieland's bobs this year.

Mrs. Denn sttended the Aid at Mrs. Struik's, Thursday.

Mrs. Chellis had some dental work done by Dr. Struik.

Mrs. George Bradford has left for Sault Ste. Marie to visit her sons, George and Bill.

Mrs. VanBeek is alowly improving.

Mrs. P. Wieland and Mrs. Tillotson attended the Aid at the Struik home Tbursday.

P. Wieland went to Central Lake on business Thursday.

William Drenth buzzed wood for George Drenth, Wednesday.

William Drenth went to East Jordan, Friday.

Mrs. Dekkenga visited Edward Tillotson, Friday.

Miss Beth Strehl, Miss Emily Wieland and Miss Ruth Chellis attended the thimble party at the home of Mrs. Boss, Saturday evening. Bill, junior, helped entertain.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Cburcb.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Tbursday—Prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.

Lectnrer—Max A. Brail.

Secretary—Emily Wieland.

When in need of

Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.

Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

FEED GROUND EVERY DAY

Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

℞ TAKE OUR ADVICE

—Have your prescriptions filled here.—

When you need drugs, you want them accurately compounded. We are here for that purpose. Drugs are advancing yet we are filling perscriptions at the lowest margin of prices. Now that winter chills bring on many ills we call your attention to the home needs in emergency cases.

Hot Water Bottles, Atomizers, Salves, A. D. S. Remedies
Chest Protectors, Sponges, Asorbent Cotton, Linement
Bandages, Tonics, Blood Purifier, Catharties, Etc.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

Ellsworth Section

BANQUET PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

THIRD ANNUAL EVENT PRONOUNCED THE "BEST YET"

Over a Hundred Seated at Tables and Greatly Enjoy Entertaining Program.

The third annual banquet of the Ellsworth board of trade was held Wednesday evening, January 10th, as per schedule, and to say that it was some banquet would be putting it far to mildly.

Long before the hour set for the fun to commence a crowd of over 100 members libsrly interspersed with guests from out of town, had assembled at the Boss hall, which had been cheerfully donated by tha owner for use as a reception room, and were there entertained by the band pending the start of the main event which took place in the Blue Store hall.

Promptly at 8:30 supper was announced and the entire party filed into the dining room to the strains of a march played by the Metripole orchestra of East Jordan. We wish to say at this time that if this orchestra, composed of the best of East Jordan's host of good musicians has an equal in northern Michigan, or for that matter in the entira state, we would be pleased to meet them. The board is to be congratulated on being fortunate enough to secure their services for this occasion.

The meeting was called to order by the president and following an invocation by the Rev. E. C. Eldred, of the M. E. church, all hands got busy and did full justice to the bounteous spread which had been prepared.

A noted feature of the supper was the settlement of a wager made by Jim Devey, of Bellaire, and Jim Bogart, of Charlevoix, as to the relative oyster consuming ability of said parties. After a neck and neck race, however, Bogart finally won in a garrison finish by the small margin of 37 oysters.

Supper over and cigars drawing well, President VanSkiver arose and after a short address of welcome in which a continuence of the good fellowship and brotherly love between business men and farmers was urged, introduced the toast master of the evening, C. E. Bearss.

As usual "Clum" was there with "the goods." He claims this was his first effort in the responsible position he was called upon to fill, but to an outsider, it looked as if he was prevaricating, aot to use the "shorter and uglier" word made famous by the irropressable "Teddy."

In introducing the first speaker, James Devey, clerk of Antrim county, he stated that Mr. Dovey was attempting to mix business with pleasure by selling a Hunter's licenae. Mr. Devey would neither affirm or deny this report when interviewed later. "Sunny Jim" plead unpreparedness and after an all to short talk, retired in favor of the next speaker, the Hon. Thomas D. Meggison, of Central Lake.

Of course everyone present knew Tom, but for fear some might not be acquainted with bis early life the toast master mentioned a few things connected therewith. Mr. Meggison's subject was "Good Citizenship," and in his usual direct manaer he delighted his hearers for what aeemed like five, but was really 25 minutes.

The next subject was one in which probably every man in the state is interested, namely "Good Roads." It was very ably handled by L. H. Neilson, of Cadillac, an engineer connected with the state highwny dopartment.

Mr. Neilson is a good roads advocate, first, last and all the time, and in explaining the manner in whcih state and federal aid could be enlisted in the building of roads in Michigan, be did more real good than the average man can do in a life time.

The next man on the program was our own good friend and fellow townsman, E. R. Harris. E. R. is positively the best judge of probate in the state of Michigan. We know this because he told us ao himself. He also said he was mighty glad the ladies had decided not to attend beenuse some of the things told about him in the introduction might be rather hard to explain at home.

Mr. Hnrris, in a short talk, explained the inner workings of the probate office and gave as one of the reasons of his successful and satisfactory reign as guardian of that office the past eight years, the system learned when a boy in the store at Norwood and rigidly followed through his basiness and private life up to the present time.

Tbe real trest of the evening came last when the secretary of the West Michigan Dovelopmont Bureau, the Hon. John I. Gibson, of Traverse City, was introduced. Mr. Gibson, although not a stranger in this section of the country, made his first appearance before an Ellsworth audience. His subject, "Boosting for Michigan," handled in his usual impressive manner, was one of tbe best talks ever heard in Antrim county. He told of the hopes and plans, successes snd failures of tbe bureau, occasionally varying tbe program with some humorous incident connected with his travels about the country in the interest of bis organization, and when at last be had finished his talk, it was sincerely regretted by all present.

Thus is ended oae more event of interest to Ellsworth and Banks township and the officers and members of the board of trade are to be commended on the able manner in which all arrangements were carried out.

BAD FIRE LOSS NARROWLY AVERTED

Democratic Efficiency and Fire Department Again Demonstrated.

A fire, starting near tbe chimney on the roof of the building occupied by the Ellsworth Drug company and which might have easily developed into a serious blaze, was discovered about 3:30 Thursday afternoon.

When first noticed it was confined to a spot not over a foot square, but was spreading rapidly and had already burned througb the roof.

Luckily help was at hand and the chemical engine was at once brought into service witb the result that the fire was quickly extinguished.

This was tbe first opportunity to try out the new extinguisher and all who saw the prompt and satisfactory results are well pleased with their investment.

CORRESPONDENCE

ROCK ELM

Mr. Dewey attended the institute at East Jordan last week. Tbe writer also had the privilege of attending the Wednesday afternoon session, having gone to see tbe corn exhibit, which for some reason failed to materialize.

Jesse Lawton met with quite a painful though not serious accident one day last week. He went to the woods to cut some wood, and in falling a small but crooked beech tree, failed to consider the possibility of its swinging sidewise and remained a little too close. When the tree fell it struck on one of the crooks, bounded back and swung towards him, striking him across the face with sufficient force to knock him down. His lips were cut and his nose was quite badly bruised, but he is thankful to have escaped more serious injury.

School Notes.

The Bird club held its regular meeting Friday afternoon. The boys worked to provide a shelter for the quails. They have placed a feeder for small birds in one of the trees which the chicadees visit.

Miss Agnes Lacroix is back in school again.

Jesse Lawton entered school on Monday of this week.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1917

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Garden varieties	3.50
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.30
Eggs, per doz.	.40
Honey, per lb
Potatoes, per bu.	1.50
Salt	1.40

MILES DISTRICT

The Gleaners enjoyed a pot-luck dinner with Albert Miles, Saturday.

Seventeen pupils on tbe enrollment who were neither tardy nor absent last month.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgkins recently celebrated their 25th anniversary. They received many beautiful silver gifts.

Several girls met at the home of Mrs. Lorence Isaman, Saturday afternoon, to tie a quilt. A contest ensued, which proved one as capable as the other. Lunch was served and the remainder of the afternoon was enjoyed by playing games.

A club was organized at the Miles school on Monday. The name of our club at the present time is "The Stars in a Blue Field." Motive, never give up. Colors, green and maize. Our officers were elected and an enthusiastic spirit was shown by all.

RANNEY DISTRICT

Clarence Baker returned from Springvale, where he was working.

Mrs. George Crawford is receiving a visit from her sister, Mrs. Mathers, of Central Lake.

Fred Moore made a business trip over here from Springvale on Tuesday last, returning Wednesday.

Henry Ribble was taken to tbe Saville sanitarium at Petoskey, Friday, where he will take treatments.

Mrs. Roscoe Smith bas been very sick with typhoid fever but is now improving under Dr. C. C. Varden's care.

Farmers' Institute met at South Arm Grange hall Monday, January 8. There were three speakers present, Messrs. Ingalls, Bailey and Barnum, and this place has due reason to be proud of the way they met the affair. There was no warm welcome, no dinner and not enough farmers of the right stamp to have an evening session. There was, or was supposed to be, a manager, but he failed to appear, but sent bis wife. We hope it won't happen again as there is another man appointed for manager next year.

More Births Than Deaths.

The stork beat out the Grim Reaper in Banks township during the year 1916 by a majority of 26. Here are the official figures. During the year there were 46 births reported against 20 deaths.

MAPLEVILLE

John Brown has purchased a new Ford car.

Barbara Groenink, from New Era, is home for a visit.

Arthur DeFries, who has been very ill, is slowly gaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Veddie Shooks are the proud parents of twin babies.

School was dismissed the later part of last week on account of the teachers' Institute at Bellaire.

ATWOOD

Gerritt Essonburg is hraaking a six year old colt for William Knight.

The Bos family are all on the mend again, most of them having the grippe.

Elzinga Bros sold 11 head of cattle the other day. Got a good price we uaderstand.

Egbert VanderStreek is one of the victims of grippe. All the rest of us have it or have had it.

A. Bos & Son have a cream statement showing 168 pounds of butterfat from eight cows in 17 days. Who can beat it?

Very small attendance at the Holland church Sunday and the young people did not meet in the evening on account of the weather.

Sam VanHorten and Joe Veenstra have finished cutting wood for Ben VanderHeide and are cutting for Ralph VanderHeide at present.

A. W. Hartwell is enthusiastic over the new steam automobile just invented. Wonder if he intends to trade bis Metz for one of them?

Andrew Essenburg bought a colt of E. VanderStreek last week. Looks as if be intends to stay. He is breaking it already. He'll buy a cutter next.

Seems good to have Mrs. Albert Sneller back witb us again. She feels fine. Her sister, Jennie Zylstra, is helping ber with ber house work.

Henry Klooster, our village merchant, made his Boyne trip Friday and came back Saturday. He came against that cold west wind and was about froze when he got home.

Doctor Beuker, of Co. I, 33rd Regiment, Michigan National Guard, was in Atwood last Sunday. We understand he goes back agnin to his work on the border Thursday of this week.

Miss Rose Klooster intends to prolong her vacation for some time, as we have heard she will visit her cousins in Peru, Indiana, and Lincoln, Nebraska. Wish we had some relatives--we'll go too.

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 2, 1886.

The new steam yacht, "Hattie K" is nearly done and will be a fine pleasure craft when completed.

Alex Yettaw is running on the Peoples party ticket for supervisor.

Miss Angie Wood, of Antrim City, is visiting Mrs. E. R. Harris.

Mr. Bates, of Hesperin, has purchased the printing outfit of the late Ox Bow Pin and is removing the same.

Bob Gidley is the new proprietor of the Columbia hotel.

A very wordy, windy battle took place at the depot Saturday morning between a Charlevoix doctor and an Ellsworth M. D. Nobody hurt, however, but it still looks blue down there.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

A Few Clearing Prices

We still have quite a surplus of the following lines and will continue the special prices to unload them quickly at discounts of from

15 per cent to 25 per cent

Men's 50c Woolen Socks - - 39c

$1.00 Caps at 89c

Men's and Boys' Suits at 25 per cent off

There are some holiday goods that we will sell at a discount of 25 per cent and more

Men's and Boys' Socks and Rubbers

A complete new stock of these goods has just arrived and we are offering some attractive prices on these goods.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

More Bitter Cold Weather on the Way

The weather prophet says that the recent cold snap is but a sample of what is to come. Are you prepared for it? How about replacing that old heating stove. It gave you poor service, didn't it—Better buy a new one right away and be prepared for all kinds of threatened weather.

Stove Prices to Close Them Out

As an inducement to close out all Heating Stoves, we will give greatly reduced prices on them for the next two weeks. Buy a COLE'S HOT BLAST and your trouble will be over. There are few better heaters---and few equal. We have other good heating stoves on which the reduced prices will prevail. Remember we are headquarters for WOODSMEN SUPPLIES, such as Axes, Saws, Wedges, Beetles, Filing Outfits, etc. We want your trade and will give you value received every time.

W. A. BOSS

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at public auction at his farm, 3½ miles southeast of Ellsworth, or ½ mile south of the Dufore bridge, on

Tuesday, Janu'y 30

Commencing at 10:00 o'clock, the following described property:

Gelding, 6 years old.
Western Mare, 6 years old.
Sorrell Mare, wt. about 1200.
2 Cows, 6 years old, fresh this month.
Heifer, 2 years old, fresh January 1.
Cow, 3 years old, due to freshen in April.
5 Calves.
30 Chickens.
Good Lumber Wagon.
Double Wagon Box.
Empire Grain Drill.
McCormick Mowing Machine.
Springtooth Harrow.
Spiketooth Harrow.
Truck Disc.
2 Cultivators.
2 Good Plows. Hay Rake.
2 pair Evencrs.
70 foot Deck Line and Blocks.
A few Draft Chains.
Good all-purpose Sleigh.

Olds Gasoline Engine, 4½ h. p.
Platform Scales.
Carpenter Tools.
Clothes Rack. Churn.
Writing Desk.
Dining Room Table.
2 Organs, 1 Organ Stool.
2 5-gallon Cream Cans.
Grind Stone. Corn Sheller.
3 Corn Hooks.
Cradle. 2 Cythes.
Brush Hook.
Combination Garden Set, Drill, Plow, Cultivator and Weed Cutter.
Heavy Double Work Harness.
2 Buggy Harnesses.
Cutter and Shafts.
Buggy and Shafts.
New Top Buggy and Shafts.
Many other articles too numerous to mention.

GOOD FREE LUNCH AT NOON INSIDE

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, eleven months time on good, approved bankable paper, approved by the clerk, with 7 per cent interest, payable at the Citizens Bank of Ellsworth. Five per cent off for cash on sums over $5.00. No property to be removed until terms of sale or complied with.

Frank Larsen, Prop.

H. J. Timmer, Clerk — W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

G. C. Townsend, Note Clerk

MAKES CITY A BONDED OFFER

NEW SOLUTION OF LIGHT PROBLEM PRESENTS ITSELF

H. L. Oldham Asks for Franchise to Erect An Up-to-date Plant—Under Consideration.

At the council meeting Monday night, H. L. Oldham, a resident of this city, through his attorney, Lisle Shanahnn, asked for an appraisal of the city's light and power properties and a franchise to erect an up-to-date plant for the production of electricity sufficient to amply take care of the town's present and future needs. As an evidence of his good faith and ability to carry out his project, Mr. Oldham offered to give satisfactory bond in the amount of $75,000. He also stated that if his proposition was accepted, he would undertake to have the plant fully equipped and ready for business within six months. The matter was referred to the water and light committee of the council for their consideration and report.

It will be remembered that the Courier, in a former article, held some such plan as this to be the ideal solution of the city's rather ticklish light and power problem. In its opinion, Mr. Oldham's, or any like proposition, should receive most careful and respectful attention.

The benefits of having our public utilities in clean hands and with no political or financial unground uxe hanging over them, would, we think, tremendously counterbalance any merely theoretical disadvantages which some of our more cautious city sages would advance as objections to the plan.

Better a monopoly in the hands of one who, we have every reason to believe, is interested in the city's future and not in what he can make out of it, thun a shameful deliverance into the hunds of outside capitalists whose only motive might be a desire to make capital of the city's misfortunes, say we. What do you think about it, Mr. Man-In-The-Street?

A MIGHTY LOCOMOTIVE.

Steam Traction Engine With Great Hauling Power.

In view of the oft repeated warnlug that the steam locomotive has reached the limit of its hauling capacity it is interesting to note that a monster locomotive has just been completed for the Erie railroad which has a maximum tractive capacity of 160,000 pounds, suys Engineering News. It will not be denied, of course, that it would be quite possible to build an electric locomotive which would have a tractive capacity equaling or exceeding this amount, but the cost of such a machine would be so great as to require on most railways operating under present financial conditions a special bond issue for its purchase.

This new monster locomotive for the Erie has been built for special pusher service on heavy grades, but it is extremely doubtful whether any competent railway expert versed in operating economics would advise the use of any such enormous machine for road service. The probabilities are that the economic weight of freight trains has been in many cases exceeded

The new locomotive knocks on the head another stock argument of the advocates of railway electrification. The steam locomotive has been unmercifully attacked by the electrical engineer because it is under the necessity of hauling behind it, uphill and downhill, a tender carrying its supply of fuel and water. Electrical engineers have argued that this weight was so much deducted from the available power of the machine since the weight of the tender was not available for traction. In this new engine, however, the builders have put a set of driving wheels under the tender, and in this way construct a steam locomotive which has as large a percentage of its weight available for traction as the electric locomotive.

Packing seldom used silverware in dry flour will prevent tarnishing.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

"The Great Unknown."

For thirteen years the author of "Waverley" was unknown. Indeed, the country spoke of him as "the great anknowu," u pseudonym Sir Walter Scott often employed in writing. But on Feb. 23, 1827, Sir Walter gave a dlaner party, to which, among others, Lord Meadowbank, the judicial magnate, who chanced to know his host's secret, was invited. Then when the tonsts were being drunk Meudowbank, with Scott's permission, got up and proposed the health of "the great unknown, Sir Walter Scott." The effect was magical, and the news spread through the country like wildfire. That dinner and the secret it disclosed were the most talked of events of the year.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

.. TO RESUME RAILWAY INQUIRY AFTER MARCH 4TH

Postponement Forced by Press of Congressional Business.

COUNTRY DEMANDS ACTION

Shippers, Investors and Representatives of All Branches of Business Demand Unification of System of Railway Regulation—Roads Ask Fewer Masters.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Congressional Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce, which has been conducting the inquiry into government regulation and control of transportation, last week decided to suspend its hearings on the subject and adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, because of the pressure of other work before Congress. According to the resolution creating the committee, it is required to submit a report by January 8th next. It is understood that before that time the committee will ask for an extension of time and that the hearings will be resumed at a later date, when some of those who already have appeared before the committee will be questioned further and a great many others will be heard. It is probable, however, that the hearings will not be resumed until after adjournment of Congress on March 4th. In addition to regular routine business the commerce committees of the two houses are charged with the important duty of preparing and presenting the legislation asked for by President Wilson to make impossible a railroad strike without previous investigation. This will leave little or no time for the consideration of the general questions of railway regulation.

Country Wants Something Done.

Members of Congress and others who are interested in the inquiry undertaken by the Newlands Committee insist that there is no intention of abandoning it.

It seems doubtful, indeed, if the country would permit the matter to be dropped if there were evidence of a desire on the part of Congress to do so. The nation-wide evidences of interest evoked by the initiation of the Newlands inquiry show that the people of the country—shippers, consumers and investors, as well as railway men themselves—are alive to the fact that the railway situation is highly unsatisfactory and that steps must be taken without unnecessary delay to make it possible for the railroads to meet the growing needs of the nation.

From reports received here it seems as though almost every commercial organization and business interest in the country were engaged in studying the railroad question. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has been conducting an elaborate inquiry into various phases of the subject for many months past. Many local and state commercial bodies in every part of the country have committees engaged in study of the problem and have indicated a desire to come here and present their views. National organizations of manufacturers, lumbermen, coal operators, wholesale and retail dealers, have expressed through resolutions their desire for the unification of the system of railway regulation. The National Industrial Traffic League, speaking from the viewpoint of shippers using the railways, has indorsed exclusive federal regulation providing it is accomplished in such a way as to give full protection and prompt adjustment in matters relating to transportation within the states.

Many Interests Studying Problem.

All these organizations represent primarily the shippers of the country, but they are not the only ones who are taking a hand in the discussion. The investors of the nation, through their own associations and through committees representing the savings banks and other financial organizations, are preparing to show the necessity of improving railroad credit and protecting the rights of those whose money is invested in railway securities. Finally the railroads themselves, being vitally concerned in the improvement of existing conditions, are planning to submit their views through their executives, operating officials and traffic experts and to assert their willingness to accept far-reaching federal regulation along lines that will enable them to attract capital and to provide the facilities needed for the prompt and efficient handling of the country's transportation business.

Main Trouble Is Too Many Masters.

Not all of these interests are in accord as to the remedies that should be adopted. There seems to be a general agreement, however, that many of the difficulties which confront the railroads and which make it impossible for them to meet the requirements of the nation's commerce promptly and satisfactorily arise from the haphazard and often conflicting measures of regulation that have been adopted from time to time by the federal government and the forty-eight states and that what is needed is a well ordered, systematic scheme of federal regulation that shall cover the whole country and make it possible for the railroads to provide the extensions and improved facilities so badly needed, while at the same time protecting fully the public interests.

Attention K. of P.'s

Lodge every Thursday night.

COAL SITUATION IS DESPERATE

CITIZENS NOW REALLY FEELING PINCH OF WANT

Railroads Confiscate Cars Without Fear or Favor—People Should Arise.

While Charlevoix coal piles are fast dwindling to nothing and dealers are doling out the precious nuggets in bushel lots, the P. M. R. R. and other predatory railroad lines forming links in the chain connecting the local consumer with his source of supply, are confiscating the shipments of coal at various points along the route. The two dealers in this town have had three cars grabbed up in this unceremonious fashion within the last ten days.

It may not be generally known that while this high handed procedure on the part of the railroads has become so customary that it almost seems a vested right, and while there is no law definitely prohibiting such seizure, still, it has never received the sanction of the law and the railroad companies are merely assuming it as a right because they are powerful and able to get away with it. No individual retailer can successfully wage a single-handed fight against this practice, but the various powerful associations of retail dealers, with their highly paid legal departments are able to cope with the skillful legal talent of the railroad corporations and secure damages in many instances. There is a statute, we are informed, providing that the railroad company on seizing a car and receiving complaint from the consignee, accompanied by bill of lading and invoice, shall pay to such claimant the full amount of damages sustained by him, but this the railroad seldom does without pressure is brought to bear upon it, either through the dealer's associations or by appeal to the interstate commerce commission, which appeal, we are told, has proven successful in several instances. They will hold the bill of lading and invoice, passing it through their claim department and involving a delay of sometimes months und often weeks, and then pay to the claimant just what he paid for the shipment.

Meanwhile the consumer, as always, pays the shot. We cannot see why the railroad corporations should claim special privileges over manufacturing plants, or other business concerns, who are forced to look ahead and provide themselves with supplies of fuel when it is to be had, or else go without. Once again is the old adage justified, in its reversed form, that "might makes right." And still the railroads howl about too much regulation.

Write your congressman, and if there is now no law to stop this semi-legalized robbery, stir him up to start one rolling in the right direction. Or perhaps a ruling of the inter-state commerce commission could fix it. Anyway, we are not lawyers and do not pretend to know, but even a fool knows when he is being mulcted.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

(Continued from page eight.)

good," proceeds to knock about her to everybody he meets consequently making matters worse instead of better all the time.

The next thought that follows is the question of how to solve the problem these circumstances involve. Is there not some qualified, public spirited, conservative man of integrity, in each county of Michigan who could be induced for health's sake and a reasonable renumeration by the county, to look after the teeth of all children who attend school?

The fact that this is a very important subject is confronting us right now and that the public will be called upon to investigate the situation is just as certain.

Will some one interested please act as a "ways and means" committee and write suggestivgly on the subject.

Very sincerely,
A COURIER READER.

DOING RIGHT.

Practical duty enriches the fancy and the heart, and action clears and deepens the affections. No one can have a true idea of right until he does it, nor any real reverence for it till he has done it often and with cost, nor any perfect peace in it till he does it always and with alacrity.—Martineau.

AGAIN VISITED BY FIRE FIEND

CAUSE THOUGHT DUE TO DEFECTIVE WIRING

Plenty of Smoke But No Flame a Puzzle to Firemen—Loss But Little.

"Lightning never strikes twice in the same place"—unless it is running through a poorly insulated wire.

Following right on the heels of the basement fire in the Central Drug store Tuesday night came an other the following evening, on the second floor of the structure in the apartments occupied by Ise Dice last summer.

Harley Ochs, who was on duty in the drug store Wednesday night, went upstairs to replace a burned-out fuse at about 20 minutes past eight and discovered the apartments above the store filled with smoke. He promptly turned in the alarm and the fire department answered, only to wonder where the fire was. By-standers in the street could see smoke curling up from the casings of the closed second-story windows, but no flame.

Finally the seat of the trouble was located in a pantry, just off the kitchen, where the fuse plugs and switches are located. The smudge had evidently been creeping around in the partitions for some time. The current was cut off and a few cupfuls of water quenched the fire and the excitement, but it was certainly a puzzle to the firemen for a while, as nothing showed but the smoke.

Free Picture Show.

There will be a free show at the Majestic theatre, Friday evening, January 19th, showing the Moose Heart home and farm and what the Moose are doing for their orphans, aged and infirm.

Charlevoix is very fortunate in having these pictures shown here, as there are but very few places in the state that will have an opportunity to see them. Children under 16 years of age will not be admitted.

Annual Bank Election.

At a meeting of the directors of the Charlevoix State Savings bank, held on January 15, 1917, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year:

J. L. Crane, president; H. S. Harsha, vice president; W. J. Rachow, vice president; A. D. Crimmins, cashier; Archie Livingston, assistant cashier.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want advs.

10% Discount For Cash on All

HEATING STOVES

Until February 1

—AT—

Blanchard Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

TAKING INVENTORY

And what will follow will interest you. Our entire stock is being rearranged and special bargain counters are appearing throughout the store. We must unload this large stock of Gent's Wearing Apparel to enable us to remodel our present quarters in connection with the new additional floor space being added.

Bargains in Every Line

In every branch of our merchandise sales-room will be found a bargain for you. The prices are lowest in figure of any store handling these lines of goods and when we say bargains our stocks go at Discounts worth while. This clearing sale will be continued until our floor space is free for such future disposal as we see fit. All lines of goods must be reduced in quantity or entirely sold out, hence our prices will be lowered to move each article in stock at once.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR GOOD FIRST-CLASS MERCHANDISE AT THE LOWEST OF PRICES SEE US AT ONCE.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 4. 8 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1917 PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

STATE SURVEY OF THE SOILS

REPRESENTATIVE WILEY OF SOO INTRODUCES BILL.

Object of Measure to Protect Settlers Against Bad Land Deals—A Good Measure.

A complete soil survey of 45 counties in the state, with a view to learning what the unoccupied lands in the state of Michigan are good for, will be asked of the legislature in a bill to be introduced by Representative Mertin Wiley of Sault Ste. Marie.

The work contemplated in the survey will cover a period of six years, and cost the state, all told, in the neighborhood of $275,000, but in the end the framers of the measure, and those behind it, hope that it will do two things: First show the people of the state exactly what can be done with the unoccupied land in the counties north of the Saginaw line. Second protect the state against land deal "black eyes," in that with the information as to whether or not land be is thinking of buying is agricultural or non-agricultural, the prospective outside buyer of Michigan land will know about what he is getting.

Colonizers are Blamed.

The proposed measure promises to be one of the biggest things of the present legislature, and it is admitted that the practice of agents outside the state sending colonists into Michigan onto lands which are absolutely unfit to produce anything, is in the main responsible for it.

Since the last session of the legislature there have been many cases in the public prints where purchasers of land were swindled and sent into this state with but small capital, placed upon land which was worthless, but which they had been led to believe would grow alfalfa over night and peaches in a week. Governor Ferris had a lot of cases called to his attention and after n consultation with Attorney General Fellows, it was found that there was nothing that could be done which would protect the name of Michigan and hold off the colonization of the innocents from the cities upon waste land.

Is Plan of Ferris

Governor Ferris finally decided that a soils survey, so that the purchaser would know what he was getting, was the only possible solution, and to this end he made mention of it in his inaugural message. Then it was suddenly discovered that two members of the house were headed toward some legislation to stop the colonization upon bad lands. These men were Mertin Wiley and Representative Croll, Jr., of Gladwin.

They got together, Croll had himself made chairman of the committee on the geological survey and immediately plans were made for the introduction of the measure and the shoving of it through the legislature.

Conference with A. C. Carton, secretary of the public domain commission; Frank S. Kedzie, president of the Michigan Agricultural college, and R. C. Allen, the state geologist, have been daily occurrances and the matter has been gone over in a thorough manner. As yet it is undecided whether or not the work will be placed under the control of the college or the geological department, more probably the latter.

The detail of the bill is to be based upon a memorandum prepared by State Geologist Allen. He has divided the state into zones, with regard to the amount of unoccupied lands which each county holds. Zones 1 and 2 consisting entirely of the counties in the lowest two tiers, have but a small percentage of unoccupied lands. No. 3 the upper part of the lower peninsula, runs all the way from 20 to 80 per cent of unoccupied land, while the upper peninsula counties have over 80 per cent of the lands unoccupied. He plans to make the survey only of Zones 3 and 4.

In these two zones there are 45 counties, 15 in the upper peninsula and 33 in the lower. Their total acreage is 22,000,000 acres, which the bill includes for the survey. Practically all the counties in the state above the Saginaw line are in these zones. The estimate of the cost is 1.2 cents per acre, or $7.62 per square mile, $276.50 per township, or practically $6,000 to a county. It is probable that contributions from other sources may be obtained, as, for instance, from the United States bureau of soils. The above figures, however, do not contemplate such co-operation, but are meant to be an estimate of the cost of the whole work.

"We think," said Mr. Wiley, "that this work is one of the most important the state can do and we hope the legislature can see it our way. Unless one has lived in some of the northern counties, where there are acres and acres of bad lands, they cannot realize how some of the home-seekers from the cities are misled into buying poor lands. They come to our section of the state constantly, only to find that the land they have bought is worthless."

State Given "Black Eye."

"With the soils survey we know exactly what we have, and we could so plan its results that the would-be purchaser can find out what he is buying—that is, whether the land is worth anything ut all for agricultural purposes:"

Mr. Croll, who comes from the upper portion of the lower peninsula, talks in the same strain. They both are very desirous of taking the "black eye" which Michigan now has among the land-buying hundreds, away.

TWO P. M. TRAINS CUT OFF LIST

Will Probably Be Restored When More Coal is Secured.

The following order has been received by Agent F. V. Alexander of the Pere Marquette, from Superintendent E. E. Cain, cancelling the morning train south and the forenoon train north for the present.

"While the weather is so severe and the coal shortage exists we will be compelled to discontinue running trains 11 and 6 north of Traverse City. Agents will so udvise the public. Regular service will be restored as soon as conditions change."

PICTURE SHOW WELL ATTENDED

GIVEN UNDER AUSPICES OF LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Moose Heart Home One of Finest of Its Kind in the World—Has Large Membership.

The free picture show Friday night at the Majestic was well attended and quite an eye-opener even to those who know what the various fraternal organizations are doing for their disabled and superannuated brethren, as well as the children of their deceased members.

The Moose Heart home, maintained by the Loyal Order of Moose, in the state of Illinois, about 35 miles west of Chicago, on the C. N. W. railroad, is one of the most up-to-date fraternal homes in the world and marks an era in this form of philanthropy.

A thousand acres surrounds the home, on which cottages have been erected for the superannuates and disabled members and their families, each cottage having enough land around it, to afford a garden patch. To such of these families as want them, orphan children, under the care of the order, are apportioned, thus giving the child the benefit of individual care and bringing much joy into the lives of the childless dependents.

An up-to-date water and electric light system has been provided for the little community which has thus sprung up around the central buildings of the home, and this is a feature which distinguishes the Moose Heart colony from others of its kind in the state.

While this enterprise is only about three years old, four hundred children are entered on its rolls, as well as other inmates. The home is supported by assessments levied upon the 900,000 members of the Moose Lodge in the United States, but the results are well worth the money.

The pictures Friday night were displayed by Charles H. Buell of Detroit, national director of the order, who described them in an interesting fashion.

Marion Grange.

The ladies auxilary of the Marion Center grange will hold an all-day session with Mrs. Walter Black, Thursday, February 1. It is the earnest desire to see every lady present at this meeting. The ladies are also requested not to forget their thimbles and glasses.

Many people are two-faced, and some are three-faced.

SHOULD KEEP CHIMNEYS CLEAN

MAY BE CAUSE OF A SERIOUS FINANCIAL LOSS.

Burning Chimney on State Street Calls Out Fire Department—No Damage.

Half the town rushed up State street last Wednesday evening just at supper time to receive an object lesson in keeping chimneys clean.

Flames were pouring from the chimney on the house of Mrs. Nancy Morrison, when the crowd reached the top of the hill with the advance guard of the fire deparment, and continued to pour out flame, smoke and sparks for upwards of an hour and a half, as though some munitions factory were overworking a night shift underneath. All the fire lads could do was to watch the chimney and let her burn out, and burn out she did, furnishing a timely warning as well as an interesting spectacle to the bystander.

Although no great damage was done to the house itself, the results might very easily have proven serious. A large percentage of the fires in this town, as everywhere, are caused by clogged flues or faulty mason work at the point where the chimney leaves the roof, and this is especially true in the winter, when large quantities of soft coal are consumed.

If there is any doubt about your chimney, better have the fire marshal look it over carefully before you have a fire that cleans you out. Especially is this true of rented houses, where the tenant is not sure that his predecessor was a careful man and left the premises in good, safe condition. And remember, that it is largaly up to you, Mr. Householder, to keep your chimney clean. If you burn coal, a little wood thrown into the fire every other day, or a quantity of paper, burned with all the drafts open, will keep your flues from clogging.

Preparations are now on sale at a small cost that, used according to directions, will keep the inside of your stove, your pipes and chimney as clean as a whistle. Remember the old saw, "an ounce of prevention"—

FIVE HUNORED DOLLARS REWARD

Authorities Want Bad Man for Murder and Robbery.

The authorities of Zanesville, Ohio, and of Muskingum county, in which the city of Zanesville is located, are offering a reward for the man who shot and killed J. Frank Bell, collector for the Bell Telephone Company, in their office in Zanesville, on the night of Saturday, January 13, and stole $211.00, in ones, fives, tens and twenties. Five hundred dollars reward is offered.

The man wore a gray or tan colored cap—dirty brown overcoat, was about 25 years old, fair complexion and slender built, about five feet, ten inches in height.

When you come to consider the amount of expensive machinery that is set in motion each time a thing of this kind happens and what the annual crime bill amounts to, including the cost of following and tracing a man for weeks, months, and sometimes years, and then the expense of his trial and his keep during the time of his imprisonment, it is certainly enough to stagger the average citizen, who has to pay for all this. But, then, what else can we do?

ENJOYABLE SURPRISE

Son Absent for Twelve Years Visits His Father.

A very pleasant surprise was given John Howe, who lives near this city, some days ago, when his son, Jasper and wife, and baby, arrived home after an absence of some twelve years, during which time his father had been led to believe that he had died, at some distant place. However, during this time Mr. Howe Jr., had become a prosperous farmer in Canada. The meeting was a joyous one for all concerned. Mr. Howe, Jr., has returned to his home in Canada, after visiting at the home of his father.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

INSTITUTE SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

FARMERS PASS IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS.

Go on Record as Being in Favor of Securing a Competent County Agent.

At the County Round-Up Farmers' Institute at Deer Lake, January 17-18, the following resolutions were passed by unanimous vote The stand taken by the farmers in these matters indicate the surprising amount of interest which has recently developed into better agriculture. The high prices which prevail have doubtlessly proven to all that the big business of farming is actually the most profitable of all occupations, when a good market is open for farm products.

Marketing Associations.

Recognizing the wastefulness in the present system of individual buying and selling practiced among farmers, we endorse the efforts of the state office of markets in organiziog farmers' co-operative produce exchanges.

Producers' Associations.

Since producers of farm produce are willing to pay better prices for a standard article properly graded and correctly labelled, we also stand in favor of associations of farmers pledged to the production of standard market varities, graded and labeled accordiag to the requirements of law and the best markets. As a beginning, we endorse the plan for a county potato growers' association.

Sheep Raising.

Believing that much of our waste and cut-over land could be atilized to our financinl advantage for grazing sheep, we stand in sympathy with any plan proposed by the state legislature to remedy the dog evil which we know now stands in the way of profitable sheep raising.

County Agent.

In view of the fact that the future success of agriculture in Charlevoix county depends so largely on the organized efforts of farmers, on the profitable utilization of our waste lands, on the introduction of better classes of live stock, and on more scientific methods of producing and marketing our crops, we stand in favor of and fully endorse the plan to secure a county leader in this work in the person of a county agricultural agent.

The officers of the County Farmers' Institute Society elected for the coming year are as follows:

President, Frank M. House.

Secretary-treasurer, H. L. Barnum.

Vice presidents, Bay township, Conrad Schneider; Beaver Island, H. P. Boyle; Boyne Valley, Herman H. Meyer; Charlevoix, George Durance; Chandler, James Milford; Eveline, R. W. Mead; Evangeline, Ben Gardner; Hayes, F. J. Bartholomew, Hudson, Wm. Leazler; Marion, Elmer Ingalls; Melrose, Clyde Kent; Norwood, Frank Richardson; Wilson, Tom Shepherd; South Arm, R. Bradshaw.

DRY GOODS GET CONVERTED TO WET

Unwillingly Submit to Deluge of Ice Water Bath.

A faucet froze and burst in the unused back kitchen on the third floor of the County Bank building, Monday evening at a little after six and shortly thereafter the employees in J. L. Crane's dry goods store who stayed late might have been seen scrambling around, getting stuff off the counters in the back part of the store and moving it up front out of the way of the deluge, which was coming down through walls and partitions.

Not very much damage was done, however, and the water's depredations did not show anywhere in the store to the casual observer the following morning. The bank rooms were uninjured, as they were not directly underneath the leak.

Foot of Snow in Texas.

A letter from J. A. Cameron, now located at Fort Worth, Texas, received on Thursday of last week, states that the weather there is extremely cold and a foot of snow lies on the ground. He claims that is "going some" for Texas.

RECENT VISITORS AT BIG EXHIBIT

Charlevoix Residents Taking in the Sights at Los Angelas.

Wm. E. Newman and John J. Fagan of this city, were recent visitors at the big exhibit of Southern California products maintained free to the public in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. They also attended the lectures, moving pictures and concert that are a part of the daily program. The exhibit is the largest of any in the country maintained by a commercial organization. Before returning home, they expect to visit several of the many other points of interest in Southern California.

REP. J. E. CHEW INTRODUCES BILL

Wants to Amend Trunk Highway Act Passed in 1915.

Representative J. E. Chew has introduced in the legislature a bill to amend the trunk line highway act passed by the 1915 legislature, under which the Mackinaw Trail trunk line running through the east end of this county was authorized. This road as at present located, in general follows the line of the G. R. & I. railroad. Representative Chew's bill would deflect the route at Boyne Falls, thence running through Boyne City and Walloon Lake to Petoskey. The proposed change would more than double the value of the road to Charlevoix county and shows that Repreacntative Chew is fully alive to the interests of his constituents.—East Jordan Enterprise.

DIRECTORS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

MET LAST WEEK TUESDAY AT EAST JORDAN.

Annual Exhibit for 1917 to Be Held on Saptamber 25, 26, 27, 28—Change of Officers.

The annual meeting of the officers and directors of the Charlevoix Co. Agricultural Association, was held at East Jordan, Tuesday, January 16, and was well attended, practically all the members being present.

A finance committee, consisting of Richard Lewis, F. H. Wangerman and Nat Burns, checked over the books and reported receipts for the year of $3,638.34, with disbursements of $3,374.05, leaving a balance on hand of $264.29.

Attorney D. L. Wilson was elected to succeed himself as secretary for the ensuing year.

H. B. Hipp was elected vice-president and Robert Price, marshal.

An executive committee consisting of Robert Price, H. B. Hipp and E. B. Ward was appointed, and a finance committee consisting of Richard Lewis, F. H. Wangerman and Nat Burns.

On motion the present speed committee—Burns, Madison, Houghton, French and Adams, were re-elected.

Superintendents of the various departments were appointed as follows:

Division A—Henry Nowland.
Division B—Terry Barber.
Divisions C and D—F. H. Wangerman.
Divisions E and F—D. F. Meech.
Division G—Ira Olney.
Division H—John Newville.
Division I—Mrs. Robert Price.
Division J—Mrs. W. F. Empey.
Division K—Mrs. Robert Price.
Division L—E. B. Ward.
Division M—May L. Stewart.

F. J. Meech tendered his resignation as n director and D. F. Meech was appointed to fill the vacancy.

On motion it was decided to enter into membership of the Michigan Association of Fairs.

One of the most important actions taken at this meeting was giving authority to the superintendent of Division B to pay one half of railroad fare on cattle shipped for exhibition purposes wherever necessary, the distance being limited to the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet.

The dates of the next annual exhibit will be on the last Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of September—the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th.

MICHIGAN WEATHER AT EL PASO

SOLDIERS BOYS ENJOY SIGHT OF SNOW.

Member of 33rd Regiment Shot Down in Cold Blood—Sickness is Decreasing.

By HAROLD W. USHER.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 16—For the last few weks we have been having Michigan weather—the sand banks taking the place of snow. The various composers of silvery lines about "balmy southern breezes" must have been dead from the shoulders up.

Last Saturday Co. I got another trick at border partrol. They are coming thick and fast now. It also snowed during the night and all the "spigettles" went aroand with all the clothes they had (or could horrow) on their shivering bodies and seemed amazed at the terribla snow atorm. For us, it was a blessing and snow balls flew thick and fast. For Corporal Glen Hockridge, it proved nearly a catastrophe. He lay in his pup tent out on the border, dreaming he was visiating in Charlevoix. Suddenly, the plot began to thicken and he felt something soft and moist on his cheek—lips, he thought, but as he awoke he found (curses) that it was only some wet anow that had blown through the tent. (Don't get mad, Hock, this is only my imagination.)

The 32nd Michigan Infantry starts for home to be mustered out Thursday, January 17. They certainly are a happy bunch, as they can now lay their pick and shovel (our implements of war) aside and be civilized again.

Corporal Schultz, from this regiment, was shot and killed by a negro in the down-town district of El Paso last night. As yet, the murderer has not been captured. This is the second occurrence of this kind in the Michigan brigade. In this town you can never tell when a man is going to take a crack at you or slip a knife between your ribs.

Since we have our new quarters, the sickness has decreased 75 per cent and at present, everyone is well. We have also discarded our cots, which were very cold, and now have the old bunks, like they have in the lumber camps in Michigan.

Hot Shots form the Border.

Yesterday Sergeant Griffin took a bath and found the woolen shirt he accused Smith of stealing four months ago. (Guess he found a vest too, but am not sure).

Not Surprised.

Pat's Girl—"Pat pretty near got shot, but he wore my photograph over his heart and it stopped the bullet."

Reuel's Girl—"I am not surprised, my dear, it would stop a clock."

Dreams.

Bachelor (sadly)—"I dreamed last night I was married. The alarm clock woke me."

Married Man (more sadly)—"I dreamed last night I was single. The twins woke me."

High School Dance.

Dick—"Shall we talk or dance?"

She—"I am very tired. Let us dance."

CITY DELUGED WITH THE BEAUTIFUL

Plows and Shovels Busy in Wake of Howling Gale.

Trainmen who speat Sunday and Sunday night at Mackinaw City say the storm of east wind and snow was the worse they have ever experienced there, and Charlevoix people believe they are right, As a result, roads out of this city are blocked and the streets are piled high with snow.

The storm struck Charlevoix Sunday forenoon and grew gradually worse during the day. Towards morning, the wind went down and by five o'clock Monday a. m. what little there was came from the northwest. The snow stopped falling late Sunday night, but not until everything had been buried beneath the beautiful.

You can borrow money on your farm or city property at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank.—Adv. 4tf.

MILK DIET GOT ON HER NERVES

She Recovers Lost Appetite By the Aid of Tanlac.

NOW CAN EAT ANYTHING

Eggs and milk as a steady diet for four months got on the nervas of Mrs. N. Landgref, 1246 Granville avenue, Grand Rapids. Tanlac has brought complete relief from her stomach worries. She said:

"I am delighted with Tanlac. It is what I havs needed for years. My stomach was sore and tondar. I suffarad from gas and aches in my stomach and back. I could not walk at times

Was Losing Weight.

"For four solid months, mind you, I lived on just eggs and milk. I lost weight, strength and about all ths energy I had. I lost interest in pretty nearly svsrything. I had that listless, dead-tired feeling."

All this time, Mrs. Landgraf said, she was taking various treatments. Nons of them helped her. Friends got her to take Tanlac.

"When a friend suggested I take this new tonic I laughed," continued Mrs. Landgraf. "So many treatments had failed I thought Tanlac couldn't help me. But my friends insisted I try Tanlac, so I did.

Relief in Tanlac.

"In a little while I began to improvs rapidly. My digestion got better and the ache in my stomach disappeared. My appetits came hack and I could eat things that had been denied ma. I hava gained eleven pounds in ths last month. Do you want any bettsr ovidancs of what Tanlac has done for ire?"

"I want to say that Tanlac is the first proprietary medicine I evsr took, and I wouldn't ist you use my name with it if Tanlac hadn't done ma so much good. As it is, I am glad ts tell anybody just how the new tonic helped ms."

Taolac cao be obtaioed bere ooly at the store of B. A. Herman.

Tanlac can also bc obtained at the following stores:

Boyne City, W. A. Hyslop.
Central Lake, F. J. Fessender.

Methodist Church.

A. M.—"The Victory of Faith."

P. M.—"The Early Church."—Illustrated.

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION.

G. W. Hale returned Sunday from Mancelona.

County Commissioner May L. Stewart of East Jordan, was in the city Friday.

Barney Kleinhenz has moved his family up from the farm and is now living in the Dorris house.

Mrs. M. S. Wheeler and little daughter, Marion, of Deming, New Mexico, visited her sister, Mrs. Dan Moreau of Petoskey last week.

EAST CHANDLER.

Miss Elsie Davis has been sick for the past few days.

The T. O. W. society met Saturday with Miss Gertrude Hughes.

Dalton Eastwood and Frank Standard are working for J. M. Snyder.

W. H. Clark and Miss Margaret Clark were Springvale visitors on Friday.

There will be no more church services at the school house during the winter.

School closes in the East Chandler district January 26, for two months winter vacation.

HAYES.

Another stormy Sunday.

Rawleigh man visited us Friday and Sunday.

We understand John Martin lost a horse last week.

Installation of Pine Lake Grange next Saturday night.

Dulcie Howe came home Friday to spend Saturday and Sunday.

Leslie Howe was a caller at the home of Mr. Tunison's Sunday.

An aunt of Mrs. Gilbert Ferris arrived last Saturday to visit her.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews spent Sunday with the Jones Lewis family.

Walter Smith spent last week with his boys, also his mother, brothers and sister.

George and Dulcie Howe were recent callers at the home of Fred Erfourth of Horton Bay.

Mrs. Clarence Gregory and children of Cross Village, spent a few days week before last at the home of W. S. Gregory.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bartholomew, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster.

CLARKE SCHOOL.

House cleaning this week.

Thanks to the little helpers.

GLASSES FITTED

CONSULT

J. LEAHY

Optometrist

Expert on Eye Strain

Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, and all other symptoms of Eye Strain cured.

Crossed Eyes Straightened Without an Operation.

Fitting Children's Eyes a Specialty.

Difficult Cases Solicited.

Glasses Guaranteed to Fit.
Office at Hotel Charlevoix.
Date—Monday, February 5th, 1917.
Will Remain One Day.
Home Office, Petoskey, Mich.

Jim Brock has returned to school after several weeks absence caused by whooping cough.

The following have received the required nnmber of home credits for tha year: Ebcr and Wesley Jolliffe, Floyd Parsons, John Boss, Hazle Morriaon, Lucilla Cook, Archie Brown, and Jenals and John Brock.

Tom Matchett, who has recently purchased the Skinner farm, moved his household goods this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clark and Miss Barkley spent Friday evening at the home of Charles Stevens.

HEART LAKE SCHOOL.

The first thing we met Monday morning was the mid-year exams.

The school board presented our teacher with a new eight-day clock, that tells the day of the month also.

The third grade has been studying the poem "Barefoot Boy," by James Whitcomb Riley.

Some of the first grade and chart class have been unable to come to school on account of the bad weather.

The following pupils have the required number of credits for home work: Ila Gifford, Howard Gorbutt, Millard Webster, Eleanor Scott, Erma Scott, Cora Townsend, and Roy Scott.

The primary grades have been doing some very good work in modeling animals, dolls and carriages from plasticine.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Thrift Day, February third.

Did some one say "Who ever saw a school room with windows on just one side?" Several in the county, but for ideal construction visit the principal's room—East Jordan, west side. Just finished.

Thrift essays: "I earn $1.00 per week, What I shall buy and what I shall save." "Mending—Why? and Mending—How?" "The Garden I Raised, the Money it Cost, What I got from it." "Others? It's up to you.

Five teachers in Charlevoix county are eligible for pension under the new retirement fund law.

The county agent met with universal favor among the teachers—a unanimous vote on a resolution in favor of securing one for this county.

County Round-up of Farmers' Institute Society, February 17 and 18. Were you there?

List of bulletins that may be secured from this office: School Laws, Explanations of School Laws, Preferred Lists of Books for District School Libraires, Preferred list of books for township and high school libraries, Special Day Programs, Mannel and Course of Study for Elementary Schools, Manual and Course of Study for County Normal Schools, Manual of School Room Equipment and Construction, School Buildings and School Grounds, Michigan Standard Schools, Labor Laws, Compulsory Education Laws, Acceptance Affidavits, County Directories, Atendance Certificates, Class Books for Grading Purposes, Home Work Supplies, old examination questions, etc. By enactment of 1915 the commissioner's office is n distributing center for state departments. Michigan Red Books and reports from state superintendent of public instruction are received every other year. The latter have been received for this year and are being held until the officers' meeting for more convenient distribution than is otherwise possible.

County Survey returns will be published soon.

A splendid institute for teachers. The state department used us fina this year and sent some splendid workers to us. Every teacher was expected to be present and nearly every teacher was present.

The institute workers declare that Charleviox county has the most wide-awake, responsive teaching corps they have met. Three cheers for the teachers.

Frank Osborne, of the west side school of the City of East Jordan, has developed some handwork that could be introduced into the smallest or largest of the rural schools. He gives this work to ths boys one hour each week. He gets his designs from a woodwork manual, no previous training nscessary, just a little energy, the desire and the determination. For material he uses old cigar boxes, his tools are whittling knives, sandpaper and an old file. The boys have made wooden ladles, kite winders, and calendar supports. So many times we find extras for the girls, but now for the boys.

This is the Stove Polish
YOU
Should Use
BLACK SILK
STOVE POLISH
IT'S different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.
Black Silk Stove Polish
Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.
All we ask is a trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish.
Made in liquid or paste—one quality.
Black Silk Stove Polish Works
Sterling, Illinois
Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel on grates, registers, stove-pipes—Prevents rusting.
Use Black Silk Metal Polish for silver, nickel or brass. It has no equal for useon automobiles.
"A Shine in Every Drop"

The Rock Elm Mothers' Club is discussing the bot noon lunch problem. They will get there.

Examination returns should be in this office at the latest by January 25th.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No.255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No.108 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT

President
J. F. JOHNSTON
Of Johnson Bros. Ship Builders, Ferrysburg.

Vice-President
FRED M. GUY
Formerly of Guy Carriage and Body Works, Toronto.

Secretary
J. L. DORNBOS
Cashier Peoples' Savings Bank, Grand Haven.

Treasurer
F. R. BOTHWELL
Formerly with Briscoe Motor Corporation

ENGINEERING BOARD

Director of Production
FRED M. GUY
Formerly Superintendent Disco Company

General Superintendent
ROY FLICK
Assistant Superintendent for Six Years with the Buick Motorcar Company

Purchasing Agent
BURTON HINKLEY
Formerly of the Briscoe Corporation

Consulting Engineer
MORGAN J. HAMMERS
Former President and General Manager Abbott Detroit Motorcar Co.

AT LAST

one of the greatest desires of the people of Grand Rapids and of all Western Michigan has been achieved, when it was announced yesterday that The Hackett Motor Car Company of Jackson will build a new, modern daylight factory, move its equipment, and make its future home in Grand Rapids.

Furthermore, remember that The Hackett Company is not a conceived idea which we hope will prove successful, but is a going automobile concern---a member of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce--with its cars produced--all of its material contracted for--a large dealers' organization; in other words, a real, live going success which has increased its capitalization to enable it to become a company with sufficient financial power to produce cars on a larger scale. This meant a large, modern factory, and more employes; therefore Grand Rapids was decided on as the most ideal location.

Now the people of Western Michigan are offered the opportunity to become part owners in their own home motor car company.

The stock of The Hackett Motor Car Company is all common, fully paid and non-assessable. Par value ten dollars ($10.00) per share.

The Hackett Company has notified us that its stock increased to $12.50 per share on January 20, but we have now arranged with them to extend the time limit and also to increase the allotment of stock for sale at $10.00 per share.

THIS WAS DONE TO ENABLE EVERYONE TO HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE THEIR STOCK BEFORE THE FIRST INCREASE.

UPON REQUEST, EITHER BY MAIL OR TELEPHONE, WE WILL GLADLY FURNISH YOU FULL DETAILED INFORMATION. BETTER STILL, CALL AT OUR OFFICE PERSONALLY.

After Investigation---Decide for Yourself

Michigan Motor Securities Co.

Citizens 4283 Bell Main 2442 533-536 Michigan Trust Co. Bldg. GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN

CHAPTER XVIII.

Blue Flannel and Corduroy.

THE world was snowbound—all that small world which lay between the hills in the valley at Thirty-Mile. For two days it snowed so heavily that all work moved but intermittently at the up river camp, and then, two days before Christmas, the mercury dropped sharply into the bulbs and the weather cleared.

From his window Stephen O'Mara watched the heavy loads crawl up to the storehouse door. He watched the drivers throw tarpaulins over the boxes and knew that they were too weary to unload that night. And he was still there at the frosted pane when the three men, Big Louie still plowing ahead, hove into view again from the direction of the stables and came straight toward his own shack. He opened the door and bade them enter before they had had a chance to knock. The swagger in the shoulders of two of them told him what to expect. Big Louie was only clumsy, as usual.

"You did well to make it," he told the latter kindly, as he always addressed him. His nod to the others, who reeked of white whisky, was in part a question, in no wise a welcome. "Well?" he asked.

Apparently there had been a conference beforehand, for there was no hesitancy on the part of Fallon, who had been ordained spokesman.

"We've come for our time," he growled.

Steve nodded gravely.

"I see," he murmured. "May I ask what's your grievance this time?"

They were satellites of Harrigan. Because of that he had kept them all where his eyes could find them at times. And, even though their arch leader in discontent had not crossed his path in many days, he listened now to an echo of Harrigan's activities.

"They're offering three a day in the reserve camps." Fallon should not have gloated. "Three a day and a bonus for the high week end. "We're going back to the river."

"I see," again observed Steve. "Are they guaranteeing this wage for as long as you want to work?"

Apparently they had decided, too, that there should be no bargaining.

"We want our time," Fallon reiterated. "This is going to be a man's year on the river!"

"You also?" Steve inquired of Shayne.

"Yes, me also," he came back, "an' a hundred others before the ice goes out."

Big Louie he had given up for lost before that, and yet it was with Big Louie that Steve made a sincere effort.

"I'd like to have you stay, Louie." He faced the third man. "I need you, for you can do more with horses than any man I know. You are worth three a day to me. Do you care to think it over?"

Big Louie's eyes had been mournful when he stumbled in out of the cold. They were that now. He started to turn toward the window for a look at the stables and then thought better of it. Resolutely, for him, he shook his head.

"I am done—me," he muttered. "I work for no company that will leave honest men to starve."

It was hopeless from the start, yet Steve tried again.

"I can promise you work as long as you are able to hold a rein," he offered, but he moved nearer the door while he was speaking. "That is all I can promise."

Perhaps Fallon believed that Big Louie was weakening. Perhaps he felt that the situation was too highly dramatic to be wasted, for he made a wide flourish with one hand.

"We want our time, and we want it now," he threatened. "We're going to show you who losses this river before we're done with you!"

Fallon shouldn't have gloated; he shouldn't have threatened. And Shayne shouldn't have smiled. Steve had slipped the latch loose. Now he swung open the door.

"Call for your time at the Morrison office," he said evenly, "and if you're going—why, go!"

By collar and belt he swung him back and drove him sprawling into a drift.

"Are you in a hurry, too, Shayne?" he asked pleasantly, and Shayne buried his head beside Fallon's in the snow. Then Steve closed the door carefully and turned again to Big Louie.

"Louie," he said, "I make it a rule to urge no man who does not wish to stay. If it needs persuasion to keep you I do not want you here. But you are running with the wrong crowd, Louie. You'll learn it some day, but some day may be too late."

The big, dreamy eyed man was hardly listening, but he gestured toward the door. And Steve treated his departure kindly, as he had always treated his presence.

Outside where Shayne and Fallon had picked themselves up Big Louie hesitated and fumbled in his pocket with a cold cramped hand. He delivered the letter for Stephen which had been intrusted to him by Miss Sarah. There are many men like Big Louie who are pitifully faithful until events outstrip their intellects. Steve was sorry for him, and a half hour later, after he had read Miss Sarah's prim note requesting his presence at dinner at 7:30 Christmas eve, he grew sorrier still while he watched the ill assorted trio meet once more, blanket packs upon their backs and snowshoes on their feet. Big Louie had joined the other two from the direction of the stables. There were words between them, for Steve saw the huge man's arm lift to strike Shayne to the ground and then drop harmlessly back to his side. And Steve knew what that bit of pantomime meant.—Big Louie had been to bid his team goodby. There was a smudge of brown sugar across his cost, though the watcher was too far away to see that. But he knew that Big Louie had been crying, knew that Shayne had smiled. It was the second time that Shayne had smiled that evening—his second bad mistake. Long after they had disappeared into the north toward the Reserve company's camps Steve wondered that it had not cost him his life.

Miss Sarah's note which had been almost a week on the way was very primly correct, but the inevitable postscript which underran it sounded a more intimate note.

"We are not excessively formal as a rule, Stephen," she wrote, "so a dinner jacket will be adequate. As I am expecting two other guests besides your friends, Mr. Morgan and Garrett Devereau, I must ask you to let no business matters interfere with your promptness."

Steve dared not let himself wonder who those other guests would prove to be. Miriam Borrell, he knew, had already written Gurry that this was to be the saddest Christmas and the merriest that she had ever known, giving as respective reasons her inability to be with him and the fact that she was so entirely his. Because he would not let himself hope this time he was not disappointed, or at least so he told himself, when he found only Dexter Allison with Caleb the next afternoon near 6. And on a sudden thought his eyes went roving around the room then, looking for Archibald Wickersham. But Miss Sarah gave him no time for a protracted scrutiny.

"And if you're going—why, go!"

"Your room is ready, Stephen," she told him and steered him toward the stairs. "You have an hour in which to dress, and you know already that I am old maidenishly strict."

And then, three-quarters of an hour later, when he had dressed and turned to the stairway Barbara was there at the foot of the flight waiting for him to appear. In a little low pink satin gown that made rounded her slenderness—made her appear even smaller than she was—she gave him an elaborate courtesy from the main floor and flung up at him her laughter.

"Merry Christmas, Sir Galahad!" she called.

Steve, who was only dimly aware of the fact that Gurry and Fat Joe had arrived, the latter guilty of his first dinner jacket and enormously proud of his guilt, stood looking at Barbara while she was chattering at him without hearing distinctly a word she spoke.

"You look as though I were a wraith," the girl accused him. "Am I so pale after a few weeks of sophisticated city air?"

"I thought you looked like—shall I tell you what I thought?"

"Most certainly," she was forced to insist. "Wasn't it a bald enough invitation for a pretty speech?"

"I thought you looked like a small pink bon bon," responded Steve leisurely, and, while the rest laughed at her discomfiture, Fat Joe leaned over and nudged Gurry.

"What'd I tell you?" he demanded. "What'd I tell you? Say, ain't he working well tonight?"

There was no keeping the girl within doors after dinner was over. She ran upstairs and changed into moccasins and white blanket coat and skirt that barely met the moccasin tops halfway. And Steve, who had changed, too, and was waiting for her when she came down, had knotted a crimson scarf about the middle of his belted jacket to match the white one twisted about her throat.

The man and girl climbed far that night in quite unbroken silence. They had reached the crest of the first hill and stopped with the higher ridges in front of them, black hulks filigreed with white, before Barbara decided that she would have to make him talk.

From the first he talked titfully that night. On other occasions she had noticed how his mind seemed to veer, whimsically, from one topic to another with little apparent continuity of thought, only to swing back again just when she was beginning to feel that she had lost the thread of inference to point his argument with parallels that were new and delightful wisdoms to her ears. But tonight his grave voiced divergences oftener than not left her thoughts behind his thoughts.

"It is a very easy country to get lost in," he remarked when he had had to insist that his sense of direction and not hers should be the one to be trusted.

"It doesn't seem complicated," he pondered. "To a man who has come into the world with his sense of north and south and east and west all safely relegated to his backbone instead of having to depend upon the flighty functions of his brain for his guide it's about the simplest thing there is. He finds his way without thinking about the lay of the land or moss on the trees or the sun or stars. But the other one—the one who has to stop and reason that he must travel so many miles to the west to reach home in the afternoon because he came that many in the morning—why, he even gets to doubting his compass, until night catches him without a roof over his head and no wood collected for a campfire."

"I shall try to remember that," she answered soberly. "If ever I am lost I—I shall try to wait confidently for daylight and keep my eyes to the fore."

She was near to tears when he stooped and knelt in the snow to tighten a thong slipping from one webbed foot. Below them stretched a plain of shimmering frost points, bounded by inscrutable walls of black timber. Somewhere within the warmer heart of a swamp a fox yapped hungrily; somewhere within her own heart his whimsical discourse had awakened a sense of the mystery of his wilderness—its friendship for those who love it—its implacable enmity for those who do not understand. And he looked up just when that emotion came flooding into her face.

"It is wonderful—wonderful—wonderful!" she breathed, throwing out both arms with that ecstatic impulsiveness which he knew so well. "Now I know why you said men always return to it once they have felt its spell."

"You are lovelier than you know!" came back from him, almost gruffly again, and she could not parry with lightness so swift and strained a speech.

"You always tell me very pretty things," was all she could think of to say in reply.

But then, rising, he flung back his head and shook himself as if throwing off a burden too restraining and irksome. He laughed aloud, and from that minute until he loosed her feet from the snowshoes he was more like her "blue flannel and corduroy" lover again. But his attack no longer made her fear herself.

"If I cared for you, yes," he made her admit before he would let her go in that night. "If I cared for you my engagement to no man could stand in the way. But that is the reason I know I do not care."

She had seen him grave with doubt that night; seen him fight to shake it off. There was doubt in his answer now.

"Because I am not"— But he could not force himself to ask it.

"Because I could never care as you would demand the woman should care who marries you."

She wanted to help him a little, she didn't know just why. Pity is a very dangerous emotion when pity is not sought.

"You are loving me that way this minute," he said, but his words were dogged. "Loving me more than you know."

There was neither reference to her letter nor mention of that night at Thirty Mile when she had stolen out to bid him goodby. Other long tramps followed on other pale and zero nights, but his attitude remained much the same.

* * * * * * *

"You will be coming back," he told her again the day he put her on the train. "You will be back in the spring?"

It was his old, hopeful challenge, with all the hope left out.

"I think so," she faltered in return. "I mean to come and see the completion of your work if father will let me." She knew a moment of confusion. "I wonder many nights if you are safe up here in the hills."

Indeed, Miss Sarah had made progress, though the surface indications were small. The girl would never think of him again simply in terms of blue flannel and corduroy. But that was not the most disturbingly vivid memory which she carried away with her.

"I love you." He framed the words silently as the train was pulling out, and, although their positions were reversed, the moment was so reminiscent of that day when he had leaned out of her father's switch engine cab and asked if she wanted a ride that it made her throat ache.

She waved a small gloved hand to him on the platform.

She did not want to go.

(Continued on page six.)

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Adolph B. Major and Ida Major, his wife, of the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, unto the Union Trust & Savings bank of Flint, Michigan, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 22nd day of June, 1911, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 26th day of June, A. D., 1911, in Liber 47 of Mortgages, at page 446, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due upon the principal and interest computed to the 28th day of October, 1916, eight hundred seventy-five and 57-100 ($875.57) dollars, and the further sum of ninety-five and 93-100 ($95.93) dollars taxes paid by mortgagee upon the real estate therein described, and the further sum of thirty ($30.00) dollars attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 25th day of January, 1917, at one o'clock in the afternoon, we shall sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for Charlevoix county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest at the rate of seven per cent and all legal costs and taxes paid as aforesaid, together with an attorney fee of thirty ($30.00) dollars covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as being situate in the Township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, viz:—The west half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), town thirty-three (33) north of range four (4) west; and the southeast quarter (¼) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section nineteen (19), town thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) west, said to contain one hundred twenty (120) acres of land more or less

Dated, October 28, A. D., 1916.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF FLINT,
Mortgagee.

44t13

BRENNAN, COOK & GUNDRY,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Business Address: Flint, Michigan.

Performance of Land Contract. Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 30th day of December, A. D. 1916.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased, Isaiah Wasaquam having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitable person,

It is Ordered, That the 23rd day of January, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 1t3

Notice of Final Administration.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charevoix, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D., 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Hartwell, deceased, Charles J. Zeitler, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is ordered, That the 7th day of February, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

3t3

Notice of Hearing Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that four months from the 23rd day of January, A. D. 1917, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on or before the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1917, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Wednesday, the 23rd day of May, A. D 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated January 23rd, A. D. 1917.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

413

SAVE
THE EASY WAY

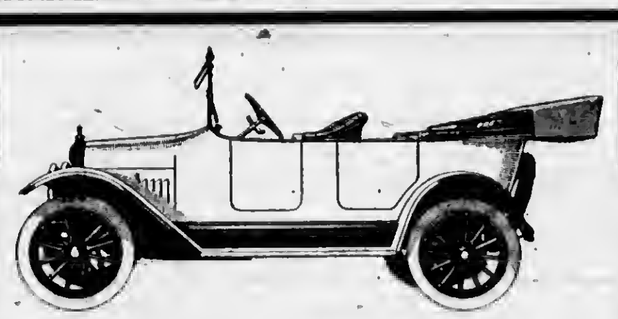
THE SAVINGS CLUB

Offers you the opportunity to prepare for any future obligations by making small weekly or monthly deposits on which we pay you 4 per cent interest

Join the club now and start on the road that leads to success

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK
Nichnlls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER



Pay As You Ride!

Pay for your Maxwell as you enjoy it. Unusually easy time payment plan. Also a Savings plan. You've been thinking about a Maxwell—now you CAN own one. Ask us for details of these plans. The Maxwell is complete, electric starter, etc.—a real family car.

Maxwell $635 f. o. b. Detroit

We have several good second hand cars for sale call and see us about them.

Bring your storage batteries to be charged and repaired. WE make a specialty of automobile repairing, machine shop work and welding.

ERICKSON & FOWLER
THE CENTRAL GARAGE
103-105 ANTRIM ST. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Grocery Special January 24 to 31

24 1-2 lbs. COMMERCIAL FLOUR at ... $1.25
24 1-2 lbs. PURITAN FLOUR at ... $1.35
4 lbs. GOOD WHOLE RICE at ... 25c
3 PACKAGES SILVER BAR RAISINS at ... 25c

TERMS CASH--NO CREDIT

Mason's Grocery Department

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued Every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers.
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, three months..... 40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

Michigan has, if Lansing newspaper dispatches are authentic, all the time been in possession of a means of successful retaliation against the railroads for apparent holding up of shipping which has in the past six months so effectively crippled industry and commerce, but through someone's oversight or neglect has never employed it. What is the matter?

Representative Michael Harris of Menominee, is reported to have read about the preparation of a reciprocal demurrage bill as a "come back" against the railroads and freight congestion that is causing so much suffering and to have immediately set about an investigation, resulting in his uncovering a reciprocal demurrage bill passed by the Michigan legislature in 1907 and charging the state railroad commission with the duty of fixing the amount of demurrage a railroad shall pay when it fails to comply with a shipper's requirements.

Now Representative Lewis, who was preparing the new reciprocal demurrage bill, will substitute for it a resolution asking the state railroad commission why it has failed to enforce the reciprocal demurrage law. He says if the answer is not satisfactory he will go farther.

"The reciprocal demurrage law is found in the public acts of 1907. Whether it has been nullified by some court decision is not known, but if it has not it is high time that the railroad commission be brought to its feet. Such a law, if enforced could be made to relieve the coal situation which this winter has made people to suffer as never before, for the railroads are clearly responsible for a lot of the trouble.

Just at present a great many Americans seem to be in the position of the farmer who was met by the Arkansaw traveler. The farmer did not shingle his roof because when it was fair weather he did not need to and when it was raining he couldn't. Just at present we have prosperity due to the war in Europe and many think we do not need a protective tariff. When the war ends we shall be under the control of a free trade administration and we can not impose a protective tariff even if we so desire. But perhaps we shall profit by the experience.

INSTALL OFFICERS.

Lady Bees Held Ceremonies Tuesday Evening.

White Rose Hive, L. O. T. M. of Charlevoix held their installation ceremonies Tuesday night in the Odd Fellow Hall. The following officers were installed to hold office during the ensuing term:

P. C.—Jennie Burns.
Com.—May Bugbee.
L. C.—Jennie Black.
Chap.—Lucina Withers.
R. K.—Clara Todd.
F. K.—Mary Cowan.
M. A.—Phoebe Ross.
Sergt.—Carrie Heise.
Sentinel—Catherine Himebaugh.
Picket—Lilian Bacot.
Lydia Alcock was installing officer. Refreshments and an attractive program followed.

Courier Job Printing Satisfies.

REDUCE
YOUR TABLE EXPENSE

All you have to do is to buy your groceries and cured meats at this store.

Quality, price and cash will do the rest for you, as it is doing for hundreds of others.

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

"WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY"

Is an old and a very true saying, and in nothing does it apply with more force than in the matter of saving money. Everyone should save some part of his earnings, as it is not what one earns but what he saves that makes wealth. Start a Savings account this month with

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Hersha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD.

Mrs. Clyde Smith, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is reported as being a little better at this writing.

John Potter, who has been very low with pneumonia for the last couple of weeks, is slowly improving.

The stork made another visit on Saturday morning and left a fine eight pound baby boy with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beattie, who is to be known as Clare Laverne.

It has been so stormy the last two Sundays that Rev. Smith did not succeed in getting over to the Barnard charge, and so there has been no church services either Sunday.

John Holiday, who recently purchased the Webster Helma place and a part of the old William Clarke farm, moved his family, household goods, farm implements and stock down from Van, Michigan, the first of the week.

The farm home of Albert Beattie is under quarantine for scarlet fever. Miss Hazle having contracted the disease in some unknown manner. It is quite a severe case, but Hazle is now improving, being over the worse part of it.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Seiler was the guest of Mrs. W. Scott last Saturday night.

Several have been absent from school on account of severe colds.

The Misses Metta and Leora Sanford are spending this week at Deer Lake.

A number were out to Sunday school last Sunday, considering the bad storm.

Mrs. Lauren Duffy, who has been visiting her grandmother at Mullet lake, is expected home Monday.

W. Sanderson was seen going toward Boyne City one day last week with a large load of something. Upon looking again one might have seen that the "something" was a fine load of hogs which Mr. Sanderson was taking to market.

Wonderful improvement has been made in our penmanship work and some of the pupils are going to try for a pupil's certificate which will be issued from Mr. Palmer himself. We are also trying to use the muscular movement in all of our writing and some are very successful.

A number from our side of the lake attended the installation of officers of the Ironton Maccabee Ladies last Saturday night. A splendid pot luck dinner, which would make everyone have a good appetite, was served. Everyone had a lovely time and went home thinking they would surely come again.

The second meeting of the singing school was held last Saturday evening. A good crowd was out and many new things were learned. In the presence of Miss Seiler, with her enthusiastic spirit, everyone feels as if they must sing. Those who thought they could never sing a note are trying at least and are indeed making a good success of their try.

EVELINE.

William Johnson lost a yearling colt last week.

Master Don Lynn was pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by his school mates and friends.

Roy Bancroft and Everett Orvis plastered the dining hall of the Ironton grange last Friday and Saturday.

We hear that a prominent business man of East Jordan is about to purchase an improved farm in Eveline.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Neilson were called to Cincinnati, Ohio, last Wednesday, Mrs. Neilson's father being critically ill at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tumuth have returned to Ironton and Mr. Tumuth is grinding feed and flour every day. Patronize your home mill and you will be satisfied with the results.

Thomas Nelson is having more than his share of misfortune. After over three months of confinement he will be obliged to stay in a plaster cast for about eight weeks. He has our sympathy.

The Lady Maccabees held a public installation of officers at the Ironton school building last Saturday. A splendid afternoon is reported. The high cost of living was not in evidence during the dinner hour.

A party of young people from Ironton and vicinity were suddenly attacked by what proved to be a serious malady, last Saturday evening. After an all night examination the disease was pronounced "Wilsonitis." A straw vote was taken after roll call and an unanimous report of "never again."

GAVE OYSTER SUPPER.

All You Could Eat for Twenty-five Cents was the Verdict. . . .

Last Friday evening at the home of William Gregory of Hayes township, the Baptist society of Burgess gave an oyster supper in an effort to raise money for the church. The supper was a grand success. One featura that was out of the ordinary for church socials was the fact that you could get all you wanted to eat for 25 cents.

The hostess is given considerable praise for the manner in which the entire supper was planned and carried out. The many who attended hope that many more such socials will be given and that everyone will be well filled up with the good things to eat when all is over.

Pomona Grange Meets.

Pomona Grange will meet at Ironton on Saturday, February 3. An unusual attendance is predicted. Remember that the meeting occurs on Saturday and not on Thursday, as has been customary.

Closing Out Prices

In order to close out the balance of Ladies' Coats we have in stock we offer them at

One-half Off

$20.00 coats - - $10.00
15.00 coats - - 7.50
12.00 coats - - 6.00
10.00 coats - - 5.00

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

WERE LOST IN TERRIFIC SNOW STORM

Attempt to Cross Pine Lake Sunday Proves Futile.

Peter Boyer, a resident of Boyne City, and a nephew of old Peter, whom Charlevoix people will remember, lost a little girl last week from acute bronchitis.

A burial permit was secured and arrangements made to bring the body to Charlevoix Sunday morning. The party started out over the ice with a horse and cutter and after driving through the blinding snow storm for about three hours, finally came in sight of the tannery, which they supposed they had all this time been driving away from. Finding that they had thus doubled on their tracks, they abandoned the trip until Monday morning, when the remains of the little girl were brought to Sec's undertaking rooms and made ready for placing in the vault that afternoon. Truly, a sad and strange experience.

THE PUBLIC PULSE
Open Forum for Our Readers

Editor Courier—Wus glad that there was one farmer who was interested enough in my query in the Public Pulse column in the January 10th issue to reply and answer my question.

Now we can expect to glean some valuable information from this gentleman, as he has consented to give us the ration his cows are receiving, also what they are doing during these cold days.

Perhaps it does not pay to keep a cow producing 3.5 per cent milk. But isn't it a fact that there are so many throughout the country that the feed bill cannot be paid by the products of the cow, sold at what the consumer calls sky-high prices? That being true, it makes the average farmer think a little. What kind of a cow must I keep in order to realize a profit?

It is hard for me to agree on what the brother said to dispose of cows testing 3.5 per cent if I sell cream or butterfat. Although I do say, as a general rule, that would perhaps be a good plan. But after all we are after the pounds of butterfat a cow can give in a year and not an abnormal test.

Your rule in regards to taking what you can get for your butter fat is a good one and hereafter I will follow your advice, as I fail to see an alternative.

Now, for the benefit of others as well as myself, I will be pleased to hear from you through the Courier on what you are feeding your cows and approximate profit during winter months.

AVERAGE FARMER.

BEST GAME OF BASKET BALL PLAYED

Verdict of Those Who Witnessed the Game Tuesday Night.

Charlevoix "Herks" won the fastest, sneppiest game of basket ball ever played in this city, when they overcame the Flint "Vehics" Tuesday night at the roller rink, by a score of 24 to 22.

All the Charlevoix players starred and won the game on sheer grit, ably assisted and cheered by the big crowd of loyal, Charlevoix rooters, who went wild over the gains made by our home team. Ed Krulik and Tom Beddow divided the honors for "puttin' em over" oftenest and showed better form than in the recent game with Petoskey. The home line-up was as follows:

Beddow, center; Krulik and Loomis, forwards; Aseltine and Durance, guards; H. A. Craig, referee.

Much comment could be heard Wednesday morning about this unexpected victory over the big town team with a reputation, which everybody who saw it agreed was certainly a "peach."

Don't forget the Firemen's Annual Masquerado Ball, Thursday, February 22. The four prizes to be given away will be on axhibit the last of this week.—Adv.4t1.

Every $1.14 worth of rubber footwear cost last year $1.00, an advance in one day of 14c. At that rate next winter but few of us will be able to buy any. But if rubber footwear advances at same rate as other merchandise every $1.00 now will be $2.00 next winter. If you want to save money for this or next winter buy now, and buy all you can get. If you don't want to wear them buy and sell them next winter. You can't make money faster. We are offering bargains in Arctics from January 24 to February 1. Terms strictly cash. We can make more money by holding them, but if you want an 85c child's one buckle Arctic for 59c you can have it, or a

$1.15 Woman's One Buckle Arctic for.....89c
$1.30 Child's Two Buckle Arctic.....89c
$1.40 Misses' Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Woman's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$1.50 Youth's Two Buckle Arctic.....98c
$2.00 Boy's Two Buckle Arctic.....$1.19

Large 40c Oranges.....30c
30c Oranges.....19c

A. E. MASON

W. C. T. U. CAFETERIA

Saturday, January 27

Beginning at 10:00 a. m.

Cut down the high cost of living, Eat at the W. C. T. U. Cafeteria adjoining Sugar Bowl and opposite Postoffice.

MENU

Soup.....5c
Boston Baked Beans.....5c
2 Sandwiches.....5c
2 Doughnuts.....5c
Pie.....5c
Coffee.....5c

Also a Fancy Work and Apron Bazaar will be held at the same time.

Aprons for the short,
Aprons for the large
And Aprons for the small.

EVERYBODY COME

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.60
Red wheat, per bu.	1.65
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Oats	.64
Barley, per cwt	.82
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.40
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	.95
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Pork, dressed	13.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	12 to 14c
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Buttor, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.35
New potatoes, per bu.	1.40
Honey per lb
Salt, granulated	1.60

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

Wall Paper Special

Some slightly soiled stock to be sold Very Cheap

5 and 10c a roll

Central Drug Store

B. A. Herman, Prop.

A Steaming Hot Cup of Coffee

—IS—

What the Universal Vacuum Bottle

Can give you every noon.

"Keeps liquids Hot twenty-four hours or Cold seventy-two hours." Patented Shock Absorber protects Filler against breakage. No felt or cork pads or paper fillings. This is the most Sanitary Vacuum Bottle made.

—FOR SALE BY—

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional Locals on page 10

Captain Roe of Harbor Springs, was at the Hotel Charlevoix, Friday.

L. J. McCann was in Traverse City Friday and Saturday of last week on business.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Claud Morris, Wednesday, January 17, a fine baby boy.

Douglas Nettleton spent Friday and Saturday of last week visiting friends in Ellsworth.

A bouncing baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beattie at Barnard last Saturday morning.

Harvey Lear of Petoskey, is helping an the mason work of the Benj. Brown garage and store front.

Walter Smith is home for a few days from his work at the East Jordan Lumber company'a camps near Ellsworth.

John Zeitler, who went to Lansing some four or five weeks ago on a visit, is now working in the Oldsmobile plant there.

Benjamin Brown unloaded a car of Fords, Monday of this week. More of those measly things to stumble over next summer.

Miss Elizabeth Levinson left Monday afternoon for Cincinnati, where she will spend the next three months visiting her brotber.

Miss Ida Levinson returned to her home in this city, Saturday, after n three months visit in Detroit and with her sister in Chicago.

Mrs. A. E. Mason is seriously ill at her home on the south side this week. LaGrippe with complication—an unnsually severe attack .

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, who left a week ago Tuesday for Harbor Springs and Cross Village on a business trip, returned Friday last.

Mrs. Andrew McCall, Sr., returned Saturday night form Detroit, where she has been spending the past month with her daughters in that city.

The offices of the county treasurer and the register of deeds at the court house are receiving a new coat of paint and it looks like spring cleaning around there.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mindel, who have been spending the past month visiting at Big Rapids and nearby points, returned to their home in this city Thursday last.

Judge Mayne went to Bay City, Sunday, to help the local circuit judge take cnre of his Bay county calendar. He plans to return in time to open court here on Febreary 5tb.

The snow shovelers were out bright and early Monday morning. Among the creditable jobs observed, those executed by Jay Price and Earl Young deserve honorable mention.

Sam Lindsay, who is now working at the Reo factory in Lansing, was in town this week. Old timers will remember Sam, who lived here with his family some seventeen years ago.

The Masons, Stars and families are invited to celebrate Masonic Day, Friday, January 26, at the Masonic Temple, afternoon and evening. Pot luck supper and entertainment. Come.

Hugh Bacot canght a record breaking trout, weighing fourteen pounds, in Pine Lake, right near the railroad bridge. Now, boys, don't make a grand rush for the bridge altogether—the ice might break.

Joseph G. Ekstrom and family of Boyne Falls, moved to this city last week and will make their home here at 303 Clinton street, tbe house formerly occupied by Col. A. J. Hamilton. Mr. Ekstrom will sell cars for Benj. Brown.

Nally Cram is here from Northport, where he has been on business for the Booth Fisheries Co. He has been working for the company at Frankfort and, we understand, is about to be transferred to a Chicago station.

Mrs. Glenn Ellis and Mrs. Glenn Hammill of Petoskey, were in town last week visiting friends and relatives.

Charles E. See is expected home from Grand Rapids, Thursdny, where he has been attending the furniture show.

Dick Jarvis, who was here lsst week visiting his mother, Mrs. Aggie Jarvis, returned Ssturday to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Redmond leave Thursday for a week's visit to friends in Cadillac, Manistee and Traverse City.

Alonzo Powers and wife spent Thursday and Fridsy of last week in Harbor Springs, visiting their son, Leo and family.

Mrs. Frank Smith of Marion, was a visitor at the home of her son, Jesse and family, south of Charlevoix, last week.

J. L. Crane made a business trip to Cadillac, Monday afternoon—leaving on the four o'clock, just in time to escape the "flood."

The msil was carried via dog sledge over the ice from Cross Village to the Beavers Monday—the first trip of the season.

John McCall, wife and children, returned Tuesday night from Detroit, where they have been spending the last three weeks with Mr. McCall's sisters.

J. F. O. Reed of Grand Rapids, was in the city Saturday and Sunday visiting his wife and his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Hampton, who are staying at the Hotel Charlevoix.

DeForrest H. Wood left Monday for Indianapolis, Indiana, where he will spend some time in the Prestolite Storage Battery Company's school of instruction for the repairing and testing of storage batteries.

General Pershing'a expedition was officially notified to leave Mexico Tuesday afternoon. Outposts are already being withdrawn and preparations made for the return march to the border. The 32nd regiment arrived in Michigan Tuesday forenoon.

Mrs. Louie E. See entertaiaed a few friends at her home on the north side last Friday evening at a pot luck supper in honor of her sister, Miss Ruby Moline of Chicago, who returned to her home in that city Saturday, after a three weeks visit in Charlevoix.

A pot-luck surprise party was given by the laides class of the Methodist church Sunday school at the home of Mrs . Frank N. Metcalf, 221 Park avenne, in honor of Mrs. McPherson of Grand Rapids, who has been staying at the Metcalf home for several months and will return to her home next week.

James King, a well known resident of Petoskey, died at his home in that place Monday. He had been in ill health for some time. During tbe last few days Mr. King had been unconscious. He was the father of Don M. King, who recently married Miss Merle Felts of this city.

Help! Help! In the grip of old King Winter, with two feet of snow, no trains, plagued with grippe and painful chillblains, the mercury boving and cavorting down around the frigid nothing, no coal and everything sky-high (including the electric light contract). Pray for us, somebody, please!

Adam Pfister returned Wednesday morning from Chicago, Hammond, Ind., and Wisconsin points, where he has spent three weeks on business matters and visiting relatives. He reports vast quantities of snow everywhere and says he was four hours late getting into Grand Rapids on the way home.

E. W. Bennett, who, with Phillip Howe of Charlevoix, has been holding protracted meetings in Good Hart, Cross Village and surrounding territory for the past few months, returned last Friday morning, reporting that his work has been sucessful, despite the huge snow banks they bumped into occasionally.

J. Schlesinger of Detroit, wha arrived at the Hotel Charlevoix last Thursday, intended to leave on the Saturday afternoon train, but got as far aa the depot and saw a vision alighting from tbe train, we are told. Ho returned immediately to the hotel and stayed over until Monday evening. We don't blame him.

Joseph R. Burres, ona of Cbicago's leading lawyers and the most noted exponent of criminal law in tba atata of Illinois, was here last week on business connected with the trial of Lynn Willis for rape, whom he will defend at the next term of court. This is the unusually brutal Undine case which we covehed in these columns of three weeks ago.

For the benefit of those who hsve not had a sight of Lake Michigan recently—we were looking it over Tuesday morning, and the bay from Nine Mile point to the channel was full of broken ico. Several miles out a rotten floe, stretching from point to point, could be seen slowly drifting in. Pretty near time to see her "set solid," as we say in the printing business, from shore to shore.

Mrs. George Priest spent a few daya last week in Petoskey with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Ellsworth Dutton returned to Charlevoix, Wednesday morning, after a ten days visit in Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Alma and Grand Hsven.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT CITY COUNCIL

Hungry Law Makers Ravenously Eat Fire Fighters Feast.

The fire department gave the city fathers a fine banquet at the fire hall last Monday evening. The feasting began shortly after council meeting, at 10:30 p. m., and forty hungry law makers and fire fighters sat down to a sumptuous feed of oysters and bake beans with all "fixins."

B. A. Herman, who recently donated $25.00 to the fire laddies in appreciation of their quick and effective work in his two late catastrophes, was the honored guest of the evening. Mr. Herman, when called upon for a speech, protested that the little talk which he hsd carefully canned up for the occasion had become frozen on the way over to the hall, but conducted himself nobly, notwithstanding this misfortune.

Hon. R. W. Paddock next spoke and was followed by others who felicitously expressed their gratification at having been included among the guests at this happy occasion. The affair broke up at a late hour, everybody avowing that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank has money to loan on improved farm or city property.—Adv 4tf

PLAYED PETOSKEY.

Petoskey Makes a Whirlwind Finish—Score 21 to 49.

Charlevoix High School played Petoskey at Petoskey last Friday night.

The game was fast and very interesting. The score at the end of the first half was 13-14, Charlevoix leading all the way. It was the closest half that any team ever played Petoskey on their floor. Charlevoix passed the ball excellently and smoothly. The gymnasium was very hot, about 85, and when compared to the temperature of the rink at home, it was even worse.

At the close of the second half, Petoskey got several baskets and the final score was 21 to 49.

The Herks and the Petoskey Independents also played through a sizzling contest, with the honors to the latter.

The Charlevoix H. S. boys and girls team play Central Lake, there, on Friday night of this week.

Sunday at M. E. Church.

In the morning the pastor will preach on "The Victory of Faith." A large number of new members will be received into the church.

In the evening the subject will be, "The Early Church." This will be illustrated by slides, showing the origin and development of the early church. The service will be instructive and inspirational. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Get the habit—Read the Courier want adva.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Pair light sleighs. R. C. Korth. Phone 144. 1tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquira at this office. 50tf

WANTED—Wood cutters at Shora Acres Farm. Phone 78f3, or Inquire of Frank L. Bird. 3t2

CUCUMBER CONTRACTS—I am now ready to write contracts for pickles. Price this year will be two dollars per hundred for vat run. C. B. SHELDON, local agent. 2t3—pd

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book, free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

CORSETS

Bon Ton and Justrite in Coutil and Broche. Front and Back Laced for all Types of Figures . . . .

$3.50 CORSETS at	$3.19
$3.00 CORSETS at	$2.65
$2.50 CORSETS at	$2.21
$2.00 CORSETS at	$1.69
$1.50 CORSETS at	$1.25
$1.00 CORSETS at	85c
A Good Line of 59 cent Corsets at	45c

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

J. L. Crane

Inexpensive and Attractive Window Dressing

3 piece Dutch Curtain Sets

New Stylish designs in Scrims and Mulls and Marquisettes—Valance trimmed to match curtains. Curtains and Valance double hemmed at top ready for hanging on rod. Filet and Cluny trimmed edges and Insertions.

$1.25 $1.50 $1.75 $2.00 $2.25

See our Window Display of seven Spring 1917 patterns of these 3 piece Dutch Curtain Sets at

$1.25 per Set

Flour is high and constantly going higher. Now is the time that you can't afford to add 37c freight and a dray bill to the cost of each barrel of Flour.

THEREFORE, BUY

Iron Duke or White Rose

made at home and no freight or dray bill added.

For Sale Everywhere

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Special for Friday and Saturday

California Naval Oranges per dozen . . . . . 15c.

MR. FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

H. B. Jacobs

Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

THURSDAY January 25, 1917	January 31, 1917 WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY February 1, 1917
"THE ABANDONMENT"	"THE GATES OF EDEN"	"DUST"

Cream Separators

Farmers who are looking for the Best in Cream Separators should call on us and have explained the merits possessed in the line of Separators we now handle.

Empire and Olds

Have won favor among thousands of users Your goal of perfection in Cream Separators will be reached in your selection of these models. We are exclusive agents and guarantee to give you the Best Values for the money in the Separator line. Investigate.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

Winter Footwear at a Big Discount

We still have a good stock of Winter Footwear that we will sacrifice a little profit on and make you exceptionally Low Prices. This store has always enjoyed the satisfaction of having a goodly list of pleased customers who return for the same class of footwear.

JUST ARRIVED

We have just received a new stock of Ladies' and Gent's WOOL UNDERWEAR. We would like to show them to you and prove their excellent value.

COFFEE THAT'S COFFEE

A NEW LINE OF COFFEE just placed in our stock. Ye Coffee Drinkers, who enjoy the best in this beverage, need look no farther. We have found just what you want, the coffee that hits the spot. WE WANT YOU TO TRY IT.

FREE—Coupons on Rocker for Cash Trade

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Profit by Example

Do successful men hide their money in tin cans or under the bed-tick?

Do they carry large sums of money, running the risk of loosing it by being robbed or murdered?

The rich men—successful men—deposit their funds in the bank.

Then why not profit by their example?

You can open an account no matter how small and it will receive our careful attention.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responsibility, $250,000.00

C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Rubbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you need Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

WINTER CLOTHING

Everyone needs good Warm Clothing at this season of the year. Now is the time to get under the wire and save money on your Winter needs. Our lines are complete and many good values await your early selection. Clothing is advancing in price every day. Our stock remains at the lowest price and we suggest your early shopping before the lines are picked over. We have sold many customers garments this season and all admit perfect satisfaction.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

CITIZENS HAVE THRILLING TRIP

EXPOSURE AND LONG TRIP PROVES NEARLY FATAL.

Survivors Tell of Privations, But Regardless of This, One Tries Trip Again.

According to all reports, the lost and atarving heroes, left on the ice by Lieutenant Shackleton in his mad dush to the south pole, had nothing on the experiences of two Ellsworth citizens, who left Ellsworth a short time ago in an attempt to chaperone four cars louded with potatoes to Cleveland, Ohio.

"Hair raising—blood curdling" is the way the trip was described by Peter Baar, the one survivor who was able, physically, to be interviewed on his return home.

The other member of the ill fated party, M. Struik, has, on the advice of his physician, refused to talk for publication.

The entire party with Mr. Struik as captain and Mr. Baar as first mate, left Ellsworth at day-break on the morning of January 13, and started for Cleveland, probably intending to take on supplies at Traverse City. The first accident occurred near the village of Williamsburg, this state, where with a broken propeller they were forced to lay over Sunday, almost within sight of one of the few oasis' of northern Michigan.

At about six o'clock Monday morning they were again on their way, and running late und under full steam, they passed Traverse at a speed estimated at 26 knots per hour, much too fast to allow a stop for much needed refreshments.

After a short rest, Mr. Baar continued: "As we travelled south the cold continued to increase until at last, after all bands bad been put on short rations, we became slightly dilerious and simply did our work automically.

"On arriving at a small station about 40 miles this side of our destination, Mr. Struik had become so weak that he was unable to leave the car he was looking after, and Mr. Baar after attended to his cars, went back to the way car, where both men had been riding.

Shortly after leaving this station, Mr. Baar says, as he looked from the window of the way car, he noticed a commotion in the snow beside the track, and on looking closely, he discovered the head and shoulders of Mr. Struik moving feebly as he waved farewell to his partner.

Arriving at the next station, Mr. Baar sent a telegram back, with the result the next train sent out for that purpose, picked up and carried Mr. Struik into Clevelsnd.

At this point of the narrative, Mr. Baar relapsed into a comatose condition and M. R. Nelson, manager of the Ellsworth Produce Co., finished the story.

Mr. Nelson's report was as follows: "It was about noon on January 19, that I received a message from Cleveland, acknowledging receipt of four cars of potatoes and one attendant. Knowing, of course, there should be two men with the cars, I at once got busy on the wire, with the result that a switch engine sent out from New Buffalo, Ohio, picked up Mr. Struik while he was feebly making his way down the track towards Cleveland.

"The first report received at this place, stating that one of Mr. Struik's ribs were broken, was found to be incorrect, as the only thing broken was a (censored), which was easily replaced at Cleveland.

"Both men claim that twenty-four hours more of the exposure, coupled with the "lack of nourishment" might ensily have proven fatal.

Luckily this was an ordeal through which very few have to pass, and the two principals may congratulate themselves that it was no more serious.

Later—Mr. Struik has so far recovered that he was able to start south with another load of potatoes Sundny afternoon.

A meeting has been called for Friday evening, January 26, to be held at the Board of Trade rooms. The object is to form some kind of a club or society for the propagation and protection of fish and game animals. This is certainly a good step, taken in the right direction, and all lovers of hunting and fishing should attend.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carr returned from Flint last Friday night.

Miss Maggie Baar visited in Central Lake one day last week.

John Faber of Atwood, was in town on business last Saturday.

Charles Greeley of Norwood, was an Ellsworth visitor on Friday.

Several from here attended the dance at Afton last Friday night.

Ralph Davis of Phelps, was in the village on business one day last week.

Dr. Varden of East Jordan was in Ellsworth on Tuesday of this week.

Ben Boes returned Saturday, after a few days visit at the old home at Reeman.

Mrs. Max Brail entertained the members of the L. M. U. last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Madill are visiting in and around Elk Rapids, on their return from Detroit.

G. C. Townsend, of the Citizens Bank, has been entertaining the grippe for the past few days.

Douglas Nettleton of Charlevoix, was visiting friends in Ellsworth on Friday and Saturday of last week.

County Commissioner of Schools A. C. Belding was in Ellsworth, Thursday and Friday of last week.

John Essenberg went to Grand Rapids last Saturday to see his daughter, who is very ill with appendicitis.

Rock Miller and N. P. Griffin are the new members of the wood gang employed by E. H. Boss. Rock is head sawyer.

The township board met at the board of trade rooms on Friday last, to take care of the regular township business.

Orvis Carpenter, recently discharged from Co. I, 33rd Michigan Infantry, is visiting friends in Ohio on his way home.

All reported the usual good time at the Victrola party held in the Blue Hall last Friday evening.

Thomas Brown of Saginaw, bridge inspector for the Pere Marquette railroad was in town last Thursday on business connected with his office.

Koo Klooster returned last Friday from a trip to Lansing. On his way home he visited at Muskegon and at his old home in Freemont.

Stuart Baar of Central Lake, was working in the Citizens Bank of this place a few days last week during the illness of the cashier, G. C. Townsend.

Grange lecture in the Blue Store hall next Friday evening, January 26. Subject, "Live Stock on the Farm as a Permanent Means of Agriculture."

Miss Maud Best returned Saturday from her home at Alden, where she has been visiting for a few days following the burning of the school house.

Mr. Hughes of Eastport, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. E. Best, the last few weeks, returned to his home last Thursday. Mr. Best accompanied him to Elk Rapids, returning the next day.

The volunteer fire department is sure getting what'a coming to them lately. This time it was a run to the residence of F. H. Skow. Nothing but the chimney burning out, but we didn't know it until we got there.

Sergeant B. J. Beuker started on his return to rejoin his regiment, the 33rd Michigan Infantry, last Friday. If the reports are true that the national guard are to leave the border in five days, Doc is apt to meet himself coming back.

Word received from Otto Powers states that he has quit the piano business and is now employed by the C. & J. Gregory Co., selling office supplies. Mr. Powers was formerly employed by Grinnell Bros. of Traverse City, and was well known in this place.

Hook and Ladder Co. No. 6 was again called out last Friday evening, when a large blaze was reported at the Ellsworth Produce Co.'s ware house. Luckily it was only in a car loaded with potatoes, and the fire was discovered in time so no damage was done.

CAMP LIFE AT EL PASO

REUEL SITS ON (A BUNCH OF) CACTUS THORNS.

Island Guard Duty Relieves the Monotony—Private Akins Shoots Up the River.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 18.

Friend Art:—I have been intending to write to you for some time, but never could get up enough ambition before. In fact, I am a little surprised to find myself writing now.

We have been down here about three months. During that time about the only thing that has happened to relieve the monotony of the every day drill has been when Reuel Chellis happened to accidentally sit down on a bed of cactus thorns or when Frank Akins would start shooting at things in the Rio Grande.

We have finished 15 days of island guard. There is a strip of land between Mexico and the United States, made when the Rio Grande changed its course. It is known as the island of "no man's land." The Mexicans guard one side and we the other. They call it island guurd.

The 32nd Mich. Inf. left here today for Detroit, to be mustered out of the service. We haven't aay idea when we will leave here. We are hoping that we won't have to spend next summer here, though.

We, here on the border, are pretty well now, at least most of us are. We have winter quarters, lots of good winter clothing and plenty to eat three times a day.

Well, they are sounding tatto, so I will close. With best wishes to you and Mrs. Ely, I am your friend,

Douglas Smith.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunduy school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 u. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Muster—William Eastcott.

Lecturer—Max A. Brail.

Secretary—Emily Wieland.

BAKING BREAD a PLEASURE with HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER

There is a joy in every loaf of "Ho-Mayde Bread."

Careful housewives who want to save when bakers' bread is high, add a teaspoonful of HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER to the water in which the yeast is dissolved. The result is most gratifying—larger loaves of whiter and sweeter bread.

A wholesome product, it accelerates yeast action so that the time of bread making is reduced to about four hours.

HO-MAYDE prevents failures—no sour, chilled bread—mate loaves from the same materials. If your grocer cannot supply you, send 15c for a large package. Write for free sample.

HO-MAYDE PRODUCTS CO., Detroit, Mich.

MID-WINTER TRIP OF ANN ARBOR

BIG ICE CRUSHER ON WAY TO MANISTIQUE.

Car Ferry Makes Trip That Will Be Noted in Historical Events—Encounters Much Ice.

A trip that has made history for the great lakes began Tuesday of last week at noon, when the great car ferry Ann Arbor No. 6 steamed up the Detroit river, crushing ice before her, on the first lap of a prearious trip through the Lakes St. Clair and Huron and finally the Straits of Mackinac. Manistique is her destination.

It was a lonesome voyage for the crew after it passed Port Huron, as she had all Lake Huron to herself. There were no friendly lighthouses or other aids to navigation to guide her, und the only possibility of speaking to another ship will be in the straits, where a car ferry is in operation. It is probable no effort will be made to navigate No. 6 after nightfall, and in the daytime it will proceed by landmarks, when they are visible.

The crew of 39 picked sailors, recruited from Frankfort, were assigned to their places by Capt. A. L. Larson. Several officials of the Great Lakes Engineering works, builders of the vessel, and the Ann Arbor Railroad Co., the owners, are on board. Wireless messages will keep officials of the shipbuilding firm informed as to the progress of the boat throughout her trip.

Port Huron was the first stop. Captain Larson said he intended to work his boat through the ice slowly until the engines are working well, speeding up the machinery if opportunity presented itself in Lake Huron. Little trouble was encountered in the Detroit river, but Lake St. Clair presented a puzzle which was hard to imagine.

The Straits of Mackinac with its windrowed ice from 10 to 25 feet in depth, was the point of the journey which the captain and crew looked to with some concern, was passed safely through Friday.

Two boats in the yards of the Great Lakes Engineering works followed in the path of the car ferry as far as Detroit, where they will remain until the opening of navigation.

Prosperity and the boom in freight traffic is causing the No. 6 to attempt the trip. The boat is badly needed to transport freight between Frankfort and Manistique, lake Michigan ports.—Detroit News.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE. Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 1t5

Many a man who pretends to be looking for work looks the wrong way.

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

BERKSHIRE BOAR for services. John Glas, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 4. 2tf

WANTED—Good four to six year old mare. About 1,400 lbs. Black preferred. Peter Wielnnd, Ellsworth. 3t2

FOR SALE CHEAP—Hercules Stump Puller, good as new, price $65. Also good work horse for $10. Godfrey Simon, 3 miles south of Norwood. 2t3

Have You?

It is not our intention to be impertinent or unduly inquisitive.

Nor do we suggest you have been careless about business or social affairs.

Our curiosity has juat naturally gotten the best of us, so we ask, have you started using Lily White Flour?

Presume you have, at least so many good cooks have used

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

this fall that we have been literally "snowed-under" with orders.

And the beat of it all ia, the new friends, like the old, say Lily White is a wonderful flour; the best they ever used.

If we guessed wrong and you really haven't tried Lily White, it is a good time to start now.

Your dealer is authorized to return your money if you do not like Lily White flour better for both bread and paatry baking than any flour you ever used.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ellsworth Section

SCHOOL AGAIN RESUMED MONDAY

CHURCHES USED TO HOUSE STUDENTS FOR WORK.

New Books Have Been Received and New Seats Ordered—Loss a Serious One.

School started again Monday morning, the Methodist and Congregational churches being used for this purpose. The primary room with Miss Patterson as teacher, is located in the Congregational church, while the intermediate and high room, with Miss Best and Mr. Brail teaching, are being housed in the Methodist church.

Since the burning of the school house Tuesday evening, January 16, no time has been wasted by the school board. As everything was destroyed, new books have been ordered and received, as well aa arrangements having been made for the use of the churches and a large amount of work having been done to get them in shape for use as school rooms.

Too much credit cannot be given to Director Clow, as he, ably assisted by D. E. Patterson and W. A. Boss, the other members of the board, have been busy almost night and day in an effort to get things running smoothly again with the least possible loss of time.

ELLSWORTH BAND HOLDS BANQUET

Band Thanks Citizens for Financial Support Given.

A jolly party to the number of about thirty met at the band rooms Tuesday evening of last week and helped the band boys dispose of one of the fine suppers for which Ellsworth is famous. The room was prettily decorated with flags and Japanese lanterns, and the tables with pink carnations.

After the supper short talks were given by L. VanSkiver, W. A. Boss, L. K. Clark, C. E. Bearss and others, and after an evening spent in visiting, everyone went home feeling better, both physically and mentally.

The band takes this opportunity to thank the citizens of Ellsworth for their valuable support, both morally and financially, for the past three years, and look forward to many more years of the same good feeling and understanding.

MAPLEVILLE

John Potter is a victim of pneumonia.

Lena Artims is quite sick with pneumonia.

Will Aardemn has purchased a new Ford car.

Rev. Westenberg from Grand Rapids, did not accept the call given him by the Dutch Reform Church of Atwood.

HARRIS APPOINTED.

Member of Uniformity Committee of Association of Judges.

Judge of Probate E. R. Harris of this place received word last week of his appointment on the "uniformity of practice" committee of the Association of Probate Judges of the state of Michigan.

The duty of this committee is, as we understand it, to plan some way whereby there can be some uniform system by which all judges of probate in the state may work, and Mr. Harris is to be congratulated on his appointment, as it shows the respect and esteem in which he is held by the association.

CORRESPONDENCE

ESSEX NOTES.

Gerrit Hennip is sawing wood for Del Bowman.

Mrs. Hoogerwerf and children have left for Holland on a visit.

Mrs. Mary DeVries visited her mother, Mrs. Dennis, one day last week.

Harry Cooper is doing chores for Will Kooyer, while the later is away visiting.

Miss Beth Strehl attended the sewing club at the home of Mrs. Max Brail of Ellsworth.

We hear that Will Bradford and wife, formerly of this section, now located at the Soo, have a fine baby boy.

Mrs. Fielstra and Mrs. Roger Speyer spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Niek Dekkenga. Their husbands came later and spent the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox and daughter, Aletha, from East Jordan, came Saturday evening to spend Sunday with Mr. VanBeek. Sunday's storm prevented them from going home for a day or so.

ESEX SCHOOL NOTES.

We are now reading "Rebecca on Sunny Brook Farm" at school.

The following children were neither absent nor tardy during the month ending January 12: Maggie Cooper, Ray Bowman, Nellie Rozema, Ida Hennip, Beatrice Wieland, Minnia Rozema, Lila Bowman, Cornelia Rozema nad Wilhelmina Cooper.

MILES DISTRICT.

Henry Walker called on Fred Parks Sunday.

Miss Lillan Gnild from Charlevoix is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lorence Isaman this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Harrington were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Carr from Flint, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carr and Mr. and Mrs. LaLonde.

A telephone meeting was held at the school house, Saturday night. Line 157 had another member join its ranks—Mr. Baneroft.

Mr. Cramer, father of Mrs. Jerry Moblo, died at his daughter's home Tuesday night. Funeral services were held on Friday. We all wish to extend our sympathies.

The teachers desk at the Miles school has been on its way for three weeks. We hope it arrives soon and is installed in its new home, as we are badly in need of it.

Several good stories were written for geography last week in the 7th and 8th grades. Here is one of them, written by Harry Fowler, a 7th grade boy:

Hunting Trip to the Silvas.

"Several of my friends and I decided to go on a hunting trip in the Silvas of South America.

"We went by rail until we reached New York. There we embarked on a large steamer and all had a pleasant trip on the Atlantic ocean.

"We arrived at Para safely and with but a few adventures. Para is a rubber shipping point.

"We went up the Amazon river and in a few hours later landed in the dense forests of South America. This forest is the densest and most extensive in the world. The foliage is mostly evergreen. Most of the animals are adapted for living in trees. The animals we saw were the tapir, jaguar, ant-eating bear, boa constrictor and many kinds of reptiles.

"We, of course, killed many of the larger animals, taking a few home to show that our reports were true.

"On our way back we came by the way of Mexico. We stopped at the border and had a visit with the boys before coming home.

"We are planning on going again next year, as every one had a fine time."

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 9, 1886.

At the regular township caucus held here on Saturday, the following tickets were put up: Ralph Willse, supervisor; W. H. Supernaw, clerk; F. H. Skow, treasurer, and Robert White, commissioner. The west side have the following men in the field: Stebbins, supervisor; Mudge, clerk; Skow, treasurer, and Peebles, commissioner.

Suckers will soon run if this weather keeps up.

Nick Shores and wife visited over Sunday at the Ox Bow Inn.

Mrs. Moars has moved into the Columbia Hotel.

Tha town board met on Tuesday.

The Ellsworth Lumber Co.'s factory started up Tuesday for a short run.

At our township meeting last year twenty votes had to be thrown out as they were not marked.

Dig your parsnips and "hoss" radish and get ready to make garden.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER-S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lord are both on the sick list.

John Faber went to Ellsworth, Saturday, on business.

Albert Harwood has been hauling dry block wood to Charlevoix.

James Heeres is cutting pole wood on his father's place near Atwood.

Faber & Son, our village blacksmiths, are having a lot of work this winter.

John Berends installed Paul DeVries' litter carrier in his stables on Saturday.

Fair crowds at both meetings Sunday in the Christian Reform church in spite of the bad weather.

The L. A. S. of the Christian Reform church met last Thursday at the parsonage with Mrs. Pickaart.

Rollie Baumback reports he is grinding a lot of graham and buckwheat. He makes a good job of it, too.

Mrs. John Boa and Mrs. Alex Klooster and children called at the Cerrit Essenberg home Friday afternoon.

The members of the Reformed church held a meeting last Friday afternoon to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Henry Supernaw of Norwood, was in town Thursday of last week, getting his horse shod.

Miss Jeanette Morrow, our school teacher, is taking lessons in the Holland language. Rev J. D. Pickaart is teaching her.

Elzinga Bros. butchered a load of pork last week. Two buyers negotiated for it and they were bid up to 12 1-2 cents per pound. Some price.

John Berends is hauling logs to Jangleville. He contemplates putting up a barn next summer and has also been hauling gravel for the foundation.

Mrs. F. Brown, formerly of Atwood, has returned to her folks in Kansas. She has the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. John Essenberg, Sr., were called to Grand Rapids on account of the illness of their daughter, Rose. She has been operated on for appendicitis.

We hear of wedding bells ringing once in a while around here, but wait until the robins come again—you will hear them clanging instead of ringing at Atwood.

Minnrd VanderHeide was hurt while working in the woods the other day. He was struck by a limb, which injured one of his legs. He is doing nicely now.

Mr. Neiper of Central Lake, was at Atwood last Friday, buying cattle. He bought ten head of Seymour Bennett and some of J. Petter, H. Klooster and A. Bos & Son.

The friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Bert Newland will be sorry to learn that she is very ill in a Detroit hospital. The last that was heard of them was that she was very low.

We hear of a buyer for farm property once in a while. This would be a good time to list your property with some good dealer or advertise it in the Courier, so people will know about it.

Jack Smith and Gerrit Essenberg have bought a piece of standing timber of William Montgomery. They are busy cutting it now and expect they will have about 200 cords of wood.

Mrs. Polly Pearl celebrated her 91st birthday anniversary the 12th of this month. She feels pretty good in spite of her old age. She makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Odbert.

Graddus Petter arrived home last Tuesday, after working in Grand Rapids for six weeks. He was impressed with the good street car service we have here. Walked all the way from Ellsworth.

Edward Kloostor was through here last Thursday buying cattle. He bought four head of A. Nowland and one from J. J. Hocksema. Joe Hoffan drove him out in one of Hookor & Sons rigs.

The young people of the Christian Reform church have organized a singing society. Rev. Pickaart is the leader and a nice crowd has attended the first two meetings. They meet every Friday evening.

Watch for the coming caucus and be sure and go. Some folks do not go because they live in Atwood and some because they don't live nearer Ellsworth. It's your duty to go to the township caucuses, no matter where you live.

Wilfred Davis, our mail man, is back on the job again. He spent a month visiting friends and relatives in Ohio and points in the south. His brother-in-law, Edwin Bowers, had charge of the route during his absence.

The young folks of the Christian Reform church of Atwood had a pleasant surprise on the Rev. and Mrs. Pickaart last week. A very pleasant evening was spent and after refreshments were served, the real surprise of the evening was given, when they gave the pastor a purse of $12.00. Keep up the good work, young people.

We don't like this cold weather.

We hear that Joseph Seymour has sold his farm.

A life full of high purposes has no time to kill time.

F. H. Richardson, Norwood township clerk, was here one day last week on business.

There is no meaner hypocrite that the man who says that if church members were better, he would join the church.

Cyrus Jolliffe of Painsville, Ohio, who has been visiting his brother, Ethan, during the past week, returned home on Tuesday.

Miss Gertrude Visser, who has been in the employ of her sister, Mrs. Jim Heeres, for the past six weeks, returns to her home in Grand Rapids on Friday.

Those who were present at the Sunday morning service at the M. E. church heard a very interesting and inspiring scripture lesson. The regular service was not held on account of the small number present. Rev. Smith hopes to awaken more interest in the church and its work. It will not be long until the people will learn to know him and feel as if they could not get along without hearing him. A prayer meeting was announced for Tuesday evening at the home of E. VanderStreek. This is to be continued weekly at different homes until spring. All are invited to come to these meetings. Make up your mind to come to service next Sunday and you will come again. Servies begins at 10:30 a. m.

PLEASANT HILL.

Mrs. Jeff Bearss drove to East Jordan on Thursday last.

Ray Bearss, who has been ill at East Jordan, returned home last week.

H. H. Fales delivered over 400 pounds of meat to the Porter camp last Saturday.

If we could obtain success as easily as we do a cold, how successful we all would be.

A. E. Belding, school commissionar of Antrim county, spent Thursday and Friday of last week visiting the Pleasant Hill school.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Genett, who have been spending the last three months at Phelps, have moved on the Larsen farm, which they have rented for the coming year.

ECHO DISTRICT NO. 4.

(Too late for last week.)

A. C. Belding visited school last Monday.

We had two days vacation last week for teachers' institute.

Miss Ethel Murray called at the George E. Murray home last Tuesday.

Elmer Murray helped his father, George E. Murray, cut wood two days last week.

Miss Ethel Murray returned to her school duties in the Bennott district Sunday.

Charles DeLong and Arthur Carpenter were absent from school last week on account of illness.

Sunday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bolser burned to the ground, practically nothing being saved. Mrs. Bolser is in quite a serious condition as a result of the shock. They have the sympathy of all friends in their loss.

Joe Shores of Phelps, was an Ellsworth visitor last Saturday.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained, but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1917

Grain
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Carden varities	$3.50 to $5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, dressed	$14.50
Pork, dressed	$12.50 to 13.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruit
Butter, per lb.	.34
Eggs, par doz.	.36
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.50
Salt	1.45

W. A. Boss

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

New Agency for

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

WE have taken the agency for the famous De Laval Cream Separators because we believe the De Laval will do better work and last longer than any other separator made, and that it is by far the cheapest and most satisfactory machine to use.

We have machines on hand at all times and will be pleased to demonstrate their superiority to any one. We have put in a stock of De Laval repairs and De Laval Oil and are in a position to look after the needs of all users of old De Laval machines in this locality.

When in need of

Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.

Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

FEED GROUND EVERY DAY

Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

℞ TAKE OUR ADVICE

—Have your prescriptions filled here.—

When you need drugs, you want them accurately compounded. We are here for that purpose. Drugs are advancing yet we are filling perscriptions at the lowest margin of prices. Now that winter chills bring on many ills we call your attention to the home needs in emergency cases.

Hot Water Bottles, Atomizers, Salves, A. D. S. Remedies Chest Protectors, Sponges, Asorbent Cotton, Linement Bandages, Tonics, Blood Purifier, Catharties, Etc.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Elleworth, Michigan

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

May Get New Industry.

"There's many a slip twixt cup and lip" but if there are no more slips it looks as though we were going to land a valuable asset to our commercial interests.

The Solvay Process Co., of Detroit has been negotiating, through H. A. Arnold, with different parties in this city for a suitable location on which to erect a large warehouse and cold storage plant.

Many sites were under consideration: the site of the Garland Hotel, the site of the Cooperage plant and other sites about the city were considered but the one site which took the eye of Mr. Arnold, the officials of the Solvay Co., and members of the Chamber of Commerce, is the vacant property on the railroad tracks between Boyne Avenue and East street. Here there is everything that is required in a location for this kind of an enterprise: railroad facilities that are second to none, plenty of ground for building and plenty of ground for the wagon roads so necessary for a business of this nature.

The deal has been hanging fire for a fortnight because a price suitable to both parties had not been reached but last Tuesday afternoon E. W. Abbott, chairman of this particular committee on the Chamber of Commerce, received a telegram from W. H. White to the effect that he would make the price satisfactory to the proposed buyers. So this clears up the whole situation so far as is known.

This year the Solvay Company bought produce through Mr. Arnold which amounted to over $80,000 and it is likely that their needs will be greater as there are many things which this section does not as yet supply them. For instance if we had a canning factory they would take the entire output.

This will be one industry in Boyne which will not depend on a commodity which can easily become extinct as the case with timber—time will be able, permanently, to interfere. And not only that but this same plant will be the means of securing a greater number of farmers for this vicinity because of marketing facilities afforded and it is the intention of the Solvay Company to help the farmers lower the cost of production by means of experimental farms.—Boyne City Bee.

Fire Destroys Farm Home.

Fire broke out in the upstairs of the old Dingman home in Echo township last Sunday, January 8, just after dinner. The house was occupied by Louis Balcer and family and Owen Carpenter. Mrs. Balcer was ill in bed at the time, and her husband was obliged to wrap her in quilts and carry her to a neighbor's house to save her life, as the flames had gained such headway when discovered that it was useless to try to fight them.

Although the weather was zero at the time, Mrs. Balcer suffered no ill effects from the experience.

Miss Florence Flickenger, who was employed in the home, escaped form the building just before the roof fell in. Aside from having her hair scorched she was unhurt.

None of the household goods or clothing could be saved.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is probable that it was caused by a defective chimney.

Hold Annual Meeting

The stockholders of the Traverse Bays Telephone company held their fourteenth annual meeting on Wednesday, the 17th, in the offices of the company at Central Lake. Eighteen stockholders were present, several being unable to attend on account of there being no train from the north until the middle of the afternoon.

The increasing cost of operation, due to advances in the cost of materials and labor, and to the greater investment required as the lines and equipment are improved, created some discussion. The directors were instructed to take this matter up with all subscribers, and later in the year if conditions require, to take the necessary steps toward increasing the rates on some classes of service.

The following directors were elected: L. Armstrong, W. G. Mudge, W. D. Hickin, A. J. Dole, Harry Warner, Theodore Guyer and George Klooster.

William Hill and A. J. Dole of Bellaire, Harry Warner of Milton, B. R. Sage of Traverse City and L. Armstrong and Ira Woodruff of Alden attended from out of town.

Accepts Responsible Position.

Mrs. Maud C. Reeves, formerly of Ellsworth, has been engaged to take charge of the Western Michigan exhibit booth at the Chicago Herald Bureau, Ashland building, Chicago. Mrs. Reeves will devote one day each week to the state farm products exchange exhibit at the U. S. Immigration office, Wabash avenue, Chicago.

No Place for Good Girls.

Representative A. J. Deuel of Harbor Springs, chairman of the committee on industrial school for girls at Adrain, announces his intention to thoroughly investigate the reports seeping in from various counties that probate judges are sending dependent girls to the Adrain institution when homes cannot be found for them. "If these reports are true the practice must be stopped," said Representative Deuel, who was judge of probate of Emmet county for four years. "If I can find a specific case where a dependent has been sent there I will immediately institute habeas corpus proceedings to have the child released."

"It is an outrage to send dependent girls there to associate with incorrigibles. It is the divine right of every child to have every protection during childhood. The judges of probate and the county agents should find suitable homes for such girls. It can be done if they will only try. The law now gives them that authority. Sending a dependent child of sound morals to Adrain is the same thing as sending a sick man to jail."

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE.

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Charlevoix Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorsers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills: They are twice told and confirmed with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following, It's from a Charlevoix resident:

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason St., Charlevoix, gave the following statement on October 26, 1911: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for kidney disorder and backache and they have always given me splendid results.

On October 4, 1916, Mrs. Cook added: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I have had no occasion to use a kidney medicine since. I am always ready to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't ask for a kidney remedy—get wrf simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cook has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Might Have Been Different.

Robert Bonthron had a little fire scare up to his place last week. Mrs. Bonthron put a scuttle full of what she supposed to be dead ashes on the porch to make it less slippery, but some of 'em were alive. Dan McSauby came along at the physcological moment and quenched the resultant blaze, but not until a small hole had been burned in the porch floor.

Buckwheat-Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

LIST OF PETIT JURORS.

Drawn for the February Term of Circuit Court.

The following is the list of circuit court jurors for the coming term of court, which convenes in Charlevoix, Monday, February 5:

John Mitchell, Boyne City, 1st ward.

Harry B. Rothenberger, Boyne City, 2nd ward.

George Root, Boyne City, 3rd ward.

William Davis, Boyne City, 4th ward.

Andrew Ross, Charlevoix, 1st ward.

Fred Thomas, Charlevoix, 2nd ward.

George Anderson, Charlevoix, 3rd ward.

Charles Johnson, East Jordan, 1st ward.

Ed. Brown, East Jordan, 2nd ward.

John LaLonde, East Jordan, 3rd ward.

John A. Koteskey, Bay.

John N. Densmore, Boyne Valley.

Elbert Walton, Chandler.

Ed. Norton, Charlevoix.

J. M. Sutzman, Evangeline.

Gordon F. Kimball, Eveline.

Henry Hamlin, Hayes.

William Townsend, Hudson.

John Smith, Marion.

M. H. Collins, Melrose.

John Waffle, Norwood.

Tom McDonnough, Peaine.

Cap Aliers, St. James.

James Carson, South Arm.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

SENSITIVE THROATS need careful treatment from within more than they need bundling wraps during changing seasons. The pure cod liver oil in is helping thousands to strengthen the tender linings of their throats, while at the same time it aids the lungs and improves the quality of the blood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Throat Specialists endorse SCOTT'S EMULSION—Try It

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-42

Republicans, Attention.

Notice is hereby given that a county convention will be held in the court house at Charlevoix, Michigan, on February 9, A. D. 1917, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to attend the State Convention at Detroit, February 20, A. D. 1917, and for any other business that may properly come before the convention.

The Republican committeemen for each township or city ward shall call a caucus for his respective district, by posting three notices, advertising same in conspicuous places. Each township or ward shall at the caucus aforesaid, elect delegates to the county convention as follows:

One delegate for each fifty votes or a part thereof, cast for secretary of state at the last state election.

Charles H. Emrey,
Secretary Rep. County Com.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

January 16, 1917.

Regular meeting of the board was called to order by President Hampton.

Trustees present, Hampton, Hiller and Bridge.

Trustees absent, Nordrum and Glassford.

The treasurer's report showa a baiance on hand of $1,308.52.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Orders.

1010	E. H. Sargent & Co., supplies	$ 57.10
1011	Baker Paper Co., paper	40.50
1012	Buckley Cardy Co., supplies	6.00
1013	A. E. Mason Dept. Store, dom. sci.	20.25
1014	The Independent Pub. Co., sub.	.60
1015	H. A. Craig	2.00
1016	Literary Digest, sub.	3.25
1017	Benjamin Brown gasoline	1.00
1018	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
1019	Theodore Kibbe, janitor	7.50
1020	Roscoe Smith, janitor	7.50
1021	Mrs. Allison, janitor	7.50
1022	H. A. Craig, stamps.	5.00
1023	L. E. Knott Apparatus Co., supplies	31.17
1024	E. H. Sargent Co., supplies	3.68
1025	Robert Bonthron	6.95
1026	A. Bergeon, supplies.	6.24
1027	County Bank, loan.	4,045.00
1028	Underwood Typewriter Co.,	.80
1029	Wood Bros., supplies	10.60
1030	Robert Wexstaff, services	2.14
1031	Dell Dutcher, services	2.14
1032	Mich. Tele. Co., rental	8.20
1033	Merritt Miller, services	11.10
1034	City Treasurer, water	66.60
1035	Charlevoix Hardware Co., supplies	18.94
1036	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
1037	Theodore Kibbe, janitor	7.50
1038	Roscoe Smith, janitor	7.50
1039	Mrs. Allison, janitor	7.50
1040	Odillion Weed, office assistant	4.00

Library Orders.

319	Wesley Staley, janitor	7.50
320	Anna Bon, librarian.	30.00
321	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
322	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
323	Wesley Staley, janitor	7.50
324	Anna Bon, librarian.	30.00
325	Mich. State Tele. Co., rentals	1.50
326	Anna Bon, reference.	3.75
327	Charlevoix Coal and Wood Co., fuel	38.24

Teacher's Pay Roll.

9	Teacher's Pay Roll.	$845.72
10	Teacher's Pay Roll.	845.72

Moved and supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective bill. Motion carried.

Moved and supported that Trustees Hampton and Nordrum appear before the city council in an endeavor to secure a public skating rink on the south side school grounds. Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on motion the board adjourned.

E. J. Hiller, Secretary.

MAKE CHARLEVOIX THEIR FUTURE HOME

Boyne Falls Loses Esteemed Citizens Who Have Moved Here.

Charlevoix has a valuable addition to its citizenry in the person of J. G. Ekstrom, who with his family have recently moved here from Boyne Falls.

Mr. Ekstrom has been long and favorably known in Boyne Falls and vicinity, where he worked several years for Herman Meyers of that town, in the implement and general store business. When time came for him to remove to Charlevoix, the people of Boyne Falls gave the Ekstroms a farewell party, at which nearly every family in that district was represented, and sincere expressions of regret were offered by all at the prospect of losing worth-while citizens from their community.

Mr. Ekstrom will sell cars for Benj. Brown in Charlevoix and vicinity. As he is experienced in this kind of work we predict a success for him gratifying to both his employer and himself. And certainly no better field for his labors presents itself than Charlevoix county, one of the richest and most fertile in the state, with a population who need the cars and have the money to buy them.

Mr. Ekstrom will occupy the house owned by A. J. Hamilton, at No. 303 Clinton street. Besides himself and wife, there are six children in the family—three boys and three girls.

J. Leaby, the optometrist, will be here again February 5. See adv.

SEVENTH BIRTHDAY.

Ibsen Nordrum Entertains Fifteen Friends at Party.

Little Oluf Ibsen Nordrum gave a party to about 15 of his small friends last Monday afternoon at his home on Park avenue, the occasion being his seventh birthday.

As usual, on such occasions, a beautiful cake graced with seven candles, was the center of attraction for the little tots, whom we all know have an unusually appreciative eye for such "goodies." Games were played and the kids enjoyed themselves to the limit.

Farmers' One-Week School.

The college extension school in practical agriculture will be held in the Iroaton Grange hall during the week of February 26, March 4. All work will be given by demonstration and lecture. It will differ from farmers' institute instruction in that the subjects will be carried through the whole week. To derive the most good from the school, therefore, it will be necessary to attend every session. Those who can attend are urged to plan their work so that they need not miss a single lecture. As a necessary aid to memory, one will find a note book and pencil very important. Watch for further announcements.

10 % Discount For Cash on All

HEATING STOVES

Until February 1

—AT—

Blanchard Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

C. DANTO & SON

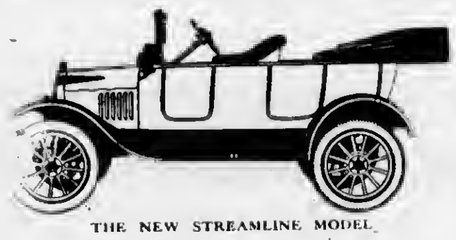
Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

BUY A FORD

Pay as You Ride Plan



THE NEW STREAMLINE MODEL

When you see your friends enjoying a nice ride in an auto doesn't it make you wish you had a car? Why not ride in one of your own the same as your friends. Buy a brand new FORD of us. You can get a car and pay for it as you ride—this is our easy payment plan—and we are anxious to announce that we have a carload of cars on hand ready for the man or woman who wants to "burn up the dust" next summer.

Here are the season's prices:

Ford Roadster	$345.00
Ford Touring Car	$360.00
Ford Touring Car with electric starter	$425.00

We will sell any of our Ford cars with or without the Electric Starter. Get in the game early and have a brand new car ready to drive when the car season opens up. We are going to sell more cars this year than ever, and the prospects are such that the Ford car sales will exceed all others, in this locality. See us NOW.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 5. 8 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1917. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CRANK LEGISLATION DETESTABLE

DIVORCE EVIL ENCOURAGED BY NEW LAW.

Question Open for Much Discussion —Trumped-Up Divorces Make Legal Robbery Possiblo.

The bill recently introduced in the Michigan legislatura by Senator Covert, and mentioned elsewhcra in this issue under the coption "Must Support His Children," is one of the most detestabla and rotten pieces of legislation that has ever come to oar attention.

This bill, making failure to pay alimony by a divorced husband a felony and punishing the offense by imprisonment of from six months to three years, aggravates the alimony evil, which in all its phases is a slimy aad utterly unjust system of legalized graft, to an unendurable degree. We suggest that if our brilliant body of law makers can find no better use to make of their time than to foist upon a helpless people such fanatical, one-sided and ridiculous statutes, the whole crew had better be disbanded and sent back home where they can exercise their curious ideas of justice without interfering with the public weal.

That portion of the bill which applies to the support of minor children under 16 may have its element of justice, but it is scriously open to question at that. No defense, however, can be found for that part of tbe act which enables a woman of doubtful character to dispose of a husband upon some relatively trivial or trumped-up pretext, as is the case in so many instances, and then live in lewd, unbridled promiscuity, supported by tbe labors of her former spouse, until the end of her life or his, if she so choses, condemning him to poverty, perhaps, for the sole offense thot he was unlucky enough to marry her in the first place.

We hear so mucb nowadays of woman's equality, in the field of politics, industrial opportunity and the professions. But we have yet to see evidence of her willingness to accept the disabilities which must accompany this new-found freedom as a matter of common justice. We can see no reoson why the institution of marriage should be rendered more unpopular than it is at present or o premium placed upon immorality by legal enactment.

Liberty, to be sure is not license, but on the other hand this is not Germany nor New England in Puritan times, nor is it Spain in the days of the Inquisition. Yet, judging from the legislation that has been placed upon the books of this etate for the past few years, we are rapidly reverting to that period and our new era of governmental oppression is characterized by no less narrow a spirit of religious bigotry and legislative "bone-headedness" than makes those earlier days a shuddering nightmore to the readers of history.

We are for progress and for Michigan, and for a jnstice which is not blind, but who sees with cleor eyes of a thinker and not those of tbe crank, fanatic and religious reformer.

HONORED GUEST AT KITCHEN SHOWER

Young Folks Spend Enjoyablo Evening at Wilkinson Homo.

Last Snturdny evening Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson gave a kitchcn shower at her home on Michigan avenue, for Miss Mildred Eckinger, who is to be married early next month to Mr. Roy A. McArthur, department manager in the Buick Auto plant at Flint, where they will reside.

Gnmes and dainty refreshments, enjoyed amid gay decorations of hearts and cupids, so appropriate to the occasion, made the evening one long to be remembered by the participants, who had a group photo mnde by flash-light before taking their departure, wishing Miss Eckinger the best of all good luck.

Knights of Pythias.

Members are requested to be present Thursday eveniag, Februnry 1, at 7:30. Important business to take up. Also work in the rank of Page followed by the "Lesson of Friendship." Lee R. Smith, C. C.

UNFEELING PRACTICE VIOLATES ORDINANCE

Chief of Police Issuos Warning to tho Offenders.

Our attention has been called to the unfeeling practice of letting horses stand on the street unblanketed for hours at o time, whilo thoir owners are inside dwellings or stores—a practice baned by the city ordinance and we think by state statute, as well. The limit of tims that a horse may be allowed to stand without a blanket is half an hour and this, in our opinion, is entirely too long in some of the weather we have here at this time of year.

Chief of Police Howard wants it thoroughly understood thot whenever these cases ore discovered, tha owners will find their rigs inside a livery stable. It won't be safe to get red-headed about it either, as there is a fine attached to this offense and the county boarding house is at the present short of inmates.

So be careful and blaaket your horses when you plan to make a long stay inside or; better yet prove your possession of humanity as well as good common senso by digging up a dime and getting your horse under cover of the born.

DEATH CLAIMS LUCRETIA GEER

QUIETLY PASSED AWAY AT HOME OF DAUGHTER.

Deceased Had Lived in Charlevoix Over 21 Years—Survived by Three Children.

Mrs. Lucretia E. Geer died ot the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jamea Gaskin, Monday morning, January 29, at the age of 69 years.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Lucretia Purchase, was born in the year 1848, at Hillsdole, Hillsdale county, and was married in June, 1865, at Olive, Ottawa county, to Milo D. Stanford. To that union was born six children three of whom survive: Mrs. Cora B. Gray, Elmer Stanford and Mrs. James Gaskins.

Mrs. Stanford came to Charlevoix 21 years ago and was later united in marriage to Myron E. Geer of this place.

The news of her deotb was a great shock to her many friends, who loved and esteemed her for her earnest Christian, charitable disposition,and with regret realize that their earthly associations are at an end. Mrs. Geer's life was typical of the high spirituallty of her character. It is a beautiful example of the beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

COASTGUAROS MUST BE ABLE TO SWIM

One of New Requirements Undor Recent Ruling Made.

Swimming will bo one of the main requirements in tho future of applicants for positions in the coast guard service. A circular recently sent out by E. P. Bertholf, captain commandant of the coast guard service to the district superintendents, keepers and other members of the coost guard stations show the requirements necessary. They follow:

To swim 100 yards, to dive properly from the surface and to swim 50 yards on hia back.

To dive from the surface and bring up a 10 pound object from a depth of at least seven feet.

To carry a supposedly drowning person of at least his own weight 20 yards, with u two hand carry nnd 20 yards with a one hand corry.

To swim 50 yards dressed, with shoes and trousers and coat on and, at tho end of the 50 yards, to remove articles in the water without touching bottom.

The tests nre not all to be made in any one dny and will be made as soon ns the water and temperaturo are suitable. The tests will he tried as soon as the keepers deem it expedient.

Subscribe for the Courier.

MUST SUPPORT HIS CHILDREN

NEW BILL INTRODUCED MAY BECOME A LAW.

Senator Covert Would Mako it a Folony for Failuro to Pay Alimony.

At Lansing last week Senator Covert introduced a bill similar to that of Representative Brower of pay alimony, the clause as to minor children by a divoreed busband, but also making a felony of failure to poy alimony, the clause as to pinor children applying to those under 16 yeors of age. Failure in either case is punishable by six months to threa years imprisonment and the warden of a prison may send not to exceed $40 a month of a prisoner's earnings for the suport of wife and children.

The state is given the right of appeal in criminal cases which have been quoshed by a bill introduced by Senator Foster.

Appropriation measures included tbat of the Northern State Normal school, already presented in the house, by Senator Roberts; $100,000 for a state tuberculosis survey, introduced by Murtha of Detroit;$50,000 for a governor's residence by Senator Holmes.

Wants Board Abolished.

Senotor Martin introduced a bill to abolish the state board of equalization and place its work in the hands of ths state tax commission.

Senator E. V. Smith introduced a bill providing for assessment of real and personal property at full cash value, and providing for subtracting from valuation the face of any mortgage against property. It also makes outstanding accounts taxable. He also offered a bill to repeal the mortgage tax law and another to provide for review by supreme court of decisiona to quash, demurrers and dilatory pleas in criminel cases.

Senator Damon introduced a bill providing for purchase of all flour for state institutions from Michigan mills, providing prices are equal to outside prices.

Scott Suggests Pay Boosts.

Senator Scott introduced a bill making the salary of the deputy superintendent of public instruction $2,500 and providing for two assistants at $2,100.

Senator DeLand offered two bills one making it possible to pay the Jackson county circuit court stenographer $2,400, aod another providing for technical amendment of oct 329 of 1905 relative to combinations in restraint of trade.

Take Up Genoral Order.

House of representatives took up the general order for the first time and gave consideration to the phraseology of several measures. The Martz resolution for a commission form of government for the state was put over to Wednesday of this week.

Tbo house asked tbe attorney geoeral for all the information possible on the litigation with the Doluth, South Sbore and Atlantic railroad, tbat it might intelligently pass oo the demand for an increase in passenger rates.

C. H. S. WINS.

Central Lake Girls Trim C. H. S. Girls 44 to 5.

The Charlevoix H. S. team defeated Central Lake at Central Lake on January 26, by a score of 33 to 31.

The floor was exceedingly small, putting the Charlevoix boys at a great disadvantage. The game was close all the wny and wus needlessly rough, owing to the few fouls which were called.

Captain Hollett plnyed a fine defensive game at guard. Each man made several good field baskets. Weaver made the fouls count when they were needed.

The Charlevoix girls were defeated by the Central Lake girls 44 to 5. The Central Lake team was very much more experieneed, the Charlevoix girls having hnd only a few night's practice.

Charlevoix Review No. 61, W. B. A., of the Maccabees, will hold a 10 cent tea at the home of Mrs. C. R. Bellinger, next Friday afternoon, Februnry 2. Hot biscuits and maple syrup will be served. Everybody welcome.—Adv.5t1

See us for your Job Printing.

ARGO COMPANY OPENS MILL C

CENTRAL LAKE FLOUR MILL WORKS PERFECTLY.

Adds Link to Already Prosperous Business—Is Steam Plant of 60 Barrel Capacity.

As outlined in o former issue of this paper, the Argo Milling Company have leased for a term of years the buildings and equipment of the Intermediate Valley Roller Mills at Central Lake, owned by A. F. Walbrecht of tbat place, and formerly took possesion of the same last week.

Last Thursday the officials of the company from Charlevoix went to Central Lake to witness the initial try-ont of the new mill, under the supervision of tho superintendent of Mill B ot East Jordan. The results were a pleasant surprise aod a source of mucb gratification to the new operators, as the equipment was found to be in first-class condition and behaved beautifully under power.

This mill, to be known as Mill C of the Argo Milling Company, is a steam plant of 60 barrels daily capacity of flour, besides buckwheat, rye, feed, graham, etc., and the elevator holds 7,500 hundred bushels. It is built and equipped similar to Mill A at Charlevoix, except that tbe mill here is double powered with producer gas and electricity. The mill at Eost Jordan is electrical throughout, and with three different sources of power to rely upon, the management feels that a general tie-up of all their mills from any cause is well-nigh impossible.

One of the principal advantages accruing to the company from the acquisition of the Central Lake mill is the doing away, to a large extent, with the long hauls between the Charlevoix depot and Mill A, as the transfer takes in five lots directly on the railroad track, with coal shed, potatoe warehouse and the other mill buildings excellently situated for direct loading and unloading of cars.

The property is situated in the center of an exceedingly rich farming community and the merchants of the town have put themselves behind the proposition enthusiastically, lending all possible support and buying freely from the mill's stock, which will include a full line of flour, feed and building material, salt, etc., as carried by the other mills. Some idea of the business done in that locality can be gained from the fact that the town has four potato warehouses.

The new purchose gives the Argo people a total elevator capacity for the three mill of upwards of 60,000 bushels; the East Jordan mill alone which is as large as the other two mills put together, having a capacity of 30,000 bushels.

The Courier regards this enlargement of the company's octivities as a big forward step in the industrial progress of thia section. Would that we had more news of like nature to impart to our readers each week.

OLD RESIDENT OF EVELINE TOWNSHIP

William A. Stanley Died at His Home Friday Night.

William A. Stanley, prominent farmer and old resident of Eveline township, died last Friday night at his bome about two miles east of Ironton, of pleuro-pneumonia, after a three day's illness. He was 54 yeors old and a member of the Masonic order, and leaves a widow, two grown sons (one of whom is married and livea in Boyne City), and a little daughter, six yoars old.

The funeral was held by the Boyne City Masons at 10 o'clock, Tuesday, from the Mountain school house, after which the body was brought to Charlevoix and escorted by the local Masonic lodge to Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Stanley was highly respected and liked by all who knew him ond their loss will be severely felt in his community.

Miller's Specials.

Olenmorgnrine, lb 25c
4 pkgs Corn Flakes 25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps 25c
4 lbs. Head Rice 25c
Adv.5t1 MRS. B. W. MILLER.

CITY FATHER BLOCKADES STREET

South Side Residents Wonder How Long it Will Last.

Residents of West Hurlburt street ond those having oecasion to uss that thoroughforo are wondering how long they have got to drive oround out of the road to avoid a certain dwelling house that stands right in the middle of it, and has thus stood since the first snow fell.

This house is the recently acquired property of a certain gentleman of our vicinity, who moved the same from its original site on the Belvedere resort to its present position some months ago ond for some unaccountable reason has not moved it a single lnch, so far as we can sea, since that time.

After several valn attempts to throw light upon this mystery, we have como, howbeit somewhat reluctantly, to the conclusion that the aforesaid gentleman feels that membership upon the city counoil carries with it certain privileges and immunities that the ordinary citizen does not possess. Relying upon this belief, we presume, and the further conviction that the beforemeotioned o. c. is too much of a sucker to "make a holler" obout it, the honorable gentleman has ollowed the dwelling house in question to stand as a declaration of his peculiar rights and perquisites. We wonder how long it would stand in front of bis house.

R. W. ELSTON DIED SUNDAY

REMAINS BROUGHT TO THIS CITY FOR BURIAL.

Services to Be Held From the Home on Dixon Avenue Friday Afternoon.

Robert W. Elston, old resident of this city and former proprietor of the Elston Hotel (now the Michigan), died last Sunday in St. Augustine, Florido, at the Hotel Granada, where he and his wife were spending the winter with his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Baker. The end came at one o'clock in the afrtenoon, following a two week's confinement to his bed; the climox of a long period of failing health.

Mr. Elston was born May 17, 1839, in Exeter, Englond, and came to this country when he was sixteen years of age. For many years he was engaged in the wagon business in Canada, and later entered the hotel business in Grand Rapids, Michigan. In 1892 he was married to Mrs. Louise Holley, at Charlevoix, ond in 1898, built the Elston Hotel, which is now known at the Hotel Michigan. While he made his residence in Charlevoix up to the time of his death, he and his wife spent the last seven winters in Daytona, and St. Augustine, Florida. Mr. Elston is survived by his wife, his daughter, Mrs. Martha R. Baker, and his step-daoghter, Adeline S. Holley. The kindly old gentleman was well known to Charlevoix people and hod endeared himself to many by his gracious, loveable character and unchonging courtesy.

The remains will be brought to this city Thursday, accompnnied by the wife and daughter. The funeral services will he held from the Elston cottage on Dixon avenue, Friday afternoon, nt two o'clock, the Revs. Taggart and Walker officiating, with Interment at Brookside.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS.

Two Sleigh Loads Gather at Home of Mrs. Albert O'Brien.

Last Friday evening, being the birthday of Mrs. Albert O'Brien of Hayes township, two large sleigh loads of friends gnthered nt her home in the evening to participate in the celebration of the event. Games nnd music furnished the amusement for the evening and a delicious luncheon, including a large birthday cake was served. Upon leaving the guests wished their hostess many returns of the dny and voted her a model entertniner.

Feed Grinding.

Corn on cob nud small grains. Griading Tuesdays and Saturdays. N. W. Smith, State street.—Adv.5t1

REQUIRES A DEFINITE AIM

FOR ANY AMBITIOUS WORKER TO GAIN HEADWAY.

Specialist With Chosen Vocation is Always Given Preference Over Job Huntor.

Specialization—the modern demand for individoal effieiency—requires a definite aim upon the part of every ambitious worker. Mere willingness is not eoough. Tbere must be aptitude for a specific kind of work and a eonscions effort to win success in some particular field of endeavor.

By making a deliberate choica of vocations, and seleeting ono that offers the possibility of efficient service and advancemeot throogh increasing capacity, one insures love of work, good pay, happiness, success. There is a vost differenea between thus intelligontly seleeting a a vocation, with a view to making it a life work, and merely seeking a position or hunting a job without definite aim or direction.

The spacialist with a ehosen vocation will always receive preferenee over the job hunter. He has a recognized status; possesses voluable ability and is therefora in demand. And, of course, the sooner this fact is recognized and a decision reached regarding physical and mental aptitude, both natural and as a result of training, the greoter are the opportunities for achisvement.

The pleaaures of material success and the joy of accomplishment come through surmounting obstacles, grasping opportunities and forging steadily ahead despite all opposition. To know what to accomplish; to realize the possibility of its accomplishment, gives courage and determination that brings success.

There is one path less strewn with obstacles; offering the best opportunity for advancement and it is only the part of wisdom for each individuol to first determine that path and then bend every effort toward the greatest progress.

This brings up a most diffieult question—one that has, until very recently, remained unanswered.How shall we secure the desired information regarding the various vocations available? There is usually little satisfaction in the advice of a worker in a given vocation. Whether engaged in a trade or a member of one of the so-called professions, there is too much of personal opinion and too little of actual fact to make such suggestion valuable or dependable.

It is not the opinion of anotber that is required; but reliabla data upon which to form one's own opinion. What are the earniogs? How many persons are engaged in that particulor field? Is it overcrowded or expanding? What are the preparatory requirements; the usual hours of work; the limitationa and possibilities? Questiona such as these must be answered if intelligent choice is to be made and they can only be accurately onswered as a result of tireless investigation.

The time and effort necessary to bring together just the facts needed, has, however, been given the subject during the past several years, with the result that a splendid series of pictorial treatises covering important vocations are available for distribution throughout the United States.

Through the courtesy of the Charlevoix County Bonk, which has secured the exclusive right to this voluoble literature in our own vicinity, those interested may secure tho entire series with the compliments of tbe above institution.

The treatises are not only most interesting, well illustrated and geoerally attraetive, but contain facts and figures relative to different vocationa that must of necessity be valuable to all progressive membors of thia community.

These revisws, presenting the requiremeots ond possibilities of various voeotions are being mailed without charge to many individuols throughout this commnnity. All wbo nre interested have been invited by the officers to send in their names and addrosses.

Unquestionably, this voentional series presents opportunities for intelligent, individual progress and increased efficiency throughout the entire community.

Get the habit—Reod tho Courior.

NOW FACES ALL TASKS WITH JOY

Housework Becomes Pleasure to Mrs. John Bowen.

FINDS STRENGTH IN TANLAC

Mrs. John Bowen, 1117 South Division street, Grand Rapids, reached the point where housework became a drudgery. She began to dread tasks she had once faced with joy.

"I used to have queer choking spells," she told the Tanlac Man. "My nerves were upset all the time. I didn't feel like eating.

"Headaches bothered me a lot. I got tired easily and was nearly always worn out. Naturally I was in no condition to do justice to my work.

"A friend recommended Tanlac to me. I tried it and took the treatment faithfully. I can safely say that Tanlac helped me back on my feet. My complexion is good now. My stomach is healthy. I have a big appetite. I sleep well. My nerves are rested. I surely recommend this new tonic."

Tanlac can be obtained here only at the store of B. A. Herman.

Tanlac can also be obtained at the following stores:

Boyne City, W. A. Hyslop.
Central Lake, F. J. Fessender.

CORRESPONDENCE

HAYES.

Pomona Grange Saturday. Everybody go.

Fred Gornell is cutting wood for Jones Lewis.

Lela Allard returned to Charlevoix last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Sneathen are both sick with colds.

Leo Pant spent Saturday evening with Roy Pant and wife.

Mrs. Yeumans of Charlevoix is visiting at the home of Henry Hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster visited at the home of E. E. Stroud, Sunday.

Mr. Hunt cut wood with his drag saw machine for Mr. Ferris one day last week.

Mr. Cutton had a sick horse last Snturday and called a veterinary Sunday morning.

Mrs. Fred Smith is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Bartholomew.

Mrs. Bartholomew and Mrs. Bird and son spent Friday ufteraoon with Mrs. Jones Lewis.

Several of the Odd Fellows from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Wilfred Stersik of Walloon Lake.

Maple Grove school received their water fountain Saturday, also a numher of new books for the library.

A cousin of Floyd Bartholomow died last week in the Petoskey hospital of typhoid fever. Was sick just a few daya and leaves a young daughter about two weeks old.

Mr. Bird took eleven of Maple Grove grangers to Pine Lake grange Saturday night. The sleighing was poor. When we got to Horton Bay, the men stopped at the store for a treat, but some one thought it would he well to bave a whip, so one was purchased. Talk ahout laughter and fun, we certainly had it over that whip.

EVELINE.

Mrs. Lee Barnum is ill at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelson returned from Ohio last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larsen of Boyno City visited at the latter's home oa Sunday.

The dance held at Ironton Inst Friday night was well attended and a good time is the report.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell nnd family of Boyne City, visited at the Lyngklip home last Sunday.

Keeps Your Stove Shining Bright
Gives a brilliant glossy shine that does not rub off or dust off—that prevents lo the iron—that lasts four times as long as any other.
Black Silk Stove Polish
is in a class by itself. It's more carefully made and made from better materials.
Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best polish you ever used, your hardware or grocery dealer is authorized to refund your money.
There's "A Shine in Every Drop"
BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

Ross Alexander speared a fine fish last week. He balanced the scale at 12 pounds. The fishing is excellent this winter and a good many are enjoying the sport.

Mrs. Joseph Courier returned from Charlexoix, Saturday, where she has been nursing her grandchild, who has been very ill with pneumonia, but who is getting along nicely now.

Ironton Grange installed their officers ut the last regular meeting, and a big oyster supper followed the installation and initiation, the latter being performed in a true ritualistic manner, the goat giving the candidates a good show for the price of admission.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hnndred. Argo Milliag Co. Adv. 45tf

MARION.

Ed Potter is Elmer Ingall's new hired man.

Colds seem to he the order of the duy in this part of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ingalls visited at the home of his mother one day last week.

The mailman of R. F. D. No. 2 did not get through two days last week on account of bad roads.

Mrs. Fred Rice and children left Saturday for Chicago, where they have moved. Mr. Rice will be employed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meggison of Central Lake visited at the home his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison over Sunday.

A few friends called on Mr. und Mrs. Clarence Meggison last Saturday evening. The evening was spent in music and games, after which ice cream and cake were served. A good time is reported.

EAST CHANDLER.

Miss Irma Snyder visisted at the W. H. Clark home Thursday.

John Eastwood and Clarence Smithengill are cutting and hauling logs for Will Hughes.

Elise and Merlin Davis have been absent from school for several days on nccount of illness.

Mr. nnd Mrs. F. H. Hahn and family returned home Saturday after a two weeks visit spent in Sherman and Glengarry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Howard and family arrived Saturday to spend the winter with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nouh Howard.

School closed here January 26 for the winter vacation and Miss Dunlop left Saturday for her home neur Boyne City. She will return April 2 to complete the year's work.

BAY SHORE.

Mrs. Gilbert Martin has heen sick but is better now.

Miss Iola Chew is sick at her home near this village.

Mrs. Charles Brown is on the gain after a long spell of sickness.

There was a party ut the home of Peter Scott last Saturday night.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 108 Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

Fred Zipp is getting a large amount of wood hauled this winter.

Mrs. John Struthers visited her sister, Mrs. Charles Brown, Sunday.

Pants, Mackinaws, Sweaters, Sheep-lined Coats, Socks and Mittens at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 49tf

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

During the teacher's institute printed slips were handed out containing sixteen questions concerning rural school conditions. A few of the questions had several subdivisions and referred to both physical and mental conditions in the different districts. Only thirty-one of these slips were handed in. Twenty-nine of these reached the school commissioner and have been summed up as a matter of interest and knowledge concerning the schools of the county. Although these represent only about one-third of the schools in the county, the fact that these are taken at random and are located in every part of the mainland, may indicate that the answers are fairly typical of local color.

In response to the first question, "Have you been furnished supplementary readers?" eleven answered "yes" and eighteen "no.".

The second question was: "How many of the improved texts has your school board adopted?" eight answered "All," nine "Part," two "None," and ten failed to fill out this part of the report.

Eighteen had been supplied with busy work for heginners and eleven had not.

Eleven delay teaching the A. B. C's or do not teach them. Eighteen were not sure of their reading methods.

Nine had been provided with text books for their Palmer method penmanship work. Twenty had no texts to follow.

Eleven found it practicable and possible to follow the "all mental" arithmetic plan up to the fifth grade according to the course of study. Fifteen did not think so, and three did not know what to think.

In response to the question, "Do you think it would be a good plan to start a township spelling contest? Twenty-four answered, "Yes" and four left the question unanswered.

The eighth question was, "Would students' health leagues or sanitation clubs under county supervision tend to raise the standard of the rising generation in your district? Twenty-one teachers answered "Yes" and eight did not know.

The ninth question attempted to summarize possible results from the Home Credit Work. The answers were as follows: Has it aided in attendance record? Seven "Yes" thirteen "No" and nine doubtful.

Brought the home closer to the school? Twenty yes, five no, and four uncertain.

Increased the activity of any one hitherto listless child? Eighten yes, seven no, nnd four left blank.

Has it ever been a factor in making children hurry home at night? Seventeen yes, five no, and seven not positive.

Served as a healthy interest during idle recess hours? Nine yes, eight no and twelve neutral.

Has it changed the attitude toward the homely tasks of daily life? Eighteen yes, five no, and six no decided reaction.

Do you find it more work than the results would wurrant? Fifteen no, five yes and eight uncertain.

Has it caused exaggeration of amount done? Twelve yes, four no, thirteen none discovered.

The tenth question pertained to a possible change in the system next year: "Do you feel that the system could work more advantageously if next year's system provided that we require an average of 85 per cent as a passing mark in all subjects, but that any child attaining 1500 credits in the advanced grades or 750 credits for primary grades may pass his or her grade with an average of 75 per cent? Sixteen teachers answered "yes," to this question, there were three "No's and eight with no answers.

Twenty-three had read none of the reading prescribed by the state reading circle board. Two had read both hooks, and four had read one.

Sixteen plan on going to a state normal aext summer, six have not decided, and aeven intend to stay at home.

Twelve school districts plan on taking steps toward general improvement of grounds or huilding next summer. Thirteen do not yet know, and four intend to do nothing.

Ten schools will change all or part of the text books for the uniform list; sixteen do not know, and three will not change any. These three may be schools that already have the approved texts.

The fourteenth question was: "What objection do you most commonly bear given opposing the Standard school?" This brought forth some very interesting comments. Five districts had no objection, ten expressed no views whatever on the subject, fourteen gave numerous arguments of which the following are representatives:

"Costs too much, too expensive, tax too much." "What we have is good enough." "Children won't learn any more in a standard school." "Not at all necessnry." "Didn't have auch things when I was a hoy." "What is the practical value?" "We lived without these improvements." "The lighting argument is all right, hut then we can get along."

In response to the fifteenth question, "Would the 14-15th of December have heen a better time for the mid-year test?" Thirteen answered "yes," eleven "no," and four failed to answer. Five suggested January dates as better because of the Christmas exercises before the holidays. Under auggestions or remarks, one poor teacher suggests that examinations are hard on the nerves, but that she is with us in the move for better schools. One manly supporter of this view would rather give his own test. One suggestion on the home work plan was, "Give credit for productive labor. Require the product."

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank has money to loan on improved farm or city property.—Adv 4tf

WILDWOOD, B. I.

Scotty Green was a caller at Wildwood on Wednesday.

Charles Amesberg is working at G. Coles' for the winter.

A great attraction at the home of Miss Green—a grand Victrola.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Gallagher were callers at the G. Cole home on Thursday.

School opened Tuesday morning after the Christmas holidays, with a full attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Brow and daughter, Deloris, apent the week end ut St. James, with the Len Briggs family.

Master Jesse Cole was reminded of his eleventh birthday on New Years evening, and received a number of nice games.

Closing out my line of sweaters at less than cost. Benj. Brown. Adv. 49tf

GLASSES FITTED
CONSULT
J. LEAHY
Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, and all other symptoms of Eye Strain cured.
Crossed Eyes Straightened Without an Operation.
Fitting Children's Eyes a Specialty.
Difficult Cases Solicited.
Glasses Guaranteed to Fit.
Office at Hotel Charlevoix.
Date—Monday, February 5th, 1917.
Will Remain One Day.
Home Office, Petoskey, Mich.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

As you are all aware Furniture Manufacturers have made very sharp advances in their prices and every retail dealer must pay the price asked if he gets the goods. In some cases he is unable to get the merchandise in a reasonable length of time, after placing orders. This fact, our buyer found to be the case, with many factories while at the Grand Rapids markets. Owing to the advances we must make our prices accordingly; but have decided to give the public a chance to make their purchases at the old prices for the present. We will therefore, hold all prices the same as last fall until February 15th, at which time our prices will be advanced about 15 per cent on an average on all goods now in stock. For this sale we will store the goods purchased until April 15th, when requested to do so, but no goods will be held unless fully paid for. By taking advantage of this sale you will serve your pocketbook a good term.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable Housefurnishers

Report of the condition of the

Charlevoix County Bank

Unincorporated of Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge Charlevoix Michigan, at the close of business January 24, 1917.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts		$ 154,426.90
Demand Loans		35,000.00
Stocks, Bonds and Mortgages		57,955.03
Due From Banks in Reserve Cities		29,123.21
Banking House Furniture and Fixtures		27.922.86
Other Real Estate		165.35
Cash and Cash Items		24,344.74
Total		$328,938.09

LIABILITIES

Capital Invested		$ 25,000.00
Surplus and Undivided Profits		15,135.81
Commercial Deposits,
Subject to Checks	$102,525.44
Certificates of Deposits	120,239.14
Savings Book Deposits	65,537.48
Total Deposits		$288.302.06
Certified Checks		108.85
Dividends Unpaid		391.37
		$328,938.09

State of Michigan,
County of Charlevoix

I, Albert F. Bridge, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. ALBERT F. BRIDGE, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 30 day of January 1917
LISLE SHANAHAN, Notary Public.
My commission expires, August 27, 1919.

WANTED

Kilnwood Cutters

85 CENTS PER CORD

C. BEERS

REDUCE

YOUR TABLE EXPENSE

All you have to do is to buy your groceries and cured meats at this store.

Quality, price and cash will do the rest for you, as it is doing for hundreds of others.

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

CHAPTER XIX.
Setting the Stage.

THERE are two interviews which should be mentioned here if for no other reason than merely because they were both so entirely the outcome of Miss Sarah's Christmas party. Neither of them was long. The last one which took place between Wickersham and the girl he was to marry was the briefer of the two. But her prettily serious argument that the 1st of May was too early a date for their wedding in view of the work which he had to do and her own state of unpreparedness left him so white of face that she felt guiltily sorry for him for many days to follow—felt guiltier still at the relief she experienced when she had established that reprieve. The other interview was longer and took place days earlier, but it was no more of a delight to Archibald Wickersham.

Dexter Allison had returned home almost a week in advance of his daughter, pleading stress of business, but in spite of the demands upon his time and attention he had found it impossible to forget the night of the dinner, when he had watched his daughter's eyes upon Stephen O'Mara's face.

He had been troubled more than a little since his Christmas trip to Morrison. The night before New Year's Wickersham was announced at 9. He was thinking of Barbara's mother when he beckoned his guest to a chair, shook his head over his red cheeks and offered a cigar.

"Devilish cold weather," he grunted none too graciously, for he had not wanted to be disturbed just then.

The younger man admitted that it was. His mind plainly was not upon the weather, but he found difficulty in introducing a topic of his own choosing. Outspokenness had never been one of Archie Wickersham's boldest characteristics, so Allison assisted him now. Allison liked a man to be outspoken.

"Well," he demanded, "let's hear it. What's on your mind?"

There are times when hatred will betray almost any man. Hatred now led Wickersham to speak not wisely, but with venom.

"I want you to refuse to renew your name on the East Coast notes," he said. "They are due on the second."

Few men had ever said "I want you to" to Dexter Allison and, as he put it, "got away with it to any great extent." And of all nights this one in particular was the least likely to prove propitious for such an attempt. That was Wickersham's oversight.

"So!" said Dexter. "So! Well, now for your reason."

Wickersham had not learned until after Barbara's departure that she was spending the holidays in Morrison, for he had himself expected to be away. And it is only fair to the girl to say that she had honestly forgotten to apprise him of her plan, in her real excitement at going, but finding it out for himself had not made the fact any pleasanter to Wickersham.

"It should be clear enough without explanation"—he enunciated each word nicely—"if you want that road they are building."

Allison glanced up, surprised at the tone employed.

"Meaning of course I do," he mused. "And yet—and yet I don't know!"

Fear burned in the tall, thin man's eyes that night—fear that made his hatred for the absent man who was teaching him fear anything but a pretty thing to watch.

"I've tried to buy off their men." He was holding himself with an effort that made him tremble. "I've held up their supplies on every track that we control, but they've had the luck with them. They've made up lost time by working day and night. I've"—

"You've set a drunken fool to steal his plans," drawled the other with deadly sarcasm, "like a second rate one night stand villain. Don't forget to mention that too!" His lounging body shifted a little.

"Archie, do you remember what I told you about that weeds rat, as you called him once? Did I tell you that he would fight? Well, listen, and listen closely, while I repeat it for you. He hasn't even warmed to it yet!"

Wickersham went yellow at that, but his levy self control held firm. He did not break into vituperation this night. He smiled, though his voice was only a whisper.

"Men have dropped out of sight before now in those woods," he hissed. "I'll win or I'll see that he lies and rots in one of his own sink holes."

A big voice is a wonderful weapon at times. Allison's bounding bass made Wickersham's threat seem only mean and hollow when the heavy man leaped to his feet and shook a finger under that high bridged nose.

"No, you won't!" he snapped. "No, you won't! And if I didn't know after hearing you talk, that you haven't stuff enough in you to be dangerous I'd fix you so you'd be in no condition to bushwhack anybody for the next six months. I'm in a bad mood tonight. Drop out of sight, eh? You'll play this fair, fair at least as I see it, by my standards, and they are better standards than yours. You've come dictating to me, ordering me to slip a knife into their backs. Are you that kind of a sneak? Did you think I was? Now, listen again, and listen well, for I mean what I say!

"I want that railroad if the man who is building it is too weak to keep me from taking it away from him. But if I don't get it on such a basis I'll know that there is a man at the head of it who is big enough to take care of my share of it. Have you got that? Very well. And now go back to your melodrama if you want to. Steal his men if he will let you. Fight him every inch of his construction—that is your job—and I'll still insist that it is his fault if he is tardy on the 1st of May. But it's you and O'Mara from now on, Archie. I'll be a spectator now. And, by gad, don't you ever come near me again with a request that I—don't you ever let me hear you threaten that you"—

"It is wonderful—wonderful—wonderful!"

Allison's face was suffused before he finished, and Wickersham, astounded past utterance, slid from his chair away from that flourishing hand which had become a fist. It was no scene to take place between a man and his prospective son-in-law. Realizing that, Allison tried to laugh deprecatingly at his temper.

"Go out and get him, Archie," he invited. "I'll be watching, don't doubt that. And I know how much you want to win. It's a bigger stake than most folks realize!"

The same day that more than half of O'Mara's men went on strike and deserted to the reserve company's payroll the news reached Allison that a trainload of laborers had been shot in to take their places—those very types of laborers which Steve himself had warned Elliott would not last an hour in the event of trouble. For a week Allison wondered that there was no clash between the displaced men who believed that the river was theirs alone and this new corps which Garry Devereau was handling at the lower end of construction, not by physical prowess, as Fat Joe had ruled, but just as surely and all because, as Joe himself put it, he could damn a man merely by bidding him good morning.

"Honey crossed north today to have a look at his winter cut," Joe would observe to his chief at supper at Thirty Mile, and before the night was many hours older Allison, too, in Manhattan, would have learned by wire in less picturesque phraseology that Archie Wickersham was missing no chances.

"They have now finished hauling their logs to the river," Joe told Steve one night after a prolonged scouting trip. "They are turning their attention to their boat dams now."

And when that news was relayed to the big man who never ceased to watch he understood why there had been no violence when the rivermen went on strike.

It was the bitterest January that the hill country had known in twenty years, but mile by mile that month the twin line of steel crept steadily into the north under the urgings of Garry's smooth voice. The snowfall for February broke all records for half that period, but Steve, with his handful of men at Thirty Mile, put his piling down. And then it rained. It rained until small brooks ran torrents and the river tumbled white and thunderous its entire length.

The snow went off the last of March that spring, and the gorges could not carry away the water. The sun turned summer hot. It burned the higher ridges dry while the valleys still lay hidden in flood. It was August temperature the third Sunday in April, when Stephen O'Mara stood and watched beneath the glare of kerosene torches his bridge at Thirty Mile go into position between dark and dawn.

There was no man among them that day who did not show upon his face the strain they had been under. They were few, they were unshaven and dirty and lean as hungry hounds, but they were the men whom Steve had once bidden Hardwicke Elliott to watch, once they had begun to scent combat. Fat Joe was no longer plump. Steve was worn down to actual thinness. And it would have taken a careful eye to have selected the chief from their ranks that Sunday.

The huge timbers had dropped into place like bits of jig sawed puzzle. At 3 in the afternoon, too tired both in body and soul for elation, Steve watched them drive home the last spike and heard their hoarse effort at a cheer. He had turned to start toward his shack, not like a man who knows that the end of a well nigh hopeless task is in sight, but like a beaten man. The 1st of May meant more to Steve than any clause of the East Coast company's contract could convey. He had not had even one letter since he put her upon her train. Wickersham's appearance on horseback at the head of the valley, picking his way around the flooded meadow, halted him in his heavy footed climb. A whistle shrilled far to the south of them, down the completed track. And then, after ten years and more, they were face to face again.

"That bridge will have to go down!" Wickersham was breathing hard, for all that he had been riding. "I am going through with my drive today!"

He had dismounted. Steve smiled at him.

"You're a whole week previous, Wickersham," he said wearily. "I'll be signaling for your first load of logs in less than sixty hours."

Archibald Wickersham wished that he could have believed it impossible, for it would have given him courage and lent conviction to his stand. But he knew just how fast those few remaining miles of open roadbed would be spanned. His eyes were furtive. There was no body to his voice.

"My men are on the banks," he blustered. "My first head of logs has started down. It's too late to argue now—too late for your promises that none but fools ever believed." The sure irrevocability of what he was saying blanched his cheeks. "I cannot wait for a miracle to be performed. My timber must come out on this flood."

Stephen O'Mara had whipped him once, but men had interfered. This day chance or destiny or fate—whatever you may choose to call it—saved him from destruction. The lean and weary man who had not been out of his clothes for three days and three nights, save for a plunge in the icy river, had taken his first step forward when the whistle screamed a nearer warning.

She had told him that she would come to see the finish of his race, but he had long since stopped believing that. And now when she stood and waved her hand at him from the brass railed observation platform of Allison's private car which a switch engine, out of patience with the grade, was shunting across the lower end of the clearing he could only stand and stare dully, no faith in his eyes.

The loud plaid of her father's garb flashed behind her in the doorway.

"Are you that kind of a sneak? Did you think I was?"

Hardwick Elliott's fine face peered over his shoulder. And Wickersham, who had not seen his fiancee in a month, had started toward them, stiffly erect in his immaculate habit.

"You should not be here," was all Steve said to her. "This is no place for you."

He shook hands with the men, mechanically. Allison quizzical. Elliott concerned. He went back to his bridge. The water had come up a half foot in the last few minutes some one—Fat Joe, perhaps—told him. It was sucking greedily at the piles. And in the north the ominous murmur had become a rhythmic roar.

Wickersham's men were driving the river. They were singing "Harrigan, That's Me!"

(To be continued next week.)

NORWOOD.

(Too late for last week.)

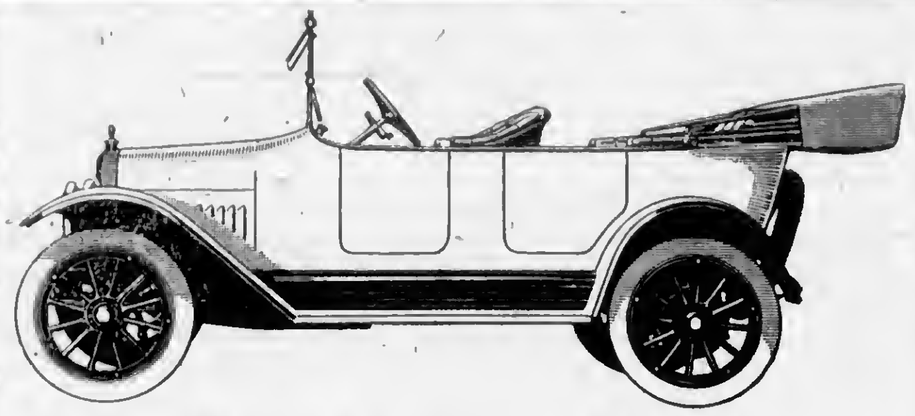
Joe Sprik has been on the sick list.

A social was held Wednesday night at the hall.

Robert Santoes and family leave soon for Detroit.

Elmer Sprik called on Merrill Richardson Sunday.

Henry Supernaw and wife were callers in Atwood Sunday.



Pay As You Ride!

Pay for your Maxwell as you enjoy it. Unusually easy time payment plan. Also a Savings Plan. You've been thinking about a Maxwell—now you CAN own one. Ask us for details of these plans. The Maxwell is complete, electric starter, etc.—a real family car.

Maxwell $635 f. o. b. Detroit

We have several good second hand cars for sale call and see us about them.

Bring your storage batteries to be charged and repaired. WE make a speciality of Automobile Repairing, Machine Shop Work and Welding.

ERICKSON & FOWLER
THE CENTRAL GARAGE

103-105 ANTRIM ST. CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Miss Lela Lohr entertained company from Ellsworth Sunday.

Dr. Wilkinson was called Monday to the bedside of Mrs. McIntyre.

Alta Perry spent Saturday and Sunday with Drusilla Richardson.

T. J. Seroggie spent Saturday and Sunday with his wife near Barnard.

Mrs. Joe Holecbeck went to Charlevoix, Friday, to spend a few days.

Dick Pascoe and wife spent Friday night at the home of Joseph Sprik.

The Junior League was held at the parsonage Saturday night. Refreshments were served.

Noting the scarcity of coal, we wonder if any one has noticed a "cold" stove in the vicinity.

Emery, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lobr, has just recovered from a slight attack of the measles.

Ed Jones, who has been on an extended visit to his mother, near Grand Rapids, returned home last week.

Choir practice was held at the home of Alta Perry last Tuesday night, and at the home of Margaret Lucia the following Tuesday.

Neighborly calls are becoming scarce and far between. We give the extreme cold wenther for the cause, and advise more pioneer spirit for a cure.

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a number of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Final Administration.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charevoix, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D., 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Hartwell, deceased, Charles J. Zeitler, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is ordered, That the 7th day of February, A. D., 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
3t3 Judge of Probate.

Notice of Hearing Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that four months from the 23rd day of January, A. D. 1917, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on or before the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1917, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Wednesday, the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated January 23rd, A. D. 1917.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
4t3 Judge of Probate.

"WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY"

Is an old and a very true saying, and in nothing does it apply with more force than in the matter of saving money. Everyone should save some part of his earnings, as it is not what one earns but what he saves that makes wealth. Start a Savings account this month with

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

J. L. Crane, President.

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

FLORIDA SEASON 1916-'17

STEEL SLEEPING CARS
MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS
FROM GRAND RAPIDS

VIA
THE SOUTHLAND
G. R. & I.-L & N.

Lv. Petoskey .....1:05 p. m.
Lv. Grand Rapids ...8:40 p. m.
Ar. Cincinnati .....6:55 a. m.
Ar. Knoxville .....4:32 p. m.
Ar. Atlanta .....9:55 p. m.
Ar. Jacksonville ....8:30 a. m.

Reservations, tickets, illustrative and descriptive matter of Florida Winter Resorts and full information at Ticket Office, Petoskey. Q. D. Phelps, Ticket Agent.

RESERVATIONS NOW BEING MADE

Returning cars leave Jacksonville 8:20 p. m., Mondays and Thursdays.

Ask the Man Who Uses a

Robeson "Shur Edge" Razor

If a man is critical about anything, it's his razor. The most exacting will find our line of razors exceptionally complete in variety and faultless in quality—razors with years of service in them, reliable in every way. The "Shur Edge" Razor is guaranteed to be made of Wardlaw's extra superfine bar razor steel, free from flaws. The process of hand forging and thermometically tempering, render "Shur Edge" razors as perfect as it is possible to produce.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Servant lady, somewhat green,
Balky fire, gasolene,
Pours the fluid, travels far,
Flower tokens, gates ajar.

Henry Fochtman of Petoskey was in town Monday.

Earl Young made a business trip to Boyne City, Tuesday.

Miss Laura Cole spent Saturday and Sunday in Elk Rapids.

E. H. Maltby of Bellaire was a business visitor to the city Friday.

S. A. Bush was a business visitor at Bellaire last Friday and Saturday.

B. E. Waterman of East Jordan arrived at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday.

A. Menzier and Harry Round of Traverse City, were here on business Friday.

Loren Hart left Monday for Flint and other southern Michigan points on business.

Dr. A. A. Swinton made a business trip to Bellaire and Central Lake last week.

Miss Mildred Eckinger returned Tuesday afternoon from a short visit to Petoskey.

Albert Edwards, Jr., has returned from Detroit, where he has been working this winter.

Mrs. Bacon of Boyne City, was in town last week visiting her brother, Benjamin Brown.

We imagine the Ladies of the Maccabees found the walking rather slushy last Monday.

Miss Ione Swinton leaves Thursday for Detroit and Ann Arbor, where she will visit relatives for a month.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. James Wyers of Detroit, a week ago last Tuesday (January 23rd), a little daughter.

The Standard Oil Company (Bill Driggett) has a brand new oil tank for next summer's business. Pretty gay affair.

Mrs. Tom LaLonde returned Tuesday evening from Cincinnati, where she has been visiting the past two weks.

H. K. Allen of the Blanchard Hardware company, made a business trip to Chicago, Thursday, to be gone ten days.

R. A. Emrey returned to Charlevoix, Monday night, after a two weeks' business trip in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson returned last Saturday after spending three weeks in Detroit and Grand Rapids, visiting friends and relatives.

Ice cutting for the Inn, the Chicago Club and the Booth Fisheries Co. is finished, and this week will see the finish of the season's cut.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McGeagh arrived in the city from Flint a week ago last Saturday, and will spend the remainder of the winter here.

Mrs. Glen Beers arrived Monday from the Canadian Soo, called here by the illness of her daughter, who has been under the doctors care for several days.

Deputy State Game Warden T. L. Bryant of Pellston, and Ed Long of Alanson, were here Thursday night and Friday, stopping at the Hotel Charlevoix.

The stork flew over the Coast Guard station early Monday morning and left a new boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelterbouse. Three cheers for the stork.

Regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, February 6th. A special entertainment feature will be presented. By order of W. M.

Dr. A. A. Swinton will accompany his sister, Miss Ione Swinton, to Detroit, Thursday, and will stop in Grand Rapids before returning to this city the middle of next week.

Henry Wood, who has the agency for the Dodge car, got in a consignment of three last week, one of which, a five passenger touring model, he has already sold to D. F. Meech.

On another page of this issue will be found a statement of the condition of the Charlevoix County Bank. The strength of the institution is very clearly shown in this statement.

Frank Metcalf is taking inventory of his store stock, preparatory, we are told, to disposing of the business, but as nothing definite has been decided as yet, further details will be published later.

Charles Danto has been confined to his rooms at the Hotel Charlevoix for the past ten days, a victim of la grippe. Mrs. Danto has also been a sufferer from this malady for the past week and unable to be about.

Subscribe for the Courier.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acctylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

New Dress Materials

A new line of Fancy Dress Materials in Stripes and Plaids from 75c to $1.75 per yard

Special For Friday-Saturday Only

15c SILKOLINES at 12½c

12 1-2c SILKOLINES at 10c

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

TALC AND SOAPSTONE.

United States Largest Producer of These Minerals.

America leads the world in the production of talc and soapstone, and yet most Americans are far from appreciating how much of the joy and comfort as well as the success of life depends on the use of talc to smooth the rough places and lessen friction of all kinds. The cool and soothing toilet powder used by nearly everybody from the cradle to the grave is made of talc, which also absorbs grease from silks and other fabrics, bleaches cotton cloth and cleans up things generally.

The demand for talc is steadily growing in the United States, and the production has responded. The largest amount of talc is used in the manufacture of paper of many kinds, from roofing to writing paper, not simply to give it body and weight, but to improve the quality of the paper, give it a smooth finish and make it better adapted to receive printer's ink.

Soapstone is used for making laundry tubs, griddles and the like, and the industry is for the most part distinct from the talc industry.

Radium a Poison.

Recent widespread discussion of the healing powers of radium has bred such a plentiful crop of radium quacks in England that the medical committee of the British Science guild urges immediate steps to protect the public. Radium therapeutics is still in an experimental stage. Even in cancer the value is problematical, and at least five years' clinical work will be required before any safe general conclusions can be drawn. The use of radium by unskilled and irresponsible persons is dangerous and should not be permitted. No mud, water or drug advertised as radium-containing should be used without a dependable certificate as to its exact content of radium. Frauds of this sort seem to be particularly rampant. The medical committee adds to the above warnings the suggestions that radium be included in the pharmacopoeia and thus automatically standardized and also that it be declared a poison under the food and drugs act.

Danger of Direct Illumination.

The strain which the human eye is subjected to under ordinary direct artificial lighting conditions is only realized when a person becomes aware of the fact that in letting the gaze shift past the filament of a tungsten lamp to the walls of the inclosing room the eye has to accustom itself to a change in light intensity of 7,000,000 to 1. Indirect artificial lighting does not cause this strain, as the light source is concealed, and the variations in brightness in a room thus illuminated is approximately the same as in one lighted by northern exposure daylight.—Electrical World.

Steel Wheels Are Strongest.

In experiments to determine the relative strengths of wire, wood and steel wheels recently conducted on the Richle testing machine at the University of Michigan the steel wheel proved the strongest. This type did not fail under a lateral pressure of 8,940 pounds to the square inch, whereas the wood wheel collapsed at 4,500 pounds, and two spokes in the wire wheel broke at 4,000 pounds. In the latter test, however, no nipples pulled through the rim.—American Machinist.

Cleaning an Oilstone.

Use kerosene oil and a sprinkling of emery flour and proceed to sharpen tools. It is not necessary to clean a stone thus treated before placing the tool on it, as the emery and kerosene will make a good surface on the stone as well as assist in producing a sharp edge on the tool.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Coincidences of Dates.

Attention has often been called to the curious fact of the date Sept. 3 figuring so largely in the history of Oliver Cromwell. That very dominating man was born on Sept. 3, 1590; he won the battle of Dunbar Sept. 3, 1650; that of Worcester Sept. 3, 1651, and he died Sept. 3, 1658.

The number 88 had fatal influence on the Stuarts. Robert II., the first Stuart king, died in 1388; James II. was killed at the siege of Roxburghe castle, 1488; Mary, queen of Scots, was beheaded in Fotheringay, 1588 (new style); James VII. (II. of England) was dethroned in 1688, and Bonny Prince Charlie died in Rome in 1788.

Easy Matter.

"How does your boy Josh like his job in the city?"

"First rate," replied Farmer Corntossel. "He knows more about the business than the man that owns it."

"Who told you that?"

"Josh did. All he's got to do now is to convince the boss of it an' git promoted."—Washington Star.

Subscribe for the Courier.

GIVE MOTHERS A CHANCE

DON'T LET BARE WALK DRIVE AWAY TRADE.

Scraping Runners on Dry Concrete Rouses Mother's Ire—Bridge Street Their Jonah.

Several times during the present and past winters, gentle complaints have come to our ears from that large, unobtrusive, yet powerful quarter of our population, of whom it is said that their collective hand rules the world while stilling the wails of the infant—we mean the mothers.

The woman who sauntera down town of an afternoon, these days, pushing little Jennie or Jackie, wrapped up in blankets and reposing in the gaily painted contraption that she probably purchased in the fall from Sears-Roebuck or Montgomery-Ward (?), objects, and rightly too, on reaching Bridge street, where she expects to make her purchases, to having to turn around in her tracks and draw steel runners over bare slate sidewalks, rendered more sticky than ever by a thin film of snow-water which the shovel of the well meaning but misguided store-proprietor couldn't scrape off.

Merchants along our principal business street would lose nothing, we believe, either in the good opinion of the women folks or in the volume of their trade, if they would leave two or three inches of snow on the sidewalk to be beaten down by many feet, to form a sliding place for the little sleighs. Some few old crusty individuals who are unsteady on their pins may be outraged by this neglect of their safety, but we should worry. Help "Ma" to do her shopping in comfort and thus add to your reputation and your bank roll.

This "digging down clean" process becomes a positive menace on the short walks leading from the street-sidewalks to dwellings, as, in case of a freeze-up after a thaw, a sheet of glare ice is formed which cannot be seen at night and often causes a nasty bone-breaking fall. Better leave a little snow for a foot-grip.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

FOR SALE—A five room cottage, south side, near park, very pleasant location. Easy terms. Investigate. J. Milo Eaton. 5tf

WANTED—Pair of two year old colts. For sale, pony mare $75; three Plymouth Rock cockerels, price $1 each. B. P. Wilkinson. Phone. 5tf

THE MOLER BARBER COLLEGE of Chicago, Illinois, wants men to learn barber trade. They offer splendid inducements and a short term completes. They mail free a beautiful catalogue and ask all our readers to send for it. 5t2 pd

FOR SALE—A moderately priced house on the north side "within the charmed circle." Already rented for next season and the rent goes to the buyer. Large lot, two baths and all the modern improvements. Terms. Come early if you want this good investment. 5tf J. Milo Eaton.

400 TYPEWRITERS

REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12 Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction book, free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffao, N.Y.

J. L. Crane

Water Damage Sale

A Flood of Water from a bursted water pipe on our third floor damaged a quantity of goods which we are placing on sale at very low prices:

Rugs Curtain Rods

House Dresses

Men's Shirts Sheetings

Towels Nainsooks

Ginghams

Aprons

Cretonnes

Outing Gowns

Stair Carpets

SATURDAY SPECIAL

25c can K. C. Baking Powder per can	19c
25c can Calumet Baking Powder per can	19c
25c can Rumford Baking Powder per can	19c
4-10c cans Snider's Tomato Soup at	25c
Wild Black Berries per can	15c
Raspberries per can	15c
Strawberries per can	15c

H. B. JACOBS

Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

MR. FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, Feb. 6th

"EXTRAVAGANCE"

Mme. Petrova

Thursday, Feb. 8th

"THE KISS OF HATE"

Ethel Barrymore

PRE-INENTORY SALE

Now on in Full Swing

Before the close of the month we expect to close out every remainaing seasonable Winter article in our stock. The Clow policy is one that means no merchandise shall be carried over from one season to another, so we have gone through the stock and made great reductions.

BLANKETS Stable Blankets, Storm Blankets, a large assortment and all high quality goods. This line we wish to close out at once and in order to do so have made attractive reductions. If in need of blankets get them while the sale is on. SAVE MONEY.

GENERAL STOCK Do not forget that this store offers you other seasonable goods at the same line of attractive discounts. We want to move

SPECIAL CLEAN UP the lines we carry rapidly to keep them from getting shop worn. Hence, our prices are lower than those of others.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

Watch This Space For Davis Next Week

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

PUTTING AWAY A LITTLE OF HIS EARNINGS

That is what gives the laboring man or business man more prestige, better financial standing, more economicol purchasing methods and ranks him among the prosperous citizens of the community. We offer every facility for helping you save and then after you have saved portions of your earnings we can offer you advise as to safe investments and securities. A small amount will be received here for deposits with just as much appreciation as a large sum. We know that the small amounts start larger deposits and the increasing deposits mean more business for us and a better rating for you. Start now and let our bank be your starting point in life. Save while you are earning—then when you are not earning let what you have saved keep you comfortably.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responsibility, $250,000.00

C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Ruhbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you ueed Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

GETTING RICH QUICK

Every time the purchasing public overlooks the sale purchasing opportunities of the January and February clearing sales, they lose the chance of Getting Rich Quick. You should buy winter goods now and have them for the next winter season which is sure to find you in need of many new winter garments. It will pay you as it never paid before to buy your next winter's Suits, Coats and Undergarments now and lay them away. This is the proper place to make your purchases. Come in and see the bargains we are offering to clean out our overstock.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

REPORTS BUSINESS OF YEAR

JUDGE HARRIS ISSUES HIS ANNUAL STATEMENT.

Work in the Probate Court of Antrim County Given in Detail.

Well knowing that the people of Antrim county are alwaya interested in the work done by tbe "officials," or, to use the words that are exactly correct, tbe hired men, wbo are supposed to do tbe work aad draw their pay from the county treasury, ia very brief form I have tabulated some of the maln things done last year.

Fourteen wills were admitted to probate and letters testamentary issued.

Nineteen intestate estates were admitted aad letters of administration issued.

One foreign will was admitted.

Four speeial administrators were appointed.

Five adoption cases were cared for.

Eight guardisns for minors were appointed.

Six guardlans for mentality incompetents were appointed.

Twenty-three final accounts were filed and heard.

Seven hearings on elaims were disposed of.

Three sales of real estate by guardians.

Fifteen sales of real estate by adminlstrators.

Eight determination of legal heirs.

Three petitions for widow's allowance heard and granted.

Five afflicted adults were sent to the university bospital at Aan Arbor.

Five afflicted childrea were sent to the university bospital for treatment.

Tbree insane patieats were committed to the state hospltal at Traverse City.

One patient was sent to the Howell sanltarium for tuberculosis.

One boy was commltted to the iadustrial school at Lansing.

One boy was seat to the Michigan tralning scbool at Lapeer.

One patient to the Wahjamega farm colony for epileptics.

One mother's pension was granted in 1916.

Three inheritance tax matters were heard and collectiuns made amounting to $149.83.

Twenty-eight probate orders were drawn from this office in the amount of $187.55.

Twenty-two estates were fully closed and discharges issued.

Four hundred letters were written and copies of same are on file.

There are now ten mother's pensions in force and drawing from our county in money from $1.00 to $5.00 per week. There are twenty-eight children in these families who receive an average of $1.05 per week per child. Twelve of these pensions bave been granted since this act went into effect. Two have been cancelled and tbree have been refused.

The cost in connection with sending the afflicted classes to the hospital at Ann Arbur is paid as follows: The state pays for the children and the county for the adult class.

There were only three insane cases ia 1916 compared with thirteen cases the previous year. These three cases cost the county on an average of $85.30 each. The medical examination cbst at least $10.00 in each insane case.

There were eighteen juvenile cases handled, some of them being placed on probation, only one being sent to the iadustrial school.

I take this opportunity to thaak the good people of Antrim county for their kindness and confidence ns shown in again electing me to this important office. I will promise only a good business admiaistration of affairs, and I ask your assistaace at all times in matters pertalaing to the probate court.

Very traly yours,
Eraest R. Harris.

MAPLEVILLE.

Oscar Wansemn is home from Jamestown for n visit.

Rev. VanDenlleavel, our former pastor, who was to have preached here last Sunday, did not come on accouat of illness.

Winnie VanderArk, formerly of this vicinity, has undergone an operation in n hospital at Denver, Colorado.

Mr. Carlisle is quito ill at this writiag.

Miss Barbara Groenink is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maurice Henry at Bellaire.

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

"Red" Aardema of Phelps was in Ellsworth on business last Friday.

Vern Jones of Norwood was an Ellsworth visitor on Saturday last.

Dr. Coldren of East Jordan was in Ellsworth last week on business.

Mrs. Holliday of East Jordan is visiting her daaghter, Mrs. Glea C. Townsend.

Drs. Parks and Varden were in Ellsworth last Saturday on professional business.

Dr. W. H. Parks and Charles Phillips of East Jordan, were in the village one day last week.

James Elzinga apent Friday and Satarday at Atwood, the guest of his brothers, Henry and Albert.

Henry Elzinga of Atwood spent two or three days last week visiting his brother, James and family.

Mrs. Aardema of Phelps, formerly of this place, who has been very low with pneumonia, is mucb better.

R. M. Kelley of the Acme Tie company of Reed City, was buying tles in and around Ellsworth last week.

Chris Empey retarned last week from Detroit, where he has been working the past two or three months.

M. R. Nelson and son, Ray, started for points in Ohio and Virginia last Saturday night with five cars of potatoes.

Mrs. George Bradford returned Saturday from the upper peninsula, where she hss been visiting the last two weks.

Ned Loring, Mussleman Grocery co.'s genial snlesman, was in Ellsworth on his regular trip one day last week.

S. S. Post, insurance adjustor for this territory, was in Ellsworth on Thursday, settling the loss on the school house fire.

Mrs. Marsac of Benton Harbor, is spending a few days ia the village looking after her property and renewing old acquaintances.

John Nowland of Atwood started for Detroit, Saturday morning, to visit his sons, Bert and John, Jr., and their families at that place.

Miss Gertrude Visser returned to her home in Grand Rapids last Saturday morniag, after a moath's visit wlth friends at Ellsworth and Atwood.

Don't fail to attend the school meeting at Boss' hall, Saturday evening, February 3. Get together, get acquainted and talk over a new building.

Word received from Detroit states tbat Mrs. Bert Newland is very ill, with small hopes for her recovery. Mrs. Newland was formerly Miss Hattie VandenBerg of Essex.

Miss Helen Boss and Miss Snyder, both nurses at the Petoskey hospital, were visiting Miss Boss' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Boss, between trains last Saturday afternoon.

Frank and Emma Louiselle and Floyd Doctor have returned from the upper peninsula, where they have been visiting friends and relatives for the last six weeks.

Prof. M. A. Brail went to Elk Rapids last Friday night and officiated as referee at the Elk Rapids vs. Manton basket ball game. He reports it as being one of the hardest fought games he ever witnessed, ending 25 to 23 in favor of Elk Rapids.

A family from southern Tennessee were in town one day last week. They were on their way to visit friends near Norwood, and the lady said she had never seen the ground covered with snow before, and had never had a sleigh ride. We do not think she will ever be able to say the same again.

George Klooster started on a trip last Friday morning which will embrace acarly all the larger cities of the south and west. He will visit the boys at El Paso, and finish his trip with a visit to his brother at Aberdeen, Washiagton, stopping enroute at New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco, and expects to be gone about two moaths.

Ed Jones of Norwood was in town Monday of this week.

The L. M. U. met with Miss Alida Bunker last Saturday evening.

Harry Feiner went to Central Lake on basiness Monday morning.

L. G. Ball of Bellaire was in Ellsworth on basiness Tuesday of this week.

The auctioa sale held at Frank Larsen's on Tuesday was well attended.

Guy Woodard made a business trip to Centrsl Lake on Tuesday of this week.

Eddie, the little son of Mr. aad Mrs. Tracey Boss, has been very ill but is aow much better.

Rev. Brower of Grand Rapids, addressed a full house at the Congregational church Sunday nigbt.

Mrs. L. Dennis went to Rapid City Monday, to care for her mother, Mrs. Odell, who haa been sick for some time.

Miss Crawford is the new teacher at the Pleasant Hill school, taking the place of Miss Aiken, who reeently resigned.

The Epworth League met at the home of Mrs. A. E. Pickard last Sanday evening, with Miss Gladys Larsen as leader.

Rev. Carrol presched at the Methodist church last Sunday in place of the regular pastor, C. E. Eldred, who is sick in bed at his home in Central Lake.

J. C. Westrate is in town packiag his farnitare and will move his family the last of this week to Holland, where he is a member of the firm of Westrate & Westrate, ia a large garage at that place.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that caaaot be cured by Hall's Catarrb Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE
Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of tbe system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Draggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 1t5

Courier Job Printlng satisfies.

SCHOOL NOTES.

School is now in regular session in the Congregational and Methodist churches. The high school room and the intermediate room occupy the Methodist church, and the primary room occupies the Congregational church.

The books arrived in time so that we were able to start school on Moaday of last week. Everyone has new books, as the fire devoured all or nearly all of the books used at the beginning of the year.

We are expecting seats to put down in eacb of the school rooms. This will make it mucb easier for the scholars as well as for the teachers.

We woald appreeiate any books which might be used in reference work, such as encyclopedias, histories, scientific, works of literature.

Tuesday of this week we had our first lessons in Manual Trainiag aad Domestic Science.

The tenth grade are now working hard upon the new high school agriculture. The work is very interesting.

The botony class are now dissecting squash seed. I sappose that we shall soon have a new variety of squash.

The Milnes algebras have been chaaged for Wentworth algebras. The new book is proving well worth the change, as it is plainer than the one previously used.

Bread Set in the Morning is Baked by Noon
HO-MAYDE has revolutionized bread making. Bread set in the morning with the famous HO-MAYDE is baked by noon.
Just add a teaspooaful of HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER to the water in wbich the yeast is dissolved or diluted.
RESULT: Larger, better and sweeter loaves produced from the same materials.
No sour or chilled bread—no failures. HO-MAYDE is guaranteed to be absolutely pure, wholesome and dependable, and complies with the pure food laws.
If unable to secure HO-MAYDE at your grocery, a package will be mailed for 15c. Write for free sample.
Ho-Mayde Products Co.
Detroit, Mich.

CORRESPONDENCE

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

(Too late for last week.)

Mrs. Tbomas DeMoulpied spent Tuesday at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. Wrigbt.

Miss Ruth Chellis was entertained at the home of C. E. Bearss and family Wednesday night.

The wind has been so strong of late that it has blown tbe news ltems all away and we were unable to get many uf tbem collected.

Miss Lottie Wright was in Ellsworth, Wednesday and Friday, getting some dental work done, and also spent Wednesday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. F. Wrisley.

Russell Alward of Norwood speat a few days at the home of his brother, Isa Alward. The two have been dning some hunting and we understand tbat they captured another fox last Saturday.

School Notes.

The 2nd and 3rd grades dramatized the story of "The Animal Show" last week.

Eight children were absent from school Monday on account of the storm.

The 4th grade are learning bow to write letters and also how to address them.

The 2nd and 3rd grades are enjoying some short stories from the Reading Circle book, "Stories aad How to Tell Them."

The stove, which waa formerly used in heating tbe scbool room, has been parchased by Isa Alward.

ROCK ELM.

Ed. Metz broke roads for the mail carrier last week.

Charles Donaldson and family visited bis mother Sunday afternoon.

The weatber has been too stormy and the snow too deep for news gathering of late.

School Notes.

Twenty of our pupils received certificates for being neither absent nor tardy during tbe past month, aad several have received diplomas for home work.

On Wedaesday afternoon of last week the Normal class from Charlevoix nnd Miss May Stewart visited our school. Seven of the mothers were also present to look after the comfort of the gaests, who were aot allowed to start on their return trip hungry. The advisability of serving the pupils with something hot at noon was discussed and arrangements were made to try the plan this week.

RANNEY DISTRICT.

Walter Burbank visited bis daughter, Mrs. Kennetb Isaman, Sanday.

Wellington Baker was home with his family from Springvale over sunday.

Ervin aad Ralph Bancroft are working for Mr. Brintnall in tba Brintnall district.

Albert Smith has come back from Wiscoasin, wbere he went last summer to a soldier's home.

Friends of Mrs. Roscoe Smith will be pleased to learn she is improving rapidly from here recent sickness.

No mail Thursday of this week on account of the bad storm Wednesday and Thursday. Roads were impassible—the first trip lost on this route this wiater.

Ellsworth Grange.

The Ellsworth Grange gave a stereopticon lecture on "Live Stock on Every Farm," Friday evening at tho Blue Hall. L. K. Clark delivered a very interesting lecture. There was a large attendance, but it is tha desire of the Grange to have much larger audieaces in the future, because we know that tbese lectures are well worth hearing, while the slides show us that the facts are tried and true. In order to bo a successful farmer in this age, one must employ the most progressive and modern methods in doing our work. In order to employ the most modern methods oae must first learn just which methods are modern. Let as grasp every opportunity, which presents itself before us, and become real, ap-to-date, saccessful farmers.

The next meetiag of the Grange will be held Satarday afternoon, February 3. The following program will be given:

Solo, Effie Larsen.

Discussion, "Live Stock on Every Fnrm," Grange.

Reading, Zelma Brail.

"My Most Economical Recipe," ladies of the Grange.

Zelma Brail, Reporter.

What Will You Be Tomorrow?

Just what you eat and drink and think today.

To possess strong, healthy bodies and alert, active minds we must eat pure, nourishing food.

The United States Government says wheat bread is the most nourishing and economical food. See Bulletin No. 142.

Lily White

"The Flour The Best Cooks Use."

bakes thoroughly wholesome, healthful, delicious bread.

And it is much cheaper to bake your bread than buy it.

Besides good homemade bread, fresh from the oven, spread with rich golden butter, is a feast fit for a king.

There is nothing hits the hunger spot so quickly or satisfies the appetite so completely.

Be sure to use Lily White Flour; it assures perfect baking satisfaction and more loaves to the barrel.

VALLEY CITY MILLING COMPANY,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ellsworth Section

TOWNSHIP UNIT SCHOOL SYSTEM

IS PROGRESSIVE, ECONOMICAL, EFFICIENT AND HUMANE.

Opens New Field of Standard Schooling for Rural Students in Ooe Township.

At the present time we find ourselves in a progressive age, but the question arises are we progressive in all that we undertake. For instance are the schools of this community progressive? Ask yourself this question, then think. We have ten schools in this township, we also have nearly four hundred boys and girls of school age, but only three hundred of these boys and girls are in school. We have twelve teachers, only four of whom have ever graduated from a normal school, the rest have a high school education, and probably a few credits in some normal. We have ten school houses, poorly heated, poorly lighted, unsanitary, breeding places of ill health and disease; inconvenient, out of the way, and further more, places in which most of us as men and women would refuse to live in for nine months of the year.

Boys and girls go to schools five days out of the week, and not always because they want to, but because they are compelled to by the laws of the state of Michigan. They strain their eyes, they shiver in the cold winter months, they learn, yes, but to what extent; they dread the sight of the old rickety schoolhouse to which they have to go. You were once boys and girls. Can you remember how you used to like to go to school, that is, if you ever went, how you used to like those cold lunches of corn bread, sandwiches and fat pork? Just think it over. Would you care to go through the same experiences? Would you want to be one of the boys or girls of our community going to one of the rural schools of the type already mentioned?

To be up with the age of progression we need school houses well built, sanitary, well lighted, well heated, convenient in all respects, and also teachers with college or normal certificates, for, who wants an inadequate person meddling with the delicate and plastic mind of our little children. After thinking this over, we come to the conclusion that we must do something to better our present educational system.

"How can we do this?" you ask. Wait! It is easy. This is the process. Get together, form a unit, if not all of you, then a part of you. We well know that the United States as a union, can do more in the world on a more economical basis than the state of Michigan as a single unit. We know that the Standard Oil company can make better oil and sell it more cheaply than any one of the numerous small oil companies, because they are a large corporation and have much money with which to work. So why can not we unite and form a centralized school, and become more progressive as we do so?

We are ready for such a move and this is evident. Two or three new school houses must be built immediately. Would it not be better to build one large, up-to-date school house which has advantages that could be shared by all, instead of many small, inconvenient ones. Our community has just opened to the pursuance of the industry of agriculture, and we need more progressive people to carry on this industry, so we must throw forth some inducement to them. We read in the ancient and modern histories that people thrived where there were the greater educational advantages, and that is why Greece and Rome headed our civilization for so long. Bring this down to our present age. Around us we find greater advantages for our children. Shall we accept these and thrive or refuse and stay what we are and ever shall be, the outcasts of civilization.

Would you trade your oil lamps for the candle, the electric lamps for the oil lamps, the harvester for the cradle, the corn planter for the hoe? We say we could not get along without the electric lamp, the oil lamp, and the harvester, yet they did years ago, but quickly accepted the newer inventions because they were worth while. Just so progress points to more economical inventions to keep pace with the times. In Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, North and South Dakota, Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa and many other states they have adopted the township unit school system. They like it, and, as the baby, cry for more. Would they go back to the old system which we follow? Ask them and see what they would say. Your answer would be short and of only two letters NO. Why would they not go back? They have found that their children are no longer slaves to the inconveniences of the present rural school, and they do not want them to be.

Your child is human. Remember this and treat him human, give him a chance. He will profit by it.

Township schools means economy, efficiency, and humanism, also progress. —Contributed.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

Dear Editor—At present we are milking ten fresh cows and for the benefit of Mr. Average Farmer, will tell what they are doing. Our average test must be abnormal, to judge by his last article, but we are content to let him call it so. We keep a record of each cow separate and test once a month. Our cows are grade Jerseys and all but one medium sized cows. They test from 3.5 to 5.1 per cent fat.

We feed 30 to 35 pounds of silage to each cow per day and from 3 to 5 pounds of oilmeal, averaging just 4 pounds a day.

Our oilmeal was bought in November at an average price of $45.00 per ton. This is our reason for not feeding $52.00 oilmeal, although we would pay that much if we had to, or more. We also feed about 15 pounds of dry roughage, consisting of hay and cornstalks. Our rule is—feed a cow all she will eat up clean. No profit in hungry cows. The cost of feed for the ten cows per day is:

350lb silage @ $5.00 ton	$.87½
40lb Oilmeal @ $45.00 to	.90
150lb Roughage @ $10 ton	.75
Total	$2.52½

We realize this is not a balanced ration, but at the present prices of feeds our ration is cheaper and our profit greater than with a balanced ration.

Our cows look well and produce well, as you will see. The past two weeks our milk sheet shows 4137 pounds of milk. This is an average of 29.5 pounds per cow each day, or 295 pounds for the ten cows.

Our average test, Mr. A. F., is 4.28. Two hundred ninety-five pounds of milk at 4.28 test gives us 12.43 pounds of fat; 12.43 pounds of fat at 35 cents a pound is $4.35 per day. Deducting $2.52½ for feed leaves us $1.82½, to which we add 65 cents for 260 pounds of skim milk at 25 cents per 100 pounds, or $2.47½ per day profit.

Our fertilizer pays us for our work.

I will admit that we may not make that every day this winter, but the same ten cows in March, 1916, on dry feed, produced 378¼ pounds of butter fat. They freshened in November and December of 1915. This year eight freshened in November and December, 1916, and two in January, 1917. So far they have done better this year. We have all our records filed for reference, so there is no guess work about the above statement. We also have our creamery statements to prove up our accounts.

We will gladly open our books for your inspection and will answer any questions you may want to ask. If your cows are doing better, let us hear how you are working out the feed problem, etc. Hoping this article will not be too long for the "Pulse," and that it has in no way affected the vanity toward your herd you professed to feel in your first article, we are the

"Not Average Farmers."

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 9, 1886.

Weather prognosticator Meech says this will be a wet season and advises farmers to plant duck eggs instead of potatoes this spring.

The infant child of W. A. Boss died Thursday night.

Fred Winters and sister attended the school teachers club at Petoskey Thursday and Friday of last week.

Just think of it—we voted in Ellsworth this spring. It was very pleasant indeed.

The whole ticket headed by Ralph Wiltse was elected and Demp. Stebbins was snowed under by 70 majority. We have nothing more to say, the people have vindicated last years township board and all its proceedings.

Louis Hanson is the new pathmaster and we hope to see him at work on the roads soon.

Two handred and twenty-one votes were cast Monday.

F. J. Meech of Charlevoix was in town, Tuesday.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

ATWOOD.

Albert Brower went to Central Lake Friday.

J. T. Odbert butchered a beef last week and sold a pig.

Young people's meeting was held last Sunday evening.

Will Knight went to Central Lake Saturday on business.

Will Hofman broke the road Friday for about two miles on Route 2.

C. DeVries and his wife called at the Adrain Bos home last Wednesday afternoon.

Herman Pal is cutting down part of his grove. E. VanderStreek is head sawyer.

Joe Veenstra and Sam VanHauten expect to cut Mr. Odbert's wood next week.

No prayer meeting this week. The time and place will be announced next Sunday.

A "drove" of Atwood men and young men took a few cattle to Central Lake Friday.

The L. A. S. of the Christian Reform church meets with Mrs. J. VanHouten this week Thursday.

Good attendance at the Christian Reform church last Sunday. Communion was served and two babes were baptized.

Gertie Visser visited with friends in Atwood, Thursday and Friday of last week, before leaving for her home in Grand Rapids.

A. Newland went to Detroit, Saturday, to see his son, Bert Newland and family. Mrs. Bert Newland is reported as growing steadily worse.

M. VanderHeide and W. Waldruff were stormed in after Thursday's storm. They had to shovel out the road as far as Will Hoffman's place.

Once in a while we get a letter from the boys on the border. Had one from Gus Beuker the other day. Gus is anxious to get back to Michigan, he says.

Ben Sneller, who has been visiting his brother, Albert, of the Atwood Creamery, leaves for his home in Drenth, Michigan, Thursday of this week.

Simon Bos wrote a leter from Detroit, where he is taking a course in the Cadillac School of Motoring, that he has completed one-third of his 6000 hour course.

John Koster and family visited with Mrs. Koster's parents, Henry Heeres and wife, last Wednesday. The boys spent the day helping their uncle, James Heeres, cut wood.

Gerrit and Andrew Essenberg, while driving a colt single for the first time, met with an accident Thursday. The colt reared and turned, breaking a shaft. Nobody hurt.

Rev. and Mrs. Smith called at the Henry Klooster home Friday. They stayed for supper and on account of the weather, did not start for their home in Norwood until Saturday morning.

Miss Rose Essenberg, who is ill in a Grand Rapids hospital, has not been operated on for appendicitis as yet. The doctors are not able to determine whether to operate or not. Her folks are still with her.

Fred Yettaw, formerly of Atwood, has taken a job for a Mr. Baxter, southeast of Central Lake. He will be employed the year round as general caretaker and farm manager. He expects to move over there soon. Good luck to you, Fred.

We hear a lot of kicking about the cold and snow. Wonder what they would say about California's floas or Florida's malaria and alligators? Guess they have drawbacks to their climate as well as we do. Old Michigan is good enough for yours truly.

A nice crowd out at the M. E. church Sunday. It must seem good to the minister to preach to people instead of empty seats. It concerns not only ourselves, folks, to go to church. We can do the other person some good by going. Make up your mind to go next Sunday and then don't let anything less than a blizzard keep you at home.

Egbert VanderStreck, one of our dairy farmers who keeps a record of his work, reports that his five cows made him $300.00 in 1916. Four of these gave milk during the entire period and one heifer, freshened in June, gave milk only six months. This was only for cream marketed. Figuring his veal and the milk for his family, would add about $50.00 to it.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER-S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PHELPS.

Leslie Himebauch went to Charlevoix on business Friday.

Ralph Davis and C. VandanBerg were in Ellsworth Saturday.

Mrs. L. Aardema, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is rapidly improving.

John Patter, who has been confined to his bed for some time with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

C. VandenBerg has purchased a New Way 7 hp gas engine, also a feed grinder. Watch the dust fly.

Harry and Henry Potter have returned to camp, after being called home by the illness of their brother, John.

Rev. Beor of Grand Rapids arrived at Phelps, Saturday, going to South Barnard to preach at the Dutch Reformed church.

George Wells, who has been spending a few days at the home of Fred Mason, returned to his home in Muskegon, Wednesday.

Ralph Davis went to Charlevoix on business Wednesday of last week.

Miss Lucille Reamsma is working at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Aardema.

The mill at this place will soon be running full blast. It is owned and operated by Mr. Davenport. Bring in your saw logs. Let's patronize a good thing.

While working in the woods last Thursday, John Houstra was struck by a falling limb, which struck him on the back of the head. The wound was painful but not serious.

Christ Drost and Charley Stevens tried to play the Dutch wind mill game one day last week, when they were thrown from their sleigh. Christ and milk cans went down the embankment like a Dutch wind mill.

John Zelstra, Nesl Zelstra, John Bos, Joe Botems, Ed Boss, Lucell Reamsma, and L. Aardema were in the sleigh load driven to Ellsworth by C. VandenBerg, Sunday night, to attend the meeting in the Congregational church.

Mrs. H. Petter and sister, Nina, narrowly escaped injury one day last week, when the cutter in which they were riding turned over, throwing them out. The horse ran away, doing considerable damage to the cutter and harness and slightly injuring the animal.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brall.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1917.

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu.	6.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.00
Garden varieties	5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$10.00
Calves, dressed	13.00
Pork, dressed	12.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb	$ .32
Eggs, per doz.	.36
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	1.50
Salt	1.65

W. A. BOSS

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

New Agency for

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

WE have taken the agency for the famous De Laval Cream Separators because we believe the De Laval will do better work and last longer than any other separator made, and that it is by far the cheapest and most satisfactory machine to use.

We have machines on hand at all times and will be pleased to demonstrate their superiority to any one. We have put in a stock of De Laval repairs and De Laval Oil and are in a position to look after the needs of all users of old De Laval machines in this locality.

When in need of

Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.

Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

FEED GROUND EVERY DAY

Phone 35 Ellsworth, Michigan

ROBBING THE PUBLIC

—Of Its Vitality.—

Many drugs are placed on the market today that are injurious and often prove the cause of robbing the human body of its vitality, leaving it unfit for its daily work. This drug store does not sell these things. We handle only reliable goods that are proven helps and ones that we are fully acquainted with. Our prescriptions are compounded with the best of drugs and correctness is the main feature of our prescription work. See us when you want pure drugs.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 Ellsworth, Michigan

BY OUR BLOOD WE LIVE

If you tire easily, are subject to cold hands or feet—if you catch colds readily or have rheumatic pains—your blood or circulation is probably at fault and you need which is nature's easily-assimilated food, to increase your red corpuscles and charge the blood with life-sustaining richness. Scott's creates warmth to throw off colds and gives resistance to prevent sickness.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

OF NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

No Alcohol in SCOTT'S. Every Druggist has it

SCOTT & BOWNE, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-7a

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Bay Farmer Loses Wife.

Mrs. Sarah Grace Sterzik, one of the well-known young women of Horton Bay and North Bay regions, and wife of a well-known farmer at North Bay, died Thursday evening of last week in Boyne City. She was eighteen years old.

She had been taken to Boyne City suffering from fever and failed to respond to treatment. She grew worse and Thursday afternoon sank rapidly. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor.

The funeral was held Sunday from the North Bay church. Burial in the North Bay cemetery.

Clean Up Day in Mancelona.

Wednesday of last week was evidently "clean-up day" in Mancelona. Prosecuting Attorney Meggison and Deputy Sheriff Dunsmore of Central Lake, visited that village and together with Deputy Sheriff Sherman "got busy." They took three barrels of cider and twenty-seven barrels of Tonica out of the three soft drink places and arrested L. G. Layman, M. H. Brown, Richard McGuirk and Chas. Pucket on warrnnts charging violation of the local option law. The three first named were bound over for trial at the next term of circuit court by Justice Wallace, while the case of the latter was held over for further investigation. The wet goods were stored in a cellar for disposal by the court.

Start Case for Damages.

Two cases commenced last fall by Abslom Spry and Anna Spry against the township of Boyne Valley for the sum of $15,000 each, hsve been dismissed by the plaintiffs and their attorneys, Nicholls & Nicholls, and the same parties have commenced suit against Boyne Valley township and the County of Charlevoix for $10,000 each. The interests of the township and county are being looked after by Attorney R. L. Lewis of Charlevoix and Halstead & Halstead of Petoskey. This case is one in which the Sprys, before their marriage, claim to have been injured in a runaway on the road between Boyne City and Boyne Falls. They claim that it was the result of negligence in the care of the road, either by the township or the county, who has taken over this road.—Boyne Citizen.

Geese Become Intoxicated.

Her flock of geese lying on their back with feet in the air was what a certain woman in Cheboygan saw the other day when she looked out of the window. They were apparently dead, but on eloser examination she discovered that they were alive. But the woman for a time was at a loss to understand what the trouble was. It finally dawned on her thst she had thrown out in the yard some grain that hnd been soaked in alcohol and the geese had cleaned up on the grsin and the entire outfit had secured a beautiful jag, from which they recovered later.

New Company for Paper Mill.

Articles of incorporation for the Northern Michigan Pulp company were filed Friday with County Clerk Madlem of Petoskey. News that such firm was being organized reacbed that city some days ago but plans under which it will operate have not been announced.

The new corporation was organized in Boston with three stockbolders, Robert W. Fernald, Louis dep. Cole and Clarence G. Guild. The latter two men hold ten shares each of common stock, while Mr. Fernald holds 480 shares of eommon and 250 shsres of preferred stock, all at par value of $100. $50,000 has been paid in in cash.

Tho name of the company reads "The Northern Michigan Pulp Company of Petoskey, Mich., and Boston, Mass." The company will maintain offices in Michigan at Petoskey and Grand Rapids.

It is reported that the new firm will take over the Petoskey plant and continue its operation. It is also anticipated that the plant will be greatly enlarged and perhaps another plant erected.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

It was a dark stormy night (with a bright moon shining). As the last rays of the dying sun at ten p. m. molded the landscape into a river of shining gokd, the Freshies with their ears filled with plaudits because of the fact that they so valiantly resisted invasion (sounds like a note to Germany, but it isn't) left the farm where they had been "holding" a party, and meandered toward Charlevoix, because it was indeed a meandering path (if you don't believe it, ask them). Even though we did not get any eats, our remark is that the scare we gave was enough. When another party is to be held, please advise us sooner, so that we can all have full dress suits ready for the occasion.

Well, the final exams are over and we are beginning to "recuperate" from the severe mental strain under which we labored last week. As yet there are no reports of brain fever or any similar malady, and the air of "broken-heartedness" is fast disappearing. Even the "ex-algebrites" have heroically submitted to the "irony of fate."

Not only have have the students benefited hy the exams, but tbe faculty report that they have been greatly enlightened hy reading over the papers and have discovered many marvelous revelations in the "art" of simplified spelling. Indeed, aome brilliant freshies displayed such a "Rooseveltian" spirit as to spell the word phrase in the more simplified form—fraze, and even had the audacity to state that it was the mighty Alexnnder who exclaimed, "veni vedi vici"—thus trying to infringe upon our old friend Julius' privilege.

Monday morning the Modern History class were entertained by a lengthy but eloquent discourse on "The Expansion of England," by Prof. D'Weed.

Next Friday evening, February 2, the Bellnire basket ball team will play the Charlevoix High School team at the rink. Everbody come.

THIS JUDGE IS A SURE LEARNED ONE

Makes Wise Ruling With Regard to Diseased Beans.

And now comes the government experts with the discovery that even the lowly navy bean is subject to a disease—exclusive, but deadly. The announcement was mnde in Judge Landis' court in Chicago, recently, by government chemists who had been summoned to testify concerning the condemination of 14,400 cans of pork and beans.

"What's the matter with 'em?" demanded the judge as he held up one of the opened cans.

"In plain words, your honor, tbey have anthracnose," replied one of the experts, "which makes them unfit for food. One bean with anthracnose can soon affect a million. It's just been diacovered."

"Well, well, and what may this new disease be like?" the judge queried.

"Well, it's caused by several species of melanconiaceous fungi which have neither asci nor pycnidia," was the studied reply.

"Oh, that's different," exclaimed the judge. "If it hasn't any pycnidia something must be done about it We can't tolerate sick beans, especially ones without pycnidias. Destroy them immediately."

Wanted.

Kiln wood cutters. 85 cents per cord. Inquire of C. Beers.—Adv. 5t2.

ATWOOD.

Skating parties.

We don't like to see a long face.

Ethan Jolliffee goes to Lansing Friday.

Russ Alward has sold $100.00 worth of furs.

Pretty near time to get your next township officers slated. Look out.

A very young man wants to rent a farm. Possibly the "belle" will ring.

Fred Yettaw and family have moved into the Joseph Seymour house.

The Gleaners held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peebles on Saturday night.

Now Jim Elzinga of Ellsworth has the fever for hunting—he was here last week (car prospects).

We are sorry to learn that the infant baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Irvy Lord died on Sunday last.

Now comes the information of good news that Algert Harwood is to have a phone very soon. Good.

Mrs. Frankie Supernaw's mother, Mrs. Boss of Indiana, who has been making the former an extended visit, returned to her home on Saturday last.

Dr A. M. Wilkinson of Charlevoix, is a frequent visitor in his profession in this section these days. No matter what the weather is, he smiles and says hello to everybody.

Will Seymour has a gang of helpers fixing and repairing the interior of his home. Mr. Seymour has rented his farm to a man in the southern part of the state. Mr. Seymour will return from whence he came—"Charlevoix the Beautiful."

Notice of Republican Caucus.

There will be a eaucus of the Republican electors of Banks township, at the Boss Hall, in Ellsworth, on Saturdny, February 10, A. D., 1917, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing eight delegates to attend the county eonvention to be held at Bellaire on February 13, 1917. Dated January 31, 1917.

D. E. Carpenter,
J. S. McElroy,
E. R. Harris,
Committee.

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

Miss Ruth Chellis was entertained at the home of H. H. Herrington and family Thursday night.

In a recent issue we stated that Thos. DeMoulpied had rented the Donaldson farm, which we later learned to be incorrect, as he has not yet decided where he will locate.

Carlos Himebauch is reported to have suffered a severe attack of rheumstism Tuesday of last week, when about to return from work. It might have been much more severe if H. H. Herrington had not found him, as he was unable to get home alone.

Frank Wright purchased a young Rhode Island Red rooster of T. E. Boss last fall, and he is just beginning to try bis vocal organs. The writer was puzzled a few mornings ago by a strange sound which she at last decided must be Isa Alward's dog howling, but later in the day she again heard the same sound issue from the hen house and learned that it was only chanticleer. This time the farm dog heard it and barked until he was quite exhausted and had to take a rest. We doubt if he has yet learned the source of the sound. Now please don't blame Chsnticleer for all of this for his voice is O. K. The fact is we have been listening to leghorns for the past 15 years and, of course, noticed the difference.

School Notes.

Mrs. Joseph McElroy was a vislor at school last Monday afternoon

We started school this week with our monthly exams.

We are reading "A Winter in the Rockies" at school.

E. J. Chellis made a brief visit at school last week Friday, during our "current event" period.

Method In His Moving.

"Would you mind letting me off fifteen minutes earlier nfter this?" asked the bookkeeper. "You see, I've moved over to Jersey, and I can't catch my train unless I leave the office at 4:45 o'clock."

"You should have thought of that before you moved," snid his employer.

"I did," was the reply. "That's the reason I moved."—Boston Transcript.

ENTHUSIASM.

Enthusiasm, properly directed, can work wonders. Enthusiasm is a virtue rarely to be met with in seasons of calm and unruffled prosperity. Enthusiasm flourishes in adversity, kindles in the hour of danger and awakens to deeds of renown. The terrors of persecution only serve to quicken the energy of its purposes. It swells in proud integrity, and, great in the purity of its cause, it can scatter defiance amid hosts of enemies.—Dr. Chalmers.

Suhscrihe for the Courier.

MICHIGAN HAS LARGE DEATH RATE

TUBERCULOSIS CLAIMS MANY HUNDREDS IN STATE.

"No State Has a Better Consumption Campaign Than Michigan."

We hope that the people of Charlevoix will not soon forget the startling revelations brought to light by the Tuberculosis Survey of the Michigan Board of Health at the elinic held in this city several months ago.

The appalling number of tuberculosis cases, in every stage of its development that were discovered by the investigntions of the visiting staff of physicians and nurses, should make us pause to consider whether tbe conditions surrounding our own homes are such as to offer the greatest resistance to this hideous plague. Especially, does this apply to the rural districts, where, strangely enough, most of the trouble was located.

The efforts of the state board in this direction should receive the hearty co-operation of all right-thinking citizens. Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago, and now health editor of the Chicago Tribune, wrote over his signature in the Tribune, "no state has a better consumption campaign than Michigan." The state loses annually over seven million, five hundred thousand dollars from this one cause alone, considering the value of a life to be $3,000.00, and it is up to us to help the state authorities cut down this prodigious loss by our earnest support.

Remember that fresh air, however cold, is the greatest foe that tuberculosis knows. So keep your windows open as much as possible and let Nature's best disinfectants—air and sunlight remove you and your family from the possibility of being numbered among the unfortunate victims of this terrible disease, who are a curse to themselves, a menace to tbeir neighbors and an ultimate burden to the state. And don't let it rest here, but tell the other fellow next door.

Lusk to Speak Here.

Honorable George W. Lusk, deputy secretary of the state, bas been secured by the Charlevoix Historical Society to give the address at their annual Lincoln Day banquet, to be held Friday evening, February 16, in the parlors of the Congregational church.

Members of the society are urged to be present and are assured of a rare treat in listening to this distinguisbed and forceful speaker.

Chi-Namel Gold and Aluminum

Makes Old Furniture Look Like New

See Demonstration in Our Window

Blanchard's Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market priee.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

BUY A FORD

Pay as You Ride Plan

THE NEW STREAMLINE MODEL

When you see your friends enjoying a nice ride in an auto doesn't it make you wish you had a car? Why not ride in one of your own the same as your friends. Buy a brand new FORD of us. You can get a car and pay for it as you ride—this is our easy payment plan—and we are anxious to announce that we have a carload of cars on hand ready for the man or woman who wants to "burn up the dust" next summer.

Here are the season's prices:

Ford Roadster	$345.00
Ford Touring Car	$360.00
Ford Touring Car with electric starter	$425.00

We will sell any of our Ford cars with or without the Electric Starter. Get in the game early and have a brand new car ready to drive when the car season opens up. We are going to sell more cars this year than ever, and the prospects are such that the Ford car sales will exceed all others, in this locality. See us NOW.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35, NO. 6. 8 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1917 PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

LATEST DOPE ON WAR OUTLOOK

AMBASSADORS OF BOTH COUNTRIES RECALLED.

President Has Hopes for Peace—Ford Offers to Make Munitions at His Own Expense.

Since everyone has started talking about the war, we thought we'd take a hand in it for the benefit of those who didn't get a look at the latest telegraphic dispatches.

Messages received at the local Western Union office Monday state that our ambassador to Berlin, James Gerard, has received his passport; also that Bernsdorff, the German ambassador at Washington has received his walking papers. No state of war, however, yet exists, although modern experience goes to show that this is usually the first step to a declaration of hostilities.

Spain has declared that she will take up the gauntlet with Germany if the United States declares war and has offered to do what she can to protect our interests abroad in the interim.

Henry Ford has offered his vast plants to the government for the making of munitions at his own expense. We are certainly surprised at Henry, although we take off our hat to him. One battleship a day or a dozen submarines will be nothing to him when he gets started.

The above (minus the comments) constitute the substance of the dispatches.

From the daily press, one gets rather conflicting ideas. Sifting down the facts we gather that Holland is in a bad way; threatened with a complete blockade by sea and invasion by the German hordes with only one month's supplies ahead.

The President (as usual) while fearing the worse is hoping for the best, but has taken the precaution to keep the troops still on the border under arms, while the rumour is drifting around that he has issued a call for an additional million of troops.

We have discovered one very important and comforting fact, however—married men will not be permitted to enlist, but must wait until called upon to go. We hope this statement won't cause the county clerk to be overwhelmed with applications for marriage licenses.

CHARLEVOIX HAD SNOW-BLOCKADE

FEARED THAT GERMANS HAD CAPTURED P. M.

Train Service Resumed Again Tuesday Afternoon—People Rush for Postoffice.

The approaching war and the snow blockade on the Pere Marquette have divided the honors this week, with the blockade getting the bigger share of attention on account of its being closer to home.

The last train north bound left this city at 9:50 Saturday morning and the last one south bound at 2:20 Saturday afternoon. Since that time and up to Tuesday afternoon, when the victims were released and the town was deluged with belated mail, express matter and bedraggled looking travelers, the town has been indulging in pleasing speculation as to whether or not the report was true that the Germans had captured the P. M. with the intention of using the rust on the rails as coloring matter for khaki uniforms.

Finally, the suspense was relieved when the snow plough, after many mishaps, forced its way through to this place at 1:40 p. m. Tuesday, and was followed at 2:07 by the northbound train due here at 9:50.

At 4:20 p. m. the regular 2:20 train from the north crawled in and at 5:00 o'clock in came the regular 4:14. Thus, the blockade was broken and the trains are once more on their regular schedule. Hoop-a-la! Once more the blood flows in the hardened arteries of traffic.

Maple Crove Grange will give a masquerade dance and oyster supper at the Grange hall, Wednesday evening, February 14th.—Adv.6t1

ANNUAL LINCOLN DAY BANQUET, FEB. 16

Charlevoix Historical Society Meet in Congregational Church.

The regular annual Lincoln Day banquet will be held in the parlors of the Congregational church on Friday, February 16, next. The banquet will be served at 6:30. Tickets will be on sale at Metcalf's Drug Store, and may also be obtained from Judge S. A. Correll or R. W. Kane. The tickets will be limited to 100, and the members of the Historical Society will have the exclusive right to purchase up to noon of Monday, February 12. After that time tickets will be sold to non-members.

Honorable George L. Lusk of Bay City, present deputy secretary of the state, and an after dinner speaker of stats wide reputation, will deliver the address.

HAS RESIGNED AS TELLER AT STATE BANK

James Leenhouts to Take Up Activities in Another Field.

James Leenhouts, who has been connected with the Charlevoix State Savings Bank for the past three years, has resigned from his work as teller and will take up activities in another field, as he has planned to do for some time. The officers and directors of the bank and the many friends of Mr. Leenhouts regret to loose his association, and he leaves with every good wish from all concerned.

Mr. Leenhouts expects to spend a few weeks at his home in Zeeland before taking up his new work.

CUPID WINS IN SPITE OF WEATHER

MILDRED ECKINGER MARRIED TO ROY I. MAC ARTHUR.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. C. E. Taggart at Home of Bride Monday Evening.

Monday evening at eight o'clock, Cupid scored a bullseye, and Miss Mildrod Eckinger became the bride of Roy I. MacArthur, at the home of her father, D. J. Eckinger, on Hurlburt avenue.

The bride, attended by Miss Ola Esler, as maid of honor, was given away by her father, the groom having as best man, Ernest Kibbe. Following the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Taggart, a wedding luncheon was served. The decorative scheme of blue and white was carried out in detail, even to the gown of the bride and that of her maid of honor.

The young couple left Wednesday morning for a short tour to Detroit and other southern Michigan points before going to Flint, where they will permanently reside.

Mrs. MacArthur is one of the most popular young women in town and will be greatly missed by her many friends here—especially in musical circles, as she is an expert pianist, has a fine voice and has taken a leading part in all activities along this line.

Mr. MacArthur is a department manager in the Buick Auto works at Flint. He has made good, we understand and has an excellent future before him. They have our best wishes for a long and happy married life.

Firemen Elect Officers.

Monday night at the fire hall, the fire laddies held their annual election of officers for the ensuing year. The following officials were elected by their vote:

President, Albin Smith.
Chief and treasurer, H. D. Marshall.
Foreman, Sam Hamilton.
Foreman of hose, Wm. Heise.
Secretary, Lish Geer.
Fire police, Charles Marshall.

Wanted.

Kiln wood cutters. 85 cents per cord. Inquire of C. Beers.—Adv. 5t2.

See us for your Job Printing.

FOUGHT AN EXCITING BATTLE

MORE TROOPS LEAVING EL PASO AGAIN

Suggests Recruiting Agents Put Up Signs, "Join the Army and Learn to Walk."

(BY HAROLD W. USHER)

—El Paso, January 25—The Thirty-third, including Company I, fought an exciting battle last Tuesday—blank ammunition being used, of course.

The Michigan forces were combined with Georgia troops and were pitted against the Pennsylvania outfit. Monday, a march was made over the ground that was to be the scene of the problem. Tuesday morning, at seven thirty, we left camp in heavy marching order and hiked to the little burg of Alfalfa—about five miles out of El Paso. Of course, we all enjoyed this, as it furnished a tonic for the evening's argument as to who had the most blisters. Here at Alfalfa we rested awhile and then started back for the battle ground. Here we met the enemy and, as a matter of course, cleaned up on 'em. Then came the hike back to camp. Everyone was tired and hungry. We suggest that the recruiting agent, instead of putting up a sign, "Join the army and see the world," use one reading "Join the army and learn to walk."

The health of the members of the company is now very good for the kind of weather we are having. Only three men are now in the hospital and those have nothing serious. Dr. Beuker, who has been on a furolugh to Michigan, returned looking none the worse for his return to civilization. He reports Michigan not much colder than Texas and twice as good a state.

Troops are leaving El Paso again. The Ohio bunch are due to go to Detroit to be mustered out there. Last Saturday tribute was paid to the memory of the late Admiral Dewey by the troops here. For five minutes every soldier in the different camps stopped his work and stood at attention in honor of the late naval hero.

Typhus fever has again broken out in Juarez, Mexico, and to prevent the spread of this terrible disease all traffic between that town and El Paso has been stopped. Typhus is caused by the bite of a louse, but none have been discovered in any of the camps as yet. If lice grow according to the rest of the pests here, we will have to hunt them with shot guns.

Thursday a big picture was taken of the Thirty-third at the high school stadium. This is the largest high school stadium in the country, having a seating capacity of eight thousand. I don't think the picture will be any good, as I saw the legs of the camera wobble when they turned it on Cus Beuker.

PEARSON NOT AFTER NEW JOB

NOT TO OPPOSE HIGHWAY COM'R ROGERS.

Says He Wants to Stick to State Fire and Forestry Department.

William J. Pearson, of Boyne Falls, chief deputy fire warden, in a recent interview, stated he was not a candidate for state highway commissioner.

His statement follows: "I have never been a candidate for highway commissioner of the state, although a few of my well-meaning friends have mentioned the matter to me. I am greatly interested in the work of the fire warden department of the public domain commission, and intend to continue the upbuilding of a service that will rid Michigan of the disastrous fires that have destroyed so much property and human lives in the past. I am very appreciative of the kindly efforts of my friends in considering me as suitable timber for highway commissioner, but feel that Commissioner Rogers is entitled to a second term on his record."—Petoskey Evening News.

BUSINESS MEN PETITION COUNCIL

WANT PUBLIC CONVENIENCE STATION.

Commercial Association Take Commendable Action on Vital Question.

Last Friday night at their regular meeting, the Charlevoix Commercial Association took commendable action on a matter which has long seemed to us a vital one, both in the light of sanitary progress and from the view point of one who would make our little city complete in the comforts and conveniences which it should offer the summer visitor and the countryman who makes this place a distributing point for his produce.

The sentiment of the association was expressed in a combined set of resolutions and a petition, the text of which we give below for the benefit of our readers:

Resolved, That pursuant to Act No. 285, of the Public Acts for the year 1915, of the state of Michigan, which reads: An act to provide for the establishment of public closets, commonly known and designated as public convenience stations, in all incorporated villages and cities in this state, and in certain unincorporated villages therein; We, the Charlevoix Commercial Association, a body formed for the purpose of promoting and furthering the interests, commercial and otherwise, of the city of Charlevoix, do hereby endorse the above act in its application to our community, and

Whereas, In our opinion and that of the citizens we represent, such public convenience station is not only sorely needed, but an absolute necessity,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the common council of the city of Charlevoix be, and hereby is petitioned to proceed without delay to the erection and establishment of such public convenience station and to provide for the proper maintenance thereof, at a point to be located midway between the curbing on Clinton street, directly east of Bridge street and parallel thereto, with such parking, curbing, etc., as may be necessary for the proper appearance thereof.

Now, if the honorable council will come out of their state of perpetual hibernation long enough to give this matter the consideration it deserves, we think they will see that there is no serious difficulty in the way of completing this little building before the coming season opens. We feel that it should have been done long ago. Indifference, not opposition, is the chief obstacle to progress.

As may be inferred from the plans, the building will stand in the middle of Clinton street, between L. P. Adam's place and the Charlevoix Hardware Company's building, just a trifle east of the Bridge street line, and with its parking of well kept grass should make an attractive little oasis in the desert of our now rather unprepossessing but gradually improving business district.

MEETS FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

W. C. T. U. to Have an Interesting Program.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. C. C. Ceiken, at 208 Belvedere avenue, Friday afternoon, at 2:30. A fine program has been prepared and it is hoped there will be a large number present. After the meeting an auction sale will be held. Mrs. S. A. Correll will cry the sale. The program will be as follows:

Devotionals, Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall.
Readings, Mrs. W. J. Weikle and others.
Special music, Mrs. S. A. Correll.
Recitations, Dorothy Bush and others.

Charles Kelley Dead.

Charles Kelley of Portland, Michigan, who was here last summer visiting Mrs. A. D. Cruikshank and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vandermade, died suddenly of heart failure Sunday morning at his home in Portland. The remains were buried there Tuesday. Mr. Kelley was a former resident of this city.

See us for your Job Printing.

OUR URGENT PLEA WAS READ IN FLINT

Courier Reader Takes It Upon Himself to Answer Our Plea.

The following article was published in the Courier two weeks ago and one of our subscribers, whose residence is Flint, endeavored to relieve our distressed community by offering the fervent prayer which we publish below: The weather of the last few days and the interrupted train traffic is a fair example of how good his intentions have been carried out.

"Help! Help! In the grip of old King Winter, with two feet of snow, no trains, plagued with grippe and painful chilblains, the mercury hoving and cavorting down around the frigid nothing, no coal and everything sky-high (including the electric light contract). Pray for us, somebody, please!"

Flint, Mich., Feb. 1, 1917.

"Your prayer is answered.

"I pray that King Winter may get so warmed up that his two feet (of snow) may melt and fall off; that your train service may soon be continued. I pray that your good doctors may soon get your grippe all cured, and you do not get anything worse; and I pray that your painful chill blains soon be only an unpleasant memory. I pray that the mercury does not only too soon start you to kicking like you did last summer. I also pray that coal may be yours in abundance (at lower figures) and that your food stuffs do not go higher; in fact all of you good people who have to live in Charlevoix the year round have my heartfelt sympathy."

One Who Read Your Prayer.

(With the added amount of snow, wild howling gales, no trains in 60 hours, we suggest more sincere praying to get better results.)

HAS PURCHASED BARBER SHOP

FRANK WOOD WILL RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

Had Run Shop for Over Thirty-three Years—S. M. Rose the New Owner.

Another long established Charlevoix business enterprise changed hands last week. Capt. S. M. Rose has purchased the barber shop which Frank Wood has run for the past 33 years, and will remodel the same, installing a set of new white enamel chairs, basins, etc., to match the woodwork of the shop which will be finished in white enamel. Room will be left for the installation of additional chairs and basins as the expansion of business calls for them. It is to be a model and up-to-date affair in every respect.

The new owner will continue his former place of business under the efficient management of Ben Yettaw, and will personally take charge of the remodeled shop, where he will be assisted by Hime Pearl.

As for Frank, while his life-long customers will miss him and many of his more recently acquired patrons, all agree he is to have a worthy successor. As Mr. Wood himself puts it, he is a "retired business man" and intends to "go fishin'."

WILL MIXMONG DEAD.

Formerly Resided in Charlevoix—Interment at Cross Village.

Will Mixmong, an Indian youth well known in Charlevoix, and a former Carlisle student, died in Cross Village, Monday, in the last stages of tuberculosis.

He will be remembered as the young man who ran the picture machine at the Majestic for some time. While in Charlevoix, he lived out at the Indian settlement at the Charlevoix Rock Product company, with his widowed mother; the father having been killed outright in an accident at the plant several years ago, his head caught in the elevator belt, being severed from the body.

The remains will be interred at Cross Village, where the boy's relatives now reside.

See us for your Job Printing.

OLD CUSTOMS BROUGHT INTO USE

MAIL CARRIED TO BEAVERS BY DOG SLEIGH.

Northern Michigan Cannot Cut Lines of Communication With Pioneer Fathers.

Once more the snappy winter air of Northern Michigan resounds to the crack of the dog whip and the sharp cry of the driver as he starts his dog team on their journey across the sparkling ice. Once more the ice sends back its hollow hum as the steel shoes of the sleigh bite into it's sparkling surface.

As much as we love to think that we are a part of the effete world, some old climate customs still endure. How often we read of the trials of the winter residents of the frozen north and nearly always they are associated in some way with a dog team. We pity the residents and wonder about the dogs. They arouse our curiosity.

While we are thinking and pitying those who have to live where travel is confined to the sleigh trails, a hardy mail carrier with his four dogs is mushing across the 35 miles of open ice between Charlevoix and the Beaver Islands with the newspapers and letters from the outside world.

A time comes between the closing of navigation and the establishment of the horse drawn mail service when the islanders depend upon the mail carrier and his four shepherd dogs for their communication with the mainland. Three times each week the string of four first-friends-of-man make the long jaunt across the ice to the islands.

The Beavers are 35 miles from Charlevoix, but only 18 from the mainland. Nevertheless the mail for this place comes to Charlevoix and it is from there that it must be sent.

Now the ice is too uncertain for the mail man to risk a horse, so his faithful dogs are harnessed to the light sleigh and started on the trip. It takes the four dogs and the man a full day to make the trip one way and, even at that, it's a good day's journey.

If you think that it is easy to tramp across the ice, try it some day. The sparkling ice is a trial on the eyes, and on days when the lake is covered with drifts the reflection is even worse.

Even in the dead of winter, when the big snow ridges pile up on the ice, the dogs are again brought into service. They can go over the drifts that would bury a horse and on deep snow are much faster than a horse.

Northern Michigan is the finest country in the whole world, both winter and summer, but we cannot cut all of our lines of communication with the old life of our pioneer fathers. Very often one of the old customs will crop out that will carry those familiar with conditions in the early days, back a half century.—Traverse Record-Eagle.

THE OBLIGATION OF THE BOY SCOUTS

Honor Pledge Will Be Repeated Across Continent on Feb. 8.

Two hundred thousand members of the Boy Scouts of America, wherever they may be, will stand, salute and repeat the Scout oath at exactly 8:15 o'clock, Thursday evening, February 8.

The Scout Oath.

"On my honor I will do my best:

"1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law;

"2. To help other people at all times;

"3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

Beginning on the eastern coast the sound of this pledge of American boyhood will sweep across the country and some three hours later reach the Pacific coast.

Most of the Scouts will be at troop meetings then, and will repeat the oath in concert. Scouts in their homes will put down books and and jump to their feet; boys on the streets will stop and raise their right hand—everywhere this very impressive feature of the Scout Anniversary will be observed.

FEWER PEOPLE GROWING OLDER

The Public Health Service reports that more people live to the age of forty years to-day, but from forty to sixty years mortality is increasing from degenerative diseases.

Thousands of well-informed men and women to-day are learning the true value of

SCOTT'S EMULSION

OF NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

as a powerful blood-enricher and strength-builder to ward off the headaches and backaches that mean weakness. SCOTT'S helps fortify the body against grippe, pneumonia and weakening colds, through its force of medicinal nourishment.

Refuse Alcobolic Extracts That Da Nat Contain Cod Liver Oil.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 10-1

MARION.

It is reported that we bave several cases of mumps in this neighborhood.

There was no Gleaner meeting last Friday night on account of the storm.

Mrs. Robert Trimble visited relatives in Marion a couple of days last week.

Mrs. George Harrington went to Central Lake last Saturday to visit with relatives.

Miss Nellie Ingalls entertained the Freshmen class at the home of her parents last Thursday evening.

Miss Julia Cork visited at the home of Miss Hazle McGhan in Central Lake over Sunday.

Mrs. William Shapton visited friends and relatives in Marion the first part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Poquette and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McElroy visited at the home of James Meggison recently.

Mrs. Henry Black, Sr., returned to her home in Charlevoix, after visiting for the past week at the home of her son, Walter Black.

Mrs. Lucy Pearl returned to her home in Charlevoix, Saturday, after taking care of the new baby at the home of Charley Withers, for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Walter Black had a carpet rag bee on Wednesday, and the ladies auxiliary met there on Thursday. In spite of the cold and stormy weather, the ladies sewed 55 pounds of rngs in the two days.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional trentment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundntion of the disense, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers theat they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to eure. Send for list of testimoninls.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 6t4

NORWOOD.

Mrs. McIntyre is still ill.

Vern Jones is visiting in Atwood.

Beautiful snow—and plenty of it.

Amidon Stafford was a caller in Charlevoix, Wednesday.

Our mail man was unable to get through Thursday and Saturday.

Our highway commissioner has some new kind of roads to break.

Mr. Perry and daughter, Alta, spent one day last week in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Joe Holecheck and son, Isa, spent one day of this week in Atwood.

The ladies aid was held at the bome of Mrs. Henry Wagner last week.

Miss Vera Lohr spent Tbursday and Friday alght with Miss Anna Jones.

Floyd Wagner is enjoying a visit from his cousin, Percy Empey, of Atwood.

"A SHINE IN EVERY DROP"
Black Silk Stove Polish is different. It does not dry out; can be used to the last drop; liquid and paste one quality; absolutely no waste and no dust or dirt. You get your money's worth.
Black Silk Stove Polish
is not only most economical, but it gives a brilliancy of lustre that cannot be obtained with any other polish. Black Silk Stove Polish does not rub off; it lasts four times as long as ordinary polish—so it saves you time, work and money.
Don't forget—when you want stove polish, be sure to ask for Black Silk. If it isn't the best stove polish you ever used—your dealer will refund your money.
Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Illinois.
BLACK SILK
STOVE POLISH

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES.

Oh! How it does storm. Many have been prophesying nicer weather. Let us hope so for we are sure that Pat, the mailman, will be greeted with cheers when be again makes his appearanee.

Word was received from Jack Jardine, who is attending the Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, tbat he is again able to be back in school after his illness.

The 2nd, 3rd and 4tb grades made booklets of "George and the Hatchet" this week. Those whose work was neat each received a picture af "The Father of Our Country," to paste on the first page.

The Sunday school will give a social at the school next Friday, February 9. Miss Seiler will be present, arrayed in n Hindoo costume. The waiters will also be dressed in the same garb. Everybody come as the proceeds are going toward the support of a little fourteen year old orphan in India, whose name is Vitha Limbaji.

Miss Seiler spent Saturday night with the Jardine's. She waa present at Sunday school and gave a very interesting talk concerning her missionary work in India. Miss Seiler will leave in a short time to resume ber work. We are all sorry to see her go and will certainly miss her.

Mable Dunlop is home from her school duties for vacation.

Mr. Wilson, who hase been ill for the lust week, is now getting well and we all hope he will be able to be out again soon.

We are making decorations for Valentine Day and Washington's birthday.

The Dairy as a Temple.

The people called the Todas, living in the Nilgiri hills, India, have a curious religious ritual evolved out of the ordinary operations of the dairy. The priest is the dairyman, and the temple is the dairy. Only the milk of tha sacred buffalo is churned in the dairy temple. The milk of buffaloes that are not "sacred" is churned in the front part of the huts in which the people live. The dairy temples are of different degrees of sanctity, corresponding to the different degrees of sanctity of the buffaloes tended in each. Even the vessels used in a dairy temple vary in sanctity, those that contain the milk being more sacred than those that only receive the products of the churning.

Aroused His Curiosity.

"John," exclaimed the nedvous woman, "there's a burglar in the house!"

"Do you mean to tell me that nfter I tried every door and window in my effort to get into my own home, just because I happened to mislay my latchkey, a burglar comes along and wakes you up at the first rattle of the doorknob? I'm going down to see him."

"What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to interview him and see if I can find out how he did it."—Washington Star.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mnson Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

CLARION.

O. V. Holley is on the sick list this week.

Gar Fine eame up from Elmira on Saturday.

Guy Wutters went to Mancelona on Saturday.

D. G. Geyer was in Elmira one day lust week.

Adah Colden returned Saturday from Petoskey.

Rev. E. L. Shepard is visiting relatives in Detroit.

Charles Geyer and Gar Fine went to Elmira on Sundny.

M. H. Collins left Sunduy for Charlevoix to serve us juror.

Mrs. Sayer of Cheboygan, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. Hime.

John Haley and Charles Griffin of Alanson, were in town a short time on Sunday.

Anna McVay of Petoskey, visited her father, D. H. Buckley and family last week.

Mrs. Ethel Ecker of Boyne City, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hime for a fewsdays last week.

P. O. Inspector McDougall of the Soo, inspected the post office at Clarion and Walloon Lake on Friday.

Mrs. May Smith of Curtis, was called to Walloon Lake, Monday, by the illness of her mother, Mrs. D. H. Buckley.

Owing to the severe storms, trains on the G. R. & I. have been very irregular. Several trains were annulled during the past week.

Rural Carrier E. R. Everets has succeeded in making his regular trips in spite of the storms, although rather late in two or three times.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per bundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

HAYES.

Oh! What weather the past few days.

Gilbert Ferris has been baving the grippe.

The mail carrier was not able to get through Monday. Bad ronds.

Masquerade dance February 14, at Maple Grove hall. Everybody is welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud, Frank Bird and Leo Pant went to Pomona Grange, Saturday, on the ice.

CLARK SCHOOL NOTES.

There were seven attendanee certificntes given this month. This is the most that bave been received at one time this year.

The 7th and 8th grades organized this week. Hiram Brock was elected president and Eben Jolliffe, secretary. We are planning an entertainment for the school for opening exercises Monday morning.

We are working for a large flag, whicb we hope to receive by Liucoln's birthday.

Tho 8th grade have ardered tbe readers, "Tubal Cain," and are in the meantime reading "Enoch Ardon."

Tbe 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades are very Interested in tbeir "scrap" books, which they have been making.

Etban Jolliffee went to Lansing this week to visit at the home of his daugbter, Hazlo.

EVELINE.

A Valentine box social will be given nt the Grange hall, Wednesday, February 14. Girls bring well filled valentine boxes. Boys bring some small nrticle for the Whita Elephant exchange.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank has money to loan on improved farm or city property.—Adv 4tf

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

As you are all aware Furniture Manufacturers have made very sharp advances in their prices and every retail dealer must pay the price asked if he gets the goods. In some cases he is unable to get the merchandise in a reasonable length of time, after placing orders. This fact, our buyer found to be the case, with many factories while at the Grand Rapids markets. Owing to the advances we must make our prices accordingly; but have decided to give the public a chance to make their purchases at the old prices for the present. We will therefore, hold all prices the same as last fall until February 15th, at which time our prices will be advanced about 15 per cent on an average on all goods now in stock. For this sale we will store the goods purchased until April 15th, when requested to do so, but no goods will be held unless fully paid for. By taking advantage of this sale you will serve your pocketbook a good term.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable Housefurnishers

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a aumber of cords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will be an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

THE PUBLIC PULSE
Open Forum for Our Readers

Dear Editor—I have read with interest the discussions by "Average Farmer" and "Not Average Farmer" of the problem of feeding dairy cows for profit. Without wishing to enter the discussion and prolong it to a needless length, I do wish to offer a few comments on wbat bas already been said.

When one discusses feeding dairy cows for profit he must assume, first of all, that tbe cows in question are really dairy cows. By this I mean that the animals possess proper dairy conformation, a large capacity for feed, and a strong inherited tendeney to turn the feed into milk. It is needless to remark that a correct ratioa for milk production fed a cow which possesses small tendency to produce milk will scarcely make her a profitable animal. On the other hand, however, and mora true now than ever before, a real dairy cow will return a splendid profit if correctly fed.

In last week's issue, "Not Average Farmer" said, after giving his ration, "Wa realize that this is not a balaneed ration, but at present prices of feeds our ration is cheaper and our profit greater than with a balaneed ration." Now, I naturally questioned, in my mind, the truth of this statement. I supposed it was a commonly recognized fact that anything but a balaneed ration is a wasteful ration, so how could "Not Average Farmer" arrive at such a eonclusion? Either he is not making as mueh profit as be might, or he is uneonsciously feeding a balanced ration.

To aettle tbis later conclusion to my own satisfaetion, at least, I took his list of feeds, and by consulting Honry's feeding tables, determined tha nutritive ratio of his ration. Now, according to tho Wolff-Lehmann standard, tha nutritive ratio for a dairy cow giving 22 pounds of milk a day is 1 5.7. Assuming that "N. A. F." was feeding average silage, and ten pounds of mixed clover hay with five pounds of corn atover, besides his four pounds of oilmeal, I determined that the nutritive ratio for bis ration was 1 5.77, or, in other words, his ratio is as nearly balaneed aa any dairyman could bope to secure.

Now, unless I have made wrong assumption about bis feeds, "N. A. F." is not only feeding a balaneed ration, but his profit of over 18 cents per day per head, wbich is a very good net profit, is due entirely, I believe, to correct feeding. In tho cost of production tests at the Buffalo Exposition in 1901, with extrn good Jersey cows and expert feeders, the daily return over cost of feed was only 22½ cents. "Not Average Farmer" surely displayed excellent judgment in buying his winter's supply of feed in tho summer when the price was low. This year has shown that money invested in feed in July made muro that 30 per cent Interest for tho Investor. This man's chief mistake seems to be that he failed to recognize a balaneed ration when he had it; but this is a raro mistake, indeed, for many dairymon claim a balaneed ration when the nutritivo ration is far too wide to merit the same.

Moral: The dairymen of Charlevoix county, as woll as other classes of farmers, in order to secure the best returns from their business, need the assistance of a competent person who can give his entiro time and attention to helping solve the problems which continually arise in tho big, complex and scientific business of modern agriculture. Such a man is the county agricultural agent. If any reader of this statement doubts the value of aueh a person, I, far one, shauld be pleased to see his arguments in the "Public Pulse."

One Interested in Dairying.

Attractive Securities

Exhaustive investigation conducted in the light of years of experience in the investment market has placed certain desirable securities upon our list of recommended investments. The uniformly reliable character of these offerings is due to the fact that no security is recommended that we would not consider satisfactory for the investment of our own funds.

Call at your convenience

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Bultars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

WANTED

Kilnwood Cutters

85 CENTS PER CORD

C. BEERS

REDUCE
YOUR TABLE EXPENSE

All you have to do is to buy your groceries and cured meats at this store.

Quality, price and cash will do the rest for you, as it is doing for hundreds of others.

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street
Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

CHAPTER XX.

It Happens in Books.

IT is said that men remember many things when death is imminent, and for days and days something had been dying hard in Stephen O'Mara's breast. His step was slow that afternoon when he drew apart to take up his position alone upon a bit of higher ground, his shoulders heavy and drooping, yet his brain was feverishly active.

They came slowly at first—Wickersham's logs—thudding heavily, one by one, into the underpinnings of the bridge, sliding free or lodging cross current, as the case might be, then in a thicker and thicker tide that ground and up euded and settled with the weight of the coffee colored flood behind it. In the beginning the handful of men who had put those timbers into place set themselves doggedly to save their completed structure until the man who had worked with them shoulder to shoulder through the night called them with a nod back to the bank. Obediently then they collected in a small knot behind him, murmurous, guturally grumbling.

The coming of Wickersham's men was not a thing of degrees. They poured into view through the brush fringe at the north edge of the marsh and halted, but only for an instant.

"Who is your friend at the time when you need a friend? Harrigan, that's me!"

"Harrigan, that's me!" And there came a lull in the valley at Thirty Mile, broken only by heavy breathing and the crunch of logs jamming beneath the bridge and the ugly swirl of backed up water.

And then Harrigan stood forth. Long arms dangling, palms back, almost to his knees, that red headed one inclined forward on the balls of his feet. Harrigan was redeeming a promise many weeks overdue. It was spring, and Harrigan had come back!

"I'm here," he spoke to that bowed head, "if you are afther carin' to welcome me!"

"I've been expecting you, Harrigan." Again that startling mildness.

There is little wonder that it deceived the riverman. Listening, watching O'Mara's slack form, even Fat Joe's face burned, even Archie Wickersham's dared flash in triumph. And Harrigan's went savagely exultant.

"You talked out loud to me once," he taunted. "Is it so difficult you find it now to speak up so I can hear?"

"Would you promise to listen to argument, Harrigan?"

Vilification tore at the other's lips until friend and enemy marveled at what Steve took in silence.

"You have begun many things in this country," the long tirade ended. "You came out of these woods with rags on your back and started at bein' a gentleman when we were only boys. You've made a gr-reat success av it with the ladies, we'll gr-ran you that. But you should have stuck to your soft and lily white pastime, for when you aimed to turn this river into a gentleman's proposition you started something too big for you to finish. I'm taking it off your hands now. Can't you even talk back like a man?"

"Maybe you are right, Harrigan," Steve said. "You may be—I do not know. I have started big things and left them unfinished. But you are wrong for the rest of it, Harrigan, for I am going—to—finish—you!"

Like a blast of wrath O'Mara lifted and struck him. Harrigan's hands had not left his hips before he met the ground, and he was back on his feet like a bounding ball, only to go down again before the smashing impact of those blows. Caution he tried to use in rising, and they searched out his face, his chin, and drove him hither and you. Open fighting was not the river style of fighting, and he closed this time and wrapped his gorilla arms about this fury who fought with lightning strokes to keep him off. His greater weight o'erbore them both. He broke away, and his holmailed boots lashing out bit the flesh of O'Mara's temple—they tore the turf where his face had been.

There was madness in Harrigan's hideous roarings of hate, madness in his blind rushes, and his bull strength availed at first. He weathered destruction and managed to close again. This time the lighter man was ready for the scuff of those armed boots. He twisted and covered his face, with his shoulder, and only his shirt ripped open to let blood stream from the rent. On their feet they rocked—to their knees! Faces grinding into the earth, they strained and broke away. And always Harrigan came back and found him blindly. Once his hairy hands searched O'Mara's face, and O'Mara's forehead went wet with the agony of fingers tearing at his eye sockets. Dropping, he escaped that gouging grip. Coming up, he caught Harrigan's chin and turned him over backward.

Harrigan squandered his strength in drunken rushes, his breath in screams of hate. And now Steve was laughing aloud. He knew that she was watching, knew what loathing was in her eyes. And he—he was a riverman! Sobbing for air, dripping crimson from forehead and shoulder, he set himself and swung from the waist. Like a polo axed ox Harrigan stopped as he was lurching in. His mouth sagged; his eyes flew wide in a fixed and stupid stare. Then his legs folded under him and he swayed limply down. But that blast of wrath would not let him lie! It raised him and beat him down again; raised him and beat him down. By his throat Steve swung him up—by throat and buckled belt. High over his head he swung that hulk and lashed forward from his heels. And Harrigan went back to his panting followers. Twisting and spinning, his body swept Shayne and Fallon to the ground.

Allison had not stirred, nor putty faced Wickersham, nor the girl who stood with hands at breasts. And now toward them Stephen O'Mara wheeled. His legs would fall him, and he steadied them. Blood blinded him, and he wiped it away. Swaying giddily, he managed somehow a smile.

"Wickersham, I have met the man whom you hired to fight for you," he called clearly, "and he has earned his wage! Are you man enough to step forward now and fight for yourself?"

Wickersham chucked drily in his throat and lifted an elbow to shield his face. Shrinking back behind the first shelter that chance afforded him, he put the girl between him and his fear. And then weakness seized upon that sick and swaying man, but he spoke to her—to the unspeakable horror in her eyes.

"Barbara," he called thickly. "Barbara!"

He groped toward her, and she cried out and drew back from such hands as those. Then a black wall rose before him and shut her from his sight. Fat Joe caught him as he fell.

Like huddled sheep O'Mara's men and Wickersham's watched Joe bear

He Set Himself and Swung From the Waist.

him up the hill. Shayne and Fallon were bending over Harrigan; by the others he lay ignored. It was a mob without a leader until, as is the way in all crises, a new leader arose. Big Louie, stolid face no longer stolid, strode between those two factions and achieved the unknown heights for which his eyes had always hungered.

"I work for no man but is a man!" he boomed. "That bridge—she still is hold!"

Steve had bidden Hardwick Elliott watch these men if their big moment ever came. And Elliott and Allison watched now. They were sheep no longer nor malcontents nor misled tools of cunning. Like wolves they followed that nameless man who was out upon the jam. Wickersham's men were back on the river, but that bridge would continue to hold. And while they worked, while Elliott and her father watched spellbound, blindly Barbara Allison turned, with no thought of what she was doing, and walked into the brush.

The river was running clear by dusk when they raised the first hue and cry for her. It was dark when a runner bore the news to the cabin on the hillside that she was missing. And when men had been beating the woods for her for twelve hours as best they could in the dark and no word came that she was found Fat Joe no longer dared let lie in sleep his friend, whose body he had cleansed and bandaged. At daybreak Joe waked him and told him Barbara was lost. They tried to argue with him, for his knees were still unsteady. Even Allison, whose joyful body seemed to have shrunk during his hours of waiting, tried to convince him that the men now looking for her would find her soon or had already found her, perhaps. But he brushed them away while he was dressing. He threw off the hands that tried to detain him. And it was Steve who found her, as he had known it would be, just before a second night of dread was closing in upon her.

In circles of ever increasing radius he traveled at a fox trot, which thoughts of Fallon and Shayne and

He Carried Her Now to That Cabin Which Stood on the Balsam Knoll.

Harrigan would not let him abandon. But he had run her down when he caught sight of her, for she fled like a wild thing before him. Floundering in a cedar swamp, soaked to the knees, little blue befurred suit heavy with black muck, he came up with her. She was kneeling, shaking with terror, face hidden by her loosened hair, when he bent over her and raised her to her feet.

"Please," she whimpered, "oh, please"—

Yet when he spoke her name her head leaped back, and she recognized him instantly.

"I tried to wait," she chattered with all the voice she had left. "I tried to sit still until some one came for me, but I thought I knew the way. I tried not to listen to the noises. I remembered about the stars, and I knew I shouldn't run. But I thought you were—I thought you were"—

Remembered terror choked her. Consciousness slipped away.

By the same trail which once had led him to the "city" of Morrison he carried her now to that cabin which stood on the balsam knoll in the crook of the west branch.

His head was spinning from fatigue and the throb of the jagged tear above his temple when the log building, streaked white with clay chinking, loomed up ahead, and yet involuntarily he stopped there a moment with his burden.

He had pictured many times a night when he should bring her there, with both of them watching the moon in the rapids and listening to the waves lipping the banks. This was not that night. That night would never be. But the rebellion and bitterness were gone from his heart. After he had removed her wet shoes and stockings and brush whipped suit and sheer black blouse and she slept the sleep of exhaustion into which she had slipped from unconsciousness without even opening her eyes he built a fire and sat before it until morning came. And when it dawned and she waked dazedly while he was preparing breakfast he had finished reconstructing many things.

Her eyes went from wall to wall, frightened still and questioning at first, so he merely nodded and went outside and left her to remember alone. Returning with wood on his arm, he found recollection of much in her gaze. She was looking at the thin heeled, buttoned boots before the fireplace, the stockings and furred garments cleaned of mud and dried on the backs of chairs. A cloud of color stole up from the blanket edge at her throat to the line of her hair.

"You were wet," he explained simply, "and you were too spent to help yourself. I could not let you sleep in them."

"I understand," her answer faltered a little. "I was just thinking. I knew such things happened, but I thought it was only in books."

Drowsily she watched him bending over frying pan and coffeepot, content herself to lie and rest. But after a time, with fuller awakening, the bandage about his head claimed her attention. To her it seemed impossible that this smoothly shaven man in clean blue shirt could be the same one who had emerged from a struggle still sickeningly brutish to her. Involuntarily she shuddered a little without knowing that he watched.

"I am going to the spring for fresh water," he told her then. "There will be time for you to dress, and breakfast will be ready when I come back."

Submissive before his tone she replied that she was hungry; that she would be ready too. She had donned blouse and skirt and stockings and shoes and finished braiding her hair when he re-entered. He showed her a tin basin outside filled with icy water for her face and hands. And then they sat down in silence to breakfast.

"I told you that you would find out some day," Barbara murmured finally. "I warned you you would wake suddenly and see how shallow I am."

"Waking has been no sudden thing with me. I finished with dreams a long time back, but you are what you have been always in my thoughts. It's conditions I've waked to, not you!"

With unwitting gruffness he had sometimes spoken to her, but never with such constrained vehemence.

"Why should I find fault in anything you have done or failed to do?" he demanded of both her and himself. "Why should you be apologetic or regretful? Such a thing as I had to do two days ago has left no place in your world and never could, but I can't find it in myself to be apologetic, either, because it is a part of mine. I meant to kill him—wanted to kill him—because I was certain of your scorn! That was vindictive; that was foolish for a man. But as for the rest of it—I know I may have it all to do over again any day. It was a vulgar brawl to you; to me"—

"Not just a brawl," she contradicted quickly, anxious to be understood. "Just—oh, so needlessly brutal. At first it left me only dazed and nauseated, but after I had had time to think I made myself see your side of it. You must crush insubordination. And still it seems as though there might have been a less horrible way."

"He had balked my work," he told her sternly. "He has fired upon me from cover when he dared not come out into the open. He has been taking money for his work from a man who was beat on beating me at any cost. Could I ask him please not to spoil my bridge? Is that your idea of a man's way? This is my work, and while I continue in it men who oppose me with their brains I will fight with my brain. But men who force me to meet them with fists I must beat with like weapons. There is no alternative. I have no choice—unless I quit. And that is the reason I know that this is the end for you and me! My ways would have had to be your ways, and we have learned at last what I have feared for long and long. They lie too far apart for them ever to meet.

"I promised to teach you to love me, and I've failed. And knowing that my failure is not all my own fault is not going to make it any easier for me. You've taught me loneliness I'm never going to forget as long as I live, but I don't love you any the less for that. I dreamed big dreams for both of us." His voice was dreary of a sudden. "I promised I'd make those dreams come true, because I thought my life could be your life. I've not done so. That thing could never be. I've talked bigger than I could practice, and that is not going to help my self confidence any, but as it stands now I can earn it back. I couldn't have done that if I had married you and waked some day to find you shrinking from me. It would have killed it and my self respect, too, to have learned too late that you believed still in your own greater fiueness."

"I tell you it is not that!" she cried out. "Can't I make you understand"—

"You have made me understand till I am sure," he stated. "I am no longer vexing myself with trivial things. You have been uncertain. I have seen that. You are certain now. And the fundamental thing remains unchanged. In me there is that man who once manhandled Harrigan—and you didn't want me to touch you! You don't have to tell me any more that you can't love me. When you drew away from me, that was enough."

She sat and watched him put the room in order, and that hurt her more than anything else, for he would not let her help. He made her change her high heeled boots for moccasins, which he brought and laced upon her feet. But the remainder of the day it was the old Steve who helped her over the bad bits of going and talked disconnectedly of many things meanwhile. And yet no longer the old Steve, who had been so entirely her own. Hers was the sad face when they entered the clearing at Thirty Mile, and a hoarse shout saluted her return. In her father's embrace she clung and wondered that she did not cry. And two pages had turned for her that day, for she sent Wickersham back his ring the same night the private car rolled down to Morrison.

Harrigan was with Archibald Wickersham when the package, unaccompanied by explanation, reached the latter in his hotel room in town.

"Go out and get him," said Wickersham. "And see that you get him—for good."

(To be continued next week.)

* *

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Hearing Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Wasaquam, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that four months from the 23rd day of January, A. D. 1917, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on or before the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1917, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Wednesday, the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated January 23rd, A. D. 1917.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

4t3

Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix in said County, on the second day of February A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Myron Geer, deceased, Elisha Geer, having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of the estate not administered, be granted to Reuben Geer or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That the 1st day of March A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

6t3

Subscribe for the Courier.

Banking Business

YOU have more or less of it. Possibly it it is with us. Such being the case you know something of our service. But if not a patron wouldn't it be well for you to become one?

Our Savings Department is calculated to serve all classes, the old and the young, the poor and the rich. It receives deposits from $1.00 up and allows

4 per cent Interest

Compounded Semi-Annually

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficieney of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY

Sugar 5c a pound

With a $10.00 Order

$10.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $10.00 or more, you may add $1.25 and order 25 pounds Granulated Sugar for . . . $1.25

$20.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $20.00 or more, you may add $2.50 and order 50 pounds Granulated Sugar for . . . $2.50

$30.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $30.00 or more, you may add $3.75 and order 75 pounds Granulated Sugar for . . . $3.75

$40.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $40.00 or more, you may add $5.00 and order 100 pounds Granulated Sugar for . . $5.00

A. E. MASON

Grocery Special February 7 to 14

25 lbs. SUGAR at $1.90

24 1-2 lbs. COMMERCIAL FLOUR at $1.20

4 lbs. GOOD WHOLE RICE at 25c

3 PACKAGES SILVER BAR RAISINS at 25c

TERMS CASH—NO CREDIT

Mason's Grocery Department

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months..... .75
One Copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

Have you ever wondered what the result would be if the people of the town thought and said nothing but good of each other for thirty or sixty days? Think! It would work a revolution in both mind and body. People who are constantly nagging would have lost the habit. The best that is in each one would have unconsciously forced its way to the fore, and nobility of character would have made rapid strides toward supplanting the ignoble and vicious in man and womankind. Our town might not be a garden of Eden, but it would come nearer to it than any other spot on earth. And it wouldn't cost us a penny.

The surest way to tell whether or not a man intends to be honest is to let him owe you money. If he acknowledges the debt and faces you fearlessly and comes to your place of business to spend his cash, whether he can pay anything on his old account or not, then his intentions are honorable and are safe in accommodating him when you can. But if he avoids you because he owes you, takes his cash elsewhere and tells bull stories about you and your business, then he is n dead beat worse than a thief and intends to swindle you if he can.

It is said that postmasters throughout the country may hereafter rest assured of keeping their jobs and that the post office patronage so delftly dealt out by the congressmen may be a thing of the past if the present bill before the house is passed, making it impossibe to discharge a post master of any class without cause, and also providing that the future post masters shall be selected by promotion from the postal service and not by political preferment in payment of a political debt. And so it passed and is up to the house. President Wilson favored the bill.

It has occurred to us that a newspaper is much like a public school. Not one patron in twenty visit the school once a year, yet most of them are always ready to criticize it. The same is true with the newspaper, if every person in town would drop into the office once a week or in some other way tell us the news items you know, what a newspaper we should have.

A definition of advertising, which has been much quoted, is "Advertising is the educating of the public as to who you are, where you are and what you have to offer in the way of skill, talent or commodity. The only man who does not advertise is the man who has nothing to offer to the world in the way of commodity or aervice."

Villa has insulted the American eagle again, says the news dispatches. This happened to be done by driving a nail through a consulate shield. If we don't look out we'll soon adopt as our national anthem, "You Have Got to Stop Bamming Our Eagle Around."

A Missouri editor refuses to publish obituary notices of people, who while living, failed to subscribe for his paper and gives this pointed reason: People who do not take their home paper are dead anyway and their passing has no news value."

The difference between an agriculturist and a farmer is that the former makes his money in the city and spends it on the farm, while the latter makes his money on the farm and spends it in the city.

Blockades of the snow and German variety may be more easily adjusted than the one on Hurlbut avenue, which as yet has not been broken.

The optimist sees one side and the pessimist the other, but the rest of the world just wades in and helps itself.

"Bring Out the Facts," reads a headline in an exchange. Not on your life, if then concern us.

"And he kept us out of war?"

MRS. CARLSTEIN DIED LAST MONDAY

Was a Former Resident of Charlevoix—Interment Here.

Mrs. Olivia M. Carlstein, a former resident of this city, died of paralysis last Monday morning at her home at Horton Bay, after an illness of nine month's duration, at the age of 68.

Older residents of Charlevoix will remember Mrs. Carlstein and her husband, who was physician to the Charlevoix-Horton Bay-Ironton territory for several years and who died some ten years ago at the Washburne home in this city. While in Charlevoix, they occupied the house now owned by Oluf Nordrum on Park avenue. At the time of her husband's death, Mrs. Carlstein took up her residence at Horton Bay, where she has lived ever since. She had just finished making extensive improvements and changes looking to greater comfort in her home, when death robbed her of the privilege of their enjoyment.

The remains were brought to Charlevoix, Wednesday, where they were met by the Woman's Relief Corps, of which Mrs. Carlstein was the first local president, and escorted to the cemetery where the body was placed in the vault.

See us for your Job Printing.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SCHOOL

Held at Ironton February 27, 28, March 1 and 2.

A four day school in practical agriculture will be held at the Grango ball in Ironton, February 27 to March 2 inclusive. All who are interested in better farming are urged to attend.

There will be forenoon and afternoon sessions, time 9:30 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:30. Bring your lunch. Hot coffee will be served at the hall.

The lecturea in dairying will be given by J. A. Waldron. I. K. Maystead, who is well known in this county, will give the leetures on farm crops and soils. Don't forget to bring a good note book and pencil. Let us get the spirit of the school room again and make this week's school a mile atone in our lives.

Next week a complete program of the sessiona will be given. Notice that each of the leading subjects are carried through the whole week and developing one step at a time. You can not get the most out of this extension school unless you attend each session.

Received 328 Convicts.

During the past year there have been received at the Jackson state prison 328 convicts. During the same period 244 men were released on parole by the prison board and 78 by the governor; 33 escaped; 15 were recaptured; 96 violated their parolea and 65 were returned to prison. Eight inmates have died; 199 were discharged from parole and 41 at expiration of sentences.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

JEFFERY GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT

CLEVERNESS OF BOOKKEEPER WINS BATTLE.

Blanchard Hardware Chief Clerk Gets In Wrong—Fracas Proves to Be a Thriller.

Charlevoix, the popular summer resort, always quite out of season, was startled out of its winter nap the other day by a stunt pulled off in the Blanchard Hardware store—already noted for new stunts—when the bookkeeper whipped the chief clerk, whose name happens to be Jeffery. The story:

Prelude: The boss was called out of town on business and although he knew that sooner or later the chief clerk and bookkeeper would have to settle a little question of woman's rights, he felt right down in his heart that when it did happen he would like to be on hand to see the fun, and was much surprised to learn upon his return that it was all over, and a new champion was added to the long list of women winners.

Chapter I.

The manager left on the 2:20 train and as far as can be learned everything moved in its usual quiet channel in the big store the balance of the afternoon. In fact, the channel was unusually quiet, and one familiar with the atmosphere would feel that it was the calm before the storm.

Chapter II.—The Next Day.

Mr. Jeffery opened the store at the usual hour on the day following, and after attending to the regular morning work, including feeding a pet coon which he was training for the store menagerie, began to plan the day's work for the various employees.

He had just given the tinner his orders for the day, when in tripped "Beautiful Bess, the Bookkeeper," her face in front of her as was her custom when headed for her desk.

The haughty champion, who had never known the fear of man and even put "Fat" Supernaw's 290 pounds over his head and flat onto the floor, did not see the chip on Bessie's shoulder or possibly he would not have said the words that started the fracas, as he admits having always had a feeling that the female of the specie is more deadly than the male. He also declares that the chip was on her left shoulder, and as she came into the store, face first, as we have mentioned before, and he was standing on the north side, he may be right.—Bessie refuses to be interviewed, but what is the difference as to which shoulder the chip was on.

Chapter III.

"Give me 10 cents out of petty cash for liver for the coon and five cents for dry bread for the new wild duck," ordered Jeffery of Bess, before she had gotten half way to the office. Little did he reckon the awful consequences of his haughty order, or he would have said, "Miss Bessie, will you kindly give me 15 cents out of the petty cash for menagerie food." What followed in the next few seconds takes much longer to describe in writing than it did to happen.

An eye witness says it took Bess just three-quarters of a second by his stop watch to enter the imaginary ring, and from then on he could not keep track of what happened, but caught the following exclamations from Jeff: "Let go my ear!" "No fair pulling hair!" "Curses, there goes another finger; this is worse than a saw mill," etc.

Just then "Frank, the Finlander," came into the store. Frank is not a Finlander, he is a Bohemian, but we use a story writer's license and use Finlander because it begins with "F."

"Frank! Unloose the coon," ordered Jeffery; and as the trusty coon shot out of the cage, Frank whispered into his ear, "Sees Doo," which translated into English means, "look what Jeff is up against."

The coon needed no second bidding, but flew to his trainer's rescue as a well trained coon, who knew nothing about woman's rights, would be expected to do, so we do not blame the coon.

The looking of the coon, which with the duck were the primary causes of the mixup, only added fuel to the fire of Bessie's wrath, and what she did to Mr. Coon and Mr. Jeffery from then on would make the Kaiser take off his helmet and say, "Hoch der Bookkeeper."

Chapter IV.

It was soon over and as Bess spit out the last finger off Jeff's left hand and threw the last handful of coon hair into Frank's frightened face, she hissed, "Who's running the petty cash?"

NEW SPRING GOODS

Curtain Scrims 10c to 25c

White, Cream and Ecru

Ladies' Silk Waists $3.00 to $6.00

Tub Silks, Crepe de Chines and Georgette Crepes

Silks, Taffetas, Messalines, Crepes 50c to $2.50 a Yard

White Wash Goods, Great Variety. All Prices

New Idea Patterns. Complete Stock of Patterns Always on Hand

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.
Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotionsl services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Congregational Church.
Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.
Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 staadard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Spirit."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.
Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

B. Y. P. U. Day.
Baptist Church.
A. M.—Special sermon to B. Y. P. U.
The Lord's Supper will be observed at the close of the morning service.
P. M.—The entire evening will be in the hands of the B. Y. P. U., beginning with the program at 6:00 and installation service at 7:30.
Service at Burgess at 3:00 p. m. Subject, "The Five Year Program."
Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

Methodist Church.
A. M.—Lincoln's Day Program.
P. M.—Illustrated lecture.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends, neighbors and fraternal orders for their kindness, help and sympathy during the sickness and death of our husband and father; also for the beautiful floral pieces. Mrs. R. W. Elston, Mrs. Martha R. Baker, Miss Adelino S. Holley.—Adv. 6t1pd.

Seems Pretty Long.
"Paw, what's the longest period of time?" "From one pay day to the next."—Buffalo Express.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1917

Grains

White wheat, per bu	$ 1.60
Red wheat, per bu	1.55
Beans, per bu.	6.25
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Oats	.64
Barley, per cwt	.82
Buckwheat, per cwt	2.40
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	.95

Dressed Meats

Cattle, fatted .... 10.00 to	11.00
Pork, dressed	14.50
Pork, dressed	14.00

Live Poultry

Chickens	$ .17
Turkeys	18 to 20c

Produce, Vegetables, Fruits

Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.35
Potatoes, per bu	1.50
Honey per lb	15
Salt, granulated	1.60

We Want

Wheat Buckwheat Rye Oats Barley Hay and Straw

Call us up if you have anything to offer

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Charlevoix East Jordan Central Lake

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

To the City Engineer:

Will you kindly answer the following questions:

When was the trouble with the Bridge street bridge first discovered and reported?

Were the repairs then made supposed to be only temporary or permanent?

If only temporary, why has the work on the permanent repairs not been begun?

Have the investigations made been thorough and if so, has any definite plan of repair been adopted and have detailed plans been made for such permanent repair and who has the plans, specifications and estimates of cost?

Has the government permitted the bridge to be closed during this repair work, or will it be necessary to build a temporary bridge?

This is a far reaching and very important matter to the city of Charlevoix, and I am sure the public in general would like to know the City Engineer's report on the safety of the bridge in its present state and the answers to the above questions.

Respectfully yours,
HARRY L. OLDHAM.
Charlevoix, February 7, 1917.

Sunday at M. E. Church.

In the morning there will be given a Lincoln's Day program. Several excellent and intereating articles have been prepared, portraying the work of our church in the south. In the evening there will be an illustrated lecture.

A single nest of the Australian bush turkey has been found to weigh over five tons.

List Your Property.

Mrs. J. S. Baker requests that all persons desiring her to handle the renting or leasing of cottages or rooms, list their property at once. This includes furnished cottages, rooms for light housekeeping, furnished rooms, with or without meals, etc. List them carefully and send them to Mrs. J. S. Baker, Hotel Granada, St. Augustine, Florida.—Adv. 6t2.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

A local merchant recently shipped several bushels of onions to Grand Rapids by express. The express charges came to 50 cents per bushel—you may imagine what the consumer pays for the "fruit with an odor" at Grand Rapids.

Employees of the Michigan State Telephone Co. are in receipt of a bonus from the company—an equivalent of three weeks pay, granted on account of the high cost of living. The girls say it is just like getting money from home.

We are informed by the secretary of the local Carpenter's Union that the scale of wages has been raised to 55 cents per hour, taking effect the 15th day of April. The old rate was 47½ cents. A few more shocks like this and we will be ready to fight the Germans or most anyone else. Zowie!

The February term of court, supposed to open on the fifth, was delayed until the return of Judge Mayne, Tuesday afternoon, from Bay City, where he has been assisting on the Bay county circuit. The judge received an indeterminate sentence from his Honor, Jack Frost, to close confinement in a P. M. passenger coach, but managed to get it commuted to three days.

A traveling man for a big city firm, who was in town recently, admitted in conversation that there was little excuse for the increased high prices for goods. He said that wholesalers were generally taking advantage of the times to raise prices for graft purposes only. If there is a law to protect the public, it should be enforced, and if there is one it is high time there was one.

Mayor and Mrs. Andy Ross, who have been away for about two months visiting their daughter in Ohio, returned to their home in Charlevoix, Tuesday. On their way back they stopped to visit their daughter, Carolyn, at Ypsilanti, where she is attending the normal college, and were delayed at Traverse City by the storm. Mr. Ross has been quite ill but is improving now, though still under the doctor's care.

The Rayo Lamp

This lamp will provide you with a good bright light enabling you to read with pleasure and will relieve your eyes of the severe strain which they are subject to, when reading by a poor light. The Rayo Lamp will give the maximum of light at the minimum of cost. Simple to operate, no mantles to break. Each lamp is fitted with a white shade which softens the direct glare of the light. Every lamp guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Price $2.50

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Cet the habit—Read tbe Courier.

There was a man who thought that he could win a little bet
By quenching in some gasolene a lighted cigarette.
He thought the fluid, being wet,
would douse the flame somehow.
There was a man who reasoned thus.
He is not with us now.

Miss Minnie Payton is suffering with the mumps this week.

Mrs. E. E. Davis of Phelps, stopped at the Hotel Charlevoix, Friday.

H. B. Hipp of East Jordan, was here on business Thursday of last week.

Forrest Bartholomew returned to bis home in Chicago, Tuesday afternoon.

Charles Danto is once more on the job, nfter a long siege with the grippe.

Edward Edwards has been quite ill with the grippe for the past four or five daya.

Forrest Bartholomew arrived Thursday from Chicago, on a short business trip.

George Miller returned Tuesday to Lansing, where he has a position in the Reo factory.

Mrs. Harold Jacobs was confined to her home several days last week witb the grippe.

Roy MacArthur of Flint, is visiting for a few days this week at the home of D. J. Eckinger.

Cordon Kendall of East Jordan, drove over Sunday and stopped at the Hotel Charlevoix.

Harry Stevens of Central Lake, was a business visitor to the city on Friday of last week.

Frank M.House, county road commissioner, was here on business Friday from Boyne Falls.

Charles H. Hanson,who was snowbound in Petoskey, returned to Charlevoix Tuesday afternoon.

J. E. Redmond and wife returned Wednesday of last week from a week'a visit to friends in Manistee.

Mrs. J. S. Baker will leave for St. Augustine, Florida, Thursday morning, going by the way of Chicago.

The Majestic Theatre could'nt run Saturday nigbt on account of having no filma. No train to bring them.

There will be a dance at the Ironton Grange hall, Friday evening, February 16. Everyone is invited to attend.

Petoskey bas prospects of a beet sugar factory, which would bo a great thing for this region.—Pellston Journal.

H. K. Allen of the Blanchard Hardware Company,returned Thursday night from hia recent business trip to Chicago.

Miss Clara Price left last Thursday for an extended visit to Flint, Traverse City and various southern Michigan points.

Petitions for the nomination of Frederick Mayne to succeed himself as judge are being rapidly filled up in Boyne City.

Work in the rank of Esquire at Castle Hall, Thursday evening of this week. All Knights are requested to be present. By order C. C.

Miss Ida Levinson gave an informal dance at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday evening. Light refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening reported.

E. N. Clink, accompanied by his secretary, Miss Roy, arrived in the city, Tuesday, for the opening of circuit court. They started from East Jordan Monday morning.

The ground hog has seen his shadow (bad 'cess to the likes of him) and is now burrowed deep in his hole under Mt. McSauba. Cuess we had better issue another call to prayers.

A number of commercial men, who arrived in this city Friday and Saturday, found themselves marooned ut tbe Hotel Charlevoix over Sunday and Monday, on account of the snow blockade.

Mrs. Clen Warren entertnined a party of 12 friends at her home on Chicago avenue, Tuesday evening. A pot luck supper was served and there were games and a good time generally.

The jury for this term of court has been discharged. Some got here nnd had to go back and others received the notice before they left home. If the Judge needs them, they will be recalled later.

Stanley Widdifield returned home from Ferris Institutc, Tuesday, suffering with the mumps. Measles and mumps, we understand, nre making their rounds at that institution and several sufferers are reported.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver will entertain the members of the C. H. S. basket ball team, together with Messrs. Craig, Aseltine and Lodmis, tonight (Wednesday) at a banquet in honor of the boya' recent victory over Bellaire.

Benjamin Brown sold an Overland to Millard Olney this week. They are laying a double-match southern pine flooring on the second story of the garage and the second layer is already nailed down over half the space.

Miss Doris Stevenson, who is in her junior year at the M. A. C., has been elected a member of the Omieron Nu, an honorary scholarship society of the college. Membership in this aociety is gained only by high class standings.

Our special correspondent on the Mexican border, Harold W. Usher, is in the bospital with the mumpa, and also will be compelled to aerve a 21 day quarantinc. He saya its fierco to be laid up when there is so much cxeitement.

Special For Friday-Saturday Only

Materials for girls School Dresses in Checks and Plaids

25c VALUES For 19c

15c VALUES For 11c

A big reduction in Cap and Scarf Sets—all Colors and Styles

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

We understand the register of deeds and his staff went hunting for the linoleum they ordered for their office a short time ago and found it on the county clerk's floor. Wonder if they'll issue a writ of "habeas carpet" to recover it.

On Friday, February 16, the West Michigan Development Bureau will hold its first Michigan Day celebration at the Western Michigan Farm Products Exhibit now installed in the Ashland building, corner of Clark and Randolph streets, Chicago. This exhibit is held in connection with the Chicago Herald Land and Industrial Bureau. Moving pictures of Western Michigan will be shown in the afternoon from 2:00 o'clock to 2:45.

CLOTHES AND A SWIMMER.

A Word About Going Overboard at Sea While Fully Dressed.

Professor J. Joly sent to the London Times a letter on experiments he and Professor H. H. Dixon have conducted on the advantages and disadvantages of swimming la clothes—a subject which may be of importance to any one who travels by sea.

The popular notion is that clothes drag a swimmer down, but the maximum downward drag of an ordinary sailor's clothes in sea water was shown to be only four ounces. This was after all air had been expelled from the clothes. In practice the drag for a considerable time would be less. At first there would even be a sustaining force from the clothes. Of course, for a short and sharp burst of swimming clothes would obviously be n great impediment.

The most important result of the experiments, however, was to show that a clothed person in the sea loses warmth very much less rapidly than an unclothed person. The explauation is that fabrics placed against the skin stop the circulation and prevent the body warmth from being carried off by the water. With a great amount of clothing it might be possible to keep fairly warm even la very cold water. The moral is: Keep on your clothes, and if you have a life belt or life saving waistcoat keep on plenty of them.

PLAYING AT DEATH.

A Story of the Mother of Turgenev, the Russian Novelist.

The mother of Ivan Turgenev, the Russian novelist, was a trying person to live with, irritable, capricious and unreasonable. On the anniversary of Ivan's birthday in 1845, we are told in "Two Russian Reformers," after a day of festivities, Mme. Turgenev pretended to be dying.

"She sent for her confessor and, placing before her the portrait of her son Ivan, exclaimed: 'Adieu, Ivan! Adieu, Nicolas! Adieu, my children!' Then she ordered her forty servants and all the men employed about the house to say goodby to her. When they had filed out of the room Mme. Turgenev declared that she felt better and asked for tea. The next day the following 'order' appeared:

"'I give orders that tomorrow morning the disobedient servants, Nicolas Jacovlef, Ivan Petrof and Egor Kondratatief, shall sweep the court in front of my windows.'

"Those names were those of servaats who had not appeared at her bedside, possibly because they were a little druak that evening. 'Good for nothings! Drunkards!' exclaimed Mme. Turgeaev. 'They rejoice at the denth of their mistress!'"

An Ancient Die.

In the museum at Athens is shown what is probably the only genuine antique die used for coinage that is now extant. It was found in Egypt in 1904 and consists of bronze, engraved with the owl that was stamped on Athenian tetradrachma pieces, which contained about as much silver as three quarter dollars. The die is of scientific interest on account of the evidence it gives of the skill of the ancients 300 or 400 years before Christ in metallurgy. It contains about 22½ per cent of tin and nearly 70 per cent of copper. It is extremely hard, but at the same time possesses a certain malleability, due to the great purity of the copper and tin, which were carefully freed from all traces of lead and zinc to preserve the hardness and from arsenic and antimony to avoid brittleness.

Music of the Nightingale.

But the nightingale, another of my airy creatures, breathes such sweet loud music out of her little instrumental throat that it might make mankind to think miracles are not ceased. He that at midnight, when the very laborer sleeps securely, should hear, as I often have, the clear airs, the sweet descants, the natural rising and falling, the doubling and redoubling of her voice, might well be lifted above earth and say, Lord, what music hast thou provided for the saints in heaven when thou affordest bad men such music on earth!—Walton's "The Complete Angler."

Two Kinds of Emulsions.

Milk and batter are both emulsions. Professor F. G. Donnan of University college, London, defines an emulsion as a distribution of one liquid in another. A little oil shaken with much water gives an emulsion in which the particles of oil have a diameter of about a thousandth of a millimeter. Such an emulsion is milk. A little water in much oil gives particles of water even smaller; such an emulsion is butter.

Scientific tests have shown that in occupations employing the larger muscles women tire more rapidly than men, while in work in which smaller muscles are used they are more efficient.

NEW BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION

LEGISLATURE TO ACT ON BILL TO CREATE IT.

Vested With Powers to Segregate Tubercular and Diseased Prisoners.

A bill to be introduced at the present session of the legislature provides for the creation of a Board of Administration, vested with power to permanently retain the mentally defective inmates of our prisons, reformatories and state industrial schools, and to provide for the segregation of tubercular and otherwise diseased prisoners in our penal institutions.

Mrs. J. K. Cailey of Detroit, who has given many years of study to the subjects of criminology and penology, a practical business woman identified with many of the state's best humaitarian movements, is considered by experts to be the logical candidate for the post of representative of the educational department of the proposed Board of Administration, and has received the endorsement and support of many of the state's most influential public aad private citizens. She has been foremost in denouncing the present policy of releasing defectives from the state institutions to become a further and more serious public charge, especially in the case of feeble-minded girls, who have been turned off by the various institutions, only to be outraged in many cases, adding to the community'a burden of half-witted, illegitimata children.

One of the features of the new board will be a central purchasing ageney for sixteen state institutions, viz: Prisons, reformatories, State industrial schools, homes for feeble minded and insane asylums, which will immediately effect a yearly saving of millions of dollars to the tax payers of this state.

Similar boards of administration are in efficient operation in 22 other states of the union and have resulted in a saving to the tax payer of enormous sums.

Let the governor, your representative and senator how you feel about this excellent measure and don't forget to put in a good word for Mrs. Cailey, who is in every way the best choice for the position above indicated.

WILL ATTEND THE TENTH CEMENT SHOW

O. D. Hammond and A. B. Clark to Visit Chicago Exhibit.

A. B. Clarke of Marioa township, O. D. Hammond of Charlevoix and Lee Howland of Bay City (formerly of this place) and other local residents interested in permanent construction with concrete, are making plans to visit the Tenth Chicago Cement show at the Coliseum, February 7th to 15th.

Concrete is so widely used and it interests so large a number of people, that the Chicago Cement Show is regarded, not only as the barometer of the building business, but of business in general for the ensuing year. This year the barometer is at a high point, as evidenced by the large number of exhibitors who have applied for apace.

In addition to the cement show, there will be held, during the same week, several conventions of allied interests, including national conventions of the American Concrete Institute, National Builders' Supply Association, American Concrete Pipe Association, and American Association of Engineers.

Thousands of contractors, engineers, building material dealers and city and government officials from all parts of the United States and Canada, will be in attendance, and our local representatives will have ample opportunity to profit by meeting these well known men.

J. L. Crane

Water Damage SALE

STILL IN PROGRESS

Extra Special Values in--

Carpet Size Rugs
Curtain Rods
Men's Shirts
Cretonnes
Aprons

SATURDAY SPECIAL

25c can K. C. Baking Powder per can	19c
25c can Calumet Baking Powder per can	19c
25c can Rumford Baking Powder per can	19c
4-10c cans Snider's Tomato Soup at	25c
Wild Black Berries per can	15c
Raspberries per can	15c
Strawberries per can	15c

H. B. JACOBS

Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

MR. FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

WANTED—An old organ. Key board must be in good condition. Telephone 89, Charlevoix. 6tf

WANTED—A woman between 80 and 90 years of age to deliver mail on R. F. D. No. 3. Write X, care of this office, giving references. 6t1pd

WANTED—Man with auto or horse and buggy to sell oils, greases and paints. Compensation $4.00 to $8.00 per day. Stetson Oil Company, Cleveland, Ohio. 6t1pd

THE MOLER BARBER COLLEGE of Chicago, Illinois, wants men to learn barber trade. They offer splendid inducements and a short term completes. They mail free a beautiful catalogue and ask all our readers to send for it. 5t2 pd

FOR SALE—At a bargain, a large lot on south terrace, near corner of Grant street and Upright avenue. Will sell for one-half price. Owner wants cash. Have some bids. Come quick. J. Milo Eaton. 7t1

FOR SALE—Until February 20th, your choice of four O. I. C.-Yorkshire brood sows for $25.00. Absolutely firstclass. Worth about that for pork. Wm. M. Sanderson, Northwood Farm, adjoining the Breezy Point Farm, Ironton, Phone Boyne City, 237f12. 6t2

400 TYPEWRITERS REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12 Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffao, N.Y.

FOR SALE—Team farm mares, weight about 2950;also team colts between 2 and 3 years old, weight 2505. Coulter Brothers, phone 72, R. F. D. No. 2, Charlevoix. Adv.6t3

FOR SALE—A moderately priced house on the north side "within the charmed circle." Already rented for next season and the rent goes to the buyer. Large lot, two baths and all the modern improvements. Terms. Come early if you want this good investment. 5tf J. Milo Eaton.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, Feb. 13	Thursday, Feb. 15	Saturday, Feb. 17
IN THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE	PLAYING WITH FIRE	"LIBERTY"
Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne	Mmt. Petrovia	Don't forget to see this wonderful picture on the above date.

PRE-INENTORY SALE

Now on in Full Swing

Before the close of the month we expect to close out every remainaing seasonable Winter article in our stock. The Clow policy is one that means no merchandise shall be carried over from one season to anotber, so we have gone through the stock and made great reductions.

BLANKETS Stable Blaukets, Storm Blankets, a large assortment and all high quality goods. This line we wish to close out at once and in order to do so have made attractive reductions. If in need of blankets get them while the sale is on. SAVE MONEY.

GENERAL STOCK Do not forget that this store offers you other seasonable goods at the same line of attractive diseounts. We want to move

SPECIAL CLEAN UP the lines we carry rapidly to keep them from getting shop worn. Hence, our prices are lower than those of others.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries

Come to this store for Clothing

Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS

Phe ps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

PUTTING AWAY A LITTLE OF HIS EARNINGS

That is what gives the laboring man or business man more prestige, better financial standing, more economicol purchasing methods and ranks him among the prosperous citizens of the community. We offer every facility for helping you save and then after you have saved portions of your earnings we can offer you advise as to safe investments and securities. A small amount will be received here for deposits with just as much appreciation as a large sum. We know that the small amounts start larger deposits and the increasing deposits mean more business for us and a better rating for you. Start now and let our bank be your starting point in life. Save while you are earning—then when you are not earning let what you have saved keep you comfortably.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responsibility, $250,000.00

C. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Deposits and Certificates of Deposit

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Ruhbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you ueed Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Priees are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

GETTING RICH QUICK

Every time the purchasing public overlooks the sale purchasing opportunities of the January and February clearing sales, they lose the chance of Getting Rich Quick. You should buy winter goods now and have them for the next winter season which is sure to find you in need of many new winter garments. It will pay you as it never paid before to buy your next winter's Suits, Coats and Undergarments now and lay them away. This is the proper place to make your purchases. Come in and see the bargains we are offering to clean out our overstock.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

I DON'T.

My parents told me aot to smoke.
I don't.
Nor listen to a naughty joke,
I don't.
They made it clear, I must not wink at pretty girls or even think about intoxicating drink—
I don't.
To flirt and dance is very wrong,
I don't.
Wild youth ehase women, wine aad song,
I don't.
I kiss no girls, not even one,
I do not know how it is done.
You wouldn't think I have much fua,
I don't.

Sterling McCauley.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Eugene Miles, who has been working near Onaway, is expected home soon.

Matt Routley was building a chimney for Gerrit Renberg one day last week.

Mrs. Wm. Cole returned Thursday from East Jordan, where she has been visiting.

Tbere were no services at the M. E. church Sunday, on account of the impassible roads.

Mat Routley visited his brother, Tom, at Bellaire, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mrs. Hammoad of Charlevoix, was visitiag Sunday and Monday at the home of Sandy Martin.

Trains north both Friday and Saturday afternoon were cancelled on accouat of the deep snow.

Herb VanEnenaam of the cigar factory at Zeeland, was in town on Thursday on business.

Mrs. Pickard went to Traverse City last Saturday to sepnd Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Emrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Carr went to Bellaire on Satorday of last week to visit Mr. Carr's sister for a few days.

H. S. Peebles aad Frank Peebles were in Traverse City on business on Thursday and Friday of last week.

School district No. 4 will hold a school meeting at the school house on Friday evening, February 16, at 7:00 o'clock.

Miss Lucy Reamsmn, who has been working for L. Aardema at Phelps the last few weeks, wos in Ellsworth on Saturday.

The aanual meeting of the Antrim County Agricultural Society, set for Thursday of last week, has been indefiinitely postponed.

John Clark and wife of Grand Rapids, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Art Barnes, and expect to stay the rest of the winter.

Services will be held at the Congregational church at this place Sunday night, February 11, conducted by the Rev. Veilstra of Zeeland.

Mrs. F. O. Gillette returned from Central Lake last Friday, after speading several days visiting friends and relatives at that place.

In the judge of probate's report published in last week's Courier, the cost of handling the three insane eases was given as $85.30. This should have been $25.30.

Preparedness, both in work and talk, seemed to be the aim of several of the yoong ladies of the L. M. U., when they met with Mrs. Ely last Saturday evening.

A fire did considerable damage to goods and fixtures in the store of Horace Richards at Bellaire last Friday night. The fire started in the room used hy the Masnnic lodge and had burned through the floor before it was discovered.

Word was received last Saturday of the death of Mrs. Jake Strong at her home in East Jordan. Mr. and Mrs. Strong moved to East Jordan about a year ago from their farm near the Miles school house.

After a week's trial, the Congregational church has been found impossible to heat, and the school board has rented from Mrs. Pickard the vncant room adjoining the post office. This room has been fixed up and Mr. Brail's room has been installed.

Peter Wieland, who recently purchosel two thoroughbred Barred Rock roosters from E. R. Harris, is prouder of them than many young fathers nre their first twins. Pete has named the birds Ernest and Lee, aad has ordered bed slippers and nighties for them. We expect to see them wearing diamond studded collars in a few days.

Wm. Louiselle, who recently purchased the Henry Dixon farm of 80 acres near Phelps, will leave the Fairman farm, which he has been working for the past three years, and take possession in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Louiselle have made many friends in the community where they have lived, who, while they deeply regret loosing them, will wish them good luck in their new home.

Ellsworth Section

BEUKER TAKES MICHIGAN SMILE

BOYS CHEER UP WHEN DOCTOR ARRIVES.

Smith is Now Making Rough Boxes Riot on International Bridge —Preparedness.

Folliwng we puhlish a letter from DeWitt Patterson of Co. I, written to Art Ely. To the Courier readers this letter will be greeted with enthusiasm as it brings back memories of the boys at home, and is interesting in every detail, dealing with life on the border:

El Paso, Jan. 30—Have never received a leter from you since coming to the border, but every week in the Courier there seems to be a mesage from you that we anxiously await.

Dr. Beuker arrived here last Tuesday, the 23rd. He had the good old Michigan smile on his face, which brightened the whole camp. He has fulfilled the old saying, "it's more blessed to give than to receive," because, he said he never enjoyed anything aay more that distributing the gifts sent from the border.

The weather here, Mr. Ely, is surely splendid. Nice warm days and nights just adapted for a splendid sleep and a happy dream.

The heolth of the camp is much improved. The sickness is mostly confined to light cases of mumps. All the patients are recovering splendidly. One day I was a little sick and they sent me out to the hospital. Tried to make them think I was real sick, as I wanted to take a crack at all the army outfits. The life was fine the first day. The second day they put me scrubbing floors. The third day I felt fine and came home. Don't expect to be sick again.

Ceneral Pershing is expected to arrive in El Paso soon. A great welcome is planned. There will be five regiments, one of which is composed of Negroes. There are also many cowboys and Indians in the outfits.

Last Sunday there was a great deal of excitement on the bridge connectiag El Paso, Texas, and Jaurez, Mexico. The epidemic of typhus had broken out in Jaurez, and the inhabitants had been quarantined. No one was allowed to cross the bridge without taking a gasoline bath. Well, some of the Mexican women started the stories that while the women were taking baths that the gasoline was exploded and several had been tortared to death. A certain senorita started a riot and they sure had an exciting time for several hours. A drunken Mexican awoke out of his stupor and heard the riot. He immediately thought that Villa had entered Jaurez, and had taken it. He jumped up and shouted, "Villa! Villa!" meaning "long live Villa." Almost before the words had left his lips, four bullets from the Carranza cavalrymen had entered his body, killing him instantly. They certainly are a wary class of people and cruelty expresses their characters very moderately.

Ruel told me to tell you he wished to make a correction in the letter he had written. He said he wanted the people of Ellsworth to know that he didn't ever know how to play eucher and said that it must have been a misprint. He also wished to state he wos recovering very nicely from his cactus wound, but laments the thought that he only has the one poir of U. S. trousers aad that they were roined. Luckily though, he still has the trunks of his old bathing suit aad also a piece of the glorious old basket ball suits.

Charley Hillman is the same old boy. He now wears a skull cap and a tiny mustache in vain hopes of resembling his ideal, the Kaiaer.

Douglas Smith is our new mechanic and a dandy at that. Tho last week he has been engaged in building rough boxes. He believes in preparedness, I guess.

I saw Wren taking picturea today, too. He says he has a fine collection. He also said there was only one more he wanted now, and that was one of Katie's Hope Chest.

Well, old timer, its getting late so I must close, hoping that all the old bunch are still the hoppy old gang, and that we will soon he able to join them.

As ever, your friend,
DeWitt Patterson.

FEW IN ATTENDANCE.

School Meeting Saturday Night Adjourned to Call of Secretary.

Owing to the severe weather of last Saturday evening, not over 18 or 20 turned out to the school meeting scheduled for that night at Boss hall.

No official business was taken up, as the object of the meeting was merely to talk over affairs connected with the building of a new school house to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

Short talks were given by some of the heoviest tax payers in the district, and after having appointed committees to look up various building sites and ascertain the price of different materials, the meeting was adjourned till the call of the secretary.

RE-ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT.

E. R. Harris Again Honored at Annual Meeting.

E. R. Harris was re-elected vice president of the West Michigan Development Bureau at the annual meeting of the officers aad directors held in Traverse City on Wednesday, Janoary 31. All the other officers were re-elected also.

Tbe business meeting, which was held in the afternoon, was followed by a banquet at the Park Place hotel and was a very pleasant event.

Among the speakers of the evening were Carmon, Hollister, White and Hartman of Grand Rapids. Paul King, of the Pere Marquette railroad, aad Park Robbins of the Cnodrich Transportation line.

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 9, 1896.

Set your hens and get your fishing taekle ready for May 1.

A fisherman by the name of Tulip fell in the lake last Sunday. Moral.

Mrs. Darr Meech and daughter of Charlevoix are visiting in town this week.

Henry Carman's family moved to Norwood this week, where Mr. Carman works in a mill.

A revenue officer was in town last week looking for Oleo Syles.

Three new members were added to the Maccabee lodge here last week.

Elmer Herrington has moved to a farm near Eastport.

Wm. St. Clair died last Wednesday at 7:00 o'clock of la grippe. Deceased was 68 yeors old and had lived on his farm on the shore of St. Clair lake for the past 31 years. The funeral wos held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Coorier Job Printing satisfies.

"This is the best Bread you ever made
"Best, because lightest and whitest, smoothest and sweetest."
"I just added a teaspoonful of HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER to the water in which the yeast was dissolved."
Bread set in the morning with HO-MAYDE BREAD IMPROVER is out of the oven by noon. HO-MAYDE is a wholesome product that accelerates the yeast action. Guaranteed absolutely pure, nutritious and dependable. It complies with the pure food laws.
No sour or chilled bread—no failures—more loaves from the same materials. If your grocer cannot supply you, send 15c for a large package, sufficient for 100 loaves. Write for free sample.
HO-MAYDE PRODUCTS CO., Detroit, Mich.

L. VANSKIVER WAS ELECTED SECRETARY

Gun and Rod Protective Association Enrolling Members.

The recently organized Gun and Rod Protective Fisb and Game Association of Ellsworth has elected L. VanSkiver, secretary. This is an organization in which all hunters and fisbermen, as well as nature lovers, should hasten to enroll.

Ellsworth is noted far and wide for its excellent fishing and hunting, and tbe object of tbe association is to keep the fishing good by taking care that the streams and lakes are restocked regularly witb bass and trout fry, as well aa assist the game wardens in preventing unlawful and useless killing of said game and fish.

The membership list is in the bands of the secretary at the New Orient hotel, and it is boped that the citizens of Ellsworth aad vicinity, regardless of whether they ever fish or hunt, will sign this list, and by so doing show their willingness to not only obey the state game laws themselves, but assist or compel others to do the same.

HOW MILLIONAIRES MAKE THEIR MONEY

Well Known Financial Writer Reveals Methods.

OUTLINES THE "SYSTEM."

H. L. Barber Spends More Than Quarter of a Million In Gathering Data on Financial Methods of American Kings of Finance.

The system followed by famous Americans who have amassed enormous fortunes has just been published by H. L. Barber, well known economist and financial writer of Chicago, who has deduced the plan from his lifelong study of finance in connection with the careers of American kings of finance.

"Five per cent of the whole population of America are men of large earnings and means," said Mr. Barber. "What do they do? They are not patrons of the savings banks. They are not patrons of the bond houses.

All Are Heavy Borrowers.

"Their funds go into commercial banks—that frequently pay no interest—and their deposits in these banks are made chiefly to secure loans from them not only have these men their own funds in active use in industrial enterprises, but they borrow all the funds they can and put the borrowed money in the same channel.

H. L. BARBER.

"They saved, at the beginning, sufficient to buy a share of stock, paying from 15 to 25 per cent, pledged that share at their bank and borrowed more money, with which they bought other shares of stock. They borrowed savings bank money at 3 per cent and invested it so that it produced them 20 or 25 per cent, and they repeated the operation as frequently as possible until they became wealthy."

"Making Money Make Money."

Barber has recently published a book, "Making Money Make Money," containing data which is said to have cost the writer more than a quarter of a million dollars to gather and compile. Barber's book is a preachment against the practice of Americans of saving their money for only three to five per cent interest on their savings while bankers live of the same money in stocks which earn big dividends and reap a profit in the difference between the interest paid and the stock dividends.

The man who would really be "thrifty," he says, should invest in good stocks.

Call Their Bluff!

The first time you hear anyone say "Michigan flour is all right for pastry but it won't bake good bread" just tell them to guess again.

Anyone making so silly a statement is either bluffing or betraying a lot of ignorance.

Call their bluff, quick!

We have been making flour for more than thirty years and during that time have tested practically every variety of wheat grown in the United States.

It is our business to know what wheat makes good flour and what wheat doesn't, and we do know.

Furthermore, we use only the very best as our success depends upon the quality of the flour we make and the satisfaction it gives you and others.

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

is made principally from Michigan wheat because Michigan wheat is the best flavored wheat grown in America.

Thousands upon thousands of the best cooks in the land are daily baking the most delicious bread, as well as pastries, from Lily White Flour.

Every one of our dealers is instructed to sell Lily White Flour on the guarantee you will like it better for both bread and pastry baking or your money to be returned in full.

There is an enviable reputation of thirty years' standing and an investment of more than one million dollars behind this guarantee.

Anyhow the use of Lily White Flour will convince you of its superiority.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

WILDWOOD.

(Too late for last week.)

John Stevens is in Saginaw this week.

Word from Detroit reports Mrs. Cross as some better.

A. Miller was home over Sunday. He is working at Camp 31.

Mrs. G. C. Cornwell left on Monday for a business trip to Kalamazoo.

The Misses Grace, Hazle and Laurel Irey spent the week end with the Crawford "young people"

Miss Katie Wilson of Bellaire, spent the week end at the home of her brother, James and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Fales and small son, Cecil, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, spent Sunday at the Wilson home.

Corp. Duncan Crawford of Co. I, M. N. G., who recently suffered an attack of pneumonia, has so fnr recovered that he has returned to his company from the hospital. Is not drilling yet, however.

PLEASANT HILL.

Coldest weather of the year.

No school on account of the cold weather and bad roads.

Miss Ellen Crawford is teaching in onr school in place of Miss Akins, who resigned.

Be optimistic in all things. When a dish is broken, don't get peeved. Just say kind of sweet, "well, there is just one dish less to wash."

One of the largest sales ever held in this district was held at Frank Larsen's last Tuesdny. Tuesday was also the birthday of Reed Genett, who lives on the Larsen farm and all figured that Mr. Genett had about the largest birthday party there ever was, for it is not everyone who has about 300 people to their house on their birthdny.

It is strange how old aequaintances will meet. Two ladies who attended Mr. Larsen's sale met after not seeing each other for about 35 years, and to think they have lived within about 12 miles of each other during this time. We think it a good idea to attend sales, as one will meet friends they have have almost forgotten.

PHELPS.

C. Brown of Saginaw was in town Wednesday.

Miss LaCount went to Central Lake, Friday.

The Phelps beanery is running full blast again.

Ed Boss called on C. VandenBerg one day last week.

Henry Petter has rented the Hull farm near Marion Center.

Henry Petter went to Charlevoix on Wednesday of last week.

Charley and Lela Stevens called at the Ecklund home Sunday.

A. Davis of East Jordan, visited his brother, Ralph, one day last week.

Oscar Wynsma of Grand Rapids, visited at the home of Jnke Klooster last week.

It is reported school will be closed for one month on account of the severe cold.

Several from here attended the Larsen sale east of Ellsworth and report a large crowd.

Orson Everets of Charlevoix, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Everets.

J. M. Ingalls sold a lond of beans to Ralph Davis, the one load bringing him $418. Going some.

E. YoungDike of Central Lake, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Aardema one day last week.

Mrs. Williams of Ellsworth is spending a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Davis.

Mrs. George Harrington went to Central Lake, Saturday, to visit her husband, who is working near that place.

John Boss, Jr., hauled a load of potatoes to Phelps one day last week, taking with him his brother, Fred, as a guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Balch went to Charlevoix, Wednesday, called there by the serious illness of Mrs. Arthur Balch of that place.

Peter Sager of Grand Rapids has been at the Hotel De'Davis. Mr. Sager is connected with the Michigan Potato company of Grand Rapids.

Ruben, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Aardema, returned bome Wednesdny after spending two weeks with his grand parents at Central Lake.

Ed Boss, who has kept a record of his work of the past year, reports that his six cows brought him $495, which does not include butter and milk used, veal nor butter sold to the merchant. Can you beat that?

The passenger train was stalled here several times last week. Wednesday night it received a helping hand when an engine was sent from Petoskey to assist her. Conductor "Bill" was collecting snow shovels instead of tickets.

ANTRIM.

Jack Smith is breaking a team of colts.

Frank Mason butchered a beef for Mrs. Brooks, Monday.

R. Baumbach went to Central Lake with hay on Mondny.

Captain Brant took a load of potatoes to Ellsworth, Monday.

The Antrim City Coal and Wood company is doing a thriving business.

Will Knight is cutting furnace wood on the Will Montgomery place.

Mrs. Dave Dennison's son, Mr. Elkington of Richmond, Virginia, is visiting at her home.

The bay is frozen clear across and the condition of the roads makes the mail service irregular and uncertain.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

ATWOOD.

Mrs. Bert Newland is a little better.

There was no meeting Sunday at the M. E. church.

Rose Essenberg is recovering from her recent illness.

Edward Klooster was in Atwood one day last week buying pork.

Graddus Petter has been helping John Bos cut wood the past week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeVries, a baby daughter, last Friday.

Jack Smith is buying up young cattle. He bought quite a few last week.

Very small crowd at both meetings at the Christian Reform church Sunday.

Andrew Essenberg has rented some land for potatoes and beans of Henry Klooster.

A. Newland was snowbound over Sunday in Traverse City, on his way home from Detroit.

Verne Jones has been doing chores for his grandfather, A. Newland, during his visit to Detriot.

C. Sprik has been visiting friends and relatives in southern Michigan. Cyrus Bystra is doing his chores.

A large week last week—a January thaw and some of the nice weather February generally brings.

Mrs. H. Klooster, Mrs. J. Petter and Miss Jennie Petter all had an attack of the grippe last week. Next.

Some busy ladies we have in Atwood. The L. A. S. of the Christian Reform church paid off $130.00 in the past year of the church debt.

Albert Sneller has been cutting ice on Lime lake. He did not haul any as he did not wish to have it melt on the way to his ice house. How cold does he want it, anyway?

The Y. P. S. of the Christian Reform church have been doing some more hustling. Through their endeavours a new carpet and rug have been procured for the platform in the church. Looks good, too.

This weather is hard on the young people, at least that is what they think. No catechism classes last week and the singing society did not meet, and to cap the climax, the Y. P. S. did not meet Sunday evening.

Elzinga Brothers large team came to Atwood last Tuesday without a driver. They ran from Elzinga's farm to the store and turned in at the team shed. They were cut up some and got up a good sweat; outside of that no damage was done.

Watch for a boom in Atwood. There will be a grand jury investigation as to how this got out, as it is supposed to be a secret. Henry Klooster, our village merchant, and A. W. Hartwell, a respected citizen of our town, are contemplating selling the new Doble steam automobile. They intend erecting a large garage here and will try and control the distribution of the car over the northern part of the United States. They don't want anyone to know it, so they do not figure on advertising. The entire project was planned a few days ago and was overheard by us and we thought it too good to keep to ourselves. Mr. Hartwell is to be the walking delegate and Mr. Klooster thought he would like to try his hand at blowing the whistles and keeping them oiled. This will certainly mean something to our town and we are sorry to have been the means of letting out the secret, as we might have had a good position in the company. As it is, we will have to skip the country to flee from the wrath of the above named gentlemen, and will be in Canada by the time this reaches print and they get their copy of the paper.

TO ENCIRCLE THE COUNTRY.

Representative Stephens Introduces Bill For National Highway.

A national highway 10,000 miles long, circling the United States and running strategically near the Pacific, Atlantic and gulf coasts, as well as our northern and southern border lines, will be constructed and maintained by the federal government if the bill introduced in congress by Representative William D. Stephens of California is adopted.

It is proposed that the new highway, which mainly is to be constructed for national defense, shall cross the United States, running eastward by the most practical route through California, Arizona, New Mexico and the gulf states to Jacksonville, Fla.; thence north through the Atlantic coast states to Portland, Me. Commencing again at New York city, the great roadway would run westward through New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana to Chicago; thence north to St. Paul and west through the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho, Washington and at Seattle branch south the length of the Pacific coast to San Diego.

It is also proposed to bind the inland points to the main highway now formed or contemplated. Every city in this part of the country would be on either a main or branch road connecting with the great highways which already span the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The various sections through which the proposed national highway would run can be relied upon to give their state and county highway systems already constructed to the government, providing the latter maintains and extends these roads.

It is estimated that a bond issue of $100,000,000 will be ample to maintain the roads already built and to construct such links as will be needed in the next fifty years. The supervision of the roads will be in the hands of the United States engineers and will provide work for at least 100,000 American citizens, who must be physically eligible for active service in the army.

"GOOD ROADS" BY TRAINLOADS

Railroads and States Co-operating For Better Highways—Arousing Farmers.

Everywhere the movement for better roads shows increased impetus, says the New York Times. The importance of highways that will stand up, as shown by the war in Europe, is recognized as one of the contributing causes to the growing popular interest in highway improvement.

A number of the states are planning to send out good roads trains to reach the farmer at a time when he is not busy with his crops. Those actively at the head of the good roads movement realize that the farmers, in large majority, must be drawn into the campaign for the funds required to construct permanent highways. A great missionary in this direction is the automobile. A marked feature of the sale of automobiles for the last fiscal year was the number of cars that went into the hands of farmers. Fifty per cent of the machines disposed of last year were bought by farmers. It is odd but true that the farmer when seated in his new automobile sees the need of better roads much more readily than when on the front seat of a four horse wagon hauling a load to town.

Railroads are co-operating with the states' highway departments in sending out good roads trains. One of the states that will operate a train of this kind is Tennessee. It will make the trip in January. Representatives of the federal as well as the state department will be on board. Miniature models of various kinds of roads will be exhibited. At all points of community importance along the route lectures, illustrated by moving pictures and lantern slides, will be given.

Earlies Maps.

The inventor of geographical maps and charts is said to have been the celebrated Anaximander of Miletus who lived about the year 570 B. C., though, of course, there is more or less uncertainty about the matter. We know that maps existed among the Greeks as early as 400 B. C., but even among so intelligent a people as the Greeks it was impossible, owing to the lack of geographical knowledge, to have more than a vague outline of the world around the great sea. The first tolerably accurate map of the world was not forthcoming until 1569, and that was necessarily only in part, much of the earth being then unknown.

Subscribe for the Courier.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Notice of Republican Caucus.

There will be a caucus of the Republican electors of Banks township, at the Boss Hall, in Ellsworth, on Saturday, February 10, A. D., 1917, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing eight delegates to attend the county convention to be held at Bellaire on February 13, 1017. Dated January 31, 1017.

D. E. Carpenter,
J. S. McElroy,
E. R. Harris,
Committee.

Subscribe for the Courier.

February of 1899.

My dairy of February, 1899, shows the following: "February of 1899 was the coldest in recollection of oldest inhabitants. For two weeks staying below zero and two days in succession at this place by tested thermometer showing 32 degrees below zero. The opening of spring showed a dead loss of 1200 peach trees and 500 pear trees in bad condition in my orchard. E. R. Harris, Ellsworth, Mich.

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—30 tons of baled hay and straw; 2 yearling ewes; 5 thoroughbred Barred Rock roosters; 1 mare (with foal) weight 1100; choice Barred Rock eggs for hatching in season. E. R. Harris, Ellsworth, Mich. 6t3

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER-S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per ba.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per hu	6.25
Red kidney beans, per hu.	6.25
Garden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New oats	.55
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$ 9.00 to $10.44
Calves, dressed	12.00 to 13.00
Pork, dressed	12.50 to 13.50
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb	$ .35
Eggs, per doz	.35
Honey, per lb.	.17
Potatoes, per bu	1.75
Salt, per bbl	1.50

W. A. BOSS

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

New Agency for DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

WE have taken the agency for the famous De Laval Cream Separators because we believe the De Laval will do better work and last longer than any other separator made, and that it is by far the cheapest and most satisfactory machine to use.

We have machines on hand at all times and will be pleased to demonstrate their superiority to any one. We have put in a stock of De Laval repairs and De Laval Oil and are in a position to look after the needs of all users of old De Laval machines in this locality.

When in need of

Feed, Coal, Cement, Lime, Etc.

Remember the

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

FEED GROUND EVERY DAY

Phone 35 — Ellsworth, Michigan

ROBBING THE PUBLIC

—Of Its Vitality.—

Many drugs are placed on the market today that are injurious and often prove the cause of robbing the human body of its vitality, leaving it unfit for its daily work. This drug store does not sell these things. We handle only reliable goods that are proven helps and ones that we are fully acquainted with. Our prescriptions are compounded with the best of drugs and correctness is the main feature of our prescription work. See us when you want pure drugs.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO.

Phone 20 — Ellsworth, Michigan

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Commission Government.

Petitions are now out to submit the question of commission form of government for Boyne City. The city manager plan will unquestionably be adopted sooner or later there but blindly going into the question without first securing all possible information to submit to the voters, may cause a muddle from which extraction will be costly. Several signers have been secured on the petitions but the movement is not an organized one with a definite plan in view. To insure its ultimate success the public should be given ample time to thoroughly assimilate arguments for and against the commission plan.

Pork Shortage Coming.

The state market agent says cattle and hogs are on the upgrade in price, and bound to go higher. He says that hogs in particular are scarce, and will bring big prices in the spring, since many farmers have sold themselves short, even letting their brood sows go, on account of shortage of grain and feed. This is repeated here for what it is worth, since he is or should be in a position to know something of conditions over the state at large.

Law Affects Bellaire Seriously.

There is a bill before the legislature, the object of which is to bring the control of all public utilities, both privately and municipally owned, under the present railroad commission, consisting of three men who will be then known as the Michigan Public Utility Commission, giving them absolute power to fix rates, make valuations, etc.

This bill was drafted prior to the convening of the legislature and presented on the second day.

The fact that the railroad commission and privately owned utilities of this state are supporting this bill and seem to be very anxious for its passage, is the best reason why we, who are interested in municipal ownership, should try to forstall the passage of such a bill. It is unquestionably the object of the framers of this bill to prevent the creation of the municipally owned water, electric and gas plants as well as to squelch the successful ones that are already in existence..

We would suggest that all citizens who are interested in the success of our municipal lighting plant write to our senator and representative in regard to same and insist that they exempt from this bill municipally owned public utilities. We believe that we are absolutely capable of home rule and better equipped to control our own public lighting plant than any public service commission could be.

If privately owned public utilities cannot withstand the competition of municipal ownership, we do not believe that we should enact laws to protect them.—Bellaire Independent.

Clerk Suspended.

At Traverse City the city clerk and city auditor got into a row and in the mixup the auditor's leg was broken. The clerk has been suspended by Commissioner Santo, but refuses to vacate his office, and a merry scrap is now on.

Armed Men on Guard.

Potatoes are becoming so valuable that armed guards are sent out with carload shipments. Recently twelve cars were shipped from Traverse City in charge of two armed men, who stayed with the cars until their destination was reached. This shipment was valued at $20,000.

Vote on Local Option.

Two matters that the voters of Emmet county will decide at the April general election are the local option proposition and the question of bonding the county for the purpose of buying a fair ground site. On the latter proposition women who are taxpayers will have the right to vote.

Men Have Not Arrived.

Representatives of the Continental Sugar company who have been making a canvass of Northern Michigan sugar beet growing territory and who were expected in Petoskey on Tuesday of last week, have not arrived.

It is supposed the men have been delayed in their work at various points and are behind on their schedule. It is known that Reed City and Cadillac are anxious to land a sugar factory and for that reason the men may be giving more time to these places on this trip.—Petoskey Evening News.

May Bond County.

To bond Berrien county for $1,000,000 for good roads is the plan launched by 150 tax payers of Bainbridge township in connection with their vote for a special election to bond their township for $70,000 for local road improvement. Three other townships of the county have similar plans.

Bondsmen Must Pay.

The bondsmen of ex-Treasurer Charles E. Mahan of Kalkaska county, missing with $4,500 of the county's money, have been summonded to appear in circuit court February 13, to make up the deficiency. Several of the bondsmen are expected to fight the payment of money supposedly stolen by Mahan on the grounds that the supervisors did not discover the alleged thefts during the first term in office.

BOY SCOUT SABBATH.

Special Services for Boys in Churches and Synagogues.

Pastors and rabbis in all parts of the United States will devote a service to the Boy Scouts of America during Anniversary week, February 8th to 15th. Boy Scouts will attend these services in uniform and listen to addresses and sermons of special interest to them.

The Scout law and oath have proven a tremendous force in building up the character of American boys, and during the special scout services those who direct the religious life of the youth of this country will have an opportunity to speak directly to Scouts and scoutmasters and encourage and advise them in promoting this work which has proven such a tremendous benefit to the younger generation in America.

CHARLEVOIX TESTIMONY.

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere.

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Charlevoix resident. It's the same everywhere in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Forty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kindey remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimany must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Charvoix recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting.

Mrs. R. S. Hammond, 207 Belvedere Avenue, Charlevoix, says: "Several years ago I was troubled with kidney complaint. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. At times my hands and feet were swollen and my face was bloated also. I felt miserable all over. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. Three boxes of this medicine removed all signs of the trouble, making me feel like a different person."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hammond had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

In February, 1916, the National Council of Boy Scouts met in Washington. There are 176,000 Boy Scouts in this country and 7,000 scout masters.

WILL BE PRINCIPAL CROP.

Thousands of Acres of Potatoes to Be Planted.

Potatoes will be one of the principal crops of Northern Michigan this year, according to the opinion expressed by those in touch with the situation. The state agricultural department will lay stress on this feature of farming during the coming season, with special attention to soil fertility, marketing, crop rotation, and cash crops. It was pointed out today that high potato prices would be likely to prevail during the coming year, as a result of the unusually high price which the tubers have been bringing since the last crop was harvested. It is the aim of prominent potato men to make the county so important a one in potato raising that outsiders will come here to purchase seed by the carload. Standardization of potatoes and the fighting of insects and disease will make this possible, it is declared.—Petoskey Evening News.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Friends of Mildred Eckinger Call Wednesday Evening.

A party of her friends gave Miss Mildred Eckinger a potluck surprise last Wednesday evening at her home on Hurlburt avenue. A good time was enjoyed by the surprisers and their hostess, and during the evening Miss Eckinger was presented with a beautiful plate, as a token of her friends' hearty goodwill and esteem.

Maple Grove Grange will give a masquerade dance and oyster supper at the Grange hall, Wednesday evening, February 14th.—Adv.6t1

Subscribe for the Courier.

STATE TO PAY DOUBLE REWARD

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY CAN RECEIVE FEDERAL AID.

Cost of Concrete Road Per Mile is About $12,000—State Pays $6,800 of Amount.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 30, 1917.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County:

Being certain that you have not become so engrossed with your own business as to lose sight of activities outside your own line that have vital influence upon your every day life, it occurred to me that you would be interested to learn something new in regard to the good roads question.

We are about to lay aside our swaddling clothes and all put on new spring suits—suits that are suits. Suits that will surely suit all of us. Methinks I hear someone say—no, not by a heap sight, but I do feel pretty good, and I know you will all rejoice with me, because it affects every citizen in Charlevoix county. Here it is: Act 334 of the Public Acts of 1913, provides for double state reward on ten so-called state reward trunk line highways. Division No. 5 is a road from the southern state line through Holland, Muskegon, Ludington, Traverse City, Charlevoix and Petoskey, hence on a 16 foot concrete road north and south across Charlevoix county, under the law, we are entitled to $6,800 per mile state reward, as the single reward on concrete is $3,400. This will more than half build our roads, for competent engineers say that this road can be built for $10,500 per mile. Let's call it $12,000 to be doubly safe. Probably with the existing conditions as they are, the better plan to adopt in Charlevoix county is to accept the 50 per cent aid from the Federal government and 15 per cent aid from the state, as provided by the plan of the proposed Federal aid legislation now being considered.

However, under this act providing for double state reward on certain highways, one division of the road passes through Charlevoix by way of the West Michigan Pike, while another division passes through the eastern part of the county connecting Boyne Falls, Boyne City and Clarion. Such being the case, it would be advisable to build the West Michigan Pike road under the Federal aid plan and the Boyne City and Boyne Falls highway under the double state reward plan, thus securing two concrete roads across the county of Charlevoix at practically half the cost to the county.

I received a letter recently from John S. Baker of Charlevoix, who is now engaged in running a hotel in St. Augustine, Florida, in which he states the Dixie highway is completed between Miami and Jacksonville, a distance of 366 miles along the Atlantic coast. The Dixie Highway begins at Miami, runs north to Jacksonville, Tallahassia, Florida, Macon, Georgia, and Atlantic City, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee. From there it goes north to Nashville, Tennessee, Louisville, Kentucky, Indianapolis, Indiana, Chicago, Illinois, South Bend, Indiana, Kalamazoo, Michigan, and so along the shore to Mackinaw, returning on the east shore of the state through Alpena, Bay City, Saginaw, Flint, Detroit, Toledo, Dayton, Ohio, Lexington, Kentucky, and Knoxville, Tennessee, where it intercepts the road to Chattanooga.

Now I predict that the northern part of the Dixie Highway, from both Chicago and Detroit to Mackinaw, will be one of the most popular of any route in the United States. It is in the very center of the United States, both in wealth and population, and there are few people in that zone who have not heard of the beauty of our county and the healthfulness of its climate. Surgeon Dr. Greenselver speaks of our atmosphere as "water washed."

There must be a reason why the state gives double reward for 16 foot concrete roads. The reason is—the state has learned that the upkeep of gravel and macadam roads is so great that in order to discourage the building of more of them, they find it much cheaper to build concrete and pay double reward for it. In other words—$6,800 instead of $3,400.

Question—If you were going to build a new house or a new barn and needed it badly, and your father should say—if you will build a permanent house or barn, one that will stand for ages, I will pay you over one-half of their cost. Would you accept it? Or would you pass it by and build a slimsy affair—one that the wind would blow down and the rain destroy. Well, that's just what we have been doing all over the United States in building roads—the wind has blown them away and the heavy rains have destroyed and washed them away.

Another important thing has to be taken into consideration—In building roads for the future we must build for heavy trucks as well as heavy touring cars, because if you could have been at the automobile show in Chicago, you would have seen all kinds of trucks from the 1500 pounds to the five ton truck. You have all seen what one trip of a threshing machine has done to our roads. No gravel or macadam roads can possibly be built that will stand these heavy trucks or cars. Concrete and brick are the only roads that will, but we cannot afford brick, and it is not necessary for concrete, properly made and laid under the watchful care of a state inspector (that's what we will have) will stand and will last for fifty to 100 hundred years.

Uncle Sam has set aside $75,000,000 for good roads and he is a pretty good uncle, too. Almost as good as our father-state, and he gives for all national roads, so-called, 50 per cent of their cost, and the Dixie Highway and West Michigan Pike comes under one, and the Mackinaw trail under the other.

George H. VanPelt.

You can borrow money on your farm or city property at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank.—Adv. 4tf.

THEATRICAL.

In the Diplomatic Service.

The nation's aristocracy is represented in the Metro five-act wonder play, "In the Diplomatic Service." The central theme of the play is the unmasking of a foreign official high in the diplomatic service for his duplicity in plotting against this government, while asking and receiving its confidence and hospitality. This play will interest those who keep touch with the politics of the nation. "In the Diplomatic Service" has all the thrills and adventures required to please those who like activity.

A cast of favorites is chosen to present this play, among whom are the great Francis X. Bushman and his beautiful co-star, Beverly Bayne. "Dick Stansburg" undertakes to unmask the treacherous Doctor Montell, who is plotting against this government. To trap him, he makes a model which is supposed to represent a new machine gun that will fire gas bombs. He tells of it so Montell will hear. Montell attempts to get Dick to sell out. How Dick catches the Doctor and his accomplices red-handed, forcing the diplomat to be recalled by his own country completes the swiftly moving story of never failing interest. At the Majestic, Tuesday evening, February 13.

Wanted.

Kiln wood cutters. 85 cents per cord. Inquire of C. Beers.—Adv. 5t2.

Chi-Namel Gold and Aluminum

Makes Old Furniture Look Like New

See Demonstration in Our Window

Blanchard's Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

BUY A FORD

Pay as You Ride Plan

THE NEW STREAMLINE MODEL

When you see your friends enjoying a nice ride in an auto doesn't it make you wish you had a car? Why not ride in one of your own the same as your friends. Buy a brand new FORD of us. You can get a car and pay for it as you ride—this is our easy payment plan—and we are anxious to announce that we have a carload of cars on hand ready for the man or woman who wants to "burn up the dust" next summer.

Here are the season's prices:

Ford Roadster	$345.00
Ford Touring Car	$360.00
Ford Touring Car with electric starter	$425.00

We will sell any of our Ford cars with or without the Electric Starter. Get in the game early and have a brand new car ready to drive when the car season opens up. We are going to sell more cars this year than ever, and the prospects are such that the Ford car sales will exceed all others, in this locality. See us NOW.

BENJ. BROWN

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 7. 8 PAGES — CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1917 — PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENTS

SELECTIONS MADE FROM COLEGE GRADUATES.

Must Be Matura Men, Born and Raised on Farms, With Farm Experiance.

How are county agricultural agents supported?

The money which pays the county agent's wages and his expenses while carrying on his work in the county comes from three sources. The U. S. Department of Agriculture contributes $600 annually, the state Agricultural College gives another $600 and the county Board of Supervisors generally appropriates the bslance, which averages in 26 counties now employing agents in Michigan, about $1600, according to the statement of Dr. Ebon Mumford, state leader of county ageots. In three counties in Michigan the county's share of the expense is partly raised by private contributions. At preseut there is no other source of funds.

What kind af men are sent out as county agents?

The fear that our county will have an impractical, city-bred, college-trained, but otherwise inexperienced youngster foisted upon us for a county agent seems to stand in the way of some men giving their unqualified support to the movement. This fenr, however, is entirely ungrounded. Such a thing has never been done before. Of the thousands of men who have graduated from our agricultural college, only a few have been considered qualified for the import position of county agent. This is a big, serious work; and before a man is nppointed to a county, he must satisfy the officers of the county's Farm Bureau. He must also satisfy Dr. Mumford and the other college authorities; and, furthermore, he must be acceptable as a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The kind of men who have passed these requirements are mature men, born and reared on farms, graduated from an agricultural college, and with actual farm experience after graduation.

In support of this statement one has only to mention the names of such men as H. G. Smith, county agent in Kent county; Jason Woodman of Kalamazoo county; C. B. Cook, formerly of Allegan county; Alfred Bentall, now of Allegan; J. F. Zimmer of Wexford; and H. B. Blanchard of Newago—all with state-wide reputations for good sense and practical judgment in agricultural matters. No county needs to accept a man with qualifications less than these meo possess.

What steps are neeessary to take in order to seeure a county agent for Charlevoix county.

First, it is necessnry to arouse interest in the movement among the people in the county. At present praetically everyooe in the county understands the proposition, and of those who do, only a very few, indeed, are still opposed to a county agent. It is uonatural to expect to convioee everyone of the value of any new thing. In the eounties which have had n county agent longest, there are still some men who oppose the idea, just as some men in this county will live and die opposing good roads and other improvments.

The Farm Bureau

In some counties the board of supervisors has entire supervision of the work of the county agent and so constitute the Farm Bureau. In most counties, however, before the agent is hired, the interested farmers and business men get together and orgnnize a couoty Farm Bureau with a president, secretary, treasurer, and as large a membership as possible. The members pay a small fee which is used to defray the neeessary expenses of the bureau until the supervisors make ao appropriatioo to eover the county's share of the expeose.

The Farm Bureau presents the propositioo to the bourd of supervisors und asks for an appropriation. The bureau also passes judgment on the fitness af the candidate presented by the stnte leader for the position of couoty agent. After n man has been selected and hired, the Farm Bureau helps to outline his work and with the state leader of county ageots nod the Department of Agriculture, exercises supervision over him.

In order that there shnll be oo misunderstandings, when a county is ready to ask for a county agent the state leader of county agents comes into tho county and holds meetings at several different places and explains in detail the whole proposition. He will also help organize the Farm Bureau.

In view of the growing interest which has sprung up in the county during the past year, it is quite likely that Dr. Mumford will be invited to Charlevoix county some tims before the spring work begins. Pleass keep this in mind and watch for such announcement.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS MUST GET LICENSE

Chief of Police Issues Warning in Advance—Gat Busy.

The chief of police wisbes to wurn auto drivers to get their 1917 license plates and put tbem on their cars without delay, if they have not already dono so.

This matter of licenses will be more strictly looked after this year than ever before and offenders will be liable to an unpleasant surprise in the form of a stiff fine if they don't watch out.

Remember that the money you pay for a license goes into the upkeep of the state's rosds and you are cheating yourself as well as your neighbor if you delay in coming across. Don't wait for the authorities to smoke you out. Be a sport and pay the shot.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY CONVENTIION

HELD AT COURT HOUSE LAST FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Committees Appointed—R.A.Emrey, Lisle Shanaban and Oluf Nordrum Rapresantatives.

The Chnrlevoix County Republican convention met on Friday, February 9, at the court house, in anawer to the official eall. Chairmnn W. J. Pearson, presiding.

The chairman appointed the following committee to examine credentials: R. W. Paddoek, R. A. Emrey and C. E. Dutton.

The credentials committee reported the credentials as presented to be satisfactory.

The chairman appointed the following committee on delegates: S. A. Correll, Charles Novak and M. E. Bergy. The report of tbe committes on delegates was accepted as presented, and the convention proceeded to elect the following Republicans to attend the Republican state convention to be held at Detroit, Februnry 20: Wm. J. Pearson, chairman, Boyne Falls; J. M. Harris, Boyne City; Frank Thompson, Boyne City; E. W. Abbott, Boyne City; R. A. Emrey, Charlevoix; Lisle Shanahan, Charlevoix; Oluf Nordrum, Charlevoix, and W. J. Gallagher, St. James. The delegates as elected are subject to alternates.

The convention unnoimously endorsed Justice Franz C. Kuhns and Justice John W. Stone for re-eiection to the state supreme bench.

There being no further business, the conveotion adjouroed.

PROGRAM FOR LINCOLN DAY BANQUET

Friday Evening to Be Gala Day at Congregational Church.

The Lincoln Day banquet of the Charlevoix Historical Socicty will occur in the Congregational church, Fridny evening of this week. The banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m. The following program will be carried out, Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, president of the society, presiding:

Invoeation, Rov. C. E. Taggart.
Banquet.
Music.
Violio duet, Robert Bridge, King Sauoders.
Address, Hon. George L. Lusk, deputy secretary af stnte. Subject, "Tuebor."
Music.
Duet, Mrs. Mayme Chaloupku, Dr. F. H. Wilkinson.

The banquet is not limited to members, but is open to the public.

REPUBLICAN PETITIONS AS FILED

ANDREW ROSS AND S. M. ROSE FOR MAYOR.

Democrats and Socialists Have Not Filed Names of Candidates—Will Show Up Latar.

The following candidates for election at the spring primaries have filed their petitions up to the time we go to press. All are supposed to be in by 4:00 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, and according to the deputy city clerk's record are given below.

Wbon one takes into consideration the "street gossip" heard during the past few weeks, it is a source of wonder to us that more would-be reformers have not entered the political arena. But then, now is the time of year when all business is everyons's business, so tbere is little wonder they show symptoms of cold feet when the time comes to realize tbsy must get busy or the city will go to smash.

We herewith publish the names of candidates so far filed:

Mayor—Andrew J. Ross, Simon M. Rose.
Clerk—Charles Emrey.
Treasurer—John Cook.
Justice of the Pesce—James M. Felts.

First Ward.

Supervisor—F. J. Meech.
Alderman—F. M. Glassford.

Second Ward.

Supervisor—Charles J. Zeitler, Jason L. Price.
Alderman—N. R. Washburn, Oluf Nordrum.

Tbird Ward.

Supervisor—Harrison Berdan.
Alderman—Geik C. Geiken.

Nothing has been beard from Democrats or Socialists, so there will be no scrap, exeept it be between Andrew Ross and Sam Rose or Price and Zeitler in the second ward.

SENT ON ERRAND AND THEN SURPRISED

Helen Webster Greeted by Fifteen Friends Thursday Nigbt.

A party of 15 young friends gave Miss Helen Webster a pot luck surprise party Tuesday evening, at her home on May street, the occasion being her fourteenth birthday.

Her fnther sent her on an errand to get her out of tho housa and when she hnd left, the surprise party entered and concealed themselves in a side room. When Miss Helen got baek, intending to get ready and accompany her father to the movies, tha bunch jumped out of their hiding place with a loud yell. To say tbat Mias Webster was surprised is pntting it mildly.

There was the usual eake with 14 candles. Games were played and everyone had a royal good time and were hardly ready to stop wben the party broke up at midnight.

INDEPENDENTS PLAY.

Have Had Difficulty in Securing Opponents.

Some of the townspeople are getting anxious about tho independent tenm. We huve tried to get Petoskey over here three different weeks, nod have nenrly had their promise, but they decline ut the last minuto. We are negotinting with other teams, but eun get nothing at this time. Under present weather conditioos we could not help lose money on most teams, but commencing with February 23, when we play the Wolverine Athcltic Association of Traverse City, we expect to bave several homo games. This week the team goes to Harbor Springs with the high school team, nnd plays the Independents there. We shall expect your support in our gnmes. We mny bo able to arraoge n game with Petoskey here the first of tbe week.—Contributed.

Thursday, February 22, being a legal holiday, the Charlevoix County Bank nnd the Charlevoix State Savings Bank will be closed oo thut day.—Adv.7tl.

Notice to Public.

On and after March 1, 1917, the scnle for mason work will be 70 ceots per hour. Chnrlevoix Mnsons. Adv. 7tlpd.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

TO BOND ROAD FOR $800.000

ALPENA MEN HAVE SUBSCRIBED $200,000.00.

Plan to Discbarge Receivership, Pay Debts and Construct Uncompleted Right-of-Way.

Tentative plans for the reorganization of tho Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena railway, and the filling of a gap between Alpena and Atlanta and the completion of another east and west cross-state railroad have been prepared by the Michigan Trust company of Grand Rapids. The plans call for a bond issuc of $800,000, of which, it is ssid, Alpena men have subscribed $200,000.

Working tbrough the United States Court as receiver of the road, the Michigan Trust company succesfully engineered the deal by which a new bond issue will be floated, the outstanding debts of the railway paid up, the receivership discharged ond construction completed on the unfinished gap in the right-of-way.

Rails are already in place for a considerable distance west of Alpena and for 12 miles cost of Atlanta, the seat of Montmorency county. It remains only to fill in this gap to give northeastern Michigan another east and west cross-state line and to open up an almost direct line between Grand Rapids and Alpena.

Started as Logging Road.

W. H. White, head of the White Lumber company, of Boyne City long has dreamed of tho development of what began as a tiny logging road, into an important link in the railway chain of Michigan. His vision has gone out to include the completion of the line to Lake Michigan at Charlevoix and the inauguration of car ferries at the eastern and western terminals, by which the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena line will make its bid for through business east nod west aeross the continent.

In the immediate future he plans through sleeper service from Grand Rapids to Alpena over the Grand Rapids & Indiona and the Boyne City, Caylord & Alpena lines. It is understood tentative arrangements for this service were made with the Grand Rapids & Indiana by Mr. White prior to the establishment of tho reccivership.

Taps Hardwood Forests.

The Boyne City, Caylord & Alpena has its western terminal now at Boyne City. It connects with the Crand Rapids & Indiana at Boyne Falls and the Michigan Central from Bay City to Maekinaw nt Gaylord. It traverses some of the finest hardwood lund in northorn Michigan.

It is part of the plan for tbe road to inspire the settlement of the land along the line and to help build up tho small villages. The completion of the road promises to open up soma important acreage of timber land, destined to help feed the mills both at Alpena and Boyno City, and it has been said by the backers of the road that the logging and lumher toonage alone will warrant the expenditure of enough money to close the gap.

It is said that during the next few months the court officially will sanction the discharge of the receivership and take the necessary mensures to assure the reorganization.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

Mrs. A. R. Struthers Says Florida is Hit by a Frost.

The following letter was received from Mrs. A. R. Struthers, who is spending the winter months at Port Orange, Florida:

Port Orange, Fla., Feb. 7.

Editor Courier—Just a line to let you know that Florida has been visited by a frost. All garden vegetables and oranges nre destroyed. What a pity. I did enjoy them so much sioce I came here three weeks ngo.

We have had such lovely summer weather up until Friday nnd Saturday, February 2 and 3. It is still cool wenther, but people say there will not be uny more frost.

With kind regards, I remain,

Mrs. A. R. Struthers.

The ladies of the W. B. A. will hold a 10 cent tea at the home of Mrs. Weidermnn on State street, Tuesdny nfternoon, February 20. Everyhody welcome.—Adv.7t1.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE ON NORTH SIDE

Home of Charlas L. Gonsar Scene of Menacing Fire.

C. L. Gonser's house on Michigan avenue, caught fire Monday morning at about 8:30, from a spark from the chimney, and a serious loss was narrowly averted by the efforts of Mr. Gonser, assisted by Charles Emrey, Merritt Miller and some of the other neighbors, who finally managed to extinguish the blsze before the department got there. A hole was burned in the roof, however, large enough for a msn to crawl through.

Mr. Gonser was st the store when he got a telephone message from his wife at the home to come at once. When he arrived, it was thought that the fire had too good a start to be checked without the assistance of the department snd the alarm was turned in. Then things took a turn for the better, and the firemen were telephoned that there was nothing doing.

After the alarm is turned in, it is too late to consider placing insurance. Better call on Myrtie Young & Son today.—Adv. 7tI.

HAS PURCHASED TROY LAUNDRY

MRS. J. S. BAKER ADDS TO BEACH ENTERPRISE.

Support of Charlevoix Patrons Will Decide Whether Laundry Will Run Year Round.

The Troy Laundry, which has been operated for several seasons by W. L. Darling, at the foot of Clinton street, has been purchased by Mrs. J. S. Baker of Charlevoix and St. Augustine, Florida, who will run it next summer, doing a general laundry business for the benefit of her resort patrons and townspeople.

This is purely a tentaive proposition with Mrs. Baker, and it rests with Charlevoix people to say whether it shall be continued as an all-year around business, or abandoned after the first season. She will run it a year and if Charlevoix people give it their business to an extent to warrant its mnintainance as a permanent industry, we sholl be able to keep quite a number of our hard-won dollars from taking to their wings and flying away to Petoskey, Crand Rapids and various other places where they are glad enough to get them but don't use them to pny taxes in this county.

Let's meet Mrs. Baker half-way and show her that we appreciate the efforts of one of our most able and public spirited citizens to keep Charlevoix money in Charlevoix—where it belongs.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HAS 548 AUTOMOBILES

Has 26 Commercial Automobiles and 522 Pleasure Cars.

The annual report of the secretary of state on the motor vehicle registration for the year 1916 discloses a total revenue received of $1,739,343.62. This wns apportioned as follows: To the state highway fund, $991,088.34; to the various counties, $931,740.85. During the months of November and December the sum of $183,485.57 was collected on the 1917 nutomobile tax.

The following table shows tha registrntion of cars in Cheboygnn, Emmet and Charlevoix counties:

	Emmet.	Charvoix.	Cheboygan.
Commercial	53	26	5
Pleasuro	570	522	329
Total.	623	548	334
Motorcycles	8	18	4
Chauffers	85	46	24

Opens New Offices.

Henry Kauffman has installed offices in the old bakery buildiog, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, and will buy all kinds of Hides, Copper, Brass, Rngs, Rubbers, nnd all other kinds of metal. Highest market price paid for all goods brought in. Spot cnsh.—Adv.7tf.

200,000 ENROLLED AS BOY SCOUTS

ESPECIALLY VALUABLE TO THE COUNTRY BOY.

No Drudgery in "Scouting"—Element in Building Up Personal Character in Boys.

For more than five years the boys in cities and large towns have had a virtual monopoly on all the pleasure and benefit of being "boy scouts"—and some 200,000 are now officially enrolled as members. That wondsrful thing which through the activities of the members of the Boy Scouts of America has come to be known as "scouting", is so much of an outdoor progrsm—so distinctly a program for the outdoor boy—it is surprising that the matter was not taken up in the country districts a long time ago. The news tbat the country boy can be a "scout"—as he doubtless has wanted to bs ever since he first heard that fascinating nams—will be mighty good news to the youth of rursl America.

What "Scout" Stands for.

It is fortunate that there is this great desire on the part of boys everywhere to be scouts. Belng a scout really stands for something worth while. It stands for wholesome fun—for play that develops a boy's wits and illustrates for the boy more clearly than books can ever do it, that by co-operating with your neighbor you, and he too, will get more out of life, and out of the fields. It stands for being bonorable and trustworthy, obedient, resourceful, thrifty, clean, reverent. It stands for helping others—"doing a good turn daily." It stands for loyalty to the flag, and readiness to do your duty to God and your country at all times. Traits, here, that will enable every country boy, as well as every other boy, to be happier and more efficient.

Especially Valuable to Country Boys.

There are reasons why the coming of a definite interest and responsibility in the scout movement will be especinlly valuable to the country boy: Much has been said in recent years about why boys quit the farm, usually for a far worse kind of life in the cities; and much has been done to improve home and social conditions in the country. But a great deal remains to be accomplished before the farm boy will cease to envy the boy in town—nnd one of the chief things that can be done in thia direction is to quicken the interest of the boy in what's about him.

The average farm boy has many advantages over the average boy in the city—but does he recognize and appreciate them? Look at the program of scout activities and you will find that, though it has been followed chiefly by city boys heretofore, it is made up largely of features which ara more easily available to the boy on the farm than to the boy in towo. And they cannot fail to open a new world of pleasures to the fnrm boy or to increase his apprecia-tion of his environment.

To Make Boys Happy.

It is a common knowledge that folks appreciate most that which they eojoy best—thnt whieh adds most to the happincss. This is especinlly true of boys. So the scout movement haa set about to make boys really happy in doiog what they should do for their own benefit And it has succeeded marvelously, as the great men of the country have attested. There is no drudgery in "scouting" though much of it requires hard study and diligent practice. The boys, as scouts, make play of the hardest jobs, and get no less out of them because of that; indeed they accomplish more. The idea that all good must coma through suffering is yesterday's idea—not today's.

And so, while the boy is having all the fun and glory of being a scout, he is getting a vast amount of knowledge in lines tbat will be actually helpful to him in life, on the farm or elsewhars, and building up within him qualities that will benefit him in his work, in his home relations and in bis associations with others.

Officers Were Electad.

The Christian Workers' Class of the Methodist Sunday school enjoyed a social afternoon at the bome of Miss Thelma Crandall on Saturday, February 10. Officers were eleeted and a pot luck supper served.

There are thousands of children who are bright but frail—not sick but underdeveloped—they play with their food—they catch colds easily and do not thrive—they only need the pure, rich liquid-food in to start them growing and keep them going. Children relish SCOTT'S and it carries rare nutritive qualities to their blood streams and gives them flesh-food, bone-food and strength-food.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Nothing harmful in SCOTT'S.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-2

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Miss Scroggie af the Walloon Lake primary room asks for 12 certificates of award for pupile not absent or tardy for four months. This is one higher than the Afton record pnblished last week.

Hot lunches are really just as good for the digestion of those who like them aa they are for tbose who don't like them .

One teacher reports that "Standard School" workers in his school are those without children in attendance at the present time. It is a commendable and generous spirit emanating from those childless homes, but it is the only report of that nature yet received.

Notices of Officers' meeting sent aut to every part of the county. Fcbruary 28, the big day.

Civic circulars mailed to rural teachers the first of the week.

With another big advance in the cost of paper, it behoovee every teacher to practice nil possible economy in the school room. Boys and girls should he taugbt to write on hoth sides of every sheet and to use the entire sheet every time or save the little remaining spnce for another lesson. There is no reason why penmnnship exercises should not be done on paper already written on aeross the paper, by merely writing lengthwise of the page. The waste paper in the school room may sell for enough to buy a new picture by spring.

Moderator Topics of January 18, with extra copies selling for 5 eents each contains not only the life of Chnrles Mackey, but Tubal Cain and the minor poems, "The Good Time Coming," "Cleon and I," "Clear tbe Way," and the "Working Man's Song." The spring tests may ask for some of these and eighth graders may well know some of them.

The Starr school is advertising a social for February 14th, the proceeds to apply on a drinking fountain.

Pleasant Valley school room has new readers in the first, second and third grades, as well as new physiagy and penmaaship books. Only a week and Miss Kerry says she cnn see great improvement. She nnd her pupils are now working for n new library.

A joyous report from Undine: "We are going to have all the good things next year, ALL of them."

Maple Grove's new fountain has arrived.

Wben the sun shines brightly from the heavens it reveals tha dust in the school room corners and elsewbere. What did it find in yaur little corner that is all your awn?

CLARK SCHOOL.

We nre enjoying our Palmer writing books.

Appropriate Lincoln exercises are being prepared at school.

Miss Helen McElroy visited school Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Brock is very sick with In grippe.

Our teacher thought the Germans were coming for sure Tuesday morning when the bell broke, making terrifie noise as it came down on the roof.

Our treasurer, Frank Matchett, mnde us a short visit Thursday while repairing the bell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clarke drove to Phelps last Thursday.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded diecase that ecience haa been able to eure in all its etages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrb Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requirea a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, neting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers theat they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 6t4

CORRESPONDENCE

EVELINE.

Miss Pansy Hammond is working for Mrs. Will Orvis again.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Knudsen, February 4, a baby girl.

Dr. Armstrong placed a plaster cast on Thomas Nelson last Wednesday.

Walter Lyngklip has been on the sick list for about a week. He is a little better today.

Has anyone n solution for the prevention of excessive freezing of silage during freezing weather.

The postman on East Jordan No. 1 failed to get through for four days. He has a very difficult route to travel.

Rev. Taggart braved the cold and met his congregation in Ironton last Sunday, but the attendance was smaller than usual.

Breezy Point Farm and H. E. Cohlentz are harvesting last week and this. The ice is of good quality and plenty of it.

Pomona Grange was well attended on Saturday, February 3. The weather was very uncomfortable aad the roads hardly passable.

Sam Woodworth has completed the cnrpenter work in the Grange dining hall and the room looks comfortable and convenient.

Miss Pansy Hammond, one of Eveline's popular young ladies, called at the home of Mrs. Joe Prevost and Frnnk Zeitler, Thursday evening.

A bunch of fellows surprised John Edwards inst week, by cutting some wood in his wood lot. It requires much wood to keep warm this winter.

Sam Alexander, (our ferryman) has just recovered from the chicken pox nnd is now laid up with a bndly swollen limb. Dr. Armstrong is attending.

Matt Allen and Ed Cunningham have filled tbeir contract with the school at Ironton for 40 eords of wood. No coal famine can threaten the closing of school next winter.

Mr. nnd Mrs. Frank Allison were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by neighbars and frionds. Games were played and refreshmenta served, after which everyone journeyed home with the thermometer rogistering 25 degrees below zero. In spite of tha cold, everyone spent an enjoyabla evaning.

HAYES.

Zero wanther now nearly every night.

Dulcie Howe spent Saturday and Sunday at bome.

Mrs. Platt Webster spent Thursday afternoan with Mrs. F. A. Lewis.

Mrs. Clara Trafford is visiting her pareats, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane.

Mrs. Jones Lewis and Mrs. Pant and Leo, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. nnd Mrs. B. Wigbtman.

Mrs. Mary Baker died this morning (Monday), at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Gregory.

Mra. A. Snenthen and sister spent Wednesday with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis.

Otto Kane returned home last week from Chicngo and othar places, where he had been vieiting the past four weeks.

A reply has been expected from a certain adv. of last week, but we believo it is best not to tbis time. The entire community regret thnt it wns printed.

MARION.

Ed Potter visited his parents Sunday.

Floyd Black is workng for William Witbers.

Mrs. James Meggison had the doctor last Monday.

Lawrence and Beatrice Straw have the mumps.

Dickey Straw, who has been suffering with the mumps, is better.

Henry Petter is moving on the Bush farm. He has rented it for a year.

Mrs. William Straw, Jr., is very ill. They took her to Petoskey last Thursday.

The farmers around here are putting up ice. They are cutting it on Twin lake.

Mrs. William Poquette waa quite sick with la grippe last week, but is feeling better now.

Eighteen degrees below zero Monday morning. This is the coldest it has been so far this season.

Mrs. George Harrington returned home Wednesday, nfter visiting at Central Lake over Sunday.

James Cook got a horse in the lake one day last week, when he was helping to cut ice. No serious dnmage.

No school last Friday. Miss Berg was sick with the grippe, but is better and at school this (Monday) morning.

Mrs. Dangerman from the southern part of the state, visited her nephew, Elmer Ingalls, a couple of days last week.

NORWOOD.

Joe Sprik has been sick, but is better now.

A number of our citizens are sick with the grippe.

T. J. Scroggie spent Saturday and Sunday at Bay Shore.

Mrs. William Alward made some neighborly calls Friday .

The young people are enjoying the good skating on the lake.

Miss Nell Carman spent Sunday with Miss Margnerita Lucia.

Miss Drusilla Richardson is nssisting Mrs. Perry with her housework.

Vern Jones and brother, Abel, were in Atwood for a few days inst week.

No church since the first of January on nccount of bad weather and sickness.

J. W. VanDusen has gone to Lansing to spend the winter with his son, Limon.

The ladies aid met at the bome of Mrs. William Alward. All report a good time.

Mrs. Slick of Manton, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harrison Pierce.

Born, February 2, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Pierce, a bouncing baby boy. Congratulations.

Faye Wagner, Drusilla Richardson nnd Eva Stafford were callers at school one day this week.

Harry Wedderburn, who has been been very sick for the past two weeks, continues about the same.

Henry Wagner returned to his home in this village, Wednesday, after being absent on a 20 day business trip near Grand Rapids.

Dick Pascoe was taken to Petoskey, Saturday, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis. Last reports stated that he had had the operntion and was doing well.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

So far in the history of basketball this year, Charlevoix has amassed a total of 199 points as against n total of 199 points for onr opponents. We only have one more home game, one with Elk Rapids, Mnrch 2.

The morning session of tho Ancient History celebrated Lincoln's Birthday by staying until 5:15.

Spring must ha coming. Wa notice a number of hair cuts.

The parliamentary law class maets every Monday and Wednesday at 3:30. So far the clnss has done very little business asida from buying the principal a Dodge touring car, reprimanded Supernaw for chewing gum during tba deliberationa af tba assembly, and pnssed a reaolution opposed to "fussing" by high school athletes.

Next Saturday the high schoal and junior bigh will enjoy an nfternoon of skiing, followed by a supper and a dnnce. Admission to the dance will be by invitation.

Wood and Potatoes Wanted.

The Courier needs a number of eords of green 16 or 18 inch block wood, also 15 bushels of potatoes. This will he an excellent chance for those who have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood or potatoes to balance their accounts. Adv. 52tf

This is the Stove Polish
YOU
Should Use
IT'S different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.
Black Silk Stove Polish
Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.
All we ask is a trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish.
Made in liquid or paste—one quality.
Black Silk Stove Polish Works
Sterling, Illinois
Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel on pipes, radiators, stovepipes—Prevents rusting.
Use Black Silk Metal Polish for silver, nickel or brass. It has no equal for use on automobiles.
"A Shine in Every Drop"

Consult This Chart

What $1.00 of Your Money Will Buy Today

Variety of Food	Price		Food Value for $1.00
Eggs	$ .35	Doz.	2980 energy units
Beefsteak	.25	Lb.	4360 energy nnits
Breakfast Foods (average)	.07½	Lb.	5350 energy units
Mutton	.22	Lb.	6700 energy nnits
Pork Chops	.22	Lb.	6980 energy units
Cheese	.35	Lb.	5390 energy units
Milk	.08	Qt.	7880 energy units
Potatoes	2.00	Bu.	12500 energy units
Beans	7.00	Bu.	13370 energy units
Rice	.09	Lb.	18000 energy units
WHEAT FLOUR	$12.00	Bbl.	19670 ENERGY UNITS

Think af it! $1.00's worth af wbeat flour baked inta bread provides enough nourishment to last a man in full vigor doing modernte muscular work five and one-balf days.

This means that every dollar invested in

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

goes further when baked into bread than one dollar invested in any other variety of food.

Besides you save nearly one-half by baking your bread instead of buying it.

You will have better bread, too.

Every sack of Lily White flour is all pure, wholesome, healthful and nutritious.

The next time you bake bread use Lily White Flour. Then spread a good, big slice of the fresh bread with good butter, and, if you don't say Lily White bakes the best looking, best tasting, tenderest bread you ever ate, we will treat.

Please remember every sack is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money returned.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

THE MYSTERIOUS KEY

We have a large selection of Keys that we are going to distribute to your customers—one with each purchase at this store amounting to ONE DOLLAR. One of the keys thus giyen out will be the Mysterious Key that will unlock the Mysterious Lock connected with the $200 "National-Harmonola" now on display at our store.

Bring in your keys on the date set and see if you hold the Master Key that unlocks the Mysterious Lock, that will make you the happy possessor of this beautiful Grand Cabinet—"National-Harmonola." For every One Dollar paid on a Charge Account we will also give a key.

EDWARD KLOOSTER

113 Bridge Street Telephone 53. Charlevoix

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special nttention given to diseases of tbe
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kiads of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

Subscribe for the Courier.

The Premium Paying Club

Offers thrifty householders the opportunity to provide for the year's taxes, insurance or any other special items of expense.

JOIN NOW

In any one of our classes—pay small sums, according to the amount you wish to save and your expenses will be met without draining your resources.

Call at the Bank today and let us explain this splendid savings idea

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan
We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

To the School Officers of Charlevoix County.

What? Officers' meeting for Charlevoix county.

When? Wednesday, February 28, 1917. Ten to twelva a. m. and ona to three p. m.

Where? City Hall, Boyne City.

Who? W. L. Coffey, chief clerk and legal advisor of the etata department of Public Instruction, will hava charge of the meeting.

Why?

Do you know what per eant af your teacher's salary you will need to hold back next year to pay into the Teachers' State Retirement Fund? Do you know that the Pension Law is compulsory? Can n member of your school board receive extra pay for extra services if the district votes to this effect? Why would the school board need to sanctiona a contract let at a district meeting? For what two things may a director or hie representative from tbe achaol board receiva pay over and ahove the salary voted bim at the annunl meeting? (Well, ane of them is for attending this meoting, $2.00 for the day and all actual expenses to and from Boyne City.)

How?

Come on horseback. Come on foot.

Come on the train or bring a load of neighbors and friends.

You ean prepare to da more for your district and for yourself this day than on any other day of the yenr. I hope that every school elector withln driving distance of Boyne City will turn out to maka this meeting the record meeting of the year.

Youra for Bettar Schools,
Adv. 7t2 May L. Stewart, Cam'r.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred.
Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

CHAPTER XXI.

"You Cannot Leave Me Now."

FOR two days and two nights the girl fought on alone against the outcry of her heart until she recognized the futility of it, and then she ordered Ragtime to be saddled. And Miriam Burrell, sighting Barbara's face as the latter wheeled toward the hills, flew from her window to scratch off a note to Gurry—her third note that day, for she seemed always omitting most important things which needed saying.

"It's come," she scrawled in delighted haste. • • • When are we going to be married?"

Once before Barbara had ridden that road with him alone in her thoughts. Now she realized that she had loved him then as she must have loved him always and marveled at such blindness. Once, on that other day, she had told herself that all ignoble and unworthy comparisons of herself and him were done and gone. Now she did not need such reassurance, when her lips were tremulous.

She grew pensive at times. At times in an abandon of gayety she chattered back at a quarrelsome squirrel in the thicket. She could rest later, and if she could not go to him immediately at least every step the horse took was bringing them for a little while closer together. And her tomorrow was only one twilight and one dawn away. Her tomorrow would be his as utterly as was she herself.

Dusk came, and regretfully she told herself that she must be turning back home. Two rifle shots, sharp and startlingly close, whipped through the quiet of that lazy afternoon, but they meant nothing to her. She had reached the height of land, where he had found her the day her roan mare strayed off while she sat mooning on a log. She was holding out both arms toward the spot where the valley of Thirty Mile must lie when a team of heavy horses broke around a turn in the road, slowed to a trot at the sight of her and came to an abrupt standstill. When the girl rode nearer to them, merely surprised and curious at first, they snorted and showed the whites of their eyes and sidled back nervously.

Something chill clutched at Barbara's heart while she spoke peremptorily to Ragtime who was dancing in sympathetic panic. There was nothing to tell her, but she knew that these were Big Louie's horses. And Big Louie was a dreamy incompetent. He had left them for a moment, that was all, and they had become frightened and bolted. But Big Louie never neglected his team—they were not wet—they had not been running far. And their fright became less when she dismounted and approached them, soothing them with her voice until they let her touch their sleek sides without rearing away.

Dusk had come and gone, for it was growing dark. Uncertain, more and more unnerved as she stood and gazed at the forbidding, black shadowed ridges beyond her, the girl had to fight suddenly against an impulse to turn and race back to the lower country and Morrison and home. Even then the rifle shots meant nothing to her—and pride would not let her run. She remounted and rode on a rod or two and stopped to look back at the team which was watching her. She pressed on and rounded the curve. Ragtime reared and snorted there, and she barely stifled the cry which his strange behavior brought to her lips. Because of her senseless panic she punished him the more severely and sent him on. And then she saw what the horse had already seen.

A blue shirted figure lay half in the road, half in the undergrowth that fringed it, one arm crooked under him and his face prone in the dust. A bulkier mass was stretched wholly within the trail—and she recognized him too. Big Louie's face was upturned, and the explanation of the two rifle reports and the driverless team was here, for Big Louie's hand still clutched the handle of a canvas pail. They had stopped to water the horses; they had been shot down from behind. And first of all, unable to move, while horror parched her lips, the girl remembered words which the limp one, half in the road and half in the underbrush, had spoken to her in a moment of sternness.

"He has fired upon me from cover," the man who loved her had said. "He has been taking money from a man who was bent on beating me at any price!"

"Blood sickens me!" she whimpered aloud. "Blood sickens me!" But she managed to turn him over upon his back. With brown head against his heart she listened—listened and would not believe that her tomorrow might come too late. And then she caught the slack pound of his pulse.

From there on she was less panic stricken. She gained control of faculties shocked for a time into uselessness. Method marked her acts—deliberation mechanical, but sure. She was horribly afraid of Big Louie, but she finally disentangled the handle of the pail from those loose fingers and ran to the brook which babbled near at hand. Returning, she drenched Steve's face with icy water. She lifted his head and propped it as comfortably as she might upon one thigh and opened his flannel shirt. The ball had passed through, for back and front the shirt became immediately wetter with fresh blood. Blood sickened her, but she whipped off the coat of her boyish riding habit and wrenched the sleeves from her linen blouse. They were desperately scant, yet they provided pads with which to check that dreadful oozing. And when they were in place she turned again to bathing his forehead.

A folded sheet of paper came to view when she tried once to ease his heavy body from the position which was numbing her leg, and she seized upon it fiercely. It was only a brief line, bidding him come to her, but it bore her name. With instant, bodiless clarity which had marked all her mental processes so far, its purport was hers. She had not written—the hand that had traced her signature had been unstrung, for once. She understood, though such knowledge seemed of little moment now.

She kept the pads cold and wet. She went for fresh water and stumbled and fell more than once because of the treacherous footing in the deepening shadows. But she was no longer afraid of the dark. She had grown to fear Big Louie less, even though there was no help for Big Louie any more. It was the first time that Barbara had looked upon the face of a man who had died in violence. Big Louie's face was growing indistinct now, but she knew that he was smiling—knew that his eyes were dreamy and mild. Death, like life, had been a quite incomprehensible puzzle to that slow witted one who had no name. But he had smiled seldom in life. In death his smile was almost childish, almost sweet and questioning beyond all else.

Alone With Him Who Still Lived, the Pallid Girl Sat and Waited.

Alone with him who still lived, the pallid girl sat and waited and wondered how long—or how soon—it would be. When she bade him wait until she could bring the team he nodded his comprehension. He was watching for her return. And he came to his feet with a readiness that made her heart leap with hope. But he fell twice before she lifted him, half with her hands, half with her voice, to the seat.

She crawled in beside him, and the next moment she had to struggle madly to prevent his returning to Big Louie.

"He will wait quiet until we come for him," she protested. "There isn't room for Big Louie—and he won't mind"—

Her logic made an impression upon him, for he smiled. There was no sequence in his acquiescence, however.

"Big Louie never could find his way alone," he mused, "and that is strange, too, for he was born in these hills. He was always getting lost"— And with that he must not desert Louie! She had even more trouble with him this time. "He will lose his head," he expostulated mildly—his old, unfailing attitude of gentleness toward her. "He will lose his head and waste his strength in running from things which do not exist."

"Big Louie will find his way this time." She was whimpering again in her helplessness. "He is—already home."

There she learned that her voice could control him when her arms availed not at all against even his dead weight. And so she talked as steadily as she was able while she drove. Once he lurched against her. When he pulled himself together he was so sanely apologetic of a sudden that she searched his face with hungry eyes. But he was talking now to himself.

"I must not touch her!" he stated firmly. And then, drearily: "I am sick. I have never been so sick—before."

With that he subsided, but his silence was far more dreadful than his wanderings had been, and as fast as she dared she pushed the heavy team on, with Ragtime following behind like a dog. He slipped back against her almost immediately, and this time he had not the strength with which to apologize nor right himself erect. With his head heavy in the hollow of her arm, they came at length to the open pasture hills. They topped the rise and faced the loops on loops of highway that ran down to Morrison at the river edge. And so she brought him home. At the sight of his "city" she sobbed aloud, but he, sunken and slack, was conscious neither of distance covered nor change of country. He climbed down from the seat, however, in response to her urgings when the team halted before Caleb Hunter's white columned house. He turned and started stubbornly back the way they had come.

She ran after him and clung to his arm.

"You promised that you would come back to me," she cried up at him. "Oh, you cannot leave me now!"

That halted him momentarily.

"I must go back to my bridge," he explained, plainly perplexed. "But then I'll surely come back to you."

She pleaded with him—raged at him. "I must go back to my bridge," he reiterated, gruffly now.

Her arms went around him in desperation, and then, with one swing, he had swept her yards away, reeling before his blazing wrath.

"Take your fingers from my eyes, Harrigan," he gasped in sudden agony. "I am going to kill you now, and she is looking on!"

The girl was afraid of him. She dared not try to hold him. She screamed wildly for help and screamed again. And he had gone on and wavered and crashed over upon his face when Caleb Hunter and her father came running heavily across the lawn in answer to her shrieks.

Between them they lifted him and carried him into the house.

(To be continued next week.)

COUNTY NORMAL NOTES

In connection with the courses in arithmetic, the class visited the County Bank, where Mr. Bridge very kindly showed us various kinds of checks, drafts, bonds, mortgages, stock certificates, etc. We also visited the city clerk's office and were shown the tax rolls by Mr. Slaght. Afterward we went to the office of Earl Young, where he very clearly and cleverly explained the various types of insurance. In all it was a very profitable forenoon and we wish to express our appreciation to Messrs. Bridge, Young and Slaght for their interest and helpfulness.

Mr. Hyera came to our room Monday afternoon and gave a splendid demonstration of propagation of plants by budding and grafting.

Misses Kenny and Liskum substituted in the sixth and fifth grades the past week during the absence of the Misses Allen.

Practice teaching is on full blast in the training room. Miss Cook has second grade reading; Miss Mentz, sense-training; Miss Liskum, fifth arithmetic; Miss Genett, chart reading; Miss Meggison, fifth geography; Miss Kenny, second arithmetic; Miss Palmer, fifth spelling and Miss Sanford, second language.

Miss Bayes read Riley's "The Bear Story," and "The Raggedy Man," to the fifth grade for opening exercises Monday morning.

The class had to write "The Declaration of Independence"—one page of it, for the penmanship test to be sent to the state department. All the papers were very creditable.

INWOOD.

John Wells made a business trip to Petoskey, Tuesday.

February came in like a lion and has kept it up so far.

Mrs. Harry Pascoe went to Petoskey the first of the week to see her husband.

Mrs. John Wells, who has been sick for some time, is able to be out again.

Harry Pascoe went to Petoskey, Saturday, for an operation. Last report states that he is doing fine.

The ladies aid will meet with Mrs. Heise next Wednesday, February 21. A pot luck supper will be served.

LEGAL NOTICES

Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix in said County, on the second day of February A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Myron Geer, deceased, Elisha Geer, having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of the estate not administered, be granted to Reuben Geer or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That the 1st day of March A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
Judge of Probate.

683

TO BUILD SHIPS AT COST PRICE

Bethlehem Steel Will Make Offer to Uncle Sam.

BIDS ON 16 INCH NAVY SHELLS

No Chance For Profit In Them Under Present Tests, Grace Says—Possible Explanation of the Prices Made by an English Firm Which Bids Under All American Manufacturers.

Speaking recently before the Terrapin Club of Philadelphia, Eugene G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Company, said in part:

In a peculiar sense Bethlehem Steel serves the American people.

For example, though we have been able to obtain in Europe almost any price, we have adhered, in our charges to the United States Government, to the basis of prices established before the war began.

We agreed—if the Government would abandon its plans for a Federal plant—to make armor for our Navy at any price the Government itself might consider fair.

Our ordnance plants are at the disposal of the nation at a fair operating cost, plus a small margin, thus saving the Government investment and depreciation.

One of the special needs of the new navy is sixteen-inch guns—guns sixty feet long and capable of hurtling a 2000 pound shell with such power and accuracy as to hit a 50 foot square target fifteen miles away.

We have undertaken voluntarily to construct, at a cost of $4,500,000, a plant fitted to build sixteen-inch guns.

Under no conceivable circumstances can orders which we may receive for this plant pay even a fair return on the investment.

Considerable comment has been made upon the fact that a British manufacturer recently bid less than American manufacturers for sixteen and fourteen-inch shells for the navy.

I am unable to state the basis upon which the English bid was made. It should be remembered, however, that this bid was for a specific shell, samples of which are being sent over for test—a test not yet made.

Two years ago we took an order for 2400 fourteen-inch armor-piercing shells at a contract price of $7,658,000, to be delivered within a certain time or we had to pay a large penalty.

The only specifications for making these shells are that they shall be of a certain size and must pierce armor-plate at a certain velocity on impact. It is impossible to foretell the exact conditions of the tests.

We had made large quantities of shells in the past which had been accepted. But in placing this particular order the Department altered the angle at which the tested shells must pierce armor-plate. The result, however, has been absolute inability on our part to produce in any quantity, shells which will meet these novel tests. In fact, we know of no process of projectile-making through which it is possible to produce in quantities shells which will conform to the requirements.

The result is that up to now on that contract of $7,658,000, we have put into actual operating expense $447,881., and have been penalized for non-delivery $495,744., a total of $943,625., with no receipts whatever.

Such was the experience in the light of which we were called upon recently to bid for sixteen-inch shells.

We bid on these shells at approximately the same rate per pound as that of a fourteen-inch shell contract of one year ago upon which the Government awarded contracts.

We have not the slightest idea what profit there will be in the making of these shells. We do not know that there will be any. There is no certainty that it would be possible for us to deliver a shell to meet the test.

For officers in the Navy to assume that any bid made under such conditions is "exorbitant" is utterly unfair.

We bid on the new battle-cruisers sums which Navy department experts, after examination of our books, found would yield a profit of less than ten per cent. We agreed to assume risks for increased costs of materials and labor, that made it possible that these contracts might yield no profit whatever.

The costs run beyond the amount appropriated by Congress on the basis of the cost estimates made a year ago.

And because shipbuilders could not alter the inexorable cost facts and reduce bids to early estimates of the Navy Department, the prices are called "exorbitant."

It would be a real advantage to be relieved of this naval construction. The profit from it cannot possibly amount to much, and the responsibility is enormous.

We have determined to make this offer to the American Government.

"If you will build two of the battle-cruisers in Government navy yards, we will build the other two at the ascertained cost of building the ships in the Government yards, without additional expense or commissions of any kind. We will also contract to have our ships ready for service ahead of the Government ships."

Subscribe for the Courier.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under direct control of State Banking Department

Examined regularly by Competent Examiners

Five reports of its financial condition published in this paper at different intervals during the year as called for by the Banking Commissioner

Your banking business respectfully Solicited

4% Interest

Paid on Savings Deposits

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crane, President.

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.

A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to

Make DATES at COURIER Office

Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President

D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY

Sugar 5c a pound

With a $10.00 Order

$10.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $10.00 or more, you may add $1.25 and order 25 pounds Granulated Sugar for ... $1.25

$20.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $20.00 or more, you may add $2.50 and order 50 pounds Granulated Sugar for ... $2.50

$30.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $30.00 or more, you may add $3.75 and order 75 pounds Granulated Sugar for ... $3.75

$40.00 or More — With an order of any items other than Sugar and Commercial Flour amounting to $40.00 or more, you may add $5.00 and order 100 pounds Granulated Sugar for .. $5.00

A. E. MASON

Bert Mason Offers to any one buying $1.00 in Merchandise out of any Department, Groceries, Shoes, or Dry Goods your choice of any 5 following articles. Any of Bobbie Burns Soaps, Magic Washer, German Family, Acme, Milady or Pumo Soaps, Sunbrite Cleanser, Tooth Picks or 5c box matches. You can buy as many dollars worth as you want. Terms Cash—No Credit.

Sale One Week Feb. 15 to Feb. 22

For example you buy merchadise $1.00
5 abnve articles .25
You pay $1.15 $1.25

Mason's Grocery Department

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Copy, one yeur.....$1.50
One Copy, six months..... .75
One Copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

HAVE NEWSPAPERS ANY EXCUSE FOR LIVING.

Any newspaper, the sole manifest mission of which is to make a living for its publishers, has no excuse for living.

Lax methods of doing business, the high cost of print und other necessary articles used in making newspapers, are causing the suspension of many "neutral" newspapers throughout the country.

Now, more than ever, the right kind of a newspaper is a necessity in any community that wants to move forward instead of buckward.

The wrong kind of a newspaper is one of the most pestiferous, harmful nuisance that can be inflicted on any community.

The right kind of a newspaper, at all times under all circumstances, willingly, gladly, lends its support to every constructive movement in its community. The wrong kind of a newspaper either remains neutral or, what is worse, still exposes the cause of those whose influence is against every constructive force in its community.

No community owes any newspaper a living, which will not at all times expouse a cnuse urged for the undoubted betterment of all, in spite of the fact that such expousal will cost it friends and patronage which it can ill afford to lose.—Munising News.

This does not mean, we take it, that a newspaper must champion every cause which masquerades under the pretense of community betterment, while in reality looking to some one's private profit or personal glory. The air is full of schemes nowndays to tap the public trensury, while posing as grent forwnrd steps la sanitation, moral uplift or civic improvement. Nearly every legislature has to consider some new form of organized plunder, such as bills providing for the creation of expensive bureaus to provide each school child in the state with a tooth brush and comb or to examine their feet for corns; at the same time placing some perfectly clear-beaded theorists with more wits than energy in nice, soft rocking chair jobs paid out of the public moneys. It is the newspaper's function to expose such pntent frauds and help their readers to diatinguish clearly between the aensible, constructive worker and the bair-brained crank whose altruistic impulses are connected up with his pocketbook.

Then there are always those in avery community who seek a little cheap notoriety through championing the people's cause or free advertising for the particular project with which they happen to be connected by continually "starting something." The chief motive power behind such movements is usually of the gns or hot air variety, and the nowspaper who takes it up to boost is as likely to ultimately becoma the public butt as the public benefactor. Then too, these "spasms" usually require money and the newspaper who undertakes to help raise it becomes an accessory befora the fact in obtaining money under false pretenses from a credulous public, fired with an unholy zeal to meddle with aomcone else'a business, and led like sheep to the inevitable slaughter.

No, the only excuse for a newspaper's existence is as a seekor after truth, and it may sometimes be necessary to smash the idols of the "reformers" in order to find it. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Something for our legal lights to answer—if you allow a house to stand in the middle of a street long enough, does the street become the property of the houseowner or does the house belong to the public? Hurlbut avenue residents want to know.

Which does one feel the most of: anger, disgust or amusement, when he hears some split-tongued son of Ananius shooting off a lot of hot air preaching one thing, while he is living another thing?

We wonder if this issue of the Courier will be approved by the local, self-appointed bourd of censorship.

Gave Birthday Party.

Little Winfield Emrey guve a party to about sixteen of his young friends last Friday afternoon, in honor of his sixth birthday. Of course, there was a cake with six candles and the other usual attendant features to such an occasion. If the memory of our own long departed early anniversaries is any indication, the kids must have had a "bully" time. Aside from being the most pleasurable recollections of a child's life, these little gatherings are valuablo for the development of the social instincts in his nature, which are so necessary to his happiness and success in later years.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank advertisement this week mentions several facts that should be considered in making a banking connection. Read it.—Adv.7tf

WAS PIONEER RESIDENT OF HORTON BAY

Mrs. Mary Buell Died at Petoskey February 5.

Mrs. Mary Buell, age 76, a resident of Horton Bay, died at the home of her daughter, Miss Fannie Buell, at Petoskey, February 5, of paralysis.

Deceased had been in ill health for the past two years and last September was taken to the home of her daughter in Petoskey, where medical aid was nearer at hand.

Since going to Petoskey, however, she began failing constantly and with her advanced age medical treatment was difficult.

She leaves to mourn their loss a son, William, of Horton Bay, and four daughters: Mrs. J. S. Dilworth, Mrs. Albert West and Mrs. John Prebie of Horton Bay and Miss Fannie Buell of Petoskey, besides 12 grandchildren all of whom reside nt Horton Bay.

Funeral services were held from the M. E. church at Horton Bay, the Rev. Chase of Boyne Falls, officinting. Interment in Horton Bay cemetery.

Announcement.

John Slezak has moved his shoe shop from the Wood building to the first door north of Moora's restaurant, formerly the old bakery.—Adv.7t4.

* CHARLEVOIX MARKETS *

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per bu	$ 1.60
Red wheat, per bu	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.50
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Oats	.64
Barley, per bu	1.00
Buckwheat, per cwt	2.40
Rye	1.20
Shelled Corn	1.10
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$10.00 to $11.00
Pork, dressed	14.00 to 15.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	$ .17
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.35
Potatoes, per bu	2.00
Honey per lb
Salt, granulated	1.60

EARTH ROADS IN SPRINGTIME

Drains and Side Ditches Should Be Kept Open.

THE DRAG VERY USEFUL.

Good Drainage Is the Cardinal Essential In Maintaining Good Roads During the Spring—Water Must Be Drained Away From the Highway, For the Foundation Must Be Kept Dry In Any Event.

[Prepared by office of good roads, department of agriculture.]

The cardinal esseutial in spring maintenance of earth rouds, especially those on heavy soils, is good drainage. So long as the water can be kept from penetrating deeply into these roads they will remain at least fairly passable. To accomplish this on average earth roads, however, is far from easy. During the early part of this season of the year rains are often of long duration and tend to saturate the soil. Water from melting snows is perhaps even more penetrating than long continued rains, while alternate freezing and thawing of the wet surface tend to increase the porosity of the soil and permit even more ready access of water into the foundation.

The chief attention of the road man must therefore be directed toward getting and keeping the water away from the road. So long as the foundation can be kept dry, even a heavy freeze followed by a rapid thaw will do little or no real damage to the road surfuce. A dry soil does not heave. The foundation will thus still be solid, and the road will be able to sustain the traffic without serious rutting. On the other hnud, a saturated soil expands greatly on freezing and when it thaws out has not only lost practically all power of sustaining weight of traffic, but also is in an ideal condition for taking up or absorbing still more water and thus forming still more mud. The spring maintenance of earth roads requires, therefore, first, preventive measures, which must be taken the previous fall or summer, so that the road will go into winter properly graded, well compacted and with good provisions for drainage, and, secondly, timely, continuous, systematic and intelligent attention throughout the winter and spring.

A HARD EARTH ROAD IN NORTH CAROLINA.

It is true that the only sensible and really economical thing to do with earth roads on which traffic has reached a certain volume is to hard surface them. But the larger part of our earth roads must remain such for a long time to come. These roads, however, need not become impassable mud lanes every winter or spring. A certain amount of timely and intelligent attention during the late winter and early spring will yield results commensurate with the cost. We must also learn that it requires as great, if not greater, skill and experience to maintain an earth road properly as to maintain any of the high class pavements. The fundamental principles of earth road maintenance are few and not difficult, but to carry out these principles under the almost infinite variations of conditions with which the road man finds himself confronted requires a high degree of intelligence, skill and experience.

During the early part of the season, as long as the weather is very rainy or there is melting snow on the ground, it will pay to have the road man go over the road daily to see that the drains and side ditches do not become clogged and to note the need of any necessary repairs. A few minutes' work with a shovel may prevent a serious washout or damage which, if not promptly checked, might make the road practically impassable.

The road drag or some other similar device finds its greatest usefulness during this season. It may be used to good advantage to clear the roadway of slush and melting snow and so prevent this water from soaking into and softening the subgrade. To fill ruts, smooth the surface and maintain the crown of the road the drag is unexcelled when in the hands of a skilled operator. An unskilled man may do more harm than good. Furthermore, the actual condition of the road during this period will depend very largely on the knowledge of the road man as to just when to drag, as well as his skill in the operation of the implement.

Subscribe for the Courier.

NEW SPRING SILKS

The new shades of Georgette Crepes are now in stock, 42 inches wide
$2.00 per yard
Yard wide Taffetas in Black and Colors
$1.50 per yard
Skinner's Guaranteed Silks, all Colors
$2.00 per yard
Crepe de Chines, White, Flesh, Black and other Colors
$1.50 and $2.00 per yard
Yard wide Messalines a great variety of shades
$1.25 per yard

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

HELD A ROUSING MEETING FRIDAY

W. C. T. U. MEET WITH MRS. G. C. GEIKEN.

Mrs. S. A. Correll Cried Auction Sale—Very Interesting Program Given.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union which met with Mrs. G. C. Geiken last Friday was well attended, even though the weather was cold. Several visitors were present.

The meeting opened with singing "America." Mrs. Saltonstall led the devotional exercises, reading from the psalms, followed by prayer by Mrs. Saltonstall. This was followed by roll call, 16 members being present.

Greetings from the state officers were read by Mrs. Alcox. The chairman of the committee, who had charge of the program for January 18th, reported a good meeting though not a large number present. This meeting was in the interest of national prohibition and was held in the Baptist church.

The chairman of the parcels post committee gave a very good report of the receipts from this sale and the meals served in connection. The chairman of this committee, Mrs. Saunders, made a motion that a rising vote of thanks be given to Mr. Crouter, Mr. Craig and Mr. Solomon, for the use of the building and other valuable help which was so much appreciated at this time. Carried.

Mrs. Taggart made remarks on the death of Mrs. Lucretia Geer, a former member of the union. The union sang a verse of "Beyond the Dark Mysterious River."

Mrs. Edwards took charge of the program. Readings by Mrs. Saltonstall, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Weikle. Recitation by Dorothy Bush. Dorothy responded to the encore with another recitation. Solo by Mrs. Correll.

At the close of the program, the remaining parcels unsold at the parcels post sale, were sold at auction. Mrs. Correll in a masterly manner cried the sale, Mrs. Saltonstall acting as clerk. A good deal of merriment was indulged in, sometimes one bidding against another in friendly rivalry, till the goods were all sold. We would suggest, should need arise for someone to cry a sale, to call on Mrs. Correll, as she certainly has some experience and can dispose of things in good shape.

SOUTH SIDE FIRE.

Home of George Lusk Threatened Friday Night.

The fire department was called to the south side Friday night at 8:00 o'clock and found a small fire at the home of George Lusk, caused by the too close proximity of a small heating stove to one of the beds. The bed was a total loss but little other damaged resulted.

We are certainly fortunate in having no serious fires while this weather lasts and people should be unusually careful about their stoves and lamps, as water, fire, high winds and below zero temperature make a terrible and oftimes fatal combination.

The insurance office of Myrtle Young & Son holds an unequalled and enviable position as to its adjustment of all losses. Insure with the agency of service.—Adv. 7t1.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

For Pastry, that in general goodness excells all others use

Iron Duke Flour

For Sale By All Grocers

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Charlevoix East Jnrdan Central Lake

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

WANTED—An old organ. Key board must be in good condition. Telephone 89, Charlevoix. 6tf

WANTED—Cabinet makers, bench and machine hands for large woodworking plant. Good wages, steady employment. No labor trouble. The Hamilton Mfg. Co., Two Rivers, Wisconsin. 7t6

FOR SALE—Team farm mares, weight about 2950; also team colts between 2 and 3 years old, weight 2505. Coulter Brothers, phone 72, R. F. D. No. 2, Charlevoix. Adv.6t3pd.

FOR SALE—Until February 20th, your choice of four O. I. C.-Yorkshire brood sows for $25.00. Absolutely firstclass. Worth about that for pork. Wm. M. Sanderson, Northwood Farm, adjoining the Breezy Point Farm, Ironton, Phone Boyne City, 237f12. 6t2

FOR SALE—A moderately priced house on the north side within the charmed circle. Already rented for next season and the rent goes to the buyer. Large lot, two baths and all the modern improvements. Terms. Come early if you want this good investment. 5tf J. Milo Eston.

400 TYPEWRITERS

REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Home during vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

List Your Property.

Mrs. J. S. Baker requests that all persons desiring her to handle the renting or leasing of cottages or rooms, list their property at once. This includes furnished cottages, rooms for light housekeeping, furnished rooms, with or without meals, etc. List them carefully and send them to Mrs. J. S. Baker, Hotel Granada, St. Augustine, Florida.—Adv. 6t2.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.

Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Soul."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.

Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

Baptist Church.

A. M.—"Dreaming."
P. M.—"Night, Twilight, Day."
Bible school 12 m. Class organization work. Let every member of every class be present.
Blue Bird Society at 3:00 o'clock p. m. All children are welcome.
B. Y. P. U. at 6:00 o'clock. A rousing big time. Mrs. Bearss will begin the Christian Culture Course. Introduction to Book One.
Afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The pastor will preach a memorial to Mrs. Baker at Burgess. She was the oldest of membership and left earth for Heaven last Monday.
Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

Miller's Specials.

Oleomargarine, lb 25c
4 pkgs Corn Flakes 25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps 25c
4 lbs. Hand Rice 25c
Adv.7tf MRS. B. W. MILLER.

Perfection Smokeless Oil Heaters

An Oil Heater may be used to aavantage during any season of the year. There are days when a little heat is desired in certain rooms, the Bath-room, Sewing-room or Nursery may need a little extra heat. The Oil Healer furnishes this quickly and can be instantly extinguished. As a supplementary heater in the winter it always finds a place. The Perfection Oil Heater represents the latest development in such devices. It has received attention in the minutest detail of construction. It is equipped with an automatically-locking smokeless device No danger of the flame climbing and the heater smoking It is Safe, Strong and Clean and will give you satisfaction.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Will Ripley went to Alma, Friday last, on a business trip.

J. E. Redmond left Tuesday for Ann Arbor on business.

Miss Lillian Emrey spent Saturday and Sunday in Petoskey, visiting friends.

Charles Danto left Tuesday afternoon for Detroit on a visit to his daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Priest spent Saturday and Sunday in Petoskey with friends.

E. N. Clink of East Jordan, was in the city Tuesday on business at the court house.

Henry Jacobs bought a Ford car with delivery body from Benjamin Brown last week.

Mrs. Cornelia E. Bailey left Thursday for a two weeks' visit to friends in Chicago.

Mrs. George Priest left Tuesday for a weeks' trip to Detroit, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Ray Dorrance and wife returned to their home in Mackinac City on Thursday of last week.

B. A. Herman left Friday morning for a month's trip to Grand Rapids, St. Joseph and Chicago.

The Loyal Order of Moose gave a dance and supper at the Odd Fellow hall last Monday evening.

Mrs. E. S. Blodgett leaves Thursday for Detroit, where she expects to spend the remainder of the winter.

Dr. A. A. Swinton of the Argo Milling Co., visited their East Jordan and Central Lake mills last week Friday.

Hon. W. J.Pearson of Boyne Falls, was here over Friday and Saturday attending the Republican county convention.

M. E. Bergy, of Bergy Brothers, Boyne City, was here over Friday and Saturday, attending the county convention.

John Slezak has moved his shoe shop from the Wood barn on Bridge street to the ald bakery south of Carr's Millinery store.

H. Kauffman has opened up offices in the hakery building, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, having moved them from his home.

Henry Gregory and wife return this week to their home in Flint, after a three week's visit to Mrs. Gregory's fsther, Charles Seibert.

Mrs. E. L. Dawson returned Monday from Petoskey, where she has been taking treatment at the Saville Sanitarium for the past two weeks.

Orson Everets, who went to Traverse City, Friday, to take tha examinstions for railway mail clerk, returned to Charlevoix Monday aight.

F. J. Meech returned Tuesday of last week from Battle Creek, where he attended the Supervisors and Assessors convention, called by the state tax commission.

R. A. Emrey, Charles Novak, Oluf Nordrum, O. D. Hammond, Capt. William Finucan and Ralph Washburn attended the Elk's banquet at Petoskey, Friday night.

Capt. James Sanford and wife returned Tuesday from Grand Rapids, where Mrs. Sanford has been in the Mercy hospital since Christmas convalescing from an operation.

Mrs. John Ackert, Jr., arrived in the city Monday for n few days visit with relatives, before returning to Manistee, where she and Mr. Ackert are now permanently located.

Coldest weather so far this week, 29 below. Good weather for plumbers but tough on the coal bin. Telegraphic reports say south winds and warmer, so we can take heart.

Rev. Lloyd C. Vinyard has removed to the Hotel Charlevoix, where he will make his headquarters for an indefinite period. Phone him at Number 8, or call at the hotel.

The coming holiday, Washington's birthday, February 22, the city carriers will make one business delivery. The general delivery and carriers' windows will be open from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m.

Mrs. H. A. Biossat and her grandson, Master Norman Ford, returned Tuesday morning to their home in Chicago, after a three months' visit here to her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Biossat.

On account of the train blockade, J. Leahy, the optometrist, was unable to keep his appointment here last week, so he has arranged to be here next Monday, February 19. Office at the Hotel Charlevoix.

Will Seymour, who has been living on his farm near Atwood since December last, has rented his place to a party who has bought his cattle, hay and farm machinery. Mr. Seymour will remove to Charlevoix with his family.

Is anybody feeding the sea gulls nowadays? Here's a job for the Boy Scouts. The sea gulls are our most valuable scavangers and should be encouraged these cold days when ice is plentiful and food hard to find. Oluf! Oluf!

Mr. and Mrs. T. George Finucan, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Weaver, left Tuesday morning for Grand Rapids, where Mr. Finucan will attend the state Democratic convention. Miss Weaver will go on to Alma and Coleman to visit friends. They expect to be away about a week.

It is reported that Grand Traverse and other counties are planning to plant their jack pine lands to poplar trees. It is estimated that trees planted now will be ready for cutting in 20 years aad that a forty acre field would yield a profit of close to $48,000 at the end of 20 years.

You are going to need some new curtains in the spring. Why not be optomistic and make your selection now and have them made up when you will need them. It is our pleasure to offer extra-ordinary values to the purchasing public for a special sale for Curtain Materials in Madras, Voile, Plain, Marquisette and Scrim with Plain and Colored Borders:

FRIDAY and SATURDAY SPECIAL

50 Cent Values for . . . 39c
35 Cent Values for . . . 29c
25 Cent Values for . . . 19c
20 Cent Values for . . . 15c
15 Cent Values for . . . 10c

These two days will see this line of Materials cleaned out as is the usual custom with our two-day sales.

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

GRIMS REAPER CALLS ANOTHER PIONEER

Mrs. Mary Baker Died at Home of Daughter in Hayes.

Charlevoix county lost another of its pioneer residents in the deatb of Mrs. Mary Baker, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Gregory, in Hayes township, last Monday morning at 4:30 o'clock, the result of a stroke of paralysis which came upon her some two weeks ago.

Mnry Brazell was born June 19, 1833, at Carmanshire, South Wales, and came to America with her parents when she was two years old. The family located at London, Ontario, where she was married to William Sims Baker, July 11, 1856. Ten years later she and her husband removed to the United States and settled at Dearborn, Michigan, where they lived for nine years. They came to the Grand Traverse region in 1875, going onto a farm in Norwood township. Nine years later, in 1884, they moved to the farm in Hayes township, which has been the home of the deceased for the psst 33 years. Mr. Baker died about 13 years ago.

Seven children were born to Mrs. Baker, of whom four survive her—William H. Baker, Mrs. Ella Gregory and Mrs. Celestie Hamlin of Hayes, and Mrs. Jennie Waite of Manton, Michigan. She was an aunt of John S. Baker of Charlevoix.

The funeral was held at ten o'clock Wednesday, from the house, Rev. Lloyd C. Vinyard, officiating.

Feed and Flax Seed Grinding.

Corn on cob and small grains. Grinding Tuesdays and Saturdays. N. W. Smith, State street.—Adv. 7t4.

THE COUNTY FINANCES.

Report of County Treasurer for Month of January.

A complete financial report of the county's receipts and disbursementa for the month of January is given by George W. Weaver, county treasurer:

Receipts.

Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1917	$10,228.53
Reeeived from delinquent taxes	1,156.26
Ree'd from redemption certificates	52.83
Rec'd from general fund	35
Rec'd from poor fund	18.70
Rec'd from State and county taxes	88,145.68
Rec'd from library fund	21.15
Rec'd from Circuit court fund	2.00
Rec'd from Resident Hunter's License	22.50
Rec'd from Teachers Institute fees	62.00
Ree'd from County Road reward	1,592.50
Rec'd from Interest on deposits	7.60
Rec'd from Mortgage tax	108.00
Ree'd from State for Automobile tax	330.42
Total	$101,748.52

Dishursements.

Paid General Fund	$25,218.78
Paid Poor Fund	1,165.28
Paid Mortgage Tax to State	47.25
Paid cities, townships aad villages for delinquent taxes	3,360.10
Paid Teachers Institute fees	109.75
Paid Inheritance Tax	106.00
Paid State of Michigan for State tax	18,000.00
Paid Ionia State Hospital	49.54
Paid County Road Orders	4,090.69
Cash on hand	49,601.13
Total	$101,748.52

We want baled straw. Argo Milling Co.—Adv.7t1

Catching and Taming Elephants.

Ia Ceylon the nalives capture wild elephaats by lassolag them aud tying their hind legs to trees Thus tied, they are left to struggle for four or five days. If the ropes be well secured aad kaotted the animals struggla In vain, for they are unable to exert their full strength toward getting free. Whea they have grown tired of the fruitless fight they are tied hy the neck between two tame elephants and marched off to the tea plaatations or the railroad, where they are put to work. Under the tuition of tame elephaats they learn rapidly to perform the labor that is required of them and soon are able to lay railroad ties secrately.

Don't forget the Firemen's Annual Masquerade Ball, Thursday, February 22nd.—Adv.7t1.

Scott's Lama Leg.

Sir Walter Scott was a cripple, yet in spite of his disahility waa a most active maa. Oae night la his early boyhood he was chased rouad the room by his mother, who wished to pack him off to bed.

Ia the morniag he waa affected with fever, and after three days it was found that he had lost the nse of his right leg. He never wholly recovered tha ase of this liaib and alwsys walked lame, with a heavy step. Yet he was very active as he grew up, fighting and climbing with the other boys.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

Eighth Grade Class Poem.

We are the class of '17
With thirty-five enrolled,
We are going to climb to the very height,
'Till we reach the given goal;
We are going to work and going to strife,
For we're a class that's all alive.
Ta introduce each one we'll try
You'll know them better by and bye.

Kate Geer and Nita Shearer
To us all are very dear.
Lawrence Taylur and Lyman Bruwn,
Are two of our boys that are never down.

Alson Bugbee and Halverson,
You'll always find them brim full of fun;
Esther Powell and Majorie Myors
Are girls who's minds are bright as fire.

Margaret Hull and Clara O'Neil
Will always give you the fairest deal;
Edith Hanahew and Effie Gornell,
Are two who, are never naught but well.

Alice and Iva are very good girls,
But sad to relate, they have no curls;
Richard Paddock and Donald King,
Are good in school and everything.

Dick Hammett and Clarenco Miles,
Are ever swimming over with smiles;
Margaret Milner and Thelma Reed,
Are often ahead when it comes to speed.

Hildergard and Katherine,
We'll introduce to you;
They de well in their studies,
And help each other, too.

Ruth Solomon and Marion Sears,
Never miss their lessons nor cause us tears.
Eleanor Gravelin and Pearl Durance,
In their studies are far in advance.

Vera Dutcher and Mamie Bennett,
If they keep on working they'll get in the senate;
Robert Burns, our greatest poet,
When he tells us anything you're sure to know it.

Elmo Helms, who rings the bell,
His head's so big it couldn't swell;
Oh, Helen Webster, with her pretty hair,
She's not too dark nor too fair.

Now you've beard a little of each of our class,
And Vivian nnd Fern will come at last;
There is nothing left for poor little we.

So in the farthest corner we'll be,
We'll do our best, our very best;
And to our teacher leave the rest.
So much for the class of '21,
Who's record has but just begun.
—Contributed.

Don't forget the Firemen's Annual Masquerade Ball, Thursday, February 22nd.—Adv.7t1.

Clinton Cooper, who was taken seriously ill Saturday night, is now improving. It was feared that he bad pneumonia, but this diagnosis proved to be incorrect.

Frank Hardy, formerly of Charlevoix, now residing in Flint, has been very ill for some time, but is slowly recovering. Miss Eva Cram is the narse in charge of the case.

Leo P. Coatta left for his home in Chicago, Monday morning, after a three weeks visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Costta of this city. Before coming to Charlevoix he had spent some time in Detroit, visiting his sister, Mrs. E. A. Sheldon and brother, Frank, Jr., who is attending the automobile school in that city.

Little Kathleen Marie McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. McCall, Jr., celebrated her third birthday at her home, 110 Hurlbut avenue, Tuesday evening last. Eight little tots were present to congratulate Miss Kathleen and partake of the all-important cake and other goodies. They left many nice presents for the fortunate young lady, whose anniversary had proven so enjoyable an avent.

See us for your Job Printing.

J. L. Crane

Our Blouse Department is destined to be more popular this year that at any time in the past

One of the New Welworth Blouses on Sale Tomorrow

Welsworth Blouses are Sold Here Exclusively

WE will still be able to avail ourselves of the same source of supply as last year—and because of the fact that the increase in material costs has been in part offset by manufacturing economies—our values will be relatively better than evef before.

New Welworth Blouses--concededly the best of all $2.00 Blouses on sale tomorrow

SATURDAY SPECIAL

3 lbs. Ginger Snaps for 25c
3 Large Grapefruit for 25c
10 Bars Dandy Soap for 25c
6 Cans Sunbrite Cleanser for 25c

H. B. JACOBS

Succcssor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street

MR FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. George Bacot is visiting Mrs. W. E. Campbell in Flint this week.

Capt. C. N. Smith of the state game and fish patrol, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Beer of Traverse City, are guests at the Hotel Charlevoix this week.

James Gaskins, Jr., of Detroit, who has been seriously ill for some time, is now reported as better.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Driggett are in Detroit this week, visiting their son, William, Jr., and wife.

The water tank on the Pere Marquette froze up Tuesday, and engines got their supply at the Rock Product company.

Miss Mary Clarke returned last week from Ludington, where she has been visiting Rev. Holden A. Putnam and family.

Born, Sunday, February 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weikel, formerly of Charlevoix and now residing in East Jordan, a baby boy.

Thos. L. Bryant of Pellston, deputy state game warden, and J. H. Stephenson of Boyne Falls, put up at the Hotel Charlevoix Tuesday night.

On February 15 the Charlevoix County Bank will mail tha third number of the vocational series. Thia number treats with law as a vocation and will be found intereating and instructive.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acctylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clsrence J. Withera, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fawler's Garage

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, Feb. 20th

"BIG TREMAINE"

Fealuring Harnld Lockwood and May Allison

Thursday, Feb. 22nd

"THE COME BACK"

Harnld Lockwood

Flour Specials

Flour has been high all winter and even now the priee is beyond the eonsumers reaeh. We suggest that yon stock up on one or more of the following brands we mention below, thus taking advantage of the Speeial Low Price we are quoting.

Gold Medal

Lily White

Producer

White Lily

Good flours are all of these, and the special reduetion we are making will make them a far greater value to you than heretofore. Ask for prices and let us prove our statement.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old eustomers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreeiative eourtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will eome again. We handle everything a general store must earry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries

Come to this store for Clothing

Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produee and pay the prevailing priees. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS

Phe ps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

FARMERS:

DEPOSIT your cream and produce checks on a checking account at your home Bank. Let us explain to you this system of doing business properly and see if at the end of a year you are not satisfied. You will have a complete record of all transactions. Any deposit over $5 will be accepted as a first deposit on a checking account.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responsibility, $300,000.00

G. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Accounts if Left 3 Months

A Message for You!

The cnld winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Ruhhers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you need Blankets, Pillows nr Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

Watch this space next week for Specials

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

HAS RECEIVED HIS DISCHARGE

ORRIS CARPENTER ARRIVED HOME THURSDAY.

Petterson and Chellis Should Take Action to Hold Ground Already Captured.

Orris Carpenter, late private of Co. I, 33rd Mich. Inf., blew into town last Thursday afternoon, looking like a brigadier general and feeling fine.

Orris was discharged some time ago for disahility, and stopped on his way home to visit relatives in Ohio, but owing to his "civilians" being sent home from Grayling, he was still wearing his war paint when he arrived here. He says he has seen a lot of country, hut that good, old Michigan looks best to him and the best part of Michigan is the old farm. He says he likes to soldier, but hereafter prefers to do it on said farm.

Nevertheless it surs seems good to see him back again, and the only regret is that the balance of the boys were not with him.

It is not our intention at this time to encourage desertion from the U. S. army, but a uniform is a uniform and we think that two members of Co. I, namely, Sergeant Patterson and Corporal Chellis would do well to take some action to hold the ground already captured.

George Hunter, true to his promise to look after the interests of said Patterson and Chellis during their absence, has dug himself in and claims be will fight to the last ditch to see that neutrality is not violated, but says that international complications may arise at any time that will cause him to turn the job over to some less trustworthy person.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and we hope this paper reaches the camp of the 33rd at El Paso before it is too late.

Road Improvement In New York State.

New York towns and counties placed contracts for nearly 200 miles of concrete streets and roads last year, and more than 110 miles of these were completed during the year. Contracts were let in thirty-two counties for 2,291,958 square yards of concrete paving, sufficient for 244 miles of sixteen foot paved surface. At the end of the year 1,320,638 square yards had been completed, equivalent to 140 miles of sixteen foot roads. Many of the pieces of road were put down in towns and were more than sixteen feet wide, so the actual mileage completed was a little more than 110.

Suffolk county, N. Y., led, with 233,833 square yards, or about twenty miles; Niagara county was next, with 189,474 square yards, or about eighteen miles; Erie county third, with 168,256 square yards, or fifteen miles; Cattaraugus county fourth, with twelve miles, and Chautauqua county fifth, with nine miles.

Lights on Lincoln Highway.

It is announced that the section of the Lincoln highway between Aurora and Geneva, Ill., a distance of ten miles, is to be electrically lighted for the benefit of travelers at night. Through the city of Aurora the highway is already marked by colored lights, these being supplied by the local automobile club. The street car company furnishes the electric power. The township voters adjoining Sterling, Ill., recently passed a bond issue of $00,000 for the paving of a three mile section of the Lincoln highway just outside of that city. The roadway will be of brick, eighteen feet wide, and by July 1, 1916, the entire Lincoln highway route through the township will be paved in the same manner, the entire job costing $225,000. A celebration is planned for next July in honor of the fact that this is the first Illinois community to complete paving its part of the national road.

Climbing the Ladder.

"Take a good look at this ladder, my boy."

"What for?"

"And then remember that if it were possible to get to the top at a single bound there would be no need for the bottom rungs."—Detroit Free Press.

Good Enough.

"Do you think you can support my daughter in the style to which she has become accustomed?"

"No, sir, but I think I can support her in the style to which her mother had to become accustomed when she got married."—Pittsburgh Press.

Paradoxical Content.

"I feel safe from accident on this train."

"Why so?"

"Because it is in charge of an engineer who has the reputation of being a wreckless one." — Baltimore American.

Hub—The doctor says if I keep on working at this pace after money I shall be a wreck at forty-five. Wife—Never mind, dear; by that time we shall be able to afford it. — Boston Transcript.

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 16, 1896.

The "City of Bellaire" made her first trip on the lakes on Thursday. Capt. Fred Smith says he can go to Bellaire and back now without stopping to feed.

Richard Gidley's family have moved to Empire.

Dr. Bodle of Bellaire visited Ellsworth, professionally, on Thursday.

A. E. Pickard is clerking for F. H. Skow.

The Maccabees will have a maple sugar social and dance on Friday night. Bring your best girl and get sweetened up.

Presiding Elder Kellog preached at the M. E. church last Sunday.

A minstrel show is in progress. Look for particulars later.

The Ellsworth Lumber Co.'s saw mill started up Thursday.

Most everybody gets a case of local option about once a week. It tastes good these warm days.

Notice.

The Citizens Bank of Ellsworth will be closed all day February 22, Washington's Birthday.—Adv.7t1

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

Dear Editor—To enlighten the gentleman who signs himself "One Interested in Dairying," it will be necessary for me to submit one more article.

The cows in question when "Average Farmer" commenced our series were to be average farm herd, regardless of conformation, capacity, type or breed.

Now in regard to our cows and the ration we feed, you assume that we feed clover hay, which we admit would balance the ration for 22 lb. cows. Now please read over my last article, and you will notice our cows are 30 pound cows. Add to this the fact that we are feeding 10 pounds of corn stover and five pounds of mixed hay per day, and look up your rules in your text hook and you will find we are not feeding a balanced ration.

Now you claim to be interested in dairying. If you are actively interested, very good, but if not, my advice would be, commence soon. It took us 13 years to develop the herd we have, and we are still trying to improve it.

To develop a good herd it will be necessary to do more than follow rules laid down by a cow judging or a feeding text book. We find that the practice of dairying differs largely from the theory of dairying.

"Not Average Farmer."

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Frank Supernaw visited his wife at Petoskey on Saturday.

L. Aardema of Phelps was an Ellsworth visitor on Saturday.

Ed Moblo of Traverse City, was in town several days last week.

Oscar Larsen is spending a few days in town visiting his parents.

Martin Wieland of East Jordan, was in Ellsworth Snturday night.

Louis VanSkiver attended the Elks supper at Petoskey last Friday evening.

Bert Martin is home again after working the last six weeks at Boyne City.

John Cooper purchased a team from Henry Dixon one day this week.

Dr. Varden of East Jordan has been in town several times the past week.

Henry Dixon of Phelps, was in Ellsworth on business on Tuesday of this week.

The Indies nid society of the M. E. church met last Thursday with Mrs. E. J. Chellis.

Rev. George Bradford of the Soo, is spending a few days visiting his parents at this place.

S. S. Sigler of Central Lake, was in town the first of the week, loading scrap iron for Harry Feiner.

Bert Martin has sold his team to Jay Walker and will go to Boyne City this week to work in a saw mill.

Henry and Albert Elzinga spent Friday of last week visiting their brother, James, at his home in Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Boss are entertaining their daughter, Helen, and friend, Miss Henderson of Petoskey, this week.

Robert, the little grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Nelson, has been very ill the past week, but is much improved at present. Dr. Varden is handling the case.

E. H. Boss has finished cutting and hauling wood and now has a gang of men busy loading cars for shipment of same.

Don't fail to attend the supper given by the Epworth League of the M. E. church, at Boss hall, Friday evening, February 16.

Frank Shannon of Traverse City, has been spending several days at the New Orient, while buying logs in and around Ellsworth.

Ethan Jolliffee returned Thursday from Lansing, where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Charles Edison, for the last week.

Frank Boss has purchased the Wrisley farm of F. H. Skow. Mr. Boss has been living on this farm as a renter for some time.

Mrs. Holliday, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. C. Townsend, the last two weeks, has returned to her home in East Jordan.

John Essenberg returned from Grand Rapids, Thursday afternoon, bringing with him his daughter, Rose, who has been very ill with appendicitis.

N. P. Griffin started on Tuesday morning for a visit at the old home at Grand Junction, Michigan, to visit his mother and also attend the family reunion.

Miss Ruth Carpenter, teacher at the Echo school, spent from Friday until Sunday, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carpenter, on their farm west of town.

A. C. Belding, Antrim County school commissioner, was in town on Monday of this week. He was accompanied by Truant Officer E. H. Maltby, also from the county seat.

John Newland was held in Traverse City from Saturday until Tuesday by the snow blockade on his return from Detroit, where he has been visiting relatives the last ten days.

Several from out of town attended the dancing party at the Blue Store hall, Friday night, and all consider themselves well repaid for their trip over the almost impassible ronds.

Mrs. Frank Supernaw, who was taken to the Lockwood hospital at Petoskey by Dr. Wilkinson of Charlevoix last week, suffering from appendicitis, is recovering from the operation very nicely.

Rev. Kridler of Traverse City, who takes the place of Rev. B. O. Shattuck, as pastor of the Holiness church, arrived on Friday with his family and household goods and is now nicely settled in the parsonage.

The following were elected delegates to the county convention at the caucus held at Boss Hall last Saturday: D. E. Carpenter, E. R. Harris, M. Struik, H.J. Timmer, L. VanSkiver, E. H. Boss and J. H. Elzinga.

Members of the L. M. U. to the number of about 15 enjoyed a sleigh ride to the home of E. J. Chellis last Saturday night, where they were entertained by Miss Ruth Chellis, she being a charter member of the organization.

Misfortunes never come singly, is an old saying, and it has proven true in the case of Albert Sneller of Atwood. Mr. Sneller's wife is just beginning to recover from an operation for appendicitis, and now his baby is very sick with pneumonia.

Miss Mildred Westrate was agreeably surprised last Wednesday evening by a jolly party of her girl friends. The evening was spent in games and music and at a late hour the party dispersed. Mildred will be greatly missed by her school friends, with whom she is a great favorite.

Mrs. J. C. Westrate and children left for their new home in Holland last Friday, but will visit friends and relatives in Zeeland for a few days, or until their furniture arrives. John loaded their furniture on Saturday and will leave some time this week. Mr. and Mrs. Westrate have been very popular while in Ellsworth and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home.

A deal was closed one day last week whereby Mr. Slough once more became the owner of the house on Harris street, now occupied by M. R. Nelson. The deal was made through our local real estate agent, Glen C. Townsend, and is only one of the many made each year by this hustling, up-to-date young business man. This property was originally owned by Mr. Slough, but was sold by him when he left Ellsworth about six years ago. He expects to take possession about the first of April.

M. R. Nelson and son, Ray, returned home Tuesday afternoon of last week, after being snow-bonnd at Traverse City from Saturday until Tuesday. Ray says he slept nearly all the time he was at Traverse City, but says that his father met "Tom and Jerry," two old friends of his, almost as soon as the train arrived at the station, and spent most of his time while there visiting with them. Ray says he asked his father what the gentlemen's last names were, but was told he could not be introduced until he was somewhat wiser and older.

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

A few cases of whooping cough have been reported.

Mrs. Isa Alward and daughter, Ethel, spent Tuesday evening at the Jacob Bergsma home.

The Misses Ruth Chellis and Lottie Wright visited at the Alward home Wednesday evening of last week.

Henry Myers went to Traverse City last week, where he expects to work in a ware house. His father, William Myers, also went with him.

Sunday some of the folks wished for a south wind, as the north wind was so cold. Monday morning we got our south wind alright, but it was 34 degrees below zero.

A meeting is to be held at the school house Friday evening to vote on consolidating with the Ellsworth district. A good attendance is expected, as everyone seems to be interested on the subject.

Frank Boss has purchased the farm which he has occupied as a renter for some time. The farm is known by the older residents of this section as the B. F. Wrisley place, and was owned by F. H. Skow of Ellsworth.

School Notes.

Ida Bergsma is absent from school on account of sickness.

The 3rd grade wrote a story of the life of Abraham Lincoln last week.

The children have been making valentines and Lincoln souvenirs this week.

We are going to have a valentine box at school Wednesday afternoon, and also a few exercises on the life of Lincoln.

Those who received certificates for the month of January are: Ida and John Bergsma, Walter and Bruce McElroy, Bertha, Manard and Charley Alward, Otto Feltenbarger and Charles Dewey.

The children have rescued their Christmas tree and have made it a Christmas tree for the birds. They fastened suet to the tree and scattered crumbs on the snow at noon. Now we have some little feathered friends with us all through the day and it is very interesting to watch them.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL.

No mail for the last few days. We all hope the weather will soon be settled.

Although Friday night was rather cold, a fairly good crowd turned out to the social, which was given by the Sunday school. The amount made was $6.05.

The school made silhouettes of Lincoln and Washington last Wednesday.

Last Monday we devoted one hour to our great patriot, statesman and martyr, Abraham Lincoln. Our exercises began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence and ended with the singing of "America." Different selections were read by our teacher and also by some of the pupils.

We are now learning the poem, "Paul Revere's Ride," which we are reciting in unison.

The seventh and eighth grades wrote a description of their imaginary trip on an iron ore boat from some point in the upper peninsula to East Jordan. Some of the write-ups were very good, which shows the good imagination which some possesses.

Little Vera Stanley has been absent from school for the past week on account of a cold.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.

Lecturer—Max A. Brail.

Secretary—Emily Wieland.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

MILES DISTRICT

(Too lato for last week.)

Frank LaLonde and Robert Cook are cutting wood this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Carr are visiting their sister, Mrs. James Richards at Bellaire.

Hurrah for February, a month of historical birthdays also frozen fingers and ears.

Lorence Isnman and family spent a very enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Streuke on Sunday.

Several of the people in our district attended the funeral of Mrs. Strong, who died at her home in East Jordan Saturday.

School Notes.

A new desk arrived last Monday. We all enjoyed it very much, not only because it was a new desk, but that we bought it ourselves.

The Turkey Club at Milca school gave us a very pleasant surprise Friday afternoon. We all enjoyed a treat of splendid home made candy and popcorn.

We don't mind the big snowdrifts as the farmers are kind enough to take us, both to and from school.

Two pupils, Viola Thomas and Ruby Slack received a large certificate of award for being neither absent nor tardy for four months.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

WILDWOOD

(Too late for last week)

Plenty of snow and wind, but not much news this week.

Several from here attended the Larsen sale last week.

School was "called off" this week on account of the storm.

Clarence Fales is busy finishing the inside of their new house.

Duncan Crawford is helping Mrs. Stevens with the chores these days.

Chas. Cornwell is busy hustling the life insurance proposition this winter. Jack VanOrman is doing his chores while he is away.

Jim Sinclair has been having a tussle with the grippe. He is stopping at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Crawford, at the same time.

The neighborhood was in quite a state of excitement last Wednesday evening over the appearance of fire in the direction of Bert Sinclair's house, which proved to be, however, the severe burning out of the chimney.

HILLERVILLE.

(Too late for last week.)

Miss Ida Reamsma walked home Sunday to see her sister, Gertie.

Miss Gertrude Jansen and sister, Rosie, called on Mrs. John Visser, Sunday.

Gertrude Jansen spent Monday afternoon at the home of Garret VanderArk.

Rosie Jansen and Eeveline Ruis spent Monday afternoon with Gertie Reamsma.

Henry Reamsma called at the home of his brother, Joe. one day last week.

Joe Reamsma and Lucy and Gertie, spent Monday evening at the home of Henry Reamsma.

Miss Gertrude Jansen and Gertie Reamsma spent Sunday at their homes near Ellsworth. They returned to Charlevoix, Tuesday, where they are working.

Miss Gertrude Jansen and Gertie Reamsma went to visit the former's sister, Mrs. Jake Drent, on the east side of Ellsworth. While waiting for the train the first thing the girls knew, the snow plow went through. Did you ever see girls run? Well, come to Ellsworth—they run there, when there is a train coming that they wish to catch. Girls, come again; you are welcome to our city —but don't run.

MAPLEVILLE.

Siebo Brock is home from Grand Rapids for a visit.

C. Sprik returned Tuesday from Jamestown, where he attended the funeral of his brother.

A. Newland returned last week from Detroit, where he went to see his daughter-in-law, who is very ill.

Rev. Boer, who was to have preached at the Dutch Reform church last Sunday, could not come on account of bad roads.

ESSEX NOTES.

Mrs. Dean is visiting her daughter at Boyne City.

Ida Hennip is taking music lessons of Mrs. James VandenBerg.

Mr. Drenth and Mr. Hoogerwerf are hauling wood for the school.

Miss Beth Strehl went to Charlevoix, Saturday, to do some shopping.

Mrs. Paul Elkema returned home after a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. George Drenth.

Miss Emily Wieland, John and Beatrice, spent Sunday afternoon with Edward Tillotson.

Miss Helen Cooper is working at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Townsend in Ellsworth.

John Wieland attended a Valentine party at the home of Max A. Brnil, Friday evening.

Mrs. Chellis entertained the ladies aid Thursday, all day. A bounteous dinner was enjoyed by all present.

In spite of the stormy weather and bad roads, our mailman has been very faithful in making his rounds.

Miss Ruth Chellis entertained the L. M. U. Saturday eveaing. All report a good time. All enjoyed the refreshments, especially Gladys, who had her fill of pickles and milk. We are wondering if she still exists.

School Notes.

Isobel Bowman has the whooping cough.

Jennie Hoogerwerf started to school last week Tuesday.

The children are making valentine posters.

School attendance has been small on account of stormy weather.

RANNEY DISTRICT.

This is sure some winter.

Mrs. Nathan Liskum has been entertaining the grippe.

No mail most of last week on account of such bad roads.

Wellington Baker was called home from Springvale on account of Mrs. Baker's illness.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. James Nice, a very nice baby boy, on February 4, who will be known as Lewis.

People are always glad to see autumn leaves, but they are a great deal happier when winter leaves.

There was a deal closed a short time ago whereby Mr. Waterman, one of our city business men, bought Silas Lanway's 130 acre farm. It is a fine location.

Everyone regrets the death of Melvin Roy, as nearly everyone around here knew him as a boy. He was well liked and respected. His parents have the sympathy of all.

ROCK ELM.

Mrs. LaCroix's mother has been quite sick, but is better now.

Mr. Metz and son broke the road from their place to the school house Saturday.

Mrs. Hudkins was called from home by the sickness and death of her mother.

Mrs. Nelson, who has been having a light attack of the grippe, is better at this writing.

Mrs. Shaw was called to East Jordan recently by the sickness and death of her mother, Mrs. Strong.

We hope the editor has been able to survive the recent cold wave, and that his troubles will soon be forgotten in more genial weather.

Rock Elm School Notes.

Owing to sickness and the severety of the storm, only four pupils were able to attend school on Monday of last week. Eleven was the largest number present any day durin the week. We hope the sick ones will soon be able to be back in school and that old King Winter will loosen his grip a little and let as have a little milder weather.

At the Bird Club meeting Friday afternoon, Mr. Dewey read a description of the work being done for the birds in St. Paul, Minnesota, by the eight thousand boys and girls in the sixth grade.

Two of the boys while looking through an opera glass, discovered some birds that were about the size of robins, but bright yellow in color, with black rings around their necks and some black markings on their wings. Their call was similar to that of the quail.

The pupils all enjoy having something hot with their lunches these cold days.

ANTRIM.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith are ill with la grippe.

R. Baumbach went to Central Lake, Saturday.

Vernie Jones is helping Will Knight cut wood.

Frank Mason and Will Knight butchered hogs Thursday.

Harry Rice has gone to a Mt. Clemens sanitarium for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Simons drove to Central Lake, Thursday.

Fred Brook arrived home Tuesday for a visit. The cold in Detroit prohibits work out of doors.

R. Baumbach broke road to Charlevoix, Monday. North of Norwood there was a mile and a half that took him three hours to travel over.

MILES DISTRICT.

Did the ground hog see his shadow? It looks as if he did.

Mrs. John Sherman spent Saturday with Mrs. LeRoy Fowler.

Oh, such cold weather, but nothing frightens our mail carrier.

Frank Stewart and family were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaLonde.

Mrs. Carr has returned home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Richards of Bellaire.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nice, February 13, and left a big baby boy. Mother and son are doing nicely.

School Notes.

Several boys and girls have received large diplomas for home credit work.

Everyone is eagerly looking forward to our Valentine box.

A new desk and chair makes our school house look somewhat better.

The primary department made flags for their busy work last week.

We want to buy your wood. Come in and see us. Ellsworth Produce Co.—Adv.7tf.

PHELPS.

John Houstra called on John Boss, Sunday.

Miss Winnie Zetzma is working at the beanery again.

Fred and John Boss went to Ellsworth on business Saturday.

Sebio Veenstra helped John Zelstra kill a large hog Thursday.

Peter Sager went to Traverse City Saturday, for a few days' stay.

Tom Matchett has purchased a swing cut-off saw from Tom Jensen.

Cornelius Zelstra and son, John, visited at the John DeGroot home at Atwood, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., called at the home of Lawrence Boss Thursday of last week.

Miss Maud Brown of Traverse City, is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Christ Drost.

Mr. and Mrs. John Zelstra and family visited at the home of John Boss, Sr., Wednesday of last week.

Henry Petter is moving from the Dixon farm to the Hull farm at Marion Center. Some cold job, Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Klooster visited at the home of Mrs. Klooster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson, one day last week.

Miss Geneva Jackson has returned from Charlevoix, where she has been working the past three months, returning last Tuesday.

Ralph Davis went to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Saturday, with a few car loads of potatoes. Nice weather for that game just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Red Aardema called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., Sunday, and going to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boss' Monday.

Mrs. Williams, who has been spending the past few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Davis, returned to her home in Ellsworth, Friday.

Marion Davis, who has been attending school at Big Rapids for the past six weeks, returned home Friday for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis.

Rev. Boer of Grand Rapids, who has been preaching at the Dutch Reforme church at South Barnard the past two Sundays, returned to his home on Tuesday of last week.

A certain young man was seen riding one of his mules one of these cold nights last week. It must have been too far to walk, but why not take the cutter? Oh, she may want to go for a cutter ride. Hee Haw! and her name was not Maud.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Petter and Nina Preston had another lucky strike when they turned turtle with their cutter the other day. This is the second time in the last few weeks. Not very pleasant in the snow at 20 below zero. You'll do the same thing over.

Orson Everets went to Traverse City, Thursday, to take the examination for rail road mail clerk. Mr. Everets has been for some time R. F. D. carrier on one of the Charlevoix routes. Friends and neighbors hope to soon hear that his examination was successful.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist, Ask for CHI-CHES-TER-S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ATWOOD.

Twenty-one below zero Monday in Atwood. Brrr!

Joe Veenstra went to Ellsworth last Tuesday on business.

Wesley Vsonstra arrived home from Grand Rapids last week.

Seymour Bennett delivered a load of pigs to Atwood Monday morning.

Charles Warner was in Atwood doing his trading Saturday.

Miss Vera Stebbins of Eastport, was in our village last week.

Almond Yettaw has been breaking roads on Route No. 2 the past few weeks.

Andrew Essenburg drove his fathers team to Ellsworth last Thursday morning.

The singing society met last Friday and the catechism classes were again resumed.

Albert Sneller's parents from Drenthe, Michigan, are visiting at his home at present.

John VanHouten and R. J. VanderHeide each bought 25 cords of wood of G. Essenburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Essenberg and children called at the Bos' home last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Essenberg, Sr., and daughter, Rose, arrived home last Thursday from Grand Rapids.

Joe Veenstra has rented the Henry Blow farm, between Atwood and Norwood, for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Adema are the proud parents of a baby daughter. The little youngster arrived Saturday.

Godfrey Simons of Antrim City, was in Atwood, Thursday, demonstrating and selling Alladdin Mantle lamps.

Dr. Varden of East Jordan has been in Atwood quite a number of times last week, making professional calls.

Only about half of the cream was delivered at the creamery Monday morning. About the worst roads this winter.

Will Hoffman delivered a beef to H. Klooster and Ben and Minard VanderHeide each brought a veal Monday morning.

Henry Klooster got up in time to read the lowest mark on the thermometer the other day. He's improving in his old age.

Frank Mason butchered a couple of pigs last week. Took them to the village emporium and got 14 cents a pound for them.

Mrs. Bert Weiten and Miss Dena VanderHeide have been working at the Paul DeVries home since the arrival of their little daughter.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sneller has been very low with pneumonia. She appears to be improving now, although she is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. Frank Supernaw was taken to one of the Petoskey hospitals last week to be operated on for appendicitis. Dr. Wilkinson has charge of the case. The last report was that she was doing well.

Russ Alward, our expert fox hunter, is going after a black fox soon. We don't know where. When Russ gets started after a fox he is likely to land most anywhere.

John Bos is sporting a black eye and has some bark off his chin. He claims its frost bites and an accident. He always was a chinning guy. Wonder what he got into this time?

Another stormy Sunday. No meeting at the M. E. church and not very many people out to morning service at the Christian Reform church. The afternoon meeting was well attended.

Henry Klooster went on a buying expedition Saturday. Bought some veal, a beef critter and quite a number of hogs. To judge by the prices and the number of buyers around, there must be a scarcity or a good demand for meats, possibly both.

We read and hear of poor train service and snow bound trains nowadays. How good it seems to us not to be bothered with those things. We are far enough from the railroad so that we can't even hear a train whistle. We will soon be figuring and planning on that electric line again which was to have been started about 30 years ago.

Here we are—back on the job again with the news. Yo editor couldn't keep a secret so he helped along with his snowbound P. M. to "Usher" me back here. Our respected citizen and our senior partner of the Steam Auto Company proved his "Hart-well" and let me off without prosecution, and our village merchant said he would if we would attend "Klooster" (closer) to our business. If I had gotten as far as the Canadian border they would have taken me for a German and I would have been squeezed to death between the U. S. and Canada.

WILDWOOD.

Zero weather—not much doing.

Charles Cornwell was at home a couple of days this week.

John Stevens says the price of spuds in Saginaw is $2.45 per bushel.

D. E. Clow was in this neighborhood on business the first of the week.

Mr. Yeltama is working near Boyne City with his team these days.

Jim Wilson attended the Democratic county convention at Bellaire on Monday.

John Cawood attended the K. of P. blow out at Central Lake one night last week.

Neal Crawford sold a fat steer to Mr. Odell of Central Lake and delivered it Monday.

Little Emily Jane Sinclair is making her home with her aunt, Mrs. John Crawford, so her sister, Mildred, can attend school.

ECHO, DIST. NO. 4.

The lower grades are enjoying "The Story of Sir Galahad" for language work.

Janet and Bertha McMillan returned to school Monday, after about two week's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray and family spent Sunday at the home of Duncan McMillan.

The attendance has been very irregular during the past two weeks because of bad roads and sickness.

Ruth Carpenter spent the week-end at her home near Ellsworth, as Orvis Carpenter arrived Thursday from Ohio.

Miss Lena Murray is expected home Monday from Lockwood hospital, where she has undergone quite a serious operation.

We are planning a district corn or potato growing contest for the coming summer, and everyone seems enthusiastic over it.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Beal and family spent Sunday at the home of M. H. Dingman, where Mrs. Asa Beal is quite sick with la grippe.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chollis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Black mare colt, three years old, weigbt about 1150. I. VanTil, Route 1. 7tf

FOR SALE—30 tons of baled hay and straw; 2 yearling ewes; 5 thoroughbred Barred Rock roosters; 1 mare (with foal) weight 1100; choice Barred Rock eggs for hatching in season. E. R. Harris, Ellsworth, Mich. 6t3

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1917

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.50
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Garden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New Oats	.60
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.20
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$ 9.00 to $10.00
Calves, dressed	10.00 to 12.00
Pork, dressed	14.00 to 15.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb	$ .32
Eggs, per doz	.33
Honey, per lb	.17
Potatoes, per bu	2.00
Salt, per bbl	1.50

Close Up The Open Places

How many farms have open gaps around them where stray and lost cattle or animals can run through and perhaps destroy fields newly sown. You may be one of the few who need take our advice—Fill up that gap---

FENCE

Sturdy wire fence is the material to use. Wire fence costs little more than it did a year ago. Don't hesitate to consider the question, the price is still normal. We offer and recommend Jackson Fence also the well known Peerless Fence. You can secure these fences from us now and we can save you money on them. Why leave your farm subject to invasion by stray animals or take the chance of having your own stock get away. Fence them in---do it early---buy our line of fences and you will be on the right track to prosperity and at the same time improve your farm in looks and add to its future valuation.

W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH - MICHIGAN

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We will have on hand the following seeds to let on contract in the spring:

White Beans
Light and Dark Red Kidney Beans
Garden Beans of most any variety
Buckwheat and Peas

That we will let you have and you can pay for your seed when you sell your crop. Come in and talk it over with us.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.
W. R. NELSON, Manager
PHONE 35 ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

ROBBING THE PUBLIC
—Of Its Vitality.—

Many drugs are placed on the market today that are injurious and often prove the cause of robbing the human body of its vitality, leaving it unfit for its daily work. This drug store does not sell these things. We handle only reliable goods that are proven helps and ones that we are fully acquainted with. Our prescriptions are compounded with the best of drugs and correctness is the man feature of our prescription work. See us when you want pure drugs.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO
Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Mrs. Crapo Badly Burned.

Last Thursday Mrs. Sidney Crapo of Harbor Springs, met with a terrible accident. She was standing near a hot stove when her clothing caught fire. She was in the house alone and rushed to the door to call her husband, the wind fanned the flames, and her clothing was nearly burned off and sho was terribly burned before the flames could be extinguished. Dr, Garnder was called and dressed the burns, but she is in a very serious condition, with some hope of recovery.

Record-Eagle Again Sold.

The Traverse City Record-Eagle was sold last week to the Traverse City Publishing Company, a corporation composed of Austin C. Batdorff, former city editor of the Moon-Journal of Battle Creek; Nelson E. Conine, present president and treasurer, of the Moon-Journal Publishing company; George B. Dilliver, secretary and vice-president of the Moon-Journal Publishing company, and Richard T. Allen, for several years business manager of the Moon-Journal Publishing company. The paper will be managed by Mr. Batdorff as managing editor and Mr. Allen as business manager.

Heir to $700,000,000 Estate.

The following item appeared Friday of last week in the Detroit Free Press under a Harbor Springs date line:

"Charles S. Long, of Harbor Springs, has learned he is one of sixty heirs to an immense fortune in Philadelphia.

"Nearly a century ago Mr. Long's great-great-grandfather leased to Philadelphia a large tract of land for a park for ninety-nine years. The heirs of the old estate are arranging to push their legal right to the property. The land was of little value at the time the lease was given, but ia now estimated to be worth nearly $700,000,000.

"It is known as Fairmont park and is one of the largest public parks in the world. It extends more than seven miles on both banks of the Schuylkill river and more than six miles on both banks of the Wissahickon creek.

"The park contains four reservoirs of the Schuylkill water works, a large bronze statue of Washington, besides Memorial hall, erected at a cost of $1,500,000."

Tries to Kill Sheriff.

Some weeks ago George Hetts was picked up by Under Sheriff Tissue at Pellston and brought to the county jail at Petoskey. At first it was thought he was drunk but is was soon discovered that he was insane.

Last Wednesday forenoon he mude an unsuceessful attempt on the life of Sheriff Miller. He threw a heavy iron cuspidor, barely missing the sheriff's head. When he reached for a heavy iron bucket the sheriff grappled with him and threw him into a corner of his cell. He was taken to the state hospital at Traverse City last Thursday.

Rebuild City Power Plants.

The plan for the improvement of the city powor plants suggested by the hydraulic engineers who visited Petoskey last summer, has been adopted by the city and work will be started as soon as the spring freshets are over, probably not later that the first of June.

The plan calls for the fluming of the water from the light plant dam to the water works dam and the installation of two sepnrate power wheels connected directly with two electrical generators.

The equipment needed will be ordered at once, but as it must be manufactured especially for the city, considernble time will be required to get it here.

By making this proposed improvement a considerable saving in fuel will be made during at least nine months in the year as the added power gained will go a long way toward running the equipment needed to furnish light and power. During the summer, while the water is low, there will not be enough water power to operate a single large wheel and this is the reason two smaller ones will be installed. One of these small wheels can be operated at all times.

The improvement will cost the city somewhere near $15,000, but the councilmen, City Manager Tripp, and Chief Engineer Schneider of the city light nnd water works, feel the investment will pay splendid interest.

WEEK SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Interesting Program for Each Day at Ironton Grange Hall.

The following is the program for the agricultural extension school, which will be held in the Grange hall at Ironton, February 27, 28 and March 1, 2.

Tuesday: A. M.—Dairying and Permanent Agriculture. The limiting factors of production in Michigan soils.

P. M.—Foods and Their Composition. Improvement of small grains through the use of pedigreed varieties nnd better cultural methods.

Wednesday: A. M.—Nutrition, Balancing Rations, Food Requirements. Practical methods of improving Michigan soils.

P. M.—Rations for Dairy Cows. Corn, corn judging.

Thursday: A. M.—Consideration of Dairy Rations Submitted by Members of the Class. The use of lime and its relation to sussessful agriculture.

P. M.—Where Profit Begins in Dairying. Corn, seed selection and testing.

Thursday: A. M.—Rearing Calves and Young Breeding Stock. More and better alfalfa for Michigan.

P. M.—Breeds and Dairy Types. Fertillzers.

Lectures in Dairying by J. A. Waldron.

Lectures in Farm Crops by I. K. Mnystead.

Sessions begin promptly at 9:30. Everyone welcome. Come promptly on time. Don't slight the morning sessions. Help make this school a record brenker for prompt attendance, regular nttendance and large attendance.

Entertained Her Class.

Miss Pearl Durance entertained her class at the home of her parents last Thursday evening, February 8. They had a fine program. Elmo Helms played a solo on the violin; Miss Fern Loper rend our class poem, which of course made everyone laugh. Refreshments were served at 10:30, after which a few games were played. Everyone enjoyed their long walk home.

Read the advertisement of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank in this issue. Its message is worthy of consideration.—Adv. 7tf.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

M. E. Sunday School Addressed by State Organizer.

The Methodist Sunday school had a good attendance last Sunday in spite of the severe cold. At the latter part of the session the school was addressed by the state organizer for the Organized Adult Bible Class movement, connected with the State Sunday school association. As a result, seven classes organized and applied for certificates of recognition; four adult classes and three 'teen age classes.

It is the ambition of the Methodist Sunday school to lead the schools of the county in the number of organized classes and active membership enrolled in these classes. All persons not enrolled with other Sunday schools of the city will find a cordial welcome in some one of the orgunized classes. Other classes are in process of organization so that all will be cared for.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

See us for your Job Printing.

SIGNS OF DANGER

That Should be Heeded by Charlevoix People.

There's serious danger in neglecting any weakness of the kidneys. The warning that Nature gives should not be overlooked. If troubled by frequent passage of the kidney secretions; burning or scalding; if the secretions are highly colored and contain sediment when left standing—if you have backache too, with frequent headaches and dizziness, make up your mind that your kidneys are infected and begin using some reliable kidney remedy. Deaths from kidney disease have increased in the United States alone, 72 per cent in the last 20 years. The risk is great—you can't afford to delay. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you ask for better proof of merit than the statement of this Charlevoix resident?

Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1206 Bridge St., Charlevoix says: "My back got so lame I could hardly get about my housework. Finally I had to take to bed, where I remained several days absolutely helpless. I couldn't even turn over. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. I felt miserable and was in a terrible condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought relief from the first and continued use cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mrs. Smith. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

To Mr. Harry L. Oldham:

In reply to your questions in last week's issue of the Courier, I wish to state at the beginning that the matter of repairs to the swing bridge is entirely in the hands of the bridge committee of the city council and county, and I am only advising with these committees and preparing such detailed data as they require of me. However, as your open letter has occasioned much speculation in the minds of the residents of our city, I feel it my duty to specifically answer your inquiry.

The following history of the partial failure of the bridge will doubtless serve as answers to your several questions:

On August 25, 1916, the trouble was discovered and reported by me to the mayor and bridge committee, and recommendations made for temporary repair to make the bridge safe for the balance of the season, which recommendation was accepted, and I ordered to make the temporary repairs, which was done the first week in September.

I immediately began the detail plans for the purpose of seeuring war department permit, but on November 27, the council decided the work could be done without such permit.

Te mayor suggested to me that the council would be more fully satisfied as to the condition of the bridge if a special bridge engineer be consluted, which proceedure I heartily approved. Mr. O. E. Albee of Detroit, was called by the mayor and came to Charlevoix and made careful examination, and later mailed me his written report, which I filed with the city council. This report corroborated my former report, as to necessury repair, und made available to us the original drawings of the bridge and a stress report indicating that if the needed repairs were made, the bridge would serve the city well for several more years. Therefore, I considered the investigation was amply thorough.

After the filing of Mr. Albee's report, nothing more was done until December 18, when the committee ordered me to prepare drawings and application to the war department, which was done and reported to the council on January 2, 1917, at which time the council ordered the chairman of the city bridge committee, together with the chairman of the county bridge committee and myself to personully present the application to the government engineers at Grand Rapids, in order the get the quickest possible action. This was done on January 9, and the plans approved.

About January 24th the bridge committee sent Mr. Elmer Johnson to the cities of Saginaw and Detroit, to see what could be done in regard to quick delivery of material, and secure a man to supervise the work, but Mr. Johnson's report on material delivery was evidence that the work could not be completed this winter, and therefore another temporary repair will be made.

The detailed plans for permanent repair were filed by me with the city on January 2, and the council and committee given my estimate of the cost of the repair, which estimate was $2,475.00.

I understand the blue prints of the proposed permanent repair and also details of the bridge which Mr. Johnson received from Mr. Albee at Detroit, without authority of the bridge committee or myself, were lost by Mr. Johnson enroute to Charlevoix, but we are still hoping for an honest finder to return them to Mr. Albee or this city.

I have duplicated the drawing of proposed permanent repairs, but the other not being our drawing, I have no means of duplicating, but it will doubtless not be needed in the repair work.

As to the safety of the bridge, I must answer this from two viewpoints:

1st. Public Safety—From this view point I consider the bridge, with close attention, safe.

2nd. Charlevoix City's Prosperity and Best Interests—From this view point I do not consider the bridge safe for the reason that should it become disabled while open, which is its weakest position, the damage to Charlevoix would be most depressing.

NEW INDUSTRY.

Cork Factory to Start as Soon as Machinery Arrives.

John Roen, whom Charlevoix people know as the captain and owner of the barge "Schooden," has erected a shop 18x36 feet, just east of Roy Ranger's place on the south shore of Round Lake, and as soon as the porper machinery is installed, he and his brother-in-law will start making fish corks. We are glad to welcome another addition to Charlevoix's winter industries.

MUSTERED OUT WHILE ON BORDER

Second Member of Co. I to Die While Serving Country.

Death has claimed another member of Co. I of East Jordan. Melvin J. Roy was stricken with pneumonia some three weeks ago and continued failing until the end came Saturday, February 3.

The deceased was but a young lad, 18 years old and previous to going to the border was a student in the East Jordan public school.

The body was shipped immediately and arrived at East Jordan Saturday. The funeral was held Sunday and the body laid to rest with full military honors.

The youth had been ailing for some time, but nothing serious was thought of it at first. His parents were not informed of the situation until a telegram was received the Friday previous to his death.

This is the second member of Co. I to die at the border. The other member was private Wederburn of Norwood. Melvin Roy leaves to mourn their loss, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Roy of East Jordan, and a brother, Glenn, who resides in Flint.

CLARION.

Miss Mary Hale is on the sick list this week.

Charles Guyer returned Saturday from Elmira.

N. J. Stone of Petoskey was in town Saturday.

Mrs. L. B. Carpenter of Pellston, was in town Monday.

Mrs. M. S. Wheeler is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Don Moreau of Petoskey.

H. H. Chase, who has been closing out the Guyer bankrupt stock, has gone to Grand Rapids.

The bankrupt stock of D. H. Guyer has been shipped to Grand Rapids and the store closed.

Little Howard Strickler, who died last week from burns reaulting from scalding, was buried here Saturday.

Miss Marguret Johnson left last week for Mnrquette, where she will visit her aister, Mrs. Will Jackman.

Mrs. James Niles and Mrs. Emma Hice of Petoskey, attended the funeral of Mrs. D. H. Buckley, Sr., here on Monday.

Mrs. Florence Regan came up from Huntington, Indiana, last week to nttend the funeral of her nephew, Howard Strickler.

The funeral service of Mrs. D. H. Buckley, Sr., who died at her bome at Walloon Lake on Saturday, was held here on Monday, Rev. E. L. Shepard in charge. Mrs. Buckley had been a resident of this section for many years, her father being one of the pioneer settlers. Many friends are left to mourn her loss.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

Chi-Namel Gold and Aluminum

Makes Old Furniture Look Like New

See Demonstration in Our Window

Blanchard's Hardware Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

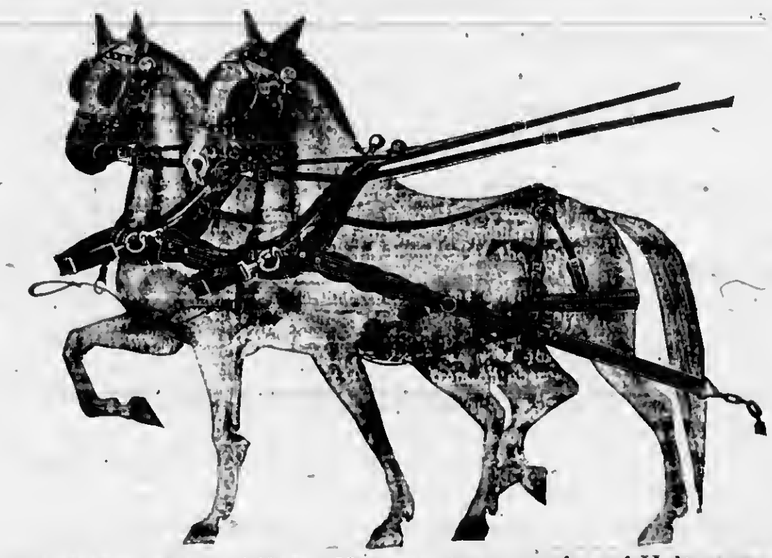
C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens.

Buy That Harness Now



I have several set of Team Harness, strap work and Halters made up, before the advance in leather, and until sold, will make the following prices:

1 1-2 inch Traces with heel chain, brass trimmed hames and bridle. One inch strap work throughout, 1 1-2 inch breast straps and martingales $48.00

Same Harness with 1 3-4 inch Traces $50.00

Collars---$3.50 - $4.50 - $6.00

Leather Halters--$1 and $1.25

ALL OTHER PARTS OF HARNESS AT VERY LOW COST

Benj. Brown

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35. NUMBER 9. 8 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1917. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

HELD BANQUET LAST FRIDAY EVENING.

Congregational Church Beautifully Decorated for Occasion Witb Americao Flags.

The annunl Lincoln banquet of the Charlevoix Historical Society, was served by the Congregational ladies in the dining hall of the eburch, Friday evening, February 16.

More significant, if possible, at this crisis of the world's affairs, were the glorious Americnn colors which grected the eyes in all directions. Artistic, indeed, were the graceful festoons of the red, white and blue, adorning each end of the ball, while from the walls the gay stars and stripes bespoke a true welcome to all. The portraits of Washington and Lincoln lent silent acquiesence. The table with sprays of smilax as a center decoration, looked very inviting, and the lighted candles in the handsomc candelabra were a great inspiration no doubt to the speaker.

All being assembled, the president, Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, called upon Rev. C. E. Taggart for the invocation, after which the feasting and flow of soul were appnrent. Under the efficient supervision of the ladies who served the fine supper, the program was promptly presented, opening with a violin duet,"The Victors," by Robert Bridge and King Saunders, which was very much enjoyed. The address of welcome to the society nnd their friends was very graciously given by the president, Dr. A. M. Wilkinson.

With a few fncetious remarks the president introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. George L. Lusk, deputy secretary of state.

Upon addressing his audience, the speaker wittily responded to the president's remarks. "Tucbor—I Will Defend," one of the inscriptions on the Michigan coat of arms, wns the title he chose for his evening nddress. He spoke of the great men of different countries—France with her Napoleon, Robert Burns, dear to the henrt of Scotland and Americn's immortal Washington and Lincoln. Following this part of his fine address he introduced another inscription on the Michigan seal, "If you are seeking a beautiful peninsula, look around you." Michigan, one of the many, eighth state in population—giving at the time of the civil war 91,000 men. The first state to boast of an agricultural college. With many other characteristics of our beautiful state, he closed his greatly enjoyed address, and proud we were of Michigan, our Michigan.

Vocnl duet, "Shadow Town," by Mrs. Mayme Chaloupka and Dr. F. H. Wilkinson and the response to the encore, "Night of Joy," were most beautifully rendered. The vocal solo, "Sword of Bunkerbill," by Hon. George L. Lusk, splendidly closed the most delightful evening.

ARE SENIORS IN THE ALMA COLLEGE

Two Local Young Women Will Graduate This Year.

Misses Edna Ward nnd Pauline Markhnm, both from our city, nre expecting to graduate with the 1917 class of Alma college next June. Both of the young women are very popular among the stundents, and they nre quite nctive in the various college activities. Miss Ward has been vice president of the Alpha Theta Literary society, is chairman of the conference committee of the Y. W. C .A., besides being a member of several other student organizntions Miss Mnrkham is secretary of the Y. W. C. A., president of the Women's Glee Club, and a member of the Women's quartet.

There are two other local grnduntes in Alma college this year,Misses Ruth Mitchell and Helen Parsons. These young women nre taking up kindergarten, in Almn, for that college offers one of the best kindergarten courses in the state. We nre glad to see our local young women doing so well nt Alma.

Harness repair work not called for within the next 30 days will be sold.- Call and get yours nt once. Benj. Brown.—Adv.8tf.

FAMILY IS LEFT ALMOST DESTITUTE

Fire Destroys Home of Whitford Armstrong Saturday Noon.

The home of Whitford Armstrong at Burgess caught fire from a defective flue and burned to the ground Saturday noon—a total loss with its contents.

Mr. Armstrong, who hsuls kiln wood for the Wuller farm, but who has no work st present, was in the house st the time with his wife and four little children—two girls and two boys. The youngest boy, a baby, lay dangerously ill with pneumonia fever. So rapid was the spread of the flames that nothing of the household goods nor any of the clothing save what the family wore, could be saved; in fact some difficulty was expericnced in getting the little sick baby out of the blazing building and away to a plnce of safety.

The family are now quartered with Mrs. Armstrong's mother, a widow, Mrs. George Banks, and are in a very difficult condition, bordering almost on destitution. Burgess people are making every effort to relieve their distress and an announcement will be found elsewhere in this paper of a kitchen shower, to be held at the home of Amandus Evers, Bay Shore, R R. No. 1, for the benefit of this family. We would earnestly urge Charlevoix people, who arc so disposed, to contribute their assistance to this entirely worthy benevolence.

$1,000 LOSS OF BALED PAPER

FIRE SATURDAY IN CREAMERY BUILDING.

Spontaneous Combustion Thought to Be Origin of Blaze—Small Damage to Building.

Fire started Saturday noon in the flooring over the basement of the old creamery building on Belvedere avenue, now used as a second-hand store and warehouse by William ("Happy") Tando.

James Parsons, Jr., discovered smoke pouring out of the building at about 12 o'clock and finding the lower door open, entered and tried to put the fire out himself, but could not get at it to advantage. He then turned in the alarm and the fire department responded promptly. Mr. Tando desires to thank them for the quick and efficient manner in which they mastered the blaze. About a thousand dollars worth of baled paper was destroyed by the fire, and as there was no insurance, Mr. Tando has suffered a severe loss.

No one knows how the fire started, as there was no furnace in the basement nor any inflammable material. The building itself was not badly damaged, except that quite a large hole was burned in the flooring. "Huppy" did not use the basement for his business and had kept it locked. Probably a case of spontaneous combustion.

NO SPRING PRIMARY FOR CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Election Cancelled, There Being No Contest for Circuit Judge.

The county primary, scheduled for the 7th of Mnrch, has been called nff, only one candidate, so far, having filed his petition for circuit judge—Frederick W. Mayne.

The precedent followed in canceling the election, is the supreme court's decision in Calhoun county recently, when the same conditions presented themselves and the matter wns carried into court. It was ruled ot that time that an electinn was unnecessary. Printing of the ballots and other preparations for the election in Chnrlevoix county were consequently delnyed in anticipation of the above mentioned action, and the county hereby saved much unnecessary expense.

Harness repair work not called for within the next 30 days will be sold.- Call and get yours at once. Benj. Brown.—Adv.8tf.

FELL DOWN CELLAR STAIRS

MRS. JANE HAMILTON BROKE LEFT WRIST.

Was Alone in House at Time of Accident—Found Some Time Later by Family.

Mrs. Jane Hamilton, who is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Wright Ripley on Park uvenue, met with a serious and very painful accident last Sundsy evening and is now confined to her bed.

While Mr. and Mrs. Ripley were at church, the old lady, who is nearly 70 years of age, undertook to go from her bedroom into the kitchen, but the rooms being in total darkness, she mistook the cellar door for the kitchen door and plunged down the cellar stairs to the concrete floor below.

When the Ripley's returned sometime later, they were guided by the groans of the unfortunate vietim to where she lay still conscious, but suffering terribly. Some delay was expericnced in getting a doctor, as all happened to be out of town at the time, but they made her as comfortable as possible with n temporary splint for her injured wrist.

On Dr. Wilkinson's arrival, examination by X ray discosed that fact that both bones in her left wrist were broken; one crushed badly and the other snupped off clean. Mrs. Hamilton was also badly bruised about the left hip and side and suffered severe contusions about the face and head. At last accounts, she was resting ns quietly as could be expected.

Public Auction Sale.

The fourth of a series of public auction sales promoted by the Charlevoix Commercial Association, will be held at Hooker's Livery and Garage on Saturday, March 3. All persons having any nrticles to list are requested to do so by Saturday of this week. Mr. Byers will list your property and ery the sale.

CITY ATTORNEY ASKED TO ACT

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS ARE APPOINTED.

P. M. R. R. Asks That Rock Prodoct Co. Pay Interest Due oo Their Investment.

The Pere Marquette railroad has filed a petition in the United States court at Grand Rapids, asking to intervene in the case of John M. Shaw vs. Charlevoix Rock Product Co., et al, and insisting that the Rock Product co. pay the interest due and paynble on the money which the railroad has invetsed in the rails, switches, signals and other equipment now used by the Rock Product Co. in their spur track from the plant to the Cherry Y.

The railroad company has taken this step in order to confirm its right and title to the absolute possession of the above mentioned equipment, in order, that, if the necessity arises and the interest is not paid as due, they may be in a position to assert such right of possession in order to protect their interests.

At the council meeting last Monday night, the city attorney was asked to intervene in this case in behalf of the city of Charlevoix in respect to a bertain contract between the city and the Rock Product Co. for the furnishing of electric current and to represent to the court that the track should be maintained nnd oprated to furnish coal to the plant of the Rock Product Co., also, that the city of Charlevoix and the United States government is vitally interested in the furnishing of electric lighting current to the coust guard and supply depots, to the harbor lights nnd to the fish hatchery.

Among other minor matters taken up at this session of the council, was the appointment of election inspectors, Grover Geneit, L. E. Smith and W. J. Weikel being the ones so chosen, nnd a complaint nbout boys of the town using air guns, which was referred to the police committee.

BEAVER TRANSPORTATION CO.

HAS PURCHASED STEAMER HUM AND DOCK.

Will Give Adequate Boat Service on Pine Lake, Boyne City, Charlevoix and Beaver Run.

R. O. Bisbee of the People's State Bank of East Jordan, and Captain George Jepson, representing the Jepson estate, were in Charlevoix, Monday, completing the negotiations necessnry to the transfer of their holdings and interest in the steamer "Hum," to the Beaver Transportation Company of this city, represented by Harry L. Oldhsm, Captain George W. Weaver, and others.

This latest purchase of the recently formed transportation company, includes the dock, warehouse, coal bins and other appurtenances with which the business of the East Jordnn-Charlevoix route was conducted by its former owners.

It is the intention of the officers of the Beaver compnny to make the run between East Jordan, Boyne City, Charlevoix nnd the Beavers n continuous trip, and to this end extensive alterations have been made in the steamer "Columbis," and no expense will be spared to make ber one of the stoutest and most commodious boats of her size on the lakes.

The key-note of the new company is service, and that this feature will serve greatly to stimulate resort traffic between the various near-by resorts and this city we have no doubt. To open up the hitherto comparatively isolated Benver Island to our summer visitors will add to Charlevoix's own attractions and cannot but have a beneficial reaction upon our volume of business. No citizen will demur at the concentration of matters so vital to our commercial and social well-being ns that of local-water transportation in the hands of one whose only nim is for a bigger, better and more prosperous Charlevoix. Therefore, everyone boost.

STATE LEADER OF COUNTY AGENTS

COMING TO CHARLEVOIX COUNTY NEXT WEEK.

Farmers and Business Men Urged to Hear Him—Annouocement of Dates.

C. B. Cook of Owosso, now assistant to the state leader of county agents, will be in Charlevoix county February 26, 27 and 28. He has been invited to come and explain the county agent proposition to the farmers and business men of the county. Everyone is urged to come and hear Mr. Cook. As n matter of business precaution, all should learn as much as possible about this question which is now so prominently before the people.

Unless delayed in traveling, Mr. Cook will speak nt the following places:

Charlevoix, Monday, Februury 26, 7:30 p. m., at K. of P. Hall.

Ironton Grange Hall, Tuesday, February 27, 10:00 n. m.

East Jordan, Tuesday, February 27, 2:00 p. m., K. of P. Hall.

Boyne City, Wednesday, February 28, 10:00 a. m., nt school officer's meeting, City Hall.

Wednesdny, 2:00 p. m., meeting of business men nnd fnrmers at Capelin Hall.

Comes to County Bank.

For the past five years W. S. Humphrey has been with the Otsego County State Bnnk of Gaylord, two years of that time he has acted as cashier in the absence of the holder of that office. He comes to the Chnrlevoix County Bank highly recommended by the bankers of Gaylord and vicinity, both as n prnctical bank man and as n man of excellent chnracter. He will reside in the A. M. Burdick house, 228 Antrim street.

Pruning and Grafting.

Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

DATA HAS RECENTLY BEEN MADE PUBLIC

Record of Gun Pointers in Unitad States Navy:

"The Shot That Hits is the Sbot That Counts."—T. R.

Data made public recently by tbe navy department show thst at no other time in its history has the marksmunshlp of the United States nuvy been so good as it is at prosent. Tbe new superdreadnought Nevada gave an example of the general shooting efficiency of tho Atlantic fleet. In the recent target practice this ship fired 56 shots from her 14-lnch guns, and the target, at varying ranges, was smashed 43 times, a record that is believed to equsl, if not surpass, any record with similar guns in any other navy.

On tbe Nevada three gun pointers, in nine shots with 14-inch guns, made a record of nine hits; on the New York nine gun pointers made six hits in six shots; on the Oklahoma three gun pointers made seven hits in nine shots; on the Pennsylvania eight hits in nine shots, and on the Texas six hits in six shots, and nll with 14-inch guns at long ranges. Out of 66 shots fired from the 12-inch guns of the dreadnoughts 64 were hits, while with 8-inch guns the record of the champion gunners was 22 hits in 24 shots.

With 7-inch guns the best record was 15 hits in 16 shots, while the champion gun pointers of the 4-lnch guns hit the target 39 times in 40 shots.

P. M. CHANGED TIME MONDAY

BOTH TRAINS SOUTH TO LEAVE IN FORENOON.

Three Trains in Morning and One in the Afternoon Under the New Plan.

A change in the time on the Pere Marquette went into effect Monday morning. The change will give Charlevoix two trains south in the forenoon, but none suoth in the afternoon. The only train remaining unchanged in its arriving time is No. 1, which will arrive at 4:15 p. m. from the south.

Under the new plan persons wishing to go to Petoskey and return the same dny, will have their time at that place cut to two hours. The morning train will land them ot Petoskey at 9:45 a. m., and they will have to leave at 11:55 a. m., arriving at Charlevoix at 12:25.

The train schedule will be ns follows:

Train No. 12 will leave at 7:30 a. m. and train No. 8 at 12:25 p. m. for the south. Train No. 11 will arrive at 9:15 a. m. and train No. 1 will arrive at 4:15 p. m. going north.

HIGH MARK WAS SET.

Twenty Meo of the Congregational Church Sought Pledges.

Sunday afternoon at two o'clock a party of 20 men started from the Congregational church, to canvass the families of the parish for pledges of support during the ensuing year. Fired with a determination to exceed last year's record and encouraged by one of Mrs. Bartlett's excellent dinners, the little band paired off and each pnir of canvassers followed the definite route assigned to it.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent in calling upon fellow-members and the results far exceeded their greatest expectations, as a much larger amount was pledged this year than last. In fact, a high water mark was set and the pastor and officers of the congregation are much encouraged over the outlook for 1917.

Valentine Surprise.

The home of Harold Eckinger on east Hurlbut avenue, was the scene of n pleasant surprise party Wednesday evening, February 14. Ten members of the Congregational Sunday school class, of which Harold is a member, joined with him for an evening of games nnd other amusements. The fenture of the evening was the flash-light group picturo taken. Refreshments were served and they indeed proved a climax of the happy gathering.

BOLD BURGLAR GETS $40.00

DANTO'S STORE VISITED WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Chief of Police Surprised to Learn of Depredation—May Have Had a Key.

Mystery surrounds the crime that startled Charlevoix out of its comatose state early Thursday morning, when the clerks of Danto's store reported for duty. Here were found marks of a daring burglar—for he must have been daring—to intrude into the business realms of Charlevoix, with the chief of police making his rounds.

The intruder, having entered the building by means of which he left no clue, proceeded casually to empty the cash registers of their contents. Indeed, this visit was not unfruitful. Wednesday evening the change was left in the front register, while in the meat department little was left. At 5:30 when Mr. Marshall counted up the days receipts he left $29.75 in halves, quarters, dimes and nickles in the register. What was taken in after that time was not fully known. However, the bandit got it all and the cash in the back register with it. A dime and a quarter were left on the floor where they fell. The safe proved beyond his ability, and while tampered with, it was not opened.

Two beliefs as to the method of entrance are given. One is that the intruder entered the front door by means of a key. Tracks in the rear of the building indicated the party had tried to gnin entrance in this manner, but failed.

The second theory is that the coal and wood chute on Bridge street was the manner of intrusion. A big block of wood was placed against the door from the inside, closing the wood chute, and this timber was exactly in place in the morning.

The officers were notified of the theft and every effort is being put forth to capture the party who got the cash. We may look for further advances in the high cost of living if such things continue.

CHARLEVOIX I. O. O. F. VISIT HORTON BAY

Two Local Candidates Get Introduction to the Mysteries.

Twenty-seven jovial members of the I. O. O. F. lodge of Charlevoix descended upon the brothers at Horton Bay last Saturday night, while a horde of 25 Boyne City joy-riders came in from the other direction. The Horton Bay boys, however, proved equal to the occasion and placated the invading hosts with a chicken dinner that will descend into history as one of the pleasantest of memories.

Two local candidates were received into the mysterics of the initiatory degree during the evening. Thea followed some exhibition team work, Chnrlevoix putting on two degrees and Boyne City one, with much credit to both teams.

The Charlevoix bunch got home at 4:15 Sunday morning—five sleigh loads—sleepy, but happy.

LENT BEGINS TODAY.

Church Goers Will Observe Period Preceeding Easter.

Lent begins on Wednesday, February 21, Ash Wednesday, and continues for 45 days, ending with Easter Sunday, April 8. The annual Lenten proclamation issued by Bishop Gallagher of the Grand Rapids dioceese, fixing the regulntions by which thousands of Catholics will govern their lives during the penitenial period, were read in Catholic churches Sunday, and will be read again next Sunday, the first Sunday in Lent.

Anniversary Night.

Thursday evening, February 22, Grand Prelate Hughes will be present to examine the officers of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, K. of P., in the ritualistic work. This is known as the officers contest nnd is being done in every lodge in the Michigan domnin. Every member is urged to nttend. An oyster supper will be served at six o'clock, followed by degree work at seven sharp.

STANDARD SCHOOLS OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

Seven Standard Schools in Charlevoix County! Only a drop in the national tide in favor of better schools but Charlevoix county has its drop. To be sure there are schools that accent the schools plant idea and we doff our caps to them. We acknowledge that Kalamazoo No. 2, has the finest one room rural school in the state. We are as proud as she of her hot air system, of her pneumatic pressure tank which supplies water power for the toilets, for the lavatories and her drinking fountain. We are glad that Walker No. 4, Kent county has a room in her basement for large wooden tables and that this dining room is in use every day. We acknowledge that Peninsula No. Fo. 1, Grand Traverse county, has the most attractive, well proportioned and sanitary building. We are proud,with a genuine Michigan pride that these schools are in our own fair state; but along with that pride comes the joy that seven of our own schools are registered in Lansing as schools that have been tested for health and beauty requirements, and that they have met with the test.

Two and a half years ago the movement was started in Michigan by the state superintendent, Fred L. Keeler. He believed that our one room rural school did not represent the best that the residents in any district knew. He believed that the parents were more progressive than the school houses would indicate. He did not think that it was a lack of desire to give the best to this generation that the fathers and mothers were able to give their children. He did not think it would be necessary to recommend a law requiring the remodeling of the old school houses. He firmly believed that if he mapped out what a good school ought to consist of, and advertised the fact, that the farmers would soon come to the front in meeting the requirements. Too much attention had long been paid to the city school. Eighty-four per cent of the schools are the one room rural schools and the promise of the land rests with the boys and girls who are going to school in these school houses. So with all faith and trust in the good sense of the farmers of our state, the educational department, with Supt. Keeler in the lead, mapped out what a good school should be and offered a metal plate to every district which should comply with these requirements. Two hundred forty-four schools in the state have already met with the requirements and more have applied for admission to the registered list.

For long years we have been hounding the teacher to become better trained. Then the law stepped in to require this of every teacher. This is to care for the mind of the child. But the child is mental, physical and moral in his make-up. Each element depends on the other.

Care for the child's mind alone? Then we may repeat the history of the immoral genius of history. Care for the physical alone and you have the fool or the brute. But the child's moral training will be directly dependent upon the combination of his physical and mental training. We must rely on birthright, on the home and the child's right as a citizen. To the parents as citizens the appeal has gone forth: "Make your school physically correct as science can plan and as perfect as experience has dictated in the past. It is your child's right as a citizen to claim from you the best now, just as you claimed from your parents the best was known in the days of your childhood."

In response to this appeal ten per cent of the rural schools have come to the front in two years. The have called to their localities the man who could study the building with them. They have gone ahead with the work. They have for their trouble, "value received" in improvements; they have stamped their districts with the emblem of progress and prosperity. By that same emblem they have sounded a bugle call to prospective settlers in our county. They may sell or they may aequire new neighbors and remain to enjoy the fruit of their labor. In response to the quea-tion of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, "How many Standard Schools in your County?" we may answer, "One in every ten." In response to the minister who is taking a social survey in your district when he asks: "Have you a Standard School in your district?" one chance in ten you may answer "Yes."

Reader, when you are on an auto trip next summer, you will be interested in the school plants that are manufacturing our men and women of tomorrow. You have been on the Atwood road and have seen the brick school at Ellsworth. It is changed but little and yet you now see above the door the words which indicate that Marion No. 6 did that little which was needed. But do you plan on taking a lake shore drive? Then go from East Jordan to Charlevoix and stop on your way to visit Eveline No. 5. Ask why the windows are banked together, and why are the seats of the kind you see? For every change there is a reason why.

Pass on through Charlevoix and enjoy the splendid road of the Petoskey drive. When you reach Green Sky Hill turn to the right and be prepared to see at your left on the summit of the next rise in the land, the pleasantest little surprise of a school house you ever saw. They will open the school house for you. They are proud of their school, these parents are in Hayes No. 3. You look at the ideal plan of the seats, of light, of tinting, and turn to the cloak rooms with their adjoining toilets separate for the boys and girls. Then you ask: What! Is this required, too?" Proudly we answer, "no indeed." Thus truly did the state superintendent place his faith in the farmer. He was left to choose and he chose aright. And, dear reader, if you are not weary, and the weather is fine, continue around this wondrous lake of ours. In Boyne City you will fine room after room with standard requidements, but they can receive no plate. They received attention years ago. The day of the farmer has come and that day will last as he wills it to last.

Speed into Chandler township and know that here in the woods Charlevoix county has two splendid schools that were among the first to receive their plates. Return through Walloon Lake. You will see no plate on the building, you do not see the picture in the collection above. They have just recently sent in word that they are ready, and soon the state will mete out the reward which is their due. But returning from Boyne City, follow once more the Lake Shore drive enroute this time to East Jordan. Do you truly appreciate the spirit which prompted and the spirit which has continued the building on the hill at the left a school plant, In Advance, Eveline No. 1, a plant which has continued to grow better twice over since the plate was received, no acknowledgement expected, no reward asked for, but the satisfaction of work well done. Proceed on the Ferry road and turn to the left on the County Farm Road to East Jordan. Now you are to pass the famous Three Bells school, a district where the residents have demonstrated they do and dare. This is Eveline No. 2, with the best attendance record in the county.

You are weary and worn from your trip, but I hope you have seen not school houses alone and I hope that science has not engrossed your mind to spoil the beautiful natural wonders of a lake besprinkled county. There are flowers by every road side, growing straight and beautiful in the bounteous light that nature affords; there are birds singing by the wayside, flitting about free and unconfined, adding to the world's great overture their wee small notes of joy, and the water gleams a rejoicing in the harmonious accord of all. But the eyes close upon the beauty round about and see with Miss Field the half wit child of sixteen whose "life has gone a little way and then has stopped." A road goes up the mountin side. There is no goal to which it leads and the foot prints disappear. It has gone a little ways and then has stopped. All the beauty of life is growth and the great tragedies of life are at all times when that growth has ceased. What tragedy is greater in the home than the life of the child whose mind has gone a little ways and then has stopped?

There are seven Standard Schools in Charlevoix county, each representing its own special features, but each one meeting the requirements of a good school. There are twenty-one other schools that have done something during the past year to make their school plant better. It rests with the parents of these school districts to determine the goal which they seek, and to avert the pathos of the activity which goes a little ways and then it stops.

Again for $1—While They Last

This Guaranteed Aluminum Cooker

The cost of Aluminum has doubled since we ordered these lifetime Cookers. At present prices, this offer would be impossible. So, in all probability, after our supply is exhausted. it cannot be made again.

Next week the grocers of this city will once more feature this Quaker Cooker offer. And for the last time, we believe.

We have supplied Cookers now to over 1,000,000 homes. We have supplied these guaranteed Aluminum Cookers for $1 to Quaker Oats users. But this offer ends with our present supply, and probably forever. Unless Aluminum drops 50 per cent, we cannot again offer a Cooker like this for $1.

But next week only we make the offer below. You can get this Cooker for $1, by buying two of our cereals which should be cooked in it.

This offer is made to induce better cooking. To bring you Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's cooked in perfect form, with the flavor kept intact. Our reward will come in your doubled delight in these foods.

We ask the trademarks just to show that you use our cereals. Unless you have the right flakes, right cooking does not help much. But, if you use Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's, this cooker is yours for $1. This is for one week only. Get the packages from any grocer named below.

Pure Aluminum
Extra Large and Heavy Cereal Capacity 2¼ Qts.
A Lifetime Utensil

One Week Only—Your Last Chance

Our Offer Is This: Send us two trademarks cut from packages of Quaker Oats and one trademark cut from a package of Pettijohn's—the picture of the Quaker on the front of the Quaker Oats package and the picture of the Bear on the front of the Pettijohn's package—or, if you prefer, you may send us five trademarks from Quaker Oats alone. Send us $1 with these trademarks and we will mail the cooker by parcel post. Trademarks must be mailed next week. This offer applies in this vicinity only. Address

The Quaker Oats Company, 1708 Railway Exchange, Chicago

Quaker Oats

The Extra-Delicious Vim-Food Flaked from Queen Oats Only

All the world over Quaker Oats holds first place among oat foods. Oat lovers of a hundred nations send to us to get it. A billion dishes are consumed each year. Nowhere in the world do connoisseurs find any oat food to compare with it.

The reason is this: Quaker Oats is made from queen grains only—just the big, plump, luscious oats. No puny starved grains are included. A bushel of the choicest oats yields only ten pounds of Quaker.

The result is a flavor which has won the world—a flavor which is matchless. Yet these large and luscious flakes cost you no extra price.

Nature stores in oats a wealth of vitality which everybody needs. We want you to know this fascinating vim-food, made as we make it and cooked in our way.

Pettijohn's

Rolled Wheat with 25% Bran Flakes A Modern Bran Dainty

Every doctor advises bran, as essential to right living. It is Nature's laxative. Everybody every day should eat it. It means better health, better spirits, sunnier days. Without it, our diet of fine food forces folks to drugs.

Pettijohn's is made to meet doctors' requirements. The bran is hidden in flavory flakes of wheat. The food is a morning dainty which everybody likes. Yet it contains 25 per cent tender bran.

The bran is in flake form, which makes it doubly efficient. Ground bran will not do.

Try Pettijohn's one week. Note its delightful effects. Never again will you go back to a branless diet.

Then try Pettijohn's Flour. It is 75 per cent fine patent flour mixed with 25 per cent bran flakes. Use it like Graham flour in any recipe.

These Grocers Will Feature the Cooker Offer Next Week

S. ORLOWSKI & SON, 800 So. Bridge Street.
H. B. JACOBS, 114 Bridge Street.
MARTIN BLOCK, 323 Bridge Street.
MRS. B. W. MILLER, 410 Bridge Street.
C. DANTO & SON, 212 Bridge Street.
A. E. MASON, 401-403 Bridge Street.
J. D. PARRISH, 204 Antrim Street.

Harness repair work not called for within the next 30 days will be sold.-Call and get yours at once. Benj. Brown.—Adv.8tf.

MARION.

The men have finished putting up ice.

Mr. Cellner is not any better at this writing.

Mr. Cellner was reported better Tuesday morning.

Elmer Ingalls and wife were visitors in East Marion Monday.

Miss Berg visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls Saturday and Sunday.

Clarence Withers packed ice for his father, Wm. Withers, last week.

Mrs. Wm. Straw, Jr., who is in the Petoskey hospital, is on the gain.

Nat Burns and family of Charlevoix, visited at the Smith home an Sunday.

Roy Bowdish visited at the hams of his aunt, Mrs. James Cook, one day last week.

Miss Emma Cellner has returned home from Flint, an account of her father's ill health.

There will be no meeting of the ladies auxillary of the Marion Center Grange during the month of March.

Mrs. P. R. Ross and son, Franklin, of Charlevoix, were guests of Mrs. Ross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith last week.

Opens New Offices.

Henry Kauffman has installed offices in the old bakery building, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, and will buy all kinds of Hides, Copper, Brass, Rags, Rubbers, and all other kinds of metal. Highest market price paid for all goods brought in. Spot cash.—Adv.7tf.

DISTRESSING RHEUMATISM

How many people, crippled and lame from rheumatism, owe their condition to neglected or incorrect treatment!

It is the exact combination of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil with glycerine and hypophosphites as contained in that has made Scott's famous for relieving rheumatism when other treatments have utterly failed.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

If you are a rheumatism sufferer, or feel its first symptoms, start on Scott's Emulsion at once.

IT MAY BE EXACTLY WHAT YOU NEED.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

CORRESPONDENCE

EVELINE.

Richard Williams hns a sick cow.

Walter Mitchell is visiting with relatives about Ironton.

Mrs. Datus Dean is visiting with relatives in East Jordan this week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brown, a boy, on Friday. Everyone in good health.

John Nasson delivered four beeves to a buyer from Petoskey, meeting him at Charlevoix, Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Peterson celebrated her birthdny anniversary Friday evening with 26 neighbors present.

Many horses are reported sick in this vicinity. The veterinarinn pronounces it influenza. Many are partly recovered and it is hoped thnt it will not be very serious.

The Lady Mnccabees of Ironton Hive held their last regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Courier. Pot luck dinner was served and a good time reported.

Residents of Eveline, especially those living near Pine Lake nnd South Arm, welcome the news of Mr. Oldham purchasing the East Jordan and Charlevoix steam boat line, as better service is anticipated.

Moritmer Orvis, one of our boys in Co. I, 33rd regiment, has been promoted and is receiving double the pay that he received as a private. Joe Clark reports that he would rather brave a Michigan snow storm than a Texas sand blizzard, which occur frequently. The boys are in good health and ever expecting orders to return home.

If possible nrrange your work so that you can attend the Agricultural Extension School at the Ironton grnng hnll on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. This school is conducted by the Michigan Agricultural College and United States Department of Agriculture co-operating, and with a good attendnnce, regularly if possible, it cannot help but be of much value to every farmer.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that thore is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, neting directly upon the hiood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving tbe patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers thent they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it falls to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for conatipation. Adv. 6t4

BAY SHORE.

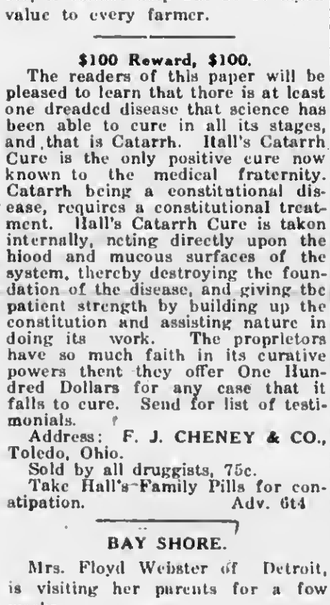
Mrs. Floyd Webster of Detroit, is visiting her parents for a fow weeks.

A. G. Tilliotson loaded two cars and nlso Wallace Brothers two cars of potatoes lnst week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Jones left Thursday for Martin, Allegan county, where Mr. Jones has a position on a farm.

Wallace Brothers were awarded 1st premium on their pedigreed Alexander oats at the seed expositon of the Michigan Experiment Association held reeently at Lansing.

The box social given by the Carpenter school, was well attended and a program was given by the achool, which was enjoyed by all present. Mr. Saigeon entertained those present with several recitations, which delighted the audience. The praceeds of the social were $12, which will be used to purchase an orgun for the school.



Keeps Your Stove Shining Bright
Gives a brilliant glossy shine that does not rub off or dust off—that resists heat and moisture as long as any other.
Black Silk Stove Polish
Is in a class by itself. It's more economical than ordinary polishes from better materials.
Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best polish you ever used, your hardware or grocery dealer is authorized to refund your money.
There's "A Spoonful in Every Drop"
BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH
Call TODAY

HAYES.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster spent last Thursday at Bay Shore.

Dee Sneathen has sent his boy back to the Coldwater school.

Earl Sneathen started for Grand Rapids, Coldwater and Chicago last Monday morning.

Members of the I. O. O. F. had a big time and a chicken supper at Horton Bay last Saturday night.

Will Jones received word last Wednesday that his mother was dying at her home in Elk Rapids.

Miss Milton, Mrs. Winnick, Mrs. Pnnt and children spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Rose Wightman.

Mrs. Floyd Webster of Detroit, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster the latter part of last week.

W. Armstrong's house burned to the ground last Saturday moning. They lost everything. Their little boy is sick with pneumonia.

A party of nine ladies met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Bartholomew last Saturday evening for a chicken supper. A good time wus had until the wee hours of the morning.

Harness repair work not called for within the next 30 days will be sold. Cnll and get yours at once. Benj. Brown.—Adv.8tf.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

February 6, 1917.

Meeting was called to order by President Hampton. Present, Hampton, Bridge, Glassford, Nordrum. Absent, Miller.

Bills audited and motion made that orders be drnwn for the several amounts. Motion carried.

General Orders.

1043	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	$ 7.50
1044	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	7.50
1045	Edward Seaman, rentai for rink	19.50
1046	Blanchard Hdw. Co., repairs for rink	5.50
1047	Fairchild & Morris	3.35
1048	City Treasurer, rentals	55.80
1049	Scott Foresman & Co., supplies	4.00
1050	Thomas Charles Co., supplies	4.47
1051	A. Flanagan Co.	.62
1052	Book account, furnished books	6.38
1053	H. E. McHugh, supplies	2.60
1054	Rand McNally & Co. Sup. Readers	7.40
1055	L. E. Knott Apparatus Co., supplies	34.63
1056	Charlevoix Courier, printing nnd paper	23.50
1057	P. R. Ross, drayage	29.15
1058	C. S. Dodge, dom sci., sewing machines	70.00
1059	Mrs. Allison, cleaning	5.75
1060	Rnud McNally Co., Sup. work	3.33
1061	Book Account, furnished books	2.20
1062	Acme Chemical Co., supplies	10.00
1063	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
1064	Theo. Kibbe, janitor.	7.50
1065	Roscoe Smith, janitor	7.50
1066	Mrs. Allison, janitor.	7.50
1067	A. M. Dolberg, jan.	7.50
1068	H. A. Craig, stamps.	2.80
1069	Miss Lillian McKeel, services (exams.)	3.40
1070	Alonzo Powers, piumbing	96.35

Library Orders.

328	Miss Inez Bayes, reference	3.75
329	Charlevoix Courier, printing and paper	12.00
330	Anna Bon, librarian	30.00
331	Wesley Staley, janitor (firing)	7.50
332	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
333	A. E. Mason Dept. Store, supplies	.50
334	P. R. Ross, drayage	7.50
335	Wilson Package Co., supplies	1.00

Treasurer's report read and accepted.

General discussion of several phases of school activities, which are under serious consideration by the board of education.

Motion made we adjourn. Motion carried.

H. A. Craig,
Sec'y pro tem.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Eight teachers last year forgot to send in their examination returns until late. Only five such this year, an improvement of 37 1-2 per cent.

A letter written by Commissioner McLain of Jackson county to his school directors seemed so good that copies were made of it and sent to the directors of this county.

The state department has a new bulletin out called "Rural School Houses, Building Plans, Requirements and Suggestions." Copies are now on hand in the commissioner's office.

As soon as the very few belated reports of the mid-year tests have reached the office the best standings will he published.

Five out of eight in the Deer Lake school have completed the year's work in home activities. Miss Johnson's pupils have been busy.

The Horton Bay children are putting in five cents each toward a large pencil sharpener for the school. It was their own suggestion.

Miss Etta Thayer of Meirose No. 1 reports that she is serving warm lunches every day now nnd that the pupils like it very much. In every case of this kind we should also expect better health, greater interest and a little domestic teaching in between classes.

Miss Thayer asks for six diplomas for perfect attendance for four months—a splendid record for a small school.

Roads are the same as "Pigs is Pigs" but Maple Grove and Walloon Lake have Roads That Are Roads, and yet the best attendance reports of the county during the storm come from these two schools. The reports show the distance walked nnd the commissioner knows most of the ronds. Some other records are very good indeed but we hand the laurel wreath to the boys and girls of Walloon and Maple Grove.

This is the big historical birthday month. Teachers, have you looked up the lives of the poets and the patriots? What is your language work now? What are you reading? And What Are Your Morning Exercises?

Two schools are hunting teachers for the spring term to begin the first of March. Makes you almost hear the robbins sing.

The hardware man says he sold a big kettle to the teacher in Rock Elm so that they could have hot soup at noon. It looks like business sure enough.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephonu No.255 Charlavoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

Subscribe for the Courier.

A Message To Michigan Women!

You are just as much interested in the prosperity of Michigan as the men folks.

Because the prosperity of Michigan is your prosperity as much as theirs.

Did it ever occur to you that every time you use Michigan made goods you build up Michigan industries?

And that buying Michigan made goods keeps Michigan money in Michigan where you and every other "Michigander" has an opportunity to share in its redistribution?

We do not mean you should buy Michigan goods just because they are made in Michigan without regard to quality, for quality should be the foundation of every purchase.

We do mean Michigan made goods of equal or better quality should be given preference.

We ask you to buy

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

because Lily White flour is better flour and better suited to your requirements—home baking.

Because Lily White flour bakes perfectly delicious bread, rolls and pastries.

Because all dealers are requested to sell Lily White on the guarantee you will like it better or money refunded.

Because Lily White flour is made in a Michigan mill in Michigan by Michigan people; principally from Michigan wheat grown by Michigan farmers, transported by Michigan railroads, sold by Michigan dealers.

Again we say, buy Lily White "the flour the best cooks use" and have complete baking satisfaction—and keep Michigan money in Michigan.

The famous Bessie Hoover bread recipe is printed on the back of every sack.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

THE MYSTERIOUS KEY

We have a large selection of Keys that we are going to distribute to your customers—one with each purchase at this store amounting to ONE DOLLAR. One of the keys thus given out will be the Mysterious Key that will unlock the Mysterious Lock connected with the $200 "National-Harmonola" now on display at our store.

Bring in your keys on the date set and see if you hold the Master Key that unlocks the Mysterious Lock, that will make you the happy possessor of this beautiful Grand Cabinet—"National-Harmonola." For every One Dollar paid on a Charge Account we will also give a key.

EDWARD KLOOSTER

113 Bridge Street Telephone 53. Charlevoix

To the School Officers of Charlevoix County.

What? Officers' meeting for Charlevoix county.

When? Wednesday, February 28, 1917. Ten to twelva a. m. and one to threo p. m.

Where? City Hall, Boyne City.

Who? W. L. Coffey, chief clerk and legal udvisor of the state department of Public Instruction, will have charge of the meeting.

Why?

Do you know what per cent of your teacher's salary you will need to hold back next year to pay into the Teachers' State Retirement Fund? Do you know that the Pension Law is compulsory? Can a member of your school board receive extra pay for extra services if the district votes to this effect? Why would the school board need to sanction a contract let at a district meeting? For what two things may a director or his representativa from the school board receivo pay ovar and above the salary voted him at the annual meeting? (Well, one of them is for attending this meeting, $2.00 for the day and all actual expenses to and from Boyne City.)

How?

Come on horseback. Come on foot.

Come on the train or bring a load of neighbors and friends.

You can prepare to do more for your district and for yourself this day than on any other day of the year. I hope that every school elector within driving distance of Boyne City will turn out to maka this meeting the record meeting of the year.

Yours for Better Schools,
Adv. 7t2 May L. Stewart, Com'r.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

We are started on the last week of the first month of the new semester. Since the 6:00 o'clock penalty has been removed, more tardy marks are noticed.

The busket ball team went to Boyne City Tuesday afternoon. We are praying for a win by six points, which will bring us even again on points. The boy scout team also went to play the scouts there.

The debating team is showing real interest in their subjects nnd we shall expect to hear some great speeches pro and con, when we meet Boyne and East Jordan. The subject is, "Resolved, That Compulsory Military Training Should Be Adopted by the High Schools of the United States." It is timely, at least.

The parliamentary law class is coming to take on the nspect of a real law maker assembly in that the members every once in a while apply very choice epithets to each other. The question of privilege has been raised oftener than the schoolhouse flag. The committee on fraternal relations is being kept busy.

Every once in a while someone revives the puerile pleasure of masticating paper until it is in a more or less pulpy form, and then propelling it rapidly in the direction of a more studious classmate. The epidemic usually lasts for only a short time, however.

Washington's Birthday

Bank Closed February 22

LEGAL HOLIDAY

It has been said of Washington that his modesty equaled his valor—that his courtesy was as pronounced as his greatness.

It is the Ideal and aim of this Institution to emulate Washington—so to grow in acts of Service and Courtesy that it may stand as a constant source of inspiration and progress.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months..... .75
One Copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

ELIMINATE CHILDREN DRIVERS.

Out of a grist of unimportant and apparently worthless bills introduced in the state legislature is one by Senator Koehler of Detroit, which bears the ear-marks of sound sense. It is no less than a bill providing that no driver of an automobile within the state shall be less than 18 years of age.

The bill should go even further and prescribe 18 as the minimum age for boy drivers and 20 as the minimum for girl drivers.

Much of the damage and injury to life and limb from automobile driving results from the handling of cars by children. A boy of 18 and under is by nature careless and reckless, and no girl under 20 has the poise and cool-headedness necessary to safety in driving a car. True, there are exceptions, but the exception does not prove the rule.

With the immense increase in the use of motor cars for pleasure and business, danger to life is constantly increasing by leaps and bounds, and if we would safeguard life we MUST eliminate the children drivers.

CHARACTERISTIC DELAY.

The refusal of the British government to permit shells for the American navy to be shipped from England stimulates Josephus Daniels to move for the erection of a government shell factory. The government armor plate factory for which bo secured an uppropriation a yeur ago has not yet been even located. One reason for the delay in proceeding with the game of putting American private plants out of business is said to be that the factory will cost more than twice the sum which Congress appropriated for it. The bill did not provide, in specific terms, for the making of shells in the plant; but the skill with which this administration reads into laws the things which it wishes to find authority for doing and the equal skill with which it reads out of laws the things which it does not wish to do, indicate that there will be little trouble on that score.

CITIZENS—NOT SUBJECTS.

There has never been any doubt whntever that in any controversy thnt may exist or arise between the United States and foreign countries, the people of America will stand solidly behind the president, even to the extent of defending things of which they may not wholly approve. This, however, does not mean that they will assume the attitude of abject subjects deprived of the right to think and speak for themselves. The Americun people are masters, aot servants. If they like the way public service is rendered, they huve a habit of saying so. To the extent that they do not approve of management of national affairs, they will also be frank in expressing their opinions. And this is not only their right but their duty.

The bond issue which the Democrats proposed will furnish money for the government nitrate plant, for the government armor plate plant, for the ships which the shipping board ia to buy, for Alaska railroad, and for the islands which wo havo just bought down in the Caribbean. These new items of property will be very up-to-date, with all the modern improvements—including a mortgage.

Every timo tho "pork" figures are mentioned, the general public has anotber "higb cost of living thrill."

If the Kaiser absolutely refuses to discuss peace plans, they might bo worked ovor and tried on Villa.

It'a got so now that a submarine seems to be the safest ocean vehicle thero is.

When will it be a dismeanor to bave a real oldfashioned thirst?

Dewey stood for true preparedness.

Feed and Flax Seed Grinding.
Corn on cob and small grains. Grinding Tuesdays and Saturdays. N. W. Smith, State street.—Adv. 7t4

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.
Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mnss at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Suaday previous.

Congregational Church.
Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Iroaton.
Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Mind."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Chureb of God.
Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

Baptist Church.
Educational Day.
A. M.—"The Reward of Faithfulness."
P. M.—"Justice and Mercy."
12 M.—Bible school, a graded school, every class organized. Today we begin our "Tour of Japan." Come.
Blue Birds meet ut 3:00. All children welcome. Mrs. Kindle, superintendent.
B. Y. P. U. at 6:00 o'clock. Don't fail to hear Mrs. Bearss on Cbirstian Culture Course.
Nearly 100 preseat last Sunday.
Prayer meeting Thursday evening.
Woman's Association meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.
Service Sunday afternoon at Marion. Preaching at 2:30 sharp.
Sunduy school at both Marion and Burgess at 1:30.

Methodist Church.
A. M.—"The New Program."
P. M.—Illustrated Sermon, "The Life of Joshua."

BARNARD.

Miss Merle Walker spent the week end with friends in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Scroggie spent the week end neur Bay Shore, nt the home of his father, Dean Scroggie.

Roy Bowdish of Charlevoix, spent the latter part of the week at the home of his sister, Mrs. Clarence Beattie.

George Spayd, who bas been in Detroit for some time past, came home last Wednesday on a visit to his purents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Spayd.

The I. T. class of the Barnard Sunday school, who are rehearsing for a play which they expect to give in the near future, enjoyed a chicken supper among themselves at the Barnard grange hall.

Mr. Stork brought another boy to this neighborhood last week on Thursday evening. This latest nrrival was left in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mayhew. Mrs. Mayhew was formerly Miss Annie Willis.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence J. Withers, Prop.
Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

HOW TO USE THE BIBLE IN TIMES OF NEED.

When in sorrow, read John xiv.
When men fail you, read Psalm xxvii.
When you have sinned, read Psalm li.
When you worry, read Matthew vi, 19-34.
Before church service, read Psalm lxxxiv.
When you are in danger, read Psalm xci.
When you have the blues, read Psalm xxxiv.
When God seems far awey, read Psalm cxxxix.
When you are discouraged, read Isaiah lx.
If you want to be fruitful, read John xv.
When doubts come upon you, try John vii, 17.
When you are lonely or fearful, read Psalm xxiii.
When you forget your blessings, read Psalm ciii.
For Jesus' idea of a Christian, read Matthew v.
For James' idea of religion, read James i, 19-27.
When your faith needs stirring, read Hebrews xi.
When you feel down and out, read Romans viii, 31-39.
When you want courage for your task, read Joshua i.
When the world seems bigger thao God, read Psalm xc.
When you want rest nnd pence, read Matthew xi, 25-30.
When you want Christian assurance, read Romans viii, 1-30.
For Paul's secret of happiness, read Colossians iii, 12-17.
When you leave home for labor or travel, read Psalm cxxi.
When you grow bitter or critical, read I Corinthians xiii.
When your prayers grow narrow or selfish, read Psalm lxvii.
For Paul's idea of Christianity, read II Corinthians v, 15-19.
For Paul's rules on how to get along with men, read Romans xii.
When you think of investments and returns, read Mark x, 17-31.
For a great invitation and a great opportunity, read Isaiah iv.
For Jesus' idea of prayer, read Luke xi, 1-13, Matthew vi, 5-15.
For the prophet's picture of worship that counts, read Isaiah lviii, 1-12.
For the prophet's idea of religion, read Isaiah i, 10-18, Micah vi, 6-8.
Why not follow Psalm cxix, 11, and hide some of these in your memory?
—Selected.

YOUR GARDEN.

How to Grow Gloxinias From Seede and Bulbs.

If gloxiuias are growu from seeds the seeds shonld le sown in shallow boxes filled with sifted loam. Make the surface level and sprinkle the seed thickly over it, then press them into the soil with a smooth board. Do not cover with soil, but take sphagnum moss (you can get a small quantity from the florist or seedsman where you purchase the seed) and rub it through the sieve and have it just cover the seed. As soon as the seed leaf is fully developed transplant to similar boxes half an inch apart. As soon as they are large enough put them into small pots and transplant when necessary. If the gloxinias are grown from bulbs these may be purchased for 10 cents. They require a soil of one part loam, one part leaf mold and one part sharp sand, with a sprinkling of the bonemeal. They seldom do well in common garden soil. Give them good drainage and keep the soil evenly moist, not too wet or too dry. Too much water makes them drop their buds. You must never wet the foliage of this plant, as it greatly injures it. This sounds like a lot of work, but it isn't, and the fact about the gloxinia is that it is very easy to grow. It thrives best with strong light, but little or no sun.

Do not cover the bulb. Let the crown come above the soil. Keep soil moist, but never have it like mud, as it would sour the soil and rot the bulb; also do not pour water on the bulb.

How to Clean Feather Pillows Without Losing the Fluff.

Make a bag of cheesecloth larger than the ticks. Empty each pillow into the bag and tie tightly. Fill the wash boiler with cold water, into which you have put a handful of washing soda and half a bar of white laundry soap. Put in one bag of feathers at a time and boil for fifteen minutes, pounding occasionally with the clothes stick. Take from boiler and rinse until water is clear. Squeeze out as much of the water as possible and spread the bags in the sun to dry, turning often. The drying may take two or three days. Wash and iron the ticks in the usual way.

How to Make Wat Shoes Soft and Pliable.

Shoes are now so dear that they ought to have extra care nowadays. If mothers will invest in a second grade of castor oil and grease the shoes often and plentifully and when wet if the shoes are filled with oats and left to stand overnight their resistance will be increased fourfold. The castor oil keeps the shoes soft, and the oats absorb dampness and hold the shape.

HOW TO REMOVE OIL FROM YOUR CRANK CASE.

An easy way to remova oil from crank case where oil is pumped through a sight feed would be to disconnect the pump running back to motor. Keep motor running—oil pump will force oil through pipe, which can be run into a can. This is only possible where splash feed is the final lubrication method used. Do not drain in this manner if oil is fed through hollow crank shaft or to main bearings direct. After all oil has been drained, reconnect parts and fill reservoir in the usual manner with fresh oil.

Get the habit—Read the Courier

FOOLISH BILL ON WAY TO LEGISLATURE

Would Compel Disclosure of Formulae on Patent Medicines.

Another foolish bill found its way into the legislature recently. David Littlejohn of Bridgeman, Berrien county, has introduced a measure requiring the disclosure of formulas of all proprietary or patent medicines sold in the state.

While the results aimed at by this bill might be beneficial in the case of many proprietary medicines, contnining large percentages of alcohol nnd little else of medicinal value, many long established firms dealing in remedies of good repute, even in medical circles, would be brought to the verge of financiul ruin by this forced exposure of their business secrets, the inviolability of which alone protects them from a host of imitators.

When huve we ever been so blessed with a legislative body more subservient to the crank lobbyist and long-haired peddler of panaceas for all our social ills? Better pass a bill providing heavy penalties for representatives of crafty and powerful medical associations, old maid reformers and superannuated fanatics of either sex who dare to approach within a half o mile of the legislative chambers while the solons are in session.

Miller's Specials.
Oleomargarine, lb 25c
4 pkgs Corn Flakes 25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps 25c
4 lbs. Head Rice 25c
Adv.7tf MRS. B. W. MILLER.

"GEORGE AND MARTHA."

Entertained Members of White Rose Hive No. 443.

Officers of White Rose Hive No. 443, L. O. T. M., entertained the members of the hive with a Colonial party, Tuesday evening, at the Odd Fellows ball.

"George and Martha" were the honored guests and were escorted into the hall by their devoted worshipers in a gaily decked chariot, led by a "military band.". A real Washington program was carried out in an appropriate setting of the natinnal colors and other patriotic emblems, after which dainty refreshments were served by the aforesaid "Martha and George," who performed their duties with true colonial grace and graciousness.

Soo us for your Job Priating.

Died Monday Night.

Peter Ecklund, who has been staying with his nephews, Ernest and Fabian Ecklund of Marion township this winter in an effort to regain his health, and who has been confined to his bed for the past three weeks, in the last stages of tuberculosis, died last Monday night at the age of 49. The funeral will be held from the Ecklund home at 10 o'clock, Friday, Rev. Kridler of Ellsworth, officiating.

See us for your Job Printing.

Pays to Advertise.

Two weeks ago B. P. Wilkinson placed a 25 cent advertisement in the Courier columns and informs us that the advertisement saved him $70.00. He was about to purchase a team and another render of the Courier offered him a bargain as a result of seeing the advertisement in the paper. He states that "it pays to advertise in the Courier if you have anything to buy or sell."

Subscribe for the Courier.

NEW SPRING SILKS

The new shades of Georgette Crepes are now in stock, 42 inches wide
$2.00 per yard
Yard wide Taffetas in Black and Colors
$1.50 per yard
Skinner's Guaranteed Silks, all Colors
$2.00 per yard
Crepe de Chines, White, Flesh, Black and other Colors
$1.50 and $2.00 per yard
Yard wide Messalines a great variety of shades
$1.25 per yard

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

Saturday Cash Special
Bon Ton Bread
8 Cents Loaf
2 LOAVES TO A CUSTOMER
H. B. JACOBS
Successor to Jacobs & Dawson 114 Bridge Street
MR FARMER: We want your Butter, Eggs, Beef, Pork, Mutton, Veal, Chickens, etc., and will pay the highest market prices.

Above everything else CERTAIN-TEED stands for quality, efficiency and economy. Any product bearing the name CERTAIN-TEED will deliver all three in heaping measure.

Certain-teed Roofing is the most efficient type of roofing for all kinds of buildings. For the sky-scraper a built up roof of CERTAIN-TEED is now recognized as the ideal roof.

For factories, especially where the roof area is considerable, the light weight, economy and long life of CERTAIN-TEED makes it by far the most desirable type of roof. For garages, out-houses, farm buildings, the economy, ease of laying and long life make CERTAIN-TEED superior to any other. For residences CERTAIN-TEED Slate Surfaced Shingles are artistic, light weight, economical.

CERTAIN-TEED costs less to buy, less to lay, and less per year of life. It is light weight, clean, sanitary and fire retardant. It will not dry out or rust, and is absolutely weathertight.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls, plain and slate surfaced; also in slate surfaced shingles. Three thicknesses, but only one quality—the best. Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply), but will outlive the period of guarantee.

The long life of CERTAIN-TEED is due to its quality and the saturation of a special blend of soft asphalts, kept soft, and prevented from drying out, by a coating of harder asphalts.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are made by experts and mixed by modern machinery, so that every can exactly conforms to the expert chemists' formula, both as to ingredients and color.

With modern facilities for manufacturing a full line of paints and varnishes, on a large scale; with unlimited resources, and the extensive sales organization of the Certain-teed Products Corporation, costs are materially reduced, and CERTAIN-TEED Paints can be sold for less than good paints usually cost.

The professinnal painter can not mix his own paints and compete with CERTAIN-TEED Paints any more than the small shoemaker can compete in price and style with the big shoe factories. It is better, both for the painter and the man who pays for the job, if the painter uses CERTAIN-TEED Paint. All uncertainty is eliminated, waste and left-overs are avoided, and the quality is assured.

Besides, CERTAIN-TEED Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction. Instead of the painter's guarantee you have the guarantee of a business which has become the largest of its kind in the world, because it makes and sells good goods at the lowest possible price, and backs them with all of its enormous resources.

If you are building, or need a new roof, it will pay you to investigate CERTAIN-TEED before deciding upon any type of roof. For sale by dealers everywhere.

If you paint it will pay you to use CERTAIN-TEED. If you employ a painter, insist, for his own good as well as yours, that he use CERTAIN-TEED Paints.

CERTAIN-TEED PRODUCTS CORPORATION
Proprietors of General Roofing Mfg. Co., Gregg Varnish Co., Mound City Paint & Color Co.

New York, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Nashville, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Salt Lake City, London, Philadelphia, Detroit, New Orleans, Atlanta, Houston, Sydney, St. Louis, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Richmond, Des Moines, Havana, Boston, Los Angeles, Seattle, Oakland, Dallas

SOLD BY
Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

CHAPTER XXII.

And Tomorrow, and Tomorrow,

THEY carried him into the house and bore him upstairs and laid him, quiet now and almost pulseless, upon the bed. They stood there dumfounded at the bedside until Miss Sarah, re-entering the room, coolly ordered them from underfoot and, sent them back downstairs. And at that their unprotesting obedience was of greater assistance than their hands could have been. But when, after one glance at the girl's stricken face, she tried the next instant to dismiss Barbara for once Miss Sarah's will alone proved insufficient. The girl refused, point blank, to go.

"He half undressed me and put me to bed," Barbara flung back in reply to the spinster's final objection, "and if that did not shock you, surely my staying now need not!"

The refusal itself brought a glint to the older woman's eyes and the phrasing thereof a flush to her cheeks, but she wasted no more words in what she knew to be useless argument. And though the girl grew sick and sicker still while Miss Sarah cut away the sodden shirt and started, with competent skill, to cleanse the wound, the latter let her remain and hold a basin of antiseptic and replenish it when necessary.

Miss Sarah knew what to do, and she worked with unhurried thoroughness. They had sent for the doctor, and after ages had passed for the girl, maddeningly cool and unruffled, he arrived. But his first words, too, were an order that she leave the room, and unable to combat his professional bleakness, meekly she had to obey. Little and wholly hopeless she stole downstairs.

Caleb and her father were confronting each other before the fireplace when she reached the lower floor, but the queer note of restraint in their voices meant nothing to her, until she heard her father cry out in sudden anguish.

"Cal," he cried, "Cal, you don't think I was a party to this attempt at murder?"

Then, at Caleb's reply, which went hurtling back at him, the girl was crouching, white and still, and clutching at the stair rail.

"Party! Attempt! Because you did not pull the trigger are you any the less guilty?"

"Do you believe that I would murder the man my girl loves?" Dexter Allison moaned now.

Barbara gasped at the deadly anger which crossed Caleb Hunter's face. Caleb had lifted a hand in righteous accusation.

"You have dealt in crookedness," he thundered. "You have thrived on cunning. And, being a law unto yourself in this country, you have gone unpunished until now. You aided and abetted a vicious and unscrupulous scoundrel in his villainy, and now you have looked upon the result of your works. Law has never touched you, sir—reprisal has passed you by. But, by God, sir, I warn you that if that boy dies—if he dies—I shall see that you meet me at thirty paces the next morning. And I shall not miss—I shall be your law!"

They had been friends for close to forty years, yet they were worse than strangers now. Dexter Allison could not answer. He could not speak aloud. Caleb's finger had swung toward the door in a gesture unmistakable. Allison turned, and, ghastly of face, met the eyes of his daughter.

"Barbara," he appealed to her frantically. "Baby"—

But she shrank, a huddled heap of misery, away from him.

"You—too?" she whispered. "You!" And then, dully: "And you're my father!"

The shoulders beneath the garish plaid rose and fell pitifully. This, then, was the moment which he feared. He gulped aloud and hung his head and turned his feet toward home. Barbara rose after he had gone and crept into a chair.

One after another they tried to persuade the girl to rest. Miriam came and talked to her, and Caleb, and even Miss Sarah passing through the room stopped to urge her again to go to bed. But she met them all with the same wordless refusal. She was waiting for him when the doctor, descending in the morning, tried to combine, diplomatically, praise for what she had done with disapproval of her obstinacy.

"My dear child, this insubordination will help no one," he said, "and it may end in your collapse at just the moment when you are needed most."

"Will he live?" was all she would say. "Will he live?"

And before such hopelessness the doctor could not lie.

"He is hard hit and very, very weak," he had to admit. "The shock is great and the tissue damage—unpromising. It is far worse than I expected, but he is still alive, and most men would have been already dead. And his vitality is a marvel even to me."

He might have comforted her, but with no other statement could he have told the truth. He failed also in his effort to persuade her to go to bed; he had breakfast with Caleb, and she refused to eat. And she was still there in her chair, asking only to be let alone, when Garry Devereau and Fat Joe arrived. She rose and ran to meet the latter, but the doctor who knew how many such situations the pudgy riverman had weathered, summoned him immediately, and Barbara had to wait an hour before Joe came back downstairs. By the lapels of his coat she clung to him then.

"He's mighty sick," reluctantly Joe, too, told the truth.

"The doctor said that it was worse than he expected," she droned. "They sent me away, but if he isn't going to live I won't let them keep me from him!"

Joe's sympathy was unspoiled by professionalism.

"Sick is one thing"—his confidence was almost convincing—"and dyin' is another. And— Shucks! I ain't going to let no book taught medico worry me yet! Men get well because they are bound to get well, or they die because it's their time to die—and he's got too much to live for now!"

Her hopeless face made deception impossible, but Joe comforted her, just the same. He persuaded her to eat with him, and when he found that his conversation made the waiting easier for her, he waxed quite garrulous.

"Why, he's been hurt almost as bad as this, once before," he rambled on, "but he's still alive, ain't he?"

The girl's eyes livened at that.

"Once, down on the island, he mixed in an affair in which most men would not have meddled. And he got it from behind that time, too, only it was with a knife."

"He never told me," murmured the girl.

"It ain't likely he would," the other stated with finality. "It was over a woman, and not a particularly pretty story, any way you look at it."

Her dark eyes widened. She bit her lip. It came to her how little of his life she had shared.

"Oh!" she barely breathed. And again, falteringly, "Oh!"

From that halting monosyllable Joe judged that something was amiss. Observation had never been a slow or painful process of concentration with him.

"He didn't even know who she was. He'd never seen her before," quickly he put her right. "She was just a public dancer, that was all. But a man—mistreated her, and Steve, he just interfered"—

Indeed, Joe had found the way to comfort her and still tell the truth, even though he found it foolishly difficult to swallow food and watch at the same time the warmth which his words kindled. So far an hour he lingered at table and told her many things concerning the man she loved which she would never have learned from his own lips. And it was Joe's jocularity which in the end subdued her rebel spirit. She yielded at last and promised to go home and rest, but only after he had promised first, in a fashion which could leave no doubt in her heart, that he would come for her if things grew worse.

Before she left him that morning she told Joe of Big Louie, whom she had had to leave in the road, but he interrupted her before she could finish. They had already found Big Louie. Then she gave him the note which she had discovered crushed under Steve's body. This Joe scanned ferociously; he flashed a strange glance at her from bleached blue eyes.

"Some one traced your name," he put into words the first thought that had been hers. "Some one who had your signature to copy."

She nodded, whitely, in horror. Joe folded the paper and tucked it into a pocket.

"We can touch nobody," he averred regretfully, "unless we catch Harrigan."

Caleb himself took Barbara home, and on the way across the lawn she giggled suddenly at the funny way in which the distance seemed to increase and then lessen between her eyes and her feet. The ground persisted in rising to meet her, she said, until she had to cling to Caleb's arm. And the outer steps proved difficult to negotiate. But at the sight of her father sunk in silence upon his desk in the ground floor "office" she drew her hand from the crook of Caleb's arm and went swiftly across to him.

"Barbara," he besought her brokenly the moment her cheek touched his, "you mustn't believe that I"—

She hushed him with gentle fingers laid upon his lips.

"I have been a very foolish and hysterical child," she said. "I'll try to behave more like a woman now. And you and Uncle Cal have been only—absurd!"

She had to laugh again at the behavior of her feet as she climbed upstairs, but her head seemed steady enough. It was only after she had reached her own room that she complained querulously of the failing lights. Miriam had to help Cecile undress and put her to bed.

On the floor below her father had turned again to his desk, his head bowed under his arms. And total breakdown was imminent for Dexter Allison when a hand touched awkwardly his shoulder. He looked up heavily to meet this time the eyes of Caleb Hunter. Caleb stuttered furiously at first, for sentimentality shamed him. Then a happy thought showed the way.

"Dexter, I secured a few sprigs of very superior mint yesterday." He made of it a ceremonial. "Do you think you would—care to join me, sir?"

They had been friends for close to forty years not because of common tastes, but in spite of innate dissimilarity. Dexter came to his feet. He reached out and crushed the other man's hand within his soft, white fingers. Nor was his reply quite according to formula.

"I don't mind if I do, Cal," he accepted fervidly. "Thank God, I don't mind if I do!"

Arm in arm they recrossed to the white columned house. And they kept close, each to the other, throughout the hours of suspense that followed, finding a potent though unconfessed reassurance in such companionship.

Delirium came again upon the sick man who lay in the room which Miss Sarah had always kept waiting for him. Fever strode upon him, while the girl who had brought him home slept in complete exhaustion. At times Steve lay quiescent, only muttering fitfully; the next moment he called crisply for Fat Joe—he feared for his bridge—and Joe had to exert every iron muscle to hold him down. And always he spoke Barbara's name, with a poignant gentleness that left Miss Sarah on the verge of collapse. But he continued to live, through that day and the next night, even when the doctor shook his head and Fat Joe rose to go for the girl, as he had promised he would, in the last extremity. He continued to live, and with the coming of the second dawn suddenly he was no longer delirious. Stephen O'Mara opened his eyes and gazed feebly but very understandingly into the eyes of Fat Joe, who was watching at that moment.

Joe tried to hush him, but he would talk a little.

"I know," he pronounced each word with calculated effort. "I have been very sick, and I must not waste my

"Say that I am still—half boy—to you!"

strength. But I have to be clear, first, on one point. Have I dreamed it, Joe, or—or did she bring me home?"

With his voice alone, when all else seemed failing, Joe had kept his friend alive. The doctor believed it; Miss Sarah knew it to be so. And first of all Joe had to voice his thankfulness, for it was an explosive thing.

"Didn't I tell her so?" he demanded in his whining tenor. "Didn't I say so, all along? And I let that doctor worry me, just because he's got a diploma in a frame, hanging on his wall!"

Then he answered Steve's question.

"She found you," he said. "She brought you home."

A long time the sick man lay and pondered. And finally he found it possible to smile.

"I have not cared whether I lived or died," he said in little more than a whisper. "All along I have seemed to know how near I was—to going across, and I have been near to quitting—at times. For I was happier than I'd ever dared let myself be, before—and then, with the first shot that dropped Big Louie, I knew"— He shook his head, still smiling vaguely. "I have not wanted to live, but I am looking at things—more like a man now. You need not worry any longer, Joe. I'll sleep a little while, I think, and then I'll put my mind hard on getting well, when I awake."

That marked the end of delirium, and with sleep which came almost while he was talking the fever began to abate. He put his mind on getting well," when he awoke twelve hours later. Strength was flowing in a steady tide back into his body long before Barbara's knees would again bear her weight. For she had squandered her endurance without counting the cost, and she paid the full penalty. She lay three days and three nights railing at her weakness before she could get up at all, and even then Cecile, her little maid, clucked disapprovingly at the dark circles beneath her eyes.

Joe was several days absent on that errand which had all but emptied the seething town of men. He returned the same day Barbara was about again, forced to admit that Harrigan and Fallon and Shayne had won clear. And there was nothing left to the disgruntled groups which straggled in behind him, save tall and heated em-jecture. Some said that they must have managed to cross the border, others maintained that they had found sanctuary in the lumber camps of the lake country to the west, but no matter which guess was right the net result stood unchanged. For it is upon the one who runs away that the blame is always laid, and Archibald Wickersham knew fully as well as did Caleb and Allison and Fat Joe that, without Harrigan, they could not hope to touch him. Harrigan had disappeared from the ken of men, and Wickersham delayed only until his departure could no longer be construed as flight. Then one evening modestly he boarded a train.

After she had rested Barbara proved almost humbly amenable to reason, until it was best for her to go to him she would wait as patiently as she was able.

Miss Sarah ordered a week of unbroken quiet and rest for her patient, and Steve, and not Barbara, proved the difficult one to manage during that period. For with returning strength there came to him recollection of many things which required his attention. He fretted over his work; he swore humorously at Fat Joe, who, coming to make daily reports as soon as Miss Sarah realized that the good in such visits far exceeded the benefits of sleep and solitude, assured his chief that they had accomplished much, unhampered as they were by carping authority.

But he lay and brooded, no humor in his eye, when he was left alone. Fat Joe had assured him that she had brought him home, but Fat Joe, who was ever averse to anti-climax, had told him no more than that. His efforts at entertainment were only the more spontaneous those days because of the soberness of his friend's face. And then the same day that Joe raised him against the pillows so that he might watch a string of flat cars, high piled with logs, roll into the yards, they let her go to him.

Steve was listening to the shrill salute of the whistle which he knew was McLean's paean of victory; he was smiling a little wistfully over the memory which, with McLean, always recurred to him, when he turned and saw her standing on the threshold. She had come on diffident, mouselike feet. She was watching him. And before he believed it really was she, Barbara faltered his name.

"Steve!"

It was only a wisp of a sound—an aching, throbbing bit of tenderness lighter even than the breath that bore it.

"Steve!" she breathed again.

But thereupon, with a headlong little rush that scattered spools of bandages and rolls of lint and set the bottles upon his table jingling dangerously, she flew to him and came, somehow, into his arms.

They had not told him—at first he could not speak. Dumbly he sat, his face bowed upon that brown head pillowed in his arms. She had told herself that she was a woman now—yet her first words were all girl.

"Tell me just once that I'm pretty," she quavered. "Say that I am still—half boy—to you!"

His tongue unsteadied with joy, he told her again, as he had told her on that other day, and, watching the old, old wonder of her grow in his eyes, she listened as though she were taking the words, one by one, from his lips. But there was nothing boyish in the crooked little arch of her mouth—nothing boyish in the depths of her dark and brimming eyes. She remembered his wincing shoulder then. Her arms crept higher about his neck. And now her face was uplifted, and there was no more need for words.

Afterward when they spoke of Big Louie she loved him more for the sorrow which he did not try to hide. From Fat Joe he had already learned of Big Louie's last dereliction. Out of a deeper silence Steve spoke gravely—an epitaph for the man to whom he had been unfailingly kind.

"Most any kind of a failure can live," he said, "but it takes a man—to smile and die."

(To be continued next week.)

IRONTON.

Miss Mary Weldy spent the week-end with her parents.

H. L. Barnum and Ross Alexander went to Charlevoix Saturday.

Mrs. Munson is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Bird.

Fred Hammond and Ace Stuart are hauling stone from Breezy Point farm.

Sam Alexander, who has been on the sick list, is some better at this writing.

Mrs. Henry Hammond and Pansy Hammond visited the Ironton school Friday afternoon.

Newell Webb of Boyne City spent the week end with friends and relatives of this place.

The stork made a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown, and left a fine baby boy.

Emil Nasson, Frank Courier and Louis Peterson called at the home of Mrs. William Orvis last Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bird and Mrs. Munson called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson one day last week.

The dance at the Ironton Grange hall was a decided success, step-dancing being one of the features of the evening.

Harness repair work not called for within the next 30 days will be sold. Call and get yours at once. Benj. Brown.—Adv.8tf.

Insure Against Accident, Sickness

One Man out of Every Seven is Disabled by Accident Each Year.

Our New "Standard" Accident and Sickness Policy Provides Liberal Benefits in Case of Accident or Sickness.

Sold to Men or Women and Costs Less Than Five Cents a Day.

Insurance Begins the Day Policy is Issued.

Pays in case of death by accident $200 to $5,000 according to nature of accident.

Pays for loss of time caused by accident or sickness $100 per month.

Provides for Doctor's fees and Hospital charges

ASK US ABOUT IT.

The Burnett Agency

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under direct control of State Banking Department

Examined regularly by Competent Examiners

Five reports of its financial condition published in this paper at different intervals during the year as called for by the Banking Commissioner

Your banking business respectfully Solicited

4% Interest

Paid on Savings Deposits

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crane, President.

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. W. J. Rachow, Vice President.

A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to

Make DATES at COURIER Office

Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or, boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President

D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

WOMAN SUFFRAGE EDITION

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE WOMAN WHO VOTES

AS SEEN BY HERSELF

Testimony From Women Voters Collected by the National American Woman Suffrage Association Shows That Western Women are for the Federal Amendment

Why did she do it and what will she do next are the twn questions oftenest on men's lips, whenever and wherever their attention tarns toward woman. It is not, therefore, tn be wondered at that the woman voter's pre- and election performances held man's engrossed attention, and, in the result, set them to muttering equivocally ahoat the "eternal feminine" and "woman's manifold mystery." So much hus been written and said nbont the woman vote hy others than those who did the voting, that the National American Woman Suffrage Association considers it of interest and profit to suhmit some testimony from the women voters themselves.

Among the representations claimed as conclusively proved by the woman vote, the chief has been that the western woman is indifferent to her eastern sister's enfranchisement, as shown by her predilection for Mr. Wilson in spite of Mr. Hughes's pronounced commitment in favor of the Federal suffrage amendment. It is in regard to this aspect of the questioo that the testimony on file at the national suffrage headquarters is of particular interest.

This testimouy comes from every suffrage-state in the Union, and from it leaps the insisteuce that, whichever way they voted, the women were not, lu their own convictiou, turning a cold shoulder upon suffrage. Some voted for Hughes, some for Wilson, but it would seem that in casting up chances, so far as the amendment was concerned, the woman voter showed a disposition to rest her faith on achievement rather than on promise. Mr. Hughes had come out for the suffrage amendment, but he was appraised as a late comer-out. Mr. Wilsan's earlier cooversion to suffrage und actual vote for suffrage and actual grip on his party weighed heavily in his favor. There was, also, a conviction that Wilson could handle a reluctant party hetter than it could be handled under a Republican administration, itself not committed to nation-wide suffrage as a party measure.

A Kansas woman sums up the indications thus: "Many of our women voted for Wilson because he voted for suffrage in New Jersey and because if elected for n second term he could do mere for suffrage than in the first when his party had been so opposed."

An Oregon woman declares that she worked for the return of President Wilson as hard as she could and "I never failed to emphasize on every occasion that President Wilson voted for suffrage and that I neard him say in Atlantic City that in the end we would not quarrel about mothed. I for one shall be greatly disappointed if the Federal amendment does not pass during the next administration."

"Women here," writes a Nevada woman, "are rejoicing over having cast their first ballot and are more anxious than ever that all women should have the same right."

And a California woman who voted for Hughes points out that it is a signal fact that in only one state could the woman's vote be separately counted, and in that state they voted for the candidate who was outspokenly in favor of the Federal amendment.

What an Idaho woman says about the fear of reactionary forces is voiced by not a few. "As many Republican men as Republican women voted the Democratic ticket this year for the sola purpose of 'getting rid of the gang.' The political pot needed cleansing."

abowed this difference; I chess Wilson.

"My belief in woman suffrage and my hope of a Federal amendment had also much to do with my vota. I voted for a Republican for Senator (Poindexter), because his past record on suffrage and other matters was better than that of his opponent, and for the Democrat, George Cotterill, for Congress, for the same reason. No greater contribution could have been made by our state toward the Federal amendment than the election of George Cotterill."

One of the three appointees to serve on the United States Employes' Compensation Commission is Mrs. Frances C. Axtell, of Bellingham, Wash. Mrs. Axtell has a fine record of "firsts." She is the first woman ever appointed to such service, and she was one of the first two women in Washington to be elected to the State Legislature. Mrs. Axtell doesn't contend that women alone can manage affairs better than men alone. She even goes so far as to say that maybe men alone could do better than women alena. Her point is against that aloneness. Neither men alone nor women alone constitute an ideal state.

"Women look at life from a different angle from men, and both viewpoints should be represented," she says. "Most men are in politics because they want to do something or somebody, women are in it because they want to get something done. Then, too, women are not bound by party fealty; they vote for what they think is right, and for the people they think will do what is right, regardless of party."

President Wilson Congratulates North Dakota

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, has received the following letter from President Wilson:

"My dear Mrs. Catt:—May I not express to you and your organization, as well as to the women of North Dakota, my congratulations upon the passage by the legislature of that State of a bill granting to the women of the State the right to vote for presidential electers and for municipal officers? As you know, I have a very real interest in the extension of the suffrage to the women, and I feel that every step in this direction should be applauded.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,"

(Signed) Woodrow Wilson.

Colorado Men Repudiate Anti-Suffrage Falsehoods

Becoming weary of aspersions cast upon the fair name of Colorado by anti-suffragists anxious to prove the failure of woman suffrage at any cost, leading men of Denver have issued a statement in which they set forth the truth with regard to the economic condition of the State and credit woman suffrage with a big share in conducing to Colorado's health and prosperity. The statement is signed by eighteen of the leading bankers of Denver, headed by H. J. Alexander, president of the First National Bank, and by the heads of the fifteen leading retail establishments, while lawyers, clergymen, the superintendent of public schools, the supervisor of high schools, other educators and doctors at the top of their respective professions are also among the signatories. Dr. Clinton Hickey signs for the City Federation, a delegate organization of the Associated Charities, Ministerial Alliance and more than forty altruistic societies of Denver.

ANNA LOUISE STRONG

In a pointed analysis of the woman vote, Miss Anna Louise Strong, one of the representative women of the Pacific coast, known far and wide for her vivid concern in advanced social and industrial programs, summarizes considerations that weighed with the western woman voter as follows:

"The Democratic platform was practically identical with the Republican, and the character of the two candidates differed only in that one had been broadened by four years' experience in the White House, and the other had passed those years in the ultra-conservative atmosphere of the Supreme Court. Their utterances

THEY WATCH IT WORK; THEN THEY VOTE IT IN.

Every equal suffrage state is adjacent to another equal suffrage state—that is, every state except Wyoming which has granted votes for women had an opportunity to know beforehand how equal suffrage worked in one or more neighboring states.

In no country, state or community which has granted women a measure of suffrage has it ever been voted away from them, and in most cases the original franchise right has been enlarged and extended.

(Courtesy of the Missouri Woman) (Myers)

THE WOMAN WHO WENT BEFORE

MISS RANKIN, OF MONTANA.
By DR. FRANK CRANE.

When Miss Jeannette Rankin of Missoula, Montana, takes her seat in the National House of Representatives among 434 men, it will be a sight for men and angels.

It will be an act symbolic of the progress of the human race.

The nation will watch her as the fond mother watches her baby take its first step.

It will be as significant as when the first black man cast his vote.

Or Luther uttered his protest in the Diet of Worms.

Or the teacher called to order the children in the first public school in the United States.

Or the French people said good-by to their last King.

Or the last witch was hanged.

Or the last heretic was roasted.

Or the last man imprisoned for debt.

Or the first telegram sent over the land, or the first cablegram under the ocean, or the first wireless message through space.

"The world do move," and when Miss Rankin takes her place in the legislative body of the greatest nation on earth, you can almost see said world start forward like an automobile when the driver throws in the clutch.

Carlyle called Dante "the voice of ten silent centuries." Miss Rankin will be the voice of forty.

The incident will be another mark of democracy coming of age, the entrance of one-half of the citizens into conscious self-government.

It will mean one-half of the population emerging from nonage.

It will signify the triumph of reason over prejudice and petrified custom.

It will indicate that the day is approaching when the woman and the child shall assume their rightful prominence in the eye of government, and that lawmakers shall turn their minds to education, to public health, and to human welfare, to something else besides swords and pocketbooks.

In the sea of democracy, woman shall no more dwell upon an island of disfranchisement.

And the sonorous saying of the judicious Hooker shall take on new meaning, that "of law no less can be said than that all things in heaven and earth do her homage—the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power."

(Courtesy the Associated Newspapers.) —Copyright by Frank Crane.

THE EXTENT OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE ALL OVER THE WORLD

Women Have Full Suffrage in British Empire:

	Dating From
Isle of Man	1881
New Zealand	1893
Australian Federation	1902
British Columbia	1916
Manitoba	1916
Alberta	1916
Saskatchewan	1916
Scandinavia:
Finland	1906
Norway	1907
Iceland	1913
Denmark	1915
United States:
Wyoming	1869
Colorado	1893
Idaho	1896
Utah	1896
Washington	1910
California	1911
Arizona	1912
Kansas	1912
Oregon	1912
Alaska	1913
Montana	1914
Nevada	1914

Women Have Municipal Suffrage in:

	Dating From
British Empire:
Canada-Ontario	1884
New Brunswick	1886
Nova Scotia	1887
Prince Ed. Island	1888
Quebec	1892
Union of South Africa	1918
Great Britain:
England-Wales	1869
Scotland	1881
Ireland	1898
Scandinavia:
Sweden	1862
Denmark	1908
United States:
Illinois	1913
North Dakota	1917

Women Have School Suffrage in United States:

	Dating From
Kentucky	1838
Michigan	1875
Minnesota	1875
New Hampshire	1878
Massachusetts	1879
Mississippi	1880
Vermont	1880
New York	1880
Nebraska	1883
New Jersey	1887
North Dakota	1887
South Dakota	1887
Oklahoma	1890
Connecticut	1893
Ohio	1894
Delaware	1898
Wisconsin	1900
New Mexico	1910

Women Have Limited Suffrage in, (That is, May Vote on Taxation or Bonding Propositions:)

	Dating From
Iowa	1894
Louisiana	1898
New York	1901
Michigan	1908

Women Have Presidential Suffrage in:

	Dating From
Illinois	1913
North Dakota	1917

Other Forms of Suffrage.

In certain districts of Austria, Germany, Hungary and Russia women who own property are permitted to cast their votes on various communal matters, either by proxy or in their own persons. In Belgium, Bulgaria, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Roumania and Switzerland, women have no political rights whatever, but are permitted to vote for certain state boards, educational, philanthropic, correctional, or industrial.

RESULTS OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Polling Places Have Been Made Decent.

Helps Bring Equal Pay for Equal Work.

Eight-Hour Laws for Women Have Been Extended.

The Juvenile Court Laws Have Been Improved.

Pensions for Teachers Have Been Provided.

Age of Consent Has Been Raised.

State Training Schools for Girls Have Been Provided.

Community Property Laws Have Been Amended to be more just to women.

The Guardianship of Children Is Divided Between Mother and Father.

Funds for Needy Mothers Provided.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE WOMAN WHO VOTES

AS SEEN BY AN ON-LOOKER

She Is Domestic—She Is Vitally Interested in Social Legislation—She Is Not Vitally Interested in Political Jobs—Sex Antagonism Unknown in West

In the recent Presidential election the woman voter exploded numerous theories about herself and established a few facts. To the query would she vote if she had the ballot, the West emphatically replied, YES! To the query, would she vote as her husband voted, the West emphatically replied NO! Political parties complain bitterly of the irresponsibility of the woman voter, meaning that women can't be corralled, molded into party form, and made to voice their opinions as a unit. They show a maddening independence in scratching a ballot. Republican women have been openly accused of voting for a Democratic president, and Democratic women of deserting to a Republican candidate. And the women don't deny it, they blandly explain that they vote for the best man, irrespective of party.

Domestic Life.

The Western woman is, perhaps, as busy a person as any woman of the country. Her domestic interests form a bee-hive of industry. The West is a place of homes and intimate family life; so acute is the servant problem, that even wealthy women are often compelled to be their own cooks and bottle-washers. They can handle a vacuum-cleaner with all the skill of an experienced hand. They have children, not in ones and twos, but in the good old-fashioned way of three and seven. There is not the acute line-up between riches and poverty that the East has developed in its millionaires and factory hands. The majority of families are in comfortable circumstances; they live a sane, out-door, busy, healthy existence. The women take their politics as an adjunct of their homes.

Keen About Social Legislation.

The women seem inclined to leave the machinery of government in the hands of the men; what they want is results. They are keen about good schools, well paved streets, sanitary homes, moral and social conditions. Every legislature finds some women at the various capitols, looking after a bill the women are behind, but the bill usually deals with a social issue. While the western women are becoming more keenly interested in, as they grow more familiar with, their municipal and national problems, they are not, according to politicians, showing any great eagerness for political jobs. Sometimes the women turn a trick on the men in a spirit of good-natured raillery as in the case of Umatilla, Oregon, where the women plotted over their teacups to replace the town councilmen with women. The mayor, Mr. E. E. Starcher, was defeated for re-election by his wife, Mrs. E. E. Starcher, and he didn't seem to mind. He just proceeded to get his desk into shape for the in-coming incumbent and it isn't even recorded that he gave her any advice. Four councilmen, including the recorder and treasurer, lost their jobs to women. The women were not entirely satisfied with Umatilla, and they wanted to try their hand at improvements, and the men were willing.

No Sex Antagonism.

The spirit of comradeship between men and women of the West is inspiring to an Easterner who has been frightened by the bogey that suffrage would destroy all those womanly qualities which attract men. In no part of the country do men and women seem so nearly to complement each other as in those sections where they are working out their civic problems together. One finds the western man even more aggressive in his endorsement of woman suffrage than the western woman. As an instance of how much it is taken for granted, at a recent conference of Progressives and Republicans, in Seattle, held to draft a tentative platform for the purpose of uniting Progressives and Republicans, the national suffrage amendment providing for nation-wide woman suffrage, was an inevitable part of the progressive legislation urged.

FLORENCE YOUNG.

HER SUFFRAGE SASH AROUND THE WORLD

China now has a lively suffrage society, agitating for three great reforms: The abolition of the opium traffic, of foot binding and of child slavery.

While there is no organized effort to secure woman suffrage among Japanese women, they are heading rapidly that way. The latest news from Cherry Blossom Land is that one hundred thousand women have founded an organization to demand their rights and have sworn never to marry unless their prospective husbands agree to support a movement for obtaining for them equal treatment with men, matrimonially and morally, and an improved economic position.

Copyright by National American Woman Suffrage Association.)

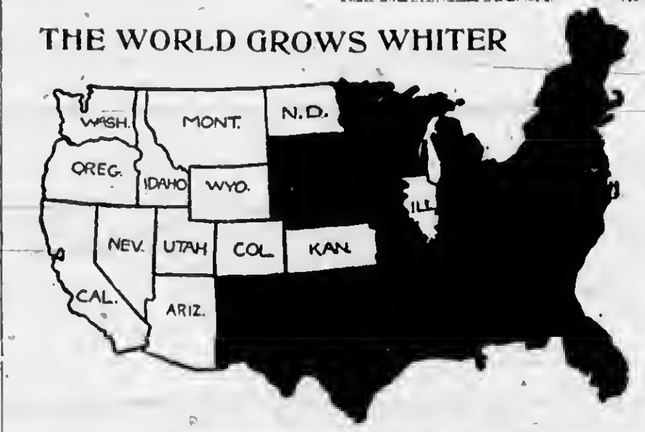
India boasts a well defined suffrage movement with some good working organizations, like the notable one at Mussoorie. Women in Bombay and Bagoda have the municipal suffrage, and Hindu, Mohammedan, Parsi and Buddist women have voted in the municipality of Rnogoon, in Burmah, for thirty years.

The women of Argentina, while still far from the vanguard of the woman movement, are waking up to modern possibilities. Today, many of them are working as heads of large humanitarian societies, which they have organized to help women and children. They have taken the first step. The second step comes when the women think a little further and endeavor to prevent the wrongs they see by demanding a voice in lawmaking.

A clause has been added to the revised constitution of Holland making women eligible in all governing offices and giving them a chance to get the ballot as soon as the government in power will grant it.

THE WORLD GROWS WHITER



New Suffrage Map For 1917.

North Dakota makes the first contribution to the suffrage map in 1917. Its bill for presidential suffrage passed both houses last month and Governor Frazier signed it January 23. Thus does a great commonwealth add five more electoral votes to the quota in which women are already directly concerned. That quota is now ninety-six. Full suffrage is confidently expected to follow as fast as North Dakota legislative procedure allows.

Columbia Ignitor BATTERIES

COST NO MORE
LAST LONGER

FOR SALE BY

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Mrs. B. P. Wilkinson is visiting in Bellaire this week.

Earl Young made a business trip to Ellsworth, Moaday.

John McCann of Petoskey, was a visitor in the city Tuesday.

J. Leahy of Petoskey, the optometrist, was in town Monday.

Mrs. Richard Lewis visited in Petoskey Tuesday and Wednesday.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heise, Monday, February 19, a little son.

G. Ellsworth Dutton made a business trip to Pbelps Monday morning.

Mrs. O. D. Hammond accompanied her husband to Grand Rapids, Tuesday.

J. E. Redmond returned Monday morning from n short visit to Ann Arbor.

W. P. Porter and wife of East Jordan, were visitors to tbe city Saturday.

Capt. Charles Roe of Harbor Springs, was in the city Thursday on business.

Alfred Brown left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, where he will nttend the automobile show.

O. D. Hammond and Harry Hooker left Tuesday for Grand Rapids to attend the auto show.

Mrs. Henry Blackman of Traverse City was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonthron last week.

Fred V. Alexander leaves Thursday for Grand Rapids, where he will attend the automohile show.

Charles Novak returned Monday morning from Chicago, where he went last week on business.

W. S. Humphrey, formerly of Gaylord,has accepted a position with with the Charlevoix County Bank.

A. G. Urquhart and J. M. Harris of Boyne City, were in town Thursday on business at the court house.

Miss Margaret Ryan left last week for Chicago, on a two weeks visit to her sister, Mrs. Forrest Bartholomew.

Miss Minnie Whitley of Chicago, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Whitley on Mason street, this week.

Mrs. Alonzo Teasdale of Ontario, Canada, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. M. See on Dixon avenue, for a few weeks.

Benjamin Brown, accompnnied by William Wallace and Joseph Extrum, left Monday morning for the auto s ow at Grand Rapids.

Dr. A. A. Swinton visited Mills B and C of the Argo Co. at East Jordan and Central Lake, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Lawrence Terry, who hase been visiting friends and relatives in the west for the past six weeks, returned home last Wednesday.

F. R. Williams, of the Elk Rapids-Enst Jordun law firm of Clink & Williams, was in town Saturday on business at the court house.

Rev. Quinton Walker, who was quite ill last week for several days and threatened with pneumonia, was able to resume his duties Sunday.

Mrs. Don M. King of Petoskey, (formerly Miss Merle Felts) is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Felts on Mason street this week.

Erickson & Fowler unloaded a consignment of three Maxwell cars Monday, one of which is sold to Lou S. See, a five-passenger touring car.

T. G. Finucan and wife returned from Grand Rapids, Friday night. Mr. Finucan has been attending the state Democratic convention in that city.

Earl Miller filled in for Clinton Cooper a day or two lnst week on the latter's mail route, while Clinton was convulescing from his recent illness.

Mrs. Frank T. Biossat returned Mondny night from Detroit, where she has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. L. P. Watson, for the past three weeks.

F. V. Tyler and family have removed from the Burdick house on Antrim street to the house formerly occupied by the late George Fay on south May street.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong is in Chicago for a stay of two weeks. While there he will attend the X-Ray convention and take up special work in the Michael Reese hospital.

J. W. Rogers of East Jordan, was in town Monday on business. Mr. Rogers is one of the members if the County Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission.

There will be a pot luck supper nt the Masonic Temple, Tuesday evening, February 27. All Masons and members of the Eastern Star and their families are invited.

Mrs. H. L. Iddings returned Monday night from Benton Harbor, where she has been visiting nt the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shephard, for several weeks past.

R. C. Hnmmett left Monday morning for u visit to his old home in Illinois. He expects to take in the auto show at Grand Rapids and will stop at Detroit on the way down.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie L. Lewis left Monday morning for Ohio and Canadinn points on a visit to friends and relatives. They expect to be gone until the second week in March.

Miss Emma Wakefield entertained 35 of her friends at the home of David Alexander, last Friday evening. A few games were played and a fine lunch was served. All departed saying they had n very nice time.

Last Friday evening nbout fifty friends and neighbors of Mrs. Chas. Novak gave her a surprise in honor of her birthday. Dancing and other amusements took up the evening entertainment, followed by refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Swinton left Tuesdny afternoon for Grand Rapids, where they will visit the auto show, going from there to Ann Arbor to meet Miss Ione Swinton, and then on to Detroit, visiting friends in both cities for a few days.

Alonzo Powers and wife met their son, Leo and family of Harbor Springs, in Petoskey last Friday,who returned with them to Charlevoix, where Mrs. Powers, Jr., and the baby will visit for sometime. Leo returned to Harbor Springs, Tuesday.

Mrs. George Weaver is hostess to the Missionary society of the Congregational church, Friday, February 23, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Correll conducts the devotional hour and Mrs. Harry Nicholls is leader of the topic, "Work Among Lepers of the World." All are cordially invited.

W. E. Hampton went to Petoskey Monday night to exsmine the officers of the local K. of P. lodge, to determine their standing in the officers contest which is now being held throughout the state. Tuesday evening he went on to Kalkaska, to perform a similar service, and expects to return to Charlevoix Thursday.

W. W. Bettes, father of Floyd Bettes of this city, who has been quite ill with the grippe for tbe past week, is much better. Other members of the family have been suffering from this malady, particulnrly Mrs. Bettes" mother, Mrs. Louise Ulrich, whose condition for a time was quite serious. All, however, are now recovering.

The power boat "Chaco," owned by Peter G. Thomson of Hamilton, Ohio, wbo is a summer resident of Charlevoix, is now being remodeled by the Matthews Boat company at Port Clinton, Ohio. She will have a new pair of Model F. Sterling engines, each developing 150 to 200 h. p., and will be refinished throughout in Mahogany; the changes contemplated making practically a new boat of her.

The Christian Endeavorers held a banquet nt the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taggart lnst Wednesday, St. Valentine's Day. The table was prettily decorated with hearts. Odillion Weed, the leader of the winning side, was unavoidably detained. His chair was draped in mourning and his nbsence was deplored by everyone. After supper games were played and a pleasant evening enjoyed by everyone.

Roy Ranger leaves Thursday for Chicago, to be gone until the middle of next month, stopping a few days at the auto show in Grand Rapids. His objective point is the Leow-Victor Engine company's works in Chicago, where he will assist in testing out the 400 h. p. Dusenberg engine which the above named company is constructing for Logan Thomson's new 48-foot cruiser, the "Sylvia." Sometime in May, Mr. Ranger expects to go to Milwaukee and hring the "Sylvia" to Charlevoix.

Hon. George L. Lusk of Bay City, deputy secretary of state, was at the Hotel Charlevoix Thursday and Friday and addressed the Chnrlevoix Historical Society banquet Friday evening.

WHEN FIRE RAVAGED CHICAGO

A Reminiscence of Nearly Half a Century Ago.

It was 46 years ago, namely, on October 8, 1871, that one of the greatest fires of modern times started in the rapidly growing city of Chicago. Chicago was then practically a wooden city, even to the sidewalks,and when, as tradition has it, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern in a stable in the lumber section of the town, it was not long before a conflagration was raging beyond the power of the city's fire department to control.

The fire was not checked until an area of 3½ miles had been burned, over 17,450 buildings wer destroyed, with a property loss of $196,000,000; 100,000 people were left homeless and 250 lost their lives.

All this terrible situation in Chicago is vividly brought to mind by a group of pictures now being exhibited in the window of the Burnett Agency, the local agent of the Glenn Falls Ins. Co., who has placed these pictures on exhibition there. The insurance company intends to issue a series of these great fire scenes, which are as authentic as it can obtain. Many of tbe scenes were drawn at the time by representatives of such illustrated papers as Harper's Weekly.

Special Services.

Next Sunday will be a special day at the Methodist church. In the morning the subject of the sermon will be "The New Program." Every Methodist should be there. In the evening will be an illustrated sermon on "The Life of Joshua," typifying courage. Forty beautiful, colored slides will be shown. All are cordially invited.

Announcement.

John Slezak has moved bis shoe shop from the Wood building to the first door north of Moore's restaurant, formerly the old bakery.—Adv.7t4.

Kitchen Shower.

There will be a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. A. Evers of Bay Shore, Wednesday afternoon, February 28, for the benefit of the Armstrong family, who recently lost everything by fire. This will be a fine opportunity for everybody to show their sympathy in a practical way.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 21, 1917.

Grains

White wheat, per bu	$1.60
Red wheat, per bu	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.50
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Oats	.64
Barley, per bu	1.00
Buckwheat, per cwt	2.40
Rye	1.20
Shelled Corn	1.10

Dressed Meats

Cattle, fatted	$10.00 to $11.00
Pork, dressed	14.00 to 15.00
Calves, dressed	14.00

Live Poultry

Chickens	$ .17
Turkeys	18 to 20c

Produce, Vegetables, Fruits

Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz	.35
Potatoes, per bu	2.00
Honey per lb
Salt, granulated	1.60

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent. Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE CHEAP—Good base burner wood stove. Inquire at this office. 50tf

WANTED—An old organ. Keyboard must be in good condition. Telephone 89, Charlevoix. 6tf

WANTED—To rent for the summer of 1917, cottage on the north side. Will not consider Dixon Ave. Mrs. Leonard S. Florsheim 5018 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. 8tf

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH PREMIER $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homedurlng vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Exchange, Buffalo, N. Y.

FOR SALE—Team farm mares, weight about 2950; also team colts between 2 and 3 years old, weight 2505. Coulter Brothers, phone 72, R. F. D. No. 2, Charlevoix. Adv.6t3pd.

WANTED—Cabinet makers, bench and machine hands for large woodworking plant. Good wages, steady employment. No labor trouble. The Hamilton Mfg. Co., Two Rivers, Wisconsin. 7t6

J. L. CRANE

LINWEAVE WHITE GOODS

The new Spring Linweaves are now on Sale and are without exception the choicest Patterns and Weaves ever shown in this popular fabric. Our purchases of Linweave dates back some months and we are offering you these new, Best Spring 1917 Patterns, at about what they would cost us today.

For Pastry, that in general goodness excells all others use

Iron Duke Flour

For Sale By All Grocers

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Charlevoix East Jordan Central Lake

We Are Making a Showing of the latest fabrics in the beautiful colorings for our Spring trade. Every style and design of fashions art are on display, having just arrived for your inspection. A new line of Washable Silk Waists in stripes and colors also a splendid assortment of

Crepe de Chine and Georgette Waists in the latest styles

Friday and Saturday Special

Another banner offering at this season of the year. You will need new towels in the spring, but not now. We offer an exceptionally good grade of Crash Toweling 12 1-2 value, for 10c

MASON'S GROCERY STORE

SPECIAL CASH SALE

FEBRUARY 21th to MARCH 1st

ONLY ONE LOT OF ANY ARTICLE TO ONE PARTY

6 Boxes 5 cent Matches for	25c	4 Boxes A. and H. Raisins for	25c
7 Bars 5 cent Acme Soap for	25c	6 Cans 5 cent Sunbrite Cleaner for	23c
7 Bars 5 cent Magic Washer Soap for	25c	6 Cans 5 cent Snow Boy Washing Powder, for	23c
7 Bars any kind Bobbie Burn Soap for	25c	2 Cans any 20 cent Salmon for	33c
50 cent No. 0, Lantern for	39c	4 lbs. Rice 10 cent for	25c
$1.00 Lantern for	69c	1 Can 25 cent Crown Baking Powder for	17c
50 cent Dish Pan for	39c	49 lb. Yeast Foam Flour for	$2.25
1 pound 4 X Coffee for	15c	24 1-2 lbs. Commercial Flour for	$1.17
3 Packages 10 cent Silver Bar Raisins, for	25c	6 Cans 5 cent Cottage Milk for	25c

Mason's Grocery Department

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, Feb. 27th

"THE WAGER"

Featuring Emely Stephens

Wednesday, Feb. 28

CHARLIE'S STORMY ROMANCE, Charlie Chaplin

Royal Tailors Line of Clothing

Our exclusive agency for this line of clothing insures all of the finest in wearing apparel and a great big assortment to select from. Our spring line of goods are in stock and we urge you to come in and inspect the line we have. We can show you exclusive patterns, also furnish you with made-to-measure patterns for your clothing.

The Price is Moderate
The Materials A-1 Quality
The Style and Fit Perfect

What more can the sedate and top-notch dresser ask for in a line of serviceable clothing. If in need of New Spring garments let us be of service to you.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries
Come to this store for Clothing
Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

FARMERS:

DEPOSIT your cream and produce checks on a checking account at your home Bank. Let us explain to you this system of doing business properly and see if at the end of a year you are not satisfied. You will have a complete record of all transactions. Any deposit over $5 will be accepted as a first deposit on a checking account.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $300,000.00
G. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH
We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Accounts If Left 3 Months

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Rubbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you need Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

WE ARE GOING TO OFFER SOME EXCEPTIONALLY LOW PRICES ON OUR STOCKS. WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENT.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE
ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

CENTRAL LAKE VISITED BY A SERIOUS FIRE

Hotel, Newspaper Office and Shoe Store Total Loss.

Central Lake was visited by what is probably the most disastrous fire in the history of the village early last Saturday morning. The fire started in the basement of the "Tavern," the only hotel in the place, and fanned by a high wind and with no fire fighting apparatus available, could not be checked until it had completely burned itself out.

The hotel, a vacant building next door south and two stores, one a harness shop and the other a general store, were destroyed. The fire then turned its attention to the street running east from the hotel and took the building occupied by the Central Lake Torch, the town's only newspaper.

This is certainly a hard blow, not only to the town, but to the entire community. No plans have been made as yet as to what steps will be taken toward rebuilding.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Henry Hasner has been under the doctor's care for the past week.

W. L. Knowles of Central Lake was in town on business Monday morning.

A bunch of linemen for the Bell Telephone company were in town Friday on repair work.

Clyde Griffin is on the sick list this week, being confined to the house with an attack of tonsilitis.

M. R. Nelson and M. Struik started for Cleveland last Saturday night with five cars of potatoes.

Norm Griffin returned from Grand Junction last Saturday night, where he has been visiting the past week.

The supper given by the Epworth League at Boss hall last Friday night was well attended and about $9.00 was taken in.

G. C. Townsend, D. E. Clow, J. H. Elzinga and M. A. Brail attended the school meeting at the Wright school house last Friday night.

Mrs. E. R. Harris and daughter, Margaret, and Miss Helen Boss visited in Petoskey from Thursday until Saturday of last week.

Frank Supernaw was at the Lockwood hospital, Petoskey, on Saturday, going there to visit his wife, who returned with him Monday.

A. C. Belding of Bellaire was in town Friday of last week and attended the special school meeting held at the Wright school house.

Judge of Probate Harris returned from Bellaire last Wednesday afternoon, where he had been for a few days on business connected with his office.

It seems as if some people never become old enough to get over kid habits. For instance Uncle John Pursons, 83 years of age, has the whooping cough.

Peter Baar returned from Detroit Monday night, where he had been since Thursday of last week, firing a car of potatoes to that place for W. M. Major of Oxford.

E. R. Harris, a member of the executive committee of the West Michigan Development Bureau, is in Grand Rapids this week on business connected with that organization.

Henry Yettaw has, after about 7 years steady application to business, decided to take a well earned and much needed vacation, and on Thursday last started for Detroit, where he will visit friends and relatives. He expects to be gone about two weeks.

Speaking of money made on the farm, how is this: Adam Martin of near Atwood, rented seven and one-half acres of his valuable eighty-acre farm last year for $5.00 per acre. The renters, after paying the $37.50, made a clear profit of slightly over $600.00.

Mrs. N. P. Griffin received word last week of the death of her brother, George Wallace of Chicago, where he has been in a hospital for some time. Cause of death was scarlet fever and deceased has a brother and sister at the same place suffering from the same disease.

Several from this place attended the Alden vs. Central Lake basket ball games at Central Lake last Friday night. The Alden girls proved too fast for the home girls and won out by a 26 to 20 score, but the visiting boys went down fighting hard on the short end of a score reading 36 to 45.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Klooster are the proud parents of a son, who arrived Saturday morning. Since the event, Jake's chest measure has increased from 46 to 59, and is still expanding. Mother and son are doing fine and the attending physician, Dr. Varden, says that if the father doesn't carry his head so high that he trips and breaks his neck, he has hopes of saving him also.

Ellsworth Section

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 23, 1896.

The Maccabees made $11.00 on their sugar social last Friday night. The goat will be fed better for the next few days.

Leeky butter is now on the market. Dosen't it taste good?

Frank Pearl is building a fence around his fine looking place.

We understand R. T. Sleeper will move the Ballou mill to this place and locate near the mill dam on Campbell's.

Hoop men were in town again last week and we expect to hear something drop soon. We will tell you all about it when it happens.

The tug "Mud Hen" is towing logs from Six Mile lake.

L. E. Severance of Alba was in town on business Thursday.

Shut up your dogs. The supervisor is on their trail making assessments.

Nick Shores and wife of Norwood were in town Saturday and their daughter, Mrs. W. H. Supernaw returned with them.

George Wilson has added a handsome surrey to his livery stock.

The last literary of the season Monday evening was a decided success. Mrs. Geo. Frink's original story with E. R. Harris for the heavy villiun, was very good. What Geo. Frink don't know about farming would make a book. Dr. Gardner's wise sayings were very pat. The band was encored and every one went home feeling that the literary had been instructive as well as amusing.

WILL DISTRIBUTE TREES AT LOW COST

Black Walnut, Butternut and Maple Trees for Spring Planting.

The annual campaign of the Central Normal of Mt. Pleasant for the distribution of black walnut, butternut and maple trees and Concord grapes is being planned for Arbor Day.

This movement began a few years ago by growing a few trees on the normal grounds and distributing them to the school children of Isabella county. The idea grew and for seven years 5000 nut trees and 2000 Concord grape vines have been sent out annually. They are distributed by parcel post at cost—a nut tree for two and one-half cents and two year old Concord grapes for 7 cents each.

Any organization or person may secure the plants by agreeing to give them good care, but they are largely distributed through the school. Hundreds of schools order varying amounts from 25 cents (the smallest order accepted) to hundreds of plants; 200 Concord grapes, 441 nut trees, 300 pench trees were sent to the Holland school and 264 walnut trees and 194 grape vines to the Bay City schools, largely through the efforts of a Women's club.

There will be distributed this year butternut as well as walnut trees, and there has been added a hard maple tree, the sugar maple, four foot six inches high, transplants at four cents each. The distribution of maple trees will prove especially desirable for community planting.

Myron A. Cobb of the department of agriculture of Central Normal originated this movement and all inquiries should be sent to him.

WILDWOOD.

A faint glimpse of Spring looks good to us.

Clarence Fales lost his best cow one day last week.

James Wilson is hauling stove wood to Central Lake these days.

John Stevens returned from Saginaw last week Wednesday, well and happy.

Mrs. Corawell returned last week from a business trip to southern Michigan.

Miss Mildred Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and baby daughter were Sunday visitors at the Crawford home.

We are sorry to hear of "The Torch" burning up in the recent Central Lake fire.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

SAVE THE ROADS.

Save the roads. That ought to be your slogan. It is probable that many of those who are now hauling excessive loads, driving heavy automobiles, using chains and otherwise cutting up the pikes are loudest in their denunciations of the officials who tax them to repair the roads. If you cut the roads up or if you permit them to be ruined and make no effort to prevent it you should not complain at any cost of repairs. Now is the time to save the roads.—Decatur Democrat.

OUR MILITARY ROADS POOR.

Major P. S. Bond Criticises Both Quantity and Quality.

The United States is poorly equipped both as to the quantity and the quality of its roads, according to Major P. S. Bond, corps of engineers, U. S. A., in an article published in the Engineering Record. In any military operations conducted in our territory, extensive road construction must be carried on by both combatants. Military road work will consist very largely of the improvement, repair and maintenance of existing roads, but in many of our possible theaters of war, including the United States and other parts of the American continent, extensive new construction work will also be necessary.

In the location and construction of a military road the peculiar economies of welfare, which have been heretofore mentioned, should be kept constantly in mind. In the construction of a civil road or railroad the amount of money which may be profitably expended in reducing grades, securing good alignment and in paving (in the case of a road), is determined from the estimate of the nature and amount of the probable traffic. In military construction the element of cost is of secondary importance, but the question of time is paramount. The road must be opened for traffic in the least possible time. Nevertheless, the nature and amount of traffic and the period during which the road will probably be required are not, of course, entirely disregarded. The road will usually be constructed to meet the exigency of the moment, and may later be altered and improved to meet the development of the situation.

Common labor will ordinarily be plentiful, but often no plant at all will be at hand.

STATE HIGHWAY PROBLEMS.

All but Ten States Now Have Road Departments.

Arthur Blanchard, professor in charge of the graduate course in highway engineering at Columbia university, New York city, said in part at a recent lecture before the Automobile Club of America:

"There are 2,300,000 miles of public highways outside of municipalities in the United States. There was expended during 1914 for the construction and maintenance of these highways $200,000,000, and, according to a conservative estimate, at least $50,000,000 of this was wasted.

"Of the forty-eight states in the Union, thirty-eight have highway departments. There are over 3,000 counties in the various states, and the county and township highway work is in the hands of over 100,000 highway officials. Each of the 12,000 municipalities in the United States has from one to twenty officials in charge of departments whose work pertains to highways. Fifty per cent of these highway officials do not possess the training and experience necessary to efficiently and economically perform the duties imposed upon them.

"The chaotic conditions and waste of public funds indicated by the above may be attributed primarily to three factors—first, too intimate relationship between politics and highway work; second, lack of active interest on the part of the public; third, the small number of engineers filling public administrative positions which control highway work."

Birth of a Thunderstorm.

It is not unusual for the careful observer to see a thunderstorm born on the square granite bend of Longs peak, in Colorado. First, out of the blue sky, a slight mist seems to gather in a few moments, while you watch it, it becomes a tiny cloud. This grows with great rapidity. In five minutes, perhaps, the mountain top is hidden. Then, out of nothing apparently, the cloud swells and sweeps over the sky. Sometimes in fifteen minutes after the first tiny fleck of mist appears it is raining in the valley and possibly snowing on the mountain. In half an hour more it has cleared.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Dover strait is only twenty-one miles wide at Calais, which city has been connected with Dover by cable since 1851.

Subscribe for the Courier.

LETTER FROM M. R. NELSON

TELLS OF TRIP WITH CARS OF POTATOES.

M. Struik Has Restless Night—Delayed at Traverse City—Will Keep Friends Posted.

The following letter, received from M. R. Nelson, who with his partner, M. Struik, are escorting potato cars to Cleveland, may prove of interest to Banks twonship readers of the Courier.

The fact that this letter was written from Traverse City, where the men were delayed at that place with a broken car, coupled with the reputation for truthfullness of the two men, must be given due consideration by the readers.

Hotel Astorbilt, Traverse City, Mich.

M. Struik, M. R. Nelson,
Gen. Manager. Sec. and Treas.

Mr. A. L. Ely, Ellsworth, Mich.

Dear Sir—After talking the matter over with Mr. Struik, have decided to keep you posted on our movements during our trip, well knowing our gentle and unsophisticated natures, the people of Ellsworth might fear we would be led into bad company.

We left Ellsworth at 22 and one-half minutes after eight o'clock on the evening of Februnry 17, and arrived at Bellaire at Midnight.

After inspecting our cars, we donned our pajamas, said our prayers and were soon asleep. Mr. Struik was restless and seemed to imagine himself on a hunting trip, as he kept muttering "Lyon," but toward morning he grew more quiet, but evidently thought I had left him, as once or twice he shouted "Hurry Buck."

We arrived in Traverse City at 6:30 Sunday morning and while Mr. Struik was preparing breakfast I phoned our mutual friend, Mr. Crow, but much to our regret was unable to get him until Monday morning at seven o'clock.

We had a light lunch at our rooms Sunday afternoon, consisting of soup, roast beef, roast pork with cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes and brown gravy, fried chicken, mince, apple and pumpkin pie, strawberry short sake and finished with ice cream.

Mr. Struik has appointed himself chief cook. We expect to leave here sometime tonight and if the cook doesn't starve me, you may expect to hear from me again.

In conclusion, will advise the good people of Ellsworth not to worry about Mr. Struik's well being, as I shall use my influence to keep him walking in the straight and narrow path and at last return him to the bosom of his family.

Respectfullly yours,
M. R. Nelson.

OPEN WINTER WAS PREDICTED BY SETTLERS

Signs Prove at Fault—Winter Most Sever in Years.

If our memory is not at fault, it was predicted by the old settlers last fall that this was to be a very mild winter.

Muskrat houses were built with thin walls; corn husks were short and thin; beech nuts were scarce and wood cutters claimed that the squirrels had little food laid by for a rainy day or for a cold day as the case might be.

Weather prophets judging from signs decided to give us a short, open winter, but from all appearances they have once more gone wrong.

For the first time in 14 years Detroit people have been crossing the river on the ice, and the weather in Banks township, at least, has been neither mild nor open.

Yet we suppose the faith of those who believe in signs is as strong as ever, and the fault is simply the contrariness of nature.

The L. M. U. were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Struik last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dealloutea of Grand Rapids, are spending a few days at the home of Dr. Beuker.

Henry Boes of Reeman, returned to his home on Tuesday, after spending a few days visiting his brother at this place.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

PLEASANT HILL.

Warmer weather.

Jeff Bearss is home, sick with the grippe.

H. H. Fales drove to Central Lake Friday.

H. F. Patterson has gone on the sick list.

John Felistra drove to Ironton on business Thursday.

H. H. Fales helped Reed Genett butcher a fine hog Thursday.

Mrs. John Felistra spent Thursday with Mrs. Roger Speyer.

Clarence Fales lost a valuable cow last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dekkenga visited Wednesday at the Felistra home.

Miss Edna Rogers called on Evelyn and Ruth Patterson Sunday afternoon.

Smith Rogers and Harry Davie have been filling their ice houses the past few days.

Ruth Patterson suffered a painful accident last Thursday, when she slipped and fell at school. A large block of wood tumbled from the wood pile just as she fell, landing on her hand, smashing two of her fingers.

ECHO, DIST NO. 4.

The sick at M. H. Dingman's are slowly recovering.

Ethel Murray visited at her home here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bartholomew and Carol visited at the George E. Murray home Sundsy.

Ruth Carpenter called at the home of Owen Carpenter and M. H. Dingman Friday evening.

Messrs. Clyde McMillan and Thos. McCarrey and families, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Duncan McMillan.

School Notes.

Bertha McMillan and Ithel Pickering were absent Friday on account of sickness.

Lorna and Earnest Somerville returned to school Monday, after a week's absence.

We made Valentines and had a Valentine box last Thursday. Some very pretty valentines were made.

We received our story books Saturday. They are nearly all for the primary people.

Thursday we are to spend the afternoon in appropriate exercises for February birthdays.

MILES DISTRICT.

Eugene Miles, who has been working in Onaway, has returned home.

Mr. Cook and Frank LaLonde are busy hauling wood to East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Carr spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Withers of Charlevoix.

Irwin Murphy returned to Kansas last Wednesday, after spending a few weeks at his home.

Miss Ada Flora, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Murphy, returned to her home last Friday.

School Notes.

Our Valentine box proved a success.

Our painting lessoa last Saturday was a winter scene.

We have Mr. Lincoln's and Mr. Washington's pictures on the blackboard. The children have some heated debates deciding which they would rather be like.

Notice.

I will receive taxes at the Ellsworth Citizens Bank, Saturday afternoon. Albert Harwood, Treasurer of Banks Township.—Adv.9t1.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

Five pupils received certificates for being neither absent nor tardy during the month of January.

All pupils but one have completed their required amount of home work and have received large certificates for the same.

Mable Dunlop spent Sunday afternoon at the Jardine home.

Miss Seiler left Friday for India, where she will resume her missionary work again.

Mr. Hosegood is cutting wood this week.

Lincoln's birthday was observed at school by appropriate exercises.

On February 14 the school enjoyed a Valentine box. After the valentines were distributed, we played games and ate apples. We all went home with our arms full of valentines and wishing Valentine had a birthday ten times a year.

A sleigh load from this district attended the social at the Star school last Wednesday evening. First we listened to an interesting program, after which we all enjoyed an old fashioned spelling match. Then we sat down to a bounteous supper, after which we were all ready for our journey home.

Mabel Dunlop proved to be the best speller in the crowd.

The Misses Beryl and Dorothy McDonald spent the week end visiting their parents. They returned to their school duties at Charlevoix on Sunday.

Miss Ada Flora returned home last week, after visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Murphy.

A. Gaunt returned home from Boyne City last Monday.

We hear that Mr. Flora has purchased a farm of G. Johnston.

News was received from Mr. Woodruff, the superintendent of the Sunday school, now in Kentucky, that he has another to add to our little crowd. We hope Mr. Woodruff and his bride will soon return for he will be greatly missed in the Sunday school.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, grsham, wholewheat flour, both fine and cosrse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

Mr. and Mrs. Isa Alward spent Friday at Atwood.

Mrs. Isa Alward spent Sunday afternoon at the DeMoulpied home.

Miss Lottie Wright visited Mrs. Jacob Bergsma Friday afternoon.

Garrett Bergsma spent a few days in Atwood last week, visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Maud Best spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McElroy.

Henry Dixon and family moved to Charlevoix last week, where he expects to work for Benj. Brown in the garage.

Thos. DeMoulpied has purchased forty acres of land from Orrin Wright, which is located east of the James Elzinga farm.

Question: What is the favorite topic of conversation since Friday night? Answer: Dasen's tell. It might offend some of our Ellsworth friends.

The school meeting which was held Friday evening, was well attended. Nearly every voter was present, also quite a number of others. Outside visitors were County Commissioner Belding of Bellaire, D. E. Clow, Max A. Brail, G. C. Townsend and James Elzinga of Ellsworth. The meeting was declared illegal, as the subject of consolidation can only be voted on at an annual meeting. Nevertheless a vote was taken, which showed all voters present to be in favor of consolidating with the Ellsworth schools.

School Notes.

We were pleasantly surprised last week when Miss Best and her room from Ellsworth came out and spent a part of St. Valentine's Day with us. We hope they will come again.

We have heard so much about having warm lunches at school that we tried making cocoa for dinner one day last week. It was so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone that we are going to try it again soon.

We want to buy your wood. Come in and see us. Ellsworth Produce Co.—Adv.7tf.

ANTRIM.

W. E. Montgomery went to Charlevoix, Wednesday.

Gerrit Stoel went to Central Lake with logs on Saturday.

R. Baumbach went to Central Lake with hay on Tuesday.

Harry and Irving Rice arrived at home Friday evening from Flint.

The Brooks Bros. sold some pigs to W. E. Montgomery on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Stoel and sons called at the Montgomery home this week.

Will E. Montgomery and son, Herman, took a load of wood to Norwood, Friday.

Mr. Genett of Norwood, is drawing wood from John Simon's place, paying for it in hay.

Fred Brooks and family took supper and spent the evening at the home of R. Baumbach, Friday.

Will Knight started putting up his supply of ice on Saturday. Vernie Jones and Will Montgomery are helping.

On the morning of Monday, the [illegible] Will Knight thought the good [illegible] summer time had arrived, so he went down and took a bath in the bay.

PHELPS.

Marion Davis went to Charlevoix Friday.

Charles Stevens went to Central Lake Saturday.

Ed Boss called on C. VandenBerg one day last week.

Mr. Davenport of this place started his mill Monday.

Mr. Jackson went to Charlevoix on business Saturday.

Wm. Drenth is cutting wood for Fred and John Boss.

Mr. Peterson of Petoskey, was in the village Thursday of last week.

Lloyd Himebauch went to Charlevoix, Thursday, with a load of wood.

Ralph Klooster had the misfortune of losing one of his fine hogs last week.

There was another car load of potatoes loaded at Phelps last week and shipped.

Henry Dixon and family have moved to Charlevoix where he has employment.

Miss Dora Klooster is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. VandenBerg.

Charley and Lela Stevens drove to the home of their sister, Mrs. Tony Clark, Thursday.

C. VandenBerg and Red Aardema called at the home of Ed Boss on Friday of last week.

Will Campbell went to Charlevoix, Saturday. He will go to Coldwater, Monday. Good luck, Willie.

Geneva Jackson is spending a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Klooster of south Barnard.

John Boss, Sr., and wife and Fred Boss and family went to the home of Frank Boss on Wednesday of last week.

Harry and Henry Potter have returned from camp, where they have been working for the past three months.

John Potter is reported as improving more rapidly now. Friends and neighbors hope to soon see him around and out again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., and family and Fred Boss and family called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Red Aardema Sunday night.

Ed Boss, Lawrence Boss, Fred Boss and more Johns of the same name and Red Aardema went to Traverse City on Thursday of last week.

Jake Klooster called on John Potter one day last week. On his return he had the honor of being thrown in the snow, as his cutter turned turtle on him.

Friday of last week was the birthday of Mrs. Christ Dross, she receiving as a present a new white hope. Jess Willard will soon lose the belt, as the little fellow is a real baby bunting boy of 10 pounds. We now understand the smile Christ was wearing Friday morning.

Traverse City is the place to go,
I'll say it sure is fine;
But when you'll return, you'll never know,
Over that P. M. line.
A bunch went down the other day
And all were feeling fine,
There were Red and Fred, Lawrence and Ed,
Three Johns came on behind;
Two hours more they had to wait
Than was the regular time,
Just as usual the train was late,
On the good old P. M. line.

See us for your Job Printing.

Ellsworth Grange.

The last meeting of the Ellsworth Grange was held Saturday afternoon, February 17. The subject, "Live Stock on the Farm," was discussed. Many interesting points were developed. L. K. Clark gave a very interesting history of alfalfa. The growing of this valuable crop was also discussed. Each lady of the grange gave her most economical recipe and specimens of these were served after the meeting was closed.

The grange will hold an open meeting, Friday evening, February 23. An illustrated lecture on "Alfalfa on Every Farm" will be given. The slides for this lecture are exceptionally good and we hope to have a large attendance. We know that these lectures are well worth hearing and they are free to everyone.

The next regular Grange meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, March 2. Each gentleman of the grange is to name the type of horse which he considers best suited to farm work, and give his reasons. Each lady is to tell her favorite pie recipe.

See us for your Job Printing.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TERS DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD.

Ed Blow has moved on the Mrs. Brown farm.

James Heeres is breaking in a fine span of colts.

Mrs. Bert Welten is a grippe victim this week.

Wesley Veenstra is cutting wood for L. Zylstra.

Henry Klooster made his Boyne City trip Tuesday.

Mrs. Bert Newland is reported as quite a little better.

Aaron Harwood has rented his farm for a term of years.

Mrs. Odbert called on Mrs. A. Bos last Wednesday afternoon.

Jessie Parsons has been quite sick for several days with the grippe.

When best things are not possible, make the best of things that are.

Will Hofman disced out a couple of miles of the state road Saturday.

Gerrit Bergsma of Ellsworth is visiting with relatives in Atwood this week.

Mrs. Alex Klooster and children called on Mrs. John Bos Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ida Blow and son, Henry, expect to go to Washington about May 1st.

Mrs. H. Klooster called at the home of Paul DeVries last Friday afternoon.

Albert Sneller's parents left Atwood for their home in Drenthe, last Wednesday.

Bert Weiten is back from Kalamazoo, where he has been employed since last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bos and daughter called at the Herman Pol home Sunday evening.

Alex. Klooster gave us a glimpse of his face again. Shaved off the fringe last week.

Plenny Genett sold a horse to Will Farrell of Esstport last Friday. Consideration $175.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeYoung of Mapleville, called at the Alex Klooster home last week.

A man from Petoskey was here last week contracting with the farmers to grow radish seed.

February is proving a model month this year. Having its full share of storms and cold weather.

The Y. P. S. met again last Sunday evening, after a few weeks of vacation on account of storms, etc.

Wesley Veenstra helped Albert Sneller put a roof on his ice house last Friday. He hopes to fill his ice house next week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Schreiner, on Sunday, February 18, a baby girl. All happy but Dad—wanted a boy. Congratulations.

John Essenberg has been hauling wood from Ben VanderHeide the past week. Takes some wood to keep warm nowadays.

Egbert VanderSteek superintended the butchering of several hogs, veal, etc., at H. Klooster's Monday. John Bos and H. Klooster assisted him.

We notice the R. F. D. man on No. 4 has taken the examination for post office clerk on trains. We hope he don't pass—hasn't missed a trip this winter.

We are happy to report that A. Sneller's little baby is very much improved. She had a very bad case of pneumonia which lasted fifteen days before the crisis was passed.

John VanHouten had his team of colts out last Thursday for exercise. He took a load of Atwood ladies to the L. A. S. meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. K. VanHouten.

Average attendance at the Christian Reform church Sunday morning. The afternoon service was well attended. The church was crowded, chairs being used again for a change.

John Klomp and his wife arrived at Atwood last week. Mr. Klomp has rented the Will Seymour farm north of here for the coming year. They are staying at the home of their uncle, Herman Pol, until their goods arrive.

Ed Moblo of Traverse City, who has worked at his profession as a photographer for the past 35 years, informs us that he will turn his hand to agriculture by coming back on his boyhood home. We welcome you, Ed, we believe you can grow beans.

A letter written February 5, by John Jolliffee of Aberdeen, Washington, states at that date there was one foot of snow, something unusual for that country. Don't worry, brother, just a little longer and you will forget all about the cold weather enjoying the sunshine and flowers.

Fair attendance at the M. E. church last Sunday. It was a beautiful day and a great many more could have come if they had tried. Rev. Smith has been to Atwood quite a number of times of late and found only one or two at church. Wake up, folks, do your duty by yourselves and help keep the church going.

A. Bos and Son report 2345 lbs. of milk the coldest week of this year from 11 cows. They tested their cows at the creamery Friday morning and averaged 4.59 per cent test. This would give them 1076 pounds of butter fat for seven days, beating the record of "Not Average Farmer" a little. Wonder who he is?

J. Petter started for Ellsworth one day last week with a load of beans. He did not go more than a mile before he got stuck, getting his horses down. He had to dig around his load through five feet of snow to get by with a pair of sleighs he borrowed to shift his load. He did not have time to finish his Ellsworth trip that day.

Mr. Schreider, the bee keeper near Norwood, had a novel experience last week. He stopped at the creamery, and while driving in the cutter turned over, spilling him and his wife and all the articles the cutter contained, even the seat cushion. The horse walked off and was caught by Dennis Yettaw, formerly of Atwood, who happened to be in town with a salesman from Central Lake. Dennis always was known to be handy around horses, and proved it to us once again.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

Courier Job Printing satisfies.

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Black mare colt, three years old, weight about 1150. I. VanTil, Route 1. 7tf

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendant.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sundsy school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 21, 1917.

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, per bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.50
Red kindney beans, per bu	6.50
Gurden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New Oats	.60
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$12.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Pork, dressed	15.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb	$ .33
Eggs, per doz	.36
Honey, per lb	.17
Potatoes, per bu	2.00
Salt, per bbl.	1.65

Close Up The Open Places

How many farms have open gaps around them where stray and lost cattle or animals can run through and perhaps destroy fields newly sown. You may be one of the few who need take our advice—Fill up that gap---

FENCE

Sturdy wire fence is the material to use. Wire fence costs little more than it did a year ago. Don't hesitate to consider the question, the price is still normal. We offer and recommend Jackson Fence also the well known Peerless Fence. You can secure these fences from us now and we can save you money on them. Why leave your farm subject to invasion by stray animals or take the chance of having your own stock get away. Fence them in---do it early---buy our line of fences and you will be on the right track to prosperity and at the same time improve your farm in looks and add to its future valuation.

W. A. BOSS
ELLSWORTH - MICHIGAN

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We will have on hand the following seeds to let on contract in the spring:

White Beans
Light and Dark Red Kidney Beans
Garden Beans of most any variety
Buckwheat and Peas

That we will let you have and you can pay for your seed when you sell your crop. Come in and talk it over with us.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.
W. R. NELSON, Manager
PHONE 35 ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

ROBBING THE PUBLIC
—Of Its Vitality.—

Many drugs are placed on the market today that are injurious and often prove the cause of robbing the human body of its vitality, leaving it unfit for its daily work. This drug store does not sell these things. We handle only reliable goods that are proven helps and ones that we are fully acquainted with. Our prescriptions are compounded with the best of drugs and correctness is the main feature of our prescription work. See us when you want pure drugs.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO
Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Wed Friday at Petoskey.

On Friday, February 9, Miss Adah Irene McCane of Horton Bay and Mr. Merton Dewey Jones of Bay Shore, were united in marriage by Rev. P. B. Firris, at the Presbyterian parsonage in Petoskey.

The bride was formerly of Boyne City, but with her parents moved to Horton Bay about three years ago. The groom has always resided at Bay Shore.

The bride wore a traveling sult of blue poplin; the groom also wore blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonea left for points south on a short honeymoon after which they will reside at Martin.

Offer State School Site.

Bnyne City offers to furnish the state with a site and bullding for the proposed Michigan State Training School for Women.

Cost would not be more than one-fourth that called for in the Robert's bill, according to E. W. Abbott, president of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce.

Strong efforts are being made to bring the school to that place. Mr. Abbott was at the meeting of the senate finance committee in the Hotel Statler at Detroit last Friday afternoon.

"We propose to furnish the state with the building known as the Beulah home," said Mr. Abbott. "Two hundred acres of land goes with it, and the cost would be appriximately $400,000, which is $60,000 less that the Robert's bill calls for the first year. The bill provides for $150,000 the second year, while if the site we have is selected, the sum for maintainance would not be more than $20,000 or $30,000.

"The building is well equipped. It has four hundred feet of porches, steum heat, electric lighting, shower and plunge baths, and other modern conveniences. It is also adaptable to the uses of the proposed school and the cottage system could also be worked out.

"We have a petition bearing the names of 100 prominent persons who want to see the school established at Boyne City. Among them are Ex-Governor Fred Warner and Ex-Governor Ferris."

Who Gives More Than the Editor?

An exchange says: "Some ornery cuss wrote us an unsigned letter the other day and wanted us to get busy and do something for the town. We have just given the Board of Trade $198.00 worth of advertising, besides paying $6.50 in cash for the slogan, 'We will.'. We also spent $5.00 for cuts to advertise the town, making a total of $208.50. If the O. C. has spent 50 cents for the good of the town, we would like to see the color of his money." That's part of the emoluments of the profession, dear brother. The editor can give more in space, which is his stock in trade, and cash than any dozen men in the community, and still draw the criticism and curses of every pessimist in the whole region because he doesn't "do more for the town."

Ship Wood Blocks to Canada.

A shipment of wood welded blocks manufactured by the Michigan Maple Block company of Petoskey was sent by express last week to the Canadian Consolidated Rubber company of Montreal, Canada.

To send such a large shipment by express is something unusual, but as the company needed the blocks badly and as freight service is uncertain this method was decided upon.

The total weight of this lot of blocks was 8,806 pounds and the express charges were $264.82.

Cold Weather Breaks Rails.

Forty-two broken rails were found within the past three days on the Michigan Central railroad between Cheboygan and Nigon, a distance of about six miles. Broken rails were also discovered between Indian River and Wolverine and railroad men say that the trouble was due to the severe cold weather and either an engine or a heavy loaded freight car with a flat wheel passing over the road as shown by the fact that the broken rails are all one side of the road.

Would Repeal Local Act.

In response to a petition signed by hundreds of Emmet county citizens, Representative Deuel on February 5, introduced a bill to repeal the special act in regard to esteking of fish on Crooked Lake, Crooked river, Pickerel lake and Pickerel channel.

In 1899 a special act was passed prohibiting the taking of fish in those waters, in any way except by hook and line. The general laws at certain seasons allow spearing, and it is desired by signers of the petition to have those waters come under the general laws.

At present during specified dates it is lawful to spear on Burt lake and Indian river, but unlawful to do the same on the waters mentioned in the bill introduced.

The passage of this bill which now can be done without referring to the voters of the affected district, will place those waters under the general law, which applies wherever there is no special act to the contrary.

THEATRICAL.

Romeo and Juliet.

The Charlevoix Junior class has secured the famous Metro production of Romeo and Juliet in motion pictures and will present the same to the local theatre goers on Wednesday, March 14, at the Majestic.

Everyone is well acquainaed with Shakespearian plays and this production should appeal to these people. The great Francis X. Bushman and the beautiful co-star Beverly Bayne play the stellar roles, and depict all the joys and sorrows of their beautiful love career in a manner that will make this picture live forever as a classic masterpiece and a triumph of dramatic screen construction.

Every part of this play was given to some thorough performer of national reputation, thus assuring another big success to the Metro Wonder pictures. Remember the date, Wednesday, March 14.

Emily Stevens in "The Wager."

In "The Wager," the great Metro-Rolfe production which will be seen at the Majestic theatre on February 27, Emily Stevens had a rare opportunity to show her tremendous emotional power as an actress.

Miss Stevens, as "Diamond Daisy" Doyle, a woman of the underworld in "The Wager," is called upon to depict a great change which takes place in the spirit of a feminine crook. Because of Daisy Doyle's cleverness as a diamond thief, the police have been unable to convict her. Detective Duggan, who has sent her sweetheart, "Slippery Jim," to prison, is determined that she shall go the same route.

Daisy, deeply in love with Jim, decides to reform. Here is where the strongest phase of Miss Steven's dramatic situations. In one of these Daisy Doyle is induced by Police Commissioner Stone to relieve a jeweler of gems, so that Stone may win a wager The complications that follow form the basis of the powerful play.

The play is filled with powerful emotional art is seen.

LEGAL NOTICES

Appointment of Administrator.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix in said County, on the second day of February A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of Myron Geer, deceased, Elisha Goer, having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of the estate not administered, be granted to Reuben Geer or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That the 1st day of March A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL
6t3 Judge of Probate.

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 17th day of February, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased.

Iva Lewis, having filed in said court her final administration account, and her petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate.

It is Ordered, That the 13th day of March, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Farther Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
8t3pd Judge of Probate.

INDEPENDENTS WIN FRIDAY

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED IN CLOSE GAME.

Independents Play Traverse City Next Friday—Need Your Financial Support.

There were two very close and interesting games played at Harbor Springs last Friday. The Independent played first, and were never headed, but on the other hand were never more than six points ahead, and in fact, were tied at 32-32. They won out by the close score of 35-33.

The high school started out playing a tight game, and held Harbor Springs all the way, the game being nearly the reverse of the Independent. The Harbor Springs high school team was ahead all the way, but were a trifle uneasy in the last half, when three baskets in a row brought us up to striking distance. The final score was 21-27.

Two substitutions were made, Felts for Cartier, and Krulik for Butler. Harbor Springs' left guard, who is very brave at home, showed his characteristics by bragging in the dressing room after the game about the two men he had knocked out. Cartier was put out by a palpable and detestable foul. Later when another personal foul was called on this guard, and Weaver stooped over to pick up the ball, he gave him a shove from behind. It is very commendable on the part of our boys that they refrained from trying to "get back," but attended strictly to business.

Next Friday the Independent team plays the Wolverine Athletic Association of Traverse City. We are in the hole quite a bit. Come and help out our athletics. If we can come through to the good on this game, we will probably have at least three more home games, i. e., Traverse City Olympics, Traverse City Overlands (who are nearly as well known as the Olympics), Lake City Independents, and possibly Roger City, Pellston, Harbor Springs. If the weather is still cold, we expect to have several small oil stoves scattered around to keep the spectators warm. We have won three games and lost one. We must have money to keep up the athletics. Come to the game.

The Charlevoix high school five went down to defeat by a score of 41 to 20 at Boyne City, by the Boyne high school team, Tuesday night. The Charlevoix Boy Scouts were also taken into camp by the Boyne Scouts by a score of 34 to 29.

BARNARD SCHOOL NOTES.

Many pupils who were absent on account of bad weather and colds are back again.

Dorothy Lewis celebrated her birthday last Saturday, by entertaining a number of her friends.

Lincoln's birthday was observed with patriotic songs and readings. The essays on Lincoln were very good.

Mrs. Gornell and Mrs. Holiday were present last Wednesday, when our postmaster, Joe, sorted the mail and two carriers delivered valentines to the jolly recipients. The children did most of the designing and many were the imaginations represented.

Miss Isabelle and little Dorothy Smith visited school Friday afternoon.

The school board recently presented us with a spacious waste paper basket, and 18 inch suspension globe and a sanitary drinking fountain.

Hazel Beattie, who has been absent for four weeks, and Charlie Swartout, who sprained his ankle two weeks ago, expect to be with us again soon.

John Laidlaw Dead.

John Laidlaw, for more than 25 years a resident of Ypsilanti, passed away Friday afternoon, February 9. Heart disease was the cause of death. He had been ailing since Thanksgiving time.

The deceased was born in Scotland, and was 62 years of age. He went to England when a young man, and marriage there occurred. He later came to America. He is survived by the wife and seven children. The children are: Walter Laidlaw and Mary Dutton of Detroit; Mrs. Margaret Sharrow of Charlevoix; Robert, Alice Malcolm and Mrs. Harry Hubbard of Ypsilanti.

NEWS PRINT MEN SURRENDER TO U. S.

Manufacturers Offer to Let Government Fix Price.

Relief for the publisher from the high cost of news print is apparently in sight.

The federal trade commission probably will accept, it was said, the offer of manufacturers to let the commission determine a fair maximum for paper for the six months following March 1.

It is estimated that if the proposal is accepted and reasonable prices fixed, at least $30,000,000 will be saved to American publishers this year.

The manufacturers' plan was presented last Friday just as the commission was about ready to report after an extensive investigation, "that the paper shortage was largely artificial, that prices wer extortionate and that free competition had ceased to exist."

If the proposal is accepted, officials say, it will mark an expansion of the functions of the government, which in arbitrating the differences between two industries opens up a wide field of possibilities for the future.

The investigation was got under way last summer, under a resolution adopted by the senate. Information gathered tending to show trust law violations, was turned over to the justice department, while all facts bearing on economic phases of the situation were collated by the commission.

The Canadian government will, under orders in council, fix a maximum price of two and one-half cents a pound for news print sold to Canadian publishers, leaving the price to be charged Americans to be determined in this country. The two governments have worked in concert in the situation trying to find means of averting threatened disaster to publishers.

DANGERS OF A COLD

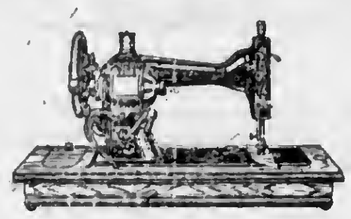
Charlevoix People Will Do Well to Heed Them.

Many had cases of kidney trouble result from a cold or chill. Congested kidneys fall behind in filtering the poison-laden blood and backache, headache, dizziness and disordered kidney action follow. Don't neglect a cold. Use Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of kidney trouble. Follow this Charlevoix resident's example:

H. R. Fox, carpenter, 205 Park Ave., Charlevoix, says: "Sometimes when I catch cold or do too much stooping or bending, my kidneys get out of shape and my back becomes lame. Whenever I get these attacks I feel rather tired all over my body but Doan's Kidney Pills straighten me up in good shape."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fox uses. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Complete with Electric Motor



$35.00 Cash or $40.00 on payments $10.00 cash and $5.00 per month for six months

See Maggie Murphy Demonstrate Machine in Our Store Window

Blanchard's Hdw. Co.

The Store of Quality and Good Service

High Grade Groceries

Are Sold Here For

Very Little Money

If you want a delicious meal at low cost, come to this store for your groceries and vegetables. If you want to increase your bank account by reducing your grocery bill, just come here for a little of everything.

Watch Windows for Display and Prices

Meat Department

Everything will be found here that is needed by the housewife. A child can buy as safely as the grown-ups. You get just what you want at a right price. We call special attention to our

FANCY CUTS OF CHICAGO BEEF
HOMEMADE SAUSAGE OF ALL KINDS

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

Buy That Harness Now

I have several set of Team Harness, strap work and Halters made up, before the advance in leather, and until sold, will make the following prices:

1 1-2 inch Traces with heel chain, brass trimmed hames and bridle. One inch strap work throughout, 1 1-2 inch breast straps and martingales $48.00

Same Harness with 1 3-4 inch Traces $50.00

Collars---$3.50 - $4.50 - $6.00

Leather Halters--$1 and $1.25

ALL OTHER PARTS OF HARNESS AT VERY LOW COST

Benj. Brown

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35. NUMBER 9. 8 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY. 28, 1917. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

FORTY-SEVEN OLO MEMBERS REMAIN

PERSONNEL OF CO. I. HAS GREATLY CHANGED.

Troopers Excited Over Orders to Prepare for Homeward Journey—Spring in Texas.

(By HAROLD W. USHER.)

El Paso, Feb. 17—Company I will soon be bnck home again according to orders received here yesterday.

General Funston has ordered all guardsmen now remaining on the border back to their home stations to be mustered out of the federal service. The El Paso papers stated that all militia would have left here by March 7. This, sure, is good news to tho boys on the border, as the prospects of seing home and dear ones has seemed more like a dream than a reality heretofore.

The Company I that left East Jordan June 24th,, and the one that comes back from the border will be vastly different. Two denths have occurred since we have been on the border; many have been discharged for dependency and physical rensons, and of the one hundred and eight men who left East Jordnn, only forty-seven old members remain and there are three new ones. Not one of us, however, regrets the time we have put in the U. S. service, as it has done us a great deal of good; physically, mentally und, best of all—has taught us to appreciate the comforts of home.

Spring has now begun in Texas and the trees are budding out. However, it is very windy and, as I am setting here writing, it is impossible to see more than a hundred yards on account of the blowing sand. This Texas sand is different from any that I ever saw before. When it starts to move, it goes everywhere; into eyes, ears and mouth, through the small cracks into your food and down your neck. We have grown quite used, though, to the sand and don't mind eating it very much.

Due to a little case of mumps, which put me in the hospital for a while, I can't tell what kind of work the regimont has been doing lately, but you can rest assured that it hasn't been anything easy, as that is one thing they don't do in the army. Just now everyone is excited and planning for the trip home. The Y. M. C. A., which is with the Thirty-third, has installed a moving picture machine and we now see Charlie Chaplin, or some other film person with his best girl on the "sofa." But, as soldiers, we have long ago forgotten such things, and now life holds only visions of more hardtack and bacon for us.

BOYS WILL NOW FEED SEA GULLS

Members of Troop 1 of Boy Scouts to Take Up Work.

Our recent plea on behalf of the sea gulls is answered.

Eighteen members of Troop 1, Charlevoix Boy Scouts, have agreed to take their turn at feeding these useful creatures, one of the boys making a trip ench day to collect food scraps and deliver same to the winged consumers. If the residents of Charlevoix cnre to assist the boys in this work, the scouts will be glad to call and collect bits of food nnd garbage from any who will signify their willingness to furnish them. Watch for two black dogs drawing a sled, or enll the Scout club rooms—phone No. 433.

As we pointed out last week, the gull is a scavnnger and "does his bit" to keep our local waters and their shores clean of decaying matter which might otherwise serve the busy disense bacteria for a breeding plnce or pruvide a rendezvous for the germ-carrying house fly. When the lakes are frozen over and the ground buried in snow, the feathered "white wings" of the lnkes nre up against the food problem as much as we are, nnd it is not only a matter of poliey, hut an act of mercy to help them over the lean season.

See the ndvertisement of S. M. See & Sons for Dollar Day in this pnper March 8th and 15th.—Adv. 9t1.

Pruning aed Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

HAS PURCHASED HALF INTEREST IN HOTEL

William Ferguson Sells Interest to Lyman H. Benton.

William Ferguson has sold his right, title and interest in the Ferguson House property on Bridge St. to Lyman E. Benton. Mr. Benton states that while certain needed repairs will be made on the hotel building at once, plans for the future are not yet definite enough to be announced. The hotel, will, however, so far as now known, continue to run under the present management. Mr. Benton is to be congratulated upon his acquisition, as this corner is one of the most valuable pieces of porperty on our main business thoroughfare.

The Ferguson House was built in 1888 by William Ferguson and John Burns, who owned the porperty jointly, and was the third hostelry to be built in Charlevoix, preceded by the Fountain City and the old Bridge street hotels. In its early days, it was even more popular than at the present time, and had its quota of summer guests.

Mr. Burns sold his interest in the hotel to Mrs. Minnie Rifenburg by whom it was transferred to James Gellick, finally passing into the hands of Mrs. Nancy Morrison, who still retains her interest. Some five years ago the owners leased to J. G. Booth, who is running the hotel at present.

DOLLAR DAY MARCH 17TH

CHARLEVOIX BUSINESS MEN TO CO-OPERATE.

Saturday, March 17, King Dollar Will Rule—Cash Bargains That Are Real Bargains.

The game of business will be played to a finish fight Saturday, March 17, when the business men of Charlevoix will turn their stocks into Dollar Day Speciuls. The offerings that the merchants are planning to give the trading public are staple, everyday goods, something that you and all of us need. King Dollar will rule the purchasing community and will hold first honors in this city St. Patrick's Day.

This paper will carry the bulk of Dollar Day advertising during the next two weeks and all persons should carefully follow the advertisements, see the bargains offered, and get together with the business men in making this day even greater than the Dollar Day of May 20, 1916.

The program for the day will be announced in next week's issue. Be sure you follow it up and March 17 you will be prepared to make a dollar do the work of two.

REED BILL MAKES STATE BONE DRY

Federal Government Takes Action from Legislature.

Michigan will be bone dry after May 1, 1918, according to the Reed amendment which passed the national house of representatives, forbidding the shipment of liquor into states which have laws placing a limit on the importation of liquor.

The members of the Michigan legislature breathed relief at the news of the federal action and thus have washed their hands of the necessity of passing on the intent of the constitutional amendment voted on by the electors of the atate last fall.

MEET FRIDAY EVENING.

At Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Metcalf on Park Avenue.

The Charlevoix Historical Society will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Metcalf on Park avenue, Friday evening, March 2.

The following program will be rendered:

Music.

Paper—"An Account of the Gold Rush in Alaska," Mrs. Harry Nicholls.

Intermission.

Reading—"The Silver Horde," (Rex Beach) Mrs. R. W. Paddock.

COUNTY AGENT DISCUSSION BY C. B. COOK OF OWOSSO

Meeting at K. of P. Hall Monday Evening a Profitable One—System Explained—Should Employ Agent for Charlevoix County.

C. B. Cook of Owosso, nssistant to the state leader of county agents, spoke Monday night at the K. of P. hall to an assemblage composed of members of the Charlevoix Commercial Association and representative fnrmers of the surrounding agricultural district.

Mr. Cook was introduced by the chairman of the meeting, J.L. Crane, and launched immediately into his task of explaining the county agent proposition, after a few introductory remarks. What he told the farmers and the business men was good for them to hear, although he did not mince matters and distributed blame and praise most impartially.

He placed the greatest stress upon the matter of creating a better feeling between the farmer and his city brother, and a fuller co-operation between the three great factors thnt enter into the majority of commercinl transactions—the producer, distributor nnd consumer, pointing out what we all realize, but seldom think of—the complete interdependence of the town upon the country district that surrounds it, and of the agricultural district upon the town it serves. He also pointed out that the greatest drag on any community is the self-seeking farmer who refuses to co-operate and strives to squeeze out a little more each time for his own pocket nnd his city counterpart who endeavors to get something for nothing from the farmer and then tries the same stunt with his customers.

Mr. Cook divided his discourse into four different heads, which he proceeded to develop at length; discussing the county agent plan with reference to its application in the matter of organization, soil eulture, sanitation and social development.

As to organization, it was his opinion that the county furnishes the most efficient and workable unit and that the first steps in the direction of such county organization should start with the grange, the institute, or other farmer organization but that his experience in the counties already organized ahowed that the reverse had been most generally the case—the organization formed in the towns had gone to the farmers and had been the means of winning many reactionaries and "doubting Thomases" to the cause of the county agent system, whom it would have taken many months and perhaps years to bring to one mind on a proposition of this kind.

Financial ways and means, Mr. Cook believed, were best provided for by local taxation and gave it as his experience that no board of supervisors could long stand out against the concerted pressure brougbt to bear upon it by the farmer, merchant and consumer, when the latter had been fully awakened to the vast possibilities and advantages of the county agent plan.

He figured that the average expense of malataining a county agent would run from fifteen hundred to two thousand dollars a year, of which the county would be required to ralse one third, the balnnce being supplied by federal and state appropriations already made for this purpose. He admitted, however, that some counties were getting nlong on less and cited cases where two counties were dividing the appropriation intended for one and still getting good results.

On the side of the soil problem, Mr. Cook emphasized the necessity of bringing the fundamental knowledge of the laws underlying proper fortilization and crop rotation to the average farmer, who, as statistics prove, is in the majority of cases woefully ignorant of their most elementary principles. He cited many cases of phenominal yields being obtained from soil, which had been running out and deteriorating for many years, through the skilled advice and counsel of the county agent and the state and federal expert whom he may at any time call to his assistance and this, mind you, without expense to the individual farmer, other than his small proportion of the county tax which supports the system.

He also pointed out the great loss to the Michigan potato grower through lack of an organization whieb would enable him to standardize his crop, growing the variety demanded by the trade nnd securing the advantages of co-operative handling of the shipping and marketing problems. The matter of grading potatoes, he said, was important and showed that the trade were coming to demand almost as severe a classification of potatoes as to size and quality as in the orange or apple industry of the west, citing instances of where far-sighted growers had doubled their profits on shipments carefully graded in size and of a quality and variety most acceptable to the trade.

His discussion of the needs of the soil and the mistakes most commonly made in supplying these needs was most illuminating, and it is with regret that we pass over this part of his instructive remarks with so little detail, owing to the limitations of space.

In the matter of sanitation, Mr. Cook disclosed the important part played by the county agent in bringing up the country districts to the standards set by urban populations and demanded in the interests of public health, for as he said, the city has gone ahead in these matters while the country districts have been standing still.

(Continued on page 2)

THIRTY NIGHTS

Of Prayer and Instruction is the Scriptures.

Beginning tonight (Thursday) at the Baptist church, conducted by the pastor. The first ten nights will be given to methods in the young people's work. The entire membership of Michigan's largest B. Y. P. U. is urged to nttend every night. Everybody is welcome.

Regular services Sunday. Will be at Burgess in the afternoon.

DIED THURSDAY.

Thomas Nauquam (Indian) Victim of Tubeculosis.

Thomns Nauquam, an Indian youth, 18 years of age, died at the home of his fnther, Philip Nauquam, on Hurlbut avenue, last Thursday nfternoon, nnd the body was interred in Greensky cemetery Sundny.

The young man wns a sufferer from tuberculosis, a disense that the members of his race seem peculinrly susceptible to. This is the second death from this cnuse within the month—both Indinn boys.

There will be a dance nt the Ironton Grange Hnll on Friday evening, March 9. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy themselves. A good time is assured nll.—Adv.9t1.

Agents cnn only secure Ford cars for immediate delivery. See Benj. Brown now.—Adv.9tf.

WELL KNOWN RESORTER.

Samuel Bailey Died at Pasadena, California, Saturday.

Another one of Charlevoix's prominent resorters has been called to the great beyond, Samuel Bailey having died Saturday morning at his winter home in Pnsadena, California, where he was spending the winter with his family. According to the report received here death came suddenly. Mr. Bailey is survived by three daughters and two sons. Burial will take place nt his home in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Bailey was well known in this city and his demise will be deeply regreted. It will he remembered that his wife died in this city a year ago lnst fall just before the fnmily wns to leave for Cineinnati.

BOYS, TAKE WARNING.

Postoffice Hangers-on Must Look for Other Refuge.

The chief of police wishes to warn the boys of the town to keep out of the postoffice, unless they have business there. The office is becoming a regular hang-out for the boys, especinlly nt night and it is certainly no place for them to congregate. The first ones caught will be made an example of, ns complaints have been made of depredations committed there recently and it has been decided to put a stop to it.

MILK MEN FORCED TO TAKE ACTION

After April 1 All Customers Must Buy Tickets.

The high cost of living has again manifested itself, both with the producer and the consumer, this time effecting the milk men and their customers. A notice is published elsewhere and needs fair consideration.

The milk men must ask the co-operation of their customers and insist that all persons taking milk must pay cash and that bottles must be washed and returned daily. The cost of feeds and other dairy expense make the cost of milk production larger than heretofore. The loss of bottles by the trade is enormous. Bottles must be returned or no milk will be delivered. The milk men want the fair consideration of this matter by the consumer and hope that their request will be lived up to.

After April first all customers must buy tickets or pay cash for milk when delivered.

Notice to Our Customers.

On and after April 1st, 1917, all customers must purchase tickets or pay cash for milk delivered. Bottles must be washed and returned daily or no milk will be left. Signed,

William Withers,
Wm. Shapton,
Elmer Ingalls,
John Martin.

Adv.9t4.

W. J. RACHOW SELLS HOLDINGS

A. A. SWINTON SUCCEEDS AS VICE PRESIDENT.

Bank to Be Congratulated on Selection of New Officer and Director.

W. J. Rachow, for the past nine years vice president and director of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, has retired as an officer and dircetor that he may give his entire time and efforts to his new position as secretary of the Saginaw Valley Trust Company of Saginaw, Michigan. His interests in the bank have been purchased by A. A. Swinton of the Argo Milling Company, who succeeds Mr. Rachow as vice president and director.

The State Bank is to be congratulnted having Mr. Swinton as an officer and director, his business interests in our community being very large, as the Argo Milling Company, in which he is heavily interested, is one of Charlevoix county's largest industries. They are at present operating mills at Charlevoix, East Jordan and Central Lake. The success of the company is due in a large measure to the ability of Mr. Swinton as a managing partner.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS OFFICERS' CONTEST

Grand Prelate James P. Hughes Was Present Thursday.

Last Thursday the members of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122 enjoyed a 6:00 o'clock oyster supper, followed by work in the first and third ranks. Grand Prelate Hughes wns present and examined the officers in the work, a program being carried out in all the lodges of the order in the Michignn domain. The total number of words spoken, upon which the officers are scored, is 8,817, and the local officers made only 201 errors.

Considering that the new officers were only installed a month previous and with little opportunity to confer the work, the standing showed a good score. At the time of the contest Charlevoix stood second in the domain. Many other lodges have not been scored as yet.

Sir Knights K. O. T. M. M.

You nre invited to attend the regular meeting of the tent, Friday evening, March 9. Special business that must be attended to, and something you all wnnt. Be suro and come. By order of committee.

You will make money by reading S. M. See & Sons Dollar Day advertisement, next edition of this paper. Adv.9t1.

GRAND RAPIDS AUTO SHOW

ONE AND A HALF MILLION EXHIBIT.

Overland and Ford Cars Attract Most Attention—22 Visitors From Charlevoix.

The auto show nt Grand Rapids, February 19 to 24, was the best and most successful exhibit that city ever had. We do not mean to say that the past shows have not been successful, for they have. But this year everybody seemed to be just in the right spirit to make the right kind of an auto show. Even nature did its share in giving perfect weather for the event.

Eight o'clock Monday found everything in readiness. The doors were opened to the public and they certainly took advantage of their opportunity, for the show rooms were filled in a very short time. The Klingman building was especially decorated with smilax, intermingled with palms, ferns and other potted plants. All shades were drawn and the building was artificially lighted with electric bulbs placed in Japanese lanterns of all colors and sizes. This not only added to the decorations, but the softness of the light was very pleasing.

To give you some idea of the vastness of the decorations used at the show, the contract for decorations came within ten thousand dollars of the expense of decorations at the show in New York this year. It is estimated that the combined value of the automobiles at the show was one and a half millions of dollars, which is hard to comprehend, unless you saw the exhibit.

Each make of car had its own booth, showing the different styles in which it is made—all the way from two to seven passenger. The arrangement of the cars was left to the taste of the manufacturer or dealer. Some of the booths were very entertaining and instructive, as they showed a chassis partly cut away so that all the moving parts could be seen. The chassis were attached to an electric motor, which kept them running slowly, so that all the details could be traced out.

Other demonstrations were shown in different ways—some had their wheels running, showing how smoothly their cars ran on rough highways, and how easy it is for laides to learn to drive and handle their cnrs. Many other ways were used in demonstrating their coupes and sedans, which we haven't space to describe.

The largest exhibit was made by the Grand Rapids Overland Company, having thirteen cars, which were placed in a very attractive manner—an Overland Model 90 on a turn-table which kept continually turning around and showed her attractive lines very nicely. Next to her was the Country Club, a four-passenger roadster; a new car; no other car like it on the market at any price—red wire wheels with black fenders and battleship gray body, and attracted a great deal of notice.

(Continued on page four.)

Midgets Aagain Victorious.

In the hardest fought game of the season, the Charlevoix Midgets came out on top by defeating the Wolverine quintet by a score of 26 to 20.

At the end of the first half, things looked pretty bad for the Midgets, who were one point behind, the score being 11 to 10.

This did not discourage the winners, but put more "pep" into them than before. In the second half Miles took Saunders' place at left forward. Jacobs was hurt and Saunders took his place at guard. The whole Midget team "came back to life" and defeated the Wolverines by a decisive score. Captain Halverson starred throughout the game.

The Midgets have played eight games this year and have lost none so far. Next week they play the Kangaroo patrol nnd in the near future expect to have a game with Traverse City. If both games are won, the team will again claim the championship of Northern Michigan for the hundred pound class.

Referee, Loomis; time keeper, H. Cartier; scorer, Weed.

Miller's Specials.

4 pkgs. Corn Flakes 25c
4 lbs. Head Rice 25c
1 lb. Oleomargnrine 25c
4 lbs. Ginger Snaps 25c
Adv.9tf Mrs. B. W. Miller.

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD.

The ladies aid society will meet with Mrs. Peter Block, Wednesday, March 7.

Mrs. Annie Bowdish of Charlevoix spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Beattie.

Mrs. Henry Ager of Charlevoix, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ager the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ager are the proud parents of a fine baby girl, born last Tuesday evening. Weight eight pounds, name Ellen Marguerite.

A Ford for spring delivery must be ordered now. Benj. Brown.—Adv.9tf.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

CLARKE SCHOOL.

A program was given by the senior class for Washington's birthday.

Last week was G. T. S. W. (go to school week) at our school. The defeated side gave an entertainment to the winners Friday morning.

The little folks made Washington bookiets Thursday.

The third grade are making geography books this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett have gone to East Jordan for a short visit.

Will Seymour and family are moving to Charlevoix. Mr. Klomp, from the southern part of the state, has rented his farm.

We have received our new five by eight foot flag, which we obtained by selling pins.

John Boss went to Traverse City last week with his father. John has been absent this week on account of la grippe.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv. 6t4

Subscribe for the Courier.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 205 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Mother's Troubles

Mother's unending work and devotion drains and strains her physical strength and leaves its mark in dimmed eyes and careworn expressions—she ages before her time.

Any mother who is weary and languid should start taking

SCOTT'S EMULSION
OF NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

as a strengthening food and bracing tonic to add richness to her blood and build up her nerves before it is too late. Start SCOTT'S today—its fame is world-wide.

No Alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 16-4

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.
Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Congregational Church.
Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christinn Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.
Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Christ Jesus."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.
Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

If you are going to buy a Ford, place your order now. Only immediate delivery is assured to purchasers. Benj. Brown.—Adv.9tf.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

Robert Wilson was pleasantly surprised Monday night when a party of friends walked in to help him celebrate his birthday. The evening was spent in playing games, a good share being taken up for eating the tempting lunch. Oh yes, we'll come again, Robert.

Edwurd Dunlop is reported being quite ill with the grippe.

Cora, Carrie and Howord Flora are again at school, after being absent for some time on account of the whooping cough.

If anyone happens to pass the school house at noon, just drop in and have a bite of our hot lunch. We are having something hot every day and like the plan. By spring we all expect to be expert cooks.

The primary grades are having a spelling contest. Every Friday they have a review in the form of a spell down.

Mr. Flora is cutting wood this week.

Gale Sweet spent the week end visiting at East Jordan.

Miss LaLonde spent the week end with her parents near East Jordan.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY.

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Charlevoix. No Charlevoix resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

Mrs. John Hull, 102 W. Lincoln Avenue, Charlevoix, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they have done me worlds of good. I suffered from an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a short time they entirely removed the trouble. A short time ago my back and kindneys troubled me again but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief promptly." (Statement given October 26, 1911.)

On October 5, 1916, Mrs. Hull said: "I can speak just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally as a tonic and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hull has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

A vital point in the feeding of animals and poultry on any farm is the cost of grain. With this is connected the yearly value of the land required for range. Expenses should be figured out carefully in all farm enterprises so that the profits can be ascertained.

Mixed feeding, if successfully carried on, provides pasturage for hogs and fowls as well as for cattle, horses and sheep. The land has a definite value, which must be counted in all operations. In nearly every section land is reckoned on the basis of $5 an acre. This is a fair average, so that a farmer using five acres as a hog pasture has the item of $25 to charge against the pork to begin with.

LITTER OF SPRING PIGS.

Another fact which needs emphasis is that the use of pasturage enables farmers to raise meat animals and poultry at a low cost. Spring pigs will grow to a weight of 125 to 150 pounds on skimmilk and alfalfa, with the lightest of grain rations, at the age of five or six months, and will be in a state of health and vigor when fattening time approaches. In this growing period a light daily feed of corn, peas, barley or wheat middlings will give good results, but in times when grain is dear the animals will come along nicely on skimmilk and alfalfa, especially if a mess of carrots can be pulled and thrown to them once a day. Such a diet will give a rapid and vigorous growth, fitting the animal to produce a high quality of pork as market time approaches and heavy grain feeding is adopted.

When the fattening period arrives it is best to confine the hogs on their alfalfa range, at least on bright days, and keep up a fair supply of skimmilk, carrots and middlings even after the animals have become accustomed to heavy corn rations. A good quality of corn is unsurpassed for finishing pork, but at times it is too dear to be extensively used. Mixed feeds may produce greater gains, but the quality of the pork is not so good, and the shrinkage while on the road to market is greater than with corn fed hogs. If the pigs are well bred at the beginning and handled in the manner suggested they should be capable of reaching a weight of 250 pounds at eight months of age. Unless the feeder is approximating this figure he is not doing his best. Pork produced in this way costs from 3 to 4 cents a pound, whereas meat animals fed heavily on grain all summer cost the farmer 5 to 6 cents. A 200 pound hog which brings $15 to $17 after being raised at a total expense of $7 to $9 is a valuable product.

This is only one of the vital considerations. The health of pigs is most secure when they have a field of alfalfa, clover, rape or artichokes, together with clean water and shade. Thousands of farmers lose their herds every year by hog cholera, a preventable disease. Pigs that are confined in a yard and raised largely on corn are much more apt to have cholera, fever or worms than those that have a clean field to rustle in. Any farmer watching the growth of his hogs can tell to what extent these forage crops should be supplemented with grain to balance the ration and to prevent an abnormal growth of stomach and intestines at the expense of a more desirable development. Experts agree that they have never been able to make up rations for growing pigs that would produce as good results as one in which skimmilk is about one-fourth the mixture. It should be the constant aim to get uniform growth with home grown and comparatively inexpensive feed.

In the above I have considered the usual system of growing spring pigs into pork for marketing at an age of about eight months. Every farmer should also consider the advantages of carrying over a few rangy hogs for bacon purposes. When this idea is taken up the clover or alfalfa patch becomes an urgent necessity. In growing rangy bacon hogs to a weight of about 350 pounds in sixteen or eighteen months the fattening is not to be hurried, and therefore pasturage, skimmilk and carrots work profitably into the scheme.

Wasting Humus.

Our soils are running short in humus. And still we are burning straw! Straw will keep up the humus content of the soil if spread over the farm and allowed to rot.

See us for your Job Printing.

COUNTY AGENT DISCUSSION

(Continued from page 1)

He touched on the prevalence of various contagious and infectious diseases such as tuberculosis in country communities throughout the state and the great lack of common understanding of what is required to check the ravages of typhoid fever, to prevent the breeding of disease bacteria and their dissemination by that arch enemy of the human race, the deadly house fly.

He spoke of instances where the presence of typhoid in a community like ours had cost enough in valuable lives, loss of patronage by summer visitors and consequent depreciation of property values to pay the salary of a county agent for 50 years. He also emphasized the growing insistence on the part of the city dweller, who makes the market for the farmer, that his source of supply shall be clean and free from contamination, and showed that it is vitally to the interest of the farmer that he should clean up his plague spots, replace the disease-breeding outdoor privy with sanitary plumbing and sewage disposal facilities and regain the confidence in his cleanliness and sanitary methods which he is rapidly losing in the merciless light thrown upon the shocking results of his ignorance and negligence by present-day investigation.

The speaker then showed the tremendous gain to the farmers residing in the organized counties through the offices of the county agent in checking the spread of hog cholera, foot and mouth and other cattle disorders. During a recent epidemic in Michigan, over a territory comprising a hundred square miles extending through the state in a belt like a path of a cyclone or prairie fire, not a cloven hoof could be found. In districts where cattle have fallen by the hundreds, the coming of the county agent with his skilled advice and ability to cope with the situation, his power to quarantine diseased herds and destroy the source of the disease and to check its transmission, has cut the losses to a small fraction of what they were before and might be and thus, an expenditure of a nominal sum has saved to the farmers of a county and to the consumer, who pays in the end, many hundreds of thousands of dollars—a triumph of organized effort.

The county agent must be a plugger for better social conditions, in connection with his more strictly agricultural duties, said Mr. Cook. In order to feed the already enormous and rapidly growing population of the United States, more people must go to farming and they must farm with intelligence and enthusinsm. Country life must be made as attractive, if not more, as city life if we are to keep the farmer's boys and girls, who are the fittest to be farmers, on the farms. The schools and churches must receive their share of attention if they are to play an efficient and useful part in the development of rural community life. And in connection with churches, Mr. Cook brought out a startling, and we think not very generally known fact, that in the states comprising what is known as the middle west district of the United States, about a thousand churches close their doors for good and all each year. He touched on the enormous disproportion of the number of different denominational bodies in the average town to the number of people composing their membership, and the shameful lack of co-operation among them, resulting in the loss of much of their influence for good in the community.

At the close of his discourse, Mr. Cook opened the discussion to his listeners and answered expertly many pertinent queries that were fired at him, always giving complete satisfaction to the questioner. Among other points, he emphasized the strength of the resources which the county agent has always at his command in the shape of federal and state assistance, and then made it clear that the highly trained experts of the government could not operate except in counties that were organized and able to give them efficient support.

In commenting on the above, the Courier hopes that the farmers of Charlevoix county will not turn down an opportunity that if presented to any other class of business men would be eagerly jumped at. Remember the true, if trite, saying, that "co-operation, not competition, spells success."

"A SHINE IN EVERY DROP"
Black Silk Stove Polish is different. It does not dry out; can be used to the last drop; liquid and paste one quality; absolutely no waste; no dust or dirt. You get your money's worth.
Black Silk Stove Polish
is not only most economical, but it gives a brilliant, lasting lustre that cannot be obtained with any other polish. Black Silk Stove Polish does not rub off—it lasts four times as long as ordinary polish—so it saves you time, work and money.
Don't forget—when you want stove polish, be sure to ask for Black Silk. If it isn't the best stove polish you ever used—your dealer will refund your money.
Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Illinois.
Use Black Silk Air Drying Iron Enamel on grates, registers, stove pipe, and anywhere black iron rusts. Prevents rusting. Try it.
Use Black Silk Metal Polish for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.
BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

YOU MAY BE NEXT

One Man Out of Every Seven is Disabled By Accident, Each Year.

Have You Provided Against Such An Emergency?

Our New "STANDARD" Accident and Sickness Policy provides liberal benefits in case of Accident or Sickness.

Sold to Men or Women and Costs Less Than Five Cents a Day.

Pay in case of death by Accident $200 to $5,000 according to nature of accident

Pays for loss of time caused by Accident or Sickness $100 Per Month

Provides for Doctor's fees and Hospital charges

Ask us About it Today. Tomorrow May Be Too Late.

The Burnett Agency
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

SATURDAY SPECIAL

4-10c Packages Corn Flakes
8 Bars Swifts White Soap
1 Can Peas
1 Can Corn
1 Can Beans
1 Dozen Oranges

$1

Edward Klooster
Phone 53 113 Bridge Street
Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

MARINE NEWS.

Charles Hendrickson and his two sons are building a 46 foot fishing craft in the Parmelee warehouse on Round lake. When completed, he intends to fish her out of Harbor Beach.

The new vessel is a sister ship to the one Mr. Hendrickson built last year. She will be equipped with a 40 to 50 h. p. Peerless four-cycle gasoline engine.

Frank Sears is putting a new canopy on the "Enchantress."

Louis Mercier is building a thirty-six footer for Joe Smith, which will be equipped with engines similar to the Hendrickson boat, and with which Mr. Smith intends to fish in local waters next season.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mathar.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works
Clarence J. Withers, Prop.
Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

Grading an Earth Road in Spring.

In maintaining an earth road provision should be made for doing all necessary grading or earth work as early in the spring as possible in order that it may become thoroughly consolidated before the dry weather of summer. If the work is done too late the road will not only probably become very dusty in dry weather, but will need additional attention later in the fall. Where the soil is a heavy clay or gumbo the condition of the road may be very materially improved by adding sand from time to time as that already on the road is worked in by the passing traffic and the drag.

Only rarely do our earth roads, even when neglected, become equally bad over their entire length. Most frequently the really bad places are confined to comparatively short sections, while the remainder of the road is fairly passable. An examination of the worst will usually show that the drainage, either surface or underground, is seriously at fault. The trouble can be remedied by providing the necessary drainage, and in nearly every case could have been prevented by a comparatively small amount of timely and properly directed attention. The lesson is obvious. Systematically organized and properly directed maintenance throughout all seasons is our only guaranty of fairly passable earth roads during the spring of the year.

Protection For Chisel Edges.

A means to protect the cutting edge of a chisel when not in use is to wrap a piece of medium heavy paper around the chisel body to form a paper ferrule. The paper is cut into a strip about one and a half inches wide and six inches long. One side is glued, and it is then wrapped around the chisel. The protector is slipped up on the body when it is in use, but when placed in a chest the ferrule is brought down over the edge.

CHAPTER XXIII.

In Real Life Too.

THERE was no longer any objection raised by Miss Sarah, and Barbara spent every hour of her days with him. It grew warmer with aging spring, and almost immediately he was able to sit with her and watch the stream of logs coming in over the lake from Thirty Mile and beyond.

Miriam and Garry were married in that week which followed directly Steve's first days of convalescence.

Steve and Barbara were at the window together, Steve outwardly still a little pale and haggard, but for the rest his old serene self again. He managed not to smile at her small and serious face.

"It certainly has not strengthened my vanity a little bit, either," said he, "to learn how smoothly things can move along without me."

Day by day the girl was finding her way deeper into that innermost heart of him which he had never shared with other woman or man. Hour by hour she was learning to know him better, and yet his whimsical gravity still could deceive her—she was sometimes thoughts behind his thoughts. Hard upon his reply her eyes flashed with indignation.

"Pooh!" she scoffed. "Pooh! Most any old clock will run after somebody's wound it up!"

It was a trick of speech that she had learned from him, but his employment of parallel, lazily amiable for the most part, had never been so hotly partisan as was hers at that moment. And suddenly self conscious, suddenly confused and wurnly disconcerted at the quality of his gaze, she had to hide her head. But she hid it upon a shoulder most conveniently at hand.

Spring gave way to early summer, and now Steve was able to be on his feet again, so absurdly uncertain of balance at first, however, that she ridiculed him unmercifully one moment, only to rush to him in a panic of solicitude the next. There came long walks and longer trips in the saddle; came hours of silence that were the more wonderful for want of words—hours in which, in a hushed voice, she gave him shyly of her plans. But always, too, the interruptions grew more and more frequent and insistent. Fat Joe and McLean and even Hardwick Elliott made more and more pressing demands upon his time, until finally he insisted that he could no longer play shamelessly the invalid. He must look in upon the works up river if only for the moral effect which it would have upon the men. She assented grudgingly. It would be but a day or two, and then—then he would come back to her.

The next morning, at the moment when Barbara and Steve were mounting their horses, for she wanted to ride with him a little way, Dexter Allison chose to disclose something which had been but lately in the process of preparation. He joined them at the edge of the lawn before the white columned house on the hill.

"Easing back into harness, I understand," he began, not quite comfortably, however, for he was aware of a gleam of disapproval in his daughter's eyes at this interruption. "Well, there's no great rush, but it's wise no doubt to see that things don't lag." He hesitated and shifted heavily to the other foot. "We'll want to start through to the border by fall, I suppose."

"We'll be ready." Steve had to laugh at his lack of ease.

"No doubt—no doubt." Again Dexter hesitated momentarily. And then there came to the surface that proneness to accept men for what they were in a man's world which had long before convinced Caleb Hunter of Allison's inherent bigness.

"Elliott resigned the presidency of the East Coast company last night." The statement was brief to actual crispness. "I merely tell you this so that you can begin to lay tentative plans accordingly, because in view of the immediate need of filling that vacancy I feel sure that there will be too many demands upon your time here at the Morrison office for you to plan as much field work for yourself in the future."

To Barbara at the beginning the speech seemed merely another of her father's rather involved, entirely labored attempts at the facetious. But when she saw the blood steal up and stain Stephen O'Mara's face she realized that it was the very sort of suggestion from which on her lips he and turned roughly away. Coming from the lips of her father, Steve accepted gravely, with a matching briefness, that could not hide a surge of triumph.

She rode with him that day until he told her that it was time for her to turn back. With Ragtime standing quiet, she laid her face against his and complained that he had promised her she should never be allowed to go more than arm's length away from him once she was his.

"This is the last time," he told her in a voice vibrant and low. "This is the last time—for you and me."

He held her closer for a moment.

"You will be ready when I come back?"

She bobbed her head.

"Ready—and waiting," she said.

* * * * * * * *

The next night, in the cabin up river, after Miriam had left them alone to what she termed their complacent silence, Garry Devereux and Steve sat a long while before the former raised a face alight with his rare mirth.

"Well, here we are," chuckled Garry—"I, poor, but honest, already in the toils of matrimony, and you, a plutocrat in sudden danger of a government investigation, I'm told, and hovering on the brink!"

"Here we are!" echoed Steve.

And that was as close as either of them came to outspoken emotion. With a lightness somewhat self conscious, Garry had alluded to the property which Caleb Hunter had turned over to Steve. There was a trace of like humor in the latter's reply.

"I certainly am oppressed with the cares of sudden wealth," said he.

* * * * * * * *

Only her father and Miss Sarah and Caleb were present when they were married. And then, and not alone because she knew he wished it, but because it was the dearest wish of her own heart, they turned their faces toward the cabin on the balsam knoll. He dismounted and lifted her to the ground, for suddenly she wanted to go the rest of the way on foot.

She let her weight lie against him, the top of her head scarce higher than his chin, and sighed a little.

"Tired?" he asked with that gentleness he saved for her alone.

The bright head shook.

"Happy?" he asked again as gently.

She swung around and clung to him then.

"I'm so happy!" she whispered. "Do you suppose that any one will ever be as happy again?"

There was ineffable content in her question. Whimsically her own phrase rose to his lips.

"Maybe," he said, "maybe some time—in books!"

She lifted her face then. He had the dusky glory of her eyes.

"Maybe," she echoed, her voice tremulous—"some time—but this time in real life too."

THE END.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

February 20, 1917.

Regular meeting of the board was called to order by Vice President Bridge.

Trustees present, Bridge, Nordrum and Hiller.

Absent, Hampton and Glassford.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $7657.63.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Orders.

1094	John Cook, treasurer sewer tax	$ 325.63
1095	Frank Smith, fireman	2.00
1096	Raymond Cross, services	1.00
1097	Mrs. Wesley Staley, washing	3.30
1098	King Saunders, cleaning	1.25
1099	B. A. Herman, supplies	3.45
1100	A. N. Palmer Co., supplies	1.79
1101	H. Niedecken Co., supplies	4.20
1102	Benj. Brown, gas	1.25
1103	Independent Pub. Co., subscription	.75
1104	Wood Bros., services and supplies	13.71
1105	Mich. State Tele. Co., rentals and tolls	6.40
1106	Roscoe Smith, janitor	7.50
1107	Theo. Kibbe, janitor.	7.50
1108	Mrs. Alljson, janitor.	7.50
1109	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	7.50
1110	Wesley Staley, janitor	22.50
1111	Fred Bellinger, county normal, supplies	1.00
1112	O. Weed, office	3.00
1113	H. A. Craig, stamps	5.00
1114	Oluf Nordrum, interest and exp.	279.50
1115	Buttars & Bridge, premiums	43.50
1116	Char. S. Sav. Bank coal	294.26

Library Orders.

338	A. M. Dolberg, janitor	5.00
339	Wesley Staley, janitor	7.50
340	Miss Bon, librarian	30.00
341	Mich. State Tel. Co., rental	1.50
342	Wood Bros., supplies	1.30

Teacher's Pay Roll.

Oluf Nordrum, No. 11 . . . . $ 850.72

Moved and supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective bill. Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on motion the Board adjourned.

E. J. Hiller, Secy.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

The commissioner had the privilege of visiting a number of the grade teachers in the East Jordan city schools on Washington's birthday, which the superintendent had declared public visiting day. Some of the work exhibited at that time showed the results of teaching which could be best described as "cracker jack" work. On another occasion of this kind it would pay every parent in the city to turn out but why wait for any special day?

The cooking committee of the Three Bells warm lunch counter declare that they have never been able to draft the boys into regular service except in the dishwashing interval. The menu varies, but the system is complete. These boys and girls furnished a fine program at the Grange hall, Tuesday, the 20th.

Three Bells reports 17 not absent or tardy for the first four months, a record so far surpassed by only one school this year, Afton. The second semester will determine which will have the highest average for the year.

The Star school teacher, Miss Goss, reports a small crowd, but a good time for the valentine social.

Trenton boasts new text books in Palmer penmanship for the primary grades.

All but one in the Mountain school have completed the year's home work.

Wilson No. 1 received the new library books mentioned sometime ago, but the shipment was very much delayed—a common complaint against shipping this winter.

So many times complaints reach this office against the ventilating systems and so many times the commissioner has suggested that the chimney may be to blame, that it might not be correctly installed, that some of the dampers might be defective, or that very likely it was not being handled correctly. Naturally then it was a big relief to receive the following letter last week from Earnest Peaslee of the Hopyard school, and to remember while reading it that the school house has a large bank of windows exposed to the full sweep of the lake winds that sometimes threaten to blow away the entire hill on which the school house is located. He has named it a "Battle with Jack Frost."

The morning of February 12 found the mercury standing at 20 degrees below zero, but when the first bell rang at 8:30 a. m., the mercury stood at 64 degrees above zero in the corner of the room farthest from the heater, which is in one corner.

When the children arrived they found a warm room and when the last bell rang at 9:00 a. m., all the pupils took their seats in comfort. Of course no one was tardy under such conditions.

This is possible because of the circulation of air provided by the ventilating system. It should be an object lesson to these districts which still cling to the old stove in the center of the room, trying to heat dead air while the children hover around the stove. By the way, how many realize that live moving air can be heated more easily and quickly than dead air, and it is much more healthful than dead, poison air for the children? We don't have to buy it but just let it in and warm it as it comes in.

EVELINE.

The weather has changed and who is sorry.

All the sick horses are getting better.

The Lady Maccabees met at the Lewis home last Monday.

Charles Novak was in business caller in District No. 5 on Saturday.

A merry crowd from Hayes were the guests of Mrs. John Knudsen on Saturday last.

James Courier has returned from Big Rapids, where he has been attending school.

Mrs. Ira Olney of South Arm, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kemp.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black of Marion, visited at the John Nasson home one day last week.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Tumuth will be pleased to learn that they have purchased a house in Ironton, expecting to make it their future home.

The grippe is getting its share of victims this winter. Among the sick last week are Ross Alexander, Ace Stewart, Phillip Howe, Emil Nassen, James Mitchell, Datus Dean and many others.

The community was surprised to hear wedding bells last week. Walter Clark of Saco, Montana, and Miss Duffy of South Arm, were happily wed in a Charlevoix home. Mr. Clark owns a valuable farm in Montana, where they will make their future home. They will make the journey in a new Ford touring car purchased in East Jordan. We wish them much joy and good luck on the journey.

Feed and Flax Seed Grinding.

Corn on cob and small grains. Grinding Tuesdays and Saturdays. N. W. Smith, State street.—Adv. 7t4.

MARION.

Gleaner meeting Friday night. Everyone make an extra effort to come.

Leverne McGhan visited his sisters and brother in Boyne City last Wednesday and Thursday.

George Herrington visited his wife Saturday and Sunday. He is working in a camp near Central Lake.

Herbert Wakefield cut his foot last week so badly that he had to return from his work at Sam Straw's.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black and Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison visited at the home of Mr. Nasson last Wednesday.

Elmer Donaldson and family have moved into the tenant house of Elmer Ingalls. He will work for Mr. Ingalls this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meggisen have returned from Central Lake, where he has been working in a camp. He intends to work for Sam Straw for the present.

Opens New Offices.

Henry Kauffman has installed offices in the old bakery building, apposite the Hotel Charlevoix, and will buy all kinds of Hides, Copper, Brass, Rags, Rubbers, and all other kinds of metal. Highest market price paid for all goods brought in. Spot cash.—Adv.7tf.

HAYES.

Mrs. Gilbert Ferris is sick.

This is the last week for taxes.

Mrs. Henry Willis is on the sick list.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beeman, February 26, a boy.

Mr. Bird and Mrs. Webster had their horses vaccinated Monday.

Maple Grove school had a short program on Washington's birthday.

Fun and jokes are all right, but sometimes they can be carried too far.

E. E. Stroud has seven head of horses vaccinated for influenza last week.

Mrs. Frank Kane, Otto, and Mrs. Trafford spent Sunday with Mrs. Jones Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsac returned to their home last Wednesday; stopped in Grand Rapids for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud and two children spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster.

Mesdames Kane, Clara Trafford, Platt Webster, Pant, Jones Lewis and E. E. Stroud, with Lee Pant as driver, spent Saturday last at the home of Mrs. John Knudsen of Eveline. Went on the ice as far as Ironton.

LEGAL NOTICES

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 17th day of February, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased.

Iva Lewis, having filed in said court her final administration account, and her petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate.

It is Ordered, That the 13th day of March, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
8t3pd Judge of Probate.

Does the world look friendly, with the hand of opportunity stretched forth everywhere? Or does it look stern and cold and hopeless?

It all depends on whether you have back of you the support of a substantial Savings Account and a Friendly Connection With A Strong Bank.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Harsha, Vice President. A. A. Swinton, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

OUR NATIONAL STRENGTH

The Nation's might is influenced by its every citizen. Patriotism is for all.

And one of its forms is intelligent, individual effort that develops collective financial strength—so important a factor in our National Supremacy.

Conservation upon the part of the individual—the building of a surplus—is essential to both national and personal protection.

The officers of this Institution stand for America first—and all the time.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months.....75
One Copy, three months.....40

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

FUNNY, ISN'T IT.

The railroads of the country are absolutely swamped with business, and they haven't the facilities to come anywhere near handling the freight traffic. The country is suffering, and, as usual, the people are damning the railroads, but the present congestion of freights is merely the reaping of the policy which the people have been sowing for some years past.

Don't blame the railroads; blame yourself. The public mind has been antagonistic to the railroads for years. The railroads, between the law-making bodies and the labor unions, have been between the upper and the nether millstones; they have had the life—i. e. the profit-earning power—ground out of them; there were no funds available for line extensions and for needed rolling stock; and now—

Well, if you are going cold, or if you are paying $10 a ton for soft coal, or if it takes three or four weeks to get that carload of freight that you would get in as many days, under normal conditions—

Just think of these things.

A railroad may be a "soulless corporation," but it takes money to keep it going, just the same, and if the public deprives it of profit-earning power the public is bound to suffer.

"You never miss the water 'till the well runs dry," and you never miss the railroads until you feel the squeeze of a terribly congested freight traffic.

It all gets back to the proposition that capital must be given fair and honest consideration, otherwise the public, individually and collectively, will suffer.—Escanaba Journal.

A wise mutt has discovered that it is unhealthful for two persons to occupy the same bed, regardless of the fact, recorded in the Book of books, that Moses slept with his forefathers, which were five to the hill, and then lived to the ripe old age of seven or eight hundred and twenty years. Another saviour of the health of his brethern has learned that it is unsafe to ride a horse that another fellow has ridden, to attend church where other people attend. The kiss has been branded as a tempter of death in all manner of diseases. Hand shaking is now considered extremely dangerous. An exchange thinks if things keep up it will be unhealthy to be buried in the same graveyard with other people. The only place a person can be safe from getting disease or getting run over is in a store that doesn't advertise.—Ex.

Germany brags of her ingenuity and inventive skill, and they surely have it in the realm of chemistry. But did you ever stop to think that the two new factors in warfare that have played, and are playing the most important part in the big war are the aeroplane and the submarine and both of them are the inventions of Americans. There is more brain power in the United States than in any other country in the world. Why, what would modern warfare be without the telegraph and the telephone—both Yankee inventions. Yes, we are some toads in the puddle, after all; and the nation or nations that speculate on our "unpreparedness" will get some bumps.

MARINE NEWS.

Hubert Hulme is building a 22-foot trolling launch for a son of Col. M. Shoenberg, a north side resorter. She is to be equipped with a 6 h. p. Caille Perfection gasoline motor, and the young man will use her for fishing trips up Pine lake this summer.

The repairs to the steamer "Columbia," of the Beaver Transportation Co., include new yellow pine decking on the promenade forward, with new deck beams and the bracing of the upper works on the main deck. A coat of paint over all and some other improvements are contemplated.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Mr. Buddington's Fortune

It Was Bestowed Where It Would Do the Most Good

By ETHEL HOLMES

Young Mrs. Buddington was a model bride. Perhaps the word "enduring" would better describe her. She had married a man's man, and a man's man, especially when very young, is easily drawn from his home. Tom Buddington had scarcely returned from his wedding journey before he was waylaid by his former associates and induced to spend an evening with them, leaving his wife at home alone.

Tom knew this was all wrong. At midnight he succeeded in tearing himself away from his companions and went home. The house was dark and without sound. He put his latchkey into the lock very quietly and went upstairs softly. This was not because he feared to awaken his wife, for he didn't believe she was asleep. It was rather the result of a guilty conscience. He would have liked to hear a sweet voice say: "That you, dearie? Had a good time?" But he entered the dressing room next the bedroom without any greeting. Looking in where Bess was sleeping, by the light turned low he saw her peacefully slumbering.

Tom was both relieved and disappointed. He was pleased that his bride had not lain awake waiting for him, but he would have liked a brief chat with her before going to sleep himself. The lady was not asleep; she was pretending. She was a wise woman. If she cheerfully received her husband after his return from his bachelor friends she would have encouraged him to go to them again. If she upbraided him it would have a tendency to drive him away from her. Tom went to sleep ungreeted and unreproached. He resolved that he would not do so any more.

But Tom's effort to be good proved a failure. A young man, especially a man's man, needs relaxation. His error was not in this; it was in failing to provide his wife with relaxation also, or, rather, in forcing her to spend a considerable number of evenings alone. If it was not practicable to furnish her with company he should have remained with her, even if he did need relaxation, for she needed it as much as he did, probably more, since her place during the day was at home, and it was natural that in the evening she should need change of scene. Unfortunately Tom's income was not sufficient to enable them to go out to theaters or such other places of amusement.

"Just you wait, dearie," Tom said to his wife one evening when he was going out with a couple of men friends, "till Uncle Alec shuffles off this mortal coil, and I'll stop this going out without you. You shall have all the opera and the other amusements you like."

Now, Uncle Alec was a childless bachelor, who had worked and saved, never having married because he thought he couldn't afford to marry, till he had come to old age and a fortune without any one except his nephew to inherit his money. He had therefore pitched upon Tom for the purpose, and it was all settled that the young man was to have $100,000 after the old man's death.

Tom, being sensible of this prospective advantage, aimed to show his uncle proper attention. Since both were engaged during the day, the evening was the only time that the dutiful young man could pay his respects to the old gentleman. Bess understood that one night every week was to be devoted to this purpose. Tom went to see his uncle with tolerable regularity, and when he omitted to do so his wife understood that he had made the visit, though on such omissions Tom was enjoying his bachelor friends. Sometimes on his regular nights for visiting his uncle he would take Bess with him. She was a great favorite with the elder Buddington, which pleased Tom very much, for it strengthened the younger in the matter of his prospective fortune.

When the Buddingtons had been married a decade the wife did not need her husband's companionship so much as at first because she was taken up with several little children who had come to her in the meanwhile. Tom continued still to be a man's man and found a good deal to take him out. Indeed, there was more to absorb his attention every year. He dabbled in a small way in politics, having some taste for wire pulling, and was a member of various associations. He needed no excuses for going out evenings, for there was always a committee meeting or something of the kind that served the purpose. None of these engagements brought in any money, and the practical Mrs. Buddington was not made the better satisfied with her husband's absences by pecuniary gain.

But she did not complain. Tom said that it was the duty of a citizen to take an interest in the government of his country, his state or his city, as each needed his attention. There was no gainsaying this, and Bess was not the woman to interfere with whatever her husband considered his duty. She made the monthly stipend go as far as it was possible to make it go, patched the children's clothes and pinched in every way. The elder Buddington might have helped the family, but men who devote their lives to piling up money usually do more giving in a way that will afford a return, even if that return is merely a higher standing in the community in which they live. They are not likely to hide their lights under a bushel. Buddington senior held on to every cent he had and only arranged for the disposition of his fortune after his death because he could not take it with him.

But for this reason and because it had absorbed his whole life he was much concerned as to its going where he wished to have it go when he could no longer use it himself.

One evening he sent for Tom to come and see him. Tom was away from home and had told his wife that he was going to a meeting of householders of his ward to select a candidate for councilman. Bess sent word to Mr. Buddington to that effect, giving the place of the committee meeting. He telephoned there and was told that Tom had just left for his club. Mr. Buddington had not been aware that his nephew was a member of a club. He had never considered that he could afford such a luxury himself and could not see how Tom with his limited income and a family could do so. The old gentleman did not send to the club for Tom, but he did send to his home after 11 o'clock for him, to learn that his nephew had not yet returned.

When Tom came in at 1 o'clock in the morning and learned that his uncle had sent for him he was troubled. He knew the old gentleman's proclivities well and had not informed him of any expense that he incurred that his uncle would consider he should withhold. He went to see his uncle the next evening, but the old man merely said that he had wanted him to witness an important document and, not reaching him, had called in some one else.

This lulled Tom's fears, and he did not know that the wily old man, through parties unknown to him or Bess, had made inquiries which had put him in possession of the situation of affairs in their household. He also by similar indirect means learned that Tom was inclined to take an interest in unprofitable affairs and spent very little of his time at home. But the uncle made no mention to any one of his discoveries. He did a job of thinking over the matter and came to some conclusions that would have caused his nephew to open his eyes had he been aware of the fact.

For awhile after his uncle had sent for him—not to find him—Tom was uneasy about going out. But his uneasiness did not last long. His uncle's manner was the same that it had been, and there was no indication that there had been any unfavorable turn. But Bess, who had been for a long while striving to make ends meet, had been unable to do so, and the family financial affairs were on the ragged edge. Bess had been ill on several occasions, and a doctor's bill to a considerable amount had accumulated.

Perhaps if they had applied to Mr. Buddington he might have helped them out. Perhaps he might have told them that if they had lived within their income they would have provided for the doctor's bills as they occurred. But they did not dare inform the old man of their condition. He was getting feeble and might drop off any day. If they could worry along till he had passed away they could pay all their bills a hundred times over. So they concluded to endure the situation. But Tom as his uncle's feebleness increased rather increased than diminished his personal expenditures, banking on his soon possessing a fortune.

When Mr. Buddington passed from earth he did so without warning. He died so suddenly that his nephew did not have time to reach him to bid him goodby and receive his blessing. When he reached the house where the rich man lay he received something that he did not appreciate as he would have appreciated a blessing. The housekeeper handed him a note written by the deceased shortly before his death, which read as follows:

> My Dear Nephew—I have led you to believe that at my death you would inherit what I have been a lifetime in accumulating. During the last few years I have concluded that you are not a safe person to be intrusted with a fortune. I have therefore decided to place my estate in other hands. Don't feel hard toward me for this. I have always been very fond of you and am fond of you still. Goodby.
> Your affectionate UNCLE.

Tom staggered under the blow. His wife, who was with him and read the letter over his shoulder, took him in her arms. She was too disappointed to speak encouragingly to him, but spoke no word of reproach. Sadly they left the house, the wife looking the future in the face resolutely, the husband limp as a cloth.

When the will was opened Tom and his wife were present more out of curiosity than anything else, though they thought that some memento might be left them. The will was very short, reading as follows:

"I give and bequeath to Elizabeth Buddington, wife of my nephew, Thomas R. Buddington, all my property, real and personal."

Tom looked at Bess, and Bess looked at Tom. Then the woman took the man's hand in hers, and what she felt was indicated by a pressure.

It was evident that Mr. Buddington had noted the difference between the two—that the wife was fitted to dispense an income and that the husband was not. During the years that they enjoyed their inheritance Bess conscientiously carried out the intent of the will and resisted all attempts of her husband to induce her to turn the fortune over to him or to permit him to have anything to say in its management or the disposition of the income.

But she was very liberal with him, not grudging him any reasonable sum, making sure, however, that it was spent for a legitimate purpose.

More than 400 patents have been issued by the United States for devices intended to harness the power of sea waves.

LADIES' COATS AND SUITS

Early showing of the New Spring Coats and Suits for Ladies. We would like to have you step in and look them over. This is a season of bright colors, but we have the staple Blues and Blacks. Prices range from $10.00 to $25.00

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

CONDITIONS IN MANY HOMES

CAN BE FOUND OUT ONLY BY INVESTIGATION.

Fifty Children Clothed This Winter—Charity at Home First—Help Armstrong Family.

While everybody is talking about the war and the horror stricken people of Europe, if the readers of the Courier will pardon the interruption, I shall take only a few moments of your time and call attention to a little bit of our plain duty here at home.

For the past two and one-half years I have lived in Charlevoix, and I believe I had rather live in Charlevoix than anywhere else. I like Charlevoix, for I believe it the best town I ever saw. The type of our citizenship would be hard to equal in towns elsewhere of this size. The culture and ideals of the world are brought to us by our multitude of tourists annually. Our people are wide-awake and progressive. We have a religious community and our people are broad minded in their religiun.

The Catholic, the Protestant, the Jew and the Gentile mingle together—one big family of neighbors. We remember that "we are brethren" and "our brother's keeper."

One splendid feature of our society is that there are but few needy poor. Yet so long as there is one in need and our "barns are full," we cannot but feel some sense of responsibility.

Many people often need that which others could easily spare—yet because of that "pride" with which we are all most certainly "blessed," would not for the world let be known.

I went into a home here in Charlevoix, where a mother and four children had been without food for nearly 36 hours, and I was three hours getting the mother to explain her need to me. I was no stranger, either.

Your nearest neighbor may be hungry or cold and yet you are not able to tell it by looking into his face. You might learn some unbelievable conditions by investigation.

It has been my opportunity to investigate conditions in a number of instances this winter. In fact, I have done so where ev'r I had the least suspicion that there was want and this has certainly brought before the public some things heretofore unknown.

There is no need of any going in want in or about Charlevoix. There may be a thousand reasons why people come to want, and many of them unjustifiable, but our responsibility does not cease. "I am still my brother's keeper." A child's parents may be "o'nery," or criminals, or "brutes," or what-not—yet if the child is hungry, I must feed him. If naked, I must clothe him, if cold, I must give comfort, if without a home, I must take him in. As a Christian; yes even as one of God's creatures, possessing a soul, I am bound to this sacred duty. The child cannot help what the parents are, or may do.

Some good people excuse themselves by the unchristian statement, "I am willing to help the worthy poor." Friends, it is not a question as to worthiness—worthy or unworthy, if one is in need, then I must lend a helping hand. Jesus Christ

(Continued on page eight.)

SPECIALS ON
Shirt Waists, Aprons and Hosiery

We wish to call your attention to the fact that you are going to be able to profit by reading this advertisement. This store offers three qualities of Shirt Waists in the latest styles at the following reductions:

$2.00 Waists at $1.70
$1.25 Waists at 89c
$1.00 Waists at 69c

Examine our line of Coverall and Bungalow Aprons and note the discount prices that we offer you.

75c Values for 60c
65c Values for 52c

Women's Wool and Fleeced line hose, are also on the list of reduced price specials while this line lasts. The prices are as follows:

50c Quality at 39c
35c Quality at 25c
25c Quality at 19c

To close out our line of winter underwear we are going to offer a big reduction. You can not buy them next fall for the prices prevailing this spring. The reduced prices now in effect will add a greater saving if you will purchase them now. The stock is complete and the assortment is excellent. We are making these reductions to give room for the new Spring goods arriving daily.

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

GRAND RAPIDS AUTO SHOW

(Continued from page one.)

Next came the No. 90 two-passenger roadster, which is just the car for anyone looking for a light roadster with lots of "pep." Next to that, the three-passenger roadster, with 35 h.p.—power enough for any road. This same chassis has a five-passenger touring body also. The Overland company has a light six and a heavy six cylinder car.

Then came the Willys-Knight four and eight cylinder which is the coming car. They have no springs nor valves to keep in repair. Carbon does not interefere with this motor in any way and they have every advantage over the poppet valve motor. Men who drive them claim they have driven 10,000 to 15,000 miles without putting a wrench on their motors and still they are running almost noiselessly. It is fair to say that this motor attracted more attention than any other motor at the show.

There were also many different makes of tires which were of great interest; oils, greases, paint, etc.; accessories for Fords of every description; electric starters and lighting systems.

There were a great many truck attachments for Ford cars sold at the show and distributed to all parts of Michigan. These truck attachments are becoming very popular and are adapted to all classes of trucking from the heaviest to the lightest. There were more autos sold at the show, of all kinds, than at any previous show.

Twenty-two residents of Charlevoix county attended the show, of whom 15 were from this city.

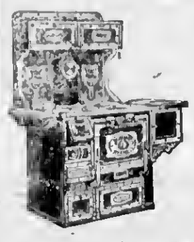
Nothing But Goodness in Everything Made With IRON DUKE FLOUR

For Sale By All Dealers

Argo Milling Co.
Manufacturer

Mills at Charlevoix, East Jordan, Central Lake.

$ CHARLEVOIX DOLLAR DAY MARCH 17 $



Monarch Malleable Ranges

Protected Against Rust Damage by Vitreous Enameled Linnings. Here at last is a Range combining all of the Essentials of Perfection.

1.—The econnmy and continuous perfect service, possible only in a Range of Malleable cnnstruction.

2.—The quiek action and good baking qualities possible only in a Range with steel oven and body.

3.—A durability that defies Rust and time as heretofore unknown in any type of Range.

Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

Of course its a Monarch Range! The same old, substantially built "Monarch Malleable" with the addition of Vitreous Enameled Flue Linings protecting the oven and all flue walls against damage from Rust.

It combines these essentials of perfection at a price no higher than those of other good Ranges none of which offer all of these advantages. This is something we are proud to talk about—come in and give us a chance.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Cet the habit—Read the Courier.

Glen Beers is here from the Soo on business.

Dwight H. Fiteh of East Jordan was in town Friday.

Mrs. Henry Wood is in Chicago on business this week.

Judge Mayne is in Bellaire this week, holding court.

W. F. Aldrich of Chicago, is at the Lindn Vista for a few days.

Miss. Inez Bayes spent the week end in Mancelona at a house party.

A. F. Young left last Saturday for Washington, D. C., on business.

Mrs. C. L. Gonser and Mrs. F. A. Hull visited friends in Ellsworth, Saturday.

Alfred Brown returned Friday night from Crnnd Rapids and the auto show.

A. Buttars returned from a few days' business trip to Detroit, Saturday night.

Born, Friday night, February 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heise, of Antrim street, a boy.

Mrs. Benjamin Brown and little daughter, visited friends in Central Lake on Friday of last week.

Capt. George W. Weaver left Tuesday for Chicago on business for the Beaver Transportation Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ellis spent Washington's Birthday with their father, Henry Jacobs of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hines spent the week end with Mrs. Hines' aunt, aunt, Mrs. Moss at Harbor Springs.

Fred Marsh returned Saturday afternoon from Big Rapids, where he has been visiting for the past few days.

Regular communieation of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. and A. M., Tuesday evening, March 6. By order of W. M.

Mrs. William H. Cook is seriously ill with pleuro-pneumonia at her home on Petoskey avenue. Mr. Cook is also suffering from a severe cold, which has caused a very painful ear trouble.

Charles H. Hanson arrived Monday from Petoskey, to take up his duties at his Charlevoix office in the VanPelt block.

Frank Classford, wife and daughter, Ililda, left Friday for n ten day visit to friends in Flint and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krchak of Phelps, are the parents of a boy, born February 19, the seventh child in a family of girls.

Miss Marjorie Weaver returned last Wednesday night from a ten day's visit to friends in Alma, Coleman and Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Henry Harrington of Detroit, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Will Bogart and her brother, Reuben Pearl, this week.

E. B. Ward of this city, was one of the speakers at a meeting of the Antrim County Pomona Grange held at Alden, Friday evening.

Mason Rose left for Grand Rapids, Thursday afternoon to attend the Shriner's ball, held Friday evening. He returned Monday.

Mrs. Fern Summers and child, from Spokane, Washington, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Summer's sister, Mrs. Ray Ashdon of this city.

Ernest Kibbe left last Monday morning after a two month's vacation, to resume his duties at the coast guard station in Clen Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Driggett returned Thursday afternoon from Detroit, where they have been visiting their son, Will and wife, for the past ten days.

W. E. Hnmpton returned last Thursday from Kalkaska, where he had been acting as examiner of the local K. of P. lodge in the state-wide officers' contest.

J. L. CRANE

Dresser Setts

Foster's Colored Dresser Setts

Ready for use when edges are hemmed

Colors for blue, yellow or pink bedrooms

A very pretty popular novelty at small expense.

28 cents Set

ANY COLOR

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howard returned from Muskegon, Monday, where they have been spending a couple of months, stopping at Traverse City to visit friends for three days on the way up. Mr. Howard will resume his duties at the coast guard station, which officially opens at 12 o'clock midnight, Wednesday.

County Treasurer George W. Weaver has appointed Henry Cooper to net as deputy county treasurer. He will take office sometime in the spring when Captain Weaver assumes his new duties in the Beaver Transportation Company. Mr. Cooper has held the office of treasurer before and will be no stranger to the work.

Read adv. on another page. Place your Ford order now if you want to own a car in the spring. Immediate delivery now. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 9tf.

NEW TYPE OF WORM GEAR.

Device For Automobiles That Increases Power and Lessens Wear.

By placing the teeth of a worm gear on the side of the wheel instead of on the outer edge, a French inventor has produced a new type of driving gear for automobiles. Only the center tooth is fully meshed in the ordinary type of worm gear, while with the new gear the teeth are so shaped that each is in full mesh as long as it engages the worm, a feature that increases the power and adds to the life of the apparatus.

NEW TYPE OF DRIVING GEAR.

With the ordinary type the worm must be set either above or below the axle casing and the engine must therefore be set high or inclined in order to obtain a straight line drive. This is overcome in the new gear, as the worm may be set as close to the axle as may be necessary.

Instrument For Measuring Earthwork.

Measurement of earthwork in railroad fills and cuts constitutes a large part of the field work in the federal valuation of railroads. The work involves innumerable cross sections, and the importance of any special means of expediting the work or minimizing the computations is apparent. An instrument has been devised which entirely eliminates the need for trigonometric tables in the stadia work and reduces the calculations to simple multiplications and additions. The instrument is stripped of all attachments not needed for this work alone and is designed to permit the most rapid use.—Engineering Record.

Announcement.

John Slezak has moved his shoe shop from the Wood building to the first door north of Moore's restaurant, formerly the old bakery.—Adv.7t4.

* CHARLEVOIX MARKETS *

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 28, 1917.

Grains
White wheat, per bu	$ 1.60
Red wheat, per bu	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.75
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Oats	.66
Barley, per bu	1.00
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.15
Shelled Corn	1.10
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fntted	$10.00 to $12.00
Pork, dressed	12.00 to 16.00
Calves, dressed	14.00
Live Poultry
Chickens	$ .17
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.35
Potatoes, per bu.	2.50
Honey per lb.	15
Salt, granulated	1.60

400 TYPEWRITERS

REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIER $12

Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE CHEAP—Cood base burner wood stove. Inquire at this offlee. 50tf

LOST—Monday morning, a silk bag containing a filet yoke. Finder please return to Courier Offiee. 9t1

FOR SALE—Jersey and Grade Jersey heifer calves from good producing eows. Ceo. Meggison, R. 1, Charlevoix, phone 167f5. 9tf

WANTED—To rent for the summer of 1917, cottage on the north side. Will not consider Dixon Ave. Mrs. Leonard S. Florsheim 5018 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. 8tf

WANTED—Cabinet makers, bench and machine hands for large woodworking plant. Good wages, steady employment. No labor trouble. The Hamilton Mfg. Co., Two Rivers, Wisconsin. 7t6

WANTED—Single man for general farm work. Must be able to milk. Year round work. State age, experienee, salary expected, give reference. Wallace Bros, Bay Shore, Mich. 9tf

FOR SALE OR RENT—My farm of 47 acres, 2 miles south of Charlevoix, on County Road. Also 10 acres, separate from farm, with 2 acres of red raspberries for sale. Will sell stock and tools. Terms reasonable. Inquire of Mrs. J. H. Blackwood, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 1. 9t4

The Store of Quality and Good Service

$ $

Watch this Space Next Week for Dollar Day Advertisement

$ $

C. DANTO & SON

Telephones 12 and 64.

We want your Butter and Eggs, Pork and Beef and pay highest market price.

Highest Price Paid for Chickens

FORD

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

320,817

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916.

These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers.

This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribntion of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales.

We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now.

Immediate orders will have prompt attention.

Delay in buying at this time may cause you to wait several months.

Enter your order today for immediate delivery with our authorized Ford agent listed below and don't be disappointed later on.

PRICES:
Runabout $345, Touring Car $360, Coupelet $505
Town Car $595, Sedan $645, f. o. b. Detroit

Ford Motor Company

BENJ. BROWN

Phone No. 60. Charlevoix. Michigan

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, March 6th

'THE BLACK BUTTERFLY'

Mme. Petrova

Thursday, March 1

TRIANGLE PROGRAM

W. S. Hart in Hell's Hinges

5 Reel Feature—also 2 reel comedy

'The Snow Cure,' Keystone

Pre-Inventory Sale

of Hardware

We will reduce our Hardware stock during the next week. See us and we will make you prices that will look good.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries

Come to this store for Clothing

Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

FARMERS:

DEPOSIT your cream and produce checks on a checking account at your home Bank. Let us explain to you this system of doing business properly and see if at the end of a year you are not satisfied. You will have a complete record of all transactions. Any deposit over $5 will be accepted as a first deposit on a checking account.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS

Responsibility, $300,000.00

G. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Accounts If Left 3 Months

A Message for You!

The cold winter weather demands warm clothing. To the people of this vicinity we wish to state that we are prepared to supply your need in everything in winter supplies for the home or any member of the family. We have large stocks of heavy Shoes, Socks and Rubbers, Shirts, Woolen Pants, Mackinaws, Caps, Mittens, Underwear in all weights and sizes. Don't forget us if you need Blankets, Pillows or Comforters. Also remember our other departments. Our Prices are Low, Service good, and Quality High.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

WE ARE GOING TO OFFER SOME EXCEPTIONALLY LOW PRICES ON OUR STOCKS. WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENT.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

D. E. Clow was in Traverse City on Monday.

Mrs. Jack Parsons is under the doctors care this wek.

Wm. Louiselle has moved to his new farm near Phelps.

John Hart of East Jordan, was in town one day last week.

Mrs. B. J. Beuker spent Thursdsy of last week at East Jordan.

Ira Drost spent Thursday and Friday in Traverse City on business.

The Misses Effie and Gladys Larzen spent last Saturday in Charlevoix.

L. D. Jones of Detroit, was in Ellsworth on business one day last week.

Harry Feiner was in Central Lake on business one or two days last week.

School Commissioner A. C. Belding was an Ellsworth visitor last week.

Mrs. Peter Wieland was visiting the dentist at Bellaire one day last week.

Stuart Baar of Central Lake, has been working at the bank for a few days.

Henry Yettaw is at home again after spending his vacation in Detroit.

Several from Ellsworth attended the dance at Norwood last Friday night.

The Epworth league met Sunday evening at the home of Dr. B. J. Beuker.

Township Treasurer Harwood was in Ellsworth and vicinity on Thursday of last week.

Ice cutting is a thing of the past in Ellsworth this year. The last ice cut was ubout 22 inches thick.

Miss Myrle Brndford is at home again, after spending a few days in Traverse City.

Bob Vanorman of Traverse City, is in town to attend the funeral of his brother.

Mrs. C. L. Gonser and Mrs. F. A. Hull of Charlevoix, visited at the Townsend home on Saturduy.

Miss Emma Brosehe of Traverse City arrived on Saturday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. A. L. Ely.

John Henip, who has spent the last two months visiting at Chicago and Denver, Colorado, has returned to his home here.

Charles Fairman has sold his farm recently vacated by Wm. Louiselle, to his son, Claud, who will take possession about April 1.

Charles Munson, who has been working this winter for George Heller, returned Friday to his home at Oneonta, New York.

L. O. Bloomer of Alden and Mr. ond Mrs. W. S. Richardson of Central Lake, attended the funeral of Mrs. G. C. Townsend, Tuesday.

Guy Woodard has severed his connection with the livery barn, where he has been employed for some time, and is visiting his brother ut Pellston.

Teams from Atwood have been moving the household goods from the depot for Mr. Klomp, who has rented the Will Seymour farm near Atwood.

George Telegenhoff, who recently held a sale at his home nenr Essex nnd went to Washington to visit his children, has been stricken with paralysis and is in a serious condition.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of April 30, 1896.

G. V. Nash wns in town last Tuesday.

A new side track has been put in for the Ellsworth Lumber Co.

Several very drunken people on our streets the pnst week. Hurrah for loenl option.

F. H. Skow is adding to his stock of merchandise daily.

Frank Friedrich of Traverse City, and Ping.—no, we mean W. E. Campbell of Elk Rapids, were distributing Pingree buttons and blotting paper to our politicians one dny lnst week.

The township caucus to elect delegates to the county convention was held in Atwood on Wednesday, the 29th.

Ellsworth Grange.

The Ellsworth Grange postponed the open meeting nnd lecture, "Alfnlfa on Every Farm," from last Friday night to Sntardny nfternoon, March 3. It is our wish to have a large number of interested agriculturists present, hecnuse much is to be gained from this lecture.

Subscribo for the Courier.

Ellsworth Section

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

Thos. DeMoulpied visited his son, Archie, at Bates last week.

Ray Nelson of Ellsworth, spent Sunday at the C. E. Bearss home.

Thos. DeMoulpied has rented the Aaron Harwood farm near Atwood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heller visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McElroy, Sunday.

Russ Alward of Atwood and Glen Smith of Ellsworth, were Sunday visitors at the Isa Alwurd home.

Clarence Feltenbarger stayed with his aunt, Mrs. Thos. DeMoulpied last week during the absence of Mr. DeMoulpied.

We have been reminded several times of u mistake in the last issue of the Courier concerning the school meeting. The paper stated that all voted in favor of consolidation. This was a rather serious mistake, as all were very decidedly opposed to it. We have been wondering whether D. E. Clow gave the editor a tip to print it that way, or if it was only a mistake. If it was a mistake it couldn't be helped and if otherwise—well, we couldn't blame anyone for taking tips when potatoes are $2.50 per bushel.—(Rest easy, dear correspondent, that the editor of the Courier has not as yet received any "hush money." Your inference is entirely uncalled for, even if said in a joking manner. The mistake of leaving the word "not" out of your copy was unintentional, due entirely to an oversight in proof reading. We regret the occurrence, but remember, copy sent to this office is not made public property before it is printed.)

School Notes.

We have the warm lunch system established nt our school now and find plensure both in the eating and the preparing of the lunch, whatever it may be. It brings a touch of domestic science into the school work.

The lower grades made hatchets and shields as souvenirs for Washington's birthday.

The 8th grade made maps of their home farms, locating the fields and showing the crops grown on them, for agriculture last week.

Banks Township Caucus.

Notice is hereby given that the regular Township Caucus for Banks Township, will be held at Ellsworth, in the Boss hall, on Saturdny, March 10, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of plucing in nomination the various township officers to be elected at the annual meeting to be held in April. And further, the transaction of any other business that mny properly come before said caucus, including the election of a township committee. Signed:

E. R. Harris,
D. E. Cnrpenter,
Joe McElroy,
Committee.

Dated Ellsworth, Mich., February 27, 1917.

WILDWOOD.

Clarence Fales has asthma pretty bad these days.

Jim Wilson was in East Jordaa on business one day last week.

Mrs. Chas. Cornwell is expected home from Detroit this week.

Steve Emons of Echo, was in this neighborhood one day lnst week looking for a location for the summer.

Ice harvest has begun in an effort to keep Wildwoo' "cool" the approaching season. No trouble to shiver without ice as yet, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Lehmon of Kalamazoo, are here visiting relatives. Mrs. Lehman was formerly Miss Leah Cornwell, so we feel it unnecessary to add they are very welcome home.

Neal Crawford and Jim Wilson drove to Atwood last week and got the little separntor from Jnck Parsons to thresh their buckwheat and radish seed. Well it he extra early or very late threshing this time of year?

One of the saddest things it has ever been our experience to know about is the death of Mrs. G. C. Townsend nnd her infant daughter, of Ellsworth. It has cast a gloom over the whole community. Tha husband and father have the tender sympathy of all who know him in his time of deep sorrow. Mrs. Townsend will ulways be remembered as a lndy with pleasant manner, aunny dispositinn, with a true churacter and a keen sense of honorable integrity. Her loss is deplorable and deeply regretted by all who knew her. She will he sadly missed in social as well as home life.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES.

The tenth grade agriculture class are now testing seed corn.

The seventh grade hnve finished their work in history for this year.

Lee Benrss was absent from school last week on account of an attack of appendicitis.

Commissioner of Schools A. C. Belding visited the school last week.

The primary and intermediate rooms appropriately observed Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays.

Mrs. Brail took charge of the high school room Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

LIFE SAVING CRADLE.

Apparatus Designed For Carrying Injured Persons Down a Ladder.

Inveuted by the wife of a retired admiral of the United States navy, a little cradle, or litter, is designed to enable injured or unconscious persons to be brought safely out of buildings where the only exit is a ladder, says Popular Mechanics. It was lavented primarily for carrying sailors or soldiers from battlefield or fighting place to the hospital, but its adoption by fire companies is rapidly demonstrating its efficiency in the lines of peace. In making a rescue one fireman descends one rung nhend of another, thus distributing the load.

The cradle weighs but four and one-half pounds and makes a bundle only eighteen inches long and less than five inches in diameter. The cradle proper consists of a double thickness of heavy canvass three and one-half feet long and eighteen inches wide. To each end of a heavy canvas strip attached across one end of the main sheet nnd projecting ten inches at each side is a patented catch, held firmly in place with a piece of stout leather riveted directly to the canvas strip. A harness of canvas and leather is provided for each of the two men who are to use the appliance. Shoulder straps of canvas four inches wide, with two metal rings at each side, permit the cradle to be hooked to the shoulder harness.

LADDER RESCUE FROM BURNING BUILDING.

Used as a litter, this device has proved much more flexible thna the standard stretcher, which is of little use in desceading or ascending stairs where sharp corners have to be turned. The new apparatus leaves the hands free.

Hydraulic Mining.

The beginnings of hydraulic mining reach back into the realm of mythology. The story of Jason and the golden fleece has its origin in that industry, for the Colchians, from whom Jason obtained the fleece, were great miners. They were of a country which abounded in placer gold, nnd their method of operation was to place a sheep's hide with the wool on it in a narrow brook and allow the water to carry the gold bearing sand over it. The heavy gold sank into the wool and was held there, while the lighter sand and debris were washed awny by the water. The fleeces thus obtained were valuable, and it is supposed that they were used in trade and so came into the hands of the Greeks. Hydraulicmining has not progressed much since the time of Jason, the one essential difference aside from mechanical improvement being the present use of mercury to assist in holding the water borne particles of gold.—Engineering Magazine

Electrical Copper Refining.

A plant laid out on a very extensive basis for the leaching and electrolytic precipitation of copper is being constructed at Philipsburg, Pn. The ore body to be worked in this vicinity is in excess of 200,000,000 tons. The first unit of the plant now in course of erection has been designed to treat 10,000 tons of ore per day. The refinery will have an output of about 335,000 pounds of copper per day. Energy for separating the copper from the ore will be transmitted to the plant from a generating station on the coast over eighty-five miles of line at 100,000 volts.—Electrical World.

Withstands Great Heat.

It has been found by experiment that when the impure forms of bauxite containing considerable iron oxide are exposed to intense heat the bauxite is converted into a solid mass of emery which is so hard that it can barely be cut by steel tools and resists chemical, thermal nnd mechanical action to a marked degree. Recent applications of bauxite in brick, according to the United States geological survey, are in the lining of rotary cement kilns, lead refining furnaces and basic open hearth steel furnaces

MOTHER AND BABE BURIED TOGETHER

MRS. GLEN C. TOWNSEND DIED FRIDAY.

Formerly Teacher in Ellsworth Public Schools—Interment at Traverse City Tuesday.

The wife and new-born daughter of Glen C. Townsend, cashier of the Citizens Bank of Ellsworth, died last Friday afternoon in thut city. The news comes to the friends and neighbors as a sevor shock and their deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. Townsend in his hour of grief.

Hazel Belle Holiday was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Holiday of Clnrion, where she was born June 20, 1890, one of six children. She had lived in the Ellsworth district for the past seven years; taught school at Essex and Atwood and also tuught in the Ellsworth school for three years, up until her marriage with Mr. Townsend, April 14, 1916. She hns nlways been very active and helpful in the life of the community and her absence will be keenly felt by all.

Deceased is survived hy her husband, her mother, who is living at East Jordan, a brother, Earl Holiday, married and living at Pontiac, two other brothers, Percey and Glen, single and living at East Jordan, a sister, Mrs. Edward Bradford, also living at East Jordan, and Miss Beulah Holiday, another sister living at Traverse City. Her futher diel some years ago and is buried at Traverse City.

The little girl who had so short a time to stay, and for whose coming the mother had given up her life, wus to have been named Janet Eloise. She passed away at birth, preceding her mother, who died at 5:00 p. m., by only a short time.

Funeral services for the mother and child were held from the Townsend home nt 11:00 a. m. Tuesday, after which the remains were taken to Traverse City for interment, and laid to rest together. Rev. Stevens of the M. E. church at Traverse City, officiated, and the singing was led by Mrs. A. H. Holiday, of Traverse City.

Among those present from out of town were the mother of the deceased, Mrs. J. G. Holiday, Percey nnd Glen and Mrs. Bradford of East Jordan; Earl Holiday of Pontiac; Beulah Holiday, Dr. G. A. Holiday and Mrs. A. H. Holiday of Traverse City, and of Mr. Townsend's relatives, his sisters, Mrs. C. B. Post and Mrs. Cynthia Riker of Litchfield; F. J. Ayers of Litchfield, and a brother, Floyd Townsend of Bitely, Michigan. There were many beautiful floral offerings.

SIXTY-ONE YEARS OLD FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 23

Forty Friends Surprised Wm. Eastcott at His Home.

Last Friday evening while Wm. Eastcott, in his smoking jacket and slippers, was setting by the fire cussing and discussing the high cost of living with his neighbor, Charles Ford, about 40 of his friends and neighbors drifted in and very plensantly reminded him of hia 61st birthday.

The old saying that a woman cannot keep as ecret was proven at fault because Mr. Eastcott found immediately after the party arrived that his wife had known all about it for the last two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Eastcott are among the poineers of Antrim county and have been residents of Banks township for the last 38 years. They first settled on a farm about four miles north and east of town and lived there until eight years ago, when they rented the place and moved to Ellsworth.

The evening was pleasantly spent in recounting incidents of years ago nnd after a bounteous supper, the party broke up, congratulating Mr. Eastcott on the passing of one more mile-stone of his life and wishing him long life and happiness.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.

Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chichester s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TERS DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Ellsworth Section

LOST HER WAY IN VANDENBERG SWAMP

Come to Home of L. Aerdema After Hours of Wandering.

Miss Winnie Sitzema of Phelps, had an exciting experience last Wednesday evening, when she became lost in a swamp during a severe storm.

At about five o'clock Wednesday evening, the young lady left Phelps to go to the home of her sister, Mrs. Harm Potter, a distance of about five miles. She had been informed that there was a good logging road through the C. VandenBerg swamp, which would make a short cut of the distance she was to walk. Miss Sitzema started for the road, and after walking about an hour in the storm, discovered that she was lost.

After three hours or more of the torment of being lost, she discovered a light, which she followed to the home of L. Aardema. She had passed this same home about four hours before. This home proved a refuge for the night and the following morning the young lady started on her journey to the home of her sister.

CORRESPONDENCE

ROCK ELM SCHOOL NOTES.

Washington's Birthday was observed by the school with appropriate exercises. Following is the program: "America" by the school, followed by recitations by Burton Henry, Edwin Fisher and Horace Hipp. Reading of the Declaration of Independence by Juanita Secord. Recitations by Freddie Chirstensen, Dorr Jennings and Bruce Donaldson. Song, "Washington." Dialogue, "Betsey Ross and the First Flag," by Minnie Hudkins, Theodore Lacroix and Merritt Shaw. Dialogue, "The First Flag," by Olga Hipp, Bruce Donaldson and Dorr Jennings. "Nathan Hale, the Martyr Spy," by the older boys of the school. The "Star Spangled Banner" by five boys and five girls. Song, "There Are Many Flags." Ballad of "Sweet Pear" by three girls. Patriotic characters. Recitation by Dorcas Hipp. February's famous men, Robin Hood, by three boys. Dialogue, "Boston Tea Party." Song, "Land of the Lakes." A Washington test, consisting of one hundred questions on the life of Washington, closed the exercises. There were 14 visitors present, all of whom enjoyed the occasion and expressed themselves as well plensed with the exercises.

Twenty-two adjustable seats and desks have recently been received and placed in position in the school room.

On Friday the pupils voted to continue serving something hot at noon for another month.

ROCK ELM.

Miss Greta Lacruix, who has been unable to attend school for a few weeks owing to ill health, expects to be able to return soon..

Miss Amanda Duffey and Mr. Walter Clark were married on the 22nd of February, and have gone to visit friends in Indiana. They will make their home in Montana, where Mr. Clark has a homestead. They have the best wishes of their many friends in this neighborhood.

ANTRIM.

Fred Simon made a business trip to Central Lake, Monday.

Antrim school visited Norwood school on Washington's birthday.

Frank Mason butchered five hogs on Thursday. Fred Brooks helped.

Mrs. John Simon and Thomas Geyer visited in Central Lake last week.

Roley Baumbnch greatly improved the road by discing it as far as Eastport.

The Antrim City Glee Club met at the home of Riley Rice last Thursday evening.

R. Baumbach has bought the Wood farm. He will continue to rent the Beach farm as before.

Godfrey Simon's people finished putting up their ice last week. The ice is about 18 inches thick in the bay.

Antrim School Notes.

The attendance has been good since the holidays.

Ellie and Elliott Mason were absent from school Thursday and Friday.

The eighth grade will take up the study of "Tubal Cain" next week.

The fourth and fifth grades have been reviewing fractions and Roman notations.

Esther Parsons was absent from school Friday, to help at home.

Harry Parsons took the school to Norwood, Thursday, for which we extend our thanks. After holding our Washington's birthday exercises at our school, we all went down to Norwood and had our program there. Mr. Scroggie's school and ours then indulged in a "cipher down" contest. The Norwood school, which has been practicing on the work, came out winners. Our school is now reviewing on the same work. The contest proved quite an incentive. Mr. Scroggie has one of the quietest schools it has been our lot to visit. We left for home at four o'clock, voting the Norwood school fine entertainers.

PHELPS.

C. VandenBerg drove to Charlevoix Saturday.

Mr. Davenport went to Ellsworth one day last week.

Frank Brock called at the home of John Boss, Sr., Sunday.

Ed Boss called at the home of his brother, John Boss, Sunday.

Wm. Drenth of Ellsworth, is cutting wood for Alex Klooster.

Alex Klooster called at the home of C. VandenBerg, Thursday.

Clint Blanchard and Mr. Henley went to Ellsworth one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark went to Petoskey, Tuesday, returning the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebio Veenstra called at the Fred Boss home Saturday night.

Stella Everets has returned from Grayling, where she has been visiting for some time.

Warren Alexander has returned from camp where he has been working for the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeGroot of Mapleville, called at the home of Fred Boss Wednesday of last week.

Peter Sager, who has been spending the past few weeks here, went to Washington on Wednesday of last week.

Ethel, Albert and Arthur Ecklund of Chicago, were here to attend the funeral of their father, Peter Ecklund.

Mrs. Ralph Klooster and sister, Geneva, spent a few days at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson last week.

Miss Dora Klooster, who has been spending the past two weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. VandenBerg, returned home Sunday.

The Bert Elliott family have been the victims of grippe for the past week, but we see they are able to be about again. Little Jack Wilson acted as chore boy.

Ralph Davis, who left with two car londs of potatoes for Pittsburg two weeks ago, returned home Saturday. He reports some trip—hard luck from start to finish.

Peter Ecklund, who has for some time been living with his nephews on the Ecklund farm, died last week Monday. Mr. Ecklund had been in ill health for some time. Funeral services were held last Friday at the house.

FAIRVIEW, BANKS.

Rumors of a wedding.

Old fashioned winter.

Oscar DeGroot has bought some young stock of Mr. Lord of Atwood.

H. J. Timmer went to Ellsworth, Saturday afternoon, on official business.

L. E. Schaver sold some young stock to Mr. Neeper of Central Lake.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. G. C. Townsend reached our neighborhood Friday night. We symphasize with our friend in his loss.

It is reported that Joe DeBoer sold his farm and personal property to Mr. Boes of Fremont. We will welcome our new neighbor, but are sorry to see Mr. DeBoer and family leave. They probably will go to Colorado.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

MAPLEVILLE.

Jennie Wansema is home from Kalamazoo.

Mr. Wassenaar, who has been sick, is somewhat improved.

Fred and John Brock are visiting relatives in Grand Rapids.

Lewis Marcus is home from Grand Rapids, where he has been working this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Groenink visited at the home of E. YoungdeDike last week Friday.

Henrietta Vanheenen is home from Grand Rapids, where she has been working this winter.

Rev. Webinga from Lucas; is expected to preach in the Dutch Reformed church, Sunday. A good crowd is expected.

PLEASANT HILL.

It will be spring by and by.

Miss Anna Prince la on the sick list.

Lee Bearss, who has been ill with appendicitis, is a great deal better.

No matter what a man's salary amounts to, his wife thinks she earns it.

Mrs. John Fellstra called to see the new baby at the Klooster home in Ellsworth.

James DeYoung has been enlarging his dairy business by purchasing three more cows.

John Felistra has a large pile of wood cut from his swamp, which he is cleaning this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett of Norwood, visited with their brother, Reed Genett, on the Larsen farm, Thursday and Friday.

H. H. Fales is in the butchering business, having either butchered for himself or some of his neighbors almost every week this winter.

The death of Mrs. Townsend and baby of Ellsworth, cast a gloom over this district. Everyone expresses their aympathy for Mr. Townsend in this, his time of grief.

H. H. Fales received a letter this week from an old school mate in Missouri, who wrote that the temperature there has been as low as 16 degrees below zero. So why should we complain if the temperature in northern Michigan should go to 41 below.

MILES DISTRICT.

Miss Katherine LaLonde spent the week end at her home.

Miss Alberta Laclair couldn't get home Saturday on account of sickness.

John Sherman and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd.

Mrs. George Clark and sister are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Fowler.

Are the roads bad? Ask the man who brings supplies to Camp 21 from East Jordan.

Frank LaLonde wrenched his back while lifting his wood machine. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Geo. E. Johnston, from Traverse City, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Luclair, for the last two weeks. She is now visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Willis in Hayes township.

School Notes.

One of the girls in our school has planned a trip on the Mississippi river. She decides to go in a Ford. Some new possibilities for this wonderful car.

Does it pay to go out doors without rubbers and come into a room at the rate of 15 miles per hour? The children of Miles school will let you know if you inquire.

Minnie Cincush has been absent from school because of sickness. We hope she will be back before very long.

The boys and girls have bought some new song books.

The fifth grade have begun the study of decimal fractions.

Notice to Voters.

Bellaire, Mich., Feb. 20, 1917.
To the Clerk of Banks Township:

My Dear Sir—You are hereby notified that inasmuch as there is only one candidate who has filed his petition for Circuit Judge of the 13th Judicial District, there will be no primary election in Antrim county on March the 7th, in accordance with Section 17 of the Primary Law of 1915. Hon. Frederick W. Mayne will be declared nominated on the Republican ticket by the Secretary of State, and will appear on the general election ballot at the April election, 1917. All ballots and election supplies, (except your township ticket) will be furnished from this office, for the said April election.

Very truly yours,
9t1 James Deevy, County Clerk.

RANNEY DISTRICT.

Ransom Jones lost a valuable cow last week.

Clarence Baker is getting out the wood for the school this week.

James Keat, township treasurer, has been out collecting taxes the past week.

Dr. Pearsal made a trip to the home of L. Stamper, Friday, cause being a sick cow.

Miss Eunice Liakum came home from Charlevoix on Friday and stayed over Sunday with her parents.

H. P. Ripple has recovered from his recent sickness so far that it is reported he will be on his route in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Isaman visited with the latter's aunt, Mrs. L. Horden, living at Eveline, going Saturday and returning on Monday.

Not the Same.

"What's the difference between admission to a picture show and admission to the penitentiary?"

"I give it up."

"One is 10 cents and the other is sentence."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD.

Bert Welten is sawing ice on Lime lake.

February gave us a few nice days at last.

Graddus Petter has hired out to C. Sprik.

J. Petter hauled a load of beans to Ellsworth Friday.

A. Bos has finished cutting down his maple grove.

Mrs. Albert Sneller visited with her parents Friday.

Henry Koster will work for E. A. Cnrlisle next summer.

John Berens spent a day shoveling out his road last week.

Will Hofman, Jr., attended the auto show at Grand Rapids.

Miss Reka VanUnen arrived home last week from Grand Rapids.

J. L. Warner of Elk Rapids, was in Atwood, Wednesday, selling silos.

Robert Blow is figuring on sailing next summer. Look out for subs., Bob.

Andrew Essenberg bought some seed potatoes of A. Bos & Son last week.

John Veenstra and family visited with his parents near Eastport last Thursday.

James Heeres had his wood cut last Monday and Tuesday by Sam VanHouten.

Bert Weiten and family have moved to the J. H. Smith house on North Main street.

Mrs. Joe Veenstra and daughter, Emma, visited at the Albert Elzinga home Friday.

Lou Marcus was one of the young people to come back from Grand Rapids last week.

Mr. DeMoulpied of Ellsworth, has rented the old Harwood homestead for the coming season.

The farmers hereabouts are all feeding cottonseed meal this winter. No oil meal to be had.

We are hoping that March will come in like a lamb and remain so, and go out the same way.

The Y. P. S. of the Chirstian Reformed church did not hold its weekly meeting Sunday evening.

Three teams hauled ice for Albert Sneller Saturday. He hopes to finish filling some time next week.

Frank LaLonde wrenched his back while lifting his wood machine. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Smith's hired man for the coming year, Mr. Henry from Bellaire, moves to Atwood next week.

Essenberg Bros. and Jack Smith have postponed their wood job on account of snow. It's only hip deep.

Dr. Vardon of East Jordan, was in Atwood, Thursday, attending the babies of Rev. Pickaart and John Bos.

We are glad to have Mrs. Frank Supernaw with us again. Hope she will soon be able to attend to her household duties.

February has had its last stormy Sunday. The attendance was not very good at the churches, but taking the weather and roads into consideration, it could not be otherwise.

The friends of Mrs. G. C. Townsend of Ellsworth were shocked to learn of her death last week. We wish to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and relatives.

Everybody speaks of a scarcity of meat. Can't be so. Paul DeVries killed a beef last week, also A. Newland. Frank Mason drove into Atwood with four dressed hogs Friday morning. Two armed guards accompanied the load.

We want to buy your wood. Come in and see us. Ellsworth Produce Co.—Adv.7tf.

ECHO DIST. NO. 4.

Lewis Bolser is on the sick list.

Mrs. Duncan McMillan and little girls spent Saturday at Camp 31.

Several teams are hauling logs from Section 5 to the banking grounds, near Camp 21.

Mrs. George E. Murray and Clarence Murray spent Sunday at the home of Elmer Murray, in the Bennett district.

Clarence Murray has been hauling lumber to his farm near Isaman's corners, preparatory to building a house there in the spring.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 28, 1917.

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.50
Red wheat, par bu.	1.55
Beans, per bu	6.75
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Garden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New Oats	.60
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.20
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$ 9.00 to $10.00
Calves, dressed	13.00 to 14.00
Pork, dressed	14.00 to 15.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	$ .34
Eggs, per doz.	.34
Honey, per lb	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	2.75
Salt, per bbl.	1.50

School Notes.

Last Thursday afternoon we had a very pleasant afternoon reading and telling stories of Washington and Lincoln, and singing several of our patriotic songs without our books. At the close of the program each one present received a little gold hatchet decorated with our national colors as a souvenir.

Mrs. Duncan McMillan and Russel Murray visited school Thursday.

Our attendance was very poor last month, the percentage being about .62.

The eighth graders have received their phamplets for their reading, "Tubal Cain."

Only four who were neither absent nor tardy last month.

His Wanderings.

Stranger—What wonderful tales old Blinks relates! He must have been a great traveler in his day. Native—He was never outside the county in his life; but, you see, his mind has wandered for years.

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Black mare colt, three years old, weight about 1150. 1. VanTil, Route 1. 7tf

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198 Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sunday school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangellstic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellia Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

See us for your Job Printing.

Are You Going Paint Paint? Paint

That is a vital question for every Property owner—Farmer or Home Owner

If your buildings need paint on the outside we can give you the right dope for that work. If the inside of your home needs redecorating get in under the spring rush, select your materials of us. We carry the best inside paints on the market. For those walls use Alabastine, better than paper, and can be used in many different ways. Our color cards will give you suggestions quicker than we can tell you about it in this advertisement.

Our Special Offer

We have two cutters and one pair bob sleighs which we will sell for COST—rather do this than carry them over till next season. Come in and let us tell you our plan.

W. A. BOSS.
ELLSWORTH - MICHIGAN

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We will have on hand the following seeds to let on contract in the spring:

White Beans
Light and Dark Red Kidney Beans
Garden Beans of most any variety
Buckwheat and Peas

That we will let you have and you can pay for your seed when you sell your crop. Come in and talk it over with us.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.
W. R. NELSON, Manager
PHONE 35 ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

Why pay the Peddler or Canvasser Twice These Prices?

You can save a good deal of money by buying your stock tonic at this store, instead of paying the peddler big, fancy prices for goods of unknown quality. Look at these prices for that old reliable and guaranteed stock conditioner and worm expeller.

DR. HESS STOCK TONIC

25-lb. pail costs $2.00
100-lb. drum costs $6 50

Remember, we have no peddler's wagon and horses' expenses to pay. That's why we can sell you Dr. Hess Stock Tonic at these rock-bottom prices.

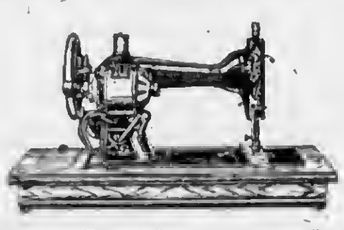
Here is another point, Mr. Farmer, we want to emphasize, that is: Dr. Hess Stock Tonic is highly concentrated; it goes farther, as the small dose quantity proves. Dr. Hess Stock Tonic is to put your animals in a thriving condition, make the ailing ones healthy and expel the worms—otherwise you get your money back right here at our store. We also handle

Dr. Hess Dip and Disinfectant
Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a
Dr. Hess Instant Louse Killer

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

Complete with Electric Motor



$35.00 Cash or $40.00
on payments $10.00 cash and $5.00 per month for six months

See Maggie Murphy Demonstrate Machine in Our Store Window

Blanchard's Hdw. Co.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

May Organize Stock Raisers.

At a meeting of a number of Emmet county farmers and Petoskey businessmen at the city hall Tuesday of last week, preliminary plans were mnde for the organization of an Emmet county live stock association.

Cadillac and other places hnve successful associations of this kind now promoting stock raising and dairying. The chief aim of most of these associations is to assist the farmers and dairymen to seeure pure hlood.d stock to replace the scrub stock now on their farms.

The idea was thoroughly discussed at the meeting and probably another meeting at which more farmers and business men will attend,will be called within a short time to start a preliminary organization.

Interest in stock raising and dairying is progressing by leaps and bounds in Emmet county and with such organizntions as the one proposed to aid the farmers this county should soon take her place at the head of the stock raising and dairying list.

Why does not Charlevoix county get in line, may we ask?

30 Days for Chicken Thief.

Henry Pidgeon of Petoskey, arrested Saturday of last week and charged with stealing chickens from Mrs. Lizzie Compton, was sent to the county jail for a period of 30 days by Justice of the peace.

Pidgeon is alleged to have atolen the chickens, taken them to some place at some distance from the Compton home, killed and dressed them and sold them to Petoskey people.

Chicken stealing is considered unusually serious in some states and men convicted of this crime are sometimes sent up for from one to five years.

Freight Barge Buckley Sold.

The freighter Edward Buckley, a steel boat of 800 tons has been sold by the A. B. Klise Lumber company of Petoskey to the National Pole Co. of Escanabn, and will be used by this company to haul telegraph and telephone poles from the upper peninsula to Chicago.

The ship is now at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, but will be taken to Manitowoe for a complete overhauling before the opening of the spring navigation season.

Poor House Inmate Drowned.

Robert Owens, an inmate of the Cheboygan county poor farm, was drowned in the Cheboygan river at the farm last week. He was watering the cattle, when a calf started to eross the river. Owens started after the calf and both calf and the man broke through the ice and disappeared. It was not until the following day that the body of Owens was recovered.

Large Express Shipments.

The tie-up of freight traffic has caused an unusual volume of express business. Recently the Adams Express Co. auditor visited the local office. He stated that earload express shipments were now frequent but thnt the express companies were not solieiting large express shipments owing to the congestion and inability to secure and retain help in all branches.

But a few days ago a two ton shipment of leather was expressed from this city.—Boyne Citizen.

Drifted Twelve Hours.

Difficulty with shifting ice is reported by the Petoskey colony nt Nine Mile point, west of Petoskey, where fishing through the ice is quite an industry. Perry Lossing and Howard Truesdale are reported to have drifted about 12 hours when a large field of ice was moved away from the other ice by the wind one day last week. Shifting winds finallay closed the gap and they reached camp safely.

Purchased Oil Tractor.

The first oil tractor for any Petoskey man or for any man in the farming section adjacent to Petoskey,has arrived in that city. The machine was sold by Allen Leismer to Arthur Everhnrt for use on the latter's farm near Petoskey.

The machine will be unloaded Monday and run under its own power to the Leismer store at the corner of Mitchell and Emmet streets, where it will be placed on exhibition until spring opens. A gang plow has also been secured to be used in connection with the tractor.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Miss Carrie Geiken is expected home this week from St. Louis.

The Masons and Eastern Stnrs gave a pot-luck supper and a dance at the Masonic hall, Tuesday night. It wns reported n great success.

Mrs. Frank Geiken from Pellston, arrived in Chnrlevoix Wednesdny afternoon to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Geiken.

If n store has decided to make your dollar worth a lot more than its face value today, you'll find the news nnd the details in that store's advertisement in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McHugh of Detroit, announce the birth of a daughter, Saturday, February 24th. Mrs. McHugh was formerly Miss Alice Madill of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mayhew, who are staying at the home of Mrs. Mayhew's father, James Willis of Barnard, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born February 17.

Henry Wood has turned the shop in his barn, formerly occupied by John Sleznk, into n display and sales room for the Dodge car, for which Mr. Wood has the agency. A carload of these cars consigned to him is now on the P. M. siding being unloaded. The Dodge certninly is a beauty and looks like a good car for this territory.

Grand Prelnte James P. Hughes of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias, visited the city Thursday to examine the officers of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, to determine their standing in the officers contest.

Benjamin Brown returned Saturday night from a visit to the auto show at Grand Rapids. Among other Charlevoix visitors to the show who returned Saturday were H. S. Fowler, Edward Klooster, Joseph Ekstrom and Fred V. Alexander.

The regular nuction sale held by the Chnrlevoix Commercinl nssociation at Hooker's barn will be postponed until March 17th (Dollar Day. Persons having articles to dispose of are requested to list them within the next two weeks with Mr. Byers, the auctioneer.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thnnk the friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to us during the bereavement of our dear, beloved husband and father.

Mrs. Peter Ecklund and Children. Adv.9tf.

Soe us for your Job Printing.

CONDITIONS IN MANY HOMES

(Continued from paga four.)

helped and saved us not because we were worthy, but, rather, because of our unworthiness.

I have called on our people for help this winter, several times, and they have responded freely. Up to this time we have elothed and partly elothed more than 50 children. Jesus said, "Inasmuch as we have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

Some one said we had no great need. Ask some of the teachers in our public schools about bow many children are sent to school half naked. I know a score of children who cannot go to Sunday school next Sunday because they are without clothing.

Let me show you some pictures of children, as we have found them and as we have left them. I know several today whose bare flesh is exposed to this rugged, 10 below zero weather. We put clothes on the backs of four little boys the other day. Their teacher tells me that before, they were stupid and lifeless in the school room, and now they are active and much alive.

I could tell you much more. If you have anything in good, second hand furniture or clothing—clean it up and send it down to the Boy Scout Club Rooms, Friday nfternoon of this week, at which time a special shower will, also, be held for the Armstrong family who recently lost all they had by fire. If you wish to give money, call me at the Hotel Charlevoix and I will come for it.

Yours in behalf of the Other Fellow, Lloyd C. Vinyard.

WATER FILTER PLANTS.

Lack of Competent Operation a Menace to Public Health.

Cities often spend thousands of dollars upon the construction of a water purification plant or sewage disposal works and then place in charge of its operation a political appointee with no claim to technical knowledge. The evils of this practice were commented upon in a recent paper by Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin of the United States public health service. He said in part:

"The greatest obstacle to proper operation and control of plants has been the difficulty of securing the right man to place in charge of the plant. The best type of man for this position is a graduate in sanitary engineering. He will not only be conversant with the mechanical details of the plant, but will be able to adjust his chemicals according to the constituents and needs of the raw water. Most important of all, he will be able to make daily bacteriological examinations to determine the efficiency of purification. Nearly all the disasters due to sewage polluted water supplies which have occurred were due to lack of daily bacteriological knowledge of the public supply or the inefficient operation of plants by unskilled men. The employment of such a graduate is economy even in small cities."—Engineering Record.

Chromic Iron Ore.

Deposits of chromic iron ore occur in Maryland and the adjacent portion of Pennsylvania. In North Carolina and in Wyoming, but the only deposits operated in the United States within recent years are in California. Numerous deposits have been reported in thirty-two counties of that state according to the United States geological survey, and many of them could be worked if the demand for the ore and its value warranted exploitation. The available deposits, with much in reserve, largely exceed the local demand for refractory material in a field exteading as far east as the Rocky mountains.

Chicago's Water Supply.

Three experts who have been studying the future sanitary policy of Chicago announce that the time has come to consider the filtration of the city's water supply from Lake Michigan, which is often so turbid as to be extremely distasteful. The present sanitary quality of the water is not questioned, but there is arising a demand for a clearer water than it is possible to obtain without filtration with intake cribs at any reasonable distance from shore.—Engineering Record.

Metal Stair Corners.

The hardest part of a room or stairway to clean is the corners, and these always collect a good quantity of dirt. Instead of removing the dirt each time a better plan is to fix the corner with a triangular piece of brass or copper, two inches on each side, fastened into the corner with one nail through the center. These metal pieces are especially desirable in public buildings.

Use Thicker Oil In Summer.

As the weather gets warmer and the automobile bearings run hot use thick oil, greases and graphite.

Shop Talk.

"That Auger is a sharp fellow," remarked the Hammer to the Saw, "but he runs around an awful lot."

"Yes," replied the Saw slowly, gritting his teeth. "And what an awful bore he is!"—New York World.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Great Cash Converting Sale

A gigantic cash converting—stock reducing sale—is about to be opened up for the first week of Msrch—embrscing our entire stock of Heavy Rubbers, Arctics, Work Shirts, Underwear, Gloves and Mittens, Socks, Collars, Mackinsws, Swesters and Work Pants. This sale will be one of the most far-reaching cash offerings we have made to the public in our history. These lines need reducing and we offer extra-ordinary low prices to the purchasing public. You need the goods—we need the money, snd the store room. Csrefully resd the following otferings and make this sale yrofitsble to yourself. Sale ends March 8th, one week.

Rubber Department

Since January 1, Rubbers have advanced in price 20 per cent on every dollar, and rubber people tell us that there will soon be another advance in rubbers. We are not giving fictitious prices when we say rubbers worth certain prices. These are what it would cost and sell.

Men's heavy $2.00 R. E. Ontario Rubbers, worth $2.25 per pair, sale price $1.58

Men's Gum Ontario $1.75 Rubbers, worth $2.00 per pair, sale price $1.38

Boy's Gum Ontario Rubbers, worth $1.50 per pair, sale price 98c

Youth's Ontario Rubbers, worth $1.25 per pair, sale price 89c

Men's Bulls Eye Lumber Jack $2.50, worth $3.00 per pair, sale price $2.19

Men's R. E. Pacs, $3.00, worth $3.60 per pair, sale price $2.58

Men's R. E. Rubbers (to serve on leather tops) worth $2.25 per pair, sale price $1.38

Arctics

The real value to buy in the market of Arctics is a 20 per cent advance on every $1.00. Another advance is not far away.

Men's $1.35 1-buckle Arctics, worth $1.50 per pair, sale price 98c

Men's $2.00 2-buckle Arctics, worth $2.50 per pair, sale price $1.48

Men's $2.50, $2.75 and $3.00 4-buckle Arctics,worth $3.00 to $3.50 per pair, sale price $1.98

Boys' $2.00 2-buckle Arctics, worth $2.40 per pair, sale price $1.19

Youth's $1.50 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.88 per pair, sale price 98c

Women's $1.50 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.68 per pair, sale price 98c

Misses' $1.35 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.50 per pair, sale price 98c

Child's $1.25 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.38 per pair, sale price 89c

Child's 1-buckle Arctics worth 90 cents per pair, sale price 55c

Women's 1-buckle Arctics, worth $1.25 per pair, sale price 89c

Men's Shirts

The actual value of Shirts quoted below would range from 25 cents to 50 cents more that what we now have them marked.

Men's $1.00 warm shirts, sale price 69c

Men's $1.25 warm shirts, sale price 89c

Men's $1.50 warm shirts, sale price $1.19

Men's $2.00 warm shirts, sale price $1.69

Men's Underwear

Men's 50c fleece lined Under Shirts, worth 75 cents, sale price 42c

Men's fleece lined 50c Drawres, worth 75c each, sale price 42c

Men's $1.35 Union Suits, worth $1.75 each, sale price 98c

Men's $2.00 Union Suits, worth $2.50 each, sale price $1.58

Men's Collars

Men's White Collars, latest styles, regular price 15c, sale price 2 for 15c

Mittens and Gloves

Men's Wool Gloves (old price) 50 cents, new price 75 cents, will sell per pair 42c

Men's Wool Gloves,(old price) 75 cents, now $1.00, will sell per pair 58c

Men's Knit Mittens,(old price) 25 cents, now 35 cents, will sell per pair 20c

Men's 60c Wool Mittens sale price 48c

Men's 75 cent Leather Face Mittens, sale price 55c

Socks

Men's 20 cent Socks, per pair 15c

Men's Socks (old price 50c), now 75c, per pair 42c

Men's 75c to $1.00 Lumberman Socks, per pair 69c

Boys' and Youth's 65c very heavy Socks, per pair 48c

Mackinaws, Sweaters, Pants

Men's $6.50 Mackinaw Coats, worth $8.00; will sell $4.50

Men's $15.00 Overcoats, will sell for $10.00

Men's $1.35 Sweaters, wrth $1.75, will sell for 98c

Men's $4.00 to $4.50 Sweaters, worth $6.00, will sell .. $3.25

Men's $3.00 Winter Pants, worth $4.00, will sell for .. $2.25

Men's $3.50 Winter Pants, worth $4.50, will sell for .. $2.50

Grocery Department

6 boxes 5 cent Matches for 25c

7 bars 5 cent Acme Soap for 25c

7 bars 5 cent Magic Washer Soap for 25c

7 bars any kind Bobbie Burns Soap for 25c

50 cent No. O Lantern for 39c

$1.00 Lantern for 69c

50 cent Dish Pan for 39c

1 pound 4-x Coffee for 15c

3 packages 10 cent Silver Bar Raisins for 25c

4 boxes A. and H. Soda for 25c

6 cans 5 cent Sunbrite Cleanser for 23c

6 cans 5 cent Snow Boy Washing Powder for 23c

2 cans any 20-cent Salmon for 33c

4 lbs. 10 cent Rice for 25c

1 can 25 cent Crown Baking Powder for 17c

49 lbs. Yeast Foam Flour for $2.25

24½ lbs. Commercial Flour for $1.17

6 cans 5 cent Cottage Milk for 25c

Get in under these pocketbook saving and you will be glad you are living. We anticipate further advances in all merchandise and while this stock holds out our prices will be lower that the prices to be paid next year for restocking in the same lines of goods offered above. This sale embraces many articles that cannot be replaced at present. If you are contemplating making the dollar do double duty, buy at this sale and you'll be surprised at the amount of merchadise it will pay for.

Mason's Grocery Department

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35. NUMBER 10. 10 PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1917. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

WORKED WITH PICK AND SHOVEL

SOLDIER BOYS BUILD THEIR OWN RIFLE RANGE.

Weather at El Paso Like August in Michigan—Boys Doing Practice Shooting.

(By HAROLD W. USHER.)

El Psso, Feb. 25.—For the last few days Company I has been spending its time on the rifle range, practising shooting. The target pit, which is about ten feet deep, was dug by the company. It is right on the slopes of Mt. Franklin and has been cut through nearly solid rock. Here, with pick and shovel und dynamite, we burrowed out our range. The only thing lacking to make an ideal chain gang out of us was the ball and chain. The result of this work was backs nearly broken and badly blistered hands. The boys seemed enthusiastic, though, as they spoke strongly for Uncle Sam all during the work. We have used picks nearly as much during this terrible war as we have guns.

The distance used in shooting are 200, 300 and 500 yards. Some of us hit the target, but the most don't. Private Ray Bergman wore out three crews of men waving a red flag, which designntes the misses. Privnte Bass also tried to use the sliding target sash as nn elevator, and the result was that he lit on some rocks about ten feet below and is now in bed.

During all this hard work, I have often heard Dr. Beuker say he wished he was back in Hollnnd. Dit Patterson has also been muttering about being back somewhere. I don't know what country he is from, but he has been mentioning Wieland quite often—wherever that is.

The weather has changed and it is now very hot during the day—just like Michigan in August. Of coruse, we enjoy this when we are laying nround camp. Lieut. W. C. Spring, who has been home on a furlough, returned lnst week and stated that he found Michigan all O. K. and that snow banks were better than sand. He has every reason in the world to think this, as he speaks from experience. He, and n number of other officers, were stranded in the desert sand a few nights ago nnd had to sleep over night in a eave, and eat hard tack. Suffering was somewhat forgotten, though, when his name appeared in the Morning Times, with an article telling of the thrilling experience.

Washington's birthday wns a holiday in camp and we all sat around talking of the big dances they were having nt home that night and wishing we could get a few of them by wireless.

Troops are leaving El Paso rapidly now and our turn is coming soon. Until then we must swing our picks and grin and bear it.

Hot Shots from the Border.

First Sergeant Griffin wishes me to stote that it was Doc. Beuker whom he thought stole his shirt and not Prof. Smith.

Here's one we are all going to—Snow Brothers' Famous Shows—5,000 people, 4,000 costumes.

Here's one n Charlevoix boy wroto me—supposed to be the truth:

H. hnd been sitting on G's knee since eight p. m. It was now 11:00 and she weighed 360 pounds.

"Dearest," she said, "you don't mind my sitting here, do you?"

"Not now, darling," repiel S. gallantly. "I've been numb since 9:00 o'clock."

Another Chnrlevoix hnppening:

Mrs. B.: "You stood on the porch quite n while with that young man, didn't you?"

Miss F.: "Certainly not, I only stood there for a second."

Mrs. B.: "Yes, but I'm sure I heard a third or fourth."

$1 DAY

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

HAS ADDED AUTO TRUCK TO DRAY LINE

Peter Lemieur Has Bought Out Eugene McRoberts.

Peter Lemieur has bought out the draying business of Eugene McRoberts nnd is making plans for extensive operations this coming season.

The purchnse includes six horses, three drays, harness and other equipment, together with the franchise for the mail delivery from depot to postoffice, also for express matter, and the trucking for the Booth and Beutel fisheries, not to mention the general drayage. Mr. Lemieur has also ordered a $1,500 auto truck, which will arrive by the last of the month, or as soon as the snow goes. Harry Gebeau, we understand, will drive the truck.

PRELIMINARY REPORT WAS MADE

BY CITIZENS COMMITTEE LAST MONDAY NIGHT.

Citizens Present at Mass Meeting Endorse Contract—Ratifications Suggested.

The Citizens Committee, recently nppointed to investignte the electric light and power question, made their preliminary report to a full house Mondny evening at the court house.

The pending contract with Henry Richardi, which was laid on the toble some weeks ago by the council, awaiting the committee's report, has been remodeled by the committee to afford greater security to the city's interests and this contract so revised was read to the citizens at Monday night's meeting nnd commended to their endorsement.

The idea of the committee is that if it shall prove that the council and the City of Charlevoix are bound by the resolution now on the minute book of the council to enter into contract with Henry Richardi (as Mr. Richnrdi asserts), the contract so signed shall be favorable to the city's interests and not a one-sided proposition, as in the past, and as necording to the terms of the new contract, the provision of the old contract are substantially repeated; the committee deemed it necessary to replace this with n revision, containing safe-guards and provisions to save the city whole in case of any default on the part of the contractor, such as a suitable indemnity bond, a penalty and fixed time limit for shut-downs, and the placing of responsibility for all damages, resulting from the carrying of high tension current through the city streets on overhead wires to the point where the current is metered, upon the contractor—where it belongs.

(Continued on page ten.)

SIXTEEN CARS SOLD.

Record for Six Days Work of Salesmanship.

In the lnst six days Benjamin Brown nnd his assistants have sold 16 cnrs to parties, as follows:

Walter Moore, city, motor-cycle.
W. T. Driggett, city, International Oil Tank Truck.
A. A. Swinton, city.
Wm. H. Shields, city.
Frank Huyck, city.
F. V. Alexander, city.
Ed Boss, Mnrion.
Robert Matchett, Marion.
Vern Spencer, Marion.
John Hottema, Marion.
Harry Potter, Marion.
Albert Beattie, Marion.
Emil Chvatil, Marion.
Clarence Elliott, Marion.
Gilbert Ferris, Hayes.
Grant Ferguson, Hayes.

Looks like Charlevoix citizens had better institute a "Swat the Lizzie" campaign.

Bargain for You.

Four h. p. Mogul Kerosene engine. Also one Reliance Cream Separntor. Can be seen in operation. Charles J. Zeitler, corner Upright nnd Sheridan streets.—Adv.10tf.

I will save you money this year on automobiles, tires nnd supplies. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

TENTH SHAKESPEARE BANQUET

AT HOME OF DR. AND MRS. L. B. BARTLETT.

Annual Function of the Ladies Study Club a Delightful Affair.

The annual banquet of the Ladies Shakespeare Study Club has come to be looked upon as the "event" of the year in literary and society circles, and the tenth annual held at the Hotel Bartlett on February 23, was no exception.

The menu provided by Dr. and Mrs. Bartlett was a splendid starter. The tables were beautifully decorated with jonquils and spring flowers, seats being provided for forty, among whom were two guests from out of town. The menu was printed in French, but to enable plain Americans to translate the delicacies into English, each guest was provided with a French and English dictionary," goten up in unique form, and this feature added much to the merriment, which was continuous—from the time the soup was served until the final toast was given.

After the feast provided by the caterers was disposed of, the president of the club, Mrs. Lisle Shanahan, fired the opening gun of a "feast of reason and u flow of the soul," by giving the address of welcome in rhymes, closing with the introduction of the toast-mistress, Mrs. A. L. Fitch.

The toast-mistress was likewise of a poetical turn of mind, and most wittily nnd fncetiously discharged the duties of this trying position. After the introductory, she called on Mrs. Earl Young, who started the poetical crnze still further down the hill with a toast, "Our Men," in rhyme. Each member of the club rose in turn and, through the medium of a "limerick," toasted—and roasted—each individual male, not even those who were absent escaping. It was something new, and decidely enjoyable, the "palpabale hits" being cheered to the echo.

Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson then responded to the toast, "Playing the Game." She compared lift to a game to be played fairly, squarely, and to the best of the individual ability, interspersing witty anecdote and forceful verse to drive home her points, in masterly manner.

Robert Bridge favored the club with a violin solo, splendidly rendered, and while it was not in verse, it was full of poetry.

"The Future" was the subject assigned to Mrs. George A. Crouter, and right well she handled it, her prophecies being couched in verse, nnd aided by a crystal, in which she discovered much until then undreamed of.

"Those Women," was the next toast, and this gave the "men folks" an opportunity to "get even." The first gentleman called on storted out to toast, and roast the ladies in limerick form, and each gentleman in

(Continued on pago four.)

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Held at High School Assembly Room —March 21st.

On Mnrch 21st, Boyne City, East Jordan nnd Charlevoix high schools will hold u triangular debate on the subject, "Resolved, That a System of Compulsory Military Education Should Be Introduced Into the Curriculum of the Public High Schools of the U. S."

The negative side is defended by Miss Wilma Stevenson, Hugh Chnffin and John Walker. The nffirmntive by Miss Lillian MacNeill, Odillion Weed nnd Kenneth Widdifield.

The East Jordan negative debntes, the Charlevoix affirmative team nt the Chnrlevoix high school.

The Charlevoix negative team meets the Boyne City affirmntive team at Boyne City.

The question is one of great interest to the public nt the present time. The program should be enjoyed by a lnrge number of the people of Charlevoix.

They tell you that prices are higher on auto tires and auto supplies are high, but see my line before buying. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

Pruning and Grafting.

Adv. 7tf D. W. Mntber.

HOTEL VALUED AT FIVE MILLION

TAMPA BAY HOTEL ONE OF BEST IN COUNTRY.

Mrs. J. M. Clark Tells About Tampa, Florida, Its Streets and Surrounding Country.

Tampn Bay Hotel, Tampa, Fla.—Editor Courier: I am sure you have had letters from all parts of Florida, and as I am in Tampa for a few weeks, will yrite a few lines from there.

Tampa, Florida, is about half way between the northern shores of the Gulf of Mexico, and is the most southerly city of the United Stntes on the bay which bears its name.

This city is in the heart of a state that is famed for its fine citrus fruits, other agricultural products and a wonderful climate both winter and summer. The population of Tampa, and its immediate suburbs, is about sixty thousand.

Tampa is famed for many things and holds several points of greatness in comparison with the south, the United States and the world. It is the county seat of Hillsborough county—the first county in the United States to vote one million dollars for the construction of brick roads in the country districts. This means 70 miles of brick paving, added to its already large mileage of hard surfncer roads, and the city has more than one hundred miles of paving within the city limits. I havo visited many places throughout the country districts and have found nothing but brick paving.

Tampa Bay hotel is the finest municipally owned hotel in the world and is valued at five million dollnrs. This hotel is located in a park, famed for its rare tropical beauty and considered the finest park in the south. In this park are all kinds of fruit—oranges, grape fruit, bannnas, also cocoanut, fig and date trees. The frost of two weeks ngo did a great deal of damage, and many banana trees were cut down.

The cocnnut trees are very tall and straight, with the lowest brnnches many feet above the ground, and one would almost think some artist had visited the trees and with his brush hnd painted rings all the way up to the branches—first, a light gray, then one about two shades darker. The rings are about two inches wide, but they tell me there is a ring for each yenr nnd by counting them you can tell how old the trees are. I tried it one day until I wns dizzy-headed and hnd to give it up.

The wenther here is very warm most of the time and it is a most charming place to come. It hardly seems posible that you are having it so cold at home, but will be very glnd when the time comes for me to return, for there is no place like home. Greeting to all.

Very sincehely,
Mrs. J. M. Clark.

HORSE FALLS DOWN WHILE PULLING LOAD

Ice on Street and No Snow on the Bridge Roadway.

Wednesday morning about ten o'clock, a horse drawing a load of wood, slipped and fell on the ice hummock at the south approach to the swing bridge. The rig was going south nnd the absence of snow on the bridge rondway caused the sleigh to stick nnd the horse to slip.

Several bystanders ran to the assistonce of the driver and soon had the nnimal on his feet nnd in the traecs aguin. Then everbody pushed and away they went.

Seems as though those vague, elusive and somewhnt intangible persons we are accustomed to enll "the authorities" should see to it that the bridge roadways nre covered with snow. A man, n shovel and a few minutes time would represent the necessary outlay. The snow is plentiful in the vicinity.

Wednesday, March 14.

Mrs. Anna Kenning Wood will reopen her store at 109 Bridge street, with a complete line of millinery. Spring opening nnnounced later.—Adv.10t2.

C. H. Minnis has removed his shoe repnir shop to the Redford Shoe Store, and is prepared to do fine shoe repairing.—Adv.10t2pd.

GONSER SELLS OUT HIS NOTION STOCK

Bargy Bros. of Boyne City, Move Stock to That Place.

C. L. Gonser is going out of the notion business. Inventory has heen taken of the stock, and Bergy Brothers, who have bought Mr. Gonser out, are removing the ssme this week to their store in Boyne City.

Mr. Gonser's plans for the future are not definite as yet, but we trust that he will still remain with us, as Charlevoix cannot afford to lose any of its business men, least of all one as active and progressive as Mr. Gonser. We also hope the building he is vacnting will soon be occupied again, as if there is anything Charlevoix needs more than more farmers around it, it is more business in it.

A saving of $10.00 on each harness until sold. Only a few set left. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

PASSED AWAY LAST THURSDAY

MISS MARJORIE MILLER BURIED SATURDAY.

Taken With Sinking Spell While Talking With Family—End Came Suddenly.

Marjorie Miller, daughter of Mrs. R. W. Miller of this city, passed away at ten o'clock last Thursday evening at her home on Clinton street, at the end of a three years' battle with that dread and insiduous malady—tuberculosis of the lungs.

Two years ago Miss Miller was taken to Newport, Tennessee, for the summer months and spent the following year in Florida, in nn effort to rogain her health. She returned to Chnrlevoix in the spring of 1916, and at that time seemed much improved, but for the past few months her condition had grown stendily worse.

Thursday night as the family were sitting talking together and Miss Marjorie was entering into the conversation in apparent food spirits and seemingly feeling well, she was attacked by a sinking spell and lapsed into unconsciousness. She wns cnrried to her bed and expired some few minutes later. The young woman was only 22 yenrs of age—hardly more than a girl, and this fact but serves to add to the sadness of her passing.

The funeral was held from the Miller home on Clinton street, Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock, Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, reader of the Christian Science church, conducting the services, and the body was taken to Brookside to be placed in the vault.

Panama Singers Coming.

The Panama Singers will be here Fridny, March 9, at the opera house. These talented young men will toll of Panama in song and story and present a medely of song hits that are sure to please. They will appear in costume. Charlevoix people are well aware that Redpath spells high-grade entertainment, and we would ndvise all to buy their tiskets early.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Ralph Davis of Phelps was in the city Wednesday on business.

Glenn Beard returned Wednesday morning from Cadillac, where he has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong returned to the city Tuesday from Chicago, after having spent a few days in Saginaw on the way home.

Miss Anna Wagnaar arrived in Chnrlevoix Monday evening from Chicago. She expects to have the Hat Shop open for business the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Jennie Dutton, who has been staying with Mrs. George Taylor on Antrim street, is visiting in Minneapolis, Minn., and does not expect to return before the first of April.

Don, the little son of E. J. Hiller, lies very ill this week at his home on Antrim street, suffering from a nervous breakdown. Not much improvement is reported in his condition nt this writing.

The new model Overland at $665 will be on exhibition within a few days. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

SCHOOL AND FARM PROBLEMS

DISCUSSED AT SCHOOL OFFICERS MEETING.

Stand Thoroughly in Favor of County Employing Agent—Meeting Well Attended.

The morning session of the school officers meeting was called to order in the assembly room of the Boyne City high school, at about 10:30, with a good crowd and with everyone ready to hear and to enter into the spirit of every address. Due to poor train connections, Mr. Coffey arrived late in Boyne Falls. The meeting opened without him—and proceeded for the entire morning, while he and his fellow passengers from Petoskey were cheerfully as possiblo driving through the drifts to Boyne City.

Mr. Cook of Owosso, gave the first address of the day on "What is the County Agent?" He explained at some length the work and possibilities of a rural leader. In closing he had with him the entire audience, and could well feel that his trip was worth while.

The school commissioner then talked about school registers, county normal and state normnl training, the location of teachers by system vs. chance, the text book problem, libraries, hot noon lunches, officers' bonds, busy work, results of the county survey, school house improvements by immediate and gradual plans, and the list of office supplies and forms furnished by state and county. The meeting was then adjourned until 1:00 p. m.

The first address of the afternoon was on phases of school law, both old and new, that have given a little trouble in the working out of the different phases. Mr. Coffey was decidedly pleased with the wide-awakeness of the officers and the numerous questions asked during his address. He explained later thnt the pension law was in effect now and would be collected this year, but that he had no authority to state how or when it would be collected. This will rest with the Retirement Fund Board nnd they will send word to each school board as soon as the entire system is worked out. The secretary of the state Retirement Fund Board is now busy studying out just how he will go at this, but the law has been in effect for some time and could not be operated in full until the procedure was complete and the law declared constitutional.

Several of the business men and farmers were very anxious to take a straw vote to see how the body of school officers felt toward the proeuring of a county agent in Charlevoix county. By motion made, seconded, nnd favorably discussed, the meeting stood strongly in favor of this subject. There was but one dissenting voice when the motion was put to a vote, and the ayes were loud indeed—81 ayes and one nny.

In his second address Mr. Coffey explained the new bulletin gotten out by the department, "Rural Schoolhouses." The school rooms with work rooms and special supply closets for the teachers were new to some of the officers, but the remodeling of the old school was a review lesson to most of them. However, all were very attentive and the interest unwavering. In concluding his speech, he read a few lines from Edgar Guest on "Unselfishness," explaining the need of doing for the child because "Somebody Must Cnre." The citizens of the future will be whatever we mnke them and their success, if success they achieve, will be because "somebody cared."

Notice to Our Customers.

On und after April 1st, 1917, all customers must purchase tickets or pay cush for milk delivered. Bottles must be washed nnd returned daily or no milk will be left. Signed,

William Withers,
Wm. Shapton,
Elmer Ingalls,
John Martin.

Adv.9t4.

$1 DAY

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

CRANDALL

FOR DOLLAR DAY ONLY

One can Sauerkraut, 1 lb 14 oz	12c
One can Hominy, 1 lb 12 oz	12c
One can Beets, 2 lb 1 oz	10c
One can Peaches, 1 lb 14 oz	25c
One package Oatmeal	25c
9 oz can Calumet Baking Powder	15c
5 bars Rub-no-More Soap	25c
1 bottle Catsup	10c
	$1.34

All for One Dollar on Bargain Days

Watch this space next week for more Dollar Day Specials

CERTAIN-TEED stands out conspicuously for quality, satisfaction, and economy. Any product bearing the name CERTAIN-TEED will measure up on all of these points. These are cold facts.

Certain-teed Roofing

is the efficient type of roof It is suitable for factories, office buildings, farm buildings, etc. For residences it is made in slate surfaced shingles.

CERTAIN-TEED costs less to buy, less to lay, and less per year of life. CERTAIN-TEED is light weight, clean, sanitary, and fire retardant. It will not dry out and is weather-tight.

It is made in three thicknesses—but only one quality—the best. It is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

This guarantee is backed by the largest manufacture of prepared roofings and building papers in the world.

If you are building, or need a new roof, it will pay you to investigate CERTAIN-TEED before deciding upon any type of roof. For sale by dealers, everywhere.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes

are good, dependable pruducts made by expert paint men, and guaranteed to give satisfaction. They are sold at a price which would not be possible if we depended upon an exclusive paint organization to market our product.

The enormous resources of Certain-teed Products Corporation, and its extensive organization for distribution of CERTAIN-TEED products, make it possible to take advantage of every economy in buying, manufacturing and selling.

Even the professional painter can afford to use CERTAIN-TEED paints rather than to mix his own. Uncertainty is eliminated, waste and left-overs avoided, and quality is assured.

Whether you do your painting or employ a professional painter, your interests will be best served if you insist on CERTAIN-TEED paints and varnishes.

CERTAIN-TEED PRODUCTS CORPORATION

General Roofing Mfg. Co., Gregg Varnish Co., Mound City Paint & Color Co.

New York	Chicago	Philadelphia	St. Louis	Boston
Cleveland	Pittsburgh	Detroit	Buffalo	San Francisco
Milwaukee	Cincinnati	New Orleans	Los Angeles	Minneapolis
Kansas City	Seattle	Indianapolis	Atlanta	Richmond
Grand Rapids	Nashville	Salt Lake City	Des Moines	Houston
Duluth	London	Sydney	Havana

SOLD BY

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

CORRESPONDENCE

HAYES.

Frank Sneathen lost bis best cow last Friday.

George Howe lost a yearling beifer last Wednesday.

Mrs. Clara Trafford returned to her home Monday.

Henry Baker was taken to the hospital at Petoskey last week.

Mrs. Jones Lewis called on Mrs. Henry Willis one day last week.

Frank Sneathen and Miss Milton went to Petoskey last Saturday.

Earl Sneathen came home Monday from Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Joe Oliver lost his little daughter by death last Friday morning.

Leslie Howe purchased the team of sorrels of Mr. Falls last Thursday.

Dulcie Howe came home Friday to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. Wightman purchased some bees from Sidney Hayden last week Thursday.

Mr. Wightman and Leo Pant are getting out timber to have cut for further use.

Henry Hair called Dr. Pomeroy of Boyne City last Thursday, and while in the neighborhood the veterinary vaccinated several horses.

Bert Wigbtman and Leo Pant drove to the home of S. Hayden last Saturday after the bees which Mr. Wightman purchased last week.

Miller's Specials.

4 pkgs. Corn Flakes 25c
4 lbs. Head Rice 25c
1 lb. Oleomargarine 25c
4 lbs. Ginger Snaps 25c
Adv.9tf Mrs. B. W. Miller.

Spoiling It.

Wife—What a darling you are to admit that you are in the wrong! Hubby—Yes; my mother taught me that it was easier in the long run to give in to a woman than to argue.—Toledo Blade.

See us for your Job Printing.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

"Doc" Auld has received a "soup boyl" hair cut from the new barber, Brann Felts. It is on exhibition in the assembly room Tuesdays and Thursdays after 4:00 o'clock.

The Charlevoix Boy Scouts were defeated by the Petoskey Boy Scouts, 31 to 23, Tuesday night.

Herr von Limburger, the new ambassador from Germany, was receivbowl" hair cut from the new barber, ed Wednesday at the capitol with all due respects. His actions proved to be very obnoxious and he was handed his passports Friday afternoon. He left on the first boat Saturday.

The home team defeated Elk Rapids high school 32-18 here last Friday. The game was fast, and for a time in the beginning of the second half, the visiting team crawled up too close for comfort.

The city team is unable to get any more games. The Olympics have disbanded and the finances will not warrant getting anyone who is not a big drawing card.

BARNARD.

Joseph Clarke left last Friday for a visit to Detroit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ronald Reed.

John Smith was in Boyne City last Tuesday and Wednesday, attending the school officers' meeting held at that place.

George Spayd, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Petoskey hospitnl, last Tuesday, is reported as getting along nicely.

Benj. Brown of Charlvoix, the local agent for the Overland and Ford cars, visited this neighborhood last Monday and succeeded in selling Fords to the following parties: Robert Mntchett, Henry Potter, Jr., Ed Boss nnd John Bottema. What's the matter with the Ford?

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

S. Currey wns cutting wood last week.

Mr. Hosegood is cutting wood this week.

Mr. Thompson has been hauling hay from the McDonald place during the last week.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. nnd Mrs. Dunlop are both quite ill. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

School Notes.

The question, "Who was President on Mnrch 4, Sunday," which wns nsked in civics class last week, proved to be a rather puzzling one to some of the members of the class.

A number are absent from school on account of severe colds.

Harry Flora is again in school after having the whooping cough.

Our painting is steadily progressing and n border for the rooms has already extended across the front.

The eighth grade are now having nfter school sessions, as they are very busy preparing for the exnmination.

The sixth grade have completed their history nnd nre now taking a review.

Pruning and Grafting.
Adv. 7tf D. W. Mather.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 35 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

TWO FIRE ALARMS IN THREE DAYS

Saturday Night Blaze a Total Loss of Barn.

Frank Zeitler had a bad fire at his place west of town last Saturday night, at about nine o'clock, when the barn which sheltered six calves and four fat porkers, burned to the ground—a total loss. The fire was discovered by an Indian, who ran to the house and aroused the family. All the stock and most of the contents of the building were saved, thanks to the red man's kindly warning.

Tuesday, at about 20 minutes to 12, the fire bell (apology) rang and the blaze proved to be in the roof of Ben Yettaw's house on Hurlbut avenue, set by a spark from the chimney. Little water was necessary and the ever-ready axe rooted out the last smoldering shingle. The crowd, who had gathered, departed without getting even a thrill of the excitement they had expected.

Insurance saves the day when fire destroys the property. See Myrtle Young & Son before you are burned out.—Adv.10t1.

Annual Calendar Concert.

For the past four years the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church has in a unique way, given the public an opportunity to hear the best local musical talent by means of their Calendar Concert. They have charged a nominal sum so as to make it possible for everyone to attend. The concert this year will be given Friday evening, March 30, and the program will be up to the standard.

Meet With Mrs. Shores.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. N. A. Shores, Friday afternoon, March 9, for the annual meeting. The election of officers will be followed by a short musical program nnd a pot luck supper. Members are requested to bring one of the following articles — sandwiches, cake, potatoes—creamed, or fruit salad.

Methodist Church.

A. M.—"Oldfashioned Truthfulness."

P. M.—"Repentance."

YOU MAY BE NEXT

One Man Out of Every Seven is Disabled By Accident, Each Year.

Have You Provided Against Such An Emergency?

Our New "STANDARD" Accident and Sickness Policy provides liberal benefits in case of Accident or Sickness.

Sold to Men or Women and Costs Less Than Five Cents a Day.

Pay in case of death by Accident $200 to $5,000 according to nature of accideent

Pays for loss of time caused by Accident or Sickness $100 Per Month

Provides for Doctor's fees and Hospital charges

Ask us About it Today. Tomorrow May Be Too Late.

The Burnett Agency
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Watch this space for

Dollar Day Specials

next week

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

We are Working the Goddess of Liberty Overtime

We will continue our gigantic Cash Sale for the next week and wish to state that everything advertised last week is also included in the sale. We are putting special stress on the following articles, inviting your trade while the lines are not broken. You can save $$$ galore by getting into the game of economical purchaseing. Watch for our Dollar Dsy Offering next week. We will surprise you.

Grocery Department

6 boxes 5 cent Matches for	25c
7 bara 5-cent Acme Soap for	25c
7 bars 5 cent Magic Waaher Soap for	25c
7 bars any kind Bobbie Burns Soap for	25c
50 cent No. O Lantern for	39c
$1.00 Lantern for	69c
50 cent Diah Pan for	39c
1 pound 4-x Coffee for	15c
3 packages 10 cent Silver Bar Raisins for	25c
4 boxes A. and H. Soda for	25c
6 cans 5 cent Sunbrite Cleanser for	23c
6 cans 5 cent Snow Boy Washing Powder for	23c
2 cans any 20 cent Salmon for	33c
4 lba. 10 cent Rice for	25c
1 can 25 cent Crown Baking Powder for	17c
49 lba. Yeast Foam Flour for	$2.25
24½ lbs. Commercial Flour for	$1.17
6 cans 5 cent Cottage Milk for	25c

Arctics

The real value to buy in the market of Arctics is a 20 per cent advance on every $1.00. Another advance is not far away.

Men's $1.35 1-buckle Arctics, worth $1.50 per pair, sale price 98c

Men's $2.00 2-buckle Arctica, worth $2.50 per pair, aale price $1.48

Men's $2.50, $2.75 and $3.00 4-buckle Arctics, worth $3.00 to $3.50 per pair, sale price $1.98

Boys' $2.00 2-buckle Arctics, worth $2.40 per pair, sale price $1.19

Youth's $1.50 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.88 per pair, sale price 98c

Women's $1.50 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.68 per pair, aale price 98c

Misses' $1.35 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.50 per pair, aale price 98c

Child's $1.25 2-buckle Arctics, worth $1.38 per pair, sale price 89c

Child's 1-buckle Arctics worth 90 cents per pair, sale price 55c

Women's 1-bucklo Arctics, worth $1.25 per pair, sale price 89c

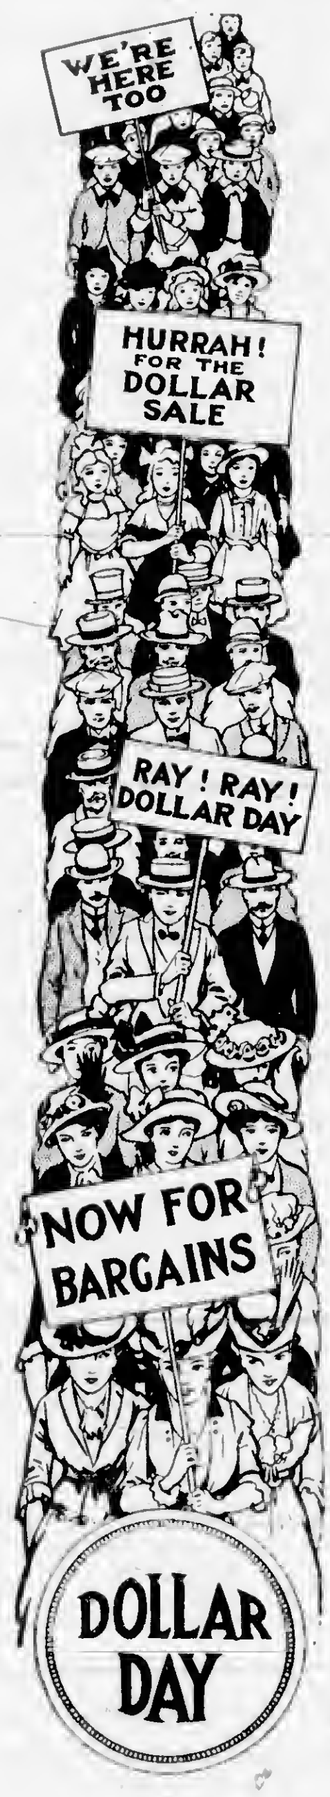
Mason's Grocery Department

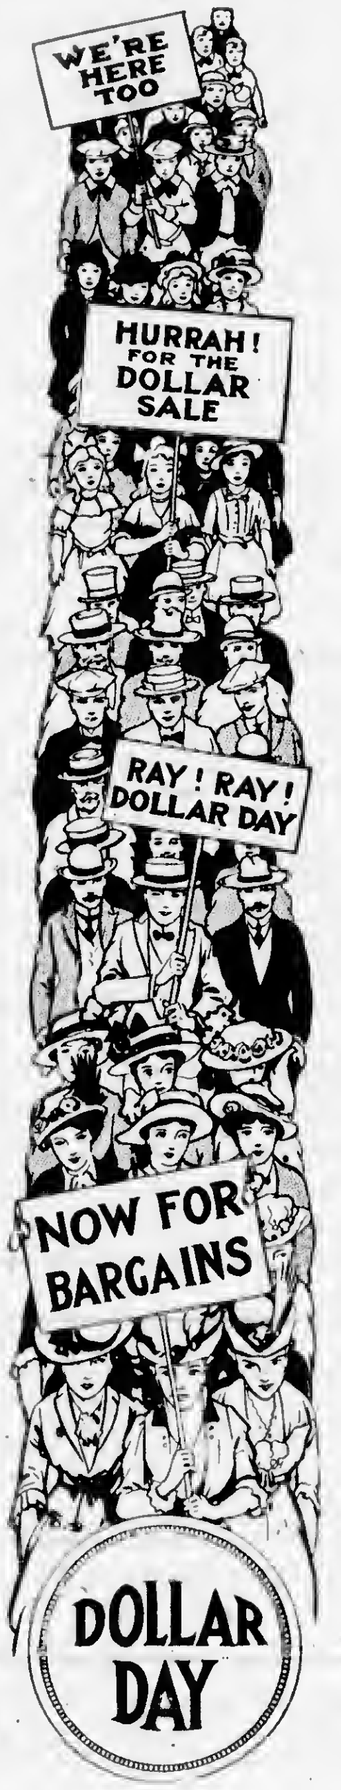
HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO YOU

"ONE DOLLAR IS THE PASSWORD"

HERE TODAY

Retail Prices Cut to Wholesale.





SATURDAY MARCH 17th

WILL BE A BIG DAY AND KING DOLLAR WILL REIGN SUPREME IN CHARLEVOIX

Now when merchandise is the highest for years the Merchants of our Association are going to forget High Prices for One Day and give you a big surprise for your

Dollar

See Next Week's Paper for Individual Advs.

Charlevoix Merchants' Association

HEAR! HEAR! DOLLAR DAY IS AT HAND!

The DOLLAR SALE IS ON

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months..... .75
One Copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

TREAT ALL ALIKE.

Representative John C. McKenzie of Illinois, is n believer in compulsory military service, although at first he was loath to depart from the volunteer system which has served the country so well in the past. But, Mr. McKenzie contends, if the service is to he compulsory is should be universal. "I want the son of the rich mnn," he declares, "to have to go to war the same as the son of the poor man." Congressman McKenzie has no patience with advocates of a policy of "taking the American boys and putting them into a conflict or a war between the crowned heads of Europe," and clnims that nll our military preparations should be for defense alone; thnt in order to maintain our rights against one country it is not necessary to become the ally of another, and that we should train American citizens only for defense on land and sea.

MORE PATERNALISM.

A still further attempt on the part of the party in control of the government to invade the field of private business activity, and assume functions which rightly belong entirely outside of federal jurisdiction, is represented in the bill introduced by a Democratic member from California, nppropriating $1,000,000 for per mill having a daily capacity of not less than 50 tons. The paper meant printing office in Wnshington, the construction of a government paisto be for the use of the governbut it is stipulated that the mill shall be erected in one of the Pacific coast states, 3,000 miles from where its product will be used.

MANY NEW DEFINITIONS.

"There seems to be need of a new definition of "overt act," remarks the New York Times Annalist; also, we may add, of the ommissin of no word or deed, and of several other fine-sounding words and phrases which hnve regaled our ears since the Lusitania wns sunk.

EGGS AND EGGCESS TAXES.

A Philadelphia editor believes that any man with egg on his chin is properly amenable to the income tax law. Well, if the Democrats can't get him on that, they can shake him down under the eggcess profits tax.

CREAM SEPARATORS.

Those who accuse the southern Democrats of inefficiency must have failed to observe how the southern men in congress get the cream of the appropriations.— Philadelphin Press. First class cream separators.

Lincoln regnrded the bombardment of Fort Sumpter as an overt net. Wilson gives evidence that he would have looked upon it as a "technicality."

A complete garage at your service within a few days. Overlands at $665.00 and Fords at $360.00. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. David Zadek From Babylon to Speak.

The Rev. David Zadek and Deacon Johanan, from the nncient city of Babylon, will lead in a great day's work at the Baptist church here Sunday.

A great message is in store for us, as he carries us to the very ground where our Saviour trod nnd dramatically unveils the scenes of the most horrible massacre of Christinns the world has ever seen. When we know that his mother and two little brothers were murdered before his very eyes because they would not bow to other Gods, we do not wonder that he comes to tell America this awful story.

Tens of thousands of Armenian Christians have been mercilessly massacred in this way; the heads of women cut off with the sword and children held up by the feet while they were sliced in pieces. Multitudes have been driven into the mountains and deserts, where they nre living only on grass and picking the ment from the bones of dead animals.

All Lectures Free.

Rev. Zadek will lecture at 10:30 and 7:30.

A special address to men only, will be given at 12:00 o'clock, in the church parlor, to the Brotherhood Class of Loyal Men. Call at the office of the Hotel Charlvoix for reserve seat tickets. They are free.

The B. Y. P. U. will be entertained at 6:15 with a description of a courtship and marriage in the ancient city of Babylon.

Rev. Zndek will lecture at Marion Center, Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

At all of these services a special solo in the ancient Chaldean language will be rendered.

These gentlemen come to us highly recommended by both state and national authority. Rev. Zadek was pastor of one of our Baptist churches and has our denominational authority behind him.

If you expect to get in, come early Sunday.

Lloyd C. Vinyard,
Baptist Pastor.

I will be opened up within a few days with the best thnt the world produces in automobiles, tires and supplies. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

TEMPERING TOOLS.

Method of Hardening a Hacksaw Blade For Use on Steel.

Ordinary hacksaw blades are not inteuded for very hard steel, and if it is desired to cut such steel the blade should be hardened, writes a correspondent of Popular Mechanics. In hardening these blades they would warp out of shape when brought to a cherry red, but by experimenting I find if a blade is bound flat on an old file and both heated together the blade will he kept flat, and the file will retain the heat while preparing to dip it.

The temper of the blade end should be drawn to prevent breaking. For extremely hard temper heat to a cherry red, and give the blade a mercury bath, but do not inhale the fumes, as they are poisonous. Saws or drills hardened in mercury will readily cut glass if moistened in turpentine. In using a hard blade do not press too hard, and run it slowly.

All steel instruments when heated to a red heat lose a portion of their carbon, which loss means a softening of the surface on the instrument. This loss is especially noticed in fine instruments, the more delicate ones being utterly ruined. To protect them from this loss they should be covered with a layer of potash or other medium. This may be accomplished by heating slightly and rubbing them with soap.

FANS FOR COMFORT.

Increasing Use of Electrically Operated Household Appliances.

What the electrical people call the "fan season" is now in full swing, and wiring contractors all over the country are correspondingly busy.

One unacquainted with this particular class of apparatus would hardly recognize in the compact, ornamental and silent running types of today any relation to the awkward and noisy product of a few years ago, while efficiency and convenience have increased in practically inverse ratio to the price.

Special wiring or fixtures are no longer necessary, as fans suitable for ordinary household use take so little current that they may safely be "plugged in" to any standard lamp socket.

IRON HEATED BY ELECTRICITY, WHICH ALSO OPERATES FAN.

In this way the necessity for having one or more fans for each room is obviated, as they may be used to perform double or triple service with little inconvenience.

Too much emphasis cannot he laid on the use of fans not merely for comfort, but to safeguard the healthy and well being of the entire family. For children and invalids especially the refreshing breeze from an electric fan in sleeping or living room is a definite and well recognized factor in restoring or maintaining normal conditions during heated terms which would ordinarily tend to lower vitality.

To Preserve Porch Columns.

Hollow porch columns may be prevented from rotting at the bottom if two or three holes about three quarters of an inch in diameter are bored through the porch floor and the base of the columns, says Popular Mechanics. This will allow the air to enter the inside of the columns. In building the columns paint the inside with white lead and oil mixed thinly. The painting will prevent them from cracking open at the stave joints, as is often the case. If the columns are finished the painting can be done with a swab made of a piece of rag tied to the end of a stick long enough to reach halfway through them.

To Drain Crank Cases.

An ordinary bicycle pump with the plunger valve reversed on the rod makes an excellent suction pump for draining automobile engine crank cases. The closed upper end of the pump cylinder is cut off so that the oil may be poured out quickly. After the first charge the plunger is pushed down as far as it will go, displacing the oil into the upper part. This action is repeated until the pump is half full each time, and it takes only a short time to drain any case.

Substitute For Rivets In Couches.

The rivets in a couch come loose and work out quite often, leaving it loose and wabbly. To make rivets fit properly by hammering them into place is almost impossible, and to repair the couch with stove bolts makes an unsightly job. A very good repair and one that will make a couch rigid and strong again is by the use of ordinary brass binding posts from old dry battery cells instead of rivets. These can be easily placed without tools.

Great Sulphur Production.

The amount of sulphur produced in the United States in 1915, according to the U. S. geological survey, was 311,590 long tons, valued at $5,479,849, the greatest output in the history of the industry.

Subscribe for the Courier.

DOLLAR DAY

Specials March 17th at Levinson's

$1.50 Ladies' House Dresses at	$1.00
$1.50 Ladies' Shirt Waists at	$1.00
10 yards of Outing Flannel 12 1-2c yard at	$1.00
5 yards Wool Dress Goods $1.25 yard at	$1.00
$1.50 Men's Sweaters at	$1.00
$2.00 Men's Hats at	$1.00
$1.50 Ladies' Petticoats at	$1.00

$1.00 OFF on any Ladies' Spring Coat, Suit or Skirt

$1.00 OFF on any Men's Suit in stock

$1.00 OFF on Sweaters above $5.00

Dollar Day March 17th

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

at the Store of Quality and Good Service.

Saturday, March 17

War has hit the consumer long enough—on Dollar Day the Consumer will make a big gain on the field of economy. Struggling has been one sided but on this day we will turn the tide of high price warfare in another direction. The following prices are limited for the one day only and you are urged to take advantage of the bargains offered.

The Grocery Dept.

One order to a Customer

10 pounds Beans	$1.00
12 pounds Head Rice	$1.00
20 pounds Cracked Rice	$1.00
5 pounds good Coffee	$1.00
4 dozen good Oranges	$1.00

We will sell only one order of each article listed above to a customer.

DOLLAR DAY SPECIALS for March 17 only

The Meat Dept.

Six pounds of any of the following meats for One Dollar, of one or more kinds to make up 6 pound order, March 17 only.

6 pounds Pork Steak	$1.00
6 pounds Pork Roast	$1.00
6 pounds Salt Pork	$1.00
6 pounds Pork Sausage	$1.00
6 pounds Beefsteak	$1.00
6 pounds Hamburger	$1.00
6 pounds Corn Beef	$1.00

Seven pounds of each or seven pound order of both for $1

7 pounds Frankfurts	$1.00
7 pounds Bologna	$1.00
5 pound Pail of Lard	$1.00

Watch windows for Display and Prices on other Lines of Goods.
Phones 12 and 69

C. Danto & Son

Farmers Attention!

Labor this season will be scarce and high priced. Therefore it behooves you to get the largest crop from the number of acres you can work. To do this you must use

Commercial Fertilizer

We have both the Armour's and Homestead bought.

Let us Supply Your Wants

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Charlevoix East Jordan Central Lake

TENTH SHAKESPEARE BANQUET

(Continued from page one.)

turn arose and added his limerick to the already poesy-laden atmosphere until each lady, absent as well as present, had been duly toasted, when all drank to the final toast—

"Here's a toast to you, ladies so fair,
"We love every lock of your hair.
"May you all live for years—
"May you never know tears,
"May your troubles all vanish in the air."

Mrs. James Gaskins, Jr., then sang a beautiful solo, responding to an encore, the toast-mistress dismissed the guests, and what every person present declared to have been the "best ever" of all the banquets, passed into history.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SPECIAL

AGAIN we ask your attention while we call to your mind our weekly special. This week we offer something that every housewife needs, something that is cheap in price and of good value.

$1.50 House Dresses for - - - 98c

This stock embraces many new patterns and colorings in Percales and Gingham in all sizes.

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Local Optlan Campaign Opens.

On Monduy of last week the dry forces of Emmet county met at Petoskey and organized for the spring cumpuign to prevent the return of the saloon. The anti-saloon leugue will co-operute with the county organlzution und Matt Mullen of Traverse City will take personal charge of the work. On the executive committee will be Fred Linsell, Rev. G. A. Weaver, H. S. Babcock, A. E. VanAvery, Dana Hinkley and others, and with these men as leuders it is needless to say that the campaign which will end with the April election will be a thorough one in every way.

Will Locate in Detroit.

A.G.Urquhart, for many years an attorney in Boyne City, will leave in a few weeks for Detroit, where he will make his future home.

Mr. Urquhart has been u resident of Boyne City for many years and has held several prominent positions in that city. He has been city uttroney for several terms und has been a candidate for muyor.

His large insurance business has been sold to J. L. Ekstrom, long the city clerk here, the deal huving heen closed and the formal transfer made.

Mr. Urquhart leaves behind him a host of friends who all wish him success in his new field of endeavor.

Gets Chance for Annapolis.

Homer D. Swander, gradnate of the Petoskey high school, has been appointed principal to Annapolis hy Congressman Frank D. Scott of Alpena, according to information received last week.

Mr. Swunder has been preparing for such appointment for two or three years and hopes to pass with credit both the mental nnd physical examinations

His parents were formerly located at Alanson. Mr. Swunder is working for a real estate firm in Detroit this winter. He wus appointed alternate to Annupolis some time ago, and has now heen made principal. His Petoskey friends extend congratalations und hope he will successfully puss the necessnry tests.

Potato Warehouse Burns.

With potatoes worth from $2.50 to $3.00 per hushel, fire destroyed the potato wurehouse of L. Stark & Co., at Bates, on Wednesday of last week, together with 1,600 bushels of potatoes. The fire is chimed to have originated from u spark from a locomotive. Three other warehouses which stood near were covered with snow to prevent the spread of the flames.

The burned building was an immense frume structure capable of holding 17,000 bushels when full. It was the property of L. Stark & Co. of Chicago, und was used at different timea by several buyers. It is impossible to obtain figures on the loss of the building, but it will no doubt reach $3,000.

Only the forethought of the citizens of Bates, who turned out to fight the flames, saved the other warehouses. Shovels, pans, boards and other available utensils were ased to shovel the snow onto the other structures. The citizens worked steadily to keep them covered nnd it was this action which prevented the loss from running into tens of thousands of dollars.

Bad Wreck Narrowly Avertad.

A serious freight wreck neurly occurred on the Boyne Falls hill late Saturday evening of last week. Owing to a break on the engine, u heavy freight train drnwn by a double hender ran wild and went down through Boyne Fulls at 40 miles an hour. Fortunntely it wns stopped on u grude this side of that village. One engine wns badly jamned up in the driving gear nnd u small amount of tnck torn ap. Passenger tmin No. 11, on which were a number of Petoskey men, was held up for abnut two and one-half hours hecause of the trouble.

Another freight train south bound through Petoskey Saturday evening was slightly delnyed in getting out of the local yards, and instead of passing the north bound train at Boyne Falls, where it would have mnde the passing had it gotten away from Petoskey on time, was ordered to tnke the siding nt Clarion. This delay in itself probably saved the two tmins from coming together nnd nverted another chance for a wreck.

When the crews of this south bound freight tmin opened the switch nt Clnrion, they discovered a brnke rod on a freight train had dragged nnd cnught in the switch rod, pulling the switch nartly open. Had this train received orders to pass the north bound train at Boyne Falls, it would have entered the half open switch nnd more than likely caused u serious smash-up there.

Howard Gorbutt wus the first papil pil Hbils wowdg fafrf fafrfnrff pil to receive a certificate for perfect attendnnce for four months.

The farmers were out Thursdny, Friday nnd Saturday breaking the roads.

Milnrd Webster says he saw a robin. Sounds like spring, don't it?

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARKE SCHOOL.

There were seven certificates given this month for good attendance.

Twelve pupils at our school have received the required number of certificates for Home Work.

We are saving our wnste paper to sell this summer to get a picture for our school room.

Edna Scott and Emmn Klasak called on Mrs. Ed. Gregory und Fern Sholdon last Saturday.

Charles Warner is sick with la grippe at this writing.

Plenny Genett is hnuling ice from Harwood lake. The ice is 20 inches thick.

Ed Blow and family have moved into our district.

Ed Boss and Robert Matchett have purchased new Fords, so we hear.

Mr. Klomp purchased a horse from James Heeres lnst week.

The Senior clnss met at the home of George Parsons last week. We were nicely entertained and enjoyed the lunch served by Mrs. Parsons. Oh, yes! We'll come agnin, Floyd.

HEART LAKE SCHOOL.

Every papil in our school has earned a certificate for home work in six months or less.

Thnrsday, Febraary 22, our school celebrated Washington's birthday by singing patriotic songs, telling stories of Washington and discassing the U. S. army system and its future opportunities.

Miss Georgia Webster visited school last Wednesday.

Friday afternoon Wm. Townsend fixed the school bell which has hung silent in the belfry for a week. Says it sounds lonesome not to hear it ring.

The first grade lms just began work in a new reader. Great interest is shown in the work.

THEATRICAL.

Romeo and Juliet.

"A picture of universal appeal thnt the multitudes can appreciate" "will live as a clnssic masterpiece nnd a triumph of dramatic screen construction." — Motion Picture News.

"A great production * * * Metro has done the screen a distinct service,"—Motion Picture World.

"A pictare that deserves to rank with the clnssics."—Dramatic Mirror.

"For the first time in the history of the motion pictures, Shakespeare has successfully been immortalized."—Morning Telegraph.

"All the picture was wonderful."—Billboard.

"Not a dull moment."—N. Y. Tribune.

"Like a beautiful dreim."—Zit in the N. Y. Evening Joarnal.

At the Majestic, Wednesday evening, March 14.

HOUSEHOLD CARES.

Tax the Women of Charlevoix the Same as Elsewhere.

Hard to attend to household daties
With a constantly aching back.
A woman should not have a had back,
And she seldom would if the kidneys were well.
Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by thousands.
Have been used in kidney tronble over 50 years.
Read what this Charlevoix woman says:

Mrs. Morris Ackert, 1101 Bridge St., Charlevoix, says: "About two years ago I was tronbled with my back and kidneys. My back became weak and lame, causing my housework to be a burden especially if I had to stoop over. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family with good results so I tried them. They rid me of kidney tronble."

Price 50c, at all deulers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ackert had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NORWOOD.

Joe Holecheck buzzed 40 cords of wood Friday.

Frank Carman, our Norwood merchunt, is on the sick list.

Mrs. Park McIntyre is still reported as being in no better health.

Earl Young of Charlevoix, was a business euller in Norwood one day last week.

Henry Wagner is one of the sweet men. He has so fur contructed 600 acres of sugar beets.

Mrs. Amerdon Stafford is very sick. Her daughter, Mrs. George Parsons, is caring for her.

We are glad there is a boarding house in Norwood. Meals at all hours and board hy the day or week, und teams fed.

Henry Genett from Traverse City has moved on the Mack Genett farm. He has also bought un 80 acre farm of Pleny Genett.

Joe Holecheck has just finished filing the ice house owned by Sam Chase. They are expected home the first of the April after spending the winter with their children in Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Nell Carman, Miss Faye Wagner, Miss Eva Stafford, Miss Drusilla Richardson, Miss Margaret Luciu, Esther Pursons, Vern Jones and Tnm Scroggie attended bible study Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Will Smith.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo,
Lucas County, ss

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of Frank J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, County und State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Cuturrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internaly and acts directly apon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by all druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. March Adv.

EVELINE.

Nels Lyngklip is cutting wood for Peter Nasson.

Miss Mary Orvis of Grand Rapids, is at home with her mother.

Mr. Geary of Rapid City, visited relntives here on Saturday and Snnday.

Many farmers hnve put up their ice which is very thick this winter.

Mrs. Dntus Dean returned from East Jordun last week, where she had visited friends and rolatives.

The agricaltural school was u success in every way, und considering the poor roads, we think nn average class attendnnce of 62 was fine.

The little children of Peter Mitchell were quite ill last week. The doctor gave relief in a couple of days and both nre ubout recovered now.

Limon Ruder took a sleigh load of young people to East Jordan last Saturday. The crowd enjoyed a pot luck dinner at the Weldy home, east of town, and report a fine trip.

Everyone regrets that Mr. Barnum is to leave the community. We wish him success in his new field of work and have every reason to believe that he is capable of filling his position with credit.

Opens New Offices.

Henry Kauffman has installed offices in the old bakery building, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, and will buy all kinds of Hides, Copper, Brass, Rags, Rubbers, and all other kinds of metal. Highest market price paid for all goods brought in. Spot cash.—Adv.7tf.

CLARION.

J. W. Colden went to Petoskey on Sunday.

Will Sislove of Chicago is visiting friends here.

G. W. Taylor is putting in a small stock of groceries.

Mrs. Will Grund of Walloon Lake is reported quite sick.

Guy Watters spent Sunday with his mother in Mancelona.

Don Morean of Petoskey was in town Sunday for a short time.

Frank Hime has been suffering with a severe attack of the grippe.

Mrs. W. J. Wheeler was the guest of Miss Elizabeth Hufford a few days last week.

Paul Schnelle and J. W. Colden attended the directors meeting at Boyne City on Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna Wells of Chicago, came Friday, and will soon move on the farm recently parchased of Will Sills.

Mrs. Maade Brown of Walloon, who anderwent an operation for appendicitis at Petoskey hospital last week, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Young of Elmira, who huve been visiting relatives here, went to Harbor Springs last week, where they will be the guests of Mr, and Mrs. Jay Standish.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

MARION.

Albert Cook is working for Bert Ingalls.

Albert Elliott is suffering from the mumps.

Bert Ingulls sold 600 bushels of potatoes for $1,500 last week.

Ed Potter returned to his home after working for the past month at Maple Dale farm.

Two crows were seen in thlu vicinity last week. A sure sign that spring is on its way.

Rollett Ross und wife and little son, visited Mrs. Ross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Sundsy.

Elmer Sprik und Vern Jones of Norwood, attended the party ut the Cliff home last Saturday night.

Messrs. Flanders and Coblentz attended the warehouse meeting at Walter Black's last Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls attended the banquet ut Charlevoix Tuesday night, given by the Masons.

All members of Marion Center Grange are urged to be present Friday night. Come prepared for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls uttend the agricultural school at Ironton last Thursday und Friday afternoons.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black visited at the home of Mrs. Wooley last Wednesday.

Jesse Smith, who hus been seriously ill with the grippe for the past ten days, is again able to be up and about the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith are the proud grandparents of u boy, born to Mr. und Mrs. Edgnr Smith, of Detroit, February 24.

There was a surprise party on Marie Cliff last Saturday night. A very enjoyable evening was spent in music and games, after which refreshments were served.

The home of R. Aurdemu burned to the ground last Thursday night. The family got out with only their night clothes and went to the home of a near neighbor.

Feed and Flax Seed Grinding.

Corn on cob and small grains. Grinding Tuesdays and Saturdays. N. W. Smith, State street.—Adv. 7t4.

One Discovery.

"Yes, I'm married now."

"Two can live as cheaply as one, they say."

"I don't know about that, but I do know they can run up a lot of bills."—Kansas City Journal.

Subscriba for the Courier.

Does the world look friendly, with the hand of opportunity stretched forth everywhere? Or does it look stern and cold and hopeless?

It all depends on whether you have back of you the support of a substantial Savings Account and a Friendly Connection With A Strong Bank.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crane, President.
H. S. Harsha, Vice President. A. A. Swinton, Vice President.
A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Auction Sale!

The undersigned will sell at her farm, one and one-half miles north and one-half mile east of the Atwood Store, on

Thursday, March 15, '17

Beginning at 1:00 o'clock p. m., the following described property:

Black Gelding, coming 5 years, wt. 1500
2 Colts coming 2 yrs., black and gray.
Roan Cow, 8 yrs. old, fresh last January
Cow, 8 yrs. old, fresh last November.
One Calf, 4 months old.
About 24 Chickens.
No. 12 DeLaval Cream Separator.
Two Cupboards.
Kitchen Chairs.
Three Stands.
Iron Bed and Springs.
10 gallon Bbl. Churn. Lantern.
One gallon Ice Cream Freezer.
Three Sad Irons.
Good Oil Heater.
5-gallon Cream Can.
2 4-gallon Crocks.
Some Canned Fruit.
Number of Fruit Cans.
Lamps, Dishes and Cooking Utensils.
McCormick Rake.
Osborne Mowing Machine.
Corn Sheller. Smoker.
12-guage Shot Gun.
Bicycle and many other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, 8 months time on good, approved, bankable paper, with interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Central Lake State Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

MISS IDA BLOW, Proprietor

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer
W. S. RICHARDSON, Note Clerk

OUR LUNGS ARE DELICATE

Overwork, lack of fresh air, mental strain or any sickness disturbs their functions. Stubborn coughs tear and wear the sensitive lung tissues.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

should be taken promptly for hard coughs, unyielding colds, or when strength is lowered from any cause. Its high nutritive value creates resistive force to ward off sickness. The rich cod liver oil improves the quality of the blood to relieve the cold and the glycerine is soothing and healing to the lung tissues.

Refuse Alcoholic Substitutes Which Exclude the Oil. 19-0

THE PUBLIC PULSE
Open Forum for Our Readers

The following article has been submitted to the Courier for publication, and involves a question of vital interest to the farmers of this county and surrounding territory. The writer is a local dairyman and invites criticism. This discussion should appeal to all and queries will be published that are written on this subject, if worthy of publication. We solicit clean and thoughtful discussion and will welcome articles of this nature on any subject. Axe-grinding articles will be consigned to the waste paper basket.—Ed.

Winter Dairying.

The topic "Winter Dairying," as handled by most farm magazines, is not treated with very whole-hearted interest by all of the farmers in this section. The reason given by a great many is that it does not apply to local conditions, and does not pay; others give as their reason that it is too much work. The first reason is given by those who have not studied or practiced winter dairying, and the last reason speaks for the man giving it. The main issue is, does it pay or not.

It will cost a man wintering his cows and not milking them just as much to keep them alive as the man who has milk cows. The man who milks his cows needs but give some grain in addition to the feed required to sustain them in order to realize a profit on the extra expense. He will not double his money, which some farmers seem to expect they should be able to do.

The cow freshening in the spring will give a good flow of milk until June or July, and after the flies and dry season commences, shrink about one-half to two-thirds in their milk flow. They do not gain to any great extent after this, and generally are dried before stabling or during early winter, as if they are fed grain it is at a loss.

The same cows freshening in November can be cared for in the same barn and will give a good flow of milk if well fed and can be made to give about the same amount of milk until the first of April. They often shrink just before pasture season arrives, but as soon as they get on grass, they gain again, and often give as much as cows that freshen in the spring.

They shrink at about the same time the other cows do and can be dried when the pasture season is the poorest in August and September.

We used to regard the feeding of the winter cow a great expense. Buying the concentrates in addition to the grain we fed seemed very hard before we kept accounts of our work. It is looked upon now as an investment, and one that pays very large interest. First, in the increase in the milk, and second in the added fertility in the manure.

This factor alone often pays for the feed, but is not looked at in that light by very many farmers. With the cow freshening in the spring we lose this, as she is not considered to be able to pay for any grain and consequently does not get it. We know there are exceptionally good cows that will show a profit by being fed, but the average farm herd is not fed grain in the winter.

The man who wishes to change from spring to fall cows can do so cheaper by keeping the cows he has and changing the breeding season from summer to winter. By taking care of the cows during the time they are farrow, they will give almost as much milk as ordinarily. Another way would be to have all the heifers come in in early winter.

A great deal could be added to this, but our judgment, founded on our own experience, is that a profit can be made from winter cows, whereas merely keeping cows and milking them in the summer months with the flies to bother them and not enough to eat is a losing game. This of course, applies to the man who does not feed his cows in addition to the pasture, as we all know that the dairyman selling his milk has to have cows freshen in the spring, but does not expect them to keep up a good flow of milk without feeding them in addition to the pasture age.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.

Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, VanPelt Hall.

Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Mind."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.

Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

Russia's National Anthem.

The Russian national anthem is the only national hymn which was adopted as such in open competition. Until the time of the Emperor Nicholas I, the English "God Save the King" had served Russia, but Nicholas determined to institute a genuine and native Russian anthem. He announced a competition, open to all musicians, for an original national hymn. A musical committee reduced the thousands of entries to two, and between these, the works of Glinka and Lvoff, the czar himself decided. The highly martial character, with the drums and trumpets, of Lvoff's composition won the imperial verdict, and it was decreed as hence forth the Russian national anthem.

Announcement.

John Slezuk has moved his shoe shop from the Wood building to the first door north of Moore's restaurant, formerly the old bakery.—Adv.7t4.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. DODD
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
All kinds of Building, Carpenter and Mason Work, etc.
Estimates Furnished. Phone 167-4R
Charlevoix, Route 1, Michigan.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Scientific Farming

UNPROFITABLE ACRES.

Forty Per Cent of Cultivated Land Only Is Properly Improved.

(Prepared by United States department of agriculture.)

According to the 1910 census, 40.2 per cent of the land area of the United States is in farms, and 54.4 per cent of this, or 25.1 per cent of the total area, is improved. The United States department of agriculture has recently estimated that 40 per cent of our cultivated land is reasonably well cultivated and that 12 per cent yields maximum net returns. If these figures are correct we find by computation that only 10 per cent of the total area of the United States is reasonably well cultivated and that but 3 per cent yields maximum net returns.

This does not indicate a very high level of efficiency in farming. A considerable percentage of our unprofitable land doubtless never can be brought under successful cultivation by any methods now known. It is also true that the sudden advancement of all our arable land to a point where each farm would become 100 per cent efficient might seriously affect the business side of farming by lowering the prices of agricultural products. Yet as population increases all classes of people will undoubtedly be benefited if the rapidly rising price of farm products can be met at least in part by setting idle acres to work and by making unprofitable acres yield a satisfactory income.

UNPROFITABLE ACRES ON A MASSACHUSETTS FARM IN SPRING—SAME LAND IMPROVED IN LATE SUMMER.

Farm management investigations show that a large percentage of farms are now managed at a loss and that on almost every farm a portion of the area is carried at a loss. Of the 2,000 farms surveyed during the past year in the north, south and west over 30 per cent had minus labor incomes. We hear many uncomplimentary things said about the unprofitable dairy cow, the "boarder," supported from the profits of the remainder of the herd, but on many farms the unprofitable dairy cow is not the only boarder. Low yielding acres, like boarder cows, are often fatal to successful farming. Our farm survey records show that acres of poorly drained, compact and sour soils or soils low in humus greatly reduce net profits and that they are a frequent cause of minus labor income. Sometimes these records show that as much as 50 per cent of the entire farm acreage does not produce enough to pay its way.

One farm in Wisconsin on which records were recently taken has forty acres of poorly drained land that in its present condition is practically worthless. Twenty-five dollars per acre spent in drainage will make this forty acre tract the equal of any in that district, and good land is selling there at $150 per acre. A small portion of similar land on this farm has already been tile drained and is now producing a fair profit on work so improved.

The successful business man always tries to weed out all unprofitable enterprises and to expand those that pay a profit. Unprofitable acres cannot always be disposed of as readily as boarder cows, but usually they can be improved until they become profit bearing. If the income from such land can not be increased it is quite possible that the labor spent upon it can be reduced until the income at least pays a little more than the cost of labor.

Tools For Indoor Gardening.

All the tools that are necessary for indoor gardening, which can be made an interesting recreation for the whole household, are a large sheet of wrapping paper, a ruler and a pencil. After looking over the garden and selecting the plot of soil best suited for your purpose measure this and outline it on paper on a scale of one-fourth or one-eighth inch to the foot.

See us for your Job Printing.

You Women Did This

Which proves the men folks are not responsible for all the good things.
Of course they would like to take the credit.
That's natural.
Anyway we thank you for this splendid service.
You have greatly encouraged us in our efforts to please by showing a keen appreciation of a high class article.
You women of Michigan have given to

Lily White

"The Flour The Best Cooks Use."

Its wonderful reputation, because you have always found Lily White Flour best suited to home baking.
Best for both bread and pastry.
And you have found it always possesses the same high quality; not good one time and poor the next, but always good.

You have been so pleased with Lily White Flour you told your friends. They used it and told theirs, and so on.
That's how Lily White Flour became so well known.
Your confidence in Lily White and in us shall never be jeopardized for the quality of Lily White Flour shall never be lowered.
We will make it better, if possible.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

EXTENSION SCHOOL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Petitions Have Been Circulated for School Next Year.

The college extension school in agriculture, which was held in Ironton during the past week, was successful beyond all expectation. The high character of the instruction was a surprise to many who have thought of these schools as being merely farmers' institutes on a bigger scale. The work in farm crops, soils and dairying was developed by careful steps, with due attention to every detail, and in such a masterly way that interest never lagged for a moment. Mr. Waldron's lectures on dairying were followed with unusual interest, and the value of this part of the instruction is beyond measure. Several men who attended were heard to remark that the school was the best thing of its kind which ever came to this county. The average attendance at the eight sessions was 62.

In view of the general satisfaction occasioned by this year's school, it isn't surprising that petitions have already been circulated to secure another school for next year. It is also planned to have a lady instructor who will give lectures and demonstrations in home economics. The Grange Hall at Ironton with its big separate dining room makes an ideal place for a combination school of this kind.

Extension schools in agriculture bid fair to supercede the one-time popular farmers' institutes. The superiority of the instruction is admitted by all. The only limit to the number of such schools at the present time seems to be the lack of funds.

Another View.

"I heard Bill was making money so fast that he had to give it up for a long rest."

"You heard it straight. He's in the penitentiary for counterfeiting."—Baltimore American.

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

LEGAL NOTICES

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 17th day of February, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Lewis, deceased.

Iva Lewis, having filed in said court her final administration account, and her petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is Ordered, That the 13th day of March, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
S13pd Judge of Probate.

The Business Start...

A strong, dependable banking association is invaluable to any business.

Our large resources, our efficient organization, our policy of hearty cooperation render an association with this institution particularly helpful to the young man just starting out upon his business career.

We aim to offer to new and growing enterprises something more than banking facilities—ENCOURAGEMENT.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan
We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

CONTRACT RADISH

Radish Seed is an easy crop to grow and gives good returns. We have a limited acreage yet to contract. We are also offering attractive prices for growing contract beans.

We furnish the seed.

The Everett R. Clark Seed Co.
East Jordan, Michigan
A. E. CROSS, Superintendent

ON SATURDAY MARCH 17

This $50.00 Renown Range will be sold to to the highest bidder. Bids will be received from now until 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the 17th. The bids will then be opened and the range sold.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

DOLLAR DAY WINDOW DISPLAY

BLANCHARD HARDWARE CO.'S WINDOW ATTRACTIVE.

Meggie (Doller Dey)Throws Torpedo Into Cergo of High Prices.

The display in the window of the Blanchard Hardware Company's store is attracting a great deal of attention of passers-by this week—thanka to the ingenuity of "Jeff." Cleverly worked out ia an ocean scene, worthy of mention.

Serenely sailing on the sea is the freighter, "Hardware Line," carrying munitions of war past Fort Murphy, where to the on-looker, Maggie is ever alert to signal the submarine D. 1 of the Blanchard Hardware Line.

The submarine has one torpedo tube and the operator can be acen ready to fire the projectile that will destroy the boat. It might be well to mention that the type of aubmarine used in this display is copied from the one-man submarine built by and in use by the German government. The torpedo that is used was manufactured by the Charlevoix Cigar Co., who are planning on the manufaeture of munitions of war.

Promptly at four bells, sea time, (ten o'clock) Saturday, March 17, Mnggie, representing Dollar Day, will give the command, at which time the torpedo will move through the water and strike the freighter, cnusing an actual explosion—thus announcing the opening of the Dollar Sale at this popular store.

At night the "Shamrock Light" will play its light along the coast and upon the fort, boat and submarine. Whistling buoys and bell buoys are in evidenee, giving full color to the ocean scene.

The display card announces the following, and the program will take plaee promptly at 4 bells, or 10 o'clock sharp.

Episode No. 5.
Maggie (Dollar Day)
Throws a Torpedo into HIGH PRICES
Actual explosion will occur
at 4 bells
March 17.

Subscribe for the Courier.

J. L. CRANE

Coats and Suits for the Clever Women

It takes all sorts of figures to make up "womankind"--and what an art it is to get garments, suitable to one's personality and correct to a button as to style.

The Clever ones among our trade, have causcd us to feature the Coats and suits made by The H. Black Company, notcd as the originators of Young Women's Styles for all women.

In the fruit country, there is a saying the early robin is the one that gets the sweetest cherries. In selecting a coat or suit the early buyer certainly gets the opportunity for a wider choice.

Wooltex Garments $15 to $35
S. & H. Garments $5.00 to $15

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Be pleasant in the morning until ten o'clock;
The rest of the day will take care of itself.

Earl Preston of Petoskey, spent the week end at the home of R. A. Emrey.

Mrs. H. B. Wood returned from a two weeks' visit to Chicago last Friday.

Miss May L. Stewart, county school commissioner, was in town Fridny of last week.

Alonzo Powers was called to Goshen, Indinna, Monday morning, by the serious illness of his mother.

Frank M. House of Boyne Falls, and H. B. Hipp of East Jordan, were in town Thursdny of Inst week.

Later report comes to us that the mother of Alonzo Powers died Mondny, at her home in Goshen, Indiann.

All the world loves a lover. See "Romeo and Juliet," at the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday evening, March 14.

Mrs. C. E. Bailey returned last week from Chicago and Kalamazoo, where she has been for the past ten days.

W. E. Hampton is in Pellston and Sault Ste. Marie this week on business conected with the grand lodge, Knight of Pythias.

Miss Mary Niles was absent from her school duties all last week, owing to a severe attack of the grippe. She is better now.

Mrs. H. A. Carr, who has been visiting with her son at East Jordnn for the past six weeks, returned to Charlevoix last Thursday.

Come and see Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bnyne in "Romeo and Juliet" at the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday evening, March 14.

The staff of Charlevoix Rebekah lodge is requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. hall, Saturday, March 10, at 2:30 p. m. Please be on time.

Lee Francis, and Indian girl, a step daughter of Joe Oliver of thia city, died at her home in Hayea township last Friday of tuberculosis.

"Romeo and Juliet" will be presented at the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday evening, March 14, under the auspices of the Junior class. Everybody come.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenman of Detroit, a seven pound boy, Sunday, March 4. Mrs. Greenman was formerly Miss Blanche Lewis of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crane and daugbter, Helen, leave for Chicago, today (Wednesday) where they will spend the month of March. Mr. Crane will take advantage of his stay in Chicngo to purchase spring and summer merchandise.

Mrs. J. P. Partridge entertained a party of about 22 ladies of her acquaintance at her home on Michigan avenue, last Saturday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. J. F. Reed of Grand Rapids, who expects to return to her home in that city shortly. The house was very nently decorated with smilax and lit by candles. A very enjoyable time was reported.

Mrs. John Kelly and son left Tuesday afternoon for Chicngo, where they will join Mr. Kelly and remain throughout the summer. Mrs. Kelly has rented her house on the south side to a Mrs. Myrtle Davy, who takes possession this week.

We understand that our good friend and county "booster," H. L. Bnrnum, has been selected as county agriculturnl agent for Missaukee county. Congrntulations, H. L. We know he'll make a good one, and wish him all possible success, although we are sorry to lose him.

L. E. Benton has sold the farm known as the George O'Brien place on the Norwood road to George VerSnyder, who owns the Totten farm directly across the road. This makes a very handsome increase to Mr. VerSnyder's holdings nnd puts his house exactly in the middle of his farm.

A petition, signed by many of our citizens, was presented to the council Mondny night, the object of which is to raise the dog tax to three dollars on males and five dollars on females, and requiring the muzzling of all dogs running nt large. Another good chance for some politicinn seeking office to use the dog question in nn attempt to increase his popularity.

* CHARLEVOIX MARKETS *

All quotatiôna are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1917.

Grains
White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.70
Red wheat, per bu.	1.75
Beans, per bu.	6.75
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.50
Oats	.66
Barley, per bu.	1.10
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.25
Shelled corn	1.15
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$11.00 to $13.00
Pork dressed	16.00
Calves, dressed	12.00 to 14.00
Live Poultry
Chickens, per lb.	$ .18
Turkeys	18 to 20c
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.30
Potatoes, per bu.	2.00
Honey per lb.	15
Salt, granulated	1.60

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS $12 SMITH-PREMIERS $12
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction book free. Empire Type Foundry Buffalo N Y

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

FOR SALE—Jersey and Grade Jersey heifer calves from good producing cows. Geo. Meggison, R. 1, Charlevoix, phone 167f5. 9tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—5 acre fruit and truck farm, on South State street. Would trade for farm. Phone 164f3, Charlevoix, Mich. 10tf

FOR SALE—10x30 Lansing hinge door silo. Eight months time without interest. Fred White, Charlevoix No. 2, phone 117f4. 10t3pd

WANTED—To rent for the summer of 1917, cottage on the north side. Will not consider Dixon Ave. Mrs. Leonard S. Florsheim 5018 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. 8tf

WANTED—Cabinet makers, bench and machine bands for large woodworking plant. Good wages. steady employment. No labor trouble. The Hamilton Mfg. Co., Two Rivers, Wisconain. 7t6

WANTED—Single man for general farm work. Must be able to milk. Year round work. State age, experience, salary expected, give reference. Wallace Bros, Bay Shore, Mich. 9tf

FOR SALE—Farm of 50 acres, all under cultivation, 11 miles from Charlevoix, 4 miles from Ellsworth, in Holland settlement. Large bank barn, good house, orchard and well. Terms reasonable. Inquire Courier office. 10t1pd

FOR SALE OR RENT—My farm of 47 acres, 2 miles south of Charlevoix, on County Road. Also 10 acres, separate from farm, with 2 acres of red rsspberries for sale. Will sell stock and tools. Terms reasonable. Inquire of Mrs. J. H. Blackwood, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 1. 9t4

FOR SALE—Elegant furnished house on Michigan avenue and Lake Michigan. Location perfect. Rented for next season for $750. Purchaser gets $650 of it. Sickness in family reason for selling. Best bargain on North side. House will pay for itself after first payment. Come early or it will be gone. J. Milo Eaton, Real Estate. 10t2

MARCH 17th

SPECIALS FOR $1 DOLLAR DAY

MARCH 17th

For Dollar Day we are making some exceptionally good flyers. Some of which are the following:

Any Stove or Range in stock at 15 per cent off from the regular price. This means a saving to you on each $7.50 purchase of

$1.00

2-50c bottles, either O'Cedar, Scotch or Liquid Veneer Polish and a good triangle Polish mop all for $1.00

$1.25 large size O'Cedar Polish Mop, for $1.00

$1.25 Folding Ironing Board for $1.00

$1.25 Folding Sewing Tables for $1.00

$1.50 and $1.25 Alumiumware for $1.00

3 packages Hygiene Kalsomine for $1.00

A 5 gallon kit of good barn paint and a good 4 inch brush all for $5.00

Any piece of Furniture in stock at 10 per cent off our regular price. This means a saving on each $10.00 purchase of $1.00

REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE

March 17th Dollar Day March 17th

S. M. SEE & SONS

THE RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, March 13

"THE SUNBEAM"

Mable Talaferro

METRO

Thursday, March 15

"HONOR THY NAME"

Triangle Feature and Keystone Comedy

...GROCERIES...

That are Fresh and Wholesome

It is the aim of this store to sell only the first-class lines of groceries, and this season will find our stock even better than in the past. While the prices have advanced during the past few months we can still sell our lines at the lowest margin, thus giving our trade the best goods at only a small raise in price. You have traded here perhaps only a little, and to encourage a larger business we have decided to make a square deal proposition to you. Try us on your next order. If we please you tell your friends—if we do not satisfy you tell us and we will make things right.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

ELLSWORTH MICHIGAN

Are You Going Paint Paint? Paint

That is a vital question for every Property owner—Farmer or Home Owner

If your buildings need paint on the outside we can give you the right dope for that work. If the inside of your home needs redecorating get in under the spring rush, select your materials of us. We carry the best inside paints on the market. For those walls use Alabastine, better than paper, and can be used in many different ways. Our color cards will give you suggestions quicker than we can tell you about it in this advertisement.

Our Special Offer

We have two cutters and one pair bob sleighs which we will sell for COST—rather do this than carry them over till next season. Come in and let us tell you our plan.

W. A. BOSS

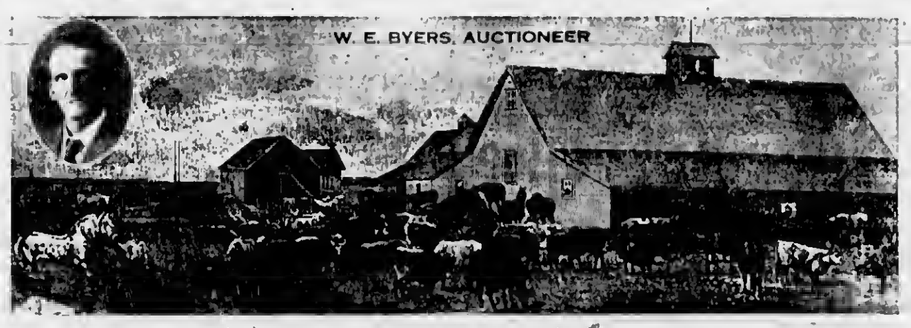
ELLSWORTH - MICHIGAN

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm one mile south of Ellsworth or five miles north of Central Lake, on

Monday, March 19th '17

Commencing at 12:30 p. m., the following described property:



Gray Mare, 11 years old, weight 1400
Gray Mare, 16 years old, weight 1400
Cow, 9 years old, will be fresh first of April.
Cow, 9 years old, farrow.
50 Chickens.
Lumber Wagon, box and spring seat
Single Buggy.
Pair Lumber Sleighs, 6 foot bunks, Traverse City make.
Mowing Machine Plow.
Osborn Horse Rake.
Springtooth Harrow.
Springtooth Cultivator.
Two-shovel Cultivator.
Garden Cultivator Grain Cradle
Grass Seed Sower.
31 bushels Corn.
10 bushels of Oats.
Quantity of Hay.
Small amount of Buckwheat.
Single Harness.
Two sets heavy Work Harness, one nearly new.
Small Coal Stove.
5-gallon Barrel Churn.
9 yards Ingrain Carpet.
9 yards Rag Carpet.
Globe Washing Machine.
Standard "A" Talking Machine with 25 single and 24 double records.
Calf Crate Hay Rack.
Whiffletrees Neck Yokes.
Seed Potatoes.
Many other small articles.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, eight months time on good approved bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Wm. Cole, Proprietor

H. J. TIMMER, Clerk W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

W. S. RICHARDSON, Note Clerk

ELLSWORTH ITEMS OF INTEREST—WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG

Taken From Central Lake Paper Under Date of May 19, 1896.

Ed VanOrman is putting a wall under his house. George Fink is slinging the mud.

Mrs. N. A. Shores and daughter of Norwood, visited at the hotel one day last week.

Quite a good many drunk and disorderly on our streets last week.

Chas. Vaugn of Empire, visited in Ellsworth one day last week.

Several of the nice little boys attended a dance at Torch Lake last Saturday evening.

F. H. Skow loaded several cars of telegraph poles at this place last week.

All the cases in which we were interested for this term of court were either continued or discontinued. The mill of the Gods grind exceedingly slow and not very fine.

There were several persons ready and willing to make complaint against the saloon running so openly in our village, but that it would accomplish nothing under the present regime.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1917.

Grains
White whent, per bu.	$ 1.60
Red wheat, per bu.	1.65
Beans, per bu.	7.00
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Garden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New Oats	.60
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.00
Shelled corn	1.00
Dressed Meats
Cattle, fatted	$11.00
Calves, dressed	$13.00
Pork, dressed	16.00
Produce, Vegetables, Fruits
Butter, per lb.	$ .33
Eggs, per doz.	.32
Honey, per lb	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	2.00
Salt, per bbl.	1.65

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.
Sunday school 1:30 p. m.
E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sundny school.
2:30 p. m.—Preaching.
Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.
Services—11:00 n. m., Sunday school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.
7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.
7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The second grade have finished their readers.

The third grade have just finished their arithmetics and are now working on review.

The primary and intermediate rooms were excused Monday morning on account of a smoky stove. They are deciding the difference between being smoked out and freezing out.

Please do not rely on hearing the school bell to send children to school. The family clock should be the time recorder.

The ninth grade are working on typical fruits in their course on botany.

Lena Martin was absent Monday afternoon on the account of having an aching tooth.

The seventh and eighth grade are finishing their year's work in physiology.

Carload of Horses.

We will arrive in East Jordan about March 15th with a car load of young horses suitable for farm and draft purposes. Every horse will be guaranteed to be exactly as represented. They may be seen at Smith's Livery and Sale Stable. Cash or on time. Come in and look them over. Smith & Kling,
1011 East Jordan, Mich.

See us for your Job Printing.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

ESSEX NOTES.

D. Bowman is visiting in Alden.

Ed Tillotson attended the school board meeting at Bellaire, Thursday.

Mrs. Roger Speyer spent Wednesday at the home of Mrs. N. Dekkenga.

Winnie and Maggie Cooper spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. G. VanderArk.

Mrs. N. Dennis was called to Rapid City last week Tuesday, on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. O'Dell.

ESSEX SCHOOL NOTES.

The second grade is daramtizing "The Ant and the Grasshopper."

The children are all enjoying "Freckles," which is being read in school.

The following children received 100 per cent for a week in spelling: George Dekkenga, Wilhelmina Cooper, Goldia Dennis, John Tillotson, Vercie Bowman, Lila Bowman, Ida Hennip, Jerry Aardema and Maggie Cooper.

The second and third graders are learning to tell time.

The seventh grade is working on square root, which they find very interesting.

Political Announcement.

To the Voters of the Township of Banks:

I wish to place my name before the voters of Banks township as a candidate for the office of Highway Commissioner. If nominated and elected, I will endeavor to fill the office in a manner satisfactory to all.
Adv.10t1 George Heller.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the kindnesses shown us and the expressions of sympathy during the late bereavement for our loved ones who have passed to the great beyond.

Glen C. Townsend,
Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Post and Children.
Mrs. Lucia Holliday and Children. 10t1

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

C. Blanchard of Rock Elm, purchase some hay of the Wright Brothers this week.

Miss Lottie Wright was entertained at the Chellis home, south of Ellsworth, Friday night.

It begins to look as if spring was near, as we have been hearing crows during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and son, Glen, of Ellsworth, spent Sunday at the Isa Alward home.

Leo Stevens, who was employed by Thos. DeMoulpied year before last, is visiting there at present.

Miss Mary Boice of Central Lake, was entertained at the Wright residence Monday, as the guest of Miss Ruth Chellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. DeMoulpied were called to Kewadin, Sunday, on account of the serious illness of J. C. Hull of that place.

The following is a poem written by Andrew J. Bergsma of Detroit, in memory of his sister, who passed away March 4, 1913: Andrew says he is coming back to the farm in the spring. Doesn't like the city.

A dear beloved sister, who passed away
Four years ago today.
Dearest sister, how we've missed you
In the years that have just rolled by.
You have left us, sad and lonely,
For a home up in the sky.
Your gone, sister, but not forgotten,
We saw her suffering, heard her sighs,
With aching heart and weeping eyes.

We saw her sinking, hour by hour,
Yet could not stay Death's awful power,
But now she calmly sleeps at last,
All pains, aches, all sufferings past.
God called her home. It was his will,
But in our hearts she dwelleth still.
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hour she passed away.

School Notes.

Miss Mary Boice of Central Lake visited school last Monday and Tuesday.

We are glad to see little Ida Bergsma's smiling face back in school after her illness.

WILDWOOD.

Not much news this week.

A. Miller was home from Camp 31 over Sunday.

Jack Parsons of Atwood was in this neighborhood a couple of days last week.

Mrs. Charles Cornwell and two small daughters, returned from Detroit last week.

Jim Wilson marketed buckwheat on Tuesday, having finished threshing on Monday last.

PLEASANT HILL.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feilstra spent Saturday visiting at Essex.

Mr. and Mrs. Feringa and Mr. and Mrs. Dekkenga of Essex, spent Friday at the Feilstra home.

Charles Stevens and sister, Mrs. John McElroy of Phelps, spent Thursday with their sister, Mrs. Reed Genett.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seymour of Charlevoix, visited with the latter's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Genett on the Larsen farm, last Monday and Tuesday.

John Prince and Albert Feilstra spent Wednesday hunting at Essex, it being the last day of the hunting season for this winter, but we did not see any rabbits, so we think that they were poor hunters or they were hunting for something besides rabbits.

Will DeForest, who is cutting wood at Camp 31, had a very serious accident last Sunday, when he cut his foot with an axe, and but for the timely arrival of Dr. Parks of East Jordan, would have bled to death, as he had cut one of the large arteries. The doctor had to take 16 stitches in the wound. Mr. DeForest will be laid up for some time.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

G. C. Townsend was in East Jordan over Sunday.

Maud Best apent Sunday with her parents at Alden.

Ralph and Albert Larsen were in Charlevoix last Saturday.

School Commissioner Belding was in Ellsworth on Tuesday.

Russell Doane spent Thursday and Friday of last week in Petoskey.

Mrs. Wm. Cole is spending the week in East Jordan and DeWard.

Jake Klooster was in Williamsburg on business one day last week.

Paul Alkema is home again after working in Chicago the last three months.

S. S. Sigler of Central Lake, was in Ellsworth on business the first of the week.

Miss Carrie Dean of Boyne City, is spending a few days with her parents at this place.

Dell Bowman started for Alden last Thursday morning for a weeks' visit with his sister.

D. E. Clow was in Bellaire on Thursday, attending a county meeting of school directors.

Several sleigh loads of bill board timber was unloaded at Ellsworth on Monday of this week.

Mrs. John Parsons is greatly improved and is now able to be up and about the house again.

August VanderArk returned this week, after spending nearly a year visiting relatives in the west.

Mat Routely was visiting his brother and other friends at Bellaire two or three days last week.

Guy Woodard has decided to work in the mill at Pellston for a few weeks before returning to Ellsworth.

Miss Grace Grey of Central Lake was visiting friends in and around Ellsworth from Friday until Monday.

Henry Black was at home over Sunday from his wood job on the Thomas Matchett farm near Norwood.

Jack Hart and Dan McKinley of East Jordan, were in Ellsworth a few days last week working at the salting station.

Mrs. Charles Cornwell and children have returned from Detroit, where they have been visiting the last six weeks.

The many friends of Mrs. Bert Newland of Detroit, will be pleased to learn that she is recovering nicely from her recent illness.

Frank Larsen spent a part of last week at his farm east of town, going from there to East Jordan and returning by way of Bellaire.

Several officials of the Libby, McNeal & Libby Canning Co. were in town on Tuesday on business connected with the salting station at this place.

Herman Tornga and John VanStrallon are now full fledged citizens of the United States. They were in Bellaire last week where they received their final papers.

Ralph Larsen is in town visiting his relatives for a few days before he and his father start for Racine, Wisconsin, from which place they will sail on the great lakes this summer.

Mrs. Tracy Boss has been very ill following the birth and death of her baby boy, which arrived Sunday evening, February 25. However, she is much better now and is improving rapidly.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Max A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

Spring is Coming...

Nature and instinct tells us that soon the season of spring time will be at hand and with it will come the warm rains. RAIN—that emphasizes the point that we wish to discuss. When the rain patters and the walks are wet you will need something to keep you dry.

Rain Coats and Shoes

A new Rain-Proof Coat is what you will want and this store affords you the opportunity of buying such a garment that will keep off the worst rain downpour you were ever in.

Our shoes are good, durable leather goods that will resist the water, then, too, we have rubbers that go with them. Come in and see what we have to offer you in the new spring goods. No shop worn stocks to dispose of but the best new spring lines obtainable.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

Ellsworth Section

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

The large ware house at Bates, belonging to the John Fitch Co. of Traverse City, burned to the ground last Wednesday morning. About 800 bushels of potatoes were deatroyed.

Frank Louiselle of Phelps wns in Ellsworth on business last Saturday. He states that he with his parents are getting nicely settled in their new home and are well pleased with their purchase.

G. C. Townsend's mother, Mrs. Post, and his sister, Mrs. Riker, returned to their home at Litchfield, last Thursday. His brother, Floyd, returned at the same time to his home at Bitely, Michigan.

Mrs. Chas. Campbell, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Grey of Saginaw, arrived in town on Thursdny and are quartered at the New Orient while Mrs. Campbell is making arrangements for the future.

G. C. Townsend left for Traverse City last Monday morning, going from there to his old home at Litchfield, where he will visit relatives and friends for a few days. He expects to be gone about a week.

Miss Lillian Patterson entertained the L. M. U. last Saturday evening. Dr. H. P. Struik and George Hunter, suspended some time ago for non-payment of dues, have been reinstated and are once again members in good standing.

Word was received here last Friday of the death at Rapid City of Mrs. Odell, at the home of her son, Erneat. Mrs. Odell had been in ill health for some time, so her death was not entirely unexpected. Her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Dennis, has been with her for some time.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church entertained two sleigh loads of the league from Central Lake, last Friday evening at Boss hall. The evening was spent in games and music and after refreshments were served, the visitors started on their return trip, well pleased with their reception.

Several from this place are planning on going to Central Lake the night of Mnrch 14, to hear J. A. Burns, commonly called "Burns of the Mountains," who will appear as one number on the High School Lecture Course. Mr. Burns is no stranger in Ellsworth, as he spent the summers of 1913 and 1914 as a guest at the New Orient Hotel at this place, and made friends of all with whom he came in contact.

Word was received here last Friday that L. Aardema had sufferod through fire, the loss of his house, together with all or practically all his household goods. Mr. Aardema formerly lived at this place, but moved to Phelps about one year ago. Particulars of the fire have not been learned other than that it was caused by a defective stove pipe and occuring in the middle of the night as it did, there was no chance to save anything. This is a bad loss for Mr. Aardema, as we understand he carried no insurance.

MRS. O'DELL DEAD.

Buried at Elk Rapids—Four Children Survive.

Mrs. Anna Malissa Odell, whose maiden name wns Wood, was born in Oswega, N. Y., May 9, 1848, and died at South Milton, March 1, 1917, aged 68 years, nine months and 19 days. She was mirried to Hiram Odell, August 23, 1865, who preceeded her to the heavenly home.

Twelve children were born to them, of which are living, Frank and Ernest of Kewadin, Mrs. Nellie Dennis of Ellsworth, and Gilbert of East Jordan. She also has 21 grand children living.

She moved to the Grand Traverse region 65 years ago with her parents in the pioneer days, having lived in this vicinity ever since. She gave her heart to God and united with the M. E. church 40 years ago, and has been a faithful member and devoted Christian up to the time of her death. She had been in failing health the past two years, but patient in all. Her last hours were sweetened with the special presence of the spirit of comfort, and she died in the triumphs of a loving faith. She was a good wife, an affectionate mother, a kind neighbor. She will be greatly missed.

The funernl wns held from the Kewadin M. E. church, March 3, Rev. Priestly, officiating, assisted by her pastor, Rev. S. Brooks. Undertaker Chappelle of Alden wns in charge. The remains were laid to rest in the Elk Rapids cemetery.

ANTRIM.

Roley Baumbach put up his ice supply this week.

Rev. Wm. E. Smith was a most welcome caller in Antrim this week.

The neighbors met this week and had an old fashioned "sing" and an enjoyable social time.

Lester Brooks has purchased a rifle. We shall expect to see great trophies now, of his prowess.

ANTRIM CITY SCHOOL NOTES.

The eighth grade are reviewing denominate numbers this week.

One of the primary pupils gave a reason for the farmers selling their mules, that they wiggled their front ears and he was afraid they might kick up behind.

The Antrim City school will invite the Norwood and Atwood schools to a spelling and cipher match on Friday afternoon, March 16.

Earl Baumbach was absent from school Monday.

Irving Rice visited school Friday.

Misses Esther and Mary Parsons were absent last week on account of sickness.

Those who were neither absent nor tardy during the month ending March 9, were: Harold Stoel, Vern Baumbach, Lester and Grace Brooks, and Alfred Brooks.

Roley Baumbach has the la grippe.

Mr. Morse went to Eastport Friday night.

Harry Parsons was a visitor at Atwood Sunday.

Good nttendance at Sunday school Sunday. Why don't we all try and go?

We are all in hopes of having our achool cleaned before long. We are in need of a new stove and stove pipe, also new chnir and desk for the teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stoel of Holland, are the proud parents of a baby boy.

Our teacher, Mr. Morse, is boarding on the European plan, rooming at Mr. Brant's and boarding at Mr. Montgomery's.

Effie Mason has been absent from school on account of illness.

We are all glad to hear that Harold Stoel is now uncle. He has two new nephews.

Mary Parsons has been entertaining the grippe for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Stoel called on Mr. Rice and family Sunday.

Mr. Rice and family expect to move to Central Lake soon.

We want to buy your wood. Come in and see us. Ellsworth Produce Co.—Adv.7tf.

NARROW ESCAPE OF FAMILY IN BAD FIRE

Home Occupied by L. Aardema Burned Wednesday Morning.

Having to scurry out of a burning home at 2:00 a. m. in the morning was the experience that L. Aardema and family of Phelps had on Wednesday morning of last week. When the family awoke the house, owned by C. VandenBerg of Phelps, was a mass of seathing flames, and the occupants only had barely time enough to escape in their night clothes. Nothing was saved, even the dog was burned in the home of his master.

A pitiful plight in connection with the destruction of the home, is the fact, that Mrs. Aardema, who had been in poor health all winter, had to be carried from the house. The family had to walk three-quarters of a mile to the home of C. VandenBurg for shlter. No insurance was carried and the family is now destitute, with only what clothing was donated for the time being.

Friends are asked to help the destitute family and any one having furniture or old clothing they can spare are asked to contribute to this family in their hour of need. Mr. Aardema has no definite plans for the future, but as he is a man of sterling ambition, will put forth every effort to overcome the present distressed condition of himself and family.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

MILES DISTRICT.

Burdette Evans was hurt quite bndly recently, from n fall on the ice.

We are reading "Anne of Green Gables." We all like Anac very much, with her keen sense of imagination.

Miss Bessie LaLonde has returned to her school work in East Jordan. She was absent last week on account of the illness of her father.

The school is planning on a sleigh ride party as soon as the ronds are fit for traveling. So we are all anxiously waiting for good roads.

It never rains hut what it pours. I believe this wns what Mrs. LaLonde and fnmily thought when they had ten visitors on one Sunday.

Notice.

H. J. Timmer having withdrawn ns n candidate for township clerk, I desire to offer my name as a candate for township clerk at the caucus, March 10. D. E. Clow. Adv10t1.

Ellsworth Grange.

The last meeting of the Ellsworth Grange was held March 3. The stereoptieon lecture wns attended by a large audience and seemed to be immensely enjoyed.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held Saturday afternoon, March 17. The program will be as follows:

"My Favorite Cookie Recipe," ladies of the grange.

Discussion on the Federal Farm Loans, Grange.

Discussion on the best breeds of farm horses, men of the Grange.

SERVICE

The busy season is almost here and the word service means something. We are here to serve you in a courteous, prompt and efficient manner. We still have a few Mackinaws and sheep-lined Coats to dispose of at a big discount. Our clover and grass seeds have arrived and are priced right for quality seeds. Get our prices before you buy.

Henry Klooster

Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3 and 15-22

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD.

Atwood has had its turn at last,
The news is coming thick and fast.
We used to say a dead town here have we,
But now we cannot even see
Why we thought so in the past.

The reason, folks, is bat too true,
Where one before the news sent in
The village now has two.
And when no news about another,
They can always write about each other.

Hilar Whitney of Mapleville, was in the village Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. Smith were in Atwood Tuesday of last week.

Henry and Graddus Petter made a business trip to Ellsworth Tuesday.

Rev. Pickart put up some ice nnd was supplied with it by a "bee' last Friday.

John VanHouten bought a quarter of beef at the village store on Tuesday.

M. VanderHeide has been hauling some more logs to Genett's mill at Jangleville.

Elzinga Bros., Adam Martin and H. Klooster have all put up ice the past week.

Alex Klooster expects to move to his father's place in Mapleville in a week or so.

C. DeVries delivered a cow to H. Klooster, Monday, and J. Petter brought two veal.

Elzinga Bros. have one of the largest skidways of wood logs ready to cut in the neighborhood.

Miss Hattie Zylstra and her "friend" called at the home of Paul Veenstra last Tuesdny evening.

John Hofman visited with relatives in Atwood last week, after his return from southern Michigan.

E. VanderStreek and H. Pol are busy cutting down the shade trees on Rev. Haan's farm north of Atwood.

S. Bystra and son, Lynn, have been cutting their supply of wood on E. A. Carlisle's place this winter.

The past week has been "visiting week." Everybody seems to be paying their calls before spring comes.

Edwin Bowers, "sub" mail man on Route 2, Central Lake, gave us a glimpse of his sunny smile last Saturday.

Andrew E. took Jennie Z. out for a cutter ride last Sunday afternoon. Look out for Albert, nnd don't tip over again.

Miss Rose Essenberg, who has been ill for quite a while, has so far recovered as to be able to attend church, Sunday.

Sam VanHouten has been hauling hay to Ellsworth during the past week. He brought home a disc harrow on one of his trips.

John Bos hauled a load of oilmeal from Ellsworth on Tuesday of this week. He sold what potatoes he had left of last years' crop on the same trip.

Miss Anna Petter is spending a few weeks vacation with her folks. She expects to return to Grand Rapids, where she has been employed this winter.

Rather cold for this time of the year, but it did not keep the folks at home Sunday. Both meetings at the Christian Reformed church were well attended.

John Koster bought one of E. VanderStreek's cows the other day. Mr. VanderStreek is going to practice general farming next season besides his dairy work.

Will and John Hofman returned from their trip south last Saturday. They didn't trade off their Fords at the auto show. Report seeing lots of people and had a good time.

G. Stoel and Capt. Brant of Antrim City were in town last week. Cap. bought a ton of hay before leaving Atwood. Chance for some kind of a deal most any time one comes.

The L. A. S. of the Christian Reformed church met at the John Essenberg home last Thursday. A very good meeting was reported and all but two of the members were present.

The service at the M. E. church was well attended Sunday morning. It will soon be so the people can use their automobiles and those living at a distance will be able to come every Sundny.

The oilman was in town Tuesday from Charlevoix. He said the roads were the worst of the season. Gas going still higher. Wonder if the Ritman process of refining will not bring it down.

All the young people's meetings were resumed the past week and needless to say the young people liked it. Nothing like getting out evenings, except when its blowing a gale and 20 below zero.

Anyone going by P. Visser's place will notice quite a few of the apple trees cut down. Eight rows cut down clean across the orchard. Seems too bad to destroy as much work as was put into that orchard.

Miss Rose Klooster arrived home last Thursday from her trip. She visited with relatives in Nebraska, Indinna and southern Michigan. Seems good to see her back of the counter after her six weeks vacation.

Mrs. Henry Brusse of Holland, Michigan, nccompanied her niece, Rose Klooster, to visit with relntivea in this section. Mrs. Brusse accompanied Rose on her entire trip and will stay at the Klooster home in Atwood for about three weeks.

Five teams hauled ice for Albert Sneller Tuesday. Albert has some system in packing his ice. He appoints all of his men over the job and you ought to see them work. Gerrit Essenberg was superintendent, Alex Klooster, manager, John Faber, gang boss, Joe Veenstra, foreman, and Albert was the only man in the whole gang.

At last the party is over with. It was held in the city hall and was well nttended. It was given by Andrew Essenberg and it certainly was a success. A fine crowd was out and the evening wns spent in gamea, etc. The young ladies brought refreshments and helped serve them. They all agree it was the best party of the season and all are anxious for another one soon.

Why pay the Peddler or Canvasser Twice These Prices?

You can save a good deal of money by buying your stock tonic at this store, instead of paying the peddler big, fancy prices for goods of unknown quality. Look at these prices for that old reliable and guaranteed stock conditioner and worm expeller.

DR. HESS STOCK TONIC

25-lb. pail costs $2.00
100-lb. drum costs $6 50

Remember, we have no peddler's wagon and horses' expenses to pay. That's why we can sell you Dr. Hess Stock Tonic at these rock-bottom prices.

Here is another point, Mr. Farmer, we want to emphasize, that is: Dr. Hess Stock Tonic is highly concentrated; it goes farther, as the small dose quantity proves. Dr. Hess Stock Tonic is to put your animals in a thriving condition, make the ailing ones healthy and expel the worms—otherwise you get your money back right here at our store. We also handle

Dr. Hess Dip and Disinfectant
Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a
Dr. Hess Instant Louse Killer

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We will have on hand the following seeds to let on contract in the spring:

White Beans
Light and Dark Red Kidney Beans
Garden Beans of most any variety
Buckwheat and Peas

That we will let you have and you can pay for your seed when you sell your crop. Come in and talk it over with us.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

W. R. NELSON, Manager

PHONE 35 ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries
Come to this store for Clothing
Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS

Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

This is the Stove Polish YOU Should Use

IT'S different from nthers because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.

Black Silk Stove Polish

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.

All we ask is a trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
Sterling, Illinois

Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel on grates, registers, stove-tops—Prevents rusting. Use Black Silk Metal Polish for silver, nickel or brass. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

"A Shine in Every Drop"

FARMERS:

DEPOSIT your cream and produce checks on a checking account at your home Bank. Let us explain to you this system of doing business properly and see if at the end of a year you are not satisfied. You will have a complete record of all transactions. Any deposit over $5 will be accepted as a first deposit on a checking account.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth

McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $300,000.00
G. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH

We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Accounts if Left 3 Months

On Dollar Day Mar. 17

We would like to have everyone in the City to try our New Bread

It is Better than any in the City. We feel justified in making this request. We have the goods behind the above statement. We have paid our taxes (to help support the city.) Have met all requests for Charity with an open hand. Have made all church donations requested Cheerfully and feel we are entitled to a fair proportion of the City's trade in our line. Our present facilities for giving you Superior Goods and Service is unsurpassed.

Our Products are all Fresh every day. They are not made one day, allowed to stand over night to cool and then shipped two or three hundred miles to be handed out to you 36 or 72 hours after they are made.

We will give you on DOLLAR DAY our Profits and sell you,

10 Loaves of Fresh Bread for..... $1.00

10 Dozen Cookies for..... $1.00

8 Dozen Fried Cakes for..... $1.00

and any other 12c articles in our line 10 for the Dollar

Give Us A Fair Consideration

McCann's Bakery

Telephone 155 Charlevoix, Mich.

The DOLLAR SALE IS ON

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

H. O. Bisbee, president of the People's State Bank of East Jordan, was in the city Tuesday.

F. R. Williams, of Clink & Williams of Elk Rapids, was in the city on business Tuesday.

James H. Stephenson of Boyne Falls, and Thomas L. Bryant of Pellston, were in the city Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Harry Oldham and the Misses Irene and Mary Finucan expect to leave Monday for Detroit on an extended trip.

Frank Bearss, who has been seriously ill at the Hurley Hospital, in Flint for the past week, is now reported better.

G. W. Priest left Sunday for Detroit to attend the photographer's convention in session at that place this week. He expects to return to this city the last of the week.

Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Wilbur returned Tuesday evening from Chicago, where they have been spending the past three months on a visit to their son and daughter.

Wait until you see the greatest bargain in an automobile, the new Model 90 Overland at $665.00.—Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

New Type of Light Dome.

A dome made of china and designed by manufacturers of art ware and decorative dinner sets for use with electric lamps is now being placed on the market. The dome is made of opaque china, a high grade clay being used in its manufacture. The body of the dome is snowy white, and the surface, both interior and exterior, is provided with a velvety glaze. Domes of this type can be embellished with a variety of decorative colors, and as the colors are burned in the china, the decorations do not deteriorate or become tarnished.—Electrical World.

Protecting Polished Steel Surfaces.

A coating that will protect hardware and machinists' tools from rusting may be made as follows: Mix well four ounces of dammar varnish with a half gallon of turpentine and dip the articles into it or apply as a wash. A thin coat of this colorless varnish will not show on the polished surfaces of tools, but will protect the surfaces indefinitely, unless scratched.

Before marriage her lips are sweet as honey; afterward her tongue stings like the bee.

The biggest and best car for the money—$665.00—is the new Model 90 Overland.—Benj. Bdown.—Adv. 10tf.

Setting Him Right.

Knick—Did that firm fail to pay its debts? Knock—It failed so it wouldn't have to pay them.—Chicago Herald

AN ORATION TO THE HIGH SCHOOL

With Apologies to Wm. Shakespeare and H. A. Craig.

Friends, Freshmen, and Sophmores, lend me your ears,
We came to scrub Limberg, not to spread it.
The evil that things do live after them,
The odor is oft scrubbed up with a mop;
So let it be with Limberger. The noble Craig
Hath told you it was odoriferous.
If it were so, it was a grevious fault
And greviously hath this Limberger answered it.
Here, under leave of Craig and the rest
For Craig is an honorable man,
So are they all, all honorable men.
Come we to scrub at Limberger's wake.
It was our friend, faithful and just to us,
But Craig says it was odoriferous:
And Craig is an honornble man.
It hath sent many sick ones home from school,
Whose lungs did with that odor fill;
Did this in Limberger seem odoriferous?
When the radiators were turned on, Limberger melted,
Limberger should be made of sterner stuff—
Yet Craig says it was odoriferous;
And Craig is an honorable man.
You all did see that in the assembly room
Miss Allen thrice presented it with perfume,
Which it did thrice refuse: was this odoriferous?
Yet Craig says it was odoriferous,
And sure he is an honorable man.
We speak not to disprove what Craig spoke,
But here we are to speak what we do know.
You all did love it once, not without cause:
What cause withholds you then to mourn for it?
O judgment, thou art fled to brutish beasts,
And men have lost their reason.
Bear with me;
My heart is in the mop-pail there with Limberger,
And I must pause till it comes back to me. —Contributed.

Buy that Harness when you can save $10.00 per set on a few that we have made when leather was cheap. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

Notice.

The caucus for Marion township will be held at the Town Hall, on Saturday, March 17, 1917, at 1:30 sharp, for the purpose of nominating the township officers and the transaction of any other business that may come before it.

William Withers,
Township Clerk.

Adv.10t2

Bargains for You.

Four h. p. Mogul Kerosene engine. Also one Reliance Cream Separator. Can be seen in operation. Charles J. Zeitler, corner Upright and Sheridan streets.—Adv.10tf.

Leather is high and still going higher. Buy that harness at the old price.—Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf

SUDAN GRASS IN KANSAS.

Good Results From Trial Plantings in That State.

[G. E. Thompson, Kansas station.]

Sudan grass, the new sorghum that received such widespread notoriety last year, is showing up well again in Kansas this year. The result of the trial plantings in all parts of the state shows that it is a crop that has come to stay.

In the western part of the state, where other tame grasses cannot be grown, Sudan grass can be used successfully. Although the grass is primarily a hay crop, careful tests from the standpoint of a pasture crop have been made by the branch experiment stations at Hays and Dodge City as well as by many farmers, and the results have been found promising.

Western Kansas farmers feel that in Sudan grass they have a crop that will add thousands of dollars to their profits every year, since it will afford a hay crop to the upland farmer that will mean as much to him as alfalfa means to the bottom land farmer. The crop has been successfully grown in Shawnee and other eastern counties.

Sudan grass bids fair to replace millets and canes as a hay crop in some sections of Kansas. Experiments have shown that under normal conditions two crops can be depended upon. The yield is larger than millet, being from four to five tons an acre. Furthermore, horses and cattle are fond of it and will leave almost any other kind of roughage for Sudan grass, cleaning up heads, blades and stalks. One farmer said in a letter to the agronomy department of the college in regard to the feeding value of the hay, "It makes good hay that horses and cattle fall in love with at first sight."

Some of the most desirable characteristics of Sudan grass are its drought resistant qualities, its ability to produce on thin land and its quick maturity under ordinary conditions. These qualities, coupled with the seemingly superior palatability, make the crop reasonably sure of a permanent place in Kansas agriculture.

Apply Lime to Fields.

Apply lime now to fields that are to be summer fallowed for fall seeding to alfalfa or clover, is the advice of R. I. Throckmorton, assistant professor of soils in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"If the soils are acid the lime should be applied to the preceding crops or from six months to a year before seeding to the legumes. This allows sufficient time for the weathering agents to start the sweetening of this kind of soil," asserts Mr. Throckmorton.

"Alfalfa and clover refuse to grow on acid soils because the bacteria that aid legumes by supplying them with available nitrogen from the air cannot thrive in these acid soils. Such soils are found in southeastern Kansas, and lime is the common way of correcting them.

"The safest form is finely ground limestone, because it cannot possibly injure the soil. Careless handling or too heavy applications of burnt or quick lime will injure the soil by burning out the organic matter. The amount of ground limestone to apply largely depends on the previous handling of the soil, but usually varies from two to four tons to the acre. One application in a four or five year rotation is sufficient for most soils.

"The lime should be used as a top dressing on plowed fields, and then it should be thoroughly worked into the soil with a harrow or disk. It may be scattered from a wagon with a scoop, spread with a manure spreader or applied by means of a regular lime drill."

Easily Constructed Marker.

A successful gardener makes his rows straight and the spaces between the rows uniform. It is not necessary to buy expensive equipment for small scale operations. Proper distancing between rows and straight alignment can be had by using the homemade contrivance shown in the accompanying drawing. A 2 by 4 inch piece of wood or even a lighter strip is spaced as desired, and wooden plugs, sharpened to a dull point with the pocketknife, are inserted into holes made by the auger. The plugs on one side are set farther apart than on the other. A series of holes may be made so that the plugs can be changed to give any desired distance between markings. Any kind of a handle is attached.—Orange Judd Farmer.

The Health of Trees.

Some eminent botanical writers have stated that if all the external factors which influence the growth of a tree are favorable there is no theoretical reason why it should not live in a healthy condition and increase in size indefinitely. If a tree were never attacked by insects or by organisms which cause decay and never injured or broken by storms there undoubtedly would be a much greater number of large and healthy trees than exist at the present time. However, this is not the case. Throughout its life a tree is subject to injury by insects, mechanical forces and disease and, like human beings, may become unhealthy as a result of improper food, air or water or an insufficient amount of any of these.

See us for your Job Printing.

PRELIMINARY REPORT WAS MADE

(Continued from page 1)

The committee takes a perfectly neutral stand, however, and is not committed to a contract with Mr. Richardi in any way. It is favorable to a continuance of contractual relations with the Charlevoix Rock Product Company, if a reasonable assurance can be had from the United States court at Grand Rapids, that the present arrangement with the Rock Product company will be continued, no matter what change may take place in its organization and condition.

It holds, however, that as between the Richardi plant and the Rock Product Company, there is but little to choose in the way of security for the performance of a contract to supply electric light and power, and is willing to concede the weight of the advantage of having a source of supply near at hand, which advantage lies with the Rock Product Company.

The action of the committee in revising this contract and presenting it to the citizens is not to be construed as in any way reflecting upon the common council, or as an attempt to usurp their prerogatives. Several members of the council have expressed their willingness to follow the wishes of the people in this matter, and it was merely with the idea of giving the people a chance to indicate their desires and stand behind their officers in their execution of the people's wishes, that the committee put this matter before them last Monday evening. According to provision made at the time of the creation of the committee, they were to report first to the people and then to the council.

General discussion followed the reading of the contract, the work of the committee was approved and the sentiment of the citizens was crystallized into action in motions made by Fred G. Bellinger and R. W. Kane.

Mr. Bellinger's motion was to the effect that the common council of the City of Charlevoix be requested to take immediate steps to learn the exact condition relative to the Charlevoix Rock Product Company's contract and the prospects for a continued supply of current to the city under the pending readjustment of the affairs of that company, and that the council be also requested to proceed at once to secure a determination of the rights of the parties under the old Richardi contract.

Mr. Kane's motion was that, "notwithstanding all action taken at this meeting; should the council insist on entering into a contract with Mr. Richardi, then, the committee are instructed to present the contract read by them to the meeting this evening and urge the adoption of a contract embodying the provisions of this contract and the committee's revised contract and substitute a sliding scale on all horsepower above five hundred which appears in the contract."

EVEN IF IT IS YOUR LAST

$

TAKE IT TO THE BLANCHARD HARDWARE CO. MARCH 17 WHERE DOLLARS TALK ON DOLLAR DAY

CRANE'S

KID GLOVES AT Wholesale Import Prices

We advise our Customers to purchase a year's supply at these prices.

"La Force" — Simmons highest quality French Kid Overseam Glove—
Black, White and Colors
Value Today, $2.40
Our price while our stock lasts $1.75

Simmons "Valence" & "Francis" French Lamb—Selected stock—
Black, White and Colors
Value Today, $2.00
Our price while our stock lasts $1.60

During this sale we will not fit Gloves. We will be pleased to take your measure, stretch and powder the gloves, but cannot fit them.

Benj. Brown Raises Lid on Canned Low Prices

DOLLAR DAY, MARCH 17th, will be a day of low prices at this store. Regardless of the advances in prices of merchandise we are making the following prices which are lower than the goods cost one year ago.

Heavy Canvass Gloves per dozen	$1.00	One inch Leather Halters each	$1.00
One-half doz. Men's $2.00 Vests each	$1.00	Bicycle Rubber Pedals pair	$1.00
Men's 25c Socks 5 pair for	$1.00	Rapid Fire Batteries 4 for	$1.00
Quantity of Men's $1.50 and $2.00 Sweaters, each	$1.00	Stock Remedy 3 packages	$1.00
Quantity of Boy's $1.50 Sweaters, each	$1.00	3 gallons good Ford Auto Oil	$1.00
Quantity of Men's $1.50 Pants each	$1.00	2 Champion X Spark Plugs	$1.00
Small assortment of Boy's Pants 2 pair for	$1.00	Good Auto Jack for	$1.00
$1.25 Suit Cases each	$1.00

DOLLAR DAY offerings that eclipse anything yet offered at this store, are selected for your benefit on March 17. If you want to make a Dollar do double duty come to us and let it work for you.

Benj. Brown

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35. NUMBER 11. 12 PAGES. CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1917. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

DOLLAR DAY SPECIAL OFFERS

MANY NOVEL DISPLAYS DRAW CROWDS TO WINDOWS.

Charlevoix Hardware, Benj. Brown and Erickson & Fowler Offer Sensational Features.

Dollar Day, Saturday, March 17, promises to be a better festival than its last year's predecessor, at any rate in volume of business done. Nearly every merchant on the street is taking part in the offering of bargains of one kind or another.

At the Charlevoix Hardware Co.'s store, bids on the fine $50.00 Renown range will be opened by the judges and the stove awarded to the person making the highest bid. They are also offering big bargains in a house-cleaning outfit that will be a boon to the housewife and many exceptional values in enamel and tinware.

S. M. See & Sons are putting up some fine aluminum ware and visitors to their store will find it newly decorated, as the painters have been busy there for the past two weeks.

At Benjamin Brown's garage you can buy a Lizzie on the installment plan—a dollar down and a dollar every day thereafter for 365 days until paid for, a cinch for the fellow who can do a little jitney work this summer, as he can almost pay for his car before half its purchase price is due.

Erickson & Fowler have a guessing contest. The tank on a Maxwell car will be filled with a gallon of gasoline and the engine will then be set running at a certain speed. The contestant will be required to guess how long the engine will run on the gallon of gas, guesses to be submitted on coupons attached to bills which will be distributed, and to the advertisement in this paper; to be all in by 1:30 p. m., Saturday. There will be first, second and third cash prizes distributed to those first three who come the nearest.

At Blanchard's, reductions will be made on a vast number of articles which will be located all over the store in different places, and you can go and hunt up what you want. Sure, the clerks will be glad to help you if you are not much of a hunter. Have you seen their new window display, showing the relative value of a dollar on Dollar Day, as compared with its ordinary purchasing power. The big dollar is the work of Mr. Allen and a pretty fair representation for one who doesn't pretend to be a counterfeiter.

The dry goods and grocery stores are offering wonderful values. C. Danto, we understand, will offer ten pounds of diamonds (no, excuse us—beans) for a dollar. Bet he keeps 'em in a safe deposit vault. Frazier has a large number of excellent bargains in shoes, despite the rapidly soaring price of leather, and you can pretty nearly stock up on groceries for the summer out of your week's wages at Mason's, Block's and Crandall's.

We haven't the time nor the space to touch on half the features and attractive chances to save money which will be presented to the people of this vicinity on Saturday next. Everyone should turn out and help make it a success, as every dollar you spend will not only mean a saving to you personally, but will put lots of cash in circulation right here in town, where we need its stimulating influence. Let's start the season right.

Oh yes, and at Hooker's garage Mr. Warren of Mt. Pleasant will speak. See our article elsewhere in this issue. He has a message for everyone of us, especially the farmer.

Wait until you see the greatest bargain in an automobile, the new Model 90 Overland at. $665.00.—Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

MRS. J. M. GLEASON DIED AT BATTLE CREEK

Wife of Presbyterian Minister of Boyne City.

Mrs. J. M. Gleason, the wife of Rev. J. M. Gleason of the Presbyterian church at Boyne City, who is well known to Charlevoix church people, died last Friday night at the hospital in Battle Creek from the effects of a critical operation from which she seemed to be rallying, but later suffered relapse.

The remains were taken to the early home of the deceased, at Pratt, Kansas, where funeral services will be held and the body interred; reaching there Monday. Services were held previous to the journey westward at the Presbyterian chapel in Battle Creek, by Dr. Barnes, the pastor there. Memorial services in Boyne City will be postponed until Dr. Gleason's return, which will be in about two weeks.

Mrs. Gleason held a responsible position in the schools of Tacoma, Washington, prior to her marriage with Dr. Gleason. Since coming to Boyne City with her husband she has been foremost in religious and social activities and had won the love and respect of the entire community. Charlevoix friends of the family extend their deepest sympathy to the bereaved husband, who was a frequent visitor to this city and who, like the beloved wife he has lost, is held here in the highest esteem.

S. M. ROSE ELECTED MAYOR

ZEITLER WINS BY ONE VOTE IN SECOND.

Washburn and Glassford New Aldermen for Next Two Years—Election Rather Quiet.

Of course while there are quite a number of us who know how the primary election came out, there are some who do not—anyway, it is interesting to have the figures. Here they are:

City at Large—Mayor.

Simon M. Rose	233
Andrew J. Ross	178
Total votes cast	411

City Clerk.

Charles H. Emrey	Entire vote

City Treasurer.

John Cook	Entire vote

Justice of the Peace.

James M. Felts	Entire vote

First Ward.

F. J. Meech, supervisor	60
Frank M. Glassford, Ald.	48
Daniel H. Swartz, Ald.	25
Total votes cast	73

Second Ward.

C. J. Zeitler, Sup.	102
J. L. Price, Sup.	101
Total votes cast	203
N. R. Washburn, Ald.	121
Olaf Nordrum, Ald.	81
Total votes cast	202

Third Ward.

H. Berdan, Sup.	Entire vote
G. C. Geiken, Ald.	Entire vote

The closest fight was in the second ward for the office of supervisor. While Zeitler won out by a single vote, Price certainly gave him a good run for his money.

J. J. Fagin returned Saturday evening from Los Angeles and Santa Monica, California, where he has been for the past four months. Mr. Fagin reports everything blooming and booming beautifully, except business. He says it is no place for the workingman.

B. A. Herman returned Friday afternoon from a month's trip to Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Berrien Springs and Chicago. While away, Mr. Herman purchased two new showcases and a showcase cabinet, a set of index drawers for drugs and medicines—a thoroughly up-to-date affair, which with the new soda fountain purchased last fall add very materially to the attractions and conveniences of this progressive store.

Wednesday, March 14.

Mrs. Anna Kenning Wood will reopen her store at 109 Bridge street, with a complete line of millinery. Spring opening announced later.—Adv.10t2.

HOTEL MICHIGAN SCENE OF DISASTROUS FIRE SUNDAY

George Bacot, Fireman, Falls Through Roof and Two Floors—Fire Boys Do Very Creditable Work—Half of Large Building Was Destroyed.

At 4:00 a. m., Sunday, the fire alarm sounded for another disastrous blaze at the Hotel Michigan—the second this winter. It is estimated by those who should know that the fire started at about 1:00 o'clock and had been burning for over three hours when first discovered.

Mrs. Rollio Lewis was the first to see the fire from the windows of her home on State street. She aroused her husband, who immediately got in touch with the telephone office, and discovered that no alarm had been turned in. By this time the rising flames showed their reflection against the Armstrong home and the other houses on the hill, and Mr. Lewis, noticing this, became strengthened in his first conjecture that it was the Hotel Michigan and called the central office the second time only to find that Policeman Howard, who saw the glare of the flames from afar and came on a run down Bride street, had already turned in the alarm at the Charlevoix. Dr. Armstrong, who had been up to the end of Antrim street on an early morning call, and was returning home, also saw the fire about the same time and started to run for the fire house, giving the alarm as he went. He reached the fire house and commenced ringing the bell there about the same time the big bell on the water tower started to boom out its dread summons.

When the firemen got to the hotel the fire was breaking through the roof, and the office and entire central portion of the building, with the exception of the dining room, were in a mass of flames. After a stiff fight of 45 minutes, the conflagration was checked, but not until one of the fire lads sustained a severe accident which will lay him up for some time.

Three firemen on the third floor started for a window. Between them and the window lay a gaping hole in the floor, which had been cut by one of the men at the previous fire. Pearl Johnson, the first of the trio, knew the hole was there and stepped over it, but had not time to warn George Bacot, who was following immediately on his heels. George fell through this hole and down through a hole in the second floor, (which strangely enough, had been cut during the last fire several months ago and lay directly under that on the third floor) landing on the hard composition flooring of the office. Three of his ribs were broken and one pierced the lining of his lungs, but at this writing he is reported as doing quite nicely.

The fire seemingly started in two places—in the rear of the office and in the cellar under the entrance to the dining room. The interior of the central portion is thoroughly gutted on all three stories; there are at least a dozen holes burned in the roof and such part as the fire did not reach is damaged by smoke and water.

The wood work on the second floor of the east wing, farthest away from the fire, was badly blistered, so great was the heat. What the damage is cannot at present be ascertained, but that it will be great cannot be doubted.

Little damage was done to the dining room and kitchen, as the fire seemed to have confined itself to the front part of the house and the north wing, which, next to the central portion, suffered the most.

No clear idea is held by anyone as to how the fire started. Rumours of an incendiary are going the rounds, but cannot be verified as yet. It is planned, however, to make a thorough investigation of the affair.

JOISTS SNAPPED LIKE MATCHSTICKS

UNDER WEIGHT OF TONS OF ICE AND WATER.

Roof of Hooker's Garage Gives Way to Heavy Strain——Loss About $200.00.

Trouble always comes in bunches they say. Following close on the heels of the Hotel Michigan fire came the collapse of the roof over the rear half of that part of the M. B. Hooker & Son garage which lies on State street and immediately adjoining the run-way to the stables on the ground floor.

The gradual slope of the roof over this portion of the building did not permit the water formed by the melting of the recent heavy snows to escape quickly enough to avoid freezing, and tons of ice were thus formed until Monday afternoon, at about four o'clock, the great burden then accumulated snapped thick joists and a beam like matchsticks, and brought down about 1400 square feet of the roofing, smashing a couple of buggies to splinters. A "Lizzie," belonging to Register of Deeds M. M. McDonald, that stood near the buggies, received some injuries about the top and a severe curvature of the fenders, but is still in good working order, as might be expected from these cat-like little vehicles of many lives. No injuries were sustained by any person in the building.

While to the casual eye the damage seemed great, the owners of the garage estimate their loss at from $150.00 to $200.00, including the cost of repairs to the roof and the loss of the buggies, which were in not very good condition.

Notice to Our Customers.

On and after April 1st, 1917, all customers must purchase tickets or pay cash for milk delivered. Bottles must be washed and returned daily or no milk will be left. Signed,

William Withers,
Wm. Shapton,
Elmer Ingalls,
John Martin.

Adv.9t4.

33RD REGIMENT ENTRAINS MAR. 20

TWO WEEKS ON RIFLE RANGE FOR BOYS.

Will Be Glad to See Michigan Again, Where They Expect to Get a Square Meal.

(By HAROLD W. USHER.)

El Paso, March 9.—The Thirty-third Regiment entrains from El Paso for Detroit on March 20th. This is the gist of orders received here tonight. Only ten more days on the border.

The good news was received by the boys with a great cheering and a big procession was formed, led by the regimental band. People up home cannot understand what an order like this means to boys who have been held here in the cactus and sand, unless they have gone through it themselves.

We have been on the rifle range for the last two weeks and have had to work from seven a. m. to six p. m. All mothers had better get busy and get a square meal together, as it is the first thing the fellows will head for. It's a long time since we've had one.

We are going home by the way of New Orleans on the Southern Pacific; also will go through Vicksburg, Nashville, Chattanooga and Columbus. This will make some trip and is regarded as the best route home given any troops which have been on the border so far.

Well, will have to make this short, as there is too much excitement to write. I will sure be glad to see old Michigan again.

Missionary Society.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Nellie Hinchey, Park avenue, on Friday, March 16, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Miller conducts the devotional service and Mrs. Paddock reviews the study book, "Our South American Neighbors." All are cordially invited.

LIZZIE SALESMANSHIP BECOMING AN ART

Benj. Brown and Assistant Keep Up Wonderful Record.

Talk about prosperity. Look at the following list of cars sold by the progressive Benjamin Brown agency since our last week's issue went to press. We predict that walking will soon become a lost art and legs go out of fashion if this keeps up. Here are the new purchasers:

A. B. Clarke, Eveline.
E. E. Orvis, Eveline.
Wilbur Spidle, Eveline.
Charles Pierce, Eveline.
William Wiles, Norwood.
F. E. Richardson, Norwood.
Guy Sneathen, Hayes.
Alonzo Powers, City.
Clarence Miller, City.

Most of these are farmers, too. Can't talk about unsophisticated "rubes" nowadays.

SURPRISED HER.

W. C. T. U. Ladies Remind President of Birthday.

About thirty friends of Mrs. S. J. Alcox, including members of the W. C. T. U., surprised her at her home on Antrim street Monday afternoon in honor of her birthday. A pot-luck supper was served. Everyone reported a fine time.

The lady whose anniversary they thus honored, was the fortunate recipient of many handsome presents—one of the most valuable coming from the members of the W. C. T. U., in token of the faithful service she has rendered for many years past as president of that organization.

DEATH AGAIN TAKES PIONEER

IN DEMISE OF MRS. MATHILDA JERICHOW.

Lived on a Farm in Hayes Township for Past Twenty-four Years—Funeral Monday.

Another of Charlevoix's early settlers, Mrs. Mathilda Jerichow, died at her home near Burgess, Hayes township, last Friday, March 9th, at 11:00 p. m. She was 75 years of age and suffered from cancer of the liver, for which she was operated upon about two years ago, but without success.

Mathilda Crull was born in Germany, March 6, 1842. She came to this country in the spring of 1868 and located in Wisconsin, from whence she came 24 years ago and settled on the farm in Hayes township, where she has lived with her son, Herman, since the death of her husband, Gustav Jerichow, who died in the spring of 1909.

Mrs. Jerichow leaves six children; three sons and three daughters, Gustav, Charles and Herman of Hayes, Mrs. Loren Hamlin of Hayes, Mrs. Emma Petoskey of Petoskey and Mrs. Alma Mock of Detroit. There are also four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She was a member of the German Lutheran church.

The funeral took place at the home of the deceased Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, Rev. Lloyd C. Vinyard, officiating. The body was taken to Brookside and placed in the receiving vault.

Regretfully, we watch the passing of a generation of pioneers, one by one like the falling leaves of autumn. Words can but feebly express the debt of gratitude that we of this day owe to those hardy, optimistic and courageous souls who braved the discomforts, dangers and hardships of a new country that we who were to follow might live in peace, plenty and prosperity. May their descendant lack no portion of that far-sighted faith and dauntless courage which has made our state one of the greatest in the Union.

Miller's Dollar Day Specials.

16 pkgs. Corn Flakes	$1.00
16 lbs. Head Rice	$1.00
5 doz. Oranges	$1.00
4 lbs. Oleomargarine	$1.00
12 lbs. Ginger Snaps	$1.00
1 gal. Olives	$1.00

Adv.11t1 Mrs. B. W. Miller.

Bargain for You.

Four h. p. Mogul Kerosene engine. Also one Reliance Cream Separator. Can be seen in operation. Charles J. Zeitler, corner Upright and Sheridan streets.—Adv.10tf.

REGULAR MEETING HELD FRIDAY

W. C. T. U. SESSION WAS WELL ATTENDED.

One Hundred and Twenty-five Boquets and Fruit Sent Out by Flower Mission.

The meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which was held at the home of Mrs. N. A. Shores on Friday last, was well attended. The "Crusade Psalm" was read (the 45th) followed by prayer and roll call.

The committee reported to look after the page of Equal Suffrage matter, reported that the ladies who formerly belonged to the Equal Suffrage association paid one half of the amount of having a page of plate matter printed in the Charlevoix Courier, which appeared during February. One new member was secured.

Annual reports were read by corresponding secretary; also, recording secretary and treasurer and same were accepted. The report of the treasurer was especially good, with quite a balance on hand.

The flower mission committee read greetings from Mrs. John Burns, their chairman, who has been absent during the winter. One hundred and twenty-five boquets, and fruit, in some instances, have been sent out during the past year.

The president then read a letter from Mrs. E. L. Calkins, president of the State W. C. T. U.

Six of new members received during the year were present; the pledge was read and Mrs. Taggart decorated each with a bow of white ribbon.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Alcox being re-elected president; Mrs. Correll, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wilkinson, recording secretary and Mrs W. J. Weikel, treasurer.

The executive board meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, the 14th of March, with Mrs. Taggart. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Correll, Friday, April 13.

The district president, Mrs. P. G. Howard, is to have a birthday soon and it was moved that the Charlevoix Union remember her with flowers at this time.

Mrs. Alcox, the old and new president, was presented with a beautiful boquet of flowers from Mrs. Babcock, through the Flower mission committee.

The collection amounted to 96 cents. A musical program followed, many joining in singing some of the old songs. Miss Correll sang a pretty Scotch ballad and Mrs. Dutcher favored the gathering with a recitation. During the picnic supper which followed, several selections on the Victrola were given, which was much enjoyed by all, likewise the supper.

MARRIED AT PETOSKEY FRIDAY MARCH 2

Percy Edwards Springs Surprise on His Friends.

Percy Edwards, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards of this city, and Miss Ruby Kirby of Central Lake, were married in Petoskey Friday evening, March 2, at the Presbyterian parsonage, by Rev. Ferris.

The young people then made a short visit to Mr. Edward's sister, at Boyne City, Mrs. E. A. Robinson, returning last Wednesday to Charlevoix. They are now at home to their friends, at the house of Mrs. Pierce on the Stover road, which they will occupy this summer, while Mr. Edwards assists his father at the Hillcrest Garden.

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

THE TEST OF MERIT.

Charlevoix People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Charlevoix resident who used it successfully and tells of the lasting results.

Read the following:

Mrs. R. M. McKeel, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered for several months with kidney trouble. My kidneys gave me a great deal of annoyance. I was bloated quite badly and was subject to weak and lame back. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug Store, brought me relief." (Statement given October 26, 1911.)

On October 4, 1916, Mrs. McKeel said: "All that I have said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills holds good today. Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble and the cure has lasted."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McKeel has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HAYES.

First thunder storm Sunday morning.

Henry Howe and George Medsker each lost a horse last week.

Mrs. Jones Lewis spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Willis.

Miss Milton went to her home in Boyne City, Saturday, returning Sunday.

Last reports state that Anna Howe is very low—death expected at any moment. May be gone ere this is printed.

Mr. and Mrs. Falls have returned to their home at Frankfort, after spending the winter with their niece, Mrs. Gilbert Ferris.

Mrs. Jerichow died last Thursday night, after suffering for many months. Funeral Monday from her home, Rev. Vinyard, officiating.

Mrs. Webster and Neva, and Mrs. Pant and three children, spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Sam Brown, to help William celebrate his sixth birthday. The little ones surely had a day of frolic.

BARNARD.

John Zylstra had a telephone placed in his home last Friday. Ring No. 105-12.

George Spayd returned home from the Petoskey hospital Saturday. He is rapidly improving in health.

Mrs. Albert Beattie and Mrs. Dennis Spayd visited in Charlevoix and Petoskey, Friday and Saturday.

Seven of the Sunshine S. S. class of girls and their teacher, Mrs. Frank Matchett, met with Margaret and Ellen Swartout, Saturday afternoon.

The Barnard Ladies' Aid society will give an oyster supper and a St. Patrick's Day program at the Barnard M. E. church on Friday evening, March 16. Everybody come and have a good time.

The I. T. class met and were entertained at the home of Miss Ethel Shapton last Tuesday evening. After the regular business meeting, the time was spent in playing games, etc. Toward the close of the evening, Mrs. Shapton served light refreshments. A general good time is reported by all I. T.'s.

The latest! Last Monday evening some of the neighbors saw a (ghost) a very peculiar light down at the northwest end of neighbor Cook's farm. It seemed very bright and still most of the time, but then sometimes it would jump, flash up brighly and even spread out and crawl along on the ground and then all at once disappear entirely. Indeed, it was quite uncanny. Finally some of the bravest ventured forth slyly and cautiously, and discovered—two men with a lantern working in a sort of a trench, digging for skunks. Here's hoping that the wind is in the right direction next time and the ghost can be tracked by its scent.

By REX BEACH

A story of adventure, thrilling situations, humor and a great and tender love

Reciting some of the real incidents of before and after the landing of American marines at Vera Cruz. A clean, inspiring tale of conditions along the Texas-Mexican border.

You'll miss one of the best stories ever written by this popular author if you don't read

OUR NEW SERIAL

Heart of the Sunset

Be sure to get the issue containing the first installment.

BIG SEASON IS PREDICTED

BIDS FAIR TO ECLIPSE YEARS GONE BY.

VanPelt Suggests Forming a "Get Together Club"—Is Boosting for Charlevoix.

Unless something unusual happens, the coming season bids fair to eclipse all former seasons in the tourist business. As this is the main business of Charlevoix in course of time, if the county will take advantage of its opportunities, it will also be a big share of the entire business of the county. Consequently it behooves us to make preparations in order that we may be able to care for it in just the same manner the store keepers do by putting in an extra stock of goods; so all who wish to cater to this tourist business must begin to plan for it. Why, I am led to say I believe this will be the banner year, is because so many people are already talking of where they are going to spend the summer. Recently at one of the association of commerce mid-week luncheons, one prominent man said in the presence of a number of people, that there were twelve families all going to Mackinac Island. Not one of them had ever been there before, and this family was one of the twelve. If anyone doubts this saying, I can prove it right there in Charlevoix by Bill Hampton, because this man said it in the presence of William G. Edens, one of the lecturers for the K. of P.'s. A friend who was with me, and who also is very much interested in Charlevoix, said: "Oh, I wouldn't go there—it's too cold." Then I put in my oar and gave many reasons why they should not go there, but that they should come to Charlevoix. The gentleman remarked I had a great deal of enthusiasm for Charlevoix. Mr. Edens said, "oh, yes, Van is talking Charlevoix morning, noon and night. He never lets an opportunity escape doing so. Why at the Illinois State Highway association meting held at Danville last December, instead of talking about Illinois, he branched off on Charlevoix and didn't say a word about Illinois."

Now any real estate men who have cottages to rent can get the address of the parties through Mr. Edens, and Bill Hampton can give them Eden's address, as they are great friends, and I hope to have Mr. Edens come to Charlevoix this summer and give us a good talk. I still believe what we need in Charlevoix is, first, to use the four business men's associations which we already have in the four cities, and to get all

(Continued on page eleven.)

OUR BIG JUNK HEAP.

Vast Amount of Metal Recovered Annually From Waste and Scrap.

The value of the "secondary metals," exclusive of gold, silver, platinum and iron, recovered in the United States in 1913 was $72,845,000, according to J. P. Dunlop of the United States geological survey. Even this large figure is a decrease compared with 1912, when the value was $77,396,000.

The term "secondary" is applied to metals recovered from scrap metal—sweepings, skimmings, drosses, etc.—as distinguished from "primary metals," which are derived from ore, but without implication that the secondary metals are of inferior quality. The survey figures reveal in a partial way the vast extent of the waste material industry, which yearly becomes greater and better organized. The value of old iron and steel reused exceeds that of remelted brass, and the value of old rubber and paper stock amounts to many millions of dollars.

For a few purposes requiring especial purity of material it is necessary to employ primary or virgin pig metal, but as a general rule secondary metals can be used in whole or in part, and most foundries use them. Over 90 per cent of the refining and smelting of drosses and scrap metals in the United States is confined to the territory east of St. Louis and north of the Ohio river.

The amount of secondary copper (including that in brass) recovered in 1913 was 136,500 tons, being over 22 per cent of the primary copper smelted from domestic ores during the year.

The secondary lead recovered amounted to 72,834 tons, equal to nearly 17 per cent of the refined lead produced from domestic ores.

The output of secondary zinc was 79,570 tons, equal to 23 per cent of the production of primary zinc.

The recovery of secondary tin is of especial importance, for practically no domestic tin ore was smelted in the United States, and the secondary tin recovered in 1913 (14,178 tons, valued at $12,567,379) was more than 27 per cent of the tin imported during the year.

In aluminum the recoveries in 1913 amounted to 2,654 tons, valued at $2,199,480.

Humor In Shop Signs.

Japan has many humorous business notices displayed. Nearly every shop in Japan exhibits a placard priated in English advertising goods, some of which are very comical.

"Horse shoe maker instruct by French horse leech," you read, or, "If you want sell watch I will buy; if you want buy watch I will sell. Yes, sir, we will, all will. Coroo at my shop Watchmaker."

A Japanese laundry company announced: "We most carefully and cleanly wash our customers with cheaper prices. Gentlemen, 7s a hundred, ladies 8s a hundred," while a certain dairy announced that they sold "Extracts of fowls."

Reliable Seeds of all kinds. S. Orlowski & Son.—Adv.11tf.

BERGEON'S SPECIALS

$ DOLLAR $
FOR DAY ONLY
$ $

Saturday, March 17th

5 yards 25c Curtain Goods for - $1.00
9 yards 15c Percale for - - $1.00
5 yards 25c Wash Goods - - $1.00
10 yards 12½c Gingham - - $1.00

These prices are strictly cash

Bergeon's Dry Goods Store

The GREAT DAY is DOLLAR DAY

Spend your Hard Earned Dollar where you can do the best and get the most for your Dollar

MARCH 17th

16 lbs best Head Rice for - - $1.00
25 lbs Gold Standard Spring Wheat Flour $1.00
4 lbs 40c Tea for - - $1.00
5 lbs 25c Coffee for - - $1.00
4 lbs 30c Coffee for - - $1.00
3 lbs 40c Coffee for - - $1.00
$1.20 worth of any kind Tobacco for - $1.00

Take Advantage of the Above, March 17th—One Lot of Each to a Customer

S. Orlowski & Son

Wholesale and Retail Grocers

FOR OUR

DOLLAR DAY SPECIALS

Watch Our Display Window
They'll Tell The Story

FRED G. BELLINGER

309 Bridge St. Charlevoix, Michigan

DO YOU WANT A FORD?

A REAL AUTOMOBILE—ONE THAT YOU CAN GET MORE ENJOYMENT OUT FOR THE MONEY INVESTED THAN ANY CAR BUILT TODAY. HERE'S OUR PROPOSITION:

: FOR DOLLAR DAY ONLY :

We will sell Ford Cars for ONE DOLLAR---a dollar down and a dollar a day for 365 days

On this day we make the most phenomenal offer ever made by any automobile manufacturer or dealer. Think of it—a Ford car for a Dollar down and a Dollar a day for 365 days—until paid for

THE FORD GARAGE - - - BENJ. BROWN

EMREY'S

FOR DOLLAR DAY

Saturday, March 17th

$1.50 and $1.25 Caps, $1.00
$1.25 Black Satine Shirts, $1.00
One lot of Boys' Suits at $1.00 less than first cost
All Boys' Suits, $1.00 off
One lot of Boys' Overcoats at $1.00 less than first cost
One lot of Men's Suits at $1.00 less than first cost
Two 65c Kaynee Waists for Boys, $1.00
Ladies' Sweaters at cost
All Men's Sweater Coats selling at $5.00 and over, $1.00 off

Five per cent. Discount on Accounts Paid

$1 BUY HERE $1 ON DOLLAR DAY

CASH ONLY

4 Cans Sunbrite Cleanser
5 lbs. Corn Starch
10 Bars Dandy Soap
2 lbs. Raisins
all for $1.00

2 lbs. Jacob's Special Coffee
1 lb. Uncolored Japan Tea all for $1.00

2 lbs. Calumet Baking Powder
4 lbs. A. and H. Soda
4 lbs. 10c Rice
3 Packages Yeast Foam
all for $1.00

H. B. JACOBS

Telephone 179 - - Charlevoix, Michigan

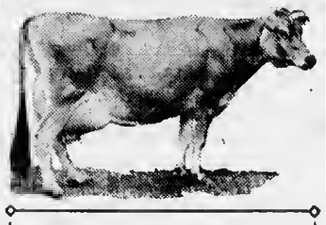
DAIRY and CREAMERY

SOILING ON ALFALFA.

Little Danger of Cows Bloating if They Are Not Overfed.

The experience of others about whom I know and my own experience have demonstrated that alfalfa, properly used, is excellent for soiling purposes, writes H. G. Van Pelt in Kimball's Dairy Farmer. In the summer, when flies are bad and pastures dry and almost bare, it certainly will pay to partially soil cows. It is an excellent plan to keep them in a cool, well ventilated barn where flies are kept away either by darkening the windows, using fly repellants or ridding the barn of all flies. When the cool of the evening comes it is more profitable to turn the cows out to exercise and graze during the night, getting them back where they can be protected early in the morning.

By this method the milk flow can be retained, and it is always profitable to keep a cow milking as well as possible. On account of lack of feed and uncomfortable conditions that occur during a month or two almost every summer cows decrease in milk flow, and it is impossible to get them back to their former flow until they freshen again. Therefore the loss of a shrink in milk does not end with a hot season, but it must be figured for each day the cow remains in milk during the lactation period she is undergoing.



Admirers of the Jersey cow maintain that she is a more economical producer of cream than most of the other pure dairy breeds. The Jersey, being a small animal, does not consume as much feed as the larger cattle, they hold, and thus lower the cost of production. The cow shown is a pure bred Jersey of excellent form and type.

There is little danger of bloating cows when soiling them with alfalfa provided it is cut after the dew is dried and the cows are not overfed. It is really best to cut the hay in the middle of the day, hauling it immediately into the barn, where it can wilt somewhat in the shade before feeding. Occasionally under the best of circumstances cows will bloat when eating green legumes, and they should be watched quite closely. As soon as indications point to bloat coming on it is well to give the cow a quart of raw linseed oil as a drench and tie in her mouth a short stick as large in diameter as a broomstick. This the cow will chew on and encourage the raising of gases which cause the bloat. Only in cases where the cow will not respond to other treatment should she be tapped with a trocar.

Australia yearly produces 225,000 tons of cane sugar.

GRAIN ON PASTURE.

Amount to Be Fed Should Be Regulated by Butter Production.

The Missouri experiment station says: If a cow is producing less than a pound of butter each day the necessary food can be obtained from a good pasture. If she produces more than this some grain can be fed with profit. This means that a Jersey cow should be able to get enough food from grass to make about twenty pounds of milk daily and a Holstein about twenty-five to thirty.

It will pay to feed grain to all giving above this amount, as it becomes impossible for the animal to gather sufficient feed in the form of grass. A cow giving a pound and a half of butter daily should have about five pounds daily, and for two pounds of butter give seven or eight pounds of grain. When not more than four or five pounds of grain are fed it can be all corn. If more than this is needed some bran or a small amount of cottonseed meal should be added. In late summer it will often be necessary to feed more grain to high producing cows or to give silage or green feeds to help out the pastures.

Right Kind of Milk Veins.

Milk secretion is dependent primarily on the amount of blood delivered into the udder. Heavy milkers have large veins, which means that a large supply of blood is kept circulating through the glands. If blood circulation is weak or the blood impoverished of its serum and food constituents the fact will be registered in the udder output. Cows that eat much food and that have strong digestive powers will carry rich blood in their arteries. It is this blood that nourishes the milk glands abundantly and that enables them to yield their product in generous quantities.

Butter Fat and Profit.

The man who is indifferent to the loss of butter fat and milk is indifferent to the profits to be made from the dairy. The two are almost inseparable—butter fat and profit.

Jersey's Dainty Feeders.

There seems to be a tendency for Jersey cows to be slightly more exacting about the quality of their feed than are cattle of some of the other dairy breeds.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Poor Business Golf.

"What sort of golf does your husband play?"

"I don't know exactly, but I know it costs him a lot of fine business opportunities."

"In what way?"

"I heard him say yesterday that he lost five syndicates in a row."—Detroit Free Press.

TRUTH.

Seek truth wherever and whenever it can be found. We must never throw away a bushel of truth because it happens to contain a few grains of chaff. On the contrary, we may sometimes profitably receive a bushel of chaff for the few grains of truth it may contain.—Dean Stanley.

TEACHERS WERE JUSTLY PROUD

OF SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT BY CHILDREN.

The Misses Correll and Jarvis Make Performers of First, Second and Third Graders.

A large number of parents and friends attended the charming entertainment given by the children of the first, second and third grades at the Central school last Friday afternoon, under the supervision of their teachers, Misses Correll and Jarvis.

The program opened with a very pretty operetta, "A Quarrel Among the Flowers," contending as to which one should win the crown. The "Rose" was represented by Helen Graves, "Sunflower," John Kelderhouse; "Crocus," Teddie Powell; "Violet," Harold Dutcher; "Lily," Clare Usher; "Snow-drops," Jnnice Miles and Doris Stafford; "Pink," Clayton Dutcher, and "Dahlia," Gilbert Saltonstall. The "Rose," having won the crown, all joined in a merry-go-round. The flowers might well be proud of their little representatives, so prettily costumed.

Song daramtization of "Cinderilla:" James Bellinger, Prince; Geraldine Halverson, Cinderilla. Cinderilla is always a fascinating subject, and the little Miss took the part very prettily, while the courtly manner of the Prince, who sought the lady of the lost slipper, was truly royal.

Group of songs, 2nd grade.
Group of songs, 3rd grade.
Finger Plays, 1st grade.

The songs were beautifully sung by the children and the "Finger Plays" of the little ones were very cunningly given.

"The Miller and His Son," or pleasing everybody—grade 3, was very cleverly carried out, and exceedingly funny, making the difficulty most naturally apparent. The recitation in conclusion was pleasingly given by Burton First.

Dramatization, "Three Goats," was another of the amusing features of the program. Their various antics and unreliability creating much merriment.

"Hansel and Gretel"—Grade 2.
Hansel, Keith Wagner.
Gretel, Georgia Kelderhouse.
Witch, Frances Milner.

Timid and quaint little Gretel and her manly and would be protector, Hansel, from the energetic and the brilliantly attired witch of the woods was very much enjoyed.

A beautifully carried out little operetta, "A Joke on the Toy-Maker."

Father Fun, Gilbert Saltonstall.
Mother, Helen Graves.

The beautiful singing of the Toys, with Gilbert Saltonstall as soloist, was akin in nature to the much beloved "Pinafore."

The beautiful little Fairy, Beulah Marshall, appeared and with her magical wand, put the Dolls and Toys all to sleep—a joke on the Toy-Maker. With a wave of her wand, they were easily awakened.

The Toys—Soldier Boy, Sailor Boy and Clown—Walter Bergeon, Isbena Nordrum and Clare Usher, were prominent characters in the beautiful march of the "Dolls and Toys," while an occasional somersault thrown in by the "Clown," added greatly to the general activity.

This number closed the delightful little program which won the praise and appreciation of those who were present.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Meet With Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harsha Friday.

The Charlevoix Historical Society will meet Friday evening, March 16, with Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harsha. The following is the program:

Music.
Vocal solo, Mrs. Kenyon.
Paper, "Fish and Fisheries of Alaska," Dr. F. H. Wilkinson.
Intermission.
Music.
Current Events, Mr. Archie Livingston.

CORRESPONDENCE

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

Mr. Seiler and Mr. Howe are drawing ice this week.

Caucus was held here last Saturday at the school house and was well attended.

Mrs. Galbraith of Charlevoix, is now staying at the Dunlop home, taking care of the sick.

M. A. McDonald and mother from Charlevoix, were visitors at the Jardine home last Saturday.

We are all very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Dunlop, and wish to extend our sincere sympathy to those who are left behind.

Miss Mary Dunlop arrived home last Friday from Mt. Pleasant, where she has been attending school. She was called home by the illness of her father.

School Notes.

Every sunshiny day now sees our flag floating triumphantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweet visited school last Thursday afternoon and was certainly welcomed by all. We hope others will follow their example.

The seventh and eighth grade had a "geography down" last Friday afternoon. Lyle Sweet visited school that afternoon and also took part. Cora Flora, Gale Sweet and Robert Wilson were the victors, for they stood the test perfectly.

The eighth graders after school session are still being held and are proving a great help to all members of the class.

On SATURDAY March 17

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add ½ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Made from Cream of Tartar, derived from grapes, adds none but healthful qualities to the food.

No Alum No Phosphate

The DOLLAR SALE IS ON

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months.....75
One Copy, three months.....40

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

The failure of the Pershing expedition to "get Villa, dead or alive," and the withdrawal of that expedition from Mexico are immediately responsible, of course, for the new border raids, and the death of the American cowboys, slain by Slazar's band. Back of that is of course a weakness by this administration as respects Mexico that is in striking contrast to the firm action Washington has taken against smaller countries. We tell these small nations what they must and must not do, but treat Mexico as if we feared it, and Mexicans have come to believe that we do. Hence dead Americans, border raids, and threats of massacre, which will probably be fulfilled. Whether or not we have a duty in Mexico, we certainly have a duty to protect Americans on American soil, and it is a pity that the administration fails to recognize this duty.

THE HUMBLE TUBER.

The potato has come to be the most important, if not the decisive, factor in the great war. Last year Germany was saved from starvation and surrender by a good potato crop. This year the yield is poor. The Kaiser would willingly give up some fortresses to the English in exchange for potatoes. But England is not much better off and Lloyd George has taken control of the sale of potatoes. The Swedish government has issued an edict prohibiting the peeling of potatoes before cooking. The Swiss government is also laboring with the high price of potatoes.

Yet the price of potatoes in Switzerland, shut in by belligerents, and in England, blockaded by U-boats, is only half as high as it is in New York City with an open continent behind it.

SOUND PROSPERITY BEST.

When the Democratic party was in power in 1893-6, there was a surplus of food, but the people had no money with which to buy even at prices which left the producer in bankruptcy. Many a farmer burned corn and wheat in his stove because he could not sell it. In 1917 there is food enough in the country, though no surplus, but the prices are so high that people go hungry because they cannot buy enough to satisfy their needs. Contrast these conditions with those under Republican administrations, when everybody had money with which to buy at prices that gave the producer a reasonable but not exorbitant return.

Presumably no one will ever know to what extent General Funston's end was hastened by disappointment over the fact that Pershing's punitive expedition failed to "get" Villa.

Notice.

The caucus for Marion township will be held at the Town Hall, on Saturday, March 17, 1917, at 1:30 sharp, for the purpose of nominating the township officers and the transaction of any other business that may come before it.

William Withers,
Township Clerk.

Adv.10t2

Hayes Township Caucus.

The caucus for Hayes township will be held at the Town Hall on Friday, March 23, 1917, at 1:00 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating the township officers and the transaction of any other business that may properly come before it.

By Order of Committee,
E. H. Burgess, Township Clerk.

Adv.11t1.

Heart of the Sunset

By Rex Beach is a story of the Mexican border country that will give you a vivid insight into the frontier life that most of us had believed a thing of the past.

Blaze Jones, the founder of Jonesville, is one of the characters; he is a delightful old fire-eater who will afford you more than one appreciative chuckle.

Dave Law, college graduate, adventurer, soldier and Texas ranger, is a man you'll learn to like because of his manhood and clear-cut individuality.

Gen. Longorio, federal Mexican leader, melodramatic, childlike, brave and villainous, is another of the striking characters that make the story one not soon to be forgotten.

Watch for and read the opening installment of HEART OF THE SUNSET—

Our New Serial

BEGINS IN THIS ISSUE

AROUND THE DAIRY.

The invention of the Babcock test is what has put more champions in the field than any other mechanical contrivance.

Don't expect any kind of a cow to make something out of nothing. She can't do it. She doesn't know how.

Do not leave the open pails standing around the cow stable while you milk the next cow. Take the milk where it will be free from contamination.

Keep the calf pen clean and dry and give plenty of clean bedding. Calves are like plants; they must have sunlight to grow right.

The bacteria that cause souring do not thrive in cold milk. Therefore to keep your milk or cream sweet cool it without delay.

OVERFAT COWS AT TIME OF CALVING

Is it possible to have a cow too fat at calving time? Many dairymen say no, writes a correspondent of the New England Homestead. They think the fatter the cow the better. I am satisfied this is wrong. A cow does need to have abundant flesh at the time of calving, both to support the strain on her system of milk giving and to support the development of the coming calf. I believe a cow can be too fat when she calves to give the most milk. Fat animals are not the best for breeding purposes. Sows can be too fat to have good litters of plump pigs. If they are too fat very frequently they do not have milk enough to nourish the offspring. I have had sows so fat at farrowing time that the pigs were constantly hungry. In one case a very fat sow gave birth to but one pig, and that was not a fine one.

I had a large black cow, a good milker continuously. One year she was highly fed on the theory that if she were fat she would give off that fatness in milk when she was fresh. She had a good appetite, and at feeding time her eyes always followed me about the barn, so I always gave her some meal. As a result she was very

Despite the advance in popular favor of cows of pure dairy type, some dairymen prefer the dual purpose animal. For this purpose the Milking Shorthorns are considered the best. In England the Shorthorns are preferred over the pure dairy cattle and have won prizes over all others in some public tests. The cow shown is of the Milking Shorthorn type.

fat. In the course of time she calved, and the calf was a good one. It was left with her for a few days. I noticed that it was continually sucking its mother and the cow's bag never looked empty. On examination I found that the udder was milked out clean. It was not caked or inflamed. When the calf was taken away I found that the milk did not come freely. The bag seemed so full of tallow there was no room for storing milk, and the little fluid had to come directly from the milk veins. I could strip and strip an hour without any apparent cessation of the feeble flow.

This cow improved as the season advanced, but did not give her usual yield. In fact, she did very poorly that entire milking period. The next year this cow was not allowed to get so fat, and when she calved her milk flow started off much better. Throughout that milking period her yield was very much greater than the previous lactation period. I believe that in the one instance her bag was so full of tallow that when she calved there was no room for storage of milk and the udder tissues were not of the milking kind. I like cows to be in good rich flesh, not poor or thin, but, on the other hand, not fat and beefy. If the pasture is short they should be fed bran or meal or fodder corn or silage to keep them in good condition, and when in that state they will give best results at the milk pail.

Scours in Calves.

Castor oil should be given at the outset of an attack of diarrhoea. The dose is from one to four tablespoonfuls shaken up in milk, according to the age and size of the calf. Follow with one or two teaspoonfuls of a mixture of equal parts of subnitrate of bismuth, prepared chalk and powdered rhubarb three times a day in a little water. Increase the dose if found necessary.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Cool the Cream.

It is time to be getting the cream cooling tank ready for use. Cream cannot be delivered in good condition for buttermaking unless it is cooled quickly and kept cool.

Dairy Herd Profits.

The best way to get a profit producing dairy herd is to use only good, pure bred sires, take good care of the cow and keep the calves "coming" right from birth.

Subscribe for the Courier.

DOLLAR DAY

Specials March 17th at Levinson's

$1.50 Ladies' House Dresses at	$1.00
$1.50 Ladies' Shirt Waists at	$1.00
10 yards of Outing Flannel 12 1-2c yard at	$1.00
5 yards Wool Dress Goods $1.25 yard at	$1 yd
$1.50 Men's Sweaters at	$1.00
$2.00 Men's Hats at	$1.00

$1.50 Ladies' Petticoats at $1.00

$1.00 OFF
on any Ladies' Spring Coat, Suit or Skirt

$1.00 OFF
on any Men's Suit in stock

$1.00 OFF
on Sweaters above $5.00

Dollar Day March 17th

GO TO Levinson's Get the Habit

URGE FARMERS TO GROW CHICORY

PORT HURON FIRM WANTS BIG ACREAGE.

Offers Eight Dollars a Ton—Says Locality is Ideal for Growing Product.

C. B. Warren of Mt. Pleasant, representing the firm of E. B. Muller & Company, growers and manufacturers of English, French, Belgian, German and domestic chicory, with plants at Port Huron (their head office), Bad Axe, Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Coleman and Capac, will arrive in Charlevoix, Thursday, to address the farmers and townspeople at the sale Saturday at Hooker's barn. He will urge upon the people, and especially the farmers of this section, the advantages of chicory as a profitable industry, superior to the sugar beet, as a source of revenue and a crop even better suited to the climate and soil. If his proposition meets with favor and the farmers of Charlevoix care to enter into contract with the company for acreage, he is empowered to take all the necessary preliminary steps to this end.

J. R. Cooper, who is the local man behind this movement, has been to considerable expense and trouble to get Mr. Warren to come to this territory and tell the farmers what he knows about chicory. Mr. Warren is familiar with soil and climatic conditions in Charlevoix county and gives it as his opinion that there is no better place anywhere in the state for the growing of this crop.

Chicory matures more quickly than the sugar beet and as to yield, Mr. Warren is prepared to give numberless instances where as high as from ten to fifteen tons have been grown to the acre, and there is no reason why the Charlevoix county farmer should not exceed this amount, considering the favorable conditions of this section, with proper care and a knowledge of the means necessary to be employed to secure a successful crop.

There is coming a time when beets and beans will cease to be the abnormally high-priced crop they now are and it behooves the far sighted farmer to make provisions for that day. Chicory is a sure crop at a fixed price and offers the most practicable solution of the problem. Mr. Warren estimates that the farmer will be able to get at least eight dollars a ton for his product on board cars at Charlevoix.

Meet this gentleman on Saturday next at Hooker's barn. You will be sure of an interesting and instructive talk and may find your opportunity in the proposition which Mr. Warren has for the farmers of this locality.

Farmers Attention!

We have received this week cars of Middlings, Cotton Seed Meal, Globe Scratch Feed and Crescent Chick Feed.

Come in and see our Stock DOLLAR DAY

To make it worth your while we will sell you 100 lbs of any Flour in the mill, excepting Occident, for $5.00 on that day

Argo Milling Co.

Manufacturers

Charlevoix East Jordan Central Lake

The business men of the city will and should lend all possible support to this movement, which is of far more importance to this community than many things with which our attention has been engaged in the past.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Dollar Day, Saturday, March 17.

Mrs. Roy was here from East Jordan last week.

Dr. Armstrong made a professional visit to Bellaire, Friday.

E. A. Gee of Bellaire spent Sunday at the Hotel Charlevoix, visiting friends in the city.

James Gaskins, Jr., returned to Detroit Tuesday morning, after a short visit here with his family.

Mrs. J. H. Blackwood was called to Plymouth, Michigan, last Thursday, by the death of her father, M. F. Miller.

W. A. Smeltzer of Suttons Bay, arrived Thursday in Charlevoix for a short visit to his son, Paul and family, returning Tuesday morning.

Sam Hamilton went to Alliston, Ont., Saturday, stopping in Detroit over Sunday. He expects to be away about a week or ten days on some matters of business.

Coulter Brothers shipped three registered Jersey calves from their herd of registered cattle this week. They were consigned to parties in Owensboro, Kentucky.

Dollar Day, Saturday, March 17.

Charles Hyers is in Grand Rapids this week.

Hime Pearl went to Traverse City Monday on business.

J. M. Harris of Boyne City was in town Saturday on business.

Mrs. Chris Solsberg won the couch pillow at the Hotel Charlevoix Wednesday night.

Seth B. and Clyde Smith of Potoskey, Reo representatives, are in the city on business this week.

Mrs. Ainslie Mayne and daughter, Gwen, are spending this week with Mrs. Mayne's sister, Mrs. Roy Kellogg at Petoskey.

Rev. L. C. Vinyard made a flying trip to Petoskey on business Wednesday morning. No, we don't mean by aeroplane.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Edwards have moved into the house owned by Mrs. Pierce on the Stover Road, which they have rented for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Eber Marshall and children returned to their home in Flint, Monday, after a week's visit here to their father, Jacob Marshall, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hair of Hayes township, spent Tuesday, the 29th of February, with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Blanchard at the Michigan House in Chicago. After a good visit all partook of a bountiful supper and the Blanchard's were glad their old neighbors had called to see them. They hope that more will do the same.

HEART of the SUNSET

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers," "The Iron Trail," "The Silver Horde," Etc.

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

CHAPTER I.

The Water-Hole.

A fitful breeze played among the mesquite bushes. The naked earth, where it showed between the clumps of grass, was baked plaster hard. Although the sun was half-way down the west, its glare remained untempered, and the tantalizing shade of the sparse mesquite was more of a trial than a comfort to the lone woman who, refusing its deceitful invitation, plodded steadily over the waste. Stop, indeed, she dared not. In spite of her fatigue, regardless of the torture from feet and limbs unused to walking, she must, as she constantly assured herself, keep going until strength failed. Somewhere to the northward, perhaps a mile, perhaps a league distant, lay the water-hole.

Desert travel was nothing new to her; thirst and fatigue were old acquaintances. She readjusted the strap of the empty water bag over her shoulder and the loose cartridge belt at her hip, then set her dusty feet down the slope. The sun had grown red and huge when at last in the hard-baked earth she discovered fresh hoofprints. She followed them gladly, encouraged when they were joined by others. A low bluff rose on her left, and along its crest scattered Spanish daggers were raggedly silhouetted against the sky. She tried to run, but her legs were heavy; she stumbled a great deal, and her breath made strange, distressing sounds as it issued from her open lips. Rounding the steep shoulder of the ridge, she hastened down a declivity into a knot of scrub oaks and ebony trees, then halted, staring ahead of her. Nestling in a shallow, flinty bowl was a pool of water, and on its brink a little fire was burning.

It was a tiny fire, overhung with a blackened pot; the odor of greasewood and mesquite smoke was sharp. A man, rising swiftly to his feet at the first sound, was staring at the newcomer; he was as alert as any wild thing. But the woman staggered directly toward the pond, seeing nothing after the first glance except the water. She would have flung herself full length upon the edge, but the man stepped forward and stayed her, then placed a tin cup in her hand. She mumbled something in answer to his greeting and the hoarse, ravenlike croak in her voice startled her; then she drank, with trembling eagerness, drenching the front of her dress. The water was warm, but it was clean and delicious.

"Easy now. Take your time," said the man, as he refilled the cup. "It won't give out."

She knelt and wet her face and neck. Felt the stranger's hands beneath her arms, felt herself lifted to a more comfortable position. Without asking permission, the stranger unlaced first one, then the other of her dusty boots, seeming not to notice her weak attempt at resistance. Once he had placed her bare feet in the water, she forgot her resentment in the intense relief.

The man left her seated in a collapsed, semiconscious state, and went back to his fire. It was dark when for the first time she turned her head toward the camp fire and stared curiously at the figure there. The appetizing odor of broiling bacon had drawn her attention, and as if no move went unnoticed the man said, without lifting his eyes:

"Haw'd You Like Your Eggs—If We Had Any?"

"Supper will be ready directly. How'd you like your eggs—if we had any?"

He spoke with an unmistakable Texas drawl; the woman put him down at once for a cowboy. Well back from the fire he had arranged a seat for her, using a saddle blanket for a covering, and upon this she lowered herself stiffly.

"I suppose you wonder how I—happen to be here," she said.

"Now don't talk 'til you're rested, miss. This coffee is strong enough to walk on its hands, and I reckon about two cups of it 'll rastle you into shape." As she raised the tin mug to her lips he waved a hand and smiled. "Drink hearty!" He set a plate of bread and bacon in her lap, then opened a glass jar of jam.

The woman ate and drank slowly. She was too tired to be hungry, and meanwhile the young man squatted upon his heels and watched her through the smoke from a husk cigarette.

"Have you had your supper?" she finally inquired.

"Who, me? Oh, I'll eat with the help." He smiled, and when his flashing teeth showed white against his leathery tan the woman decided he was not at all bad-looking. He was very tall and quite lean, with the long legs of a horseman—this latter feature accentuated by his high-heeled boots and by the short canvas cowboy coat that reached only to his cartridge belt. His features she could not well make out, for the fire was little more than a bed of coals, and he fed it, Indian-like, with a twig or two at a time.

"I beg your pardon. I'm selfish." She extended her cup and plate as an invitation for him to share their contents. "Please eat with me."

But he refused. "I ain't hungry," he affirmed. "Honest!"

Accustomed as she was to the diffidence of ranch hands, she refrained from urging him, and proceeded with her repast. When she had finished she lay back and watched him as he ate sparingly.

"My horse fell crossing the Arroyo Grande," she announced, abruptly. "He broke a leg, and I had to shoot him."

"Is there any water in the Grande?" asked the man.

"No. They told me there was plenty. I knew of this charco, so I made for it."

"Who told you there was water in the arroyo?"

"Those Mexicans at the little goat-ranch."

"Bah! So you walked in from Arroyo Grande. It's a good ten miles straightaway, and I reckon you came crooked. Eh?"

"Yes. And it was very hot. I was never here but once, and—the country looks different when you're afoot."

"It certainly does," the man nodded. Then he continued, musingly: "No water there, eh? I figured there might be a little." The fact appeared to please him, for he nodded again as he went on with his meal. "Not much rain down here, I reckon."

"Very little. Where are you from?"

"Me? Hebbronville. My name is Law."

Evidently, thought the woman, this fellow belonged to the East outfit, or some of the other big cattle ranches in the Hebbronville district. Probably he was a range boss or a foreman. After a time she said, "I suppose the nearest ranch is that Baill place?"

"Yes'm."

"I'd like to borrow your horse."

Mr. Law stared into his plate. "Well, miss, I'm afraid—"

She added, hastily, "I'll send you a fresh one by Baill's boy in the morning."

Law shook his head. "I can't loan you my horse, miss. I got to meet a man here."

"When will he come?"

"He'd ought to be here at early dark tomorrow evening." Heedless of her dismay, he continued, "Yes'm, about sundown."

"But—I can't stay here. I'll ride to Baill's and have your horse back by afternoon."

"My man might come earlier than I expect," Mr. Law persisted.

"Really, I can't see what difference it would make. It wouldn't interfere with your appointment to let me—"

Law smiled slowly, and, setting his plate aside, selected a fresh cigarette; then, as he reached for a coal, he explained:

"I haven't got what you'd call exactly an appointment. This feller I'm expectin' is a Mexican, and day before yesterday he killed a man over in Jim Wells county. They got me by 'phone at Hebbronville and told me he'd left. He's headin' for the border, and he's due here about sundown, now that Arroyo Grande's dry. I was aimin' to let you ride his horse."

"Then—you're an officer?"

"Yes'm. Ranger. So you see I can't help you to get home till my man comes. Do you live around here?" The speaker looked up inquiringly, and after an instant's hesitation the woman said quietly:

"I am Mrs. Austin." She was grateful for the gloom that hid her face. "I rode out this way to examine a tract of grazing land."

It seemed fully a minute before the Ranger answered; then he said, in a casual tone, "I reckon Las Palmas is quite a ranch, ma'am."

"Yes. But we need more pasture."

"I know your La Feria ranch, too. I was with General Castro when we had that fight near there."

"You were a Maderista?"

"Yes'm. Machine-gun man. That's a fine country over there. Seems like the Almighty got mixed and put the Mexicans on the wrong side of the Rio Grande. But I reckon you haven't seen much of La Feria since the last revolution broke out."

"No. We have tried to remain neutral, but—" Again she hesitated. "Mr. Austin has enemies. Fortunately both sides have spared La Feria."

Law shrugged his broad shoulders. "Oh, well, the revolution isn't over! A ranch in Mexico is my idea of a bad investment." He rose and, taking his blanket, sought a favorable spot upon which to spread it. Then he helped Mrs. Austin to her feet—her muscles had stiffened until she could barely stand—after which he fetched his saddle for a pillow. He made no apologies for his meager hospitality, nor did his guest expect any.

When he had staked out his horse for the night he returned to find the woman rolled snugly in her covering, as in a cocoon. The dying embers flickered into flame and lit her hair redly. She had laid off her felt hat, and one loosened braid lay over her hard pillow. Thinking her asleep, Law stood motionless, making no attempt to hide his expression of wonderment until, unexpectedly, she spoke.

"What will you do with me when your Mexican comes?" she said.

"Well, ma'am, I reckon I'll hide you out in the brush till I tame him."

"Thank you. I'm used to the open."

He nodded as if he well knew that she was; then, shaking out his slicker, turned away.

As he lay staring up through the thorny mesquite branches that roofed him inadequately from the dew, he marveled mightily. A bright, steady-burning star peeped through the leaves at him, and as he watched it he remembered that this red-haired woman with the still, white face was known far and wide through the lower valley as "The Lone Star." Well, he mused, the name fitted her; she was, if reports were true, quite as mysterious, quite as cold and fixed and unapproachable, as the title implied. Knowledge of her identity had come as a shock, for Law knew something of her history, and to find her suing for his protection was quite thrilling. Tales of her pale beauty were common and not tame, but she was all and more than she had been described.

She had not been too proud and cold to let him help her. In her fatigue she had allowed him to lift her and to make her more comfortable. Hot against his palms—palms unaccustomed to the touch of a woman's flesh—he felt the contact of her naked feet, as at the moment when he had placed them in the cooling water. Her feeble resistance had only called attention to her sex—to the slim whiteness of her ankles beneath her short riding skirt.

Following his first amazement at beholding her had come a fantastic explanation of her presence—for a moment or two it had seemed as if the fates had taken heed of his yearnings and had sent her to him out of the dusk—wild fancies, like these, bother men who are much alone.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.

Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Methodist Church.

A. M.—"Proofs of the Being of God Outside the Bible."
P. M.—"Why we Pray."

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

VanPelt Hall.
Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.
Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Man."
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Church of God.

Services at Camp Ground every Sunday.
Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching at 11:00 a. m.
Services over Taylor's Grocery, Charlevoix, at 2:30 p. m. every Sunday.
Services at Burgess school house.

Bargains for You.

Four h. p. Mogul Kerosene engine. Also one Reliance Cream Separator. Can be seen in operation. Charles J. Zeitler, corner Upright and Sheridan streets.—Adv.10tf.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter-s Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER-S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 36 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of Frank J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internaly and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by all druggists, 76c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. March Adv.

See us for your Job Printing.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No.255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residence, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KINC
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Office Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

Every day is
DOLLAR DAY with us

ONE DOLLAR starts a
Savings Account

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK
Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan
We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.
The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.
Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.
If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

PUBLIC AUCTION SALE

The fourth of a series of Public Auction Sales promoted by the Charlevoix Commercial Association and open to the public, especially to the farmers, for the sale of their Produce and Live Stock and also anything they might wish to turn into money, such as Farm Machinery, Household Goods, etc., will be held in Charlevoix, on

Saturday, March 17, '17

AT

Hooker's Garage

Commencing at one o'clock and lasting until four o'clock or until everything is sold. The promoters of these sales prefer that articles for sale be listed as early as possible but this is not necessary so bring in anything you wish to sell and it will be taken care of. A partial list of articles for sale is listed below:

Pair Mares, roan and bay, age 8 and 3, weight 2950	Cow 6 year old, fresh May 4
One black mare, 8 years, weight 1200	2-year old heifer, fresh May 17
One black mare, 10 years, weight 1200	Dome Cream Separator, 350 lb capacity
One sorrel mare, 9 years, weight 1200	New Cutter
One sorrel mare, weight 1050	Spring Cutter
One black horse, 3 years, 1200	2 set of double work harness, good as new
Cow, 7 year old, fresh April 19	2 pair Traverse City Sleighs, new
	One top Buggy, new

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time on good approved bankable paper, bearing 7 per cent interest

For further information or to list articles for sale call phone 45 or Mr. Byers, auctioneer.
Date of sale, Saturday, March 17, 1917.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer L. E. SMITH, Clerk

One Dollar

will start that

Savings Account

Do it Dollar Day at the

"STATE BANK"

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crone, President.

H. S. Hersha, Vice President. A. A. Swinton, Vice President.

A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Thirty-seven districts represented at the officers' meeting, nn attendance of over 80, nearly 10 women.

Mr. Coffey surprised us by refusing to talk pension law. He explans however, that it is in force now, and that the pension will actually be colected as soon as the state secretary of the Retirement Fund Board, Mr. Cameron, returns from his trip to Wiseonsin, where he has been studying the working out of the law in that state. School boards will then be notified directly by him and the state officers will not be influenced, officially by the proeeedings.

Miss Berna Fincout began her work in the Woodard school, Monday, the 5th.

The Harmon school spring term was to start on Monday, the 12th.

Miss Barber returned to the Sudman school for the spring term, beginning March 4.

Courteous treatment and the "make yourself at home spirit" prevailed in the Boyne City school when the meeting was moved from the city hall to the more comfortable and roomy assembly room. The officers were given the best to be had.

Miss LaLonde of the Mountain school is serving hot noon lunches to her pupils. This is the seventh school attempting this. There are three in Eveline, two in Chandler, one each in South Arm and Wilson.

Miss Allen of Springvale says tbey are now in possession of some new supplementary readers and is rejoicing over what she calls a "step in the right direction."

Miss Ida Milton requested 8-four month certificates for the Maple Grove school, and Miss Florence Milner requested 16 for the Burgess school. Wilson No. 1 reported an attendance of 97 and one half per cent during the month of February, regardless of the bad roads and frightful storms. They are not so much of a drawback, are they, if boys and girls once get the "go to school" habit.

Last week the commissioner visited a school where granite drinking cups had been furnished to the pupils by the school board. The boys and girls kept them in their desks nnd took them to a stone jar, filling them from the faucet whenever they were thirsty. It sounds very well, and it looked very well, but becuuse the commissioner had heard some very harsh criticism ngainst this pruetice, and because she wondered just how it worked, she asked the following questions: "How many have washed your cups since Christmas?" One from the 13 present answered that he had done this. "How many have cleaned your cups some other way or other this year?" Three had cleaned their cups since Christmas. One kept his cap upside down in his desk to shut out the dust from the floor. Critics say that children will exchange cups, that they spill drops from one cup to another and so forth, but no further questions were asked in this case.

When asked if he would want n new teacher next year, one director answered: "I should say not. We've got the best teacher in the county right now." Teachers, how would you like that said about you?"

Boyne Falls has given a contract to one of the chemical toilet companies to install a complete sanitary system in the village schools as soon as school closes this spring.

Bay No. 1, wbere Mr. Ralph Starmer is director, enclosed the cloak rooms and plastered under the wainscotting during the holidays. Sorry not to have heard the good news sooner. The heating system is heating the building now. The teacher, Miss Ruth Dell, says thjy will want a state man to look over the building in the spring to direct further improvements.

Hopyard requests a list of books suitable for little folks. Advance acknowledges the same weakness in its library, and in tbe same breath determines to eorreet that by getting the new books for this year all supplementary reading books, stories, mythe, etc., for the first three grades.

Every now and then a book agent lands in this county with the express intent to prey upon tbe conscientiousnesa of our beginning teachers. They may possess elaborate courses of study, reference books, condensed collega educations, or what not. Some of their merchandise is very good for its kind, although it is all very expensive and a few small books could be bought for much less money and yield much more usable information. For this reason tha commissioner has uniformly and consistently refused to give a recommendation to any of these agents. I do not wish to use my influenee in urging teachers to buy anything of this kind which they would not wish to buy for the pure love of buying. Nevertheless two ageats have made it a practice to say that they have this reeommendation, and one even showed a note which he claimed was from this office. Sorry that such is the case and that several teachers last year bought on the strength of such a statement. We cannot oust the peddler, but perhaps we can work together for libraries of our own choosing and spot the ones where spot we may.

Get our prices on auto tires and tubes before buying elsewhere. We can and will save you money. S. Orlowski & Son.—Adv.11t1.

CORRESPONDENCE

WILSON.

William Scheffels will move in the near future to a place nearer town.

Mrs. George Zoulek visited at the Peter Zoulek home a few days last week.

Ethel Brintnall, who is teaching the Three Bells school, was home over Sunday.

Miss Mae Brown of Jordan township, has been visiting at the Albert Todd home the past week.

Miss Sadie Donleyy, who is teaching in the Cedar Valley district, spent Sunday in East Jordan.

Wilson township caucus occurs on March 15. The political pot is boiling. Will report results later.

Jasper Warden, who has had his farm rented for the past two years, will move back to the soil ngain.

Thomas Shepherd, who has been driving a tubular well, was agreeably surprised when he struck a vein which supplied a stendy flow of water from the pipe—a flowing well.

The large and nearly new basement barn of Harry Behling, near the German church, was struck by lightning on the morning of the 12th and was burned to the ground. Barn was insured.

A saving of $10.00 on each harness until sold. Only a few set left. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

EVELINE.

The township caucus was well attended, about 75 being present.

Miss Goldie Schneider spent Sunday at home with her parents.

Township caucus last Saturday—two tickets for only two officers.

Charles Cornwell of Ellsworth, was in Eveline on business Friday and Snturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen and Mr. and Mrs. Courier and children, spent Sunday at the Matthew Saunders home.

Richard Williams has had a severe attack of the grippe and is quite ill ut this writing. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Lee Barnum spent Saturday and Sunday with his family on Breezy Point farm, after u week in East Lansing at the Farmers' Institute Round-up.

—Neighbors and friends spent an enjoyablo evening at the Walker home last Wednesday, playing games, etc. All declared Mrs. Walker n capital hostess.

It has been reported that Eveline farmers are going to buy cars this spring as fast as the companies can manufaeture tbem. The cars save the farm horses many miles of the hardest kind of work, that of driving on macadam roads. We are all glad thnt tbe farmer can get a car, for wbo can get more practical service and who deserves it more than him? Again we repeat that we are glad, for cars bave come to stay and for a good purpose. Buy early.

Temptation was too great to resist wben the good coasting was here, so a party of young people ventured out on one of the higbest hills in Eveline for a good time. Everything went lovely until the bobs upset nnd one fellow stuck his head into a large drift of snow, evidently looking for bare ground. When he emerged he was minus at least a square inch of the tougher portion of his nose covering and blood was liberally flowing. Ach! Such a fate, but this shows thnt no practice makes inefficient wheelsmen as well as soldiers.

Subscribe for tha Courier.

Notice to Electors.

I will be a candidate for the office of Highway Commissioner for Norwood township. Have worked on highways for several years and can competently perform the duties required of me.

Adv.11t4pd J. E. Santoes.

They tell you that prices are higher on auto tires and auto supplies are high, but see my line before buying. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

Subscribe for tbe Courier.

LEGAL NOTICES

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, tbe Probate Court for the County of Cbarlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Harriet A. Newman, deceased. Horace Wakefield, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is Ordered, That the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, Tbat public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed nnd circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,

11t3pd Judge of Probate.

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At n session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of John H. Newman, deceased. Herbert C. Newman, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowanee thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is Ordered, Tbat the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing suid account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice tbereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three sucessive weeks previous to said day of bearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,

11t3pd Judge of Probate.

L. E. Crandell

Groceries and Provisions

FOR DOLLAR DAY ONLY

Saturday, March 17

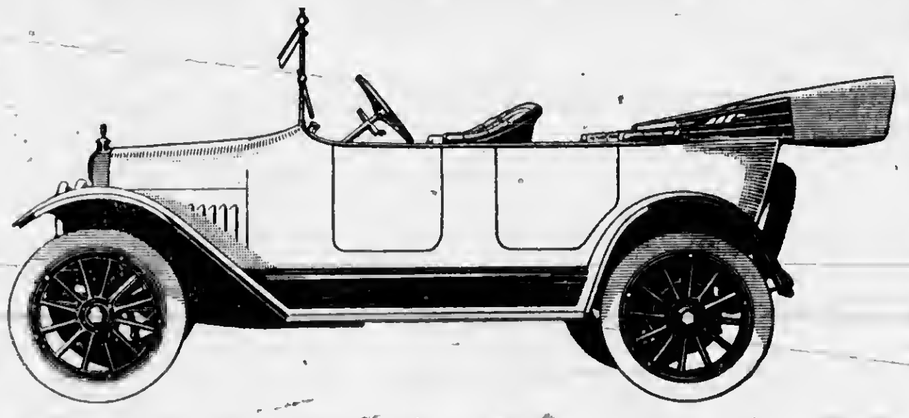
Six boxes Searchlight Matches	30c
One box Mother's Oatmeal	30c
One pound Lesder Coffee	25c
Two pounds Whole Rice	16c
One can K. C. Baking Powder	15c
Half pound pure Black Pepper	15c
	$1.31

All for One Dollar on Bargain Day

Suits cleaned and Pressed

$1.00

F. E. CARTIER, Tailor



DOLLAR DAY

Maxwell Guessing Contest

We will give cash prizes to the first three persons guessing how long a Maxwell engine will run on one gallon of gasoline All contestants must fill out coupons and send or bring them in to the Central Garage by one-thirty SATURDAY MARCH 17th

Frist Prize - - - -	$2.00
Second Prize - - -	$1.00
Third Prize- - - -	.50

Erickson & Fowler

THE CENTRAL GARAGE

102 Antrim Street Charlevoix, Michigan

Cut out this coupon and send or bring to

THE CENTRAL GARAGE

My guess is .....

Name .....

Address .....

Frazier's Dollar Day

Bargains For March 17th

Children's $1.50 Shoes for	$1.35
Children's $2.00 Shoes for	$1.75
Children's $2.25 Shoes for	$2.00
Girls and Boys $2.50 Shoes for	$2.20
Girls and Boys $3.00 Shoes for	$2.65
Girls and Boys $3.50 Shoes for	$3.10
Ladies' and Men's $4.00 Shoes for	$3.50
Ladies' and Men's $4.50 Shoes for	$3.90
Ladies' and Men's $5.00 Shoes for	$4.35
Ladies' and Men's $5.50 Shoes for	$4.85
Ladies' and Men's $6.00 Shoes for	$5.25
Ladies' and Men's $8.00 Shoes for	$7.00

We are selling all our shoes from 50c to $1.00 a pair below the price they would have to be if we were to buy them today. This makes a saving to you of from 50c to $2.00 on a pair. Take advantage of this sale and buy your shoes for the summer.

Frazier's Shoe Store

Benj. Brown Raises Lid on Canned Low Prices

DOLLAR DAY, MARCH 17th, will be a day of low prices at this store. Regardless of the advances in prices of merchandise we are making the following prices which are lower than the goods cost one year ago.

Heavy Canvass Gloves per dozen	$1.00	One inch Leather Halters each	$1.00
One-half doz. Men's $2.00 Vests each	$1.00	Bicycle Rubber Pedals pair	$1.00
Men's 25c Socks 5 pair for	$1.00	Rapid Fire Batteries 4 for	$1.00
Quantity of Men's $1.50 and $2 00 Sweaters, each	$1.00	Stock Remedy 3 packages	$1.00
Quantity of Boy's $1.50 Sweaters, each	$1.00	3 gallons good Ford Auto Oil	$1.00
Quantity of Men's $1.50 Pants each	$1.00	2 Champion X Spark Plugs	$1.00
Small assortment of Boy's Pants 2 pair for	$1.00	Good Auto Jack for	$1.00
$1.25 Suit Cases each	$1.00

DOLLAR DAY offerings that eclipse anything yet offered at this store, are selected for your benefit on March 17. If you want to make a Dollar do double duty come to us and let it work for you.

Benj. Brown

Trunks, Suit Cases, Leather Goods, Men's Work Clothes

Phone No. 60 Charlevoix, Michigan

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD.

John Runyon has just purchased a new gasoline engine.

Rev. and Mrs. Will Smith were on the sick list this week.

Fred Simmons has sold quite a few of his lamps around Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holecheck were in Charlevoix a few days last week.

Mrs. Will Alward called on Mrs. Amerdon Stafford Friday afternoon.

Sam Alward called on his brother, Isa Alward of Ellsworth, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wedderburn were in Ellsworth one day last week on business.

Mrs. Tom Scroggie, teacher at Barnard, called on her husband, Tom Scroggie, Thursday.

Will Supernaw of Grand Rapids, called on his father, Henry Supernaw, Wednesday.

Tony Clarke preached on Sunday evening, on account of Rev. Smith being unable to preach.

Mrs. Haskings has moved back in the Ferguson cottage, after spending the winter in Charlevoix.

Miss Nell Carman, Miss Margaret Lucia and Miss Irene Holecheck are all ill with the grippe this week.

Mrs. William Lucia and daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. Will Alward, called on Mrs. George Perry, Friday afternoon.

A complete garage at your service within a few days. Overlands at $665.00 and Fords at $360.00. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

MARION.

Clarence Elliott has a new Ford.

Willism Withers has a new milk delivery rig.

Mr. Cellner is very much better at this writing.

Mrs. Jay Adams visited Mrs. Meggison last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pontius visited at the Adams home last Wednesday..

The ladies auxiliary will serve dinner at the hall election day.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls visited at the George Meggison home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bogart visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Donaldson last Wednesday.

Miss Julia Cork is taking a vacation and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cork.

Mrs. Lucy Pearl and Mrs. Henry Harrington visited Mrs. George Harrington last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Himebauch called on his sister, Mrs. Elmer Donaldson, last Tuesday afternoon.

The ladies auxiliary met at the grange hall on Thursday, and tied three and quilted one quilt for Mrs. Clarence Meggison.

Earl VanZant, Floyd Black, Harold Cliffe, Mnrie Cliffe and Beulah Launderville attended a farewell party on Vern Jones at Norwood, last Thursday night.

Mrs. Rhodn Wooley, Mrs. Percy Wooley and two children, Mrs. Stickney and daughter, Helen, and Mr. Saville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls last Monday.

Neil VandenBerg was canvassing the neighborhood last week, taking up a collection for R. Aardema, who lost everything by fire a short time ago. Mrs. Aardema has been sick with pneumonia all winter.

Mrs. Stickney and daughter, Helen, and Mr. Saville, who have been visiting Mrs. Wooley for the past ten weeks, returned to their homes in Canada last Thursday.

Norwood Township Caucus.

The Republican electors of Norwood township will meet in caucus on Wednesday, Mnr. 21, at the Town Hall, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the several township offices.

Adv.11t1 By Order of Committee.

CLARION.

Mrs. Hattie Fountain returned last week from Petoskey.

The Republican will hold a township caucus on Tuesday, March 13.

Miss Adah Colden is visiting relntives in Petoskey for a few dnys.

Lawrence Weaver has received the appointment as rural carrier on R. F. D. 1 out of Boyne Falls.

Mrs. Silas Young and children of Elmira, are visiting Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Younce.

Mrs. Maude Brown returned Monday to her home at Walloon Lake, from the hospital at Petoskey, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Hattie Isaac and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Isaac's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Webster, returned to her home at Mayfield on Monday.

Mrs. Vernon Brown and Mrs. Robert Steele of Walloon Lake, returned last week from a short visit with friends in the upper peninsula.

William Wngar of Macklin, Sas., who hns been visiting friends here n few dnys, returned home Tuesdny He was accompanied by his two sons and his uncle, George Embury. Mr. Embury will visit his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Purvis, before his return.

BIG SEASON IS PREDICTED

(Continued from page three.)

the farmers in adjoining cities to join the association, and from these four associntions select a few of the most energetic workers, and those who are deeply interested in the welfare of the county, who will go outside and do things and get things to come into our county, and to help develop it and to build it up. How many times hnve we gotten up a little booklet, and nice ones too, and from my own experience I think but little good has come from it largely because of the indifference of many people, who, instead of making use of them, have left them piled up on the shelves.

A "Get Together Club," not only in nnme, but who actually do meet often, where different ideas might be exchnnged, must nnturally result in something doing. Someone may hsve heard of someone in some place who would like to start a new enterprise somewhere. If such should be the case, find out who he is, write him, tell him you are going to go and see him, then pick out two or three good fellows who know best how to put up a proposition of this kind and see him. Tell him of the nd-vantages of our county—that we'll nil boost him and assist him in every way pnssihle. See what Chnrlevoix city has done for itself—it has brought more tourists there than any other city in the north, and if we hsd greater accommodations a great many more would come. See what Mrs. Baker has done, and she will tell you today that two more big hotels could be filled up from the overflow and from the people who do not come because they cannot get accommodations. Half of our people are not only willing, but gladly give up their own homes, first, of course, in order to get a nice bunch of money for them, then, as they say, to help the town along.

Speaking of nll being full reminds me that our state bas just gone bone dry, and there may not be as many full aa there used to be. I want to digress just long enough to say that this "bone dry" business will not only be a good thing for our city, but for our state, and let us bope that in due time it will be so tbrough out the United States.

The last few years has proven it for us, I think. When our town first went dry men have said, and you have henrd it aa well as I, that Charlovoix suffered in a bosiness way because of the closing of the saloons, and immediately after you hear another man say, it's a mighty good thing for Charlevoix that she went dry, I can now send my family up here and feel that tbere aro no saloons for them to pass nnd no saloon signs for tho children to read, and yet he said on the side—there is plenty to drink yet—if you want it and you don't hnve to look fnr for it. Nnw conditions next year will he or ought to be a great denl hetter, as both the wets aad drys shouid put aside all former prejudices nnd unite oa a united Charlevoix. This reminds me of a meeting I once attended, the object being to unite all the traveling men's associations in the United States in one grand association. A Hebrew friend of mine wished tu say in his speech that "la union there was strength," but he got muddled a little and said, instead, "in union there is dsm stout."

In going back to the starting of new enterprises. Let us first be dead sure that the man or the people who we sollcit will be one of high standing and all that we can ask. We want no adventurers, no tricksters, no one who will come simply to get u bunch of our money and then go uwsy, but we want men who will stay by us, build homes and become one of us; men whu will stick by tho ship through calm and storm and when they tie up to Captain Wilbur's dnck will say, "we're here to stay."

No one can tell the large smount of money that would have been distributed among our citizens had the sugar factory and the Rock Product Company continued in business as they originally started out to do, and tbe failure for not doing so was really no fault of our people.

Now I sappose that you expected me to say something about "roads," but this is not a rosd letter. Tho fact is you can build any kind of roads you wish—I don't care what kind, for I can go anywhere anyone else can, and if I find I cannot, I know of lots of places where I can go, und there are lots of other people who can do the same, but no matter where we go we cannot take as Dr. Greensfelder has so beautifully expressed it, the wster-wnshed climate of Charlevoix county along with us. I beg the doctor's pardon for qunting his very beautiful way of putting it. It is the best description that I have ever heard for our climate, which we know is the hest, or at lesst there is none better in the world.

George H. VanPelt.

GLASSES FITTED

CONSULT

J. LEAHY

Optometrist

Expert on Eye Strain

Hendache, Dizziness, Nervousness, and all other symptoms of Eye Strain cured.

Crossed Eyes Straightened Without nn Operation.

Fitting Children's Eyes a Specialty.

Difficult Cases Solicited.

Ginsses Guaranteed to Fit.
Office at Hotel Charlevoix.
Date, Monday, March 26.
Home office, Petoskey, Mich.
Will remain one day.

SATURDAY, MARCH 17th

DOLLAR DAY Specials for the Housewife

An arm full of pnckages bought at thia atore on Saturday will only be the outlay of a few Dollar Bills. Then too you can purchase many articles for $1.00 alone. This atore has been in the habit of giving seasonable gooda at reduced prices, but on this date we have accumulated a selection of bargains that the shrewdest purchaser cannot resist from buying. Everything offered for Dollar Day is something that every woman uses every day and we can and do take pride in the splendid assortment of values we are giving our trade March 17.

8 yards of 18c Percale for $1.00
11 yards of 12½c Percale for $1.00
9 yards of 15c Gingham for $1.00
10 yards of 12½c Outing for $1.00
2 Coverall Aprons for $1.00
Two regular $2.00 Waists for $3.00
One 50c Collar and one $1.00 Waist for $1.00
One 25c Collar and one $1.00 Waist for $1.00
Any House Dress for $1.00

CORSETS

$1.50 values in Corsets for $1.00
Royal Worcester and Juatrite Corsets for slender, medium and stout figures.

BRASSIERS.

Made of excellent quality material with heavy lace, hook fronts, 3 50c Brassiers for $1.00
5 25c Bath Towels for $1.00
2 75c Bath Towels for $1.00
5 25c Handkerchiefs for $1.00

CURTAIN MATERIALS.

10 yds of 15c Scrim or Marquisette for $1.00
7 yds of 20c Scrim or Marquisette for $1.00

ART GOODS.

Extraordinary values in Art Goods—Stamped Pillow Cases, Dresser Scarfs, Laundry Bags, Gowns, Combination Suits and Children's Dresses.

Special Reduction on all Wool Dress Goods.

RAINCOATS.

With every purchase of a Rain Coat we will give FREE any $1.00 Umbrella.

Every now and then a store offers bargains, but the above offerings eclipse anything that this city has seen in Dry Goods Specials on any one special day. You can buy here, knowing that quality stands back of every specinl that is on sale for Dollar Day.

MASON'S DRY GOODS STORE

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS---Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

at the Store of Quality and Good Service.

Saturday, March 17

War has hit the consumer long enough—on Dollar Day the Consumer will make a big gain on the field of economy. Struggling has been one sided but on this day we will turn the tide of high price warfare in another direction. The following prices are limited for the one day only and you are urged to take advantage of the bargains offered.

The Grocery Dept.

One order to a Customer

10 pounds Beans $1.00
12 pounds Head Rice $1.00
20 pounds Cracked Rice $1.00
5 pounds good Coffee $1.00
4 dozen good Oranges $1.00

We will sell only one order of each article listed above to a customer.

DOLLAR DAY SPECIALS for March 17 only

The Meat Dept.

Six pounds of any of the following meats for One Dollar, of one or more kinds to make up 6 pound order, March 17 only.

6 pounds Pork Steak $1.00
6 pounds Pork Roast $1.00
6 pounds Salt Pork $1.00
6 pounds Pork Sausage $1.00
6 pounds Beefsteak $1.00
6 pounds Hamburger $1.00
6 pounds Corn Beef $1.00

Seven pounds of each or seven pound order of both for $1

7 pounds Frankfurts $1.00
7 pounds Bologna $1.00
5 pound Pail of Lard $1.00

Watch windows for Display and Prices on other Lines of Goods.

Phones 12 and 69

C. Danto & Son

Just plant the Tape a row at a Time-

Better Results— Less Labor

WITH

PAKRO SEEDTAPE

FOR BETTER GARDENS

Better results because only finest, selected seeds from prize winning strains are used. They are properly spaced in thin tissue paper tape which absorbs and holds moisture, giving quicker and better germination, and healthier plant life. Less labor, because you plant a whole row at a time, and no thinning out is necessary on account of proper spacing in the tape. More economical, because absolutely no waste of seeds.

Pakro Seedtape is made by the American Seedtape Co., 71 West 23rd St., New York City. Get it at your dealers. Price 10c per package

Dealer

H. B. JACOBS, Grocer.

THEATRICAL.

Honor Thy Name.

The Majestic Theatre offers for Thursday night of this week the Triangle—photoplay,—"Honor Thy Name," featuring Frank Keenan, Charles Ray and Louise Claum. An old-fashioned father of the sturdy patrician stock of the south shows his erring son that a good name is even more to be gaurded than life itself. The son falls in with a rather fast New York set and allows a woman to enslave him. The complications that ensue while the father tries to separate the boy from the calculating woman forms the sensational elements of the story. Thursday, March 15.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Open Forum for Our Readers

How to Fiod Your Good Cows.

The question of what breed of cows the general farmer should keep has been discussed times without number, and luckily everybody does not reach the same conclusion in the matter. There are arguments for and against one breed or another which end in favor of the cow giving a large flow of milk and testing a high per cent of fat.

This at least is our rule and regardless of the color or breed of the cow, if she has these two points she remains with us as long as she shows a profit at the pail.

We keep separate records of each cow and the cow that does not toe the mark is sold for beef as soon as we can fit her. The two things necessary to find out a cow, are the record sheet and scales. The milk is to be weighed after each milking and if practiced regularly you will become so used to it you will not think of the time it takes and you will also become interested in each cow individually.

Our rule is to test each cow once a month. For this we have a four bottle tester, costing about $5.00, and every man keeping cows should have one. We have found that it is necessary to test at least once a month, as the cows often vary in their milk, and in testing associations it is the rule to test twice a month. Testing is practiced by far too few of our local farmers, and if more would spend a little time in finding out about their cows, they would not complain of losing money in dairying. By the elimination of the "boarder" cow, your profit will be larger and the expense account will be less.

Our experience with two of our cows may be of some value to some of you who intend carrying on this work: These two cows gave a large flow of milk but did not test as high as we thought they did and should. We tested them several times and they did not do any better. At this time, after making up our minds to sell them, we read in a dairy paper that often a cow had an "off year," due to her condition, etc. We decided to keep them and give them another chance, as they were heavy milkers. The next period of lactation proved them to be first class, as they tested one full point higher than the former year. We mention this fact in order that anyone testing may know that you cannot judge a cow by testing once, and not even by testing them a few times. This instance proved these cows were out of condition, this one season, and we learned to be patient in disposing of our cows.

The cow that does not give much milk and whose milk tests are low, need not be given quite so much time to prove her value, although we give all our cows a fair chance to prove themselves. In doing this work it is well to remember that you have to feed for milk in order to produce it, and that the test often varies when feeding different feed.

Get our prices on auto tires and tubes before buying elsewhere. We can and will save you money. S. Orlowski & Son.—Adv.11t1.

Wilson Grange.

Wilson Grange has been having meetings in the afternoons of the Thursday that occurs before the 2nd and 4th Saturday in the month. One more meeting will be thus held, when the time of meeting will probably be changed to evening again.

At the meeting held March 8, one candidate was obligated in the first and second degrees.

The social hour was occupied in doing justice to an oyster dinner, which was succeeded by a good program.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to us during the bereavement of our dear beloved mother, also many thanks to the choir and for the beautiful flowers.

Gustav Jerichow and
Adv.11t1 Brothers and Sisters.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Don't Have Catarrh

One efficient way to remove nasal catarrh is to treat its cause which in most cases is physical weakness. The system needs more oil and easily digested liquid food, and you should take a spoonful of after each meal to enrich your blood and help heal the sensitive membranes with its pure oil-food properties.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

The results of this Scott's Emulsion treatment will surprise those who have used irritating snuffs and vapors.

Get the Genuine SCOTT'S

CONTRACT RADISH

Radish Seed is an easy crop to grow and gives good returns. We have a limited acreage yet to contract. We are also offering attractive prices for growing contract beans.

We furnish the seed.

The Everett B. Clark Seed Co.

East Jordan, Michigan

A. E. CROSS, Superintendent

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Events of Interest to Courier Readers

Central Lake "Bone Dry."

"Bone Dry" is what Central Lake threatened to become the first of last week. The water main on the south side of Smallegan, Smith & Co.'s store broke, and the water running to waste lowered the supply in the reservoir until only those whose hydrant are connected directly with the main water pipes were able to get any water whatever, and that was very scant. The remainder of the homes depended on their neighbors who were fortunate enough to possess pumps for their water supply.

The trouble was located Wednesday afternoon and new pipes laid.

Bad Tangle in Kalkaska County.

When Charles E. Mahan, former treasurer and register of deeds elect of Kalkaska county, left his office, supposedly with $4,500 of the county's money, he left behind him a tangle which promises to drag through the circuit court for many months.

The latest sensation in the village is the suit started against the county election board by Charles W. Gardner. In the primaries last fall, when Elmer B. Pruden won the nomination for register of deeds, Gardner was a close second. Pruden died shortly after his nomination and the members of the election board placed the name of Mahan on the election ballot, with the result that Mahan was named register of deeds. Now Gardner claims he should have been the nominee, owing to the fact that he received the second largest number of votes in the primary. Following Mahan's disappearance just before he was to assume his duties as register, the board of supervisors named Lewis Eumask to fill the vacancy in the office. Now Gardner has started suit against the election board, claiming he is entitled to the office.

Another litigation has arisen through the disappearance of Mahan. Solomon Loser, one of Mahan's bondsmen during his first term as treasurer, and who was asked to settle a portion of the shortage, has employed an attorney and will fight the case, claiming that he is not responsible for any shortage of Mahan during the first term because the supervisors put their O. K. to Mahan's books at the expiration of the first term. Loser was not one of Mahan's bondsmen during the second term.

Mrs. Zora Cole, widow of Clyde Cole, one of Mahan's bondsmen, who died, has been released from payment of any part of the money. The estates of M. N. Lehner, deceased, has also been released. Lehner, another bondsman of Mahan, died a short time ago.

Mill Goes Up in Smoke.

The plant of the Empire Lumber company at Empire, owned by the T. Wilce company, of Chicago, was destroyed by fire Sunday of last week. The loss is $35,000 covered by insurance. The fire started in the main mill while men were in the brick engine room firing up in preparation for starting the season's cut last week. The main mill was destroyed. The engine room was damaged. The fire was not discovered until beyond control. Citizens turned out and formed a bucket brigade. Nearly 75 men were thrown out of work. T. Wilce of Chicago, head of the concern, is now in Empire to decide whether to rebuild.

Plan to Build Cement Dock.

The board of trustees of the Bay View Camp Ground association at a recent meeting in Detroit voted to present to the association stockholders at their annual meeting, August 15, the proposition to construct a concrete dock at the side of the present badly ruined Bay View dock.

The cost of such an improvement is estimated at from $5,000 to $8,000 but when completed the dock would be one of the finest on the upper lakes.

The matter of repairing the present dock for use during the 1917 summer season will be taken up at the spring meeting of the board of trustees at Bay View and without a doubt a temporary structure from the shore to the boat landing section will be constructed.

Want a New Hotel.

The business men of Central Lake are planning to erect a hotel to replace the Tavern, burned three weeks ago. An organization was formed with T. D. Meggison, chairman, E. B. Gill, secretary and Fred Mohrmann, treasurer. It is planned to build a modern hotel with 300 rooms, the village to furnish the site and a percentage of the cost and procure the co-operation of a hotel syndicate.

Narrow Escape from Drowning.

Louis Calinsky of Petoskey, reports a narrow escape from drowning and exposure while trying to cross from Cross Village to St. James, Beaver Island, on Wednesday forenoon of last week. He drove his horse and sleigh, leaving the village early in the morning.

At about noon he encountered water over the ice to a depth of nearly a foot and lost trace of the trail leading to the island. It soon started to storm quite budly and Mr. Galinsky turned about and started back toward Cross Village.

He lost his way in the storm and after about seven hours reached shore about two miles from the village. Upon nearing the shore he encountered open water and was forced to swim himself and horse through the icy water.

He made a rope out of the reins and then hauled the sleigh to shore, finally reaching the village nearly frozen and suffering from both cold and hunger.

He reached his home at Petoskey Thursday and there found a baby son had arrived during his absence.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

March 6, 1917.

Regular meeting of the board was called to order by vice president Bridge.

Trustees present, Bridge, Nordrum and Hiller.

Absent, Hampton and Classford.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $4576.83.

The following bills were presented and read:

General Fund Orders.

1117	Benj. Brown, sup.	$ .25
1118	Mrs. John Macey, cleaning	.75
1119	Chemical Rubber Co. supplies	1.00
1120	Row, Peterson & Co., supplies	6.48
1121	City Treasurer, rental and tolls	35.60
1122	Wesley Staley, jan.	22.50
1123	Mrs. Allison, jan.	7.50
1124	A. M. Dolberg, jan.	7.50
1125	Roscoe Smith, jan.	7.50
1126	Theodore Kibbe, jan.	7.50
1127	Charlevoix Courier, printing	5.50
1128	Mich. State Tel. Co. rental and tolls	7.35
1129	Frank Bidssat, fuel	24.73
1130	Wood Bros	5.75
1131	Blanchard Hdw. Co.	.90
1132	F. G. Hines & Co.	3.91
1133	Alonzo Powers, services and supplies	67.80
1134	Robert Bonthron, services and supplies	13.42
1135	Odillion Weed, office assistant	1.50

Library Orders.

343	A. M. Dolberg, jan.	$ 5.00
344	Wesley Staley, jan.	7.50
345	Mich. State Tel. Co., rental	1.50
346	Miss Anna Bon, library	30.00
347	Jacobs & Dawson, sup.	1.75
348	A. C. McClurg, ref.	3.59
349	Elizabeth Pomeroy, M. L. A.	.75
350	A. Flannigan Co., sup.	.73
351	Robert Bonthron, sup.	1.85

Teacher's Pay Roll.

12 Oluf Nordrum $845.72

Moved and supported that the bills as read be allowed and the secretary be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective bill. Motion carried.

These minutes were read and approved and on the motion the board adjourned.

E. J. HILLER. Sec.

The new model Overland at $665 will be on exhibition within a few days. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

COUNTY FINANCES.

As Reported for the Month of February By County Treasurer.

Receipts.

Cash on hand February 1, 1917	$49,601.13
Reed from Delinquent taxes	1,152.54
Reed from Redemption Certificates	12.53
Reed from General fund.	3.04
Reed from Poor fund.	298.28
Reed from Library fund	2.00
Reed from Resident Hunters license	2.70
Reed from Circuit Court fund	3.00
Reed from Stat of Michigan	86.92
Reed from Mortgage tax	71.00
Reed from Int on Deposits	40.61
Reed from miscellaneous	36.46
Total	$51,310.21

Disbursements.

Paid General fund	$ 1,795.38
Paid Poor fund	1,829.48
Paid Circuit Court orders	158.60
Paid Criminal Fee orders	13.00
Paid Probate Court orders	47.17
Paid Soldiers relief fund	29.00
Paid County Road orders	1,562.48
Paid Mortgage tax	54.00
Cash on hand	45,821.10
Total	$51,310.21

Dated at Charlevoix, Mich., March 3, 1917. George W. Weaver, County Treasurer.

Opens New Offices.

Henry Kauffman has installed offices in the old bakery building, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, and will buy all kinds of Hides, Copper, Brass, Rags, Rubbers, and all other kinds of metal. Highest market price paid for all goods brought in. Spot cash.—Adv.7tf.

Dollar Day

MARCH 17th

10 cans of 15c Peas for	$1.00
10 cans of 15c Pork and Beans for	$1.00
4 quart jars of Waneta Cocoa for	$1.00
4 boxes Saxon Wheat Food	40c
4 boxes Monarch Corn Flakes	40c
4 boxes Soda	32c
2 cans Wheatena	30c
All Dollar Day for	$1.00

Come and see us for all kinds of Feed and Special Grocery prices.

Martin Block

Telephone 124 Charlevoix, Michigan

On Dollar Day Mar. 17

We would like to have everyone in the City to try our New Bread

It is Better than any in the City. We feel justified in making this request. We have the goods behind the above statement. We have paid our taxes (to help support the city.) Have met all requests for Charity with an open hand. Have made all church donations requested Cheerfully and feel we are entitled to a fair proportion of the City's trade in our line. Our present facilities for giving you Superior Goods and Service is unsurpassed.

Our Products are all Fresh every day. They are not made one day, allowed to stand over night to cool and then shipped two or three hundred miles to be handed out to you 36 or 72 hours after they are made.

We will give you on DOLLAR DAY our Profits and sell you

10 Loaves of Fresh Bread for	$1.00
10 Dozen Cookies for	$1.00
8 Dozen Fried Cakes for	$1.00

and any other 12c articles in our line 10 for the Dollar

Give Us A Fair Consideration

McCann's Bakery

Telephone 155 Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

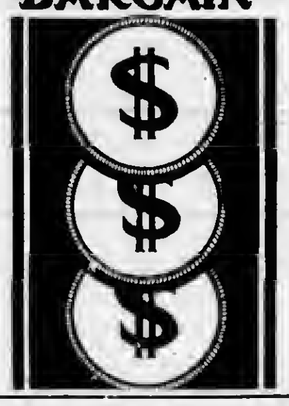
First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to

Make DATES at COURIER Office

Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

Each One Good For A BARGAIN



30 pkg Alf Leaf Tobacco for	$1
3 lbs Dairy Butter for	$1
3 lbs White House Coffee for	$1
3 lbs Monarch Coffee	$1
4 cans Beans, 3 cans Corn, 3 cans Peas	$1
4 bars Oakleaf, 14 Santa Claus Soap	$1

And with every $1.00 cash purchase we give a key on the wonderful National Harmonola.

Edward Klooster

Phone 53 113 Bridge Street

Highest Prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Pork, Beef, Produce

Dollar Specials Saturday March 17

50c Wizard Polish Mop
50c Wizard Duster, chemically treated
50c Bottle Wizard Polish
10c Package Mop Cleaner
25c Package Carpet Cleaner

The Outfit for
$1.00

$1.35 Large Aluminum Kettle for $1.00

See our window for Special Values in Enameled Ware for Saturday Only

Remember that on Saturday Afternoon of March 17th, the $50.00 Renown Range will be sold to the highest bidder

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

Miss Lathe Sins of Midland, Mich., is the new trimmer at Mrs. H. A. Carr's millinery store.

George A. Crouter and wife left Tuesday for Grand Rapids on a weeks visit.

Miss Benona Bartlett spent several days in Traverse City this week visiting friends.

The north bound train was stuck in a snow drift near the Waller farm Wednesday morning.

John Banniger, who has been visiting in Elk Rapids the past week, returned home Friday night.

Mrs. F. T. Biossat left Sunday for Detroit to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. P. Watson, who is quite ill.

E. B. Ward was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Blanchard of Chicago, when on a recent visit to that city.

Miss Clara Price returned Saturday from Elk Rapids, where she has been visiting friends for the past month.

Mrs. Don M. King of Petoskey, (formerly Miss Merle Felts) was in the city Monday on a visit to her parents.

Henry Klooster of Atwood was in town Wednesday and Thursday of last week, visiting his son, Edward, and family.

Earl Dodd is home from Flint for a short visit. He expects to return in two weeks, having a fine position at that place.

Eber Marshall, who returned to Flint with his family this week, sold his house on State street to Clarence Heise before leaving.

Mrs. Lena Cram, who has been visiting her son, Verl, at Flint for the past three months, returned to Charlevoix last week.

Mrs. Lucy Fuller returned last week from Chestonia, Michigan, where she has been spending the winter with her borther.

Dollar Day Sales will be given by many Charlevoix merchants at 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. Saturday, Mar. 17. See the advertisements in this week's issue.

Miss Margaret Ryan, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Forest Bartholomew, in Chicago, for the past three weeks, has returned to Charlevoix.

Mrs. Lotus, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Nancy Morrison in this city for some time past, was called back to her home in Ohio Wednesday by illness in her family.

Special communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, March 20th. Work in E. A. degree. A full attendance is desired. By order of W. M.

W. J. Lewis, postmaster at Boyne City, accompanied by W. W. Bailey of that place, drove to Charlevoix, Monday, having buainess to transact at the court house. They left for home via Petoskey, Tuesday morning.

The trial of Harry Powers for the murder of a bank cashier in Illinois, will not be held until next week, so latest reports have it, regardless of the publicity some misinformed newspapers have recently given the case.

Judge Mayne returned from Bellaire, Friday, where he has been sitting on the Antrim county bench. He left for Traverse City Monday, to try some non-jury cases there part of the week.

and expects to be home the latter

Dollar Day, Saturday, March 17.

Mrs. Chester Denton returned home Wednesday from Harbor Springs, where she has been spending the winter months with her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Martindale. She stayed here only a day or two, going back to Harbor Springs Tuesday afternoon.

The special services of the Baptist church, during the next two weeks, will be held as a series of cottage meetings—the homes of various members being used for this purpose. See bulletin in Blanchard Hardware Co.'s window each day for place of meeting that evening.

The following is credited to a Missouri editor: "The wind bloweth, the water floweth, the farmer soweth, the subscriber oweth and the Lord knoweth that we are in need of our dues. So come a-runnin' ere we go a-gunnin'! This thing of dunnin' gives us the blues!"

Frank Biossat received a card from his mother, who left here recently for her home in Chicago, and is now at Tallulah, La., saying that while it is not as warm there as she expected, voilets are in bloom and she has seen a mocking bird. From Tallulah she goes to Alexandria, La., the old home of the Biossats, and where their relatives now reside.

Don't forget the debate at the Charlevoix high school, Wednesday evening, March 21st, at 7:45 sharp. The Charlevoix affirmative team meets the Boyne City negative team on the question, "Should We Have Military Training in the Public High Schools." An interesting evening is assured and the boys and girls want the support of your presence. Come.

Dan W. Mather, who has been in charge of the orchards and fruit growing end of the big Waller farm for the last four years, left last Friday for California, where he will work on a ranch near Los Angeles. Mr. Mather is an excellent young man, well grounded in the knowledge of his work, and we are sure he will make good and wish him every success, though we are sorry to lose him.

CHARLEVOIX MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1917.

Grains

White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.70
Red wheat, per bu.	1.75
Beans, per bu.	7.00
Red kidney beans, per bu.	6.50
Oats	.68
Barley, per bu.	1.10
Buckwheat, per cwt.	2.25
Rye	1.15
Shelled corn	1.15

Dressed Meats

Cattle, fatted	$11.00 to $13.00
Pork, dressed	16.00 to 17.00
Calves, dressed	12.00 to 14.00

Live Poultry

Chickens, per lb.	$ .18
Turkeys	18 to 20c

Produce, Vegetables, Fruits

Butter, per lb.	.35
Eggs, per doz.	.30
Potatoes, per bu.	2.00
Honey per lb.	15
Salt, granulated	1.60

Dollar Day, Saturday, March 17.

Two rival claimnants for the reward offered for the capture of Harry Powers, the bandit who was apprehended in this city last May at the Hotel Michigan, Rev. Quinton Walker and Charles Jefferies, went to Traverse City Tuesday, as we understand, to press their respective claims before Judge Mayne, with whom the decision rests as to who is entitled to the reward.

All the lateat spring millinery at the Hat Shop.—Adv.11t1.

Official Oath In Siam.

If any form of oath is calculated to impress one, that which is prescribed to the state officials of Siam is likely so to do.

Each official on taking the oath of office has to say: "May the blood flow from my veins; may crocodiles devour me; may I be condemned to carry water to the flames of hell in vessels without bottoms; after death may I enter into the body of a slave; may I suffer the harsheat treatments during all time in years as numerous as the sands of all the aens; may I be reborn deaf, dumb and blind and afflicted with dire maladies; may I also be thrown into Nnrok—the lower regions—and tortured by Prea Yam if I brenk this oath."

C. H. Minnis has removed his shoe repnir ahop to the Bedford Shoe Store, and is prepared to do fine shoe repairing.—Adv.10t2pd.

Corinthian Brass.

That which was known as Corinthian brass is said to have been a mixture of gold, silver and brass. There is a legend to the effect that when Mummius destroyed the city of Corinth by fire the conflagration melted all metals, which ran down the streets, and the three mentioned above ran together and formed the alloy named.

Reliable Seeds of all kinds. S. Orlowski & Son.—Adv.11t1.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

WANTED—Middle aged lady to care for children and do work around the house. Call up 78f31 11t1

FOR SALE—Jersey and Grade Jersey heifer calves from good producing cows. Geo. Meggison, R. 1, Charlevoix, phone 167f5. 9tf

FOR SALE CHEAP—5 acre fruit and truck farm, on South State street. Would trade for farm. Phone 164f3, Charlevoix, Mich. 10tf

FOR SALE—10x30 Lansing hinge door silo. Eight months time without interest. Fred White, Charlevoix No. 2, phone 117f4. 10t3pd

WANTED—To rent for the summer of 1917, cottage on the north side. Will not consider Dixon Ave. Mrs. Leonard S. Florsheim 5018 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. 8tf

WANTED—Cabinet makers, bench and machine hands for large woodworking plant. Good wages. steady employment. No labor trouble. The Hamilton Mfg. Co., Two Rivers, Wisconsin. 7t6

FOR SALE—11 acres, on Norwood Road one mile from Charlevoix; 7 room new house, new barn, stone chicken coop. Terms easy. Inquire Mrs. James Wyers, phone 95-31. 11tf

WANTED—Single man for general farm work. Must be able to milk. Year round work. State age, experience, salary expected, give reference. Wallace Bros, Bay Shore, Mich. 9tf

FOR SALE—The McNeill cottage on Petoskey avenue. A bargain for cash and a quick deal. A beautiful lot and a good sized house. Nothing in its class for sale on the north side. Come quick. J. Milo Eaton. 11t2

WILL EXCHANGE a large grocery stock inventorying about $10,000, in Pontiac, Michigan, for a fruit farm in Northern Michigan. Do about $75,000 annually, old established business. W. Green, 27 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac, Michigan. 11t1pd

FOR SALE OR RENT—My farm of 47 acres, 2 miles south of Charlevoix, on County Road. Also 10 acres, separate from farm, with 2 acres of red raspberries for sale. Will sell stock and tools. Terms reasonable. Inquire of Mrs. J. H. Blackwood, Charlevoix, R. F. D. No. 1. 9t4

FOR SALE—Elegant furnished house on Michigan avenue and Lake Michigan. Location perfect. Rented for next season for $750. Purchaser gets $650 of it. Sickness in family reason for selling. Best bargain on North side. House will pay for itself after first payment. Come early or it will be gone. J. Milo Eaton, Real Estate. 10t2

400 TYPEWRITERS
REMINGTONS SMITH-PREMIERS
Let your Children Learn Typewriting at Homeduring vacation. Instruction Book free. Empire Type Foundry, Buffalo, N.Y.

DOLLAR DAY AT DOLLAR DAY

CRANE'S, Mar. 17 SATURDAY

10:00 a. m. to 12:00 Noon

$1.50 W. B. Warner's Corsets - $1.00
Six 22c Turkish Towels for - - $1.00

2:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m.

Six 22c Turkish Towels for - - $1.00
Ten yards 13 1-2c Bleached Sheeting, $1.00
$1.50 W. B. Warner's Corsets - $1.00

MARCH 17th — SPECIALS FOR $1 DOLLAR DAY — MARCH 17th

For Dollar Day we are making some exceptionally good flyers. Some of which are the following:

Any Stove or Range in stock at 15 per cent off from the regular price. This means a saving to you on each $7.50 purchase of

$1.00

2-50c bottles, either O'Cedar, Scotch or Liquid Vencer Polish and a good triangle Polish mop all for $1.00

$1.25 large size O'Cedar Polish Mop, for $1.00

$1.25 Folding Ironing Board for $1.00

$1.25 Folding Sewing Tables for $1.00

$1.50 and $1.25 Alumiumware for $1.00

3 packages Hygiene Kalsomine for $1.00

A 5 gallon kit of good barn paint and a good 4 inch brush all for $5.00

Any piece of Furniture in stock at 10 per cent off our regular price. This means a saving on each $10.00 purchase of $1.00

REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE

March 17th Dollar Day March 17th

S. M. SEE & SONS

THE RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tuesday, March 20
"THE STOLEN TRIUMPH"
Featuring Julius Siegar

Thursday, March 22
"THE DEVIL'S NEEDLE"
Norma Talmadge

Have You Ever Stopped To Think that stockings should be fitted as carefully as shoes? That unless your hose fit properly your shoes won't, either? The comfort and well-being of our customers concern us vitally—a satisfied customer is a permanent customer. In our hosiery department we have made a study of "foot-comfort", and as a result we strongly recommend

ARMOR PLATE Hosiery

Knit to shape and size exactly—not shrunk or stretched into shape after knitting. Therefore, they fit the foot, ankle and leg perfectly, without sagging or wrinkling.

And they're dyed with "Harms-not Dye"—guaranteed by the manufacturers not to rot, burn or weaken the yarn. That means longer wear as well as fast color.

Get a pair today for each member of the family.

D. E. CLOW & CO.

Fertilize that Field and Get a bigger Yield!

It is time to think of the Spring Plowing and the plans for the coming season's crops. You want a big crop and to get it your soil must be in excellent shape. Fertilizer is the thing you need. We handle Swift,s Fertilizer, Super-phosphate Fertilizer also Truck Fertilizers for Gardeners.

We request that you get our prices now and place your order. We have plenty of each on hand

W. A. BOSS

ELLSWORTH - MICHIGAN

New Wall Paper

FOR THE

Spring House Cleaning

Every Spring some home needs new paper for its walls—yours may be the one this year. If so, we invite you to come to our store and look over the new patterns that we have selected for our particular customers. Our assortment in colorings is up-to-the-minute and we know our prices will meet your approval when you see the line we have in stock.

ELLSWORTH DRUG CO

Phone 20 :: :: :: :: Ellsworth, Michigan

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We will have on hand the following seeds to let on contract in the spring:

White Beans
Light and Dark Red Kidney Beans
Garden Beans of most any variety
Buckwheat and Peas

That we will let you have and you can pay for your seed when you sell your crop. Come in and talk it over with us.

The Ellsworth Produce Co.

W. R NELSON, Manager

PHONE 35 ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

HILLERVILLE.

My but the roads are icy out here.

Miss Ida Reamsma spent Suaday at her home.

Mrs. J .E. Boss is very sick at this writing. We all hope she will recover soon.

Well, three cheers for next 4th of July, when we hope it will be a little warmer.

Miss Lucy Reamsma, who is working in East Jordan, is expected home in a few weeks.

Miss Gertie Reamsma spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Reamsma.

Ida Reamsma called to see her little cousins, Miss Rosie and Gertrude Reamsma, Sunday.

Henry Reamsma and Joe Hofman and Fred Reamsma called at the home of Joe Reamsma Sunday.

Miss Gertie Reamsma and Gertrude Jensen are having a weeks' vacation at their home near Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert DeYoung spent Friday nt the home of Mrs. DeYoung's sister, Mrs. Henry Reamsma.

We heard that Gertie Reamsma came home for a rest. We asked her about it and she said at the sewing machine.

We understand that George Heller was nominated for the office of highway commissioner. Won't dirt fly this year.

It is said that the Holiness people are holding revival meetings at Phelps. Bad time as the roads are in a very bad condition.

We understand that Henry Reamsma has purchased an 80 acre farm near Phelps from Mr. VandenBerg. We wish him all kinds of good luck.

Joe Hofman, who has been working for Mr. Hooker in Charlevoix, is spending a little vacation at home before starting to work for Edward Klooster of Charlevoix.

We understand that John and Jake Sitesma have been ill. The cases were indigestion. We are glad they are able to be around again, as we missed their company very much.

Fred Reamsma, who has been working in East Jordan for the past year. spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reamsma, returning to East Jordan Sunday night.

WRIGHT DISTRICT.

Sam and Russ Alward spent a few days last week with Isa Alward.

Mrs. Isa Alward visited Mrs. Jacob Bergsma one day last week.

Harry and Oscar DeGroot have been hauling corn stalks the last few dnys.

F.A.Wright sold a horse Saturday to Mike Segonek of Rock Elm neighborhood.

Mrs. Thos. DeMoulpied visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. Wright, Tuesday.

Miss Maude Best of Ellsworth, spent Sunday at the home of C. E. Bearss and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bergsma are visiting at the home of Jacob Bergsma this week.

Mrs. Isa Alward spent Friday and Saturday in Ellsworth with her father, who is quite ill.

Andrew Essenberg of Atwood, visited at the home of Jacob Bergsma, Saturday and Sunday.

Andrew Bergsma and wife went to Atwood, Tuesday, to visit at the home of his uncle, John Essenberg, and his cousin, Gerrit Essenberg.

A family reunion was held at the home of Isa Alward, Sunday, March 4, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Ellsworth, and their sons Will, Oscar and Melvin of Boyne City, and Glen of Ellsworth, spent the day there.

School Notes.

The third grade learned a part of "Barefoot Boy" for language last week.

We are enjoying our warm lunches as much as ever at school.

The second graders have finished their readers and are trying some sight reading now.

Our bell sounded rather faint last Monday, as it was almost completely covered with ice.

ELLSWORTH CHURCHES

M. E. Church.

Rev. Eldred, pastor.

Sunday school 1:30 p. m.

E. J. Chellis, superintendent of Sundny school.

2:30 p. m.—Preaching.

Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. D. E. Clow, president. Everyone invited.

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—11:00 a. m. Sundny school, Mrs. F. H. Skow, superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic service.

7:45 p. m. Thursday—Prayer meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bradford and son have returned from the upper peninsula, and we understand will make their home for the summer with Mr. Bradford's parents.

Ellsworth Section

FRIDAY EVE'G,
March 16

Macbeth a la Mode

A School Comedy in three acts,

BOSS HALL, given by

Central Lake High School

Admission: 15c and 25c

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

Irving Eaton made a business trip to Charlevoix, Monday.

M. R. Nelson has moved into the Frank Davey house on Main street.

Deputy Sheriff Densmore of Central Lake, was in Ellsworth Saturday.

L. O. Bloomer of Alden was in Ellsworth on business one day last week.

Dell Bowman returned Saturday from a weeks visit with his sister at Alden.

Chas. Smith has been very sick the past week, but is some better at present.

Supervisor H. S. Peebles was in Traverse City Friday and Saturday of last week,

George Klooster returned Friday from a six weeks trip through the south and west.

Frank Peebles has been confined to the house through sickness for the past ten days.

Frank and William Louiselle and L. Aardema of Phelps were in town one day last week.

Lee Telegenhoff returned Monday from East Jordan, where he has been working this winter.

Paul Alkima has moved with his family to Chicago, where he will make his future home.

Richard Dennis, Jr., was in Charlevoix, Tuesday, transacting business with the dentist.

Arthur Ruis returned from Grand Rapids on Friday, after spending a week visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd VanOrnam were in Traverse City, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Mrs. R. A. Williams of Traverse City visited at the home of W. A. Boss several days last week.

Frank Foster was busy plowing the roads one day last week and made a decided improvement.

Cards are out announcing the arrival of a baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Groenink.

Joe Gaunt was busy one day last week moving the household goods of Mrs. Bentley into the house vacated by Paul Alkima, on Park street.

Andrew Bergsma and wife of Detroit, are spending a few days with Mr. Bergsma's parents on the farm north of town.

Mr. Dorr of Traverse City, has a gang of men putting up a 50-foot bill board on Main street, opposite D. E. Clow & Co.'s store.

George Hillman is home from Lansing and is spending a few days with his mother, while recovering from an attack of the grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Denny started Monday morning for Flushing,Mich., where they will visit their sons, Fred and Emmett, for a few weeks.

E. H. Magnant of Cadillac, has been in and around Ellsworth the past week, writing 1917 pickle contracts for Libby, McNeal & Libby.

Prof. M. A. Brail went to Elk Rapids last Friday night to referee a basket ball game between Elk Rapids and Bellaire high schools. Elk Rapids was the winner by a score of 27 to 24.

Two sleigh loads of members of the Ellsworth Epworth League went to Central Lake last Friday night, where they were royally (?) entertained by the Epworth League of that place.

Mrs. Philip Ohman of Kewadin, and her niece, Mrs. Goss of Central Lake, spent from Friday until Monday at the home of Mrs. Ohman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Larsen of this place.

Miss Emma Brosche terminated a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. Ely, on Saturday, and returned to her home in Traverse City, where she will remain about ten days, after which she will return to Detroit to continue her studies at the training school for nurses at Grace hospital.

GRANGE COLUMN

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

Master—William Eastcott.
Lecturer—Mnx A. Brail.
Secretary—Emily Wieland.

MAPLE HILL.

Jacob Simon of Detroit, called on Thomas Guyer the first of the week.

Johnnie Hooper has been putting up ice for Mr. Isabel the past week.

Earl Kirby is moving onto his farm this week. He has been clerking for Thurston & Co. for the past two years, at Central Lake.

Jack Smith made a trip to Eastport this week with his new span of colts. He sold a two year old colt to one of our farmers the past week.

It is to be hoped that Banks township will vote next month to do their share of building the six miles of West Michigan Pike through here next spring. If it does not the state and nation stands ready, we understand, to build three fourths of the road and the township will be obliged to build the remainder.

Notice of Election.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Township of Banks, County of Antrim, State of Michigan, that the next ensuing general election and annual township meeting will be held at Ellsworth on Mondny, April 2, 1917.

H. J. Timmer,
11t1 Township Clerk.

Maud Best spent Sunday at the home of C. E. Bearss.

STRENGTH OF ROPE.

Manila as Strong as a Steel Bar of Equal Weight.

Of the flexible ropes suitable for power transmission, a manila rope is just as strong as a solid steel bar, weight for weight, though only 11½ per cent as strong per equal cross section Leather, on the other hand, is only about 5 per cent as strong as a steel bar of equal cross section and less than 40 per cent as strong per equal weight of material, says an expert in Power.

Records show that rope manufactured from the fiber of palms was used in Egypt long before the days of Christianity. Such ropes were found in the tombs of Beni-Hassan (3000 B. C.) and on the walls of these same tombs are illustrations depicting the preparation of hemp. Carvings found in tombs in Thebes represent the process of making rope from thongs of leather, about 1600 B. C., and Assyrian sculptures of about fifty years later show gigantic hauling operations performed with rope. These records are of particular interest as indicative of the steps through which rope manufacture passed in the early ages.

The relative efficiency of manila rope and leather belting for the transmission of power is not directly proportional to their respective strengths, however, as the internal construction of hemp rope and a strip of leather differ greatly and very differently by wear. Manila fibers from which the rope is manufactured are usually from eight to ten feet in length, are composed of elongated cells that possess great strength longitudinally, but are comparatively weak transversely. Leather, on the other hand, is about equally strong in any direction, so that the wear on such a belt is mostly external. In a manila rope the wear is largely internal. The elongated fiber cells being crushed together when passing around a sheave and breaking up into short pieces. A worn out manila rope, so far as its strength is concerned, may have the outward appearance of an excellent rope, while internally its construction is but a mass of short, broken particles. The allowable working stress of a good leather belt is customarily taken as 320 pounds per square inch, or about one-tenth its tensile strength. In the course of a year or so a manila rope will lose about 50 per cent of its original strength, after which the weakening becomes more gradual. Under such conditions it is safe to figure on an allowable working stress of about 288 pounds per square inch, or one-thirty-second its tensile strength.

She Took the Bait.

"I hardly know how to receive your proposal," said the heiress coldly. "You know, of course, that I am worth a million."

"A million!" exclaimed the ardent suitor. "I know that you are worth 10,000,000 other girls."

"Oh, Jack, forgive me for suspecting you of mercenary motives."—New York Globe.

TOWNSHIP CAUCUS HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Attendance Smaller Than Usual, But Interest Intense.

On account of the bad roads last Saturday, the attendance at the regular township caucus was somewhat smaller than usual, but all present seemed decidedly interested in the proceedings.

Business began promptly at 2:30, with C. E. Bearss as chairman, H. J. Timmer, secretary, and J. H. Elzinga and A. L. Ely, tellers.

H. S. Peebles, having no opposition, was nominated by acclamation to succeed himself as supervisor. The same course was followed in regard to treasurer and Albert Harwood was again the popular choice.

There being two candidates for clerk, it was necessary to vote by ballot, and D. E. Clow received the nominstion over H. J. Timmer, the retiring official.

The main fight of the day was for highway commissioner, there being three men in the field for this office, H. P. Griffin, Frank Foster and Geo. Heller all having hopes. Mr. Heller was the lucky man and won by a nose on the first ballot.

The next office was for highway overseer, and John Essenberg was nominated on the second ballot.

The balance of the ticket went in with a rush, the following named being the selections for the various offices:

Member of Board of Review, H. J. Timmer.

Justice, H. Whitney.

Constables, Bert DeGroot, Martin Elzinga, John Brown and E. H. Boss.

Township Committee, E.R. Harris, Joe McElroy and D. E. Carpenter.

N. R. Griffin is on the sick list this week.

PLEASANT HILL.

Rain and ice.

Mrs. H. Patterson visited with Mrs. Reed Genett Friday .

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman spent Friday at the DeYoung home.

D. McKay spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of H. H. Fales.

Reed Genett buzzed about 80 cords of wood for John Fielstra Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. V. Fales, who has been staying with her son, H. H. Fales this winter, has removed back to her own home.

Little Harold Bearss put a bean in his ear Saturday morning and had to be taken to East Jordan. It took the efforts of two doctors to remove it. (Such extravagance. Bet the East Jordan doctors have placed it in a bank for safe keeping. $7.00 per bushel, wow!)

ELLSWORTH BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants. For Sale, To Rent
Lost and Found, Etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word, first insertion—half rates for each week thereafter. No adv. less than 15c per insertion.

BOAR FOR SERVICE—John Glass, Ellsworth, Mich. 11t1

STRAYED OR STOLEN—White and tan hound. Large, extremely long ears. Very friendly and playful. Name "Sport." A liberal reward for his return, or for information leading to his return. L. VanSkiver, Ellsworth, Mich. 17tf

Spring is Coming...

Nature and instinct tells us that soon the season of spring time will be at hand and with it will come the warm rains. RAIN—that emphasizes the point that we wish to discuss. When the rain patters and the walks are wet you will need something to keep you dry.

Rain Coats and Shoes

A new Rain-Proof Coat is what you will want and this store affords you the opportunity of buying such a garment that will keep off the worst rain downpour you were ever in.

Our shoes are good, durable leather goods that will resist the water, then, too, we have rubbers that go with them. Come in and see what we have to offer you in the new spring goods. No slop worn stocks to dispose of but the best new spring lines obtainable.

WALLACE WEISS DEPARTMENT STORE

ELLSWORTH, MICHIGAN

The People Are Wise

Hundreds of business men have failed because they did not learn this soon enough.

More will go broke for the same reason.

It is more necessary to make and sell honest goods today than ever before.

Because the buying public is wise.

Lily White

"The Flour The Best Cooks Use."

has made good because it was made right.

We knew the people would buy Lily White Flour if we made it a better flour that would give better satisfaction.

They did.

They are buying thousands of barrels more of Lily White Flour today than at any time during the thirty-three years we have been in business.

Because Lily White, "the flour the best cooks use," does bake better bread and better pastry.

VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ellsworth Section

CORRESPONDENCE

ANTRIM.

Rev. and Mrs. Smith visited us on Tuesday last.

Gerrit Stoel made a business trip to Central Lake last Saturday.

Jake and Otto Simon arrived in Antrim, Tuesday, accompanied by Harry Slater.

Herbert Peebles of Atwood, brought a grist to grind at Mr. Baumbach's Friday.

Fred Elkington and wife intend to return to their home at Redmond, Va., sometime next month.

Riley Rice moved some of his household goods to the Arbergast farm at Central Lake, Saturday.

Mrs. Albert Parsons and son, Harry, made a business trip to the home of E. R. Harris at Ellsworth, Thursday.

Riley Rice has rented a farm near Central Lake and will remove there this spring. The new location will make it much pleasanter for the family, particularly in regard to church and school advantages.

Will Montgomery is hauling logs to the saw mill at Jangleville. Whence the name? It doesn't sound attractive.

Capt. Brant butchered his hogs on Tuesday, and on Wednesday went to Ellsworth with a load of prime pork and potatoes.

Roley Baumbach is enjoying a brisk business at his grist mill, some people coming from some distance to have feed ground.

Capt. Brant is expecting his daughter, Inez, to be at home again soon. Mr. Flannigan and Mrs. Chas. Flanaigan, Jr., are both improving rapidly.

We notice that the Atwood correspondent has broken forth in verse, and we must confess to a fellow feeling as expressed in the sentiments thereia, on perceiving the theft of our repertorial thunder.

In correction of a mis-statement which appeared in the Antrim school notes last week, we submit the following: The nine pound boy arrived to delight the home of Peter Stoel, not Bert Stoel, who was married last Thanksgiving. Both are brothers of our esteemed neighbor, Gerrit Stoel.

We want to buy your wood. Come in and see us. Ellsworth Produce Co.—Adv.7tf.

FAIRVIEW, BANKS.

Bright sunny days.

John Rubingh was in Central Lake Thursday on business.

The caucus at Ellsworth was well attended Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeGroot of Mapleville, visited with their parents one day last week.

On account of the icy walks, Sunday, the attendance at the Chirstian Reformed church was not very large.

DeGroot Bros. are hauling cornstalks from the Wright district this week, taking advantage of the nice sleigh roads.

An auction sale will be held at the farm home of John Rubingh, March 29. Watch for the bill in the Courier next week.

Mr. and Mrs. DeBoer and family will leave for Zeeland, Michigan, next week, where Mr. DeBoer will try to find employment.

Two loads of cheery basket ball players from Ellsworth and vicinity enroute to Central Lake, passed here Friday evening. One individual, after having walked seven miles, missed the party and was sheltered over night by your correspondent, and went to Central Lake in the morning.

Notice to Farmers.

Will be ready to grind buckwheat flour, graham, wholewheat flour, both fine and coarse corn meal and grind feed, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Rollie Baumbach, Central Lake, R. F. D. Adv. 2tf

RANNEY DISTRICT.

James Keat went to Charlevoix, Friday, returning Saturday.

Miss Hilldred Liskum is working for Mrs. Clarke, near East Jordan.

Ralph Ranney and Roscoe Smith are packing ice for summer use.

Miss Nora Stamper has been on the sick list, but is reported as better at this writing.

L. S. Ranney of Charlevoix, was calling on friends and relatives in this section over Sunday.

Fred Moore returned to Springvale one day last week, where he has been lumbering this winter.

Notice.

The Township Board of Banks Township will meet for its annual settlement, March 20 and 21, 1917, at Ellsworth, in Boss Hall. All parties interested please take notice.

H. J. Timmer,
Adv.11t1 Township Clerk.

ROCK ELM.

On Monday afternoon of last week the house of W. E. Jennings was destroyed by fire. Mrs. Jennings and the four younger children were alone, Mr. Jennings being absent from home and the two older boys at school. Mrs. Jennings took the children to the nearest neighbors, who called help by phone, but by the time help came, the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save very much. Mrs. Jennings and the children have gone to the home of her parents, where they will remain until Mr. Jennings can rebuild again. They have the sympathy of the entire community.

School Notes.

The fifth grade are reading "Miss Daffy-Down Dilly" and other stories. The "B" sixth grade are reading stories of Michigan.

The Bird Club held its regular meeting Friday afternoon. The "Story of a Canary" was read, also the names of the different species of birds.

MILES DISTRICT.

Gwendolyn and Naomi Isaman are both sick with bad colds.

Esther LaLonde spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Allie Karr.

No one neutral in our school. They either stand for Germany or allies.

Mrs. Albert Beckman spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Lawrence Isaman.

Miss Eva Wells spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Gilbert LaClair.

Jay and Frank Walker were visitors at the Charles Thomas home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Donaldson were visitors at the Jay Walker home Sunday.

Sarah Sherman, who has been absent for a week, has returned to her school work.

Did you hear the thunder Sunday morning? Sounds like the good old summer time.

Our school bell gave us a cold reception on Monday morning. It refused to ring, but the sun smiled so brightly that it soon thawed out the ice and at recess it was willing to do its duty.

ANTRIM CITY SCHOOL NOTES.

The following were appointed editors for March: Esther Parsons, Grace Brooks, Verne Baumbach, Alfred Brooks.

If "the wicked sometimes stand in slippery places," where were the good people Sunday and Monday.

School started with a full attendance Monday, with the exception of Esther Parsons and Earl Baumbach.

Some errors crept into our items last week, which we beg the reading public to excuse, as we have just started in the work.

The duplicate reports on school attendance and class work were mailed to Commissioner Belding this week. A decided improvement is noticeable in the work in arithmetic.

Roley Baumbach, Jr., is again in school, after a week's absence on account of sickness.

Lester Brooks says the crows are on the job again, wondering where he is going to plant corn.

ECHO DIST. NO. 4

Miss Myrtle Murray spent the week end at her home.

Ruth Carpenter made several calls in the district Sunday.

Mrs. Duncan McMillan and Janet spent Saturday at the home of Thomas McCarry at Camp 31.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. John Schroeder in the Bennett district, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bolser are the proud parents of a six pound baby boy, Maxwell Franklin, born February 28.

Miss Lena Murray returned from East Jordan, Saturday, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Tom Busler.

School Notes.

Several were absent last week.

Saturday evening, March 24, there will be a play entitled, "No Girls Admitted," at the school house. Admission ten cents. Each lady to bring a box supper for two. The play is to be given by the young people of the Vance district.

The fifth grade has almost completed the year's work in arithmetic.

We are watching for the first birds of spring. Several crows have been seen.

WILDWOOD.

Ice harvesting in this vicinity is about finished.

John Cawood drove to Ellsworth on business Monday.

John Stevens made a business trip to Central Lake on Monday.

Jim Wilson was in East Jordan on business on Friday last.

Men are visiting the farmers these days soliciting pickle acreage for this year.

Miss Jayne Crawford spent several days last week in Bellaire and Central Lake.

Word from Mrs. Cross says she is so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to visit a sister at Charing Cross, Ont.

Notice of Registration.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registration will meet at Ellsworth on Saturday, the 24th day of March, 1917, from 9:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

H. J. Timmer,
11t1 Township Clerk.

FARMERS:

DEPOSIT your cream and produce checks on a checking account at your home Bank. Let us explain to you this system of doing business properly and see if at the end of a year you are not satisfied. You will have a complete record of all transactions. Any deposit over $5 will be accepted as a first deposit on a checking account.

CITIZEN'S BANK, of Ellsworth
McPHAIL & RICHARDSON, BANKERS
Responsibility, $300,000.00
G. C. TOWNSEND, Cashier ELLSWORTH
We Pay 4% Interest on Savings Accounts If Left 3 Months

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries
Come to this store for Clothing
Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Do You Need a Pair of Work or Dress Shoes
this Spring? We have a line of good shoes and we bought them right. We do not intend to charge war prices on any of the shoes we have in stock. Buy while our stock is complete and save some money. A great many of our shoes could not be bought at wholesale for the price

Henry Klooster
Atwood, Michigan Phone 16-3

ATWOOD SECTION

ATWOOD.

Looks like spring.

Tony Clark and wife went to East Jordan Monday.

J. H. Elzinga of Ellsworth, was in Atwood Tuesday.

Miss Morrow went to Bellaire, Saturday, on business.

Bob Blow will go sailing this summer. Luck to you, Bob.

Joe Veenstra bought a cow of C. Supernaw & Son last week.

L. Cromp bought a colt of C. Supernaw & Son last Tuesday.

August VanderArk of Essex, was a visitor here on Friday last.

John Hofman spent a few days hunting in Atwood last week.

Charles Warner, who has been sick for several days, is better.

Another farmer talking of having an auto. More the merrier.

J. T. Odbert bought a load of corn of John VanHouten last Friday.

Miss Rose Essenburg called on Mrs. John Bos Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Pickart made a trip to Ellsworth with John Bos last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards of Ellsworth, were here on Monday last on business.

Quite a number of Atwood men attended the caucus at Ellsworth last Saturday.

Miss Rose Essenburg and Jennie Zylstra plan to go to Grand Rapids this week.

John H. Smith of Central Lake, was in Atwood, Saturday, with a load of feed.

Guy Empey, who has been to Detroit during the winter, returned home on Tuesday.

Edward Klooster and John Hofman of Charlevoix, drove out to Atwood last Tuesday.

Ernest Beers, who has been to the lumber woods during the past winter, arrived home last week.

S. Haaksma from Winnipeg, Canada, is visiting at the Paul DeVries home for a few weeks.

John Fynn has returned home from camp at Alba, where he has been employed this winter.

George Lord says that he has had the grippe two times this winter, and awful hard. 'Nuff said.

Henry Klooster made a trip to Ellsworth, one to Boyne City, and one to Charlevoix last week.

Henry Klooster made a trip to Holland, Michigan, this week to look after some of his real estate.

Sam VanHouten cut about 125 cords of wood for J. Smith and Essenberg's Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Belding, our county school commissioner, was at the Atwood school on official business Thursday.

Graddus Petter hauled a load of oats to Ellsworth last week Monday, and returned with a load of oil meal.

Last week was called "Visiting Week," but it's being carried on another week. Lots of folks visiting every day.

A number of Atwood young people attended the party given by the young folks of Norwood last Thursday evening.

John Essenberg hauled a load of freight from Ellsworth for Henry Klooster on his return from the caucus, Saturday.

August was in Atwood Friday. We knew August came before September, but did not think as much before at this.

Plenny Genett will start his saw mill sometime this week. The farmers are hauling now—anything that looks like a log.

Jessie Parsons, who has been so sick for the past three weeks, is getting along nicely now. Edna Jolliffe is chief nurse.

J. H. Smith's hired man, Mr. Henry, moved three loads of his household goods to Atwood, Wednesday of last week.

Henry and Albert Elzinga in a few days will own a new Chevrolet touring car. Guess we will go some when the frozen vapor is gone.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown last week, a bouncing baby boy. No wonder dad wears eye glasses. All doing fine. Congratulations.

Mrs. George Parsons, who has been over to Norwood during the past week taking care of her mother, Mrs. A. B. Stafford, returned home the first of the week.

Lots of fellows with colds nowadays. They all tell you how they got it. We don't know how we got ours, but we're trying hard to pass it on to someone trying to get one.

Our genial friend, Benj. Brown of Charlevoix, was here on Monday, talking autos as usual. Ben says when you read the Courier this week you will all come to Charlevoix next Saturday.

Two skunks were Sam VanHouten's reward for a few hours work one day last week. The perfume they are noted for came very near being the means of breaking up a party at the house, when Sam got home, but he was promptly locked out.

The Atwood L. A. S. gave a kitchen shower on Miss Minne VanHouten last Thursday afternoon. A great many useful articles were presented to her and a pleasant afternoon was spent. One question that was asked, "who will be the next one," and everybody looked at Hattie. How about it?

Say folks, don't forget to come to the "Hardtime Party," which will be held at the town hall Thursday evening, March 22. Everybody is invited to one of the old-fashioned good times. The evening will be spent in games, songs and a spelling match, etc. Bring a hard time lunch and wear your oldest duds. If the roads are so you can't ride, just walk the way we used to do.

PHELPS CHURCH NOTES

Apostolic Holiness Church.

Apostolic Holiness church, Rev. B. O. Shattuck, pastor.

Services—10:30 a. m., Sunday school, Mrs. Nellie Drost, superintendent.

11:30 a. m.—Preaching.

7:45 p. m. Tuesday—Prayer meeting.

Keeps Your Stove Shining Bright
Gives a brilliant glossy shine that does not rub off or dust off—that anneals to the iron—that lasts four times as long as any other.
Black Silk Stove Polish
is in a class by itself. It's more carefully made and made from better materials.
Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove or your gas range, if you don't find it the best polish you ever used, your hardware or grocery dealer is authorized to refund your money.
"There's "A Shine In Every Drop"
BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH
Get a Can TODAY

ELLSWORTH MARKETS

All quotations are furnished by different dealers of the different products. All quotations are believed to be correct at the time obtained but are subject to change from day to day with market fluctuations.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1917.

Grains

White wheat, per bu.	$ 1.70
Red wheat, per bu.	1.75
Beans, per bu.	7.00
Red kidney beans, per bu	6.25
Garden varities	$3.50 to 5.00
New oats	.65
Buckwheat, cwt.	2.00
Rye	1.30
Shelled corn	1.20

Dressed Meats

Cattle, fatted	$11.00 to $11.50
Calves, dressed	14.00 to 15.00
Pork, dressed	16.50 to 17.00

Produce, Vegetables, Fruits

Butter, per lb.	$ .35
Eggs, per doz.	.32
Honey, per lb	.17
Potatoes, per bu.	2.00
Salt, per bbl.	1.55

YOU ALL KNOW

That we always give you

BIG BARGAINS

ON SALE DAYS

SO COME TO OUR STORE

DOLLAR DAY

Prepared for Surprises Such as

Big Bushel Baskets

Filled with Cooking Utensils, Etc., and don't forget to look for

Green Tags Marked $1.00

All through our stock

Some $2.00 to $3.00 Articles will be tagged and sold for $1.00

But you'll have to hunt for them. Sales start at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.
to give the Farmers a chance

BLANCHARD HARDWARE CO.

COMMON DISEASE OF BEANS.

Anthracnose Is the Most General and the Most Destructive.

[Prepared by New Jersey station.]

Anthracnose (Colletotrichum lindemuthianum) is the most common and the most destructive of the bean diseases. This is a fungus disease which is always prevalent on certain varieties of the wax, string or bush beans. It varies in severity with the character of the seed and with the weather. If the seed carries a large percentage of diseased beans the attack will become severe earlier in the season than if the seed is comparatively clean. The disease is always more severe during a wet than during a dry season.

The disease attacks pods, leaves and stems. The pod form is the cause of the most injuries, and many growers fail to recognize the fact that the disease as it appears on the leaves and stems is the same as that on the pods. It starts on the pods as small dark spots, which increase in size, sometimes coalescing, thus forming large, irregular cankerlike spots, which are pinkish, reddish or orange in color, but become black with reddish borders. On the leaves it appears as black spots along the petiole and veins, usually on the lower surface. The older spots are somewhat sunken and more nearly like those on the pods. On the stems it appears as spots very similar to those on the leaves, but usually elongated up and down the axis.

The disease is carried on the seed and can be detected by the dark brown or reddish spots. Therefore it is evident that the use of clean seed is of great advantage in controlling this disease. It is claimed that seed grown in the dry, irrigated districts of the west carry less of this disease than seed grown in other places. The writer is inclined to believe this is correct.

If the grower cannot secure satisfactory seed, free from spots, he will find it advantageous to hand pick carefully the seed, throwing out all beans that show suspicious spots and also all wrinkled and cracked beans. This practice will give a better stand and a better crop.

Do not cultivate, hoe or pick the beans when wet. The spores by which the fungus is spread are sticky when wet. They cling to the farm implements and to the hands and garments of the worker and are thus carried from place to place.

The disease spreads from pod to pod after the beans are picked. Therefore it is advisable to handle the newly picked beans as little as possible and to market them as soon as possible.

Wooden Butter Worker.

Sometimes butter is mottled and uneven in coloring because of the salt not being evenly and uniformly mixed and dissolved. A wooden butter fork made big and strong enough to bear a considerable strain will be a valuable help in mixing the salt. It may also be used for taking the butter out of the churn and in working the water out of the butter. Where a big churn is used the fork will be very convenient.—Farm Progress.

CARELESS SPRAYING.

Spraying in ordinary language means covering the plants treated. Every part of the surface should be covered with a fine mist. Spraying a little liquid spray into the tree to cover about half of the surface is not spraying, but unfortunately many folks think that it is.

When you spray cover the tree or don't spray at all. A single unsprayed part of the tree, foliage or fruit leaves a door for the entrance of disease or provides food for insects. Once started on a tree these pests will usually manage to develop. In a short time much of the spray may be washed off by rains, and the results will be almost the same as if no spraying had been done. If you have half sprayed your trees instead of covering them with a fine mist blame yourself if little good results. Spray is effective only when applied in the right way.—Oklahoma Station.

Life's Circle.

In the journey of life we often travel in circles; therefore do today the good that is in you. Plant your blossoms. You will come back to them by and by. It is the beauty of the things you do today that has most to do with making beautiful your tomorrow. One of the blessings of sunset is the memory of what was planted in the morning.

PRIVATE SALE

of Furniture

Excellent Bargains if taken during NEXT TEN DAYS

Inquire of

Leon F. Brower

202 Clinton St.

CAUSE OF CHICKS DYING IN THE SHELL

"Why do my chicks die in the shell?" is a frequent inquiry, and a very pertinent one at this season of the year. A great many people blame their incubators, when the cause may come from half a dozen sources, says the Kansas Farmer.

There are many conditions surrounding the egg, before and after it is set, that may result in the germ dying before it has reached full development. Eggs that have been kept too long before setting, or in too warm or too cold a place, may be the cause of a poor hatch. Frequently eggs are left in the nest so long as to commence to incubate and then are kept some days before being put into the incubator. The embryo chick in the meantime has died. Of course nothing can ever resuscitate it. If eggs are too long exposed to extreme heat or extreme cold after incubation has started it will cause a poor hatch, or if eggs are handled too roughly while on a long journey it will contribute to the same result.

Too much moisture in the incubator will often cause the chicks to attain

In color the Bourbon Red turkeys are a deep brownish red, with main feathers white and more or less white feathers in the center of the tail. These beautiful markings, together with the bird's stately carriage, make them an ornament to any country place. They are of a kind and gentle disposition and do not stray so far from home as most other turkeys do. While they are not immune to disease, they are especially hardy and strong. The birds shown are Bourbon Reds.

such a large size in the shell that it is impossible for them to move their heads or bills and peck their way out. There must be a certain amount of evaporation in the egg, so that there may be a large air cell, so that the chick may have room to move and to breathe, otherwise a failure is sure to occur. Of course, if the eggs are not properly turned and exposed to the air occasionally for ventilation, or if the heat is very irregular, good hatches cannot be expected.

Causes further back than these may affect the incubation of the egg. The breeding stock from which the eggs were obtained might not have been in proper condition. The feed, care and runs may be improper and not conducive to the good health and condition of the breeding stock. Improper or too abundant nourishment, the lack of exercise and a failure to supply plenty of fresh air may also be other causes of poor eggs. Too old or too impotent males or too old or too fat females or undeveloped breeding stock, all and any may tend to produce eggs that lack sufficient vitality to insure full incubation. In short, unless you have a perfectly good, fertile egg you cannot expect a fully developed chick. So don't blame the incubator for a fault of which it is perfectly innocent.

Poultry Health.

Frozen combs are almost inevitably followed by a falling off in egg production. Eating snow will lead to a diminished production of eggs. Damp houses in winter put a damper on the egg laying business. Dry off the houses somehow. When the droppings get moist in the house better get busy. The smell from damp droppings has a tendency to make hens sickly.—Farm Journal.

Exercise For Hens.

If your hens are getting all the exercise they need it is a good plan to chop cabbage fine for them. If not it makes work for them to hang the cabbage up and let them jump and squabble for their green feed.

I will be opened up within a few days with the best that the world produces in automobiles, tires and supplies. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

The DOLLAR SALE IS ON

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1917

I will save you money this year on automobiles, tires and supplies. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

He Fixed It.

The wife of a well known Broadway press agent was complaining the other evening because she had to wash the dinner dishes.

"Woman always gets the worst of marriage," she said. "This housework is destroying my good looks. I think the old rime is right."

"What old rime?" asked her husband.

"It goes like this: 'Husbands and cooks, husbands and cooks, when a girl marries she loses her looks.'"

"You haven't got it right," he replied. "It ought to go like this: 'Husbands and cooks, husbands and cooks, when a girl marries she leaves off her looks.'"—New York World.

Leather is high and still going higher. Buy that harness at the old price.—Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf

The biggest and best car for the money—$665.00—is the new Model 90 Overland.—Benj. Bdown.—Adv. 10tf.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

VnnPelt Hall.

Wednesday service—7:45 p. m.

Service Sunday—10:45 a. m.

Subject, "Substance."

Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Buy that Harness when you can save $10.00 per set on a few that we have made when leather was cheap. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

Buckwheat Bran 75c per hundred. Argo Milling Co. Adv. 45tf

Get the habit—Read the Courier.

NEXT SATURDAY MAR. 17

Next Saturday, March 17, we will offer the following bargains. But this is only a small part of the bargains offered.

All Winter Goods in the Grocery Department will be on sale until they are closed out, at very low prices. TERMS CASH. We offer—

25 boxes Ohio 5c Matches	$1.00
12 pair 10c Cotton Gloves	$1.00
15 pair 10c black Buggy Gloves	$1.00
16 lbs. Good Rice	$1.00
Crackers by the box, per lb.	11c
2½ lbs. 50c Chop Suey Tea	$1.00
3 lbs. Mon-Soon Japan Tea	$1.00
3 lbs. 50c bulk Mixed Tea	$1.00
4 lbs. 35c bulk Japan Tea	$1.00
7 lbs. 20c 4-X Coffee	$1.00
25 cans 5c Cottage Milk	$1.00
25 cans 5c Sunset Milk	$1.00
12 sacks 10c Salt	$1.00
18 pkgs. A. & H. Soda	$1.00
13 pkgs. Silver Bar Raisins	$1.00
55 lbs. Sal Soda	$1.00
30 bars Sunny Monday Soap	$1.00
30 bars German Family Soap	$1.00
30 bars Acme Soap	$1.00
30 bars Bobbie Burns Soap	$1.00
33 bars Milady Toilet Soap	$1.00
25 pkgs. Ruby Toilet Paper	$1.00
25 pkgs. Garnet Toilet Paper	$1.00
40 5c pkgs. Juicy Fruit Tobacco	$1.00

MASON'S DEPARTMENT STORE

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 35. NUMBER 12. 8 PAGES — CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1917. — PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

FIRE BUG'S CONFESSION CLEARS HOTEL MICHIGAN FIRE MYSTERY

Pearl Johnson and Mrs. Cora Biossat Placed in Cells, Where Confessions Were Wrung from Each—Johnson to Get $2,000.00 for Doing Job.

Charlevoix's mast astounding sensation in many years has arisen like the Phoenix from the ashes of the Hotel Michigan fire of Saturday, March 10. Since the arrest and incarceration of Pearl Johnson on suspicion last Saturday night, developments have come thick and fast.

On the night of the fire, some time before the sounding of the alarm, Policeman Howard, pacing his beat on Bridge street, met the man, Johnson, coming from the direction of the Hotel Michigan and evidently under the influence of liquor, as his step was not steady, and the policeman, familiar with the symptoms and knowing that the man was probably on the way to his lodgings, was about to pass him without accosting him, when he noticed that the sleeve of his coat was covered with a whitish substance like snow, which at first blush did not seem strange to the officer, as Johnson in his inebriated condition might readily have fallen to the ground, which would account for it. But bending closer, as he passed, with a touch of idle curiosity, Howard saw very plainly that the white daub on the coatsleeve was not snow, but plaster.

This fact, unimportant in itself, proved, however, later the key to the mystery of the fire, as it was upon this slender thread of evidence and Johnson's suspicious actions during the fire that his arrest was based, followed by the confessions of the fire bug and his principal and instigator, Mrs. Cora Biossat, which have made everything plain.

The first man to suspect Johnson was the sheriff, Charles Novak, whom the prosecuting attorney had called from his bed at the first tap of the alarm, and who noticed that Johnson left several times during the progress of the fire to go back to the Hotel Charlevoix and also that he left his fellows to go into the basement of the hotel alone, where one of the fires which was set was discovered later.

Johnson was to have guarded the remains of the blaze the following morning (Sunday), but Novak, with his growing suspicions half formed, induced the fire chief to put another in his place. Monday morning following, Novak took Johnson with him to the scene of the fire; went over the building and questioned him closely, but his evasive answers only strengthened the sheriff's convictions that there was "something rotten in Denmark."

On Saturday night, March 17th, Sheriff Novak went to Johnson's rooms at the hotel, armed with a warrant for his arrest and found him ill in bed. He was, however, instructed to dress and was then promptly removed to the jail. On Sunday rumours were floating about that Johnson had confessed his guilt. These rumours were confirmed early Monday morning. People had hardly gotten the words "I told you so" out of their mouths before they were upset again by the news of Mrs. Biossat's arrest and confinement.

As Johnson's confession implicated Mrs. Biossat, it was decided to take her into custody at once and as she was known to be returning from Detroit, where she had gone hastily on the morning after the fire to visit her daughter, Sheriff Novak took the early train south Monday morning, got off at Ellsworth and waited for the north bound train, which was due at about nine o'clock. He found Mrs. Biossat on board and waiting until they reached Phelps, he walked up to her and told her that she was under arrest. Though considerably agitated, she took it more calmly than the sheriff had expected.

On reaching Charlevoix, Novak put his prisoner in the bus and they were driven to the court house, where Mrs. Biossat was accommodated with a room on the second floor, from which she was afterwards removed to the women's apartment on the ground floor.

Just as they had been able to wring a confession from Johnson, so now the sheriff and the prosecutor wormed the truth from the woman in whose misguided brain the germ of this revolting felony had long been nurtured, and who, by her own admission, substantiating Johnson's statements in every particular, was the arch-instigator of the crime.

From these confessions it was learned that Mrs. Biossat had offered Johnson $2,000.00 and a set of bedroom furniture to set the fire of November 23rd of last year, in which the central portion on the second floor was badly gutted and the building narrowly escaped destruction.

At 11:45 p. m. Johnson says he entered the hotel and went to the linen room, where stood a two gallon can of gasoline. He kicked over the can and threw a match onto the oil soaked floor; then left for the fish hatchery where he was employed on the night shift.

Owing to the prompt alarm turned in by Dr. Armstrong, the hotel failed

(Continued on page five.)

Auction Sales.

Don't fail to read the advertisements for the three auction sales to be held this week and next, which appear in this issue of the Courier.

John Struthers will hold a sale at his farm, five miles north-east of Charlevoix, on the Petoskey road, Friday, March 30, at 1:00 o'clock sharp.

John Rubingh will hold a sale on his farm, two miles south-west of Ellsworth, opposite the Hollund church, on Thursday, March 29, commencing at 9:30 o'clock a. m.

Leon F. Brower will sell at public auction, Friday, March 23rd, at 2:00 o'clock, at No. 202 Clinton street, city, various articles of furniture.

Auctioneer Byers will cry all three sales. Read the advs. and take advantage of the good bargains they present.

MEN NAMED IN TOWNSHIPS

IN RECENT CAUCUSES FOR VARIOUS OFFICES.

Two Tickets in Marion, Eveline and Charlevoix—May Result in Spirited Contest.

The ballots for township elections to be held Monday, April 2nd, are not all available, owing to the delay in holding caucuses in Hayes and Norwood.

Charlevoix Township.

Charlevoix township has two tickets in the field, but the only candidate on Ticket No. 2 is George Durance, who expects to give William H. Cook a stiff race for the supervisorship. Unless slips are used, the other candidates will have a clear field. They are as follows:

Clerk, Neil McAulay.

Treasurer, E. N. Coulter.

Highway Commissioner, Sampson Codbold.

Justice of the Peace (full term), Walter Roger.

Member of Board of Review, David H. Alexander.

Constables, George Sands, Herbert Wakefield, Guy Pearl.

Marion Township.

Marion township has two full tickets and the result is therefore more dubious. The line up follows:

Ticket No. 1—

Supervisor, Jay Adams.

Clerk, William Withers.

Treasurer, Walter Black.

Highway Commissioner, Albert Elliott.

Justice of the Peace, William T. Burns.

Justice of the Peace (to fill vacancy), Charles M. Pierce.

Member of Board of Review, Fred D. Mason.

Constables, James Willis, Clarence Elliott, Charles Cellner.

Weed Commissioner, Job Jackson.

Overseer of Highways:

Dist. No. 1, Ed Cunningham.

Dist. No. 2, vacant.

Dist. No. 3, Will Ager.

Ticket No. 2—

Supervisor, Elmer Ingalls.

Clerk, George Meggison.

Treasurer, James Cook.

Highway Commissioner, Sam Straw.

Justice of the Peace, Ernest Ecklund.

Justice of the Peace (to fill vacancy), George Winkler.

Member Board of Review, Ed. Cunningham.

(Continued on page four.)

OLD LIVERY BARN CHANGES HANDS

Henry O'Leary Property Sold to Saline Woman.

Ney P. Smith has sold his (formerly the O'Leary) property, corner of Bridge street and Belvedere avenue, to R. J. Redhouse of Detroit, for the latter's client, Mrs. Grace Wilson of Saline, Michigan, taking in trade what is known as the Williams farm, four miles out on the East Jordan road and north of Nowland's lake. Mrs. Wilson's plans for the development of this property are not definite as yet.

We are glad to note that something is probably to be done with this important corner of our principal business street. While the old barn that stands upon it may have been useful once, it can hardly be termed an ornament; is a potential fire trap and anyway, the location is worthy of a good business building, theatre or public hall.

Change usually means betterment. We trust it will be so in this case.

A complete garage at your service within a few days. Overlands at $605.00 and Fords at $360.00. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

Due to the storm Saturday, "Dollar Day," our bargains will be good for Saturday, March 24. Argo Milling Co.—Adv.12t1.

Unmuzzled!

The Jackal and the Little Cur Dog

(A Fable.)

Come, children, gather around Grandma's knee and she will tell you a fable of the (not) long ago.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Once upon a time, in the jungle, lived a Jackal, who was always hungry.

Now, it was the custom of the Jungle People to choose each year from among themselves a chief to rule over them. Though the Jackal had never been honored with this office, he had often looked upon it with greedy eyes and, although he belonged to several Jungle organizations in which he considred himself to be "big dog," he had never been quite satisfied. And right here, I must tell you that the Jackal had long suffered from a very distressing (to others) and insiduous disease known as Inflation of the Ego. All of us have the germs of this malady in our systems to a greater or less degree, but, if neglected, it often becomes chronic and is sometimes fatal. So it proved in this case, and the Jackal, blinded by its effects, determined to press his claims to be selected as chief. Every time he thought of this nice, fat job, the hungry beast would smack his lips and the white slaver would run down from his yellow fangs and flock his lean sides. "Here," he said, gleefully, "is a position worthy of my talents, for am I not preeminent among the beasts? And there will be much glory in it." For the Jackal, you see, was hungry—not for food, of which he was able to secure plenty, but for notoriety.

So the time came for the Jungle beasts to choose their chief and, in an ungunrded moment of carelessness, they chose the Jackal (perhaps they were too busy reading accounts of the "Mexicanista bumistas" and their doings to pay much attention to the matter.) Anyhow, they made him chief.

Time passed, and the Jackal grew more satisfied with himself each day. Whenever he did anything of moment, which wasn't very often, he was sure to let out a long, loud howl and when all the beasts came running to see what was the matter, he would tell them all about it and, believe me, on these occasions, "no pent-up Ithaca"—no, that doesn't sound right; let's see—Syracuse, Rochester, Albany, Schenectady——ah, I have it—"Utica." "No pent-up Utica" restrained his powers of elocution.

Well, as I said before, children, time rolled around and soon approached the date when the Jungle bests were again to choose their chief. Now, the Jackal had no doubt—no, none in the least whatever, but that his eminent ubilities had so impressed the beasts that they would choose him again unanimously. This time, however, they took serious counsel among themselves and considered the respective merits of various leading beasts of whom they might select one to be their ruler. When they thought of the Jackal, they thought hard and (strangely enough) no one seemed to remember that he had accomplished anything worthy of note. "Except," as one of the beasts said, "to howl so loudly that we were brought running from our comfortable dens, only to find that he had caught a mouse or a chipmunk." So, they finally came to the conclusion that the Lion was their one best bet.

Now, when the Jackal heard this bad news, he waxed wroth, indeed. And, in very truth, the shock to his ego, in its inflated condition, was severe in the extreme. Almost beside himself with rage and disappointment, he galloped up and down the street, saying to himself over and over, "I must bite somebody, I must bite somebody!" (for this, you see, was the Jackal's idea of "getting square" with the world).

Finally a poor, little "cur dog" ran scurrying across his path and, as ill luck would have it, dared to bark at the mighty Jackal—a poor, pitiful little bark, to be sure, but still enough to "get the Jackal's goat," as the beasts had a way of saying among themselves. And——children, what do you think? That great, big Jackal bit that poor little "cur dog." Yes he did. So there!

"Now," said the Jackal, "I feel much better," and hurrying away to his den on the North—in the north woods, he lay down for a peaceful nap.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Now, children, it is long past your bedtime and Grandma is tired, so run along like good boys and girls. And what became of the poor little dog, you say? Why, in his dying agonies, he took a last nip at the Jackal's leg. We shall have to wait until later to find out whether the little dog had rabies or not. No more now, so run along to bed, dears.

CHARLEVOIX LOSES ACTIVE WORKER

VINYARD PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON SUNDAY.

Will Hold Evangelistic Meetings in Grand Rapids and Decatur, Illinois on Way Home.

Charlevoix is soon to lose one of its most progressive and active social workers in the person of Rev. Lloyd C. Vinyard, who is to preach his farewell sermon at the Baptist church next Sunday, closing a faithful pastorate of more than two and a half years. A summary of what has been accomplished during his incumbency and his detailed reasons for resigning his charge at this time will appear in the next week's issue of the Courier.

While Mr. Vinyard's plans for the future are not definite as yet, he expects to leave next Wednesday for Kalamazoo, accompanied by six young people of his church, and will make a week's stay in that city, attending the state Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. conventions. Mr. Vinyard has been asked to institute a three weeks evangelistic campaign in Grand Rapids and also in Decatur, Illinois, which he probably will undertake before returning to his home in southern Illinois.

The Courier believes that Mr. Vinyard has been a power for good in the community, and while some people may not be entirely in sympathy with his methods, it cannot be denied that he has sincerely tried to do his best according to the light vouchsafed him, especially, in his work among the poor and in his efforts to organize the young men and boys of the town under the standard of that splendid, helpful and wide spread organization, the Boy Scouts of America. Who will take up the mantle he has allowed to fall from his shoulders, remains to be seen, but it seems a pity to let so fine a movement degenerate into a mere feeder for any organization, religious or secular. The Boy Scout proposition should stand alone and we feel as though it were value enough to the community, especially in view of the strong prospects of immediate hostilities and in the light of the great service rendered by the Boy Scouts abroad during the present international struggle, to excite more enthusiasm and enlist more support than it has in the past.

While Mr. Vinyard has made warm friends and won many ardent supporters, he has also made enemies among those on whose "pet corns" he has been unfortunate enough to step. The persistent malice of these people, it seems, has proven too great an obstacle for him to overcome.

Dollar Day Sale.

Benjamin Brown and the Argo Milling Co. will continue Dollar Day specials again next Saturday. See their advertisement on another page. Benjamin Brown offers all goods left over from the list on the Dollar Day counter of last Saturday at the same prices.

HAVE NOT COMPLIED WITH LAW

AS TO TIME CAUCUS SHOULD BE HELD.

May Affect Legality of Bonds in Marion, Norwood and Hayes Townships.

In the townships of Marion, Hayes and Norwood, doubts and fears are rife as to the legality of the coming election to be held on April 2nd, the validity of the bonds which the incoming officers must sign and the rights of such officers to their titles under the law.

It seems that the state law provides that caucuses in all townships shall be held not less than 20 days previous to the date of election. This is in order to give the absent voter a chance to get his ballot, mark and return it and the comparatively new Absent Voters law gives to this provision especial significance.

The three townships named above have not complied with the law in this respect. Marion's caucus, held on the 17th, was four days late. In Norwood, the caucus held today, the 21st, is eight days to the bad and Hayes, the worst offender of the three, will not hold her caucus until Friday, the 23rd.

The fault, it seems, does not lie wholly within the township. In past years, the state has furnished the township officers with calendars, marked as guides for the correct date of each and every legal meeting. This year in Marion no guides were furnished. Various other reasons are alleged for the delays.

Township officers in this county may, however, be consoled by the knowledge that they are not alone in their shortcomings. Advices from the state department show that at least 90 per cent of the townships in Michigan are late with their caucus this year. As to its effect on the legality of further proceedings, we are not prepared to say, but it really seems as though the law should be, if it is not, elastic enough to cover such delinquencies, especially, when, as in Marion, there are no absent voters to be adversely affected by the delay in holding the caucus.

Ironton Grange.

Ironton Grange No. 707, will meet every two weeks on Tuesday evening. Visitors welcome. Emil Nasson, master; Goldie Schneider, lecturer; Julia Williams, secretary.

A delightful exhibit of Spring Millinery awaits your inspection at the Hat Shop.—Adv.12t1.

CHICORY PROPOSITION FAILS

LITTLE INTEREST SHOWN BY LOCAL FARMERS.

Present High Prices of Beans and Potatoes Seem to Dazzle Tillers of Soil.

John C. Warner of Mt. Pleasant, representative of E. B. Muller & Company of Port Huron, who spoke last week at J. R. Cooper's store, in behalf of the chicory industry, went to Ellsworth, Monday, without having been able to get a single farmer to contract for chicory acreage in this vicinity.

His proposal that they should try an acre this year alongside an acre of beets did not seem to raise any enthusiasm, notwithstanding the fact that if this matter were taken hold of in the right way by the Charlevoix farmer, we might soon expect a factory here to take care of the district's output.

We don't know whether the fault lay with the weather, which rendered it difficulty for many to attend who would otherwise have been there, or with the people who made up Mr. Warner's audience, or yet again the manner in which he presented his proposition to them. We do know, however, from investigation and what we have been told by those who profess to know that the matter of raising chicory in this territory is a matter worthy of careful consideration.

We need, in Charlevoix county, dependable industries and from the nature of things these industries must rest largely upon agriculture. Our home market is insufficient, during three short months in which it is available, to support the general farmer and he must look to the assistance of outside operators to provide him with a guarantee that he will make the interest on the capital invested in his farm and its appurtenances and a decent living besides.

We had the beet, but the beet is, for the present, a thing of the past. We have the bean and the potatoe, but little assurance that they will prove always to bring the returns which war demands have lately made possible.

Big profits may blind the average farmer to his future interests, but the long headed man will provide against the rainy day. Remember, while the outside promoter may be figuring profits for himself, he cannot get them in the long run without making them for you. He cannot force his assistance upon the farmers of this community. They must meet him half-way. If they want to stand still where they are now and take it out in cursing the soil, the climate, the railroads, the lack of markets and what not—why, well and good. But—we do not think they want to.

AGED NORWOOD RESIDENT ANSWERS CALL

Had Lived in County for 39 Years—Burial Saturday.

One of Charlevoix county's oldest pioneers, Mrs. Hannah McIntyre, died at the home of her nephew, George Perry, at Norwood, last Wednesday, March 14th, at the age of 80 years. Valvular disease of the heart was the cause of death.

Hannah Pearl was born in Clinton county, New York, November 27, 1836. In 1864 she came to Battle Creek, Michigan, and about 39 years ago removed to Norwood, where she resided until the day of her death.

The deceased is survived by a son, who lives in northern California; a brother, Lucius Pearl of Central Lake; another brother, Vern Pearl, of Eastport, Michigan, and a sister at Battle Creek; besides two nephews, Harry Pearl of Chicago, and George Perry of Norwood.

The funeral services and interment took place at Norwood, Saturday. So passes another member of the "thin red line" of heroes and heroines who blazed the trail in the wilderness. Their work is done and the places that knew them know them no more.

The biggest and best car for the money—$665.00—is the new Model 90 Overland.—Benj. Bdown.—Adv. 10tf.

CORRESPONDENCE

HAYES.

Bert Wightman is on the sick list.

Wonder if we will see bare ground soon?

Bert Wightman went to Petoskey last Tuesday.

Peter Rush called Dr. Pomeroy to attend a sick horse. Saturday.

Floyd Bartholomew and E. E. Stroud started for Ohio last Wednesday.

Dee Sneathen purchased the Wooden farm from Mr. Bridge last Saturday.

Dulcie Howe came bome Friday night to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. Fred Willis and daughter, Mary, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Jones Lewis.

Mrs. Dogger of Grand Rapids, is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Dee Sneathen.

Lillian May is the name of the new daughter that arrived Monday morning at the bome of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Sneathen. All doing fine.

A jolly crowd of ladies helped Mrs. Frank Kane celebrate her 58tb birthday last Saturday. This makes the third birthday we have been able to help her celebrate, and we all wished her many more such pleasant occasions.

The new model Overland at $665 will be on exhibition within a few days. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

NORWOOD.

Sam Alward was a Charlevoix caller one day last week.

The Norwood township board met Thursday at the town hall.

Frnnk Carman, our Norwood merchant, was in Charlevoix a few dnys last week.

Harry Pearl from Chicago is here, called by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Park McIntyre.

Norm Smith of Charlevoix, attended the funeral of Mrs. Park McIntyre, Saturday.

Carl Holecheek is expected homo after spending the winter in Big Rapids attending school.

Death has called one of our oldest pioneers, Mrs. Hannah McIntyre, at the age of 80 years, three months and 14 days, at the home of her nephew George Perry of Norwood, Wednesday, March 14. Deceased was born in Clinton county, New York, November 27, 1836. She moved to Battle Creek in 1864, nnd from there to her present home in Norwood, where she remained until her death. She leaves one son in California, two brothers, Lucius Pearl of Central Lake and Vern Pearl of Eastport; one sister living at Battle Creek, two nephews, Harry Pearl of Chicago and George Perry of Norwood, nnd many friends to mourn her loss.

Notice to Electors.

I will be a candidate for the office of Highway Commissioner for Norwood township. Have worked on highwnys fnr severnl yenrs and can competently perform the duties required of me.

Adv.11t4pd G. E. Santoes.

NORTH NORWOOD.

Joe Sprik has purchased a fine new cutter. Look out, Elmer.

Harry Dane of Peck, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lohr.

Joe Hofman of Atwood spent a couple of days with his uncle, Joe Sprik.

Mr. West and wife from near Grand Rapids, have moved on the Supernaw farm.

Dick Pascoe and family expect to move to town this week. The neighbors are sorry to see them go.

Mrs. A. Lohr, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lohr and baby, and Harry Dane spent Sunday at the home of Harris Pierce.

A. D. Supernaw, who has been in Florida the past few months, spent Sundny with his parents, Henry Supernaw and wife.

They tell you that prices are higher on auto tires and auto supplies are high, but see my line before buying. Benj. Brown.—Adv.10tf.

BARNARD.

Miss Jennie Smith visited Saturday and Sunday at her home here in Barnard.

Charles Townsend is the owner of a male calf that weighed 101 pounds at its birth.

What happened to Clyde Smith's cutter? Was it a bomb from a Germnn submarine?

Henry Walker returned home a week ago last Thursday from Boyne City, where he has been working this winter.

Miss Grace Shapton of Charlevoix, who has been visiting tbo past two weeks at the home of Edward Ager, spent Sunday at tbe home of her cousin, Clyde Smith.

Joe Clark returned hnme one day last week from Detroit, where he went on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Ronald Reed. He reports that he enjoyed fino spring weathor while there, and didn't see any snow nfter leaving White Cloud.

The oyster supper and St. Patrick's Day program scbeduled for Friday evening was postponed until Tuesday night, March 20, on account of the weather and tho fact that tbe church furnace smoked. Twenty-two ninety was taken in of which $15.20 represented clear profit.

Bargains for You.

Four h. p. Mogul Kerosene engine. Also one Reliance Cream Separator. Can be seen in operation. Charles J. Zeitler, corner Upright and Sheridan streets.—Adv.10tf.

PHELPS.

On tho joh ngain.

Mrs. L. Boss is a victim of tbe grip.

Ralph Klooster worked for Mr. Lewis last week.

Ralph Davis hns started his beanery nkain for a few weeks.

L. Aardemn has moved in tbe shanty of Wilbur Himebaueh.

Mr. Davenport and L. Aardema went to Ellsworth last Thursday.

Mrs. Lawrence Boss had 26 teeth extracted at one time. Some grit.

Lloyd Himebaueh has purchased an 80 acre farm frnm Bert Ingalls.

Several from Ellsworth attended the Holiness meeting here Sunday night.

Miss Effie Fynn of Atwood, is working at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Aardema.

John Howstra has purchased the Alexandria bungalow, on Batchelor street, in south Barnard.

Charley Stevens had n birthday, but no pot luck dinner ns was expected. Hnrd luck, Charley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Tornga called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boss, Jr., Wednesday of last week.

We wish to state that Henry Reamsma of Hillerville, has not purchased an 80 acre farm from C. VnadenBerg.

Mr. and Mrs. Seblo Veenstra called at the home of Mrs. Veenstra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Zylstra last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Potter, Andy Klooster, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Klooster, called at the homo of C. VandenBerg one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bos nnd families went to the breezy side of Banks to visit their sister, Mrs. Vet Stoochs, Sunday.

There is a cutter lying along the Phelps road, but we do not know who it belongs to. Wbether a runaway or a smash-up, the cutter is busticated anyway.

Ed Boss, while coming from town the other day, turned turtle with a load of feed. Andy Klooster was with him. Andy was thrown from the sleigh and went down the bank and stood right on bis head. Ringling Brothers and other good circuses are looking for good performers, Andy.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Aardema and family wish to thank their many friends and neighbors who so kindly rendered assistance during their late misfortune, also all who were prompted to lend a helping hand. The loss of their hnme and contents was a severe blow to the family, and tbe assistance rendered came at a time when the need was great.

Certain-teed

Universal Service. Certain-teed stands for universal service. In every part of the world you will find Certain-teed products "doing their duty", in all kinds of weather and under all conditions—rendering Universal Service of the best kind.

Certain-teed Roofing

gives Universal Service to all who use it. For factories, office buildings, farm buildings, garages, etc., CERTAIN-TEED is the efficient roof. It costs less to buy, less to lay and less per year of life. It is light-weight, clean, sanitary, weather-proof and fire retardant. For residences CERTAIN-TEED Slate Surfaced Shingles have all the advantages of CERTAIN-TEED Roll Roofing, plus artistic beauty. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply), but lasts longer than the period of guarantee.

If you are building or need a new roof, it will pay you to investigate CERTAIN-TEED before deciding upon any type of roof. Sold by leading dealers all over the world at reasonable prices.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes

give Universal Service because they are good, dependable products, honestly made from high grade materials, by expert paint men, and guaranteed to give satisfaction. Mixed by modern machinery which eliminates the uncertainties of hand mixing and insures absolute conformity to the expert's formula on the label. The extensive organization for selling and distributing all CERTAIN-TEED products reduces costs to a minimum and makes it possible to sell CERTAIN-TEED Paints and Varnishes at very reasonable prices.

Whether you do your own painting or employ a painter it will pay you to insist on getting CERTAIN-TEED. Any good dealer can supply you. If he doesn't carry CERTAIN-TEED he can get it for you.

CERTAIN-TEED PRODUCTS CORPORATION

General Roofing Mfg. Co., Gregg Varnish Co., Mound City Paint & Color Co.

New York Chicago Philadelphia St. Louis Boston Cleveland Pittsburgh Detroit Buffalo San Francisco Milwaukee Cincinnati New Orleans Los Angeles Minneapolis Kansas City Seattle Indianapolis Atlanta Richmond Grand Rapids Nashville Salt Lake City Des Moines Houston Duluth London Sydney Havana

Sold by Charlevoix Hardware Co.

"DON'T SCRAP"

Your Furnace, Stove or machine parts, as they can be Repaired by the Oxy-Acetylene Welding Process. We can guarantee quick service. Large pipes can be welded in position if broken and the expense of dismantling is prohibitive. FARMERS—Bring in your Farm Machinery parts and have them repaired before the Spring rush comes.

GET AN ESTIMATE ON YOUR WORK

Charlevoix Welding and Cutting Works

Clarence J. Withers, Prop.

Shop at Erickson and Fowler's Garage

GLASSES FITTED

CONSULT

J. LEAHY

Optometrist

Expert on Eye Strain

Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, and all other symptoms of Eye Strain cured.

Crossed Eyes Straightened Without an Operation.

Fitting Children's Eyes a Specialty.

Difficult Cases Solicited.

Glasses Guaranteed to Fit.
Office at Hotel Charlevoix.
Date, Monday, March 26.
Home office, Petoskey, Mich.
Will remain one day.

BUSINESS CARDS

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special attention given to diseases of the
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office in new Priest Building
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLAN M. WILKINSON
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted
Telephones—
Office, 66 2r Residance, 66 3r
Office in Post Office Bldg., Charlevoix

DR. GEO. W. KING
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Chapel Block Charlevoix, Mich.
Offices Hours:
10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 3 p. m.
Evenings
Office Phone 16-2 House Phone 16-3

DR. J. A. AULD
DENTIST
Office: Residence 206 Antrim street
Phone 478 Charlevoix, Mich.

LISLE SHANAHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Bank Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Post Office Block Charlevoix, Mich.

Space Reserved for Charlevoix
County Bank

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

Nicholls, Buttars and Bridge, Bankers
Charlevoix, Michigan

We pay 4 per cent on all Club Deposits
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

How to Conduct an Auction Sale

First of all, completely list the articles you have for sale. Decide on the date, call the Courier or W. E. Byers for your auctioneer and advertise through the newspaper. You'll get a good crowd, a paying sale and best of all, a competent, reliable auctioneer. Who cries all the sales?

Don't forget to
Make DATES at COURIER Office
Phone 457 for W. E. Byers

HEART of the SUNSET

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers," "The Iron Trail," "The Silver Horde," Etc.

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

CHAPTER II.

The Ambush.

Alaire Austin, like most normal women, had a surprising amount of endurance, both nervous and muscular, but, having drawn heavily against her reserve force, she paid the penalty. During the early hours of the night she slept hardly at all; as soon as her bodily discomfort began to decrease her mind became unruly, and it was not until nearly dawn that she dropped off into complete unconsciousness. She was awakened by a sunbeam which pierced her leafy shelter.

It was still early; the sun had just cleared the valley's rim and the ground was damp with dew. Somewhere near by an unfamiliar bird was sweetly trilling. Alaire listened dreamily until the bird-carol changed to the air of a familiar cowboy song, then she sat up, queerly startled.

David Law was watering his horse, grooming the animal meanwhile with a burlap cloth. It was a beautiful blood-bay mare, and as the woman looked it lifted its head, then with wet, trembling muzzle caressed its owner's cheek. Undoubtedly this attention was meant for a kiss, and was as daintily conferred as any woman's favor. It brought a reward in a lump of sugar.

"Good morning," said Mrs. Austin.

Law lifted his hat in a graceful salute as he approached around the edge of the pool, his spurs jingling musically. The mare followed.

"You have a fine horse there."

"Yes'm. Her and me get along all right. I hope we didn't wake you, ma'am."

"No. I was too tired to sleep well."

"Of course. I heard you stirring about during the night." Law paused, and the mare, with sharp ears cocked forward, looked over his shoulder inquisitively. "Tell the lady good morning, Bessie Belle," he directed. The animal flung its head high, then stepped forward and, stretching its neck, sniffed doubtfully at the visitor.

"What a graceful bow!" Mrs. Austin laughed. "You taught her that, I presume."

"Yes'm! She'd never been to school when I got her; she was plumb ignorant. But she's got all the airs of a fine lady now. Sometimes I go without sugar, but Bessie Belle never does."

"And you with a sweet tooth!"

The Ranger smiled pleasantly. "She's as easy as a rockin' chair. We're kind of sweethearts. Ain't we, kid?" Again Bessie Belle tossed her head high. "That's 'yes,' with the reverse English," the speaker explained.

He would not permit her to help with the breakfast, so she lay back watching her host, whose personality, now that she saw him by daylight, had begun to challenge her interest. Physically Law was of an admirable make—considerably over six feet in height, with wide shoulders and lean, strong limbs. Although his face was schooled to mask all but the keenest emotions, a pair of blue-gray, meditative eyes, with a whimsical fashion of wrinkling half-shut when he talked, relieved a countenance that otherwise would have been a trifle grim and somber. The nose was prominent and boldly arched, the mouth was thin-lipped and mobile. In his face there was nothing animal in a bad sense. Certainly it showed no grossness. The man, despite his careless use of the plains vernacular, seemed to be rather above the average in education and intelligence. On the whole, she rather resented the good impression Law had made upon her, for on general principles she chose to dislike and distrust men. Rising, she walked painfully to the pond and made a leisurely toilet.

"Sometimes I Go Without Sugar, but Bessie Belle Never Does."

Breakfast was ready when she returned, and once more the man sat upon his heels and smoked while she ate. After a while she remarked: "I'm glad to see a Ranger in this country. There has been a lot of stealing down our way, and the association men can't seem to stop it. Perhaps you can."

"The Rangers have a reputation in that line," he admitted. "But there is stealing all up and down the border, since the war."

"The ranchers have organized. They have formed a sort of vigilance committee in each town, and talk of using bloodhounds."

"Bloodhounds ain't any good, outside of novels. If beef got scarce, them Greasers would steal the dogs and eat 'em." He added, meditatively, "Dog ain't such bad eatin', either."

"Have you tried it?"

Mr. Law nodded.

"Did you join the Maderistas for excitement?"

"Mostly. Then, too, I believed Panchito Madero was honest and would give the peons land. An honest Mexican is worth fightin' for, anywhere. The pelados are still struggling for their land—for that and a chance to live and work and be happy."

Mrs. Austin stirred impatiently. "They are fighting because they are told to fight. There is no patriotism in them," said she.

"I think," he said, with grave deliberateness, "the majority feel something big and vague and powerful stirring inside them. They don't know exactly what it is, perhaps, but it is there. Mexico has outgrown her dictators. They have been overthrown by the same causes that brought on the French Revolution."

"The French Revolution!" Alaire leaned forward, eying the speaker with startled intensity. "What do you know about the French Revolution?"

Reaching for a coal, the Ranger spoke without facing her. "I've read a good bit, ma'am, and I'm a noble listener. I remember good, too. Why, I had a picture of the Bastille once," he pronounced it "Bastilly," and his hearer smiled back. "That was some calaboose, now, wasn't it?" A moment later he inquired, ingenuously, "I don't suppose you ever saw that Bastille, did you?"

"No. Only the place where it stood."

"Sho'! You must have traveled right smart for such a young lady." He beamed amiably upon her.

There was something winning about this young man's modesty, and something flattering in his respectful admiration. He seemed, also, to know his place, a fact which was even more in his favor. Undoubtedly he had force and ability; probably his love of adventure and a happy lack of settled purpose had led him to neglect his more commonplace opportunities and sent him into the Ranger service. This man had been denied what she termed education; therefore she decided to put one in his way.

"Do you like to read?" she asked him.

"Say! It's my favorite form of exercise." Law's blue-gray eyes were expressionless, his face was bland. "Why?"

"I have a great many books at Las Palmas. You might enjoy some of them."

"Now that's nice of you, ma'am. Mebbe I'll look into this cattle-stealin' in your neighborhood, and if I do I'll sure come borrowin'."

"Oh, I'll send you a boxful when I get back," said Alaire, and Dave thanked her humbly.

Later, when he went to move his mare into a shady spot, the Ranger chuckled and slapped his thigh with his hat. "Bessie Belle, we're going to improve our minds," he said aloud. "We're going to be literary and read 'Pilgrim's Progress' and 'Alice in Wonderland.' I bet we'll enjoy 'em, eh? But—doggone! She's a nice lady, and your coat is just the same color as her hair."

Where the shade was densest and the breeze played most freely, there Dave fixed a comfortable couch for his guest, and during the heat of the forenoon she dozed. But one cannot sleep well with a tropic sun in the heavens, and since there was really nothing for her to do until the heat abated, Alaire, when she awoke, obliged the Ranger to amuse her.

As the morning progressed Law proved himself an interesting companion, and in spite of the discomforts of the situation the hours slipped rapidly. Luncheon was a disagreeable meal, eaten while the arroyo baked and the heat devils danced on the hills; but the unpleasantness was of brief duration, and Law always managed to banish boredom. Nor did he seem to waste a thought upon the nature of that grim business which brought him to this place. Quite the contrary, in the afternoon he put his mare through her tricks for Alaire's edification, and gossiped idly of whatever interested his guest.

Then, as the sun edged to the west and Mrs. Austin became restless, he saddled Bessie Belle and led her down the gulch into a safer covert. Returning, he carefully obliterated all traces of the camp. He watered the ashes of the fire, gathered up the telltale scraps of paper and fragments of food, and then when the place suited him fell to examining his rifle.

Alaire watched him with interest. "Where shall I go," she asked, "and what shall I do?"

"You just pick out a good cover beyond the water hole and stay there, ma'am. It may be a long wait, for something may have happened. If so, we'll have to lie close. And don't worry yourself none, ma'am; he won't make no trouble."

With the sunset the water hole lay sleeping.

Alaire's retreat was far from comfortable; there was an ants' nest somewhere near her and she thought of moving; but suddenly her breath caught and her heart jumped uncontrollably. She crouched lower, for directly opposite her position, and outlined against the sky where the sharp ridge cut it, was the figure of a mounted man. She was conscious that a keen and hostile pair of eyes was searching the covert surrounding the chaco.

Then, as silently as it had appeared, the apparition vanished beyond the ridge. Alaire lay close, as she had been directed, praying that the horseman had been warned; but shortly she heard again the rustle of stiff branches, and out into the opening rode a Mexican. He was astride a wiry gray pony, and in the strong twilight Alaire could see his every feature—the swarthy cheeks, the roving eyes beneath the black felt hat. A carbine lay across his saddle horn, a lariat was coiled beside his leg, a cartridge

"Olga! Hands Up, Both of You!"

belt circled his waist. There was something familiar about the fellow, but at the moment Alaire could not determine what it was.

After one swift, appraising glance the newcomer rode straight to the verge of the water hole and dismounted; then he and his horse drank side by side.

It was the moment for a complete and effective surprise, but nothing happened. Why didn't Law act? Alaire bent low, straining eyes and ears, but no command came from the Ranger. Then, as if in answer to her perplexity, a [illegible] appeared, and the woman realized how simply she had been fooled.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of Frank J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internaly and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. March Adv.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.

Low mass at 8:00 a. m.
High mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Monday morning mass at 7 a. m.
Other services during the week as announced Sunday previous.

Congregational Church.

Public worship at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.
Sunday school at 12:00 m.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:00 p. m.

Services at Ironton.

Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
Preaching at 2:30 standard time.

Methodist Church.

A. M.—"How to Have a Revival."
P. M.—"Arbitration and Peace."
75 war pictures will be shown.

Baptist Church.

Farewell sermon.
A. M.—Address to the Church.
P. M.—Evangelistic Address and Closing Remarks.
Afternoon at Marion Center.

See us for your Job Printing.

LEGAL NOTICES

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Harriet A. Newman, deceased. Horace Wakefield, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is Ordered, That the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
11t3pd Judge of Probate.

Final Administration Account.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of John H. Newman, deceased. Herbert C. Newman, having filed in said court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate,

It is Ordered, That the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL,
11t3pd Judge of Probate.

LET US REMIND YOU

That we are doing business everyday that is a credit to any store. Our old customers are always satisfied and the ones are enjoying the same appreciative courtesy. Our stock of goods is always the best obtainable for the money. We solicit a trial order and will guarantee that you will come again. We handle everything a general store must carry in stock and at the same time offer unparelled varieties of high grade and serviceable merchandise.

See us for Groceries
Come to this store for Clothing
Sell us your Produce

We are in the market for all kinds of produce and pay the prevailing prices. If you want satisfaction in trading, shop with Davis.

RALPH DAVIS
Phelps, YOUR GROCER Michigan

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

SYSTEM

REAL ESTATE & RENTAL DEPT.

The efficiency of System in the handling of Real Estate and Rentals has long since proven itself. List your property with us.

TITLE ABSTRACT DEPT.

Our methods in furnishing abstracts of title of Charlevoix County Real Estate, together with plats and sectional maps, should be of interest to every real estate owner.

ENGINEERING DEPT.

If you have a troublesome drainage problem, or boundary lines not established or in dispute, let us work it out for you.

Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

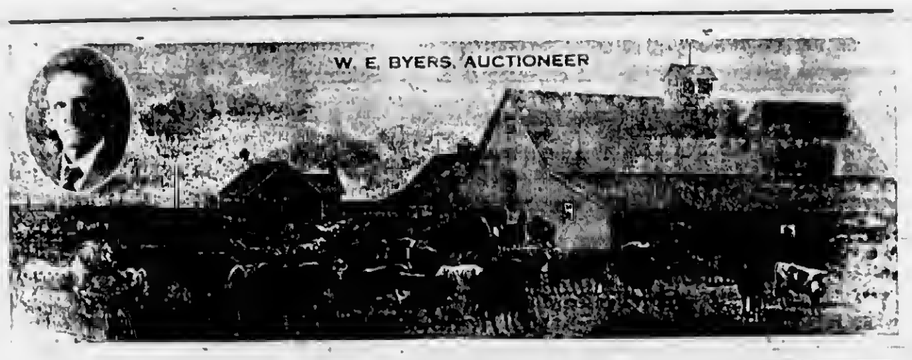
R. F. SLOAN, President A. BUTTARS, Vice President
D. F. MEECH, Secretary and Treasurer

Auction Sale

As I am about to change my herd of cattle over into a beef strain, I will sell at Public Auction my present herd, at my farm, five miles north of Charlevoix, on the Petoskey Road, on

Friday, March 30

Commencing at one o'clock sharp, the following described stock:



Black and white Heifer, fresh now.
Guernsey Heifer, due to freshen soon
Durham Heifer, due to freshen soon
Guernsey Cow, due to freshen soon
Spotted red and white Cow, fresh now
Red Cow, fresh now
White Cow, fresh now
Black Cow, due to freshen soon
Brindle Cow, fresh now
Red Cow, due to freshen soon
Red Cow, fresh now
Roan Cow, fresh now
Red Cow, fresh now
Spotted red and white Cow, fresh now
Jersey Heifer, due to freshen in June, 3 years old.
8 Shoats
Sorrell Gelding, 3 yrs old, wt. about 115
13 Ewes and Lambs
All stock is in first-class shape.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time on good approved bankable paper payable at the Charlevoix County Bank, with interest at 7 per cent. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

John R. Struthers, Prop.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer.

YOUR BANK BOOK MR. WORKER--- is the guide that will eventually lead you to the goal of success.

It will serve as a constant inspiration to better effort on your part and you will find great pleasure and satisfaction in watching its record each step in your progress.

Soon an opportunity will come and you will have money in the bank to meet it with. After that the road will be easier.

One Dollar Will Open An Account With Us.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Under State Supervision

J. L. Crahe, President.

H. S. Harsha, Vice President. A. A. Swinton, Vice President.

A. D. Crimmins, Cashier. A. L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Copy, one year.....$1.50
One Copy, six months..... .75
One Copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Met on Friday of Last Week With Mrs. Hinchey.

The monthly meeting of the Congregational Woman's Missionary society, held last Friday with Mrs. Hinchey, was full of interest and inspiration.

Mrs. W. H. Miller had charge of the devotional service and Mrs. Paddock read a fine paper on "South America," showing especially the low moral and religious status of the people and the great need of more mission workers in that field.

One new member was received, making a total of seven this year.

An announcement was read of the annual state meeting to be held in Muskegon, April 24-26, and a feast of good things is promised those who attend.

MEN NAMED IN TOWNSHIPS

(Continued from page one.)

Constables, Clarence Beattie, John Wilson, A. G. Pontius, Fred Falting.

Weed Commissioner, John Smith.

Overseer of Highways:

Dist. No. 1, F. W. Smith.

Dist. No. 2, Earl Dodd.

Dist. No. 3, Clyde Smith.

Eveline Township.

Eveline, whose report we obtained only at the last minute before going to press, and which is therefore somewhat incomplete, presents two tickets to the voters of the township.

Ticket No. 1—

Supervisor, D. S. Payton.

Clerk, Will Flanders.

Treasurer, Will Bird.

Highway Commissioner, Joseph H. Courier.

Justice of the Peace (full term), John Nasson.

Overseer of Highways, Ole Nelson.

Constable, W. F. Johnson.

Ticket No. 2—

Supervisor, Earl Clark.

Highway Commissioner, Joe Perry.

It is doubtful as to whether or not Mr. Clark will accept the nomination for supervisor, and we have not been advised definitely, as yet.

As soon as the returns some in from the townships of Hayes and Norwood, we will publish the line-up in our next week's issue.

Banks Township.

For the benefit of Ellsworth readers and others interested, we give the line-up in Banks township, which presents the following candidates on a single ticket:

Supervisor, Herbert S. Peebles.

Clerk, Delbert E. Clow.

Treasurer, Albert Harwood.

Highway Commissioner, George H. Heller.

Overseer of Highways, John Essenberg.

Justice of the Peace (full term), Hyler H. Whitney.

Member of Board of Review, H. J. Timmer.

Constables, Bert DeGroot, Martin Elzinga, John Brown, Edward H. Boss.

Notice to Our Customers.

On and after April 1st, 1917, all customers must purchase tickets or pay cash for milk delivered. Bottles must be washed and returned daily or no milk will be left.—Signed,

William Withers,
Wm. Shapton,
Elmer Ingalls,
John Martin.

Adv.9t4.

AN IMPORTANT AMENDMENT.

Good Reasons Why Constitutional Amendment Should Carry.

It will not affect cities, townships or individuals who do not need legally constructed drains.

It will place the country districts on a par with cities in the matter of bonding for drains, the same as cities bond for sewers.

It will permit drainage districts to issue bonds and thereby make it possible for a farmer to make his drained land earn the cost of the drain before he has to pay for it.

It will save nt least 20 per cent on the first cost of drains owing to the fact that at present the darin job is let to contractors who must be pnid in orders due in from one to three years anl pay the discount for cashing same.

It is the only way in which Michigan can get the larger outlet drains very necessary now to prevent flooding, as the present manner of paying for same would be burdensome if not prohibitive.

It will make it possible for farmers to have their lateral drains constructed at the same time as main drains, thereby receiving the benefits of such drainage before being asked to pay for it and not afterward as is now the case, the whole cost of main drain and the laterals necessary being prohibitive if paid at once.

